Consequently, the Old Testament portrays this Angel as one of the Persons of the Godhead. The Angel of the Lord should be identified as the second Person of the Trinity because He is the sent One who appears bodily. He cannot be the Father, who is the Sender. He cannot be the Spirit, who has no form. Further, the divine Angel of the Lord no longer appeared after the Son of God came in flesh at His incarnation. New Testament writings reveal continuity between the activity of the Son of God as the Angel of the Lord and His work as the incarnate Jesus Christ. In both His form and His flesh, the Son of God performs a redemptive messianic work.

The presence of the Angel of the Lord in the Old Testament communicates two important truths. First, the appearances of the Angel of the Lord prepared the church for her Christ. The temporary form of the Angel aroused a deep love and longing within the people of God for the coming of Jesus Christ in the flesh. The church in the Old Testament searched earnestly for her Beloved to bound over the hills and dwell with her (Song 2:8). Second, the appearances of the Angel of the Lord prepared Christ for His church. His ministry in alleviating His people's misery throughout the Old Testament was a foretaste of His messianic mission. The Son of God's appearances can be seen as expressions of holy impatience for the erupting of His presence on earth, when He took up His threefold role as Prophet, Priest, and King of His people.

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOK OF

RUTH

Authorship and Date

The Bible does not indicate the author of this book. Jewish tradition attributes it to Samuel (see the Babylonian Talmud, Baba Bathra 14b). The genealogy at the very end of the book implies that the author wrote after David (c. 1040–970 BC) became a significant figure in Israel. Samuel did not live to see David enthroned (1 Sam. 25:1; 2 Sam. 5:4), though it is possible that the prophet wrote this in anticipation that the man he had anointed would become a great king (1 Sam. 16:1,13). However, the expression “in former time in Israel” (Ruth 4:7) suggests that the book was written some generations after its events took place.

Theme

Redeeming love.

Purpose

To encourage believers to persevere in faithful love toward one another despite dark times, trusting that God’s providence is working redemption for Israel in and through the Greater Boaz, Jesus Christ.

Synopsis

The Contribution of Ruth to Redemptive Revelation

In the book of Ruth, the Holy Spirit gives us a skillfully told and captivating account of historical events involving two poor widows and a kind Judean man. Their actions present valuable lessons about faithful love in bitter times. Ruth is a marvelous example of a committed friend (1:17) who works hard to support her family (2:2,7,17) and displays humility and respect for authority (vv. 5–6). Naomi is slow to emerge from bitterness (1:20), but as she experiences the Lord's grace, she begins to give Ruth motherly guidance to obtain lasting peace for herself and their posterity (3:1–2). Boaz shines as a model of true manhood (see note at 2:1), providing, protecting, and redeeming the poor through faith and love (chs. 3–4).

However, the moral examples of this book's characters do not exhaust its full meaning. Though at first glance it may appear to be nothing more than a delightful love story, it is in fact rich with theological truth and pictures of the gospel of Christ.

The theological truth of the book centers on the doctrine of providence. In some respects, God seems strangely absent from this story. While its characters speak sometimes of "God" (1:16; 2:12) and often of "the LORD" (1:8–9,13,17,21; 2:4,12,20; 3:10,13; 4:11–12,14), the book holds no prophecies or divine appearances, no miracles or wonders—a marked contrast to Genesis through Judges. Yet the book of Ruth pulsates with God's secret providence as tragedy, personal choices, and seemingly random events (2:3; 4:1) lead to a surprising conclusion involving a future king of Israel (4:22). God works all things to build His kingdom. His providence rules all things. He controls the weather and food supplies (1:6); He gives husbands to women (vv. 8–9). Behind tragedy and sorrow is "the hand of the LORD," the Judge of all the earth (vv. 13,21). He is present to bless men as they work in the fields (2:4). He rewards those who trust Him and love people (vv. 11–12). He forms children in the womb to build families (4:11–13).

The book of Ruth especially shows that God works through the faithful love of ordinary people. Ruth, Boaz, and over time even Naomi all gave themselves to serve others. Ruth sought refuge under God's "wings" (2:12), and God gave her that refuge under the "wings" of Boaz's kindness (see note at 3:9). Boaz cared for Naomi and Ruth, and Naomi gave glory to the Lord (2:20). Their human love was an instrument of God's love.

Boaz was a redeemer. The word "redeemer" (often translated "kinsman") and terms related to it appear twenty-three times in the book (2:20; 3:9,12 [2 times], 13 [4 times]; 4:1,3–4, [5 times], 6 [5 times],7–8,14). A kinsman-redeemer was a member of the extended family who at his own expense restored or avenged the family when it suffered loss (Lev. 25:23–33,48–49; Num. 5:8; "avenger" or "revenger" in Num. 35:9–28; Deut. 19:6,12). The word "redeem" has a rich theological meaning, for the Lord worked redemption when He brought Israel out of slavery in Egypt (Ex. 6:6; 15:13). Later, Isaiah proclaimed the good news of Israel's salvation by declaring God to be the Redeemer of His people (Isa. 43:1; 44:6; 49:7; 52:9; 54:8). Redemption would be a central idea in the New Testament gospel of Christ (Mark 10:45; Gal. 3:13; 4:5; Titus 2:14; 1 Peter 1:18; Rev. 5:9). The redemption of Naomi's family included the elements of cost (Ruth 4:6), legal commitment (vv. 2,7,9), and inheritance (vv. 5,10)—all of which correspond to aspects of redemption by Christ's blood.

Therefore, Boaz was a type of Christ. Types are people, institutions, and events designed by God's providence to be imperfect pictures of who Christ is and what He would do to save His people. Not only does Boaz's life shed light on redemption, but in him we can see a prototype of the King of grace, Jesus Christ. Boaz was a mighty man of valor (see notes at 2:1), and he used his power and wealth to welcome the outsider, protect the endangered, and provide for the needy (ch. 2). He is compared to the Lord as one who covers the needy with his "wings" of grace (2:12; 3:9). He was an ancestor of King

David, himself a type of Christ (4:18–22).

As they studied Boaz in ancient times, the people of Israel could grow in their hope in the coming Redeemer-King. As we study Boaz today, we can grow in our faith, love, and imitation of the Savior who has already come as our Lord Jesus Christ.

THE BOOK OF

RUTH

Ruth 1 [†]

1 [†] Now it came to pass in the days when the judges ruled, that there was a famine in the land. And a certain man of Beth-lehem-judah went to sojourn in the country of Moab, he, and his wife, and his two sons.
2 And the name of the man was Elimelech, and the name of his wife Naomi, and the name of his two sons Mahlon and Chilion, Ephrathites of Beth-lehem-judah. And they came into the country of Moab, and continued there.
3 And Elimelech Naomi's husband died; and she was left, and her two sons.
4 [†] And they took them wives of the women of Moab; the name of the one was Orpah, and the name of the other Ruth: and they dwelled there about ten years.
5 [†] And Mahlon and Chilion died also both of them; and the woman was left of her two sons and her husband.
6 [†] ¶ Then she arose with her daughters in law, that she might return from the country of Moab: for she had heard in the country of Moab how that the Lord had visited his people in giving them bread.
7 [†] Wherefore she went forth out of the place where she was, and her two daughters in law with her; and they went on the way to return unto the land of Judah.
8 [†] And Naomi said unto her two daughters in law, Go, return each to her mother's house: the Lord deal kindly with you, as ye have dealt with the dead, and with me.
9 [†] The Lord grant you that ye may find rest, each of you in the house of her husband. Then she kissed them; and they lifted up their voice, and wept.
10 And they said unto her, Surely we will return with thee unto thy people.
11 [†] And Naomi said, Turn again, my daughters: why will ye go with me? are there yet any more sons in my womb, that they may be your husbands?
12 Turn again, my daughters, go your way; for I am too old to have an husband. If I should say, I have hope, if I should have an husband also to night, and should also bear sons;
13 [†] Would ye tarry for them till they were grown? would ye stay for them from having husbands? nay, my daughters; for it grieveth me much for your sakes that the hand of the Lord is gone out against me.
14 [†] And they lifted up their voice, and wept again: and Orpah kissed her mother in law; but Ruth clave unto her.
15 And she said, Behold, thy sister in law is gone back unto her people, and unto her gods: return thou after thy sister in law.
16 [†] And Ruth said, Intreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God:
17 [†] Where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried: the Lord do so to me, and more also, if ought but death part thee and me.
18 [†] When she saw that she was stedfastly minded to go with her, then she left speaking unto her.
19 [†] ¶ So they two went until they came to Beth-lehem. And it came to pass, when they were come to Beth-lehem, that all the city was moved about them, and they said, Is this Naomi?
20 [†] And she said unto them, Call me not Naomi, call me Mara: for the Almighty hath dealt very bitterly with me.
21 I went out full, and the Lord hath brought me home again empty: why then call ye me Naomi, seeing the Lord hath testified against me, and the Almighty hath afflicted me?
22 [†] So Naomi returned, and Ruth the Moabitess, her daughter in law, with her, which returned out of the country of Moab: and they came to Beth-lehem in the beginning of barley harvest.

Ruth 2 [†]

1 [†] And Naomi had a kinsman of her husband's, a mighty man of wealth, of the family of Elimelech; and his name was Boaz.
2 [†] And Ruth the Moabitess said unto Naomi, Let me now go to the field, and glean ears of corn after him in whose sight I shall find grace. And she said unto her, Go, my daughter.
3 [†] And she went, and came, and gleaned in the field after the reapers: and her hap was to light on a part of the field belonging unto Boaz, who was of the kindred of Elimelech.
4 [†] ¶ And, behold, Boaz came from Beth-lehem, and said unto the reapers, The Lord be with you. And they answered him, The Lord bless thee.
5 [†] Then said Boaz unto his servant that was set over the reapers, Whose damsel is this?
6 And the servant that was set over the reapers answered and said, It is the Moabitish damsel that came back with Naomi out of the country of Moab:
7 [†] And she said, I pray you, let me glean and gather after the reapers among the sheaves: so she came, and hath continued even from the morning until now, that she tarried a little in the house.
8 [†] Then said Boaz unto Ruth, Hearest thou not, my daughter? Go not to glean in another field, neither go from hence, but abide here fast by my maidens:
9 [†] Let thine eyes be on the field that they do reap, and go thou after them: have I not charged the young men that they shall not touch thee? and when thou art athirst, go unto the vessels, and drink of that which the young men have drawn.
10 [†] Then she fell on her face, and bowed herself to the ground, and said unto him, Why have I found grace in thine eyes, that thou shouldest take knowledge of me, seeing I am a stranger?
11 [†] And Boaz answered and said unto her, It hath fully been shewed me, all that thou hast done unto thy mother in law since the death of thine husband: and how thou hast left thy father and thy mother, and the land of thy nativity, and art come unto a people which thou knewest not heretofore.
12 [†] The Lord recompense thy work, and a full reward be given thee of the Lord God of Israel, under whose wings thou art come to trust.
13 [†] Then she said, Let me find favour in thy sight, my lord; for that thou hast comforted me, and for that thou hast spoken friendly unto thine handmaid, though I be not like unto one of thine handmaidens.
14 [†] And Boaz said unto her, At mealtime come thou hither, and eat of the bread, and dip thy morsel in the vinegar. And she sat beside the reapers: and he reached her parched corn, and she did eat, and was sufficed, and left.
15 [†] And when she was risen up to glean, Boaz commanded his young men, saying, Let her glean even among the sheaves, and reproach her not:
16 And let fall also some of the handfuls of purpose for her, and leave them, that she may glean them, and rebuke her not.
17 [†] So she gleaned in the field until even, and beat out that she had gleaned: and it was about an ephah of barley.
18 [†] ¶ And she took it up, and went into the city: and her mother in law saw what she had gleaned: and she brought forth, and gave to her that she had reserved after she was sufficed.
19 [†] And her mother in law said unto her, Where hast thou gleaned to day? and where wroughtest thou? blessed be he that did take knowledge of thee. And she shewed her mother in law with whom she had wrought, and said, The man's name with whom I wrought to day is Boaz.
20 [†] And Naomi said unto her daughter in law, Blessed be he of the Lord, who hath not left off his kindness to the living and to the dead. And Naomi said unto her, The man is near of kin unto us, one of our next kinsmen.

21 [†] And Ruth the Moabitess said, He said unto me also, Thou shalt keep fast by my young men, until they have ended all my harvest.
22 [†] And Naomi said unto Ruth her daughter in law, It is good, my daughter, that thou go out with his maidens, that they meet thee not in any other field.
23 [†] So she kept fast by the maidens of Boaz to glean unto the end of barley harvest and of wheat harvest; and dwelt with her mother in law.

Ruth 3 [†]

1 [†] Then Naomi her mother in law said unto her, My daughter, shall I not seek rest for thee, that it may be well with thee?
2 [†] And now is not Boaz of our kindred, with whose maidens thou wast? Behold, he winnoweth barley to night in the threshingfloor.
3 [†] Wash thyself therefore, and anoint thee, and put thy raiment upon thee, and get thee down to the floor: but make not thyself known unto the man, until he shall have done eating and drinking.
4 [†] And it shall be, when he lieth down, that thou shalt mark the place where he shall lie, and thou shalt go in, and uncover his feet, and lay thee down; and he will tell thee what thou shalt do.
5 [†] And she said unto her, All that thou sayest unto me I will do.
6 ¶ And she went down unto the floor, and did according to all that her mother in law bade her.
7 [†] And when Boaz had eaten and drunk, and his heart was merry, he went to lie down at the end of the heap of corn: and she came softly, and uncovered his feet, and laid her down.
8 [†] ¶ And it came to pass at midnight, that the man was afraid, and turned himself: and, behold, a woman lay at his feet.
9 [†] And he said, Who art thou? And she answered, I am Ruth thine handmaid: spread therefore thy skirt over thine handmaid; for thou art a near kinsman.
10 [†] And he said, Blessed be thou of the Lord, my daughter: for thou hast shewed more kindness in the latter end than at the beginning, inasmuch as thou followedst not young men, whether poor or rich.
11 [†] And now, my daughter, fear not; I will do to thee all that thou requirest: for all the city of my people doth know that thou art a virtuous woman.
12 [†] And now it is true that I am thy near kinsman: howbeit there is a kinsman nearer than I.
13 [†] Tarry this night, and it shall be in the morning, that if he will perform unto thee the part of a kinsman, well; let him do the kinsman's part: but if he will not do the part of a kinsman to thee, then will I do the part of a kinsman to thee, as the Lord liveth: lie down until the morning.
14 [†] ¶ And she lay at his feet until the morning: and she rose up before one could know another. And he said, Let it not be known that a woman came into the floor.
15 [†] Also he said, Bring the vail that thou hast upon thee, and hold it. And when she held it, he measured six measures of barley, and laid it on her: and she went into the city.
16 [†] And when she came to her mother in law, she said, Who art thou, my daughter? And she told her all that the man had done to her.
17 And she said, These six measures of barley gave he me; for he said to me, Go not empty unto thy mother in law.
18 Then said she, Sit still, my daughter, until thou know how the matter will fall: for the man will not be in rest, until he have finished the thing this day.

Ruth 4 [†]

1 [†] Then went Boaz up to the gate, and sat him down there: and, behold, the kinsman of whom Boaz spake came by; unto whom he said, Ho, such a one! turn aside, sit down here. And he turned aside, and sat down.
2 [†] And he took ten men of the elders of the city, and said, Sit ye down here. And they sat down.
3 [†] And he said unto the kinsman, Naomi, that is come again out of the country of Moab, selleth a parcel of land, which was our brother Elimelech's:
4 [†] And I thought to advertise thee, saying, Buy it before the inhabitants, and before the elders of my people. If thou wilt redeem it, redeem it: but if thou wilt not redeem it, then tell me, that I may know: for there is none to redeem it beside thee; and I am after thee. And he said, I will redeem it.
5 [†] Then said Boaz, What day thou buyest the field of the hand of Naomi, thou must buy it also of Ruth the Moabitess, the wife of the dead, to raise up the name of the dead upon his inheritance.
6 [†] ¶ And the kinsman said, I cannot redeem it for myself, lest I mar mine own inheritance: redeem thou my right to thyself; for I cannot redeem it.
7 [†] Now this was the manner in former time in Israel concerning redeeming and concerning changing, for to confirm all things; a man plucked off his shoe, and gave it to his neighbour: and this was a testimony in Israel.
8 Therefore the kinsman said unto Boaz, Buy it for thee. So he drew off his shoe.
9 [†] ¶ And Boaz said unto the elders, and unto all the people, Ye are witnesses this day, that I have bought all that was Elimelech's, and all that was Chilion's and Mahlon's, of the hand of Naomi.
10 [†] Moreover Ruth the Moabitess, the wife of Mahlon, have I purchased to be my wife, to raise up the name of the dead upon his inheritance, that the name of the dead be not cut off from among his brethren, and from the gate of his place: ye are witnesses this day.
11 [†] And all the people that were in the gate, and the elders, said, We are witnesses. The Lord make the woman that is come into thine house like Rachel and like Leah, which two did build the house of Israel: and do thou worthily in Ephratah, and be famous in Beth-lehem:
12 And let thy house be like the house of Pharez, whom Tamar bare unto Judah, of the seed which the Lord shall give thee of this young woman.
13 ¶ So Boaz took Ruth, and she was his wife: and when he went in unto her, the Lord gave her conception, and she bare a son.
14 And the women said unto Naomi, Blessed be the Lord, which hath not left thee this day without a kinsman, that his name may be famous in Israel.
15 [†] And he shall be unto thee a restorer of thy life, and a nourisher of thine old age: for thy daughter in law, which loveth thee, which is better to thee than seven sons, hath born him.
16 [†] And Naomi took the child, and laid it in her bosom, and became nurse unto it.
17 [†] And the women her neighbours gave it a name, saying, There is a son born to Naomi; and they called his name Obed: he is the father of Jesse, the father of David.
18 [†] ¶ Now these are the generations of Pharez: Pharez begat Hezron,
19 And Hezron begat Ram, and Ram begat Amminadab,
20 [†] And Amminadab begat Nahshon, and Nahshon begat Salmon,
21 And Salmon begat Boaz, and Boaz begat Obed,
22 [†] And Obed begat Jesse, and Jesse begat David.

NOTES ON THE BOOK OF

RUTH

PROVIDENCE VEILED: DISASTER STRIKES (1:1–5)

Chapter 1: Naomi moves to Moab where her husband and sons die, and then returns to Beth-lehem-judah with no one but her daughter-in-law, Ruth.

1:1 when the judges ruled. A time of national spiritual decline into idolatry and immorality in the eleventh to fourteenth centuries BC. famine. God's discipline upon Israel for breaking the covenant (Deut. 28:17–18,23–24). sojourn. Live for a time in a foreign land. Moab. A nation dwelling sixty-five miles away from Bethlehem, descending from Lot's son Moab and known for seducing the Israelites into sin (Num. 25:1–3).

1:4 took them wives of the women of Moab. Despising the law that excluded descendants of the Moabites from joining the church (Deut. 23:3–6). Ruth. Probably means "friend" or "companion."

1:5 the woman was left. Alone and old in the ancient world without a husband or son to support and protect her, Naomi was in a desperate condition, a widow indeed.

RETURNING HOME TO THE LORD (1:6–22)

1:6 return. This verb, the main Hebrew verb for "repentance," appears twelve times in ch. 1. Naomi and Ruth's return to Judah signified their turning to the Lord.

1:7 Wherefore. Therefore.

1:8 deal kindly. Naomi still believed in God's faithful love. dealt with the dead. The women had been good wives to her sons, and Naomi prayed that God would give them husbands again (v. 9).

1:9 rest. Security with a new husband. lifted up their voice. Wailed.

1:11 more sons. In levirate marriage, if a man dies childless, his brother or near relative married the widow to raise up children for the deceased (Gen. 38:8–11; Deut. 25:5–10).

1:13 tarry. Wait. stay. Restrain yourselves, here from marrying someone else. nay. No. hand of the LORD. God's power controls life and death (1 Sam. 2:6). Despite her belief in God's sovereignty, Naomi had little hope for her own future (v. 12).

1:14 clave. Clung in love and stubborn commitment.

1:16 Intreat me not. Do not press me. whither. Where. Ruth committed herself to be her mother-in-law's lifelong companion, and embraced Israel as my people and the Lord as my God. Her words echo the promise of the covenant of grace that the Lord will be our God and we will be His people (Gen. 17:7–8; Ex. 6:7; Lev. 26:12,44–45; Jer. 31:33; 2 Cor. 6:16; Heb. 8:10; Rev. 21:3). She had been converted to true religion and by faith entered the covenant of grace.

1:17 the LORD DO SO TO ME. An oath. Sworn in His name, it confirmed her allegiance to the Lord as her God. if ought. If anything.

1:18 stedfastly minded. Determined. left speaking. Stopped talking about it.

1:19 moved. Stirred up, disturbed.

1:20–21 Almighty. Hebrew, Shaddai, a title of God's all-sufficient power (Job 37:23) to bless and judge

(Gen. 17:1–2; Ps. 91:1; Isa. 13:6). Naomi spoke of changing her name from “Pleasant” to “Bitter” because she believed God had judged her for her sins (testified against me).

1:22 Though Naomi saw nothing but bitterness and emptiness, the Lord had blessed her with two great gifts: her faithful daughter in law, and food from the barley harvest in late April.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 1

1. God’s people can experience times of great darkness. Their nation may fall away from true religion into idolatry and immoral living; their family may face devastating consequences of poor decisions. In such times, all can seem like bitterness and emptiness, but it is essential that we cling to each other with faithful, committed love. To have a true companion like Ruth means the world to someone in pain. Be a true friend.
2. God converts pagan outsiders into believers who love the church. In His free grace, He may do so even when the church flounders in sin and misery. Like Ruth, true converts embrace the Lord and His people and hold on with holy stubbornness. The promises of the covenant of grace are written on their hearts and confessed by their mouths—God is their God. Are you experientially acquainted with Ruth’s remarkable confession in vv. 16–17?

Chapter 2: Ruth faithfully labors to support her mother-in-law, and God’s providence brings the two widows under the kindness of a local farmer.

FINDING SHELTER UNDER THE REDEEMER’S WINGS (2:1–23)

2:1 kinsman. Relative. mighty man of wealth. Mighty man of valor; strong person of excellence. Boaz was not only wealthy but possessed the inward power of faith and love.

2:2 glean. The law gave the poor the right to gather what remained on the ground and edges of the field after the reapers had cut and bundled the stalks of grain (Lev. 19:9–10; 23:22). corn. Any grain; in this case, barley (1:22). grace. Favor or kindness toward someone in need.

2:3 her hap was to light. She happened to come. kindred. Extended family. Seemingly chance events serve God’s purposes, for He rules over them all (Prov. 16:33; Matt. 10:29).

2:4 Boaz’s greetings resemble the blessing of Aaron (Num. 6:22–27). Boaz was like a priest in his home, a spiritual father even to his workers.

2:5 damsel. Young woman. Ruth probably was in her twenties (1:4).

2:7 I pray you. Please. sheaves. Bundles of stalks of grain. tarried. Rested.

2:8 Hearest thou not. Listen. hence. From here. abide here fast. Stay close. maidens. Young women, here female servants.

2:9 touch. Boaz protected her from sexual assault in the lawless times of the judges (1:1). art athirst. Are thirsty.

2:10 shouldest take knowledge. Notice. stranger. Foreigner. Ruth was humble, honoring Boaz as her superior, and grateful, recognizing his grace to a poor woman from another nation.

2:11 shewed. Shown. nativity. Birth. art come. Have come. heretofore. Before. Boaz compared Ruth to Abraham, who left his home to go to an unknown land by faith in God (Gen. 12:1).

2:12 recompense. Or, “bring to completion, wholeness, and peace,” filling her up in the emptiness of her widowhood and poverty. Hiding under God’s wings like a chick with a hen is a picture of trusting in God’s grace for salvation (Ps. 57:1; 91:4). Though Ruth was a Moabite, Boaz accepted her as a believer in covenant with the Lord.

2:13 handmaid. Female servant.

2:14 hither. To here. morsel. Piece of bread. reached. Handed. sufficed. Satisfied. Boaz welcomed Ruth as if she were a member of his household (“my daughter,” v. 8).

2:15 glean. See note at v. 2.

2:17 even. Evening. beat out. Threshed, striking the harvested plants to separate out the grain. Estimates of an ephah vary from six to ten gallons (thirty to fifty pounds of barley), far more than the small amount normally obtained by gleaning (Isa. 17:5–6).

2:18 reserved after she was sufficed. Set aside after she was satisfied (at the meal, v. 14).

2:19 where wroughtest thou? Where did you work? take knowledge. Notice. shewed. Told.

2:20 hath not left off his kindness. Has not stopped showing His loyal affection and reliable love (1:8; Gen. 24:27; Ezra 9:9; Neh. 9:17). Naomi’s faith in God’s enduring love was rekindled by the kindness of Boaz. kinsman. This is the first appearance in Ruth of the word for redeemer (see Introduction: Synopsis).

2:21 keep fast. Stay close.

2:22 maidens. Young women, here servants. meet thee not. Or, “not fall upon you,” so that Ruth would not be assaulted.

2:23 Ruth gleaned barley and wheat for about seven weeks from late April to early June (Deut. 16:9). dwelt with her mother in law. Ruth faithfully loved Naomi as she promised (1:16).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 2

1. Ruth served her family, honored her mother-in-law, and demonstrated humility, respect, and gratitude. Boaz led his household to worship God in everyday life, protected and provided for the needy, spoke blessing on the faithful, and loved the foreigner and outsider. They are models worthy of our imitation.
2. The fatherly love of Boaz points us to Christ. Christ is full of strength and compassion as our mighty God and everlasting Father (Isa. 9:6). He protects and provides for all who hide under His wings. He reaches out to all nations. How beautiful is Christ, our Boaz! Love Him, adore Him, and trust in His mercy.

Chapter 3: Naomi sends Ruth to propose marriage in the middle of the night, and Boaz is surprised but commits himself to redeem them if possible.

SEEKING UNION WITH THE REDEEMER (3:1–18)

3:1 rest for thee. Security of a husband (1:9). Restored hope (2:20) moved Naomi from bitterness (1:20) and passivity (2:2) to seeking the good of her family.

3:2 kindred. Family. maidens. Young women or servants. wast. Were. In ancient agriculture, people would lay stalks and ears of grain on a threshingfloor of stone or hard earth, and drive livestock and farm implements over them to break them up. Then the farmer tossed (winnoweth) the threshed plants with a pitchfork so that the wind carried the light chaff away but the heavier grain fell down. He gathered the grain into a pile and guarded it at night (v. 7).

3:3 anoint. Put on fragrant oil or lotion. raiment. Clothing.

3:4 mark. Know. Ruth could privately discuss the delicate subject of marriage with her social superior when his uncovered feet got chilly and he awoke.

3:5–6 Though Naomi's scheme involved considerable risks of shame and rejection, Ruth submitted to her and obediently did all that her mother in law bade (told) her.

3:7 merry. Happy. corn. Grain, here barley or wheat. softly. Quietly.

3:8 lay at his feet. The expression does not refer to an embrace or sexual activity.

3:9 handmaid. Female servant. By skirt Ruth was not talking about clothing, but the covenant of marriage (Ezek. 16:8). She did not wait for Boaz to tell her what to do but made it clear that she sought a husband. She had taken refuge under the Lord's "wings" (2:12; same word as skirt). Now she boldly asked if Boaz would be the instrument of God's redeeming love by marrying her. Similarly, needy sinners who fly to Christ, the Greater Boaz, seek to be united with Him in spiritual marriage.

3:10 kindness. Faithful love, same word used of God's love and mercy (1:8; 2:20; Ex. 34:6). Ruth prized godliness and loyalty above lust and greed. inasmuch. In that. followedst. Literally, "walked," here in the sense of pursued.

3:11 requirest. Ask. virtuous. Valor or excellence, same word used of Boaz (2:2). Ruth is of more value to Naomi than seven sons (4:15).

3:12 kinsman nearer than I. He had the right to redeem them before Boaz did.

3:13 Tarry. Stay. He swore an oath (as the LORD liveth) to redeem them if he could.

3:14 lay at his feet until morning. They were near each other all night but did not engage in sex. Let it not be known. He was concerned to protect their reputation.

3:15 vail. Cloak. six measures of barley. Twice as much as an ephah, so sixty to a hundred pounds (2:17). It was a down payment of sorts to assure them that he would keep his pledge.

3:16 Who art thou. Naomi knew it was her daughter; the question may be understood as implying, "Are you now the betrothed of Boaz, engaged to marry him?"

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 3

1. Faith energizes love, submission, and self-denial. Naomi's renewed hope led her to take positive steps for the future of her family. Ruth's faith in the Lord made her a woman of excellence, who honored her mother and sought a godly husband. What fine examples they are of the impact godly women can have on their families!
2. The Lord has given His pledge to His waiting bride, the church. God gives His oath to anchor our covenant hope in Christ (Heb. 6:17–18), for He cannot lie, and He gives His Spirit as the seal of our assurance and down payment on our inheritance in Christ (Eph. 1:13–14). Let us therefore have hope, for Christ will come for poor sinners who cast all their hope on Him.

Chapter 4: Boaz redeems Naomi and Ruth and marries Ruth, and they become the great-grandparents of King David.

ACCOMPLISHING REDEMPTION (4:1–17)

4:1 gate. See note at Gen. 22:16–17. kinsman. Redeemer. Verses 1–6 contain the highest concentration of redemption language in the Old Testament. such a one. So-and-so, i.e., a nameless relative of Elimelech.

4:2 elders. Men of wisdom and authority who governed the city (Deut. 19:12; 21:19; 22:15). Boaz acted publicly to redeem them according to their laws.

4:3 parcel. Piece.

4:4 advertise. Make it known. Buy. This verb appears six times here (vv. 4–5,8–10). Redemption required paying the price to buy people and inheritance out of poverty and bondage. Christ's redemption required giving His life as the purchase price for sinners (Matt. 20:28).

4:5 to raise up the name of the dead. To produce children to carry on the family line of Mahlon, Ruth's deceased husband (v. 4:10; see note at 1:11).

4:6 lest I mar. So that I will not ruin. He would have to invest his resources into redeeming the family property and raising her children, only to have her son inherit that property in the name of the deceased Mahlon. Levirate marriage was costly and required self-sacrifice.

4:7 changing. Exchanging or barter. plucked. Pulled.

4:9 Ye are witnesses. Boaz made a public, legally binding commitment to Ruth and Naomi.

4:10 name of the dead. See note at v. 5.

4:11 The phrase do thou worthily (same verb used in 2:11; 3:11) can mean "to conquer enemies" (Num. 24:18; Ps. 60:12), "to live in excellence" (Prov. 31:29), or "to get wealth" (Deut. 8:17–18).

4:15 restorer of thy life. These words are also used of Elijah raising the dead (1 Kings 17:21–22).

4:16 bosom . . . nurse. Not breast-feeding, for neither the words nor Naomi's age permit this meaning, but caring for the child with tender love.

4:17 Obed. His name means "one who serves," the character of his parents.

PROVIDENCE UNVEILED: A KING IS BORN (4:18–22)

4:18 these are the generations. Common phrase in Genesis; links David's line back to the patriarchs (see notes at Gen. 25:12,19). Pharez. Son of Judah and Tamar (Gen. 38:29; 46:12). begat. Became the father of a child.

4:20 Nahshon. Commander of the armies of Judah in the days of Moses (Num. 1:7; 2:3; 7:12,17; 10:14). Salmon. Also called "Salma" (1 Chron. 2:11).

4:22 Jesse. See 1 Sam. 16:1; 17:12. David. Spirit-anointed psalmist, king of Israel, and father of the line of Christ (1 Sam. 16:1,13; 2 Sam. 5:1–3; 23:1–5; Matt. 1:1). In the lawless time of the judges (1:1), God used a widow, an immigrant, and a farmer to bring the king that Israel desperately needed (Judg. 21:25).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 4

1. Christ redeemed His people; He paid their ransom price at His own expense. He took the outsider as His bride. He made a public and binding commitment. He did it all, so that poor outsiders might rejoice in His love and give glory to God. If you are a believer, never lose sight of the wonder of your redemption. It should always put a song in your heart. If you have not been brought into spiritual union with Christ Jesus, consider seriously that you are lacking the greatest joy in life. Do not rest until you too can say, by God's amazing grace, that Christ is your perfect Bridegroom.
2. God uses ordinary people to build the reputation and kingdom of His Son; this is the great aim of providence. Jonathan Edwards wrote, "God hath had it much on his heart, from all eternity, to glorify his dear and only-begotten Son." This kingdom is built of faithful love—the love of God and the love of believers being blessed by God. Therefore, do not grow weary in doing good, especially to the family of God. If you are faithful to serve where God put you, it will impact generations to come.

Obedience to God’s Will

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOKS OF

1 AND 2 SAMUEL

Authorship

First and Second Samuel is one book but was divided into two with the writing of the Septuagint (Greek translation of the Old Testament) in the second century BC. The Septuagint designates the two books as "1 and 2 Kingdoms," and what we call 1 and 2 Kings as 3 and 4 Kingdoms. Although the book of Samuel does not identify its author, Scripture reveals that the prophets Samuel, Nathan, and Gad recorded the acts of David (1 Chron. 29:29). As early as the Babylonian Talmud (Baba Bathra, 15a), the first part of the book was attributed to Samuel (1 Sam. 10:25), and later portions to Nathan (2 Sam. 7:2; 12:1) and Gad (24:11). However, the book stands as a unified whole and should be interpreted as such. Though Samuel dies partway through this book (1 Sam. 25:1), it fittingly bears his name because he served as the last of the judges (7:15) and anointed both of the first two kings of Israel (10:1; 16:13)—thus forming a bridge from the time of the judges to the monarchy.

Date

The books of Samuel were composed between 1050 BC (the time when Samuel began to write) and 970 BC (the end of David’s reign).

Theme

The sovereignty of God in humbling and exalting leaders according to His judgment of their heart, in order to prepare the way for the coming Messiah.

Purpose

To promote humility before the Lord as the true King of kings, and to encourage hope in the coming King of whom David was a type and shadow.

Synopsis

The Contribution of 1 and 2 Samuel to Redemptive Revelation

The Lord summed up the course of redemptive history when He said that two seeds would be in conflict, with the seed of the woman triumphing over the seed of the serpent (Gen. 3:15). Biblical history records the epochs of that conflict, giving the assurance that regardless of the intensity of the opposition to the coming Savior, God's purpose of grace was unfailing. First Samuel advances the promise specifically through the unveiling of God's appointed king. The Lord had revealed centuries earlier to Abraham that from his blessed offspring ("seed") with Sarah God would raise up kings (17:6,16). God repeated this promise to Jacob (35:11), who prophesied that the kingdom would particularly belong to the tribe of Judah (49:10). Moses later revealed the pattern for the ideal king: a descendant of Jacob who did not multiply his power, pleasures, or treasures but who humbly devoted himself to knowing and doing the law of the Lord (Deut. 17:14–20).

Hundreds of years passed without a hint how the promise would be fulfilled since Israel had no king at all. However, with the birth of Samuel the Lord revealed more of His purposes through the song of Samuel's mother, Hannah (1 Sam. 2:1–10). Hannah's song in many ways encapsulates the message of the book of Samuel. The Lord is incomparably holy (v. 2; cf. 6:20), the sovereign King over all things (2:6–7). His salvation for His people (v. 1) appears in surprising reversals, overturning human expectations: he devastates the proud and mighty but blesses and honors the humble, godly ones (vv. 3–5,8–10). Thus even apparent disasters such as the capture of the ark of the covenant take a surprising turn to glorify the Lord as the holy and sovereign King (chs. 4–6). He will accomplish His salvation and judgment for His glory by raising up His anointed king (2:10). The Hebrew word translated "anointed" is the basis for the word "Messiah," or in Greek, "Christ."

The book of Samuel reveals the process by which the line of this king was established. Just as the ancient promise of the two seeds foretold, it takes place through conflict and suffering. Samuel features two kings. The first, Saul, was appointed by God (9:15–16; 10:1) but proved to be a traitor who rejected the word of the Lord (15:23,26). Saul's sin provoked him to persecute God's servant out of envy (18:6–29; 19:9–10), just as the first seed of Adam and Eve, Cain, murdered his godly brother (Gen. 4) and the Jewish religious leaders persecuted Christ out of envy (Matt. 27:18).

The second king, David, is both the forefather of Christ and a type (picture prophecy) of Christ's office as King, one of the essential functions of the Mediator. David, though deeply flawed, was still a man after God's own heart, committed to doing God's will as He commanded (1 Sam. 13:13–14; Acts 13:22). David was a humble man without outward majesty, and yet the Spirit of the Lord anointed Him to save Israel (1 Sam. 16–17). Before being enthroned as king, he had to suffer intense persecution from the wicked authorities, even as they nominally professed allegiance to the Lord (chs. 18–31), until finally God exalted him as king, first over Judah and then over all Israel (2 Sam. 2:4,11; 5:3). His kingdom was one of righteousness and justice (8:15; cf. 1 Kings 10:9).

Unlike the short-lived kingship of Saul, David received from God the covenant that his seed would reign forever (2 Sam. 7:12–16; cf. 22:51; 23:3–5). This is a high-water text in the Old Testament for its development of the promise of the coming seed (Gen. 3:15), specifically identifying the conquering Savior with the seed of David. In the covenant with David, the Lord also revealed that David's son would build a house for the Lord, the temple that would give a more established place for God's holy presence with Israel than the tent of the tabernacle. These promises find their initial fulfillment in Solomon and the temple in Jerusalem (1 Kings 8:15–21), but look yet further. The book of Samuel takes a major step toward the fullness of time when God would send forth His Son (Gal. 4:4) to reign as the Son of David (Matt. 1:1; Luke 1:32–33) and establish God's presence with His church in the Spirit

(Eph. 2:20–22; 1 Peter 2:4–6).

The further revelation of Christ's kingdom in Samuel is interwoven with a call to subjection to the King of kings. The book provides many ethical and moral lessons giving direction as to how the godly are to live in a world of hypocrisy and hostility to grace. Through vivid sketches of persons such as Hannah, Eli, Samuel, Saul, Jonathan, Goliath, David, Abigail, Joab, Uriah, Bath-sheba, Amon, and Absalom, the book illustrates the contrast between godliness and rebellion, confirming that the Lord knows the way of the righteous but that the way of the wicked will perish (Ps. 1).

The kingdom of God is a kingdom of grace to sinners, and Samuel is a book of grace. It highlights the mercies of God against the dark backdrop of the depravity of fallen man exhibited in the horrible sins of David (2 Sam. 11–12). His crimes brought great sorrow to his later years and threatened to destroy his family and kingdom (chs. 13–20). However, God gave David the graces of repentance and forgiveness of sins (12:13; Pss. 25; 32; 51), free gifts that would be paid for by Christ (Luke 24:46–47; Acts 5:30–31). God's fatherly love was bound to David's line in the covenant, and though sin could bring discipline it could not break God's faithfulness (2 Sam. 7:14–15; 22:51). David's experiences of God's grace to sinners found expression in the Psalms, which serve as experiential models of true prayer, piety, and praise for the people of God in all ages.

THE FIRST BOOK OF

SAMUEL

OTHERWISE CALLED THE FIRST BOOK OF THE KINGS

1 Samuel 1 [†]

1 [†] Now there was a certain man of Ramathaim-zophim, of mount Ephraim, and his name was Elkanah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Elihu, the son of Tohu, the son of Zuph, an Ephrathite:
2 [†] And he had two wives; the name of the one was Hannah, and the name of the other Peninnah: and Peninnah had children, but Hannah had no children.
3 [†] And this man went up out of his city yearly to worship and to sacrifice unto the Lord of hosts in Shiloh. And the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, the priests of the Lord, were there.
4 ¶ And when the time was that Elkanah offered, he gave to Peninnah his wife, and to all her sons and her daughters, portions:
5 [†] But unto Hannah he gave a worthy portion; for he loved Hannah: but the Lord had shut up her womb.
6 [†] And her adversary also provoked her sore, for to make her fret, because the Lord had shut up her womb.
7 And as he did so year by year, when she went up to the house of the Lord, so she provoked her; therefore she wept, and did not eat.
8 Then said Elkanah her husband to her, Hannah, why weepest thou? and why eatest thou not? and why is thy heart grieved? am not I better to thee than ten sons?
9 ¶ So Hannah rose up after they had eaten in Shiloh, and after they had drunk. Now Eli the priest sat upon a seat by a post of the temple of the Lord.
10 [†] And she was in bitterness of soul, and prayed unto the Lord, and wept sore.
11 [†] And she vowed a vow, and said, O Lord of hosts, if thou wilt indeed look on the affliction of thine handmaid, and remember me, and not forget thine handmaid, but wilt give unto thine handmaid a man child, then I will give him unto the Lord all the days of his life, and there shall no razor come upon his head.
12 [†] And it came to pass, as she continued praying before the Lord, that Eli marked her mouth.
13 [†] Now Hannah, she spake in her heart; only her lips moved, but her voice was not heard: therefore Eli thought she had been drunken.
14 And Eli said unto her, How long wilt thou be drunken? put away thy wine from thee.
15 And Hannah answered and said, No, my lord, I am a woman of a sorrowful spirit: I have drunk neither wine nor strong drink, but have poured out my soul before the Lord.
16 [†] Count not thine handmaid for a daughter of Belial: for out of the abundance of my complaint and grief have I spoken hitherto.
17 Then Eli answered and said, Go in peace: and the God of Israel grant thee thy petition that thou hast asked of him.
18 And she said, Let thine handmaid find grace in thy sight. So the woman went her way, and did eat, and her countenance was no more sad.
19 ¶ And they rose up in the morning early, and worshipped before the Lord, and returned, and came to their house to Ramah: and Elkanah knew Hannah his wife; and the Lord remembered her.
20 [†] Wherefore it came to pass, when the time was come about after Hannah had conceived, that she bare a son, and called his name Samuel, saying, Because I have asked him of the Lord.
21 And the man Elkanah, and all his house, went up to offer unto the Lord the yearly sacrifice, and his vow.
22 But Hannah went not up; for she said unto her husband, I will not go up until the child be weaned, and then I will bring him, that he may appear before the Lord, and there abide for ever.
23 And Elkanah her husband said unto her, Do what seemeth thee good; tarry until thou have weaned him; only the LORD establish his word. So the woman abode, and gave her son suck until she weaned him.

24 [†] ¶ And when she had weaned him, she took him up with her, with three bullocks, and one ephah of flour, and a bottle of wine, and brought him unto the house of the LORD in Shiloh: and the child was young.
25 [†] And they slew a bullock, and brought the child to Eli.
26 And she said, Oh my lord, as thy soul liveth, my lord, I am the woman that stood by thee here, praying unto the LORD.
27 For this child I prayed; and the LORD hath given me my petition which I asked of him:
28 [†] Therefore also I have lent him to the LORD; as long as he liveth he shall be lent to the LORD. And he worshipped the LORD there.

1 Samuel 2 [†]

1 [†] And Hannah prayed, and said, My heart rejoiceth in the Lord, mine horn is exalted in the Lord: my mouth is enlarged over mine enemies; because I rejoice in thy salvation.
2 [†] There is none holy as the Lord: for there is none beside thee: neither is there any rock like our God.
3 [†] Talk no more so exceeding proudly; let not arrogancy come out of your mouth: for the Lord is a God of knowledge, and by him actions are weighed.
4 [†] The bows of the mighty men are broken, and they that stumbled are girded with strength.
5 They that were full have hired out themselves for bread; and they that were hungry ceased: so that the barren hath born seven; and she that hath many children is waxed feeble.
6 The Lord killeth, and maketh alive: he bringeth down to the grave, and bringeth up.
7 The Lord maketh poor, and maketh rich: he bringeth low, and lifteth up.
8 [†] He raiseth up the poor out of the dust, and lifteth up the beggar from the dunghill, to set them among princes, and to make them inherit the throne of glory: for the pillars of the earth are the Lord's, and he hath set the world upon them.
9 He will keep the feet of his saints, and the wicked shall be silent in darkness; for by strength shall no man prevail.
10 [†] The adversaries of the Lord shall be broken to pieces; out of heaven shall he thunder upon them: the Lord shall judge the ends of the earth; and he shall give strength unto his king, and exalt the horn of his anointed.
11 And Elkanah went to Ramah to his house. And the child did minister unto the Lord before Eli the priest.
12 [†] ¶ Now the sons of Eli were sons of Belial; they knew not the Lord.
13 [†] And the priests' custom with the people was, that, when any man offered sacrifice, the priest's servant came, while the flesh was in seething, with a fleshhook of three teeth in his hand;
14 [†] And he struck it into the pan, or kettle, or caldron, or pot; all that the fleshhook brought up the priest took for himself. So they did in Shiloh unto all the Israelites that came thither.
15 [†] Also before they burnt the fat, the priest's servant came, and said to the man that sacrificed, Give flesh to roast for the priest; for he will not have sodden flesh of thee, but raw.
16 [†] And if any man said unto him, Let them not fail to burn the fat presently, and then take as much as thy soul desireth; then he would answer him, Nay; but thou shalt give it me now: and if not, I will take it by force.
17 Wherefore the sin of the young men was very great before the Lord: for men abhorred the offering of the Lord.
18 [†] ¶ But Samuel ministered before the Lord, being a child, girded with a linen ephod.
19 [†] Moreover his mother made him a little coat, and brought it to him from year to year, when she came up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice.
20 [†] ¶ And Eli blessed Elkanah and his wife, and said, The Lord give thee seed of this woman for the loan which is lent to the Lord. And they went unto their own home.
21 And the Lord visited Hannah, so that she conceived, and bare three sons and two daughters. And the child Samuel grew before the Lord.
22 [†] ¶ Now Eli was very old, and heard all that his sons did unto all Israel; and how they lay with the women that assembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.
23 And he said unto them, Why do ye such things? for I hear of your evil dealings by all this people.
24 Nay, my sons; for it is no good report that I hear: ye make the Lord's people to transgress.

25 [†] If one man sin against another, the judge shall judge him: but if a man sin against the LORD, who shall intreat for him? Notwithstanding they hearkened not unto the voice of their father, because the LORD would slay them.
26 [†] And the child Samuel grew on, and was in favour both with the LORD, and also with men.
27 [†] ¶ And there came a man of God unto Eli, and said unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Did I plainly appear unto the house of thy father, when they were in Egypt in Pharaoh's house?
28 [†] And did I choose him out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priest, to offer upon mine altar, to burn incense, to wear an ephod before me? and did I give unto the house of thy father all the offerings made by fire of the children of Israel?
29 [†] Wherefore kick ye at my sacrifice and at mine offering, which I have commanded in my habitation; and honourest thy sons above me, to make yourselves fat with the chiefest of all the offerings of Israel my people?
30 Wherefore the LORD God of Israel saith, I said indeed that thy house, and the house of thy father, should walk before me for ever: but now the LORD saith, Be it far from me; for them that honour me I will honour, and they that despise me shall be lightly esteemed.
31 [†] Behold, the days come, that I will cut off thine arm, and the arm of thy father's house, that there shall not be an old man in thine house.
32 And thou shalt see an enemy in my habitation, in all the wealth which God shall give Israel: and there shall not be an old man in thine house for ever.
33 And the man of thine, whom I shall not cut off from mine altar, shall be to consume thine eyes, and to grieve thine heart: and all the increase of thine house shall die in the flower of their age.
34 And this shall be a sign unto thee, that shall come upon thy two sons, on Hophni and Phinehas; in one day they shall die both of them.
35 [†] And I will raise me up a faithful priest, that shall do according to that which is in mine heart and in my mind: and I will build him a sure house; and he shall walk before mine anointed for ever.
36 And it shall come to pass, that every one that is left in thine house shall come and crouch to him for a piece of silver and a morsel of bread, and shall say, Put me, I pray thee, into one of the priests' offices, that I may eat a piece of bread.

1 Samuel 3 [†]

1 [†] And the child Samuel ministered unto the Lord before Eli. And the word of the Lord was precious in those days; there was no open vision.
2 [†] And it came to pass at that time, when Eli was laid down in his place, and his eyes began to wax dim, that he could not see;
3 [†] And ere the lamp of God went out in the temple of the Lord, where the ark of God was, and Samuel was laid down to sleep;
4 That the Lord called Samuel: and he answered, Here am I.
5 And he ran unto Eli, and said, Here am I; for thou calledst me. And he said, I called not; lie down again. And he went and lay down.
6 And the Lord called yet again, Samuel. And Samuel arose and went to Eli, and said, Here am I; for thou didst call me. And he answered, I called not, my son; lie down again.
7 [†] Now Samuel did not yet know the Lord, neither was the word of the Lord yet revealed unto him.
8 And the Lord called Samuel again the third time. And he arose and went to Eli, and said, Here am I; for thou didst call me. And Eli perceived that the Lord had called the child.
9 Therefore Eli said unto Samuel, Go, lie down: and it shall be, if he call thee, that thou shalt say, Speak, Lord; for thy servant heareth. So Samuel went and lay down in his place.
10 [†] And the Lord came, and stood, and called as at other times, Samuel, Samuel. Then Samuel answered, Speak; for thy servant heareth.
11 [†] ¶ And the Lord said to Samuel, Behold, I will do a thing in Israel, at which both the ears of every one that heareth it shall tingle.
12 [†] In that day I will perform against Eli all things which I have spoken concerning his house: when I begin, I will also make an end.
13 [†] For I have told him that I will judge his house for ever for the iniquity which he knoweth; because his sons made themselves vile, and he restrained them not.
14 [†] And therefore I have sworn unto the house of Eli, that the iniquity of Eli's house shall not be purged with sacrifice nor offering for ever.
15 ¶ And Samuel lay until the morning, and opened the doors of the house of the Lord. And Samuel feared to shew Eli the vision.
16 Then Eli called Samuel, and said, Samuel, my son. And he answered, Here am I.
17 And he said, What is the thing that the Lord hath said unto thee? I pray thee hide it not from me: God do so to thee, and more also, if thou hide any thing from me of all the things that he said unto thee.
18 [†] And Samuel told him every whit, and hid nothing from him. And he said, It is the Lord: let him do what seemeth him good.
19 [†] ¶ And Samuel grew, and the Lord was with him, and did let none of his words fall to the ground.
20 [†] And all Israel from Dan even to Beer-sheba knew that Samuel was established to be a prophet of the Lord.
21 And the Lord appeared again in Shiloh: for the Lord revealed himself to Samuel in Shiloh by the word of the Lord.

1 Samuel 4 [†]

1 [†] And the word of Samuel came to all Israel. Now Israel went out against the Philistines to battle, and pitched beside Eben-ezer: and the Philistines pitched in Aphek.
2 [†] And the Philistines put themselves in array against Israel: and when they joined battle, Israel was smitten before the Philistines: and they slew of the army in the field about four thousand men.
3 [†] ¶ And when the people were come into the camp, the elders of Israel said, Wherefore hath the LORD smitten us to day before the Philistines? Let us fetch the ark of the covenant of the LORD out of Shiloh unto us, that, when it cometh among us, it may save us out of the hand of our enemies.
4 So the people sent to Shiloh, that they might bring from thence the ark of the covenant of the LORD of hosts, which dwelleth between the cherubims: and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were there with the ark of the covenant of God.
5 [†] And when the ark of the covenant of the LORD came into the camp, all Israel shouted with a great shout, so that the earth rang again.
6 And when the Philistines heard the noise of the shout, they said, What meaneth the noise of this great shout in the camp of the Hebrews? And they understood that the ark of the LORD was come into the camp.
7 [†] And the Philistines were afraid, for they said, God is come into the camp. And they said, Woe unto us! for there hath not been such a thing heretofore.
8 Woe unto us! who shall deliver us out of the hand of these mighty Gods? these are the Gods that smote the Egyptians with all the plagues in the wilderness.
9 [†] Be strong, and quit yourselves like men, O ye Philistines, that ye be not servants unto the Hebrews, as they have been to you: quit yourselves like men, and fight.
10 ¶ And the Philistines fought, and Israel was smitten, and they fled every man into his tent: and there was a very great slaughter; for there fell of Israel thirty thousand footmen.
11 And the ark of God was taken; and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were slain.
12 [†] ¶ And there ran a man of Benjamin out of the army, and came to Shiloh the same day with his clothes rent, and with earth upon his head.
13 [†] And when he came, lo, Eli sat upon a seat by the wayside watching: for his heart trembled for the ark of God. And when the man came into the city, and told it, all the city cried out.
14 [†] And when Eli heard the noise of the crying, he said, What meaneth the noise of this tumult? And the man came in hastily, and told Eli.
15 Now Eli was ninety and eight years old; and his eyes were dim, that he could not see.
16 And the man said unto Eli, I am he that came out of the army, and I fled to day out of the army. And he said, What is there done, my son?
17 And the messenger answered and said, Israel is fled before the Philistines, and there hath been also a great slaughter among the people, and thy two sons also, Hophni and Phinehas, are dead, and the ark of God is taken.
18 And it came to pass, when he made mention of the ark of God, that he fell from off the seat backward by the side of the gate, and his neck brake, and he died: for he was an old man, and heavy. And he had judged Israel forty years.
19 [†] ¶ And his daughter in law, Phinehas' wife, was with child, near to be delivered: and when she heard the tidings that the ark of God was taken, and that her father in law and her husband were dead, she bowed herself and travailed; for her pains came upon her.
20 And about the time of her death the women that stood by her said unto her, Fear not; for thou hast born a son. But she answered not, neither did she regard it.

21 [†] And she named the child Ichabod, saying, The glory is departed from Israel: because the ark of God was taken, and because of her father in law and her husband.
22 And she said, The glory is departed from Israel: for the ark of God is taken.

1 Samuel 5 [†]

1 [†] And the Philistines took the ark of God, and brought it from Eben-ezer unto Ashdod.
2 [†] When the Philistines took the ark of God, they brought it into the house of Dagon, and set it by Dagon.
3 ¶ And when they of Ashdod arose early on the morrow, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face to the earth before the ark of the Lord. And they took Dagon, and set him in his place again.
4 And when they arose early on the morrow morning, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face to the ground before the ark of the Lord; and the head of Dagon and both the palms of his hands were cut off upon the threshold; only the stump of Dagon was left to him.
5 Therefore neither the priests of Dagon, nor any that come into Dagon's house, tread on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod unto this day.
6 [†] But the hand of the Lord was heavy upon them of Ashdod, and he destroyed them, and smote them with emerods, even Ashdod and the coasts thereof.
7 [†] And when the men of Ashdod saw that it was so, they said, The ark of the God of Israel shall not abide with us: for his hand is sore upon us, and upon Dagon our god.
8 [†] They sent therefore and gathered all the lords of the Philistines unto them, and said, What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel? And they answered, Let the ark of the God of Israel be carried about unto Gath. And they carried the ark of the God of Israel about thither.
9 And it was so, that, after they had carried it about, the hand of the Lord was against the city with a very great destruction: and he smote the men of the city, both small and great, and they had emerods in their secret parts.
10 ¶ Therefore they sent the ark of God to Ekron. And it came to pass, as the ark of God came to Ekron, that the Ekronites cried out, saying, They have brought about the ark of the God of Israel to us, to slay us and our people.
11 [†] So they sent and gathered together all the lords of the Philistines, and said, Send away the ark of the God of Israel, and let it go again to his own place, that it slay us not, and our people: for there was a deadly destruction throughout all the city; the hand of God was very heavy there.
12 And the men that died not were smitten with the emerods: and the cry of the city went up to heaven.

1 Samuel 6 [†]

1 And the ark of the Lord was in the country of the Philistines seven months.
2 [†] And the Philistines called for the priests and the diviners, saying, What shall we do to the ark of the Lord? tell us wherewith we shall send it to his place.
3 [†] And they said, If ye send away the ark of the God of Israel, send it not empty; but in any wise return him a trespass offering: then ye shall be healed, and it shall be known to you why his hand is not removed from you.
4 [†] Then said they, What shall be the trespass offering which we shall return to him? They answered, Five golden emerods, and five golden mice, according to the number of the lords of the Philistines: for one plague was on you all, and on your lords.
5 Wherefore ye shall make images of your emerods, and images of your mice that mar the land; and ye shall give glory unto the God of Israel: peradventure he will lighten his hand from off you, and from off your gods, and from off your land.
6 [†] Wherefore then do ye harden your hearts, as the Egyptians and Pharaoh hardened their hearts? when he had wrought wonderfully among them, did they not let the people go, and they departed?
7 [†] Now therefore make a new cart, and take two milch kine, on which there hath come no yoke, and tie the kine to the cart, and bring their calves home from them:
8 [†] And take the ark of the Lord, and lay it upon the cart; and put the jewels of gold, which ye return him for a trespass offering, in a coffer by the side thereof; and send it away, that it may go.
9 [†] And see, if it goeth up by the way of his own coast to Beth-shemesh, then he hath done us this great evil: but if not, then we shall know that it is not his hand that smote us: it was a chance that happened to us.
10 ¶ And the men did so; and took two milch kine, and tied them to the cart, and shut up their calves at home:
11 And they laid the ark of the Lord upon the cart, and the coffer with the mice of gold and the images of their emerods.
12 And the kine took the straight way to the way of Beth-shemesh, and went along the highway, lowing as they went, and turned not aside to the right hand or to the left; and the lords of the Philistines went after them unto the border of Beth-shemesh.
13 And they of Beth-shemesh were reaping their wheat harvest in the valley: and they lifted up their eyes, and saw the ark, and rejoiced to see it.
14 [†] And the cart came into the field of Joshua, a Beth-shemite, and stood there, where there was a great stone: and they clave the wood of the cart, and offered the kine a burnt offering unto the Lord.
15 And the Levites took down the ark of the Lord, and the coffer that was with it, wherein the jewels of gold were, and put them on the great stone: and the men of Beth-shemesh offered burnt offerings and sacrificed sacrifices the same day unto the Lord.
16 And when the five lords of the Philistines had seen it, they returned to Ekron the same day.
17 And these are the golden emerods which the Philistines returned for a trespass offering unto the Lord; for Ashdod one, for Gaza one, for Askelon one, for Gath one, for Ekron one;
18 And the golden mice, according to the number of all the cities of the Philistines belonging to the five lords, both of fenced cities, and of country villages, even unto the great stone of Abel, whereon they set down the ark of the Lord: which stone remaineth unto this day in the field of Joshua, the Beth-shemite.
19 [†] ¶ And he smote the men of Beth-shemesh, because they had looked into the ark of the Lord, even he smote of the people fifty thousand and threescore and ten men: and the people lamented, because the Lord had smitten many of the people with a great slaughter.

20 And the men of Beth-shemesh said, Who is able to stand before this holy LORD God? and to whom shall he go up from us?
21 ¶ And they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kirjath-jearim, saying, The Philistines have brought again the ark of the LORD; come ye down, and fetch it up to you.

1 Samuel 7 [†]

1 [†] And the men of Kirjath-jearim came, and fetched up the ark of the Lord, and brought it into the house of Abinadab in the hill, and sanctified Eleazar his son to keep the ark of the Lord.
2 [†] And it came to pass, while the ark abode in Kirjath-jearim, that the time was long; for it was twenty years: and all the house of Israel lamented after the Lord.
3 ¶ And Samuel spake unto all the house of Israel, saying, If ye do return unto the Lord with all your hearts, then put away the strange gods and Ashtaroth from among you, and prepare your hearts unto the Lord, and serve him only: and he will deliver you out of the hand of the Philistines.
4 [†] Then the children of Israel did put away Baalim and Ashtaroth, and served the Lord only.
5 And Samuel said, Gather all Israel to Mizpeh, and I will pray for you unto the Lord.
6 And they gathered together to Mizpeh, and drew water, and poured it out before the Lord, and fasted on that day, and said there, We have sinned against the Lord. And Samuel judged the children of Israel in Mizpeh.
7 And when the Philistines heard that the children of Israel were gathered together to Mizpeh, the lords of the Philistines went up against Israel. And when the children of Israel heard it, they were afraid of the Philistines.
8 [†] And the children of Israel said to Samuel, Cease not to cry unto the Lord our God for us, that he will save us out of the hand of the Philistines.
9 ¶ And Samuel took a sucking lamb, and offered it for a burnt offering wholly unto the Lord: and Samuel cried unto the Lord for Israel; and the Lord heard him.
10 [†] And as Samuel was offering up the burnt offering, the Philistines drew near to battle against Israel: but the Lord thundered with a great thunder on that day upon the Philistines, and discomfited them; and they were smitten before Israel.
11 And the men of Israel went out of Mizpeh, and pursued the Philistines, and smote them, until they came under Beth-car.
12 [†] Then Samuel took a stone, and set it between Mizpeh and Shen, and called the name of it Eben-ezer, saying, Hitherto hath the Lord helped us.
13 [†] ¶ So the Philistines were subdued, and they came no more into the coast of Israel: and the hand of the Lord was against the Philistines all the days of Samuel.
14 And the cities which the Philistines had taken from Israel were restored to Israel, from Ekron even unto Gath; and the coasts thereof did Israel deliver out of the hands of the Philistines. And there was peace between Israel and the Amorites.
15 And Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life.
16 And he went from year to year in circuit to Beth-el, and Gilgal, and Mizpeh, and judged Israel in all those places.
17 And his return was to Ramah; for there was his house; and there he judged Israel; and there he built an altar unto the Lord.

1 Samuel 8 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass, when Samuel was old, that he made his sons judges over Israel.
2 Now the name of his firstborn was Joel; and the name of his second, Abiah: they were judges in Beer-sheba.
3 [†] And his sons walked not in his ways, but turned aside after lucre, and took bribes, and perverted judgment.
4 Then all the elders of Israel gathered themselves together, and came to Samuel unto Ramah,
5 [†] And said unto him, Behold, thou art old, and thy sons walk not in thy ways: now make us a king to judge us like all the nations.
6 [†] ¶ But the thing displeased Samuel, when they said, Give us a king to judge us. And Samuel prayed unto the Lord.
7 And the Lord said unto Samuel, Hearken unto the voice of the people in all that they say unto thee: for they have not rejected thee, but they have rejected me, that I should not reign over them.
8 According to all the works which they have done since the day that I brought them up out of Egypt even unto this day, wherewith they have forsaken me, and served other gods, so do they also unto thee.
9 [†] Now therefore hearken unto their voice: howbeit yet protest solemnly unto them, and shew them the manner of the king that shall reign over them.
10 ¶ And Samuel told all the words of the Lord unto the people that asked of him a king.
11 [†] And he said, This will be the manner of the king that shall reign over you: He will take your sons, and appoint them for himself, for his chariots, and to be his horsemen; and some shall run before his chariots.
12 [†] And he will appoint him captains over thousands, and captains over fifties; and will set them to ear his ground, and to reap his harvest, and to make his instruments of war, and instruments of his chariots.
13 [†] And he will take your daughters to be confectionaries, and to be cooks, and to be bakers.
14 And he will take your fields, and your vineyards, and your oliveyards, even the best of them, and give them to his servants.
15 And he will take the tenth of your seed, and of your vineyards, and give to his officers, and to his servants.
16 And he will take your menservants, and your maidservants, and your goodliest young men, and your asses, and put them to his work.
17 He will take the tenth of your sheep: and ye shall be his servants.
18 And ye shall cry out in that day because of your king which ye shall have chosen you; and the Lord will not hear you in that day.
19 ¶ Nevertheless the people refused to obey the voice of Samuel; and they said, Nay; but we will have a king over us;
20 That we also may be like all the nations; and that our king may judge us, and go out before us, and fight our battles.
21 [†] And Samuel heard all the words of the people, and he rehearsed them in the ears of the Lord.
22 And the Lord said to Samuel, Hearken unto their voice, and make them a king. And Samuel said unto the men of Israel, Go ye every man unto his city.

1 Samuel 9 [†]

1 Now there was a man of Benjamin, whose name was Kish, the son of Abiel, the son of Zeror, the son of Bechorath, the son of Aphiah, a Benjamite, a mighty man of power.
2 [†] And he had a son, whose name was Saul, a choice young man, and a goodly: and there was not among the children of Israel a goodlier person than he: from his shoulders and upward he was higher than any of the people.
3 And the asses of Kish Saul's father were lost. And Kish said to Saul his son, Take now one of the servants with thee, and arise, go seek the asses.
4 And he passed through mount Ephraim, and passed through the land of Shalisha, but they found them not: then they passed through the land of Shalim, and there they were not: and he passed through the land of the Benjamites, but they found them not.
5 [†] And when they were come to the land of Zuph, Saul said to his servant that was with him, Come, and let us return; lest my father leave caring for the asses, and take thought for us.
6 [†] And he said unto him, Behold now, there is in this city a man of God, and he is an honourable man; all that he saith cometh surely to pass: now let us go thither; peradventure he can shew us our way that we should go.
7 [†] Then said Saul to his servant, But, behold, if we go, what shall we bring the man? for the bread is spent in our vessels, and there is not a present to bring to the man of God: what have we?
8 And the servant answered Saul again, and said, Behold, I have here at hand the fourth part of a shekel of silver: that will I give to the man of God, to tell us our way.
9 [†] (Beforetime in Israel, when a man went to enquire of God, thus he spake, Come, and let us go to the seer: for he that is now called a Prophet was beforetime called a Seer.)
10 Then said Saul to his servant, Well said; come, let us go. So they went unto the city where the man of God was.
11 ¶ And as they went up the hill to the city, they found young maidens going out to draw water, and said unto them, Is the seer here?
12 [†] And they answered them, and said, He is; behold, he is before you: make haste now, for he came to day to the city; for there is a sacrifice of the people to day in the high place:
13 [†] As soon as ye be come into the city, ye shall straightway find him, before he go up to the high place to eat: for the people will not eat until he come, because he doth bless the sacrifice; and afterwards they eat that be bidden. Now therefore get you up; for about this time ye shall find him.
14 And they went up into the city: and when they were come into the city, behold, Samuel came out against them, for to go up to the high place.
15 [†] ¶ Now the Lord had told Samuel in his ear a day before Saul came, saying,
16 [†] To morrow about this time I will send thee a man out of the land of Benjamin, and thou shalt anoint him to be captain over my people Israel, that he may save my people out of the hand of the Philistines: for I have looked upon my people, because their cry is come unto me.
17 And when Samuel saw Saul, the Lord said unto him, Behold the man whom I spake to thee of! this same shall reign over my people.
18 Then Saul drew near to Samuel in the gate, and said, Tell me, I pray thee, where the seer's house is.
19 And Samuel answered Saul, and said, I am the seer: go up before me unto the high place; for ye shall eat with me to day, and to morrow I will let thee go, and will tell thee all that is in thine heart.
20 And as for thine asses that were lost three days ago, set not thy mind on them; for they are found. And on whom is all the desire of Israel? Is it not on thee, and on all thy father's house?

21 And Saul answered and said, Am not I a Benjamite, of the smallest of the tribes of Israel? and my family the least of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? wherefore then speakest thou so to me?
22 [†] And Samuel took Saul and his servant, and brought them into the parlour, and made them sit in the chiefest place among them that were bidden, which were about thirty persons.
23 And Samuel said unto the cook, Bring the portion which I gave thee, of which I said unto thee, Set it by thee.
24 And the cook took up the shoulder, and that which was upon it, and set it before Saul. And Samuel said, Behold that which is left! set it before thee, and eat: for unto this time hath it been kept for thee since I said, I have invited the people. So Saul did eat with Samuel that day.
25 [†] ¶ And when they were come down from the high place into the city, Samuel communed with Saul upon the top of the house.
26 [†] And they arose early: and it came to pass about the spring of the day, that Samuel called Saul to the top of the house, saying, Up, that I may send thee away. And Saul arose, and they went out both of them, he and Samuel, abroad.
27 [†] And as they were going down to the end of the city, Samuel said to Saul, Bid the servant pass on before us, (and he passed on,) but stand thou still a while, that I may shew thee the word of God.

1 Samuel 10 [†]

1 [†] Then Samuel took a vial of oil, and poured it upon his head, and kissed him, and said, Is it not because the Lord hath anointed thee to be captain over his inheritance?
2 [†] When thou art departed from me to day, then thou shalt find two men by Rachel's sepulchre in the border of Benjamin at Zelzah; and they will say unto thee, The asses which thou wentest to seek are found: and, lo, thy father hath left the care of the asses, and sorroweth for you, saying, What shall I do for my son?
3 Then shalt thou go on forward from thence, and thou shalt come to the plain of Tabor, and there shall meet thee three men going up to God to Beth-el, one carrying three kids, and another carrying three loaves of bread, and another carrying a bottle of wine:
4 [†] And they will salute thee, and give thee two loaves of bread; which thou shalt receive of their hands.
5 [†] After that thou shalt come to the hill of God, where is the garrison of the Philistines: and it shall come to pass, when thou art come thither to the city, that thou shalt meet a company of prophets coming down from the high place with a psaltery, and a tabret, and a pipe, and a harp, before them; and they shall prophesy:
6 [†] And the Spirit of the Lord will come upon thee, and thou shalt prophesy with them, and shalt be turned into another man.
7 [†] And let it be, when these signs are come unto thee, that thou do as occasion serve thee; for God is with thee.
8 And thou shalt go down before me to Gilgal; and, behold, I will come down unto thee, to offer burnt offerings, and to sacrifice sacrifices of peace offerings: seven days shalt thou tarry, till I come to thee, and shew thee what thou shalt do.
9 [†] ¶ And it was so, that when he had turned his back to go from Samuel, God gave him another heart: and all those signs came to pass that day.
10 [†] And when they came thither to the hill, behold, a company of prophets met him; and the Spirit of God came upon him, and he prophesied among them.
11 [†] And it came to pass, when all that knew him beforetime saw that, behold, he prophesied among the prophets, then the people said one to another, What is this that is come unto the son of Kish? Is Saul also among the prophets?
12 And one of the same place answered and said, But who is their father? Therefore it became a proverb, Is Saul also among the prophets?
13 And when he had made an end of prophesying, he came to the high place.
14 [†] ¶ And Saul's uncle said unto him and to his servant, Whither went ye? And he said, To seek the asses: and when we saw that they were no where, we came to Samuel.
15 And Saul's uncle said, Tell me, I pray thee, what Samuel said unto you.
16 And Saul said unto his uncle, He told us plainly that the asses were found. But of the matter of the kingdom, whereof Samuel spake, he told him not.
17 [†] ¶ And Samuel called the people together unto the Lord to Mizpeh;
18 And said unto the children of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I brought up Israel out of Egypt, and delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all kingdoms, and of them that oppressed you:
19 And ye have this day rejected your God, who himself saved you out of all your adversities and your tribulations; and ye have said unto him, Nay, but set a king over us. Now therefore present yourselves before the Lord by your tribes, and by your thousands.

20 And when Samuel had caused all the tribes of Israel to come near, the tribe of Benjamin was taken.
21 When he had caused the tribe of Benjamin to come near by their families, the family of Matri was taken, and Saul the son of Kish was taken: and when they sought him, he could not be found.
22 [†] Therefore they enquired of the LORD further, if the man should yet come thither. And the LORD answered, Behold, he hath hid himself among the stuff.
23 And they ran and fetched him thence: and when he stood among the people, he was higher than any of the people from his shoulders and upward.
24 [†] And Samuel said to all the people, See ye him whom the LORD hath chosen, that there is none like him among all the people? And all the people shouted, and said, God save the king.
25 Then Samuel told the people the manner of the kingdom, and wrote it in a book, and laid it up before the LORD. And Samuel sent all the people away, every man to his house.
26 [†] ¶ And Saul also went home to Gibeah; and there went with him a band of men, whose hearts God had touched.
27 [†] But the children of Belial said, How shall this man save us? And they despised him, and brought him no presents. But he held his peace.

1 Samuel 11 [†]

1 [†] Then Nahash the Ammonite came up, and encamped against Jabesh-gilead: and all the men of Jabesh said unto Nahash, Make a covenant with us, and we will serve thee.
2 And Nahash the Ammonite answered them, On this condition will I make a covenant with you, that I may thrust out all your right eyes, and lay it for a reproach upon all Israel.
3 [†] And the elders of Jabesh said unto him, Give us seven days' respite, that we may send messengers unto all the coasts of Israel: and then, if there be no man to save us, we will come out to thee.
4 ¶ Then came the messengers to Gibeah of Saul, and told the tidings in the ears of the people: and all the people lifted up their voices, and wept.
5 And, behold, Saul came after the herd out of the field; and Saul said, What aileth the people that they weep? And they told him the tidings of the men of Jabesh.
6 [†] And the Spirit of God came upon Saul when he heard those tidings, and his anger was kindled greatly.
7 [†] And he took a yoke of oxen, and hewed them in pieces, and sent them throughout all the coasts of Israel by the hands of messengers, saying, Whosoever cometh not forth after Saul and after Samuel, so shall it be done unto his oxen. And the fear of the Lord fell on the people, and they came out with one consent.
8 And when he numbered them in Bezek, the children of Israel were three hundred thousand, and the men of Judah thirty thousand.
9 And they said unto the messengers that came, Thus shall ye say unto the men of Jabesh-gilead, To morrow, by that time the sun be hot, ye shall have help. And the messengers came and shewed it to the men of Jabesh; and they were glad.
10 Therefore the men of Jabesh said, To morrow we will come out unto you, and ye shall do with us all that seemeth good unto you.
11 [†] And it was so on the morrow, that Saul put the people in three companies; and they came into the midst of the host in the morning watch, and slew the Ammonites until the heat of the day: and it came to pass, that they which remained were scattered, so that two of them were not left together.
12 ¶ And the people said unto Samuel, Who is he that said, Shall Saul reign over us? bring the men, that we may put them to death.
13 And Saul said, There shall not a man be put to death this day: for to day the Lord hath wrought salvation in Israel.
14 Then said Samuel to the people, Come, and let us go to Gilgal, and renew the kingdom there.
15 And all the people went to Gilgal; and there they made Saul king before the Lord in Gilgal; and there they sacrificed sacrifices of peace offerings before the Lord; and there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced greatly.

1 Samuel 12 [†]

1 And Samuel said unto all Israel, Behold, I have hearkened unto your voice in all that ye said unto me, and have made a king over you.
2 And now, behold, the king walketh before you: and I am old and grayheaded; and, behold, my sons are with you: and I have walked before you from my childhood unto this day.
3 [†] Behold, here I am: witness against me before the Lord, and before his anointed: whose ox have I taken? or whose ass have I taken? or whom have I defrauded? whom have I oppressed? or of whose hand have I received any bribe to blind mine eyes therewith? and I will restore it you.
4 [†] And they said, Thou hast not defrauded us, nor oppressed us, neither hast thou taken ought of any man's hand.
5 [†] And he said unto them, The Lord is witness against you, and his anointed is witness this day, that ye have not found ought in my hand. And they answered, He is witness.
6 [†] ¶ And Samuel said unto the people, It is the Lord that advanced Moses and Aaron, and that brought your fathers up out of the land of Egypt.
7 Now therefore stand still, that I may reason with you before the Lord of all the righteous acts of the Lord, which he did to you and to your fathers.
8 When Jacob was come into Egypt, and your fathers cried unto the Lord, then the Lord sent Moses and Aaron, which brought forth your fathers out of Egypt, and made them dwell in this place.
9 And when they forgat the Lord their God, he sold them into the hand of Sisera, captain of the host of Hazor, and into the hand of the Philistines, and into the hand of the king of Moab, and they fought against them.
10 [†] And they cried unto the Lord, and said, We have sinned, because we have forsaken the Lord, and have served Baalim and Ashtaroth: but now deliver us out of the hand of our enemies, and we will serve thee.
11 [†] And the Lord sent Jerubbaal, and Bedan, and Jephthah, and Samuel, and delivered you out of the hand of your enemies on every side, and ye dwelled safe.
12 And when ye saw that Nahash the king of the children of Ammon came against you, ye said unto me, Nay; but a king shall reign over us: when the Lord your God was your king.
13 Now therefore behold the king whom ye have chosen, and whom ye have desired! and, behold, the Lord hath set a king over you.
14 [†] If ye will fear the Lord, and serve him, and obey his voice, and not rebel against the commandment of the Lord, then shall both ye and also the king that reigneth over you continue following the Lord your God:
15 But if ye will not obey the voice of the Lord, but rebel against the commandment of the Lord, then shall the hand of the Lord be against you, as it was against your fathers.
16 ¶ Now therefore stand and see this great thing, which the Lord will do before your eyes.
17 [†] Is it not wheat harvest to day? I will call unto the Lord, and he shall send thunder and rain; that ye may perceive and see that your wickedness is great, which ye have done in the sight of the Lord, in asking you a king.
18 [†] So Samuel called unto the Lord; and the Lord sent thunder and rain that day: and all the people greatly feared the Lord and Samuel.
19 And all the people said unto Samuel, Pray for thy servants unto the Lord thy God, that we die not: for we have added unto all our sins this evil, to ask us a king.
20 ¶ And Samuel said unto the people, Fear not: ye have done all this wickedness: yet turn not aside from following the Lord, but serve the Lord with all your heart;

21 [†] And turn ye not aside: for then should ye go after vain things, which cannot profit nor deliver; for they are vain.
22 For the LORD will not forsake his people for his great name's sake: because it hath pleased the LORD to make you his people.
23 [†] Moreover as for me, God forbid that I should sin against the LORD in ceasing to pray for you: but I will teach you the good and the right way:
24 Only fear the LORD, and serve him in truth with all your heart: for consider how great things he hath done for you.
25 But if ye shall still do wickedly, ye shall be consumed, both ye and your king.

1 Samuel 13 [†]

1 [†] Saul reigned one year; and when he had reigned two years over Israel,
2 Saul chose him three thousand men of Israel; whereof two thousand were with Saul in Michmash and in mount Beth-el, and a thousand were with Jonathan in Gibeah of Benjamin: and the rest of the people he sent every man to his tent.
3 And Jonathan smote the garrison of the Philistines that was in Geba, and the Philistines heard of it. And Saul blew the trumpet throughout all the land, saying, Let the Hebrews hear.
4 [†] And all Israel heard say that Saul had smitten a garrison of the Philistines, and that Israel also was had in abomination with the Philistines. And the people were called together after Saul to Gilgal.
5 ¶ And the Philistines gathered themselves together to fight with Israel, thirty thousand chariots, and six thousand horsemen, and people as the sand which is on the sea shore in multitude: and they came up, and pitched in Michmash, eastward from Beth-aven.
6 [†] When the men of Israel saw that they were in a strait, (for the people were distressed,) then the people did hide themselves in caves, and in thickets, and in rocks, and in high places, and in pits.
7 And some of the Hebrews went over Jordan to the land of Gad and Gilead. As for Saul, he was yet in Gilgal, and all the people followed him trembling.
8 ¶ And he tarried seven days, according to the set time that Samuel had appointed: but Samuel came not to Gilgal; and the people were scattered from him.
9 [†] And Saul said, Bring hither a burnt offering to me, and peace offerings. And he offered the burnt offering.
10 And it came to pass, that as soon as he had made an end of offering the burnt offering, behold, Samuel came; and Saul went out to meet him, that he might salute him.
11 ¶ And Samuel said, What hast thou done? And Saul said, Because I saw that the people were scattered from me, and that thou camest not within the days appointed, and that the Philistines gathered themselves together at Michmash;
12 Therefore said I, The Philistines will come down now upon me to Gilgal, and I have not made supplication unto the Lord: I forced myself therefore, and offered a burnt offering.
13 And Samuel said to Saul, Thou hast done foolishly: thou hast not kept the commandment of the Lord thy God, which he commanded thee: for now would the Lord have established thy kingdom upon Israel for ever.
14 [†] But now thy kingdom shall not continue: the Lord hath sought him a man after his own heart, and the Lord hath commanded him to be captain over his people, because thou hast not kept that which the Lord commanded thee.
15 [†] And Samuel arose, and gat him up from Gilgal unto Gibeah of Benjamin. And Saul numbered the people that were present with him, about six hundred men.
16 And Saul, and Jonathan his son, and the people that were present with them, abode in Gibeah of Benjamin: but the Philistines encamped in Michmash.
17 [†] ¶ And the spoilers came out of the camp of the Philistines in three companies: one company turned unto the way that leadeth to Ophrah, unto the land of Shual:
18 And another company turned the way to Beth-horon: and another company turned to the way of the border that looketh to the valley of Zeboim toward the wilderness.
19 [†] ¶ Now there was no smith found throughout all the land of Israel: for the Philistines said, Lest the Hebrews make them swords or spears:
20 [†] But all the Israelites went down to the Philistines, to sharpen every man his share, and his coulter, and his axe, and his mattock.

21 [†] Yet they had a file for the mattocks, and for the coulters, and for the forks, and for the axes, and to sharpen the goads.
22 So it came to pass in the day of battle, that there was neither sword nor spear found in the hand of any of the people that were with Saul and Jonathan: but with Saul and with Jonathan his son was there found.
23 [†] And the garrison of the Philistines went out to the passage of Michmash.

1 Samuel 14 [†]

1 Now it came to pass upon a day, that Jonathan the son of Saul said unto the young man that bare his armour, Come, and let us go over to the Philistines' garrison, that is on the other side. But he told not his father.
2 [†] And Saul tarried in the uttermost part of Gibeah under a pomegranate tree which is in Migron: and the people that were with him were about six hundred men;
3 [†] And Ahiah, the son of Ahitub, I-chabod's brother, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eli, the Lord's priest in Shiloh, wearing an ephod. And the people knew not that Jonathan was gone.
4 [†] ¶ And between the passages, by which Jonathan sought to go over unto the Philistines' garrison, there was a sharp rock on the one side, and a sharp rock on the other side: and the name of the one was Bozez, and the name of the other Seneh.
5 [†] The forefront of the one was situate northward over against Michmash, and the other southward over against Gibeah.
6 [†] And Jonathan said to the young man that bare his armour, Come, and let us go over unto the garrison of these uncircumcised: it may be that the Lord will work for us: for there is no restraint to the Lord to save by many or by few.
7 And his armourbearer said unto him, Do all that is in thine heart: turn thee; behold, I am with thee according to thy heart.
8 [†] Then said Jonathan, Behold, we will pass over unto these men, and we will discover ourselves unto them.
9 If they say thus unto us, Tarry until we come to you; then we will stand still in our place, and will not go up unto them.
10 But if they say thus, Come up unto us; then we will go up: for the Lord hath delivered them into our hand: and this shall be a sign unto us.
11 And both of them discovered themselves unto the garrison of the Philistines: and the Philistines said, Behold, the Hebrews come forth out of the holes where they had hid themselves.
12 [†] And the men of the garrison answered Jonathan and his armourbearer, and said, Come up to us, and we will shew you a thing. And Jonathan said unto his armourbearer, Come up after me: for the Lord hath delivered them into the hand of Israel.
13 And Jonathan climbed up upon his hands and upon his feet, and his armourbearer after him: and they fell before Jonathan; and his armourbearer slew after him.
14 And that first slaughter, which Jonathan and his armourbearer made, was about twenty men, within as it were an half acre of land, which a yoke of oxen might plow.
15 [†] And there was trembling in the host, in the field, and among all the people: the garrison, and the spoilers, they also trembled, and the earth quaked: so it was a very great trembling.
16 [†] And the watchmen of Saul in Gibeah of Benjamin looked; and, behold, the multitude melted away, and they went on beating down one another.
17 Then said Saul unto the people that were with him, Number now, and see who is gone from us. And when they had numbered, behold, Jonathan and his armourbearer were not there.
18 And Saul said unto Ahiah, Bring hither the ark of God. For the ark of God was at that time with the children of Israel.
19 ¶ And it came to pass, while Saul talked unto the priest, that the noise that was in the host of the Philistines went on and increased: and Saul said unto the priest, Withdraw thine hand.
20 [†] And Saul and all the people that were with him assembled themselves, and they came to the battle: and, behold, every man's sword was against his fellow, and there was a very great discomfiture.

21 [†] Moreover the Hebrews that were with the Philistines before that time, which went up with them into the camp from the country round about, even they also turned to be with the Israelites that were with Saul and Jonathan.
22 Likewise all the men of Israel which had hid themselves in mount Ephraim, when they heard that the Philistines fled, even they also followed hard after them in the battle.
23 So the LORD saved Israel that day: and the battle passed over unto Beth-aven.
24 [†] ¶ And the men of Israel were distressed that day: for Saul had adjured the people, saying, Cursed be the man that eateth any food until evening, that I may be avenged on mine enemies. So none of the people tasted any food.
25 [†] And all they of the land came to a wood; and there was honey upon the ground.
26 And when the people were come into the wood, behold, the honey dropped; but no man put his hand to his mouth: for the people feared the oath.
27 [†] But Jonathan heard not when his father charged the people with the oath: wherefore he put forth the end of the rod that was in his hand, and dipped it in an honeycomb, and put his hand to his mouth; and his eyes were enlightened.
28 [†] Then answered one of the people, and said, Thy father straitly charged the people with an oath, saying, Cursed be the man that eateth any food this day. And the people were faint.
29 Then said Jonathan, My father hath troubled the land: see, I pray you, how mine eyes have been enlightened, because I tasted a little of this honey.
30 [†] How much more, if haply the people had eaten freely to day of the spoil of their enemies which they found? for had there not been now a much greater slaughter among the Philistines?
31 And they smote the Philistines that day from Michmash to Aijalon: and the people were very faint.
32 [†] And the people flew upon the spoil, and took sheep, and oxen, and calves, and slew them on the ground: and the people did eat them with the blood.
33 [†] ¶ Then they told Saul, saying, Behold, the people sin against the LORD, in that they eat with the blood. And he said, Ye have transgressed: roll a great stone unto me this day.
34 And Saul said, Disperse yourselves among the people, and say unto them, Bring me hither every man his ox, and every man his sheep, and slay them here, and eat; and sin not against the LORD in eating with the blood. And all the people brought every man his ox with him that night, and slew them there.
35 And Saul built an altar unto the LORD: the same was the first altar that he built unto the LORD.
36 ¶ And Saul said, Let us go down after the Philistines by night, and spoil them until the morning light, and let us not leave a man of them. And they said, Do whatsoever seemeth good unto thee. Then said the priest, Let us draw near hither unto God.
37 And Saul asked counsel of God, Shall I go down after the Philistines? wilt thou deliver them into the hand of Israel? But he answered him not that day.
38 And Saul said, Draw ye near hither, all the chief of the people: and know and see wherein this sin hath been this day.
39 For, as the LORD liveth, which saveth Israel, though it be in Jonathan my son, he shall surely die. But there was not a man among all the people that answered him.
40 Then said he unto all Israel, Be ye on one side, and I and Jonathan my son will be on the other side. And the people said unto Saul, Do what seemeth good unto thee.
41 [†] Therefore Saul said unto the LORD God of Israel, Give a perfect lot. And Saul and Jonathan were taken: but the people escaped.
42 And Saul said, Cast lots between me and Jonathan my son. And Jonathan was taken.
43 Then Saul said to Jonathan, Tell me what thou hast done. And Jonathan told him, and said, I did but taste a little honey with the end of the rod that was in mine hand, and, lo, I must die.
44 And Saul answered, God do so and more also: for thou shalt surely die, Jonathan.

45 [†] And the people said unto Saul, Shall Jonathan die, who hath wrought this great salvation in Israel? God forbid: as the LORD liveth, there shall not one hair of his head fall to the ground; for he hath wrought with God this day. So the people rescued Jonathan, that he died not.
46 Then Saul went up from following the Philistines: and the Philistines went to their own place.
47 [†] ¶ So Saul took the kingdom over Israel, and fought against all his enemies on every side, against Moab, and against the children of Ammon, and against Edom, and against the kings of Zobah, and against the Philistines: and whithersoever he turned himself, he vexed them.
48 [†] And he gathered an host, and smote the Amalekites, and delivered Israel out of the hands of them that spoiled them.
49 Now the sons of Saul were Jonathan, and Ishui, and Melchi-shua: and the names of his two daughters were these; the name of the firstborn Merab, and the name of the younger Michal:
50 And the name of Saul's wife was Ahinoam, the daughter of Ahimaaz: and the name of the captain of his host was Abner, the son of Ner, Saul's uncle.
51 And Kish was the father of Saul; and Ner the father of Abner was the son of Abiel.
52 [†] And there was sore war against the Philistines all the days of Saul: and when Saul saw any strong man, or any valiant man, he took him unto him.

1 Samuel 15 [†]

(see article: Obedience to God's Will)

1 [†] Samuel also said unto Saul, The Lord sent me to anoint thee to be king over his people, over Israel: now therefore hearken thou unto the voice of the words of the Lord.
2 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, I remember that which Amalek did to Israel, how he laid wait for him in the way, when he came up from Egypt.
3 [†] Now go and smite Amalek, and utterly destroy all that they have, and spare them not; but slay both man and woman, infant and suckling, ox and sheep, camel and ass.
4 And Saul gathered the people together, and numbered them in Telaim, two hundred thousand footmen, and ten thousand men of Judah.
5 And Saul came to a city of Amalek, and laid wait in the valley.
6 [†] ¶ And Saul said unto the Kenites, Go, depart, get you down from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them: for ye shewed kindness to all the children of Israel, when they came up out of Egypt. So the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites.
7 And Saul smote the Amalekites from Havilah until thou comest to Shur, that is over against Egypt.
8 And he took Agag the king of the Amalekites alive, and utterly destroyed all the people with the edge of the sword.
9 [†] But Saul and the people spared Agag, and the best of the sheep, and of the oxen, and of the fatlings, and the lambs, and all that was good, and would not utterly destroy them: but every thing that was vile and refuse, that they destroyed utterly.
10 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord unto Samuel, saying,
11 [†] It repenteth me that I have set up Saul to be king: for he is turned back from following me, and hath not performed my commandments. And it grieved Samuel; and he cried unto the Lord all night.
12 And when Samuel rose early to meet Saul in the morning, it was told Samuel, saying, Saul came to Carmel, and, behold, he set him up a place, and is gone about, and passed on, and gone down to Gilgal.
13 And Samuel came to Saul: and Saul said unto him, Blessed be thou of the Lord: I have performed the commandment of the Lord.
14 And Samuel said, What meaneth then this bleating of the sheep in mine ears, and the lowing of the oxen which I hear?
15 And Saul said, They have brought them from the Amalekites: for the people spared the best of the sheep and of the oxen, to sacrifice unto the Lord thy God; and the rest we have utterly destroyed.
16 Then Samuel said unto Saul, Stay, and I will tell thee what the Lord hath said to me this night. And he said unto him, Say on.
17 And Samuel said, When thou wast little in thine own sight, wast thou not made the head of the tribes of Israel, and the Lord anointed thee king over Israel?
18 And the Lord sent thee on a journey, and said, Go and utterly destroy the sinners the Amalekites, and fight against them until they be consumed.
19 [†] Wherefore then didst thou not obey the voice of the Lord, but didst fly upon the spoil, and didst evil in the sight of the Lord?
20 And Saul said unto Samuel, Yea, I have obeyed the voice of the Lord, and have gone the way which the Lord sent me, and have brought Agag the king of Amalek, and have utterly destroyed the Amalekites.
21 But the people took of the spoil, sheep and oxen, the chief of the things which should have been utterly destroyed, to sacrifice unto the Lord thy God in Gilgal.

22 [†] And Samuel said, Hath the LORD as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the LORD? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams.
23 [†] For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry. Because thou hast rejected the word of the LORD, he hath also rejected thee from being king.
24 ¶ And Saul said unto Samuel, I have sinned: for I have transgressed the commandment of the LORD, and thy words: because I feared the people, and obeyed their voice.
25 Now therefore, I pray thee, pardon my sin, and turn again with me, that I may worship the LORD.
26 And Samuel said unto Saul, I will not return with thee: for thou hast rejected the word of the LORD, and the LORD hath rejected thee from being king over Israel.
27 [†] And as Samuel turned about to go away, he laid hold upon the skirt of his mantle, and it rent.
28 And Samuel said unto him, The LORD hath rent the kingdom of Israel from thee this day, and hath given it to a neighbour of thine, that is better than thou.
29 [†] And also the Strength of Israel will not lie nor repent: for he is not a man, that he should repent.
30 Then he said, I have sinned: yet honour me now, I pray thee, before the elders of my people, and before Israel, and turn again with me, that I may worship the LORD thy God.
31 So Samuel turned again after Saul; and Saul worshipped the LORD.
32 [†] ¶ Then said Samuel, Bring ye hither to me Agag the king of the Amalekites. And Agag came unto him delicately. And Agag said, Surely the bitterness of death is past.
33 [†] And Samuel said, As thy sword hath made women childless, so shall thy mother be childless among women. And Samuel hewed Agag in pieces before the LORD in Gilgal.
34 ¶ Then Samuel went to Ramah; and Saul went up to his house to Gibeah of Saul.
35 And Samuel came no more to see Saul until the day of his death: nevertheless Samuel mourned for Saul: and the LORD repented that he had made Saul king over Israel.

1 Samuel 16 [†]

1 [†] And the Lord said unto Samuel, How long wilt thou mourn for Saul, seeing I have rejected him from reigning over Israel? fill thine horn with oil, and go, I will send thee to Jesse the Beth-lehemite: for I have provided me a king among his sons.
2 [†] And Samuel said, How can I go? if Saul hear it, he will kill me. And the Lord said, Take an heifer with thee, and say, I am come to sacrifice to the Lord.
3 And call Jesse to the sacrifice, and I will shew thee what thou shalt do: and thou shalt anoint unto me him whom I name unto thee.
4 And Samuel did that which the Lord spake, and came to Beth-lehem. And the elders of the town trembled at his coming, and said, Comest thou peaceably?
5 And he said, Peaceably: I am come to sacrifice unto the Lord: sanctify yourselves, and come with me to the sacrifice. And he sanctified Jesse and his sons, and called them to the sacrifice.
6 ¶ And it came to pass, when they were come, that he looked on Eliab, and said, Surely the Lord's anointed is before him.
7 [†] But the Lord said unto Samuel, Look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature; because I have refused him: for the Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart.
8 Then Jesse called Abinadab, and made him pass before Samuel. And he said, Neither hath the Lord chosen this.
9 Then Jesse made Shammah to pass by. And he said, Neither hath the Lord chosen this.
10 Again, Jesse made seven of his sons to pass before Samuel. And Samuel said unto Jesse, The Lord hath not chosen these.
11 [†] And Samuel said unto Jesse, Are here all thy children? And he said, There remaineth yet the youngest, and, behold, he keepeth the sheep. And Samuel said unto Jesse, Send and fetch him: for we will not sit down till he come hither.
12 [†] And he sent, and brought him in. Now he was ruddy, and withal of a beautiful countenance, and goodly to look to. And the Lord said, Arise, anoint him: for this is he.
13 [†] Then Samuel took the horn of oil, and anointed him in the midst of his brethren: and the Spirit of the Lord came upon David from that day forward. So Samuel rose up, and went to Ramah.
14 [†] ¶ But the Spirit of the Lord departed from Saul, and an evil spirit from the Lord troubled him.
15 And Saul's servants said unto him, Behold now, an evil spirit from God troubleth thee.
16 [†] Let our lord now command thy servants, which are before thee, to seek out a man, who is a cunning player on an harp: and it shall come to pass, when the evil spirit from God is upon thee, that he shall play with his hand, and thou shalt be well.
17 And Saul said unto his servants, Provide me now a man that can play well, and bring him to me.
18 [†] Then answered one of the servants, and said, Behold, I have seen a son of Jesse the Beth-lehemite, that is cunning in playing, and a mighty valiant man, and a man of war, and prudent in matters, and a comely person, and the Lord is with him.
19 ¶ Wherefore Saul sent messengers unto Jesse, and said, Send me David thy son, which is with the sheep.
20 And Jesse took an ass laden with bread, and a bottle of wine, and a kid, and sent them by David his son unto Saul.
21 And David came to Saul, and stood before him: and he loved him greatly; and he became his armourbearer.

22 And Saul sent to Jesse, saying, Let David, I pray thee, stand before me; for he hath found favour in my sight.
23 [†] And it came to pass, when the evil spirit from God was upon Saul, that David took an harp, and played with his hand: so Saul was refreshed, and was well, and the evil spirit departed from him.

1 Samuel 17 [†]

1 Now the Philistines gathered together their armies to battle, and were gathered together at Shochoh, which belongeth to Judah, and pitched between Shochoh and Azekah, in Ephes-dammim.
2 [†] And Saul and the men of Israel were gathered together, and pitched by the valley of Elah, and set the battle in array against the Philistines.
3 And the Philistines stood on a mountain on the one side, and Israel stood on a mountain on the other side: and there was a valley between them.
4 [†] ¶ And there went out a champion out of the camp of the Philistines, named Goliath, of Gath, whose height was six cubits and a span.
5 [†] And he had an helmet of brass upon his head, and he was armed with a coat of mail; and the weight of the coat was five thousand shekels of brass.
6 [†] And he had greaves of brass upon his legs, and a target of brass between his shoulders.
7 [†] And the staff of his spear was like a weaver's beam; and his spear's head weighed six hundred shekels of iron: and one bearing a shield went before him.
8 [†] And he stood and cried unto the armies of Israel, and said unto them, Why are ye come out to set your battle in array? am not I a Philistine, and ye servants to Saul? choose you a man for you, and let him come down to me.
9 If he be able to fight with me, and to kill me, then will we be your servants: but if I prevail against him, and kill him, then shall ye be our servants, and serve us.
10 And the Philistine said, I defy the armies of Israel this day; give me a man, that we may fight together.
11 When Saul and all Israel heard those words of the Philistine, they were dismayed, and greatly afraid.
12 [†] ¶ Now David was the son of that Ephrathite of Beth-lehem-judah, whose name was Jesse; and he had eight sons: and the man went among men for an old man in the days of Saul.
13 And the three eldest sons of Jesse went and followed Saul to the battle: and the names of his three sons that went to the battle were Eliab the firstborn, and next unto him Abinadab, and the third Shammah.
14 And David was the youngest: and the three eldest followed Saul.
15 But David went and returned from Saul to feed his father's sheep at Beth-lehem.
16 And the Philistine drew near morning and evening, and presented himself forty days.
17 [†] And Jesse said unto David his son, Take now for thy brethren an ephah of this parched corn, and these ten loaves, and run to the camp to thy brethren;
18 And carry these ten cheeses unto the captain of their thousand, and look how thy brethren fare, and take their pledge.
19 Now Saul, and they, and all the men of Israel, were in the valley of Elah, fighting with the Philistines.
20 [†] ¶ And David rose up early in the morning, and left the sheep with a keeper, and took, and went, as Jesse had commanded him; and he came to the trench, as the host was going forth to the fight, and shouted for the battle.
21 For Israel and the Philistines had put the battle in array, army against army.
22 [†] And David left his carriage in the hand of the keeper of the carriage, and ran into the army, and came and saluted his brethren.
23 And as he talked with them, behold, there came up the champion, the Philistine of Gath, Goliath by name, out of the armies of the Philistines, and spake according to the same words: and David heard them.

24 [†] And all the men of Israel, when they saw the man, fled from him, and were sore afraid.
25 And the men of Israel said, Have ye seen this man that is come up? surely to defy Israel is he come up: and it shall be, that the man who killeth him, the king will enrich him with great riches, and will give him his daughter, and make his father's house free in Israel.
26 [†] And David spake to the men that stood by him, saying, What shall be done to the man that killeth this Philistine, and taketh away the reproach from Israel? for who is this uncircumcised Philistine, that he should defy the armies of the living God?
27 And the people answered him after this manner, saying, So shall it be done to the man that killeth him.
28 [†] ¶ And Eliab his eldest brother heard when he spake unto the men; and Eliab's anger was kindled against David, and he said, Why camest thou down hither? and with whom hast thou left those few sheep in the wilderness? I know thy pride, and the naughtiness of thine heart; for thou art come down that thou mightest see the battle.
29 [†] And David said, What have I now done? Is there not a cause?
30 ¶ And he turned from him toward another, and spake after the same manner: and the people answered him again after the former manner.
31 [†] And when the words were heard which David spake, they rehearsed them before Saul: and he sent for him.
32 ¶ And David said to Saul, Let no man's heart fail because of him; thy servant will go and fight with this Philistine.
33 And Saul said to David, Thou art not able to go against this Philistine to fight with him: for thou art but a youth, and he a man of war from his youth.
34 [†] And David said unto Saul, Thy servant kept his father's sheep, and there came a lion, and a bear, and took a lamb out of the flock:
35 [†] And I went out after him, and smote him, and delivered it out of his mouth: and when he arose against me, I caught him by his beard, and smote him, and slew him.
36 Thy servant slew both the lion and the bear: and this uncircumcised Philistine shall be as one of them, seeing he hath defied the armies of the living God.
37 David said moreover, The LORD that delivered me out of the paw of the lion, and out of the paw of the bear, he will deliver me out of the hand of this Philistine. And Saul said unto David, Go, and the LORD be with thee.
38 [†] ¶ And Saul armed David with his armour, and he put an helmet of brass upon his head; also he armed him with a coat of mail.
39 [†] And David girded his sword upon his armour, and he assayed to go; for he had not proved it. And David said unto Saul, I cannot go with these; for I have not proved them. And David put them off him.
40 [†] And he took his staff in his hand, and chose him five smooth stones out of the brook, and put them in a shepherd's bag which he had, even in a scrip; and his sling was in his hand: and he drew near to the Philistine.
41 And the Philistine came on and drew near unto David; and the man that bare the shield went before him.
42 And when the Philistine looked about, and saw David, he disdained him: for he was but a youth, and ruddy, and of a fair countenance.
43 [†] And the Philistine said unto David, Am I a dog, that thou comest to me with staves? And the Philistine cursed David by his gods.
44 And the Philistine said to David, Come to me, and I will give thy flesh unto the fowls of the air, and to the beasts of the field.
45 [†] Then said David to the Philistine, Thou comest to me with a sword, and with a spear, and with a shield: but I come to thee in the name of the LORD of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel, whom thou hast defied.

46 This day will the LORD deliver thee into mine hand; and I will smite thee, and take thine head from thee; and I will give the carcases of the host of the Philistines this day unto the fowls of the air, and to the wild beasts of the earth; that all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel.
47 And all this assembly shall know that the LORD saveth not with sword and spear: for the battle is the LORD's, and he will give you into our hands.
48 [†] And it came to pass, when the Philistine arose, and came and drew nigh to meet David, that David hasted, and ran toward the army to meet the Philistine.
49 [†] And David put his hand in his bag, and took thence a stone, and slang it, and smote the Philistine in his forehead, that the stone sunk into his forehead; and he fell upon his face to the earth.
50 So David prevailed over the Philistine with a sling and with a stone, and smote the Philistine, and slew him; but there was no sword in the hand of David.
51 Therefore David ran, and stood upon the Philistine, and took his sword, and drew it out of the sheath thereof, and slew him, and cut off his head therewith. And when the Philistines saw their champion was dead, they fled.
52 And the men of Israel and of Judah arose, and shouted, and pursued the Philistines, until thou come to the valley, and to the gates of Ekron. And the wounded of the Philistines fell down by the way to Shaaraim, even unto Gath, and unto Ekron.
53 [†] And the children of Israel returned from chasing after the Philistines, and they spoiled their tents.
54 And David took the head of the Philistine, and brought it to Jerusalem; but he put his armour in his tent.
55 [†] ¶ And when Saul saw David go forth against the Philistine, he said unto Abner, the captain of the host, Abner, whose son is this youth? And Abner said, As thy soul liveth, O king, I cannot tell.
56 [†] And the king said, Enquire thou whose son the stripling is.
57 And as David returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, Abner took him, and brought him before Saul with the head of the Philistine in his hand.
58 [†] And Saul said to him, Whose son art thou, thou young man? And David answered, I am the son of thy servant Jesse the Beth-lehemite.

1 Samuel 18 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass, when he had made an end of speaking unto Saul, that the soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul.
2 And Saul took him that day, and would let him go no more home to his father's house.
3 [†] Then Jonathan and David made a covenant, because he loved him as his own soul.
4 [†] And Jonathan stripped himself of the robe that was upon him, and gave it to David, and his garments, even to his sword, and to his bow, and to his girdle.
5 [†] ¶ And David went out whithersoever Saul sent him, and behaved himself wisely: and Saul set him over the men of war, and he was accepted in the sight of all the people, and also in the sight of Saul's servants.
6 [†] And it came to pass as they came, when David was returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, that the women came out of all cities of Israel, singing and dancing, to meet king Saul, with tabrets, with joy, and with instruments of musick.
7 And the women answered one another as they played, and said, Saul hath slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands.
8 [†] And Saul was very wroth, and the saying displeased him; and he said, They have ascribed unto David ten thousands, and to me they have ascribed but thousands: and what can he have more but the kingdom?
9 [†] And Saul eyed David from that day and forward.
10 [†] ¶ And it came to pass on the morrow, that the evil spirit from God came upon Saul, and he prophesied in the midst of the house: and David played with his hand, as at other times: and there was a javelin in Saul's hand.
11 [†] And Saul cast the javelin; for he said, I will smite David even to the wall with it. And David avoided out of his presence twice.
12 ¶ And Saul was afraid of David, because the LORD was with him, and was departed from Saul.
13 Therefore Saul removed him from him, and made him his captain over a thousand; and he went out and came in before the people.
14 And David behaved himself wisely in all his ways; and the LORD was with him.
15 Wherefore when Saul saw that he behaved himself very wisely, he was afraid of him.
16 But all Israel and Judah loved David, because he went out and came in before them.
17 ¶ And Saul said to David, Behold my elder daughter Merab, her will I give thee to wife: only be thou valiant for me, and fight the LORD's battles. For Saul said, Let not mine hand be upon him, but let the hand of the Philistines be upon him.
18 And David said unto Saul, Who am I? and what is my life, or my father's family in Israel, that I should be son in law to the king?
19 But it came to pass at the time when Merab Saul's daughter should have been given to David, that she was given unto Adriel the Meholathite to wife.
20 And Michal Saul's daughter loved David: and they told Saul, and the thing pleased him.
21 [†] And Saul said, I will give him her, that she may be a snare to him, and that the hand of the Philistines may be against him. Wherefore Saul said to David, Thou shalt this day be my son in law in the one of the twain.
22 ¶ And Saul commanded his servants, saying, Commune with David secretly, and say, Behold, the king hath delight in thee, and all his servants love thee: now therefore be the king's son in law.
23 And Saul's servants spake those words in the ears of David. And David said, Seemeth it to you a light thing to be a king's son in law, seeing that I am a poor man, and lightly esteemed?

24 [†] And the servants of Saul told him, saying, On this manner spake David.
25 And Saul said, Thus shall ye say to David, The king desireth not any dowry, but an hundred foreskins of the Philistines, to be avenged of the king's enemies. But Saul thought to make David fall by the hand of the Philistines.
26 [†] And when his servants told David these words, it pleased David well to be the king's son in law: and the days were not expired.
27 [†] Wherefore David arose and went, he and his men, and slew of the Philistines two hundred men; and David brought their foreskins, and they gave them in full tale to the king, that he might be the king's son in law. And Saul gave him Michal his daughter to wife.
28 ¶ And Saul saw and knew that the LORD was with David, and that Michal Saul's daughter loved him.
29 And Saul was yet the more afraid of David; and Saul became David's enemy continually.
30 [†] Then the princes of the Philistines went forth: and it came to pass, after they went forth, that David behaved himself more wisely than all the servants of Saul; so that his name was much set by.

1 Samuel 19 [†]

1 And Saul spake to Jonathan his son, and to all his servants, that they should kill David.
2 But Jonathan Saul's son delighted much in David: and Jonathan told David, saying, Saul my father seeketh to kill thee: now therefore, I pray thee, take heed to thyself until the morning, and abide in a secret place, and hide thyself:
3 And I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where thou art, and I will commune with my father of thee; and what I see, that I will tell thee.
4 [†] ¶ And Jonathan spake good of David unto Saul his father, and said unto him, Let not the king sin against his servant, against David; because he hath not sinned against thee, and because his works have been to thee-ward very good:
5 [†] For he did put his life in his hand, and slew the Philistine, and the Lord wrought a great salvation for all Israel: thou sawest it, and didst rejoice: wherefore then wilt thou sin against innocent blood, to slay David without a cause?
6 And Saul hearkened unto the voice of Jonathan: and Saul sware, As the Lord liveth, he shall not be slain.
7 And Jonathan called David, and Jonathan shewed him all those things. And Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he was in his presence, as in times past.
8 ¶ And there was war again: and David went out, and fought with the Philistines, and slew them with a great slaughter; and they fled from him.
9 [†] And the evil spirit from the Lord was upon Saul, as he sat in his house with his javelin in his hand: and David played with his hand.
10 And Saul sought to smite David even to the wall with the javelin; but he slipped away out of Saul's presence, and he smote the javelin into the wall: and David fled, and escaped that night.
11 Saul also sent messengers unto David's house, to watch him, and to slay him in the morning: and Michal David's wife told him, saying, If thou save not thy life to night, to morrow thou shalt be slain.
12 ¶ So Michal let David down through a window: and he went, and fled, and escaped.
13 [†] And Michal took an image, and laid it in the bed, and put a pillow of goats' hair for his bolster, and covered it with a cloth.
14 And when Saul sent messengers to take David, she said, He is sick.
15 And Saul sent the messengers again to see David, saying, Bring him up to me in the bed, that I may slay him.
16 And when the messengers were come in, behold, there was an image in the bed, with a pillow of goats' hair for his bolster.
17 And Saul said unto Michal, Why hast thou deceived me so, and sent away mine enemy, that he is escaped? And Michal answered Saul, He said unto me, Let me go; why should I kill thee?
18 ¶ So David fled, and escaped, and came to Samuel to Ramah, and told him all that Saul had done to him. And he and Samuel went and dwelt in Naioth.
19 And it was told Saul, saying, Behold, David is at Naioth in Ramah.
20 And Saul sent messengers to take David: and when they saw the company of the prophets prophesying, and Samuel standing as appointed over them, the Spirit of God was upon the messengers of Saul, and they also prophesied.
21 [†] And when it was told Saul, he sent other messengers, and they prophesied likewise. And Saul sent messengers again the third time, and they prophesied also.
22 Then went he also to Ramah, and came to a great well that is in Sechu: and he asked and said, Where are Samuel and David? And one said, Behold, they be at Naioth in Ramah.

23 And he went thither to Naioth in Ramah: and the Spirit of God was upon him also, and he went on, and prophesied, until he came to Naioth in Ramah.
24 [†] And he stripped off his clothes also, and prophesied before Samuel in like manner, and lay down naked all that day and all that night. Wherefore they say, Is Saul also among the prophets?

1 Samuel 20 [†]

1 And David fled from Naioth in Ramah, and came and said before Jonathan, What have I done? what is mine iniquity? and what is my sin before thy father, that he seeketh my life?
2 [†] And he said unto him, God forbid; thou shalt not die: behold, my father will do nothing either great or small, but that he will shew it me: and why should my father hide this thing from me? it is not so.
3 And David sware moreover, and said, Thy father certainly knoweth that I have found grace in thine eyes; and he saith, Let not Jonathan know this, lest he be grieved: but truly as the LORD liveth, and as thy soul liveth, there is but a step between me and death.
4 Then said Jonathan unto David, Whatsoever thy soul desireth, I will even do it for thee.
5 [†] And David said unto Jonathan, Behold, to morrow is the new moon, and I should not fail to sit with the king at meat: but let me go, that I may hide myself in the field unto the third day at even.
6 If thy father at all miss me, then say, David earnestly asked leave of me that he might run to Beth-lehem his city: for there is a yearly sacrifice there for all the family.
7 [†] If he say thus, It is well; thy servant shall have peace: but if he be very wroth, then be sure that evil is determined by him.
8 [†] Therefore thou shalt deal kindly with thy servant; for thou hast brought thy servant into a covenant of the LORD with thee: notwithstanding, if there be in me iniquity, slay me thyself; for why shouldest thou bring me to thy father?
9 And Jonathan said, Far be it from thee: for if I knew certainly that evil were determined by my father to come upon thee, then would not I tell it thee?
10 [†] Then said David to Jonathan, Who shall tell me? or what if thy father answer thee roughly?
11 ¶ And Jonathan said unto David, Come, and let us go out into the field. And they went out both of them into the field.
12 [†] And Jonathan said unto David, O LORD God of Israel, when I have sounded my father about to morrow any time, or the third day, and, behold, if there be good toward David, and I then send not unto thee, and shew it thee;
13 The LORD do so and much more to Jonathan: but if it please my father to do thee evil, then I will shew it thee, and send thee away, that thou mayest go in peace: and the LORD be with thee, as he hath been with my father.
14 And thou shalt not only while yet I live shew me the kindness of the LORD, that I die not:
15 But also thou shalt not cut off thy kindness from my house for ever: no, not when the LORD hath cut off the enemies of David every one from the face of the earth.
16 So Jonathan made a covenant with the house of David, saying, Let the LORD even require it at the hand of David's enemies.
17 And Jonathan caused David to swear again, because he loved him: for he loved him as he loved his own soul.
18 Then Jonathan said to David, To morrow is the new moon: and thou shalt be missed, because thy seat will be empty.
19 And when thou hast stayed three days, then thou shalt go down quickly, and come to the place where thou didst hide thyself when the business was in hand, and shalt remain by the stone Ezel.
20 And I will shoot three arrows on the side thereof, as though I shot at a mark.
21 And, behold, I will send a lad, saying, Go, find out the arrows. If I expressly say unto the lad, Behold, the arrows are on this side of thee, take them; then come thou: for there is peace to thee, and no hurt; as the LORD liveth.

22 But if I say thus unto the young man, Behold, the arrows are beyond thee; go thy way: for the LORD hath sent thee away.
23 And as touching the matter which thou and I have spoken of, behold, the LORD be between thee and me for ever.
24 ¶ So David hid himself in the field: and when the new moon was come, the king sat him down to eat meat.
25 And the king sat upon his seat, as at other times, even upon a seat by the wall: and Jonathan arose, and Abner sat by Saul's side, and David's place was empty.
26 Nevertheless Saul spake not any thing that day: for he thought, Something hath befallen him, he is not clean; surely he is not clean.
27 And it came to pass on the morrow, which was the second day of the month, that David's place was empty: and Saul said unto Jonathan his son, Wherefore cometh not the son of Jesse to meat, neither yesterday, nor to day?
28 And Jonathan answered Saul, David earnestly asked leave of me to go to Beth-lehem:
29 And he said, Let me go, I pray thee; for our family hath a sacrifice in the city; and my brother, he hath commanded me to be there: and now, if I have found favour in thine eyes, let me get away, I pray thee, and see my brethren. Therefore he cometh not unto the king's table.
30 [†] Then Saul's anger was kindled against Jonathan, and he said unto him, Thou son of the perverse rebellious woman, do not I know that thou hast chosen the son of Jesse to thine own confusion, and unto the confusion of thy mother's nakedness?
31 For as long as the son of Jesse liveth upon the ground, thou shalt not be established, nor thy kingdom. Wherefore now send and fetch him unto me, for he shall surely die.
32 And Jonathan answered Saul his father, and said unto him, Wherefore shall he be slain? what hath he done?
33 And Saul cast a javelin at him to smite him: whereby Jonathan knew that it was determined of his father to slay David.
34 So Jonathan arose from the table in fierce anger, and did eat no meat the second day of the month: for he was grieved for David, because his father had done him shame.
35 ¶ And it came to pass in the morning, that Jonathan went out into the field at the time appointed with David, and a little lad with him.
36 And he said unto his lad, Run, find out now the arrows which I shoot. And as the lad ran, he shot an arrow beyond him.
37 And when the lad was come to the place of the arrow which Jonathan had shot, Jonathan cried after the lad, and said, Is not the arrow beyond thee?
38 And Jonathan cried after the lad, Make speed, haste, stay not. And Jonathan's lad gathered up the arrows, and came to his master.
39 But the lad knew not any thing: only Jonathan and David knew the matter.
40 [†] And Jonathan gave his artillery unto his lad, and said unto him, Go, carry them to the city.
41 [†] ¶ And as soon as the lad was gone, David arose out of a place toward the south, and fell on his face to the ground, and bowed himself three times: and they kissed one another, and wept one with another, until David exceeded.
42 And Jonathan said to David, Go in peace, forasmuch as we have sworn both of us in the name of the LORD, saying, The LORD be between me and thee, and between my seed and thy seed for ever. And he arose and departed: and Jonathan went into the city.

1 Samuel 21 [†]

1 Then came David to Nob to Ahimelech the priest: and Ahimelech was afraid at the meeting of David, and said unto him, Why art thou alone, and no man with thee?
2 [†] And David said unto Ahimelech the priest, The king hath commanded me a business, and hath said unto me, Let no man know any thing of the business whereabout I send thee, and what I have commanded thee: and I have appointed my servants to such and such a place.
3 [†] Now therefore what is under thine hand? give me five loaves of bread in mine hand, or what there is present.
4 [†] And the priest answered David, and said, There is no common bread under mine hand, but there is hallowed bread; if the young men have kept themselves at least from women.
5 And David answered the priest, and said unto him, Of a truth women have been kept from us about these three days, since I came out, and the vessels of the young men are holy, and the bread is in a manner common, yea, though it were sanctified this day in the vessel.
6 So the priest gave him hallowed bread: for there was no bread there but the shewbread, that was taken from before the Lord, to put hot bread in the day when it was taken away.
7 Now a certain man of the servants of Saul was there that day, detained before the Lord; and his name was Doeg, an Edomite, the chiefest of the herdmen that belonged to Saul.
8 ¶ And David said unto Ahimelech, And is there not here under thine hand spear or sword? for I have neither brought my sword nor my weapons with me, because the king's business required haste.
9 [†] And the priest said, The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom thou slewest in the valley of Elah, behold, it is here wrapped in a cloth behind the ephod: if thou wilt take that, take it: for there is no other save that here. And David said, There is none like that; give it me.
10 ¶ And David arose, and fled that day for fear of Saul, and went to Achish the king of Gath.
11 And the servants of Achish said unto him, Is not this David the king of the land? did they not sing one to another of him in dances, saying, Saul hath slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands?
12 [†] And David laid up these words in his heart, and was sore afraid of Achish the king of Gath.
13 [†] And he changed his behaviour before them, and feigned himself mad in their hands, and scrabbled on the doors of the gate, and let his spittle fall down upon his beard.
14 Then said Achish unto his servants, Lo, ye see the man is mad: wherefore then have ye brought him to me?
15 Have I need of mad men, that ye have brought this fellow to play the mad man in my presence? shall this fellow come into my house?

1 Samuel 22 [†]

1 David therefore departed thence, and escaped to the cave Adullam: and when his brethren and all his father's house heard it, they went down thither to him.
2 And every one that was in distress, and every one that was in debt, and every one that was discontented, gathered themselves unto him; and he became a captain over them: and there were with him about four hundred men.
3 ¶ And David went thence to Mizpeh of Moab: and he said unto the king of Moab, Let my father and my mother, I pray thee, come forth, and be with you, till I know what God will do for me.
4 [†] And he brought them before the king of Moab: and they dwelt with him all the while that David was in the hold.
5 ¶ And the prophet Gad said unto David, Abide not in the hold; depart, and get thee into the land of Judah. Then David departed, and came into the forest of Hareth.
6 ¶ When Saul heard that David was discovered, and the men that were with him, (now Saul abode in Gibeah under a tree in Ramah, having his spear in his hand, and all his servants were standing about him;)
7 Then Saul said unto his servants that stood about him, Hear now, ye Benjamites; will the son of Jesse give every one of you fields and vineyards, and make you all captains of thousands, and captains of hundreds;
8 [†] That all of you have conspired against me, and there is none that sheweth me that my son hath made a league with the son of Jesse, and there is none of you that is sorry for me, or sheweth unto me that my son hath stirred up my servant against me, to lie in wait, as at this day?
9 ¶ Then answered Doeg the Edomite, which was set over the servants of Saul, and said, I saw the son of Jesse coming to Nob, to Ahimelech the son of Ahitub.
10 [†] And he enquired of the Lord for him, and gave him victuals, and gave him the sword of Goliath the Philistine.
11 Then the king sent to call Ahimelech the priest, the son of Ahitub, and all his father's house, the priests that were in Nob: and they came all of them to the king.
12 And Saul said, Hear now, thou son of Ahitub. And he answered, Here I am, my lord.
13 And Saul said unto him, Why have ye conspired against me, thou and the son of Jesse, in that thou hast given him bread, and a sword, and hast enquired of God for him, that he should rise against me, to lie in wait, as at this day?
14 Then Ahimelech answered the king, and said, And who is so faithful among all thy servants as David, which is the king's son in law, and goeth at thy bidding, and is honourable in thine house?
15 Did I then begin to enquire of God for him? be it far from me: let not the king impute any thing unto his servant, nor to all the house of my father: for thy servant knew nothing of all this, less or more.
16 And the king said, Thou shalt surely die, Ahimelech, thou, and all thy father's house.
17 ¶ And the king said unto the footmen that stood about him, Turn, and slay the priests of the Lord; because their hand also is with David, and because they knew when he fled, and did not shew it to me. But the servants of the king would not put forth their hand to fall upon the priests of the Lord.
18 [†] And the king said to Doeg, Turn thou, and fall upon the priests. And Doeg the Edomite turned, and he fell upon the priests, and slew on that day fourscore and five persons that did wear a linen ephod.
19 [†] And Nob, the city of the priests, smote he with the edge of the sword, both men and women, children and sucklings, and oxen, and asses, and sheep, with the edge of the sword.
20 ¶ And one of the sons of Ahimelech the son of Ahitub, named Abiathar, escaped, and fled after David.

21 And Abiathar shewed David that Saul had slain the LORD's priests.
22 And David said unto Abiathar, I knew it that day, when Doeg the Edomite was there, that he would surely tell Saul: I have occasioned the death of all the persons of thy father's house.
23 [†] Abide thou with me, fear not: for he that seeketh my life seeketh thy life: but with me thou shalt be in safeguard.

1 Samuel 23 [†]

1 [†] Then they told David, saying, Behold, the Philistines fight against Keilah, and they rob the threshingfloors.
2 Therefore David enquired of the Lord, saying, Shall I go and smite these Philistines? And the Lord said unto David, Go, and smite the Philistines, and save Keilah.
3 And David's men said unto him, Behold, we be afraid here in Judah: how much more then if we come to Keilah against the armies of the Philistines?
4 Then David enquired of the Lord yet again. And the Lord answered him and said, Arise, go down to Keilah; for I will deliver the Philistines into thine hand.
5 So David and his men went to Keilah, and fought with the Philistines, and brought away their cattle, and smote them with a great slaughter. So David saved the inhabitants of Keilah.
6 [†] And it came to pass, when Abiathar the son of Ahimelech fled to David to Keilah, that he came down with an ephod in his hand.
7 [†] ¶ And it was told Saul that David was come to Keilah. And Saul said, God hath delivered him into mine hand; for he is shut in, by entering into a town that hath gates and bars.
8 And Saul called all the people together to war, to go down to Keilah, to besiege David and his men.
9 [†] ¶ And David knew that Saul secretly practised mischief against him; and he said to Abiathar the priest, Bring hither the ephod.
10 Then said David, O Lord God of Israel, thy servant hath certainly heard that Saul seeketh to come to Keilah, to destroy the city for my sake.
11 Will the men of Keilah deliver me up into his hand? will Saul come down, as thy servant hath heard? O Lord God of Israel, I beseech thee, tell thy servant. And the Lord said, He will come down.
12 [†] Then said David, Will the men of Keilah deliver me and my men into the hand of Saul? And the Lord said, They will deliver thee up.
13 [†] ¶ Then David and his men, which were about six hundred, arose and departed out of Keilah, and went whithersoever they could go. And it was told Saul that David was escaped from Keilah; and he forbare to go forth.
14 And David abode in the wilderness in strong holds, and remained in a mountain in the wilderness of Ziph. And Saul sought him every day, but God delivered him not into his hand.
15 And David saw that Saul was come out to seek his life: and David was in the wilderness of Ziph in a wood.
16 ¶ And Jonathan Saul's son arose, and went to David into the wood, and strengthened his hand in God.
17 And he said unto him, Fear not: for the hand of Saul my father shall not find thee; and thou shalt be king over Israel, and I shall be next unto thee; and that also Saul my father knoweth.
18 [†] And they two made a covenant before the Lord: and David abode in the wood, and Jonathan went to his house.
19 [†] ¶ Then came up the Ziphites to Saul to Gibeah, saying, Doth not David hide himself with us in strong holds in the wood, in the hill of Hachilah, which is on the south of Jeshimon?
20 Now therefore, O king, come down according to all the desire of thy soul to come down; and our part shall be to deliver him into the king's hand.
21 And Saul said, Blessed be ye of the Lord; for ye have compassion on me.
22 [†] Go, I pray you, prepare yet, and know and see his place where his haunt is, and who hath seen him there: for it is told me that he dealeth very subtilly.
23 See therefore, and take knowledge of all the lurking places where he hideth himself, and come ye again to me with the certainty, and I will go with you: and it shall come to pass, if he be in the land, that I will search him out throughout all the thousands of Judah.

24 And they arose, and went to Ziph before Saul: but David and his men were in the wilderness of Maon, in the plain on the south of Jeshimon.
25 Saul also and his men went to seek him. And they told David: wherefore he came down into a rock, and abode in the wilderness of Maon. And when Saul heard that, he pursued after David in the wilderness of Maon.
26 [†] And Saul went on this side of the mountain, and David and his men on that side of the mountain: and David made haste to get away for fear of Saul; for Saul and his men compassed David and his men round about to take them.
27 ¶ But there came a messenger unto Saul, saying, Haste thee, and come; for the Philistines have invaded the land.
28 [†] Wherefore Saul returned from pursuing after David, and went against the Philistines: therefore they called that place Sela-hammahlekoth.
29 ¶ And David went up from thence, and dwelt in strong holds at En-gedi.

1 Samuel 24 [†]

1 And it came to pass, when Saul was returned from following the Philistines, that it was told him, saying, Behold, David is in the wilderness of En-gedi.
2 Then Saul took three thousand chosen men out of all Israel, and went to seek David and his men upon the rocks of the wild goats.
3 [†] And he came to the sheepcotes by the way, where was a cave; and Saul went in to cover his feet: and David and his men remained in the sides of the cave.
4 [†] And the men of David said unto him, Behold the day of which the Lord said unto thee, Behold, I will deliver thine enemy into thine hand, that thou mayest do to him as it shall seem good unto thee. Then David arose, and cut off the skirt of Saul's robe privily.
5 [†] And it came to pass afterward, that David's heart smote him, because he had cut off Saul's skirt.
6 And he said unto his men, The Lord forbid that I should do this thing unto my master, the Lord's anointed, to stretch forth mine hand against him, seeing he is the anointed of the Lord.
7 [†] So David stayed his servants with these words, and suffered them not to rise against Saul. But Saul rose up out of the cave, and went on his way.
8 David also arose afterward, and went out of the cave, and cried after Saul, saying, My lord the king. And when Saul looked behind him, David stooped with his face to the earth, and bowed himself.
9 ¶ And David said to Saul, Wherefore hearest thou men's words, saying, Behold, David seeketh thy hurt?
10 [†] Behold, this day thine eyes have seen how that the Lord had delivered thee to day into mine hand in the cave: and some bade me kill thee: but mine eye spared thee; and I said, I will not put forth mine hand against my lord; for he is the Lord's anointed.
11 Moreover, my father, see, yea, see the skirt of thy robe in my hand: for in that I cut off the skirt of thy robe, and killed thee not, know thou and see that there is neither evil nor transgression in mine hand, and I have not sinned against thee; yet thou huntest my soul to take it.
12 The Lord judge between me and thee, and the Lord avenge me of thee: but mine hand shall not be upon thee.
13 As saith the proverb of the ancients, Wickedness proceedeth from the wicked: but mine hand shall not be upon thee.
14 After whom is the king of Israel come out? after whom dost thou pursue? after a dead dog, after a flea.
15 The Lord therefore be judge, and judge between me and thee, and see, and plead my cause, and deliver me out of thine hand.
16 ¶ And it came to pass, when David had made an end of speaking these words unto Saul, that Saul said, Is this thy voice, my son David? And Saul lifted up his voice, and wept.
17 [†] And he said to David, Thou art more righteous than I: for thou hast rewarded me good, whereas I have rewarded thee evil.
18 And thou hast shewed this day how that thou hast dealt well with me: forasmuch as when the Lord had delivered me into thine hand, thou killedst me not.
19 For if a man find his enemy, will he let him go well away? wherefore the Lord reward thee good for that thou hast done unto me this day.
20 And now, behold, I know well that thou shalt surely be king, and that the kingdom of Israel shall be established in thine hand.
21 Swear now therefore unto me by the Lord, that thou wilt not cut off my seed after me, and that thou wilt not destroy my name out of my father’s house.

22 [†] And David sware unto Saul. And Saul went home; but David and his men gat them up unto the hold.

1 Samuel 25 [†]

1 [†] And Samuel died; and all the Israelites were gathered together, and lamented him, and buried him in his house at Ramah. And David arose, and went down to the wilderness of Paran.
2 And there was a man in Maon, whose possessions were in Carmel; and the man was very great, and he had three thousand sheep, and a thousand goats: and he was shearing his sheep in Carmel.
3 [†] Now the name of the man was Nabal; and the name of his wife Abigail: and she was a woman of good understanding, and of a beautiful countenance: but the man was churlish and evil in his doings; and he was of the house of Caleb.
4 ¶ And David heard in the wilderness that Nabal did shear his sheep.
5 And David sent out ten young men, and David said unto the young men, Get you up to Carmel, and go to Nabal, and greet him in my name:
6 And thus shall ye say to him that liveth in prosperity, Peace be both to thee, and peace be to thine house, and peace be unto all that thou hast.
7 And now I have heard that thou hast shearers: now thy shepherds which were with us, we hurt them not, neither was there ought missing unto them, all the while they were in Carmel.
8 Ask thy young men, and they will shew thee. Wherefore let the young men find favour in thine eyes: for we come in a good day: give, I pray thee, whatsoever cometh to thine hand unto thy servants, and to thy son David.
9 And when David's young men came, they spake to Nabal according to all those words in the name of David, and ceased.
10 [†] ¶ And Nabal answered David's servants, and said, Who is David? and who is the son of Jesse? there be many servants now a days that break away every man from his master.
11 Shall I then take my bread, and my water, and my flesh that I have killed for my shearers, and give it unto men, whom I know not whence they be?
12 So David's young men turned their way, and went again, and came and told him all those sayings.
13 [†] And David said unto his men, Gird ye on every man his sword. And they girded on every man his sword; and David also girded on his sword: and there went up after David about four hundred men; and two hundred abode by the stuff.
14 [†] ¶ But one of the young men told Abigail, Nabal's wife, saying, Behold, David sent messengers out of the wilderness to salute our master; and he railed on them.
15 [†] But the men were very good unto us, and we were not hurt, neither missed we any thing, as long as we were conversant with them, when we were in the fields:
16 [†] They were a wall unto us both by night and day, all the while we were with them keeping the sheep.
17 [†] Now therefore know and consider what thou wilt do; for evil is determined against our master, and against all his household: for he is such a son of Belial, that a man cannot speak to him.
18 [†] ¶ Then Abigail made haste, and took two hundred loaves, and two bottles of wine, and five sheep ready dressed, and five measures of parched corn, and an hundred clusters of raisins, and two hundred cakes of figs, and laid them on asses.
19 And she said unto her servants, Go on before me; behold, I come after you. But she told not her husband Nabal.
20 [†] And it was so, as she rode on the ass, that she came down by the covert of the hill, and, behold, David and his men came down against her; and she met them.
21 [†] Now David had said, Surely in vain have I kept all that this fellow hath in the wilderness, so that nothing was missed of all that pertained unto him: and he hath requited me evil for good.

22 [†] So and more also do God unto the enemies of David, if I leave of all that pertain to him by the morning light any that pisseth against the wall.
23 And when Abigail saw David, she hasted, and lighted off the ass, and fell before David on her face, and bowed herself to the ground,
24 [†] And fell at his feet, and said, Upon me, my lord, upon me let this iniquity be: and let thine handmaid, I pray thee, speak in thine audience, and hear the words of thine handmaid.
25 [†] Let not my lord, I pray thee, regard this man of Belial, even Nabal: for as his name is, so is he; Nabal is his name, and folly is with him: but I thine handmaid saw not the young men of my lord, whom thou didst send.
26 [†] Now therefore, my lord, as the LORD liveth, and as thy soul liveth, seeing the LORD hath withholden thee from coming to shed blood, and from avenging thyself with thine own hand, now let thine enemies, and they that seek evil to my lord, be as Nabal.
27 And now this blessing which thine handmaid hath brought unto my lord, let it even be given unto the young men that follow my lord.
28 [†] I pray thee, forgive the trespass of thine handmaid: for the LORD will certainly make my lord a sure house; because my lord fighteth the battles of the LORD, and evil hath not been found in thee all thy days.
29 Yet a man is risen to pursue thee, and to seek thy soul: but the soul of my lord shall be bound in the bundle of life with the LORD thy God; and the souls of thine enemies, them shall he sling out, as out of the middle of a sling.
30 And it shall come to pass, when the LORD shall have done to my lord according to all the good that he hath spoken concerning thee, and shall have appointed thee ruler over Israel;
31 That this shall be no grief unto thee, nor offence of heart unto my lord, either that thou hast shed blood causeless, or that my lord hath avenged himself: but when the LORD shall have dealt well with my lord, then remember thine handmaid.
32 ¶ And David said to Abigail, Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, which sent thee this day to meet me:
33 And blessed be thy advice, and blessed be thou, which hast kept me this day from coming to shed blood, and from avenging myself with mine own hand.
34 For in very deed, as the LORD God of Israel liveth, which hath kept me back from hurting thee, except thou hadst hasted and come to meet me, surely there had not been left unto Nabal by the morning light any that pisseth against the wall.
35 So David received of her hand that which she had brought him, and said unto her, Go up in peace to thine house; see, I have hearkened to thy voice, and have accepted thy person.
36 ¶ And Abigail came to Nabal; and, behold, he held a feast in his house, like the feast of a king; and Nabal's heart was merry within him, for he was very drunken: wherefore she told him nothing, less or more, until the morning light.
37 [†] But it came to pass in the morning, when the wine was gone out of Nabal, and his wife had told him these things, that his heart died within him, and he became as a stone.
38 And it came to pass about ten days after, that the LORD smote Nabal, that he died.
39 ¶ And when David heard that Nabal was dead, he said, Blessed be the LORD, that hath pleaded the cause of my reproach from the hand of Nabal, and hath kept his servant from evil: for the LORD hath returned the wickedness of Nabal upon his own head. And David sent and communed with Abigail, to take her to him to wife.
40 And when the servants of David were come to Abigail to Carmel, they spake unto her, saying, David sent us unto thee, to take thee to him to wife.
41 And she arose, and bowed herself on her face to the earth, and said, Behold, let thine handmaid be a servant to wash the feet of the servants of my lord.

42 And Abigail hasted, and arose, and rode upon an ass, with five damsels of hers that went after her; and she went after the messengers of David, and became his wife.
43 [†] David also took Ahinoam of Jezreel; and they were also both of them his wives.
44 ¶ But Saul had given Michal his daughter, David's wife, to Phalti the son of Laish, which was of Gallim.

1 Samuel 26 [†]

1 And the Ziphites came unto Saul to Gibeah, saying, Doth not David hide himself in the hill of Hachilah, which is before Jeshimon?
2 Then Saul arose, and went down to the wilderness of Ziph, having three thousand chosen men of Israel with him, to seek David in the wilderness of Ziph.
3 And Saul pitched in the hill of Hachilah, which is before Jeshimon, by the way. But David abode in the wilderness, and he saw that Saul came after him into the wilderness.
4 David therefore sent out spies, and understood that Saul was come in very deed.
5 [†] ¶ And David arose, and came to the place where Saul had pitched: and David beheld the place where Saul lay, and Abner the son of Ner, the captain of his host: and Saul lay in the trench, and the people pitched round about him.
6 Then answered David and said to Ahimelech the Hittite, and to Abishai the son of Zeruiah, brother to Joab, saying, Who will go down with me to Saul to the camp? And Abishai said, I will go down with thee.
7 [†] So David and Abishai came to the people by night: and, behold, Saul lay sleeping within the trench, and his spear stuck in the ground at his bolster: but Abner and the people lay round about him.
8 [†] Then said Abishai to David, God hath delivered thine enemy into thine hand this day: now therefore let me smite him, I pray thee, with the spear even to the earth at once, and I will not smite him the second time.
9 And David said to Abishai, Destroy him not: for who can stretch forth his hand against the Lord's anointed, and be guiltless?
10 David said furthermore, As the Lord liveth, the Lord shall smite him; or his day shall come to die; or he shall descend into battle, and perish.
11 [†] The Lord forbid that I should stretch forth mine hand against the Lord's anointed: but, I pray thee, take thou now the spear that is at his bolster, and the cruse of water, and let us go.
12 So David took the spear and the cruse of water from Saul's bolster; and they gat them away, and no man saw it, nor knew it, neither awaked: for they were all asleep; because a deep sleep from the Lord was fallen upon them.
13 ¶ Then David went over to the other side, and stood on the top of an hill afar off; a great space being between them:
14 And David cried to the people, and to Abner the son of Ner, saying, Answerest thou not, Abner? Then Abner answered and said, Who art thou that criest to the king?
15 And David said to Abner, Art not thou a valiant man? and who is like to thee in Israel? wherefore then hast thou not kept thy lord the king? for there came one of the people in to destroy the king thy lord.
16 This thing is not good that thou hast done. As the Lord liveth, ye are worthy to die, because ye have not kept your master, the Lord's anointed. And now see where the king's spear is, and the cruse of water that was at his bolster.
17 And Saul knew David's voice, and said, Is this thy voice, my son David? And David said, It is my voice, my lord, O king.
18 And he said, Wherefore doth my lord thus pursue after his servant? for what have I done? or what evil is in mine hand?
19 Now therefore, I pray thee, let my lord the king hear the words of his servant. If the Lord have stirred thee up against me, let him accept an offering: but if they be the children of men, cursed be they before the Lord; for they have driven me out this day from abiding in the inheritance of the Lord, saying, Go, serve other gods.

20 Now therefore, let not my blood fall to the earth before the face of the LORD: for the king of Israel is come out to seek a flea, as when one doth hunt a partridge in the mountains.
21 ¶ Then said Saul, I have sinned: return, my son David: for I will no more do thee harm, because my soul was precious in thine eyes this day: behold, I have played the fool, and have erred exceedingly.
22 And David answered and said, Behold the king's spear! and let one of the young men come over and fetch it.
23 The LORD render to every man his righteousness and his faithfulness: for the LORD delivered thee into my hand to day, but I would not stretch forth mine hand against the LORD's anointed.
24 [†] And, behold, as thy life was much set by this day in mine eyes, so let my life be much set by in the eyes of the LORD, and let him deliver me out of all tribulation.
25 Then Saul said to David, Blessed be thou, my son David: thou shalt both do great things, and also shalt still prevail. So David went on his way, and Saul returned to his place.

1 Samuel 27 [†]

1 [†] And David said in his heart, I shall now perish one day by the hand of Saul: there is nothing better for me than that I should speedily escape into the land of the Philistines; and Saul shall despair of me, to seek me any more in any coast of Israel: so shall I escape out of his hand.
2 And David arose, and he passed over with the six hundred men that were with him unto Achish, the son of Maoch, king of Gath.
3 And David dwelt with Achish at Gath, he and his men, every man with his household, even David with his two wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess, and Abigail the Carmelitess, Nabal's wife.
4 [†] And it was told Saul that David was fled to Gath: and he sought no more again for him.
5 ¶ And David said unto Achish, If I have now found grace in thine eyes, let them give me a place in some town in the country, that I may dwell there: for why should thy servant dwell in the royal city with thee?
6 [†] Then Achish gave him Ziklag that day: wherefore Ziklag pertaineth unto the kings of Judah unto this day.
7 And the time that David dwelt in the country of the Philistines was a full year and four months.
8 [†] ¶ And David and his men went up, and invaded the Geshurites, and the Gezrites, and the Amalekites: for those nations were of old the inhabitants of the land, as thou goest to Shur, even unto the land of Egypt.
9 And David smote the land, and left neither man nor woman alive, and took away the sheep, and the oxen, and the asses, and the camels, and the apparel, and returned, and came to Achish.
10 [†] And Achish said, Whither have ye made a road to day? And David said, Against the south of Judah, and against the south of the Jerahmeelites, and against the south of the Kenites.
11 And David saved neither man nor woman alive, to bring tidings to Gath, saying, Lest they should tell on us, saying, So did David, and so will be his manner all the while he dwelleth in the country of the Philistines.
12 And Achish believed David, saying, He hath made his people Israel utterly to abhor him; therefore he shall be my servant for ever.

1 Samuel 28 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass in those days, that the Philistines gathered their armies together for warfare, to fight with Israel. And Achish said unto David, Know thou assuredly, that thou shalt go out with me to battle, thou and thy men.
2 [†] And David said to Achish, Surely thou shalt know what thy servant can do. And Achish said to David, Therefore will I make thee keeper of mine head for ever.
3 [†] ¶ Now Samuel was dead, and all Israel had lamented him, and buried him in Ramah, even in his own city. And Saul had put away those that had familiar spirits, and the wizards, out of the land.
4 And the Philistines gathered themselves together, and came and pitched in Shunem: and Saul gathered all Israel together, and they pitched in Gilboa.
5 And when Saul saw the host of the Philistines, he was afraid, and his heart greatly trembled.
6 [†] And when Saul enquired of the LORD, the LORD answered him not, neither by dreams, nor by Urim, nor by prophets.
7 ¶ Then said Saul unto his servants, Seek me a woman that hath a familiar spirit, that I may go to her, and enquire of her. And his servants said to him, Behold, there is a woman that hath a familiar spirit at En-dor.
8 [†] And Saul disguised himself, and put on other raiment, and he went, and two men with him, and they came to the woman by night: and he said, I pray thee, divine unto me by the familiar spirit, and bring me him up, whom I shall name unto thee.
9 And the woman said unto him, Behold, thou knowest what Saul hath done, how he hath cut off those that have familiar spirits, and the wizards, out of the land: wherefore then layest thou a snare for my life, to cause me to die?
10 And Saul sware to her by the LORD, saying, As the LORD liveth, there shall no punishment happen to thee for this thing.
11 Then said the woman, Whom shall I bring up unto thee? And he said, Bring me up Samuel.
12 [†] And when the woman saw Samuel, she cried with a loud voice: and the woman spake to Saul, saying, Why hast thou deceived me? for thou art Saul.
13 And the king said unto her, Be not afraid: for what sawest thou? And the woman said unto Saul, I saw gods ascending out of the earth.
14 And he said unto her, What form is he of? And she said, An old man cometh up; and he is covered with a mantle. And Saul perceived that it was Samuel, and he stooped with his face to the ground, and bowed himself.
15 [†] ¶ And Samuel said to Saul, Why hast thou disquieted me, to bring me up? And Saul answered, I am sore distressed; for the Philistines make war against me, and God is departed from me, and answereth me no more, neither by prophets, nor by dreams: therefore I have called thee, that thou mayest make known unto me what I shall do.
16 Then said Samuel, Wherefore then dost thou ask of me, seeing the LORD is departed from thee, and is become thine enemy?
17 And the LORD hath done to him, as he spake by me: for the LORD hath rent the kingdom out of thine hand, and given it to thy neighbour, even to David:
18 Because thou obeyedst not the voice of the LORD, nor executedst his fierce wrath upon Amalek, therefore hath the LORD done this thing unto thee this day.
19 [†] Moreover the LORD will also deliver Israel with thee into the hand of the Philistines: and to morrow shalt thou and thy sons be with me: the LORD also shall deliver the host of Israel into the hand of the Philistines.

20 [†] Then Saul fell straightway all along on the earth, and was sore afraid, because of the words of Samuel: and there was no strength in him; for he had eaten no bread all the day, nor all the night.
21 [†] ¶ And the woman came unto Saul, and saw that he was sore troubled, and said unto him, Behold, thine handmaid hath obeyed thy voice, and I have put my life in my hand, and have hearkened unto thy words which thou spakest unto me.
22 Now therefore, I pray thee, hearken thou also unto the voice of thine handmaid, and let me set a morsel of bread before thee; and eat, that thou mayest have strength, when thou goest on thy way.
23 But he refused, and said, I will not eat. But his servants, together with the woman, compelled him; and he hearkened unto their voice. So he arose from the earth, and sat upon the bed.
24 And the woman had a fat calf in the house; and she hasted, and killed it, and took flour, and kneaded it, and did bake unleavened bread thereof:
25 And she brought it before Saul, and before his servants; and they did eat. Then they rose up, and went away that night.

1 Samuel 29 [†]

1 Now the Philistines gathered together all their armies to Aphek: and the Israelites pitched by a fountain which is in Jezreel.
2 [†] And the lords of the Philistines passed on by hundreds, and by thousands: but David and his men passed on in the rereward with Achish.
3 [†] Then said the princes of the Philistines, What do these Hebrews here? And Achish said unto the princes of the Philistines, Is not this David, the servant of Saul the king of Israel, which hath been with me these days, or these years, and I have found no fault in him since he fell unto me unto this day?
4 [†] And the princes of the Philistines were wroth with him; and the princes of the Philistines said unto him, Make this fellow return, that he may go again to his place which thou hast appointed him, and let him not go down with us to battle, lest in the battle he be an adversary to us: for wherewith should he reconcile himself unto his master? should it not be with the heads of these men?
5 Is not this David, of whom they sang one to another in dances, saying, Saul slew his thousands, and David his ten thousands?
6 [†] ¶ Then Achish called David, and said unto him, Surely, as the Lord liveth, thou hast been upright, and thy going out and thy coming in with me in the host is good in my sight: for I have not found evil in thee since the day of thy coming unto me unto this day: nevertheless the lords favour thee not.
7 [†] Wherefore now return, and go in peace, that thou displease not the lords of the Philistines.
8 [†] ¶ And David said unto Achish, But what have I done? and what hast thou found in thy servant so long as I have been with thee unto this day, that I may not go fight against the enemies of my lord the king?
9 [†] And Achish answered and said to David, I know that thou art good in my sight, as an angel of God: notwithstanding the princes of the Philistines have said, He shall not go up with us to the battle.
10 Wherefore now rise up early in the morning with thy master's servants that are come with thee: and as soon as ye be up early in the morning, and have light, depart.
11 So David and his men rose up early to depart in the morning, to return into the land of the Philistines. And the Philistines went up to Jezreel.

1 Samuel 30 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass, when David and his men were come to Ziklag on the third day, that the Amalekites had invaded the south, and Ziklag, and smitten Ziklag, and burned it with fire;
2 [†] And had taken the women captives, that were therein: they slew not any, either great or small, but carried them away, and went on their way.
3 [†] ¶ So David and his men came to the city, and, behold, it was burned with fire; and their wives, and their sons, and their daughters, were taken captives.
4 Then David and the people that were with him lifted up their voice and wept, until they had no more power to weep.
5 And David's two wives were taken captives, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess, and Abigail the wife of Nabal the Carmelite.
6 [†] And David was greatly distressed; for the people spake of stoning him, because the soul of all the people was grieved, every man for his sons and for his daughters: but David encouraged himself in the LORD his God.
7 [†] And David said to Abiathar the priest, Ahimelech's son, I pray thee, bring me hither the ephod. And Abiathar brought thither the ephod to David.
8 [†] And David enquired at the LORD, saying, Shall I pursue after this troop? shall I overtake them? And he answered him, Pursue: for thou shalt surely overtake them, and without fail recover all.
9 So David went, he and the six hundred men that were with him, and came to the brook Besor, where those that were left behind stayed.
10 [†] But David pursued, he and four hundred men: for two hundred abode behind, which were so faint that they could not go over the brook Besor.
11 [†] ¶ And they found an Egyptian in the field, and brought him to David, and gave him bread, and he did eat; and they made him drink water;
12 And they gave him a piece of a cake of figs, and two clusters of raisins: and when he had eaten, his spirit came again to him: for he had eaten no bread, nor drunk any water, three days and three nights.
13 [†] And David said unto him, To whom belongest thou? and whence art thou? And he said, I am a young man of Egypt, servant to an Amalekite; and my master left me, because three days agone I fell sick.
14 [†] We made an invasion upon the south of the Cherethites, and upon the coast which belongeth to Judah, and upon the south of Caleb; and we burned Ziklag with fire.
15 And David said to him, Canst thou bring me down to this company? And he said, Swear unto me by God, that thou wilt neither kill me, nor deliver me into the hands of my master, and I will bring thee down to this company.
16 ¶ And when he had brought him down, behold, they were spread abroad upon all the earth, eating and drinking, and dancing, because of all the great spoil that they had taken out of the land of the Philistines, and out of the land of Judah.
17 [†] And David smote them from the twilight even unto the evening of the next day: and there escaped not a man of them, save four hundred young men, which rode upon camels, and fled.
18 [†] And David recovered all that the Amalekites had carried away: and David rescued his two wives.
19 And there was nothing lacking to them, neither small nor great, neither sons nor daughters, neither spoil, nor any thing that they had taken to them: David recovered all.
20 [†] And David took all the flocks and the herds, which they drave before those other cattle, and said, This is David's spoil.
21 [†] ¶ And David came to the two hundred men, which were so faint that they could not follow David, whom they had made also to abide at the brook Besor: and they went forth to meet David, and to meet the people that were with him: and when David came near to the people, he saluted them.

22 [†] Then answered all the wicked men and men of Belial, of those that went with David, and said, Because they went not with us, we will not give them ought of the spoil that we have recovered, save to every man his wife and his children, that they may lead them away, and depart.
23 Then said David, Ye shall not do so, my brethren, with that which the LORD hath given us, who hath preserved us, and delivered the company that came against us into our hand.
24 [†] For who will hearken unto you in this matter? but as his part is that goeth down to the battle, so shall his part be that tarrieth by the stuff: they shall part alike.
25 And it was so from that day forward, that he made it a statute and an ordinance for Israel unto this day.
26 ¶ And when David came to Ziklag, he sent of the spoil unto the elders of Judah, even to his friends, saying, Behold a present for you of the spoil of the enemies of the LORD;
27 To them which were in Beth-el, and to them which were in south Ramoth, and to them which were in Jattir,
28 And to them which were in Aroer, and to them which were in Siphmoth, and to them which were in Eshtemoa,
29 And to them which were in Rachal, and to them which were in the cities of the Jerahmeelites, and to them which were in the cities of the Kenites,
30 And to them which were in Hormah, and to them which were in Chorashan, and to them which were in Athach,
31 [†] And to them which were in Hebron, and to all the places where David himself and his men were wont to haunt.

1 Samuel 31 [†]

1 Now the Philistines fought against Israel: and the men of Israel fled from before the Philistines, and fell down slain in mount Gilboa.
2 [†] And the Philistines followed hard upon Saul and upon his sons; and the Philistines slew Jonathan, and Abinadab, and Malchi-shua, Saul's sons.
3 [†] And the battle went sore against Saul, and the archers hit him; and he was sore wounded of the archers.
4 [†] Then said Saul unto his armourbearer, Draw thy sword, and thrust me through therewith; lest these uncircumcised come and thrust me through, and abuse me. But his armourbearer would not; for he was sore afraid. Therefore Saul took a sword, and fell upon it.
5 And when his armourbearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell likewise upon his sword, and died with him.
6 So Saul died, and his three sons, and his armourbearer, and all his men, that same day together.
7 ¶ And when the men of Israel that were on the other side of the valley, and they that were on the other side Jordan, saw that the men of Israel fled, and that Saul and his sons were dead, they forsook the cities, and fled; and the Philistines came and dwelt in them.
8 [†] And it came to pass on the morrow, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, that they found Saul and his three sons fallen in mount Gilboa.
9 [†] And they cut off his head, and stripped off his armour, and sent into the land of the Philistines round about, to publish it in the house of their idols, and among the people.
10 [†] And they put his armour in the house of Ashtaroth: and they fastened his body to the wall of Beth-shan.
11 ¶ And when the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead heard of that which the Philistines had done to Saul;
12 All the valiant men arose, and went all night, and took the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons from the wall of Beth-shan, and came to Jabesh, and burnt them there.
13 And they took their bones, and buried them under a tree at Jabesh, and fasted seven days.

NOTES ON THE BOOK OF

1 SAMUEL

THE BIRTH AND EARLY MINISTRY OF SAMUEL (1 SAM. 1–7)

Hannah's Prayer and Samuel's Birth (1 Sam. 1:1—2:11)

Chapter 1: Hannah pours out her heart to the Lord for a son and promises that if He would grant her request, she would give that child to the Lord for His service.

1:1 Ramathaim-zophim. Elsewhere, "Ramah" (v. 19; 2:11). Ephrathite. Ordinarily one belonging to the tribe of Ephraim. Yet Elkanah and Samuel were of the tribe of Levi (1 Chron. 6:16–28), which was necessary for his priestly apprenticeship. The Levites were scattered throughout the country, so Ephrathite refers to the place of residence, not tribal identity.

1:2 two wives. Polygamy is not in accordance with God's ordinance (Gen. 2:24). Although the law of Moses does not expressly forbid it, it does not endorse it, and in every instance the Scripture puts in bold the conflicts it causes. no children. Considered a reproach from the Lord (30:1–2,23).

1:3 the Lord of hosts. The Supreme Commander of all spiritual and physical forces.

1:5 worthy portion. A double portion, expressing favor. the Lord had shut up her womb. Both conception and barrenness are subject to God's sovereign purpose (Ps. 127:3).

1:6 her adversary. The Hebrew term occurs only here and refers to the rival wife. provoked her sore. Literally, "grieved her a grief," an idiom expressing intense grief. for to make her fret. Literally, "in order to irritate or humiliate her."

1:10 bitterness of soul. Deep distress. wept sore. Wept intensely.

1:11 handmaid. Female slave. no razor come upon his head. He would be a Nazirite (see Num. 6:5).

1:12 marked her mouth. Observed her mouth.

1:13 spake in her heart. Her prayer was not audible as was common practice, a good reminder that true prayer is directed to God and is not to impress men.

1:16 daughter of Belial. Worthless or wicked person (2:12; 10:27; 25:17,25; 30:22; 2 Sam. 16:7; 20:1; 22:5; 23:6); Belial would later be used as a name for Satan (2 Cor. 6:15). complaint. Trouble or anxiety. hithero. Until now.

1:20 Samuel. The name seems to mean "his name is God," in recognition of God, who gave Hannah a son in answer to prayer.

1:24 weaned. Samuel was probably three years old. three bullocks. Required for the burnt offering, the thank-offering, and most likely a special offering to mark the consecration of Samuel into the Lord's work.

1:25 slew a bullock. Most likely referring specifically to the sacrifice for consecration.

1:28 lent. The Hebrew has the idea of letting someone have what was asked for. Ironically, the Lord had given Hannah her petition, which she now returns in keeping with her vow.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 1

1. This chapter teaches us so much about effectual, fervent prayer. Hannah is in complete submission to the will of the Lord, confessing that she is His "handmaid" (v. 11). She is dependent upon God; therefore she prays with real purpose and desires that her request will be to the glory of God. Her prayer is earnest; she "wept sore" (v. 10), and like the widow in the parable of the unjust judge (Luke 18:1–8) she persevered until her request was answered. How can we pray like Hannah?
2. Hannah's taking Samuel to the tabernacle and dedicating him to the service of the Lord demonstrates the importance of keeping vows made to the Lord. Humanly speaking, this had to have been an emotional trauma, but Hannah was not deterred from keeping her promise. Her vow was not rash. Vows are not "bargaining chips" to be used in prayer to get God to answer us according to our own will or desires. God takes vows seriously and expects us to keep our word (Eccl. 5:2–7).

Chapter 2: Hannah's prayer of thanksgiving stands in contrast to the wickedness of Eli's sons.

2:1 Hannah prayed. She rejoiced in the Lord and in His salvation. This is a psalm of thankfulness and of prophecy. horn. Symbol of strength and power (v. 10). enlarged. Opened wide. Note the parallels between Hannah's prayer ending with the prospect of Messiah (v. 10) and Mary's prayer in response to the conception of Messiah in her womb (Luke 1:46–55).

2:2 rock. A huge, immovable boulder, indicating the certainty and sureness of the Lord's protection.

2:3 weighed. Measured, or examined as to whether they are just.

2:4 girded. Encircled or secured with a belt.

2:8 the pillars of the earth. Referring to the Lord's creative work, which highlights His unique power and authority to humble the high and exalt the low.

2:10 exalt the horn. See note at v. 1 and parallel in Luke 1:69. his king . . . his anointed. Since there was no king in Israel at this point, this is an expression of Hannah's faith in the coming Messiah and Christ (Hebrew and Greek words for anointed). The king was anointed with oil (1 Sam. 9:16; 10:1; 12:3,5; 15:1,17; 16:3,8,12–13; 24:6,10; 26:9,11,16,23; 2 Sam. 1:14,16,21; 2:4,7; 3:39; 5:3,17; 12:7) as a sign of the empowerment of the Holy Spirit for his office (1 Sam. 10:6,10; 11:6; 16:13; 2 Sam. 23:2; cf. Isa. 61:1).

The Lord's Judgment upon Eli's Household (1 Sam. 2:12–36)

2:12 sons of Belial. Worthless people characterized by wickedness.

2:13 seething. Boiling. fleshhook of three teeth. A three-pronged fork for retrieving meat from the cooking pot (v. 14).

2:14 the priest took for himself. Through greed, Hophni and Phinehas robbed those bringing offerings to the Lord by taking the giver's portion of the offering as well as their own entitlement (Lev. 7:30–34).

2:15 fat. The part to be offered to the Lord (Lev. 3:16; 7:23). sodden. Boiled. These wicked priests demanded their portion before the Lord was given His, evidence of their contempt toward God.

2:16 presently. Literally, "as the day," an idiom meaning soon or quickly.

2:18 girded. Encircled with a band or belt. ephod. Embroidered cape worn by priests.

2:19 little coat. A sleeveless, cloak-like outer garment.

2:20–21 loan which is lent. Literally, "the request which he asked." The faithfulness of Elkanah and Hannah results in further blessing from God—three sons and two daughters. The Lord is no man's debtor.

2:22 women that assembled at the door. Perhaps women who served the tabernacle in mending its fabric or furniture (Ex. 35:25; 38:8) or women devoted to prayer and worship (Luke 2:36–37). They were targets of sexual abuse. lay. Had sexual relations.

2:25 they hearkened not . . . because the LORD would slay them. God, in His righteous wrath against their sin, gave them over to hardness of heart because He had decided to destroy them for their sins (Josh. 11:20). This is the sobering doctrine of reprobation (Rom. 9:17–22).

2:26 The language is similar to that which describes the child Jesus (Luke 2:52).

2:27 man of God. One of the Old Testament designations for a prophet. house of thy father. Aaron, the first high priest.

2:28 choose. Only God could choose the priests, whether those of the Levitical priesthood or Jesus Christ (Heb. 5:1,4–5).

2:29 Wherefore kick ye at my sacrifice? Why do you scorn my sacrifice? make yourselves fat. Though Eli was literally, "a heavy man" (4:18), this is most likely an idiom for prosperity.

2:31 cut off thine arm. Take away the strength and influence of your family.

2:35 Abiathar, the last of Eli's descendants, was replaced by Zadok as high priest (1 Kings 1:7–8; 2:27,35; Ezek. 44:15). Ultimately God abolished the entire Aaronic priesthood and anointed the only perfectly faithful priest, the Lord Jesus Christ (Heb. 2:17; 7:11–17). according to that which is in my heart. One who will do God's will (see note at 1 Sam. 13:14). he shall walk before mine anointed for ever. The Hebrew verb could take as its subject either "priest" or "house." It could be understood either as the priest serving in the presence of God's king or, more likely, as the people of Christ (His house, Heb. 3:6) living in the presence of their anointed Priest. Both priests and kings were anointed (Ex. 28:41; 29:7; see note at 1 Sam. 2:10), and this text suggests the merging of the two offices in the ideal Priest-King (Ps. 110:1,4).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 2

1. Hannah sets a wonderful example. When God answered her heartfelt prayer she was quick to acknowledge His goodness and to rejoice in Him. If we would desire the Lord to answer our prayers, let us be sure to give Him our thanks and praise for those petitions already granted. "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the LORD, and to sing praises unto thy name, O most High" (Ps. 92:1). We should always rejoice in the Lord for His saving us through the work of His anointed, Jesus Christ. How have God's acts in your life revealed His glorious attributes in Jesus Christ? How are you praising Him for this?
2. There is a stark contrast between the wickedness of Eli's sons and the righteousness of Samuel. Both had the advantage of having godly parents; yet how differently they turned out. Despite the immense privilege of being born into a family of high spiritual standing, Hophni and Phinehas turned their backs upon the Lord and spurned His ways, seeking rather to exploit the people for personal gain. By way of contrast, Samuel was growing "in favour both with the LORD, and also with men" (v. 26). You who are the parents of young children, pray not only that the Lord would have mercy and save your offspring, but also seek by God's grace to correct any wayward behavior in them. Do not wait too long, as Eli did. Let us remember that the Lord says "them that honour me I will honour" (v. 30).

The Call of Samuel to Prophetic Ministry (1 Sam. 3:1—4:1)

Chapter 3: The Lord calls Samuel and instructs him to reveal to Eli the end of his house.

3:1 precious. Scarce or rare. no open vision. Literally, “there was no vision being spread abroad.” This refers to the rarity of prophetic activity.

3:2 eyes began to wax dim. His eyesight was failing.

3:3 ere. before. the lamp of God. The seven-branched lampstand, or “candlestick,” situated in the holy place.

3:7 did not yet know the LORD. Either was not yet converted to a living faith (2:12; but see 2:26), or was inexperienced in receiving revelation from God as a prophet.

3:10 the LORD came and stood. Samuel not only hears the voice of the Lord, but here he also sees a vision of the Lord’s presence.

3:11 The ears of every one that heareth it shall tingle indicates the horror of hearing about the destruction of Shiloh (Jer. 7:12–14; 26:6–9).

3:12 when I begin, I will also make an end. Literally, “a beginning and ending.” The Lord will not stop until all threats are fulfilled.

3:13 his sons made themselves vile. One of eighteen corrections of the scribes (tiqqune sopherim), where scribes ensured that the text did not jeopardize God’s dignity. Some ancient traditions, for instance the Septuagint, charge the sons with cursing God. Such behavior would certainly have brought a curse upon them. he restrained them not. He did not rebuke them.

3:14 The iniquity of Eli’s house was so great that no amount of sacrifice or offering would appease the Lord’s wrath.

3:18 every whit. Everything; the Hebrew is “all the words.” It is the LORD. Submission to, and acceptance of, the Lord’s will is the only way to handle His judgment.

3:19 let none of his words fall to the ground. The Lord is with His messenger (Hag. 1:13), so that the prophet’s words are God’s Word, and not one of God’s words can fail (1 Kings 8:56; 2 Kings 10:10).

3:20 Dan even to Beer-sheba. Refers to Israel’s northern and southern extremes, thus designating the entire nation.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 3

> When the Lord called young Samuel, Samuel imagined it was Eli who spoke; yet his response provides a model of how we should perform our duties. No doubt Samuel’s training for the Lord’s service was demanding, with many chores. He probably looked forward to a good night’s rest. Having “laid down to sleep” (v. 3), Samuel heard a voice calling him. He did not lie in bed or pretend to be asleep; he did not get up begrudging this interruption to his rest; instead he “ran unto Eli” (v. 5). There was a willingness to serve. Three times he got up and went to Eli without complaint or bitterness. It was only after this that he came to understand that it was the Lord who was calling him. Could there be times when we miss what the Lord is saying to us through His Word because we are overwhelmed by circumstances of life? Let us be sensitive to God’s Word and not miss the blessings by failing to answer the Lord’s calling us. What does it mean to pray “Speak, LORD; for thy servant heareth”?

The Departure and Return of the Glory (1 Sam. 4:1—7:1)

Chapter 4: Israel’s sin leads to utter defeat by the Philistines, the capture of the ark, and the deaths of Eli and his sons.

4:1 the word of Samuel came to all Israel. God blessed his prophetic preaching, and it reached the whole nation (3:19–21).

4:2 put themselves in array. Lined up to fight.

4:3 Let us fetch the ark. They regarded the ark as a talisman, a magic charm. Man is capable of transforming things with spiritual significance to external trinkets of idolatry (Jer. 7:4). The box represented God's presence, but God was not in the box.

4:5 the earth rang again. The earth reechoed with the noise.

4:7 heretofore. Previously.

4:9 quit yourselves like men. Literally, "become men," with the sense of acting like men.

4:12 his clothes rent, and with earth upon his head. Signs of mourning and humiliation.

4:13 his heart trembled. He was anxious, an indication of his concern for the safety of the ark.

4:14 tumult. Commotion.

4:19 travailed. Went into labor to give birth.

4:21 Ichabod. The Hebrew means either "no glory" or "Where is glory?" God withdraws His glory from an apostate people (Ezek. 11:23).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 4

1. The defeat of Israel (v. 2) clearly revealed that the Lord was not among them. This defeat should have humbled them to seek the Lord, as Joshua did after Israel's defeat at Ai (Josh. 7:6–13). However, neither Hophni and Phinehas nor the people humbled themselves and prayed. Instead, they foolishly thought they could force God's hand to defend them by unlawfully bringing the ark onto the battlefield. They imagined that God would never allow the ark to fall into enemy hands. After all, the ark had been central in so many miracles and victories in the past (e.g., crossing the Jordan, Josh. 3, and the fall of Jericho, Josh. 6) that they viewed this sacred item as a mere good luck charm. The result was catastrophic for Israel. Religion is not a means of manipulating God for personal advantage. God will not be used. If we want to enjoy the blessings of His presence, we must obey His commands (Josh. 1:8–9). God hides His face from the wicked (Deut. 31:17). What religious objects or rituals do people trust in today?
2. The name "Ichabod" represents a tragedy for the Lord's people. The glory of the Lord departed from Israel because of their sins, and likewise we find it gone in many churches today. Some churches may appear to be lively and well attended. Some individuals may put on an outward, public show of humility and faith. But appearance does not equate to reality. The accusation of Christ is this: "I know thy works, that thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead" (Rev. 3:1). What about you? What does the Lord Jesus say of you? O how we need, by God's grace, to hide His Word in our hearts that we do not sin against Him (cf. Ps. 119:11). Whenever we do sin let us ensure that we make all haste to truly repent and wait upon the Lord.

Chapter 5: The Philistines place the ark of the Lord in the temple of Dagon, resulting in the destruction of Dagon's image and the infliction of the Philistines with a painful plague.

5:1 Ashdod. One of the five principal cities of the Philistines.

5:2 Dagon. Opinions differ as to whether Dagon was the god of grain, as identified in Canaanite literature, or a fish god. Regardless, Dagon was the chief god or Baal of the Philistines,

5:6 emerods. Some sort of swelling, an ulcer or hemorrhoid (vv. 9,12). coasts. Borders or regions.

5:7 his hand is sore upon us. Literally, "his hand is heavy upon us."

5:8–10 Gath and Ekron were also among the five principal cities of the Philistines.

5:11 deadly destruction. Literally, "the panic of death."

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 5

1. Although the ark was not the reality of God's person, it was symbolic of His presence, and the Philistines were aware of its significance. For the sake of His own glory, God would not allow the heathen, who in their ignorance equated the box with Jehovah, to elevate their idol above Himself. Without human aid, He demonstrated that Dagon was nothing, a figment of their imagination without life or power. We learn an important lesson here: that while God is often pleased to use human instrumentality in His service, He needs no one to rescue Him or help Him. Therefore we must always ensure that our work for Him is carried out in reverent humility, for the Lord is not dependent upon anyone. His power and might are beyond human comprehension.
2. The Philistines acted ignorantly but were nonetheless held accountable for their blasphemy and violation of the first commandment. God's law is absolute, and ignorance of it is no excuse. What are the implications of this for missions?

Chapter 6: The Philistines send the ark back to Israel, and many in Israel are slain for looking into the ark.

6:2 diviners. Fortune-tellers or those who make predictions with magic.

6:3 trespass offering. Not according to Mosaic definition, but a compensation offered in hope of pacifying Israel's God and diverting His plague against them.

6:4–5 Five represents the five Philistine lords and their five principal cities. golden emerods. See notes at 5:6. The five golden mice represent the mice that mar or destroy the land (vv. 17–18). This rodent devastation of crops is evidence that Dagon was the god of grain. This was his domain, but he was powerless against the true God. peradventure. Perhaps.

6:6 he had wrought wonderfully. The Hebrew carries the idea of making a fool of someone, playing a dirty trick, or dealing ruthlessly. The Philistines were aware of the exodus but failed to understand its spiritual significance.

6:7 milch kine. Milk cows (vv. 10,12,14).

6:8 coffer. Box (vv. 11,15).

6:9 coast. Border or territory. Beth-shemesh. Literally, "house of the sun," one of the Levitical cities (Josh. 21:16). evil. calamity.

6:14 clave. Split.

6:19 fifty thousand and three score and ten men. 50,070 men. By means of a disjunctive marking, the Hebrew separates the 70 from the 50,000. This may suggest that the large number is divided between the two groups who died in this whole narrative, both among the Philistines (most likely, the 50,000) and the men of Beth-shemesh (most likely, the 70).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 6

1. That the Philistines kept the ark for seven months (v. 1) testifies to the nature of spiritual deadness and insensitivity. Notwithstanding the irrefutable evidence of God's power and the excruciating pain of the plague, they refused to acknowledge God and the consequences of their sin. Why did they wait so long before returning the ark? This is reminiscent of Pharaoh's putting off Moses' offer to rid the land of frogs (Ex. 8:10). But it is the nature of sin to be blind to sin's solution. It ought to be our desire to remain sensitive to sin and to be quick in dealing with it before the Lord.
2. "Who is able to stand before this holy LORD God?" (v. 20) is an important question. The Philistines could not, nor could the men of Beth-shemesh. Whether by the heathen or religious, trying to access God in a way that He has not prescribed is fatal. The question points to the ultimate answer that the only way man can stand before the Lord and live is through the only Mediator, the Lord Jesus (Heb. 10:19–22).

Chapter 7: Israel's repentance leads to God's intervention in subduing the Philistines.

7:1 fetched up. Brought up. sanctified. Set apart for sacred service.

Israel's Return to the Lord through Samuel (1 Sam. 7:2–17)

7:2–3 lamented. Groaned. A continuation of the pattern of the judges era: after Israel grieves over its sins, God raises up a judge, in this instance Samuel. strange gods. Foreign gods. Ashtaroth. The plural form of the Canaanite goddess, perhaps referring to the wooden poles erected as part of her worship ritual.

7:4 Baalim. The plural of "Baal," meaning "master" or "lord," a title to designate the chief deity of any location. Dagon was the Baal of Philistia. The plural suggests that Israel had incorporated numerous pagan deities into their worship.

7:8 Cease not to cry. Literally, "keep not silence from us, from crying" (see Ps. 28:1).

7:10–11 discomfited. Defeated, confused, or routed. It appears that the Philistines were routed by divine intervention, allowing Israel to chase them down and smite them without resistance.

7:12 Eben-ezer. Literally, "stone of help." Hitherto. Until now.

7:13 coast. Territory or region (v. 14). all the days of Samuel. Since Saul later engaged the Philistines, the reference is to the tenure of Samuel's judgeship before the monarchy.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 7

1. Samuel served as a prophet, a judge, and a priest. This chapter illustrates two connected functions of the priest, both of which point to work of the ideal Priest, the Lord Jesus: he offered sacrifices and then interceded for the people (vv. 8–9). Likewise, our Savior's intercession for His people is on the grounds of His supreme sacrifice for sin, which is pleasing unto the Father (1 John 2:1–2). The Lord heard and answered Samuel (Ps. 99:6), and we can have even more confidence and assurance of faith that God will never turn away from the intercessions of His Son. Israel owed deliverance from the Philistines to Samuel's intercession; we owe everything to Christ's intercession for us. How does this encourage you to call upon Jesus Christ in prayer for your spiritual needs?
2. It is a blessed and comforting thought to know that God is faithful in all of His dealings with His people. He has promised to always be with those who are called by His grace. Surely every true child of God can say with Samuel, "Hitherto hath the LORD helped us" (v. 12). He has walked with us in our trials. He has comforted us in our grief. He has protected us from our foes and been to us an ever-present help in trouble. Christ says, "I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world" (Matt. 28:20). Let us therefore raise our Ebenezer of praise and rejoice in the Lord's goodness.

THE RISE AND REJECTION OF KING SAUL (1 SAM. 8:1—15:35)

Chapter 8: Israel desires to be like the surrounding nations by having an earthly king.

Israel's Rejection of the Lord as King (1 Sam. 8:1–22)

8:1 made his sons judges. Judges ruled by divine calling and commission (Judg. 2:16); Samuel had overstepped his authority. Nepotism is a temptation even to the most spiritual.

8:3 lucre. Ill-gotten or unlawful gain. Samuel was seemingly oblivious to his sons' faults, a sad repetition of the sin of Eli.

8:5 make us a king . . . like all the nations. Moses anticipated this request (Deut. 17:14–20).

8:6 displeased Samuel. Literally, "the matter was evil in the eyes of Samuel."

8:9 hearken unto their voice. Literally, "obey their voice." howbeit yet protest solemnly. Literally, "however, you should earnestly warn."

8:11–17 The predominant verb in Samuel's warning is take (vv. 11,13–17). Having a king will be costly.

8:12 to ear his ground. Literally, "to plow his plowing,"

8:13 confectionaries. Ointment makers or perfumers.

8:21 he rehearsed. Literally, "he spoke them."

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 8

1. Dissatisfaction with government is common, regardless of what form it takes. Israel was discontent with judges and assumed that a monarchy would solve their problems. Samuel rightly predicted that the day would come when monarchy would disappoint as well (v. 18). It is imperative to remember that all government is ordained by God (Rom. 13), and it should be our prayer that God would favor us with a government that is wise and righteous (2 Sam. 23:3; Prov. 8:12–16; 1 Tim. 2:1–2). But let us never forget that government cannot be our God, for it consists of fallen human beings. How can we honor civil leaders and honor God above all?
2. Kingship in Israel was part of God's purpose for His people and had significant messianic significance (Gen. 49:10). Israel's request for a king was a great disappointment to Samuel because it was motivated by selfish interests (1 Sam. 8:20) rather than concern for God's glory and the progression of His redemptive purpose. He also took it personally, as a rejection of his ministry. But at this critical point, Samuel provides the pattern of how we should respond to displeasing news: "Samuel prayed unto the LORD" (v. 6). Our very first thought should be to take it to the Lord. Praying for God's will to be done and for His kingdom to come focuses the heart where it needs to be.

God's Sovereign Selection of a King (1 Sam. 9:1—10:27)

Chapter 9: The Lord providentially directs events leading Samuel to Saul, revealing to him that Saul will be king.

9:2 choice young man. The Hebrew refers to a young, fully-grown, vigorous, unmarried man. goodly. Good, most likely referring to his appearance, not his character. Saul, with his good looks and great height, exemplifies a man whose appearance impresses the world.

9:5 take thought for us. Become anxious or concerned about us.

9:6 man of God. Prophet or seer (vv. 9–10). peradventure. Perhaps.

9:7 spent. Used up, gone.

9:9 Prophet . . . Seer. Both terms refer to the reception of the message from God. The prophet is one to whom God speaks; the seer is one to whom God gives visions. Their authority comes not from self but from divine revelation.

9:12 high place. Probably the highest point of the city that had been consecrated as a place of sacrifice; Jerusalem had not yet been appointed by God.

9:13 straightway. The Hebrew means "thus."

9:15 told Samuel in his ear. Literally, "uncovered the ear of Samuel," an idiom expressing communication.

9:16 captain. Leader or ruler.

9:22 parlour. Hall or room. chiefest place. Literally, "the place in the head," the place of honor.

9:25 upon the top of the house. Most likely a house constructed with a flat roof.

9:26 spring of the day. Start of the day, as dawn was breaking.

9:27 shew thee the word of God. Literally, "cause you to hear the word of God."

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 9

1. The circumstances leading to Samuel's meeting with Saul illustrate the remarkable providence of God that directs all the affairs of life, including human choices and seemingly random events, to accomplish His ultimate purpose (Gen. 50:20; Prov. 16:33). The search for lost donkeys appeared to be an exercise in futility and failure, but it was the means of bringing Saul to a critical moment that defined his life from that day forward. Little did he know when leaving home on the donkey hunt that he would return as the "king elect" of the nation. This is a reminder that we do not know what a day will bring forth and that it is good to know that our times are in the hands of God.
2. The occurrence of the titles "man of God," "Prophet," and "Seer" in this chapter reminds us both of the necessary character and of the authority of the one God called to declare His word to others. The prophet's character is to be godly, and his message is never self-generated. The prophet is to speak only what has been spoken to him, and the seer is to reveal only what has been revealed to him. The principle applies to modern ministry as well, as preachers are to be examples of godliness and have the authority to preach only God's Word (2 Tim. 4:1–2).

Chapter 10: Saul is symbolically anointed by Samuel, actually anointed by the Holy Spirit, and publicly presented as king.

10:1 vial. Flask or small jug. poured. Symbolic of the Spirit's anointing. This anointing marked kingship as one of the messianic (meaning anointed) offices. captain. See note at 9:16. inheritance. A designation for God's people as God's beloved treasure (Deut. 4:20; 9:26,29; 32:9; 1 Kings 8:51; Ps. 28:9; 33:12; 94:5).

10:2 the care of the asses. The affair or matter of the asses. sorroweth for you. Is anxious or concerned about you.

10:4 they will salute you. The Hebrew means “they will ask about your welfare.”

10:5 psaltery. Stringed instrument. tabret. Small drum. pipe. A flute-like instrument. harp. A zither or lyre. they shall prophesy. See 2 Chron. 25:1–3. Prophecy includes giving thanks and praising God (see vv. 10–11,13).

10:6 the Spirit of the LORD will come upon thee. A particular reference to Saul’s being empowered to fulfill his God-given ministry. God’s Spirit is the source of all life, power, and wisdom (Job 32:8; 33:8; Ps. 104:30) and can give unusual or even supernatural strength, skill, or knowledge as He wills to men (Ex. 31:3; 35:31; Num. 11:17,24–29; 27:18; Deut. 34:9; Judg. 3:10; 6:34; 11:29; 13:25; 14:6,19; 15:14; 1 Sam. 11:6; 16:13; 19:20,23; 2 Sam. 23:2), including at times the wicked (Num. 24:2; cf. Matt. 7:21–23). This spiritual gift for leadership was later withdrawn when God rejected Saul from being king (1 Sam. 16:1,14).

10:7 do as occasion serve thee. Literally, “do for yourself that which your hand finds.”

10:9 God gave him another heart. Perhaps a reference to the Spirit’s common work rather than to regeneration, or to the gift of boldness to speak and lead (Acts 4:31).

10:10 thither. There or thence.

10:11 beforetime. Previously.

10:14 Whither went ye? Where did you go?

10:17 Mizpeh. Where Samuel frequently assembled the people for public announcements (7:5). Near the stone erected as a monument to the Lord’s help (7:12).

10:22 stuff. Equipment.

10:24 God save the king. Literally, “may the king live.”

10:26 whose hearts God had touched. Refers to those the Lord had made supportive of Saul.

10:27 children of Belial. Those who are wicked or useless (see note at 1:16).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 10

> Opinions differ on exactly what Saul’s “another heart” means. Regardless, the narrative of Saul’s anointing illustrates a vital truth: God is able to transform people. Notwithstanding Saul’s physical stature, he lacked self-confidence and evidenced no particular skills of leadership. But God equipped him for his ordained office, and his transformation was evident to those who knew him before and after his anointing. The Holy Spirit is able to equip people with spiritual gifts (v. 6; 1 Cor. 12:4–7). Only by His power can we serve God’s kingdom effectively. However, the greatest gift is the transformation of the new birth. Let us never rest in gifts and abilities, but earnestly seek assurance that we are true children born of God (John 1:12–13).

Chapter 11: Saul’s leadership against the Ammonite threat becomes the occasion for confirming his kingship over Israel.

Saul’s Promising Start (1 Sam. 11:1–15)

11:1 Make a covenant. Literally, “cut a covenant,” here a treaty of some sort.

11:3 Give us . . . respite. Literally, “leave us alone.” Coasts. Borders or regions (v. 7).

11:6 the Spirit of God came upon Saul. See note at 10:6.

11:7 yoke of oxen. Two oxen. hewed. Cut in pieces. with one consent. Literally, “as one man.”

11:11 on the morrow. The following day. morning watch. Between 2:00 a.m. and 6:00 a.m.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 11

1. When Israel gained victory, Saul reminded the people that their triumph did not come because they had an earthly king but because “the LORD hath wrought salvation in Israel” (v. 13). This is a principle that we also must remember: whenever we obtain a victory, it is solely the result of God’s power. As Christ reminds us, “without me ye can do nothing” (John 15:5).
2. It is significant that when Samuel confirmed Saul as king, he did so by calling the people to gather at Gilgal (v. 14). This was the place where Israel first set up camp when entering the Promised Land (Josh. 4:19). It was the place where Joshua instructed Israel to take twelve stones from the midst of the Jordan “for a memorial unto the children of Israel for ever” (Josh. 4:7). In coming to this place, the people were surely reminded of the Lord’s past help. When looking to the future, it is a good thing for us to consider the past. Such reminders of His goodness will be of great benefit to our souls, especially when the future looks uncertain.

Chapter 12: Samuel defends his ministry and exhorts the nation to learn the lessons from the past and to fear the Lord, lest they suffer judgment.

Samuel’s Integrity and Exhortation to Israel (1 Sam. 12:1–25)

12:3 before his anointed. Most likely referring to Saul, the anointed king, whose office points to the ideal yet to come (v. 5). to blind mine eyes therewith. To avert my eyes, or look the other way. Contrast Samuel’s not taking with the much taking of kings (8:11–17).

12:4 taken ought. Taken anything.

12:5 found ought. Found nothing.

12:6 advanced. Literally, “made,” in the sense that they were appointed to their roles by God.

12:10 Baalim and Ashtaroth. The plurals of the Canaanite gods Baal (the supreme male deity) and Ashtoreth (the chief female deity). See note at 7:4.

12:11 Bedan. An alternate designation for Barak (Judg. 4–5).

12:14–15 Samuel echoes the warning of Moses (Lev. 26:1–13; Deut. 28:1–14).

12:17 wheat harvest. This usually took place in the very dry months, but the Lord would send thunder and rain now when it was least expected.

12:18 feared the LORD AND SAMUEL. See the similar response in Ex. 14:31.

12:21 vain. Futile.

12:23 God forbid. Literally, “far be it from me.”

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 12

1. Samuel declares to the people that he would not hold their sin against them, he would not cease to pray for them, and he would teach them the good way (vv. 20,23). In considering this, do we not see a far greater One than Samuel who intercedes on our behalf? What a blessing it is to know that though we have sinned against Christ, He never ceases to remember us in mercy, He pleads with the Father on our behalf, and He teaches us the good way through His Word and by His Spirit.

How are you consciously exercising faith in Christ in all of these?

2. It is a sad failing in many of us that there are times when we are prone to dwell upon the disappointments and miseries of life rather than upon the many blessings that we receive from the Lord's merciful hand. Samuel could have wallowed in self-pity at the passing of his judgeship and the failure of his sons, but instead he said, "Consider how great things he [the Lord] hath done for you" (v. 24). The greatest thing is that Christ suffered and died that we might be redeemed through the shedding of His precious blood. Let us consider this and give Him all the glory, that our hearts may rejoice even in tribulation.

Saul's Rebellion and Jonathan's Faith (1 Sam. 13:1—15:35)

Chapter 13: Saul enters into conflict with the Philistines, impatiently offers sacrifices, and suffers rebuke from Samuel, who declares the demise of his kingdom.

13:1 Saul reigned one year. Literally, "Saul was a son of a year in his reigning." Although this is often an idiom to designate age, the reference here is to the duration of his kingship prior to his conflict with the Philistines.

13:4 was had in abomination. Literally, "had made themselves to stink or be offensive."

13:6 they were in a strait. Literally, "it was hard pressed for them," meaning that they were cramped in, a cause for panic.

13:9–10 Saul takes matters into his own hands and offers a burnt offering. This task was uniquely reserved for the priestly office. salute. Hebrew, "to bless" him, an expression of greeting.

13:14 thy kingdom shall not continue. Saul's obedience could have secured a dynasty, but he forfeited that prospect by disobedience. man after his own heart. A person submitted to the Lord to do God's will (cf. 14:7; Acts 13:22), in contrast to Saul, who did not do what God commanded him. Obedience to God's law is central to kingship (Deut. 17:18–20), for the king sits as God's representative, mediating His authority, not exercising any of his own.

13:15 gat him up. He went up.

13:17 spoilers. Those who destroy or ruin.

13:19 smith. Craftsman.

13:20 share . . . coulter . . . mattock. Digging tools of a farmer, such as a hoe or the blade of a plough (v. 21).

13:21 they had a file. The Hebrew could read "there was a charge of a pim," about two-thirds of a shekel. goads. Cattle prods.

13:23 passage. Mountain pass or gorge.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 13

Waiting is often one of the most difficult tests of faith. Impatience can result in rash acts that dishonor the Lord. From impatience came the golden calf (Ex. 32:1). Here it was Saul's impatience in waiting for Samuel that led to his infringing on the priestly office, a most serious offense for kings (2 Chron. 26:16–21). In Christ these functions would merge. Saul's impatience warranted severe consequences: only two years into his reign and the prospect of a dynasty was gone. Waiting time is never wasted time, as it increases our sense of dependence on the Lord. Those who wait on the Lord will never be disappointed with the Lord and His timing (Ps. 37:7–11; Isa. 40:31).

Let us learn from Israel's and Saul's impatience that God's timing is best and that we can trust Him completely.

Chapter 14: Jonathan infiltrates the Philistine camp, unknowingly violates Saul's prohibition against eating, and is spared death by the intervention of the people.

14:2 tarried. Stayed; literally, "sat."

14:3 Ahiah . . . the son of Eli. Ironically, the rejected line of priests (2:31–35) is with Saul, who had just been denied a dynasty (13:14). ephod. A priestly garment, an embroidered cape worn over the shoulders (Ex. 28).

14:4 passages. Mountain passes, gorges, or ravines.

14:5 forefront. The Hebrew word is "tooth," referring to a crag.

14:6 these uncircumcised. A common designation for the Philistines, identifying them as outside God's covenant. it may be. The Hebrew means "perhaps," expressing faith without presumption. there is no restraint. Literally, "nonexistence of an impediment or limitation." Nothing can hinder God from doing what He chooses to do (Gen. 18:14; Jer. 32:17).

14:8 discover ourselves. Reveal or disclose ourselves (v. 11).

14:12 shew you a thing. Literally, "make you know something." A cocky statement like, "We will teach you a lesson you won't soon forget."

14:15 trembling. Panic. very great trembling. Literally, "quaking of God." The Lord's intervention by sending an earthquake contributed directly to Jonathan's victory.

14:16 the multitude melted . . . beating down. Literally, "the multitude moved back and forth and they went even hither," a picture of total confusion as in the panic they did not know where to go.

14:20 discomfiture. Consternation and panic, as the Philistines were fighting one another.

14:21 Hebrews . . . Israelites. In the Old Testament the terms are not identical. Abraham was called a Hebrew long before there was Israel (Gen. 14:13). Here, some of the Hebrews changed sides from the Philistines to the Israelites; they were apparently transients with no national loyalty who served as mercenaries. In time, the terms overlapped (Phil. 3:5).

14:24 adjured. Put under oath.

14:25 wood. Thicket or forest.

14:27 his eyes were enlightened. An idiom meaning that he was refreshed or rejuvenated (v. 29).

14:28 straitly charged . . . with an oath. He certainly made the people swear. faint. Became tired (v. 31).

14:30 Literally, "Surely indeed, would that the people had certainly eaten today."

14:32 flew. Literally, "darted greedily or swooped down with a shriek." A vivid image depicting desperation, as evidenced in the people's violation of Levitical law by eating the blood (Lev. 19:26).

14:33–34 great stone. Place to slay the animals so the blood could properly drain.

14:41 Give a perfect lot. Literally, "give a correct, completely clear answer."

14:45 wrought. Done or accomplished. God forbid. Literally, "far from it" or "far be it."

14:47 vexed. The Hebrew word means "to declare guilty" and has the sense here of inflicting punishment.

14:48 spoiled them. Plundered them.

14:52 sore. Severe or hot.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 14

1. The situation looked hopeless for Israel, but Jonathan looked beyond the circumstances to the Lord. Like Caleb, his confidence was in God (Num. 13:30; 14:6–9). He knew the Lord could "save by many or by few" (1 Sam. 14:6). What an encouragement Jonathan ought to be to us in our service to the Lord. His faith and love raised him above any anxious cares. His first concern was for the honor of the Lord. By God's grace, let us strive to uphold this same principle, by "looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith" (Heb. 12:2). How can we grow in such a faith?
2. Saul issued a very foolish command that his army should not eat until the Philistines were defeated. It was a command that God had not required, and it nearly cost Jonathan his life because he was unaware of the oath (v. 27). It is of vital importance that Christians never seek to impose upon the Lord's people those things that God has not insisted upon. Too many in the professing church seek to turn their own ideas into biblical commands. Let us never make a personal preference into a precept.

Chapter 15: Saul's incomplete obedience regarding the slaughter of the Amalekites seals his rejection as king.

15:1–3 I remember that which Amalek did to Israel. See Ex. 17:8–16; Deut. 25:17–19. God's delay in the execution of justice does not diminish its certainty.

15:3 utterly destroy. To put under a ban, to devote to the Lord for His disposal—the root "accursed" used regarding Jericho (Josh. 6:17,21). Saul was to be the instrument of execution, but God was the judge.

15:6 Kenites. See Ex. 18:9,10,19; Num. 10:29,31–32; Judg. 1:16; 4:11.

15:9 fatlings. The young rams fattened for slaughter. vile and refuse. Despised and weak. They devoted to the Lord what they regarded as worthless and kept the best for themselves.

15:11 It repenteth me. The Hebrew word can mean repenting of one's own sins (impossible for God); finding comfort (inappropriate in this context); or here, God feeling sorrow over man's sins (Isa. 63:10) and reversing His former course of action (2 Sam. 24:16; Jonah 4:2) in appointing Saul as king, just as He had grieved over the sin of mankind and reversed His act of creating them by destroying them with the flood (Gen. 6:5–7). it grieved. Literally "it was hot to," an idiom designating anger. God's displeasure at the treason of His king was humanly imaged by Samuel's anger and sadness (1 Sam. 15:35). This is anthropopathism, human emotion figuratively applied to God to help us understand His infinite wrath against sin.

15:19 fly. Dart greedily or swoop down with a shriek.

15:22 External religious rituals cannot substitute for trust and obedience (Hos. 6:6; Mic. 6:7–8; Mark 12:33).

15:23 witchcraft. Divination.

15:27 skirt of his mantle. Hem of his sleeveless cloak or cape.

15:29 repent. The same word as in vv. 11,35. By saying that God both repents and cannot repent, the text is making a subtle but important distinction about God and change. God's relationships change and His course of action changes because His creatures change over time (see note at v. 11). However, God's nature and plans never change, for he is not a man but God (Num. 23:19; Ps. 33:10–11; James

1:17). Even the fall of Saul was in His plan, for He had ordained beforehand that kingship would belong to the tribe of Judah (Gen. 49:10). Therefore, his rejection of wicked Saul as king was final. God's unchanging nature and plan are the reason He is the Strength of Israel, the eternal victory of His covenant people (Mal. 3:6).

15:32 delicately. The Hebrew term is uncertain, having either the idea of coming in fetters with trembling or coming calmly. However he came, his assessment that the threat of death was gone was ill founded.

15:33 hewed. Chopped.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 15

1. God's dealing with the Amalekites illustrates how slow God is to express His anger, and yet how certain it is that His judgment will fall on the wicked (Nah. 1:3). God had announced in Ex. 17:14 that He would destroy the Amalekites because of their wicked attack upon Israel as they traveled through the wilderness. Many years had passed, evidencing the patience of God. But God had not forgotten, and the sin of Amalek had now come to full fruition; their judgment was impending. Sinners often interpret the delay of justice as evidence of God's inability to judge (Ps. 94:5–11; Ezek. 12:21–25; 2 Peter 3:4–7). Rather, the patient goodness of God is designed to lead to repentance (Rom. 2:3–4). How has God been patient with you? How should you repent thoroughly of your sins?
2. The mere outward expression of worship, without the engaging of the heart, means nothing to God. Saul had disobeyed the Lord and had tried to appease Him through the sacrifice. The Lord requires and delights in the submission of the human will to His Word: "Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice" (v. 22). Obedience demonstrates our love for God (Ex. 20:6; John 14:21). Through His obedience our Lord Jesus Christ saved sinners and brought them to eternal joy in God (Ps. 40:6–8; Matt. 26:42; John 4:34; 6:38–40; 17:4; Rom. 5:19; Phil. 2:8). Therefore, love obedience, delight in obedience, treasure obedience, and pursue full obedience by the grace of Christ.

THE VICTORIES AND PERSECUTION OF DAVID (1 SAM. 16:1—26:25)

Chapter 16: The Lord directs Samuel to Bethlehem to anoint David as king, after which David providentially is brought into Saul's special service.

David's Anointing as King and Enlisting to Serve Saul (1 Sam. 16:1–23)

16:1 horn. Animal horn, used to store liquids (v. 13). I have provided me a king. Literally, "I have seen for myself a king," in the sense of giving attention to fulfilling His purposes (Gen. 22:8,14).

16:2 This is not a lie; God is incapable of lying (15:29). However, honesty does not require telling everything we know or intend, especially to dangerous enemies.

16:7 countenance. Appearance. the outward appearance. Literally, "the eyes," referring to what can be seen.

16:11 we will not sit down. Literally, "we will not encircle," referring to sitting around the table to dine.

16:12 ruddy. A reddish complexion evidencing health. withal of a beautiful countenance. Literally, "as well as fairness of eyes." goodly to look to. Literally, "good of appearance."

16:13 The oil was symbolic of the Holy Spirit, who empowered David for his service (see note at 10:6). The Spirit of the LORD came upon DAVID. The Hebrew has the idea of rushing upon.

16:14–15 The Spirit of the LORD departed from SAUL. He was no longer divinely empowered to function in his anointed role as king. evil spirit from the LORD. Either Saul's own spirit (inner being), which tormented him for his sins, or a demonic spirit that God sent as punishment upon the wicked king (cf. Judg. 9:23–24; 2 Kings 22:19–23).

16:16 cunning player. Skilled player (v. 18). That music could soothe suggests that the evil spirit was Saul's own troubled inner self.

16:18 prudent in matters. Skillful with words or speech.

16:23 so Saul was refreshed. Literally, "it became wide for Saul," meaning that he was relieved from the weight that had been pressing in on him.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 16

1. Man looks on the outside, but God looks on the inside (v. 7). This should produce sobriety and the fear of the Lord (Prov. 15:11; 16:2; Heb. 4:13). It ought to be our constant desire and prayer that as the Lord looks at us He will see nothing that displeases Him (Pss. 17:3; 139:23–24). But man's looking on the outside ought to be a motive for proper living as well, since trees are known by their fruit (Matt. 7:16–20). As Christians we should strive to live before men bearing fruit in such a way that evidences that we are united to Christ, the vine (John 15:5).
2. That Saul's troubled soul could be soothed by David's harp suggests something about the inherent power of music to affect the person even apart from its words. Music is often the instrument of Satan to arouse passions and behaviors that are destructive to self and society. On the other hand, music is a means of praising and worshiping God and can direct our hearts heavenward. Let us be careful therefore not to listen to music that incites the works of the flesh, like sensuality and anger, but instead to listen to music that helps us to think, feel, and act for the glory of God.

Chapter 17: David accepts Goliath's defiant challenge and slays the giant, resulting in Israel's routing of the Philistines.

Saul's Failure and David's Victory by Faith (1 Sam. 17:1–54)

17:2 set the battle in array. Line up for battle (vv. 8,21).

17:4 six cubits and a span. Over nine feet tall.

17:5 brass. Bronze. coat of mail. Literally, "a body armor of scales," because its construction resembled fish scales. five thousand shekels of brass. About 110 pounds of bronze.

17:6 greaves. Shin protectors, probably made of metal or hardened leather. target . . . between his shoulders. A dagger or javelin slung over the shoulders.

17:7 six hundred shekels. About thirteen pounds.

17:8 servants to Saul. Goliath implicitly challenges Saul, himself a tall man (9:2), but the king of Israel failed to lead Israel by faith (17:11).

17:12–18 David appears as an insignificant figure, a young shepherd sent on an errand to his brothers. But God saw his heart and had anointed him with the Spirit to lead Israel (16:7,12–13). Christ also came humbly, but anointed with the Spirit (Isa. 42:1).

17:17 ephah. Dry measure almost equivalent to a bushel.

17:20 trench. The entrenchment or perhaps a ring of wagons.

17:22 carriage. Vessels or equipment. saluted. Asked regarding one's welfare.

17:24 sore. Very.

17:26 defy the armies of the living God. Other men saw Goliath as an invincible warrior defying Israel (vv. 10,25), but by faith David saw him as a man outside of God's covenant blessing (uncircumcised), mocking the true and sovereign Lord (vv. 36,45).

17:28 kindled. Burned. naughtiness. Wickedness. David's family did not celebrate his faith but despised him, just as Christ would be despised and rejected by men (Isa. 49:7; 53:3).

17:29 Is there not a cause? Literally, "Is it not a word?" David defends himself against Eliab's accusation by saying, "I'm only asking a question."

17:31 rehearsed. Told.

17:34 David was a shepherd who risked his life to fight for the sheep, an image of what a king should be (Ps. 78:70–72) and a type of Christ (John 10:11–14).

17:35 beard. Could refer to the side whiskers or lower jaw.

17:38 helmet of brass . . . coat of mail. Same words used of Goliath's armor (v. 5). Saul was like Goliath in that he relied on human resources.

17:39 girded. Secured with a belt or band, encircled. assayed to go. Attempted to walk. not proved. Not tried or tested.

17:40 scrip. Pouch. sling. Weapon that hurled stones with great force (Judg. 20:16; 1 Chron. 12:2).

17:43 staves. Staffs.

17:45–47 David's faith was not in weapons but in the greatness (name) of the Lord. The anointed king fought by God's grace and for His glory, that all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel (Ex. 9:16; Josh. 4:24; 1 Kings 8:43; 18:36; 2 Kings 19:19).

17:48 hasted, and ran. Ran quickly.

17:49–51 he fell upon his face to the earth. . . . cut off his head. David did to Goliath what the ark of the Lord had done to the Philistine god, Dagon (5:1–5). The king's victory was not merely over wicked men but over the evil spiritual powers behind them (17:43; cf. Col. 2:15).

17:53 spoiled. Plundered. The victory of God's anointed is the victory of all His people.

Saul's Jealousy and Jonathan's Loyalty to David (1 Sam. 17:55—20:42)

17:55–58 There is some tension between Saul's ignorance about David's family here and the earlier account of David's entrance into Saul's service as a musician and armor-bearer (16:18–23). It is possible that the earlier account overlaps the events of ch. 17 to some extent, summarizing events that took place before or after the defeat of Goliath. However, two factors also make Saul's questions understandable even if David already served in his court. First, Saul did not ask for David's name but his father's name; as king he may not have remembered all the family connections of his court servants. Second, Saul's mind had been afflicted by the "evil spirit from the Lord" (16:14), and he would act increasingly irrational as time progressed. Thus his thinking and memory may have been muddled.

17:55 whose son is this youth? The question is important because Saul had promised that the father's household of whoever defeated Goliath would be free from taxation (v. 25).

17:56 stripling. Youth.

17:58 son of thy servant. Though the triumphant hero of Israel, David answered the king humbly and respectfully.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 17

1. The conflict between David and Goliath is a microcosm of the conflict between the two seeds, the seed of the woman, Christ, and the seed of the serpent (Gen. 3:15). Since David was in the line of Christ, his death at this time would have put the messianic promise in jeopardy. But against all odds, for Goliath had every natural advantage, God gave David the victory and advanced the promise leading to the fullness of time when Christ came. The hostility continues, and it often seems as though the advantage belongs to the serpent. But God's redemptive purpose in Christ is certain, and Christ's church and kingdom will advance regardless of the opposition. The King greater than David will keep on slaying the enemies greater than Goliath until every enemy is placed under His feet (Ps. 110:1–2). How do you need to look to Christ for victory over sin and Satan today?
2. Reflecting on past victories from the Lord fuels faith for the next battle, which will certainly come. God enabled David to slay the lion and the bear, and he believed that God would likewise enable him to slay the giant. The God of the past is the God of the present. How much easier our own trials would be if we would remember this principle! Were there not many times in the past when God delivered you from situations that would otherwise have defeated you and brought you down? Then why will He not do the same in your present difficulties? Christian, remember and take hold of this thought: "The LORD is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The LORD is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?" (Ps. 27:1).

Chapter 18: Jealousy over David's popularity causes Saul to plot against his life.

18:1 knit. The Hebrew means "to bind oneself," in the sense of committing oneself, as himself (v. 3).

18:3 made a covenant. Literally, "cut a covenant," the common expression for initiating a covenant, a mutually binding agreement, here between equal parties.

18:4 stripped himself of the robe. Jonathan's giving David his royal robe and weapons indicates his acknowledgment that David will be king. girdle. Belt.

18:5 whithersoever. Wherever. behaved himself wisely. Literally, "achieved success" or "prospered" (vv. 14,30).

18:6 tabrets. Small drums or tambourines.

18:8 wroth. Angry.

18:9 eyed. The Hebrew means "treated with suspicion."

18:10 morrow. The following day. evil spirit from God. See note at 16:14–15. David played with his hand. Played the harp with his hands.

18:11 avoided out of his presence. Literally, David "turned in a circle from him," evading the attack.

18:21 Saul said to David . . . in the one of the twain. Literally, "Saul said to David the second time."

18:24 On this manner. Literally, "according to these words."

18:26 the days were not expired. Perhaps referring to "this day" of v. 21. David did not delay in fulfilling Saul's dowry demands.

18:27 they gave them in full tale. Literally, "they completed them," presenting the total amount.

18:30 his name was much set by. He was highly esteemed.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 18

1. David and Jonathan exemplify the beauty of friendship (Prov. 17:17; 18:24). They enjoyed a bond of love and loyalty that transcended even blood relation. This was evidenced throughout their lives and by David even after Jonathan's death (2 Sam. 9:1). The bond subdued envy and endured even at personal risk. Today the idea of friendship has been reduced to refer to mere acquaintances who share little in common. Christians should seek out good friends for mutual accountability and edification. We should, likewise, rejoice that in the ideal sense we have the Friend who by virtue of His covenant is closer to us than anyone else could be.
2. Desire for self-glory rather than God's glory is always disastrous. Saul and David fought a common enemy in the Philistines; they were both engaged in advancing the kingdom. But because David received accolades for slaying more than he did (v. 7), Saul became envious, bitter, and obsessive against David. All too often in the work of God there is the temptation to look at what others are doing in the church and become envious of their ministries. Those in "small ministries" may turn their attacks against those in "larger ministries" rather than battling the common enemy. As Paul said, some plant and some water, but the increase is God's (1 Cor. 3:6–9). We should learn to be faithful in the service God has given us and rejoice at every advance of the kingdom, even when God places someone besides ourselves in the spotlight.

Chapter 19: David escapes various attempts by Saul to kill him.

19:4 thee-ward. To you.

19:5 he did put his life in his hand. An idiom for risking life.

19:9 the evil spirit. See notes at 16:14. played with his hand. Played the harp with his hands.

19:13 image. The word normally refers to a household idol, but here most likely to collections of rags formed to represent a person. for his bolster. The Hebrew refers to the place at the head (v. 16).

19:21–24 prophesied. Most likely in the sense of praising and giving thanks (1 Chron. 25:3).

19:24 naked. The Hebrew term does not demand total nakedness; he removed his outer garments.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 19

1. That "there was war again" (v. 8) sums up much of the Christian life. No matter how many times David killed some Philistines, they kept showing up as a renewed threat. David could rejoice in past victories, but he could not rest in them. So it is in the battle against self, sin, and Satan. The enemy of holiness is relentless, and we must be on constant guard. We can rejoice that God has given victory over temptations in the past, but we cannot assume that past victory guarantees the next. Such is the nature of sin and our weakness that the same temptations show up over and over. But new victories are possible every time as we rely upon the provision we have in Christ.
2. Although various people came to David's rescue, God was the ultimate deliverer (vv. 20–24). The Spirit of God intervened, turning every threat—even Saul himself—into an instrument of praise. The power of God's Spirit is irresistible (Zech. 4:6–7). So as we fight against sin's dominion, we should do so through the Holy Spirit (Rom. 8:13).

Chapter 20: David and Jonathan devise a plan to discover Saul's intentions regarding David.

20:2 God forbid. Literally, "far from it."

20:5 at meat. Eating food of any sort, but here a reference to mealtime (vv. 24,27,34). the third day at even. Evening of the third day.

20:7 wroth. Angry. evil. Harm (vv. 9,13).

20:8 thou shalt deal kindly. Literally, "you will do lovingkindness." Such was required by the covenant between them; this refers to covenant loyalty (as well as "kindness," vv. 14–15).

20:10 roughly. Harshly or severely.

20:12 sounded. Searched or questioned.

20:30 kindled. Inflamed or burned. confusion. Shame or disgrace.

20:40 artillery. Weapons.

20:41 David exceeded. Literally, "David made great," indicating that he wept more.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 20

1. David's difficulties teach us that God's love and favor do not shield us from the trials and bitter experiences of life. Indeed, God's blessings often promote hostility from the world and enmity from those who are mere professors of Christianity. David's trials were particularly hard to bear because he had been Saul's faithful servant. Yet he could say "weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning" (Ps. 30:5). It is at these very times of trial that we need to rest upon the promises of God. How can trusting that trials are ordained for our good (Rom. 8:28) enable you to rejoice even now in the sorrows you are facing?
2. David's lament "there is but a step between me and death" (v. 3) had pointed bearing on the issues David was facing. Yet it is a statement with universal and timeless relevance. The preacher said, "For man also knoweth not his time . . . when it falleth suddenly upon them" (Eccl. 9:12). The time of death is uncertain, but the fact of it is unavoidable (Heb. 9:27). We are not to morbidly wonder about the day of death, but we are to live in its certainty, knowing that it is only during life that we can get ready for eternity. Awareness of being only a step away, indeed a heartbeat away, from death should generate an urgency in every heart that today is the day of salvation (2 Cor. 6:2).

David's Flight from Saul into the Wilderness (1 Sam. 21:1—26:25)

Chapter 21: Fearful of Saul's determination to kill him, David flees to Ahimelech the priest and then to Achish the Philistine king.

21:2 David tells a lie, the result of being overcome with fear.

21:3 what is under thine hand. What is under your control or supervision (vv. 4,8). what there is present. What is found.

21:4 common bread. Bread for ordinary use. hallowed bread. The holy bread that had been consecrated for the shewbread in the tabernacle (Ex. 25:30), reserved for priestly consumption (Lev. 24:5–9).

21:9 ephod. An embroidered cape hanging from the shoulders and worn by priests. save. Except.

21:12 sore. Greatly.

21:13 feigned himself mad. Pretended to act like a madman. scrabbled. Scribbled or made marks. spittle. Saliva.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 21

1. The Lord Jesus appeals to the episode with the priests' bread to refute and rebuke the Pharisees for their legalism regarding the Sabbath. Christ taught that works of necessity, such as eating, do not violate the spiritual precept of the law (Mark 2:25). David's eating the consecrated bread was out of the norm but necessary. The Lord reminds us that God looks on the heart, which is more important than rigid and heartless conformity to form. It is possible to do things right on the outside, like the Pharisees, without a heart toward the Lord. How can we avoid this?
2. Proverbs 29:25 says that fearing man brings a snare. This episode in David's career illustrates this truth; he feared Saul and Achish (1 Sam. 21:10,12). That fear led to foolish and sinful behavior, including a lie to the priest and trying to find safety with the enemy. Given the circumstances, David's fear was understandable, for his life was indeed under threat, but his actions were inexcusable. Proverbs 29:25 also says that the one who trusts the Lord will be safe. There were times and there would be times in the future when David's trust and fear of the Lord, instead of his circumstances, overwhelmed him (Ps. 31:13–16; 112:7). David learned his lesson even in this particular situation (see Ps. 34:4 and its superscription). We all should follow his counsel and "fear the LORD . . . for there is no want to them that fear him" (Ps. 34:8,9).

Chapter 22: David escapes to the wilderness, but his lie to Ahimelech results in the massacre of eighty-five priests.

22:4 the hold. A mountain stronghold or fortress (v. 5).

22:8 hath made a league. Literally, "has cut," an abbreviated idiom for making a covenant. there is none . . . that is sorry for me. None feels my pain. Saul was feeling sorry for himself and wanted sympathy from others.

22:10 victuals. Food, specifically provisions for a journey.

22:18 fourscore and five. Eighty-five. ephod. Embroidered cape of the priests.

22:19 sucklings. Infants.

22:23 in safeguard. Kept safe.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 22

1. Some things are hard to understand, especially when evil runs riot and innocent blood is shed. Yet even in this God is working out His purposes; even the "wrath of man" will praise the Lord (Ps. 76:10). The slaughter of the priests was a fulfillment of God's word of judgment against them (1 Sam. 2:31–33).
2. The death of the priests also puts in bold the truth that sin has consequences that go beyond the sinner himself. David's lie to Ahimelech may have seemed trivial. At the time, he may well have justified it as a "harmless" sin to help him escape from Saul, yet what terrible consequences resulted. There is actually no such thing as a private sin. Either by consequence or example sin affects others. How have you justified "little" sins in your life? What is the right way to deal with them?

Chapter 23: Regardless of David's defense of Keilah, the Lord reveals that the people of Keilah will betray him to Saul, causing David to flee again to the wilderness.

23:1 rob the threshing floors. Steal the harvested grain.

23:6 ephod. An embroidered priestly garment worn on the shoulders that carried the Urim and Thummin, objects used to determine the will of God (v. 9; Ex. 28:30; Num. 27:21).

23:7 gates and bars. Indicating an enclosed city, the bars referring to the beams used to secure the gates. Saul thought David was trapped.

23:9 Saul secretly practised mischief. Literally, "Saul was plotting or fabricating harm."

23:12 They will deliver thee up. God knows all things possible as well as actual. The Lord is "a God of knowledge" (2:3); His knowledge is infinite (Ps. 147:5; Isa. 40:28).

23:13 forebare to go forth. Refrained from going out.

23:18 made a covenant. The common idiom is literally, "cut a covenant," a mutually binding agreement.

23:19 on the south of Jeshimon. Literally, "from the right of the desert or wilderness," reflecting the ancient map orientation with east at the top and south being on the right side (v. 24).

23:22 where his haunt is. Literally, "where his foot is." he dealeth very subtilly. Literally, "he behaves shrewdly."

23:26 compassed. Surrounded.

23:28 Sela-hammahlekoth. Translated, "the rock of divisions."

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 23

1. David's dealings with Keilah show the importance of discerning and doing the Lord's will in making decisions. David inquired of the Lord through prayer and through the priest who apparently employed the Urim and Thummim, the means God had ordained for discovering His will. He used the means of grace. How important it is to commit matters to the Lord before embarking on any venture, even when we think we know what we should do (Josh. 9:14). The Christian is not an independent agent but rather the servant of Christ. There should be no place for rash action or even calculated reasoning apart from the Lord (Prov. 3:5–6). We should take everything to the Lord, seeking Him in prayer and searching His Word for direction.
2. How wonderful the providences of God are! David and his men were completely surrounded by Saul's forces. He was between the rock and the hard place, with seemingly no way of escape. But at the critical moment the Philistines invaded the land, diverting Saul from his pursuit of David. Ironically, the Philistines David defeated at the beginning of the chapter unknowingly come to his rescue at the end. This intervention gave David the opportunity to escape. Let us therefore take heart when things seem hopeless, "For with God nothing shall be impossible" (Luke 1:37). What situations seem impossible to you now? Take them to the Lord in prayer.

Chapter 24: Saul resumes his pursuit of David, who spares his life as evidence that Saul's suspicions about David are ill founded.

24:3 sheepcotes. Shelters for sheep. cover his feet. An idiom for relieving oneself.

24:4 skirt. The edge or hem of the robe (vv. 5,11). privily. Secretly.

24:5 David's heart smote him. His conscience disturbed him.

24:7 David stayed. Literally, "David sharply reprimanded or restrained the enthusiasm of." suffered them not. Did not allow them.

24:10 some bade me. Literally, "one said."

24:17 rewarded. The Hebrew means "to deal out." evil. Hurt or harm.

24:22 gat them up unto the hold. Literally, they “went up to the mountain stronghold.”

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 24

1. David’s sparing Saul illustrates two important principles: respect for office and reliance on divine justice. Saul had abused the office and on the personal level deserved no respect or honor. But David recognized that Saul was the Lord’s anointed. Heads of government often fail to govern justly, but God’s command is that we are to fear Him and honor the king (1 Peter 2:17). David also shows a willingness to wait upon the Lord rather than take action himself to improve his status or remove the threat to his own life. Vengeance belongs to the Lord (Heb. 10:30), and He will execute justice (Rom. 12:19). The temptation when justice is delayed is to take matters into our own hands, but those who fear God know that ultimately justice prevails (Eccl. 8:11–13). How can you apply this lesson to your life?
2. Saul’s reaction to David’s sparing his life is emotional and seemingly sincere, but only temporary. Saul’s tears were no doubt real. His conscience was sufficiently moved to feel some remorse for his vindictive behavior toward David, yet his sorrow is not that of one who is truly penitent. There is more to true repentance than just being sorry for a particular deed. There is turning from sin to God.

Chapter 25: After the death of Samuel, David encounters Nabal, whose foolish behavior is countered by the wisdom of his wife, who marries David after Nabal’s death.

25:1 And Samuel died. Samuel’s life marked the transition from the formal theocracy to the monarchy; his death marked the end of an era.

25:3 churlish. Rough or rude.

25:10 Who is David? The question is dismissive of David (similar to “Who does David think he is?”).

25:13 Gird. To encircle or secure with a belt. stuff. Equipment.

25:14 to salute. The Hebrew is “to bless.” railed. Shouted or screamed angrily.

25:15 as long as . . . conversant with them. Literally, “all the days we walked around with them.”

25:16 wall. Image of protection, guardianship.

25:17 evil is determined. Harm or calamity has been determined. Belial. See note at 1:16.

25:18 sheep ready dressed. Literally, “sheep which have been done,” which have been to some degree prepared for consumption. parched corn. Roasted grain.

25:20 covert of the hill. Referring to the shelter provided by the hill.

25:21 requited. Returned.

25:22 any that pisseth against the wall. Any males (v. 34).

25:24 thine audience. Literally, “your ear.”

25:25 Nabal means “fool,” and he acts according to his name.

25:26 evil. Harm or hurt.

25:28 a sure house. A confirmed, enduring dynasty (2 Sam. 7:11–12,27).

25:37 his heart died within him. Perhaps a heart attack caused by the shocking report.

25:43 both of them his wives. See note at 1:2.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 25

1. It is significant to note the emphasis that Nabal places on his possessions: he says "my bread, and my water, and my flesh that I have killed" (v. 11, emphasis added). This proud boast of his possessions is similar to the parable Jesus tells where the farmer says "my barns . . . my fruits and my goods" (Luke 12:18, emphasis added). In response to this boasting, we read, "But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided?" (v. 20). Let us never boast of the possessions that God has given us or selfishly keep all for ourselves, but rather let us use such gifts in the Lord's service, as He directs. Nabal was a fool by name and a fool by nature, and the Lord smote him (1 Sam. 25:38). How can we avoid such foolishness in our own lives?
2. In stark contrast to Nabal, what wonderful spiritual qualities we see in Abigail. She typifies the virtuous woman whose "price is far above rubies" (Prov. 31:10), and she uses her God-given gifts to turn David's heart from revenge against her husband and all in his household. She displays wisdom and grace. David came to understand that the hand of God was upon Abigail, and he said, "Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, which sent thee this day to meet me" (1 Sam. 25:32). Let us pray that such spiritual qualities might be seen in us, and let us be quick to rejoice when we find them in others.

Chapter 26: Once again David has opportunity to slay Saul but refrains.

26:5 trench. An entrenchment, perhaps a ring of wagons as a makeshift fortress.

26:7 bolster. The Hebrew is "at the head" or "the head-place" (vv. 11–12,16).

26:8 I will not smite him the second time. Repeating the blow will not be necessary.

26:11–12 cruse. Jug (v. 16). they gat them away. They went from them.

26:24 much set by. Hebrew, "to be great."

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 26

1. Once again Saul is delivered into David's hands, yet once again David is convicted by the Spirit of God not to take Saul's life. Scripture repeats the lesson of 24:1–22 that we might learn from David's example. We must never take matters into our own hands; instead we must wait upon the Lord to vindicate us. Those who wait on the Lord will never be ashamed, for they follow in the footsteps of Christ, who patiently endured suffering while entrusting Himself to a faithful and just Judge (1 Peter 2:19–23; 4:12–19). In what ways are you tempted to take revenge? How can you resist this urge?
2. Toward the end of his life, Saul makes a very sad confession: "I have played the fool, and have erred exceedingly" (v. 21). Tragically, there are many who, like Saul, looking back on their lives must also confess to having played the fool. What a multitude of missed opportunities and failures there can be for such people! What a blessing therefore at the end of our lives if we can say with the Saul (Paul) of the New Testament, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith" (2 Tim. 4:7). May God help us to be like Paul and make an exclamation of triumph rather than a confession of tragedy as King Saul was forced to utter.

THE END OF SAUL AND RISE OF KING DAVID (1 SAM. 27:1—2 SAM. 4:12)

David's Deceptive Sojourn with Achish (1 Sam. 27:1—28:2)

Chapter 27: Convinced that Saul will kill him, David finds refuge with the Philistines.

27:1 David said in his heart. At Keilah David inquired of the Lord (23:1–28); now he talks to himself with disastrous consequences, for the heart is deceitful (Jer. 17:9). coast. Border, or possibly territory.

27:4 David's decision brought the desired result: Saul sought no more. David's plan appeared to be successful, but appearance was not reality.

27:6 pertaineth unto. Belongs to.

27:8–9 the Geshurites, and the Gezrites, and the Amalekites. He fought Israel's historic enemies (Ex. 17:8; Josh. 12:5; 13:2; 16:3) with the zeal of Joshua. Engagement in "the Lord's work" was another apparent justification of his decision. However, the Amalekites would later bring David great trouble (1 Sam. 30:1–31).

27:10 made a road. The Hebrew has the idea of stretching or making a dash toward the plunder. Judah. David's pretending to attack his fellow Israelites dishonored the God of Israel.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 27

1. Failures of faith often come immediately after victories of faith. David's refusal to take personal vengeance on Saul was a high water mark of faith (26:1–25); his consulting with himself and fleeing to Achish was a low point. Notwithstanding the number of times God had preserved him, David convinced himself that sooner or later Saul would succeed. He thought about negative possibilities rather than the certain promises of God. We must never let down our guard and must remember that we are often most susceptible to falling immediately after times of blessing and spiritual victories.
2. In the spiritual realm, appearance and reality are seldom the same. David made a carnal decision, and it appeared from circumstances to be the right move. Saul no longer pursued him, and he was able to engage in kingdom work by fighting against the enemies of God's people. But these ends did not justify the means. Just because something seems to work does not mean it is God's will. It must always be God's Word, rather than circumstances, that governs. We are to walk by faith, not sight.

Chapter 28: The Philistines plan an attack against Israel, and Saul in desperation goes to the witch at En-dor.

28:1 David finds himself in a dilemma as Achish expects him to fight against Israel—the consequence of his bad decision.

28:2 keeper of mine head. Most likely, David's becoming the personal bodyguard.

Saul's Terror and Consulting a Witch (1 Sam. 28:3–25)

28:3 those that had familiar spirits. Those that sought to contact spirits of the dead (vv. 7,9). wizards. Those who sought knowledge of the future through magic. The law of Moses required the punishment of these sins (Lev. 19:31; 20:6,27; Deut. 18:9–14).

28:6 dreams . . . prophets. A typical means by which God revealed His word in the Old Testament era (Heb. 1:1). Using the means of grace, such as prayer (enquired of the LORD), is worthless if one persists in lack of repentance and in unbelief (Prov. 15:8,29).

28:8 raiment. Clothing.

28:12 when the woman saw Samuel. The Lord intervened on this occasion and allowed this, for the woman herself could never have done such a thing.

28:15 Why hast thou disquieted me? Why have you disturbed me? I am sore distressed. Literally, "it is exceedingly cramped for me," in the sense that he is in difficult straits and hard pressed.

28:19 tomorrow shalt thou and thy sons be with me. Saul and his sons would die the next day.

28:20 sore afraid. Feared exceedingly.

28:21 sore troubled. The Hebrew has the idea of being greatly horrified, out of one's senses.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 28

This chapter illustrates the tragic consequences of sin. Saul's public sin started with incomplete obedience to God's command (v. 18) and ended with his blatant violations of God's command. Sin indeed is a slippery slope that leads to a very deep bottom. Saul was pressed down from the outside in and felt the desperation that God had departed from him. He could get no word from the Lord. What a warning this is to listen to God's Word and to keep our accounts with the Lord short so that we can have access to His Word. Child of God, is it not the most wonderful blessing that you were made to hear His voice? How you ought to praise the Lord that He has not left you! Ironically, the chapter begins with David in a most compromising situation. Will David descend the slippery slope? Will you?

David's Release from Achish and War with Amalek (1 Sam. 29:1—30:31)

Chapter 29: God providentially intervenes to prevent David from going to war against his own nation.

29:2 rereward. Literally, "at the last," referring to the rear guard.

29:3 What do these Hebrews here? See note at 14:21. They feared that the same thing would happen again (v. 4).

29:4 princes. Leaders. wroth. Furious.

29:6 the lords favour thee not. Literally, "in the eyes of the governors you are not good."

29:7 that thou displease not. Literally, "that you do not do something bad in the eyes of the governors."

29:8 But what have I done? It appears that David had determined to fight against his own people, the unforeseen consequence of his faithless decision (27:1–2).

29:9 good . . . as an angel of God. These words should have pierced David's conscience, given his lies to Achish.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 29

1. Fearing the threats of Saul and failing to fully trust the Lord, David and his men sought shelter with the Philistines, Israel's enemy. This led to a very difficult situation. They found themselves united with Achish, who would do harm to the Lord's people. Mercifully, providence intervened, and God used the ungodly as His agents to keep David from further sin. They said, "What do these Hebrews here?" (v. 3). A similar question might be asked of those professing Christians who side with the world. Are we not commanded, "Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers" (2 Cor. 6:14)? Christian, where are you standing at present? Let us ensure that we are always on the Lord's side, and with the Lord's people.

2. This chapter wonderfully illustrates the principle set out in 1 Cor. 10:13: "There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it." Perhaps to David's eyes there was no way to extricate himself from the mess he had gotten himself into, but God delivered him. Let us take comfort in this when we find ourselves in wrong situations of our own making, and let us confidently call on the Lord to deliver us.

Chapter 30: David returns to Ziklag to find it burned and plundered by the Amalekites, and then by the help of God recovers the losses.

30:1 smitten. Struck.

30:2 David had killed all the men and women when he raided Amalekite towns (27:8–11), but, surprisingly, the Amalekites killed not one of David's people. This ironically illustrates that sometimes unbelievers can act with more justice and kindness than believers. It also points to the sovereign mercy of God in sparing David even as He disciplined him.

30:3–4 David's seeming wisdom in pretending to serve the Philistines has led to disaster.

30:6 encouraged himself. Literally, "strengthened himself." When our sins bring down horrible consequences, and our friends turn against us, we may still find strength in the Lord by turning to Him in repentance and faith.

30:7 ephod. See notes at 23:6.

30:8 enquired at the LORD. Having experienced the disastrous results of following his own wisdom in unbelief (27:1), David returned to his former practice of seeking the Lord's wisdom through the means of grace (23:2,4,9–12).

30:10 faint. Exhausted.

30:11 found an Egyptian. This "chance" event proved to be a gift of God's all-ruling providence to guide them to their enemies.

30:13 three days agone. Three days ago.

30:14 coast. Border.

30:17 save. Except.

30:18–19 God's mercy was great in allowing David to recover all the people and goods taken from Ziglag, including his wives.

30:20 drave. Drove.

30:21 he saluted them. Literally, "he asked them concerning their welfare."

30:22 Belial. See note at 1:16.

30:24 stuff. Equipment.

30:31 where . . . wont to haunt. Literally, "where David and his men walked around," referring to where they were accustomed to staying.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 30

1. It is very often in times of distress and adversity that we most acknowledge our dependence on God. So it was with David. At Ziklag, God brought him to the end of himself; he lost everything.

However, it is here that David shows himself a true man of God: “David encouraged himself in the Lord his God” (v. 6). What an example David is to us here. When terrible catastrophes come upon us, how easy it is to become overwhelmed with sorrow and grief. Yet if we would know true deliverance and desire spiritual benefit, there can be no better way than to look to the Lord and encourage ourselves in Him. He has promised “I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Matt. 28:20) and assured us of “an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away” (1 Peter 1:4). Let us, then, look to these promises and encourage ourselves in the Lord; then we shall grow in grace and be better fitted for the Master’s service.

2. The two words “recover all” (vv. 8,18–19) constitute a statement of hope. Everything that David lost because of his sin and God’s chastening hand was recovered when he strengthened himself in the Lord and sought to do God’s will. There is hope for the backslider that God will restore him to fellowship and usefulness upon returning to Him. David’s recovering all parallels the equally encouraging promise that God later gives through Joel after the devastation of the locust plague: “and I will restore to you the years that the locust hath eaten” (Joel 2:25). Let us never fail to seek the Lord because He will draw near to those who draw near to Him (James 4:8).

Chapter 31: The Philistines defeat Israel at Gilboa, resulting in the deaths of Saul and his sons.

The Deaths of Saul and His Sons (1 Sam. 31:1–13)

31:2 followed hard. Hebrew means “to pursue closely, to overtake.”

31:3 the battle went sore. Literally, “the battle was heavy.” sore wounded. In severe agony.

31:4 sore. Greatly. Saul took a sword, and fell upon it. The Lord disciplined David unto repentance and renewal of his faith (30:1–31), but Saul died in despair.

31:8 morrow. The following day.

31:9 publish. Announce good news.

31:10 Ashtaroth. Female deity (see 7:3).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 31

1. The narrative of Saul ends tragically with a shameful death in defeat. His life seemed so promising and full of potential but took a disastrous turn with his disobedience. From that moment on it was filled with misery and envy, and his death came in excruciating agony. People debate whether Saul was an unbelieving hypocrite or a backslidden believer, but it is clear that he descended into great depths of spiritual darkness. His life is a sober warning that sin leads to great sorrow, and repentance can never come too soon.
2. On the same day and in the same battle as Saul died, Jonathan also died. His righteous behavior and loyalty to David as God’s anointed did not spare him. Thus, the book ends with a sober reminder that it is appointed unto all men to die and after that the judgment (Heb. 9:27). Death comes to the wise and foolish alike (Ps. 49:10). It is imperative and urgent in the life that remains to be ready for the judgment to come. If you knew you would soon die, what you would do differently? Why not seek God’s grace to change today?

Obedience to God's Will

Obedience to God's will summarizes the duty of Christian religion (Deut. 10:20; 1 Sam. 12:24; Eccl. 12:13). We can identify four areas related to this reasonable service (Rom. 12:1): its foundation or basis, its form or essence, its regulating principle, and its practical manifestation.

First, the foundation for this obedience is the character of God. God possesses within Himself all glory and worthiness to be served (Ps. 119:90–91; Jer. 10:7). His being demands man's subjection to honor and serve Him truly, to devote his entire existence to God. God's character as the foundation does not exclude entirely the works He exercises toward men; rather, it recognizes that the basis for man's obedience is first God's glorious nature that He possesses within Himself, even if there were nothing else. This obligation to obey God's will is effected by God's majesty. Therein lies the basis for man's duty of service to God, for living in dedication to his Maker.

Second, the form or essence of this obedience consists of man's knowledge, recognition, and heartfelt endorsement of this binding obligation: living wholly for God at all times and in all things. This affirmation is best understood as the internal resolve for a life of glorifying God, both by understanding intellectually what is required and by deciding volitionally to live according to the duties demanded by God. With sincere resolution, the believer willingly sacrifices himself to the service of God, proclaiming, "O Lord, truly I am thy servant; I am thy servant" (Ps. 116:16; cf. Isa. 44:5). Further, underlying this commitment is the believer's continual plea to God to "create in me a clean heart, and renew a right spirit within me" (Ps. 51:10). The believer's desire is for all that is void of godliness to be thrown off and all that is suffused with holiness to be taken on.

Third, the regulating principle for obedience to God's will is the revelation of the content of His will in Scripture. It has not been left to man to determine the duties he owes to God (cf. Matt. 15:9); rather, they have been fixed, both positively and negatively. The latter consists of the prohibition of all that lacks conformity to God's standard of holiness. The former refers not only to the letter of the moral law, as expressed in the Ten Commandments and its exposition, but also to its spirit: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbour as thyself" (Luke 10:27; cf. Gal. 5:14). Therein lies what is the "good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God" (Rom. 12:2). Thus, God's will holds demands for the whole of man. This complete standard for obedience has been fleshed out in perfection for imitation—observe the obedient Christ (Heb. 5:8; cf. 1 Cor. 11:1; Eph. 5:1–2; Phil. 2:5–8).

Fourth, the practical manifestation of obedience is both an active agreement with and an execution of the will of God (cf. James 1:22; 2:24). The former denominates the internal act of obedience, for obedience is that which proceeds from a heart offered sincerely to God. The believer continually recalls Christ's words to him: "If ye love me, keep my commandments" (John 14:15; cf. Matt. 7:21; Luke 6:46; John 14:21). Therefore, all that God wills the believer wills, because the will of God is the object of his heart's desire and delight. The believer performs the will of God earnestly from his heart (Eph. 6:6), with joyfulness (Ps. 100:2).

The execution of the will of God describes the outward acts of the believer: an obedience extending to all matters of daily living. This obedience is most commonly known as good works, which God has revealed to us that we may be careful to do them (Deut. 29:29b). Thus, for the believer, pure and undefiled religion can be reduced to its simplest form: "to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world" (James 1:27).

    2. War between the Philistines and an Aging David (2 Sam. 21:15–22)
    3. The Song of David to the Lord (2 Sam. 22:1–51)
    4. David's Last Words (2 Sam. 23:1–7)
    5. David's Mighty Men (2 Sam. 23:8–39)

6. The Tragic Census of Israel (2 Sam. 24:1–25)

THE SECOND BOOK OF

SAMUEL

OTHERWISE CALLED THE SECOND BOOK OF THE KINGS

2 Samuel 1 [†]

1 Now it came to pass after the death of Saul, when David was returned from the slaughter of the Amalekites, and David had abode two days in Ziklag;
2 [†] It came even to pass on the third day, that, behold, a man came out of the camp from Saul with his clothes rent, and earth upon his head: and so it was, when he came to David, that he fell to the earth, and did obeisance.
3 And David said unto him, From whence comest thou? And he said unto him, Out of the camp of Israel am I escaped.
4 And David said unto him, How went the matter? I pray thee, tell me. And he answered, That the people are fled from the battle, and many of the people also are fallen and dead; and Saul and Jonathan his son are dead also.
5 And David said unto the young man that told him, How knowest thou that Saul and Jonathan his son be dead?
6 And the young man that told him said, As I happened by chance upon mount Gilboa, behold, Saul leaned upon his spear; and, lo, the chariots and horsemen followed hard after him.
7 And when he looked behind him, he saw me, and called unto me. And I answered, Here am I.
8 And he said unto me, Who art thou? And I answered him, I am an Amalekite.
9 [†] He said unto me again, Stand, I pray thee, upon me, and slay me: for anguish is come upon me, because my life is yet whole in me.
10 So I stood upon him, and slew him, because I was sure that he could not live after that he was fallen: and I took the crown that was upon his head, and the bracelet that was on his arm, and have brought them hither unto my lord.
11 [†] Then David took hold on his clothes, and rent them; and likewise all the men that were with him:
12 And they mourned, and wept, and fasted until even, for Saul, and for Jonathan his son, and for the people of the Lord, and for the house of Israel; because they were fallen by the sword.
13 [†] ¶ And David said unto the young man that told him, Whence art thou? And he answered, I am the son of a stranger, an Amalekite.
14 And David said unto him, How wast thou not afraid to stretch forth thine hand to destroy the Lord's anointed?
15 And David called one of the young men, and said, Go near, and fall upon him. And he smote him that he died.
16 And David said unto him, Thy blood be upon thy head; for thy mouth hath testified against thee, saying, I have slain the Lord's anointed.
17 ¶ And David lamented with this lamentation over Saul and over Jonathan his son:
18 [†] (Also he bade them teach the children of Judah the use of the bow: behold, it is written in the book of Jasher.)
19 [†] The beauty of Israel is slain upon thy high places: how are the mighty fallen!
20 [†] Tell it not in Gath, publish it not in the streets of Askelon; lest the daughters of the Philistines rejoice, lest the daughters of the uncircumcised triumph.
21 [†] Ye mountains of Gilboa, let there be no dew, neither let there be rain, upon you, nor fields of offerings: for there the shield of the mighty is vilely cast away, the shield of Saul, as though he had not been anointed with oil.
22 [†] From the blood of the slain, from the fat of the mighty, the bow of Jonathan turned not back, and the sword of Saul returned not empty.
23 [†] Saul and Jonathan were lovely and pleasant in their lives, and in their death they were not divided: they were swifter than eagles, they were stronger than lions.

24 [†] Ye daughters of Israel, weep over Saul, who clothed you in scarlet, with other delights, who put on ornaments of gold upon your apparel.
25 How are the mighty fallen in the midst of the battle! O Jonathan, thou wast slain in thine high places.
26 [†] I am distressed for thee, my brother Jonathan: very pleasant hast thou been unto me: thy love to me was wonderful, passing the love of women.
27 [†] How are the mighty fallen, and the weapons of war perished!

2 Samuel 2 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass after this, that David enquired of the Lord, saying, Shall I go up into any of the cities of Judah? And the Lord said unto him, Go up. And David said, Whither shall I go up? And he said, Unto Hebron.
2 So David went up thither, and his two wives also, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess, and Abigail Nabal's wife the Carmelite.
3 [†] And his men that were with him did David bring up, every man with his household: and they dwelt in the cities of Hebron.
4 [†] And the men of Judah came, and there they anointed David king over the house of Judah. And they told David, saying, That the men of Jabesh-gilead were they that buried Saul.
5 [†] ¶ And David sent messengers unto the men of Jabesh-gilead, and said unto them, Blessed be ye of the Lord, that ye have shewed this kindness unto your lord, even unto Saul, and have buried him.
6 [†] And now the Lord shew kindness and truth unto you: and I also will requite you this kindness, because ye have done this thing.
7 Therefore now let your hands be strengthened, and be ye valiant: for your master Saul is dead, and also the house of Judah have anointed me king over them.
8 [†] ¶ But Abner the son of Ner, captain of Saul's host, took Ish-bosheth the son of Saul, and brought him over to Mahanaim;
9 And made him king over Gilead, and over the Ashurites, and over Jezreel, and over Ephraim, and over Benjamin, and over all Israel.
10 Ish-bosheth Saul's son was forty years old when he began to reign over Israel, and reigned two years. But the house of Judah followed David.
11 And the time that David was king in Hebron over the house of Judah was seven years and six months.
12 ¶ And Abner the son of Ner, and the servants of Ish-bosheth the son of Saul, went out from Mahanaim to Gibeon.
13 [†] And Joab the son of Zeruiah, and the servants of David, went out, and met together by the pool of Gibeon: and they sat down, the one on the one side of the pool, and the other on the other side of the pool.
14 [†] And Abner said to Joab, Let the young men now arise, and play before us. And Joab said, Let them arise.
15 Then there arose and went over by number twelve of Benjamin, which pertained to Ish-bosheth the son of Saul, and twelve of the servants of David.
16 [†] And they caught every one his fellow by the head, and thrust his sword in his fellow's side; so they fell down together: wherefore that place was called Helkath-hazzurim, which is in Gibeon.
17 [†] And there was a very sore battle that day; and Abner was beaten, and the men of Israel, before the servants of David.
18 [†] ¶ And there were three sons of Zeruiah there, Joab, and Abishai, and Asahel: and Asahel was as light of foot as a wild roe.
19 And Asahel pursued after Abner; and in going he turned not to the right hand nor to the left from following Abner.
20 Then Abner looked behind him, and said, Art thou Asahel? And he answered, I am.
21 [†] And Abner said to him, Turn thee aside to thy right hand or to thy left, and lay thee hold on one of the young men, and take thee his armour. But Asahel would not turn aside from following of him.
22 And Abner said again to Asahel, Turn thee aside from following me: wherefore should I smite thee to the ground? how then should I hold up my face to Joab thy brother?

23 [†] Howbeit he refused to turn aside: wherefore Abner with the hinder end of the spear smote him under the fifth rib, that the spear came out behind him; and he fell down there, and died in the same place: and it came to pass, that as many as came to the place where Asahel fell down and died stood still.
24 Joab also and Abishai pursued after Abner: and the sun went down when they were come to the hill of Ammah, that lieth before Giah by the way of the wilderness of Gibeon.
25 ¶ And the children of Benjamin gathered themselves together after Abner, and became one troop, and stood on the top of an hill.
26 Then Abner called to Joab, and said, Shall the sword devour for ever? knowest thou not that it will be bitterness in the latter end? how long shall it be then, ere thou bid the people return from following their brethren?
27 And Joab said, As God liveth, unless thou hadst spoken, surely then in the morning the people had gone up every one from following his brother.
28 So Joab blew a trumpet, and all the people stood still, and pursued after Israel no more, neither fought they any more.
29 And Abner and his men walked all that night through the plain, and passed over Jordan, and went through all Bithron, and they came to Mahanaim.
30 And Joab returned from following Abner: and when he had gathered all the people together, there lacked of David's servants nineteen men and Asahel.
31 [†] But the servants of David had smitten of Benjamin, and of Abner's men, so that three hundred and threescore men died.
32 ¶ And they took up Asahel, and buried him in the sepulchre of his father, which was in Beth-lehem. And Joab and his men went all night, and they came to Hebron at break of day.

2 Samuel 3 [†]

1 [†] Now there was long war between the house of Saul and the house of David: but David waxed stronger and stronger, and the house of Saul waxed weaker and weaker.
2 ¶ And unto David were sons born in Hebron: and his firstborn was Amnon, of Ahinoam the Jezreelitess;
3 And his second, Chileab, of Abigail the wife of Nabal the Carmelite; and the third, Absalom the son of Maacah the daughter of Talmai king of Geshur;
4 And the fourth, Adonijah the son of Haggith; and the fifth, Shephatiah the son of Abital;
5 And the sixth, Ithream, by Eglah David's wife. These were born to David in Hebron.
6 ¶ And it came to pass, while there was war between the house of Saul and the house of David, that Abner made himself strong for the house of Saul.
7 And Saul had a concubine, whose name was Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah: and Ish-bosheth said to Abner, Wherefore hast thou gone in unto my father's concubine?
8 [†] Then was Abner very wroth for the words of Ish-bosheth, and said, Am I a dog's head, which against Judah do shew kindness this day unto the house of Saul thy father, to his brethren, and to his friends, and have not delivered thee into the hand of David, that thou chargest me to day with a fault concerning this woman?
9 So do God to Abner, and more also, except, as the Lord hath sworn to David, even so I do to him;
10 [†] To translate the kingdom from the house of Saul, and to set up the throne of David over Israel and over Judah, from Dan even to Beer-sheba.
11 And he could not answer Abner a word again, because he feared him.
12 [†] ¶ And Abner sent messengers to David on his behalf, saying, Whose is the land? saying also, Make thy league with me, and, behold, my hand shall be with thee, to bring about all Israel unto thee.
13 [†] ¶ And he said, Well; I will make a league with thee: but one thing I require of thee, that is, Thou shalt not see my face, except thou first bring Michal Saul's daughter, when thou comest to see my face.
14 And David sent messengers to Ish-bosheth Saul's son, saying, Deliver me my wife Michal, which I espoused to me for an hundred foreskins of the Philistines.
15 And Ish-bosheth sent, and took her from her husband, even from Phaltiel the son of Laish.
16 And her husband went with her along weeping behind her to Bahurim. Then said Abner unto him, Go, return. And he returned.
17 ¶ And Abner had communication with the elders of Israel, saying, Ye sought for David in times past to be king over you:
18 Now then do it: for the Lord hath spoken of David, saying, By the hand of my servant David I will save my people Israel out of the hand of the Philistines, and out of the hand of all their enemies.
19 And Abner also spake in the ears of Benjamin: and Abner went also to speak in the ears of David in Hebron all that seemed good to Israel, and that seemed good to the whole house of Benjamin.
20 [†] So Abner came to David to Hebron, and twenty men with him. And David made Abner and the men that were with him a feast.
21 And Abner said unto David, I will arise and go, and will gather all Israel unto my lord the king, that they may make a league with thee, and that thou mayest reign over all that thine heart desireth. And David sent Abner away; and he went in peace.
22 ¶ And, behold, the servants of David and Joab came from pursuing a troop, and brought in a great spoil with them: but Abner was not with David in Hebron; for he had sent him away, and he was gone in peace.
23 When Joab and all the host that was with him were come, they told Joab, saying, Abner the son of Ner came to the king, and he hath sent him away, and he is gone in peace.

24 [†] Then Joab came to the king, and said, What hast thou done? behold, Abner came unto thee; why is it that thou hast sent him away, and he is quite gone?
25 Thou knowest Abner the son of Ner, that he came to deceive thee, and to know thy going out and thy coming in, and to know all that thou doest.
26 [†] And when Joab was come out from David, he sent messengers after Abner, which brought him again from the well of Sirah: but David knew it not.
27 [†] And when Abner was returned to Hebron, Joab took him aside in the gate to speak with him quietly, and smote him there under the fifth rib, that he died, for the blood of Asahel his brother.
28 [†] ¶ And afterward when David heard it, he said, I and my kingdom are guiltless before the LORD for ever from the blood of Abner the son of Ner:
29 [†] Let it rest on the head of Joab, and on all his father's house; and let there not fail from the house of Joab one that hath an issue, or that is a leper, or that leaneth on a staff, or that falleth on the sword, or that lacketh bread.
30 So Joab and Abishai his brother slew Abner, because he had slain their brother Asahel at Gibeon in the battle.
31 [†] ¶ And David said to Joab, and to all the people that were with him, Rend your clothes, and gird you with sackcloth, and mourn before Abner. And king David himself followed the bier.
32 And they buried Abner in Hebron: and the king lifted up his voice, and wept at the grave of Abner; and all the people wept.
33 And the king lamented over Abner, and said, Died Abner as a fool dieth?
34 [†] Thy hands were not bound, nor thy feet put into fetters: as a man falleth before wicked men, so fellest thou. And all the people wept again over him.
35 [†] And when all the people came to cause David to eat meat while it was yet day, David sware, saying, So do God to me, and more also, if I taste bread, or ought else, till the sun be down.
36 And all the people took notice of it, and it pleased them: as whatsoever the king did pleased all the people.
37 For all the people and all Israel understood that day that it was not of the king to slay Abner the son of Ner.
38 [†] And the king said unto his servants, Know ye not that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel?
39 [†] And I am this day weak, though anointed king; and these men the sons of Zeruiah be too hard for me: the LORD shall reward the doer of evil according to his wickedness.

2 Samuel 4 [†]

1 And when Saul’s son heard that Abner was dead in Hebron, his hands were feeble, and all the Israelites were troubled.
2 And Saul’s son had two men that were captains of bands: the name of the one was Baanah, and the name of the other Rechab, the sons of Rimmon a Beerothite, of the children of Benjamin: (for Beeroth also was reckoned to Benjamin:
3 And the Beerothites fled to Gittaim, and were sojourners there until this day.)
4 [†] And Jonathan, Saul’s son, had a son that was lame of his feet. He was five years old when the tidings came of Saul and Jonathan out of Jezreel, and his nurse took him up, and fled: and it came to pass, as she made haste to flee, that he fell, and became lame. And his name was Mephibosheth.
5 And the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baanah, went, and came about the heat of the day to the house of Ish-bosheth, who lay on a bed at noon.
6 [†] And they came thither into the midst of the house, as though they would have fetched wheat; and they smote him under the fifth rib: and Rechab and Baanah his brother escaped.
7 [†] For when they came into the house, he lay on his bed in his bedchamber, and they smote him, and slew him, and beheaded him, and took his head, and gat them away through the plain all night.
8 And they brought the head of Ish-bosheth unto David to Hebron, and said to the king, Behold the head of Ish-bosheth the son of Saul thine enemy, which sought thy life; and the Lord hath avenged my lord the king this day of Saul, and of his seed.
9 ¶ And David answered Rechab and Baanah his brother, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, and said unto them, As the Lord liveth, who hath redeemed my soul out of all adversity,
10 [†] When one told me, saying, Behold, Saul is dead, thinking to have brought good tidings, I took hold of him, and slew him in Ziklag, who thought that I would have given him a reward for his tidings:
11 [†] How much more, when wicked men have slain a righteous person in his own house upon his bed? shall I not therefore now require his blood of your hand, and take you away from the earth?
12 [†] And David commanded his young men, and they slew them, and cut off their hands and their feet, and hanged them up over the pool in Hebron. But they took the head of Ish-bosheth, and buried it in the sepulchre of Abner in Hebron.

2 Samuel 5 [†]

1 Then came all the tribes of Israel to David unto Hebron, and spake, saying, Behold, we are thy bone and thy flesh.
2 [†] Also in time past, when Saul was king over us, thou wast he that leddest out and broughtest in Israel: and the Lord said to thee, Thou shalt feed my people Israel, and thou shalt be a captain over Israel.
3 [†] So all the elders of Israel came to the king to Hebron; and king David made a league with them in Hebron before the Lord: and they anointed David king over Israel.
4 ¶ David was thirty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years.
5 In Hebron he reigned over Judah seven years and six months: and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty and three years over all Israel and Judah.
6 ¶ And the king and his men went to Jerusalem unto the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land: which spake unto David, saying, Except thou take away the blind and the lame, thou shalt not come in hither: thinking, David cannot come in hither.
7 Nevertheless David took the strong hold of Zion: the same is the city of David.
8 [†] And David said on that day, Whosoever getteth up to the gutter, and smiteth the Jebusites, and the lame and the blind, that are hated of David's soul, he shall be chief and captain. Wherefore they said, The blind and the lame shall not come into the house.
9 [†] So David dwelt in the fort, and called it the city of David. And David built round about from Millo and inward.
10 And David went on, and grew great, and the Lord God of hosts was with him.
11 [†] ¶ And Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and cedar trees, and carpenters, and masons: and they built David an house.
12 And David perceived that the Lord had established him king over Israel, and that he had exalted his kingdom for his people Israel's sake.
13 ¶ And David took him more concubines and wives out of Jerusalem, after he was come from Hebron: and there were yet sons and daughters born to David.
14 [†] And these be the names of those that were born unto him in Jerusalem; Shammua, and Shobab, and Nathan, and Solomon,
15 Ibhar also, and Elishua, and Nepheg, and Japhia,
16 And Elishama, and Eliada, and Eliphalet.
17 [†] ¶ But when the Philistines heard that they had anointed David king over Israel, all the Philistines came up to seek David; and David heard of it, and went down to the hold.
18 The Philistines also came and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim.
19 And David enquired of the Lord, saying, Shall I go up to the Philistines? wilt thou deliver them into mine hand? And the Lord said unto David, Go up: for I will doubtless deliver the Philistines into thine hand.
20 [†] And David came to Baal-perazim, and David smote them there, and said, The Lord hath broken forth upon mine enemies before me, as the breach of waters. Therefore he called the name of that place Baal-perazim.
21 [†] And there they left their images, and David and his men burned them.
22 ¶ And the Philistines came up yet again, and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim.
23 [†] And when David enquired of the Lord, he said, Thou shalt not go up; but fetch a compass behind them, and come upon them over against the mulberry trees.
24 [†] And let it be, when thou hearest the sound of a going in the tops of the mulberry trees, that then thou shalt bestir thyself: for then shall the LORD go out before thee, to smite the host of the Philistines.

25 And David did so, as the LORD had commanded him; and smote the Philistines from Geba until thou come to Gazer.

2 Samuel 6 [†]

1 Again, David gathered together all the chosen men of Israel, thirty thousand.
2 [†] And David arose, and went with all the people that were with him from Baale of Judah, to bring up from thence the ark of God, whose name is called by the name of the Lord of hosts that dwelleth between the cherubims.
3 [†] And they set the ark of God upon a new cart, and brought it out of the house of Abinadab that was in Gibeah: and Uzzah and Ahio, the sons of Abinadab, drave the new cart.
4 And they brought it out of the house of Abinadab which was at Gibeah, accompanying the ark of God: and Ahio went before the ark.
5 [†] And David and all the house of Israel played before the Lord on all manner of instruments made of fir wood, even on harps, and on psalteries, and on timbrels, and on cornets, and on cymbals.
6 [†] ¶ And when they came to Nachon's threshingfloor, Uzzah put forth his hand to the ark of God, and took hold of it; for the oxen shook it.
7 [†] And the anger of the Lord was kindled against Uzzah; and God smote him there for his error; and there he died by the ark of God.
8 [†] And David was displeased, because the Lord had made a breach upon Uzzah: and he called the name of the place Perez-uzzah to this day.
9 And David was afraid of the Lord that day, and said, How shall the ark of the Lord come to me?
10 [†] So David would not remove the ark of the Lord unto him into the city of David: but David carried it aside into the house of Obed-edom the Gittite.
11 And the ark of the Lord continued in the house of Obed-edom the Gittite three months: and the Lord blessed Obed-edom, and all his household.
12 [†] ¶ And it was told king David, saying, The Lord hath blessed the house of Obed-edom, and all that pertaineth unto him, because of the ark of God. So David went and brought up the ark of God from the house of Obed-edom into the city of David with gladness.
13 [†] And it was so, that when they that bare the ark of the Lord had gone six paces, he sacrificed oxen and fatlings.
14 [†] And David danced before the Lord with all his might; and David was girded with a linen ephod.
15 So David and all the house of Israel brought up the ark of the Lord with shouting, and with the sound of the trumpet.
16 And as the ark of the Lord came into the city of David, Michal Saul's daughter looked through a window, and saw king David leaping and dancing before the Lord; and she despised him in her heart.
17 [†] ¶ And they brought in the ark of the Lord, and set it in his place, in the midst of the tabernacle that David had pitched for it: and David offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before the Lord.
18 And as soon as David had made an end of offering burnt offerings and peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the Lord of hosts.
19 [†] And he dealt among all the people, even among the whole multitude of Israel, as well to the women as men, to every one a cake of bread, and a good piece of flesh, and a flagon of wine. So all the people departed every one to his house.
20 [†] ¶ Then David returned to bless his household. And Michal the daughter of Saul came out to meet David, and said, How glorious was the king of Israel to day, who uncovered himself to day in the eyes of the handmaids of his servants, as one of the vain fellows shamelessly uncovereth himself!
21 And David said unto Michal, It was before the Lord, which chose me before thy father, and before all his house, to appoint me ruler over the people of the Lord, over Israel: therefore will I play before the Lord.

22 [†] And I will yet be more vile than thus, and will be base in mine own sight: and of the maidservants which thou hast spoken of, of them shall I be had in honour.
23 Therefore Michal the daughter of Saul had no child unto the day of her death.

2 Samuel 7 [†]

(see article: The Son of David)

1 [†] And it came to pass, when the king sat in his house, and the Lord had given him rest round about from all his enemies;
2 [†] That the king said unto Nathan the prophet, See now, I dwell in an house of cedar, but the ark of God dwelleth within curtains.
3 [†] And Nathan said to the king, Go, do all that is in thine heart; for the Lord is with thee.
4 ¶ And it came to pass that night, that the word of the Lord came unto Nathan, saying,
5 Go and tell my servant David, Thus saith the Lord, Shalt thou build me an house for me to dwell in?
6 Whereas I have not dwelt in any house since the time that I brought up the children of Israel out of Egypt, even to this day, but have walked in a tent and in a tabernacle.
7 In all the places wherein I have walked with all the children of Israel spake I a word with any of the tribes of Israel, whom I commanded to feed my people Israel, saying, Why build ye not me an house of cedar?
8 [†] Now therefore so shalt thou say unto my servant David, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, I took thee from the sheepcote, from following the sheep, to be ruler over my people, over Israel:
9 And I was with thee whithersoever thou wentest, and have cut off all thine enemies out of thy sight, and have made thee a great name, like unto the name of the great men that are in the earth.
10 Moreover I will appoint a place for my people Israel, and will plant them, that they may dwell in a place of their own, and move no more; neither shall the children of wickedness afflict them any more, as beforetime,
11 [†] And as since the time that I commanded judges to be over my people Israel, and have caused thee to rest from all thine enemies. Also the Lord telleth thee that he will make thee an house.
12 [†] ¶ And when thy days be fulfilled, and thou shalt sleep with thy fathers, I will set up thy seed after thee, which shall proceed out of thy bowels, and I will establish his kingdom.
13 [†] He shall build an house for my name, and I will stablish the throne of his kingdom for ever.
14 [†] I will be his father, and he shall be my son. If he commit iniquity, I will chasten him with the rod of men, and with the stripes of the children of men:
15 [†] But my mercy shall not depart away from him, as I took it from Saul, whom I put away before thee.
16 And thine house and thy kingdom shall be established for ever before thee: thy throne shall be established for ever.
17 According to all these words, and according to all this vision, so did Nathan speak unto David.
18 [†] ¶ Then went king David in, and sat before the Lord, and he said, Who am I, O Lord God? and what is my house, that thou hast brought me hitherto?
19 And this was yet a small thing in thy sight, O Lord God; but thou hast spoken also of thy servant's house for a great while to come. And is this the manner of man, O Lord God?
20 [†] And what can David say more unto thee? for thou, Lord God, knowest thy servant.
21 For thy word's sake, and according to thine own heart, hast thou done all these great things, to make thy servant know them.
22 [†] Wherefore thou art great, O Lord God: for there is none like thee, neither is there any God beside thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears.
23 [†] And what one nation in the earth is like thy people, even like Israel, whom God went to redeem for a people to himself, and to make him a name, and to do for you great things and terrible, for thy land, before thy people, which thou redeemedst to thee from Egypt, from the nations and their gods?

24 For thou hast confirmed to thyself thy people Israel to be a people unto thee for ever: and thou, LORD, art become their God.
25 [†] And now, O LORD God, the word that thou hast spoken concerning thy servant, and concerning his house, establish it for ever, and do as thou hast said.
26 And let thy name be magnified for ever, saying, The LORD of hosts is the God over Israel: and let the house of thy servant David be established before thee.
27 For thou, O LORD of hosts, God of Israel, hast revealed to thy servant, saying, I will build thee an house: therefore hath thy servant found in his heart to pray this prayer unto thee.
28 And now, O Lord GOD, thou art that God, and thy words be true, and thou hast promised this goodness unto thy servant:
29 Therefore now let it please thee to bless the house of thy servant, that it may continue for ever before thee: for thou, O Lord GOD, hast spoken it: and with thy blessing let the house of thy servant be blessed for ever.

2 Samuel 8 [†]

1 And after this it came to pass, that David smote the Philistines, and subdued them: and David took Metheg-ammah out of the hand of the Philistines.
2 [†] And he smote Moab, and measured them with a line, casting them down to the ground; even with two lines measured he to put to death, and with one full line to keep alive. And so the Moabites became David's servants, and brought gifts.
3 [†] ¶ David smote also Hadadezer, the son of Rehob, king of Zobah, as he went to recover his border at the river Euphrates.
4 [†] And David took from him a thousand chariots, and seven hundred horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen: and David houghed all the chariot horses, but reserved of them for an hundred chariots.
5 [†] And when the Syrians of Damascus came to succour Hadadezer king of Zobah, David slew of the Syrians two and twenty thousand men.
6 Then David put garrisons in Syria of Damascus: and the Syrians became servants to David, and brought gifts. And the Lord preserved David whithersoever he went.
7 And David took the shields of gold that were on the servants of Hadadezer, and brought them to Jerusalem.
8 [†] And from Betah, and from Berothai, cities of Hadadezer, king David took exceeding much brass.
9 ¶ When Toi king of Hamath heard that David had smitten all the host of Hadadezer,
10 [†] Then Toi sent Joram his son unto king David, to salute him, and to bless him, because he had fought against Hadadezer, and smitten him: for Hadadezer had wars with Toi. And Joram brought with him vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and vessels of brass:
11 [†] Which also king David did dedicate unto the Lord, with the silver and gold that he had dedicated of all nations which he subdued;
12 Of Syria, and of Moab, and of the children of Ammon, and of the Philistines, and of Amalek, and of the spoil of Hadadezer, son of Rehob, king of Zobah.
13 [†] And David gat him a name when he returned from smiting of the Syrians in the valley of salt, being eighteen thousand men.
14 ¶ And he put garrisons in Edom; throughout all Edom put he garrisons, and all they of Edom became David's servants. And the Lord preserved David whithersoever he went.
15 [†] And David reigned over all Israel; and David executed judgment and justice unto all his people.
16 [†] And Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the host; and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder;
17 [†] And Zadok the son of Ahitub, and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar, were the priests; and Seraiah was the scribe;
18 [†] And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over both the Cherethites and the Pelethites; and David's sons were chief rulers.

2 Samuel 9 [†]

1 [†] And David said, Is there yet any that is left of the house of Saul, that I may shew him kindness for Jonathan's sake?
2 And there was of the house of Saul a servant whose name was Ziba. And when they had called him unto David, the king said unto him, Art thou Ziba? And he said, Thy servant is he.
3 [†] And the king said, Is there not yet any of the house of Saul, that I may shew the kindness of God unto him? And Ziba said unto the king, Jonathan hath yet a son, which is lame on his feet.
4 And the king said unto him, Where is he? And Ziba said unto the king, Behold, he is in the house of Machir, the son of Ammiel, in Lo-debar.
5 ¶ Then king David sent, and fetched him out of the house of Machir, the son of Ammiel, from Lo-debar.
6 [†] Now when Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, was come unto David, he fell on his face, and did reverence. And David said, Mephibosheth. And he answered, Behold thy servant!
7 ¶ And David said unto him, Fear not: for I will surely shew thee kindness for Jonathan thy father's sake, and will restore thee all the land of Saul thy father; and thou shalt eat bread at my table continually.
8 And he bowed himself, and said, What is thy servant, that thou shouldest look upon such a dead dog as I am?
9 ¶ Then the king called to Ziba, Saul's servant, and said unto him, I have given unto thy master's son all that pertained to Saul and to all his house.
10 [†] Thou therefore, and thy sons, and thy servants, shall till the land for him, and thou shalt bring in the fruits, that thy master's son may have food to eat: but Mephibosheth thy master's son shall eat bread alway at my table. Now Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty servants.
11 Then said Ziba unto the king, According to all that my lord the king hath commanded his servant, so shall thy servant do. As for Mephibosheth, said the king, he shall eat at my table, as one of the king's sons.
12 And Mephibosheth had a young son, whose name was Micha. And all that dwelt in the house of Ziba were servants unto Mephibosheth.
13 So Mephibosheth dwelt in Jerusalem: for he did eat continually at the king's table; and was lame on both his feet.

2 Samuel 10 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass after this, that the king of the children of Ammon died, and Hanun his son reigned in his stead.
2 [†] Then said David, I will shew kindness unto Hanun the son of Nahash, as his father shewed kindness unto me. And David sent to comfort him by the hand of his servants for his father. And David's servants came into the land of the children of Ammon.
3 And the princes of the children of Ammon said unto Hanun their lord, Thinkest thou that David doth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters unto thee? hath not David rather sent his servants unto thee, to search the city, and to spy it out, and to overthrow it?
4 [†] Wherefore Hanun took David's servants, and shaved off the one half of their beards, and cut off their garments in the middle, even to their buttocks, and sent them away.
5 When they told it unto David, he sent to meet them, because the men were greatly ashamed: and the king said, Tarry at Jericho until your beards be grown, and then return.
6 [†] ¶ And when the children of Ammon saw that they stank before David, the children of Ammon sent and hired the Syrians of Beth-rehob, and the Syrians of Zoba, twenty thousand footmen, and of king Maacah a thousand men, and of Ish-tob twelve thousand men.
7 And when David heard of it, he sent Joab, and all the host of the mighty men.
8 [†] And the children of Ammon came out, and put the battle in array at the entering in of the gate: and the Syrians of Zoba, and of Rehob, and Ish-tob, and Maacah, were by themselves in the field.
9 [†] When Joab saw that the front of the battle was against him before and behind, he chose of all the choice men of Israel, and put them in array against the Syrians:
10 And the rest of the people he delivered into the hand of Abishai his brother, that he might put them in array against the children of Ammon.
11 And he said, If the Syrians be too strong for me, then thou shalt help me: but if the children of Ammon be too strong for thee, then I will come and help thee.
12 [†] Be of good courage, and let us play the men for our people, and for the cities of our God: and the Lord do that which seemeth him good.
13 [†] And Joab drew nigh, and the people that were with him, unto the battle against the Syrians: and they fled before him.
14 And when the children of Ammon saw that the Syrians were fled, then fled they also before Abishai, and entered into the city. So Joab returned from the children of Ammon, and came to Jerusalem.
15 ¶ And when the Syrians saw that they were smitten before Israel, they gathered themselves together.
16 [†] And Hadarezer sent, and brought out the Syrians that were beyond the river: and they came to Helam; and Shobach the captain of the host of Hadarezer went before them.
17 And when it was told David, he gathered all Israel together, and passed over Jordan, and came to Helam. And the Syrians set themselves in array against David, and fought with him.
18 And the Syrians fled before Israel; and David slew the men of seven hundred chariots of the Syrians, and forty thousand horsemen, and smote Shobach the captain of their host, who died there.
19 And when all the kings that were servants to Hadarezer saw that they were smitten before Israel, they made peace with Israel, and served them. So the Syrians feared to help the children of Ammon any more.

2 Samuel 11 [†]

1 And it came to pass, after the year was expired, at the time when kings go forth to battle, that David sent Joab, and his servants with him, and all Israel; and they destroyed the children of Ammon, and besieged Rabbah. But David tarried still at Jerusalem.
2 [†] ¶ And it came to pass in an eveningtide, that David arose from off his bed, and walked upon the roof of the king's house: and from the roof he saw a woman washing herself; and the woman was very beautiful to look upon.
3 [†] And David sent and enquired after the woman. And one said, Is not this Bath-sheba, the daughter of Eliam, the wife of Uriah the Hittite?
4 [†] And David sent messengers, and took her; and she came in unto him, and he lay with her; for she was purified from her uncleanness: and she returned unto her house.
5 And the woman conceived, and sent and told David, and said, I am with child.
6 ¶ And David sent to Joab, saying, Send me Uriah the Hittite. And Joab sent Uriah to David.
7 [†] And when Uriah was come unto him, David demanded of him how Joab did, and how the people did, and how the war prospered.
8 [†] And David said to Uriah, Go down to thy house, and wash thy feet. And Uriah departed out of the king's house, and there followed him a mess of meat from the king.
9 But Uriah slept at the door of the king's house with all the servants of his lord, and went not down to his house.
10 And when they had told David, saying, Uriah went not down unto his house, David said unto Uriah, Camest thou not from thy journey? why then didst thou not go down unto thine house?
11 [†] And Uriah said unto David, The ark, and Israel, and Judah, abide in tents; and my lord Joab, and the servants of my lord, are encamped in the open fields; shall I then go into mine house, to eat and to drink, and to lie with my wife? as thou livest, and as thy soul liveth, I will not do this thing.
12 And David said to Uriah, Tarry here to day also, and to morrow I will let thee depart. So Uriah abode in Jerusalem that day, and the morrow.
13 And when David had called him, he did eat and drink before him; and he made him drunk: and at even he went out to lie on his bed with the servants of his lord, but went not down to his house.
14 ¶ And it came to pass in the morning, that David wrote a letter to Joab, and sent it by the hand of Uriah.
15 And he wrote in the letter, saying, Set ye Uriah in the forefront of the hottest battle, and retire ye from him, that he may be smitten, and die.
16 And it came to pass, when Joab observed the city, that he assigned Uriah unto a place where he knew that valiant men were.
17 [†] And the men of the city went out, and fought with Joab: and there fell some of the people of the servants of David; and Uriah the Hittite died also.
18 ¶ Then Joab sent and told David all the things concerning the war;
19 And charged the messenger, saying, When thou hast made an end of telling the matters of the war unto the king,
20 And if so be that the king's wrath arise, and he say unto thee, Wherefore approached ye so nigh unto the city when ye did fight? knew ye not that they would shoot from the wall?
21 Who smote Abimelech the son of Jerubbesheth? did not a woman cast a piece of a millstone upon him from the wall, that he died in Thebez? why went ye nigh the wall? then say thou, Thy servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.
22 ¶ So the messenger went, and came and shewed David all that Joab had sent him for.

23 And the messenger said unto David, Surely the men prevailed against us, and came out unto us into the field, and we were upon them even unto the entering of the gate.
24 And the shooters shot from off the wall upon thy servants; and some of the king's servants be dead, and thy servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.
25 Then David said unto the messenger, Thus shalt thou say unto Joab, Let not this thing displease thee, for the sword devoureth one as well as another: make thy battle more strong against the city, and overthrow it: and encourage thou him.
26 ¶ And when the wife of Uriah heard that Uriah her husband was dead, she mourned for her husband.
27 [†] And when the mourning was past, David sent and fetched her to his house, and she became his wife, and bare him a son. But the thing that David had done displeased the LORD.

2 Samuel 12 [†]

1 And the Lord sent Nathan unto David. And he came unto him, and said unto him, There were two men in one city; the one rich, and the other poor.
2 The rich man had exceeding many flocks and herds:
3 [†] But the poor man had nothing, save one little ewe lamb, which he had bought and nourished up: and it grew up together with him, and with his children; it did eat of his own meat, and drank of his own cup, and lay in his bosom, and was unto him as a daughter.
4 [†] And there came a traveller unto the rich man, and he spared to take of his own flock and of his own herd, to dress for the wayfaring man that was come unto him; but took the poor man's lamb, and dressed it for the man that was come to him.
5 And David's anger was greatly kindled against the man; and he said to Nathan, As the Lord liveth, the man that hath done this thing shall surely die:
6 And he shall restore the lamb fourfold, because he did this thing, and because he had no pity.
7 ¶ And Nathan said to David, Thou art the man. Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I anointed thee king over Israel, and I delivered thee out of the hand of Saul;
8 And I gave thee thy master's house, and thy master's wives into thy bosom, and gave thee the house of Israel and of Judah; and if that had been too little, I would moreover have given unto thee such and such things.
9 Wherefore hast thou despised the commandment of the Lord, to do evil in his sight? thou hast killed Uriah the Hittite with the sword, and hast taken his wife to be thy wife, and hast slain him with the sword of the children of Ammon.
10 Now therefore the sword shall never depart from thine house; because thou hast despised me, and hast taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be thy wife.
11 [†] Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise up evil against thee out of thine own house, and I will take thy wives before thine eyes, and give them unto thy neighbour, and he shall lie with thy wives in the sight of this sun.
12 For thou didst it secretly: but I will do this thing before all Israel, and before the sun.
13 [†] And David said unto Nathan, I have sinned against the Lord. And Nathan said unto David, The Lord also hath put away thy sin; thou shalt not die.
14 [†] Howbeit, because by this deed thou hast given great occasion to the enemies of the Lord to blaspheme, the child also that is born unto thee shall surely die.
15 ¶ And Nathan departed unto his house. And the Lord struck the child that Uriah's wife bare unto David, and it was very sick.
16 [†] David therefore besought God for the child; and David fasted, and went in, and lay all night upon the earth.
17 And the elders of his house arose, and went to him, to raise him up from the earth: but he would not, neither did he eat bread with them.
18 [†] And it came to pass on the seventh day, that the child died. And the servants of David feared to tell him that the child was dead: for they said, Behold, while the child was yet alive, we spake unto him, and he would not hearken unto our voice: how will he then vex himself, if we tell him that the child is dead?
19 But when David saw that his servants whispered, David perceived that the child was dead: therefore David said unto his servants, Is the child dead? And they said, He is dead.
20 [†] Then David arose from the earth, and washed, and anointed himself, and changed his apparel, and came into the house of the LORD, and worshipped: then he came to his own house; and when he required, they set bread before him, and he did eat.

21 Then said his servants unto him, What thing is this that thou hast done? thou didst fast and weep for the child, while it was alive; but when the child was dead, thou didst rise and eat bread.
22 And he said, While the child was yet alive, I fasted and wept: for I said, Who can tell whether GOD will be gracious to me, that the child may live?
23 [†] But now he is dead, wherefore should I fast? can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me.
24 [†] ¶ And David comforted Bath-sheba his wife, and went in unto her, and lay with her: and she bare a son, and he called his name Solomon: and the LORD loved him.
25 [†] And he sent by the hand of Nathan the prophet; and he called his name Jedidiah, because of the LORD.
26 ¶ And Joab fought against Rabbah of the children of Ammon, and took the royal city.
27 And Joab sent messengers to David, and said, I have fought against Rabbah, and have taken the city of waters.
28 Now therefore gather the rest of the people together, and encamp against the city, and take it: lest I take the city, and it be called after my name.
29 [†] And David gathered all the people together, and went to Rabbah, and fought against it, and took it.
30 [†] And he took their king's crown from off his head, the weight whereof was a talent of gold with the precious stones: and it was set on David's head. And he brought forth the spoil of the city in great abundance.
31 [†] And he brought forth the people that were therein, and put them under saws, and under harrows of iron, and under axes of iron, and made them pass through the brickkiln: and thus did he unto all the cities of the children of Ammon. So David and all the people returned unto Jerusalem.

2 Samuel 13 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass after this, that Absalom the son of David had a fair sister, whose name was Tamar; and Amnon the son of David loved her.
2 [†] And Amnon was so vexed, that he fell sick for his sister Tamar; for she was a virgin; and Amnon thought it hard for him to do any thing to her.
3 [†] But Amnon had a friend, whose name was Jonadab, the son of Shimeah David's brother: and Jonadab was a very subtil man.
4 [†] And he said unto him, Why art thou, being the king's son, lean from day to day? wilt thou not tell me? And Amnon said unto him, I love Tamar, my brother Absalom's sister.
5 [†] And Jonadab said unto him, Lay thee down on thy bed, and make thyself sick: and when thy father cometh to see thee, say unto him, I pray thee, let my sister Tamar come, and give me meat, and dress the meat in my sight, that I may see it, and eat it at her hand.
6 [†] ¶ So Amnon lay down, and made himself sick: and when the king was come to see him, Amnon said unto the king, I pray thee, let Tamar my sister come, and make me a couple of cakes in my sight, that I may eat at her hand.
7 Then David sent home to Tamar, saying, Go now to thy brother Amnon's house, and dress him meat.
8 So Tamar went to her brother Amnon's house; and he was laid down. And she took flour, and kneaded it, and made cakes in his sight, and did bake the cakes.
9 And she took a pan, and poured them out before him; but he refused to eat. And Amnon said, Have out all men from me. And they went out every man from him.
10 And Amnon said unto Tamar, Bring the meat into the chamber, that I may eat of thine hand. And Tamar took the cakes which she had made, and brought them into the chamber to Amnon her brother.
11 [†] And when she had brought them unto him to eat, he took hold of her, and said unto her, Come lie with me, my sister.
12 [†] And she answered him, Nay, my brother, do not force me; for no such thing ought to be done in Israel: do not thou this folly.
13 And I, whither shall I cause my shame to go? and as for thee, thou shalt be as one of the fools in Israel. Now therefore, I pray thee, speak unto the king; for he will not withhold me from thee.
14 [†] Howbeit he would not hearken unto her voice: but, being stronger than she, forced her, and lay with her.
15 ¶ Then Amnon hated her exceedingly; so that the hatred wherewith he hated her was greater than the love wherewith he had loved her. And Amnon said unto her, Arise, be gone.
16 And she said unto him, There is no cause: this evil in sending me away is greater than the other that thou didst unto me. But he would not hearken unto her.
17 Then he called his servant that ministered unto him, and said, Put now this woman out from me, and bolt the door after her.
18 [†] And she had a garment of divers colours upon her: for with such robes were the king's daughters that were virgins apparelled. Then his servant brought her out, and bolted the door after her.
19 ¶ And Tamar put ashes on her head, and rent her garment of divers colours that was on her, and laid her hand on her head, and went on crying.
20 And Absalom her brother said unto her, Hath Amnon thy brother been with thee? but hold now thy peace, my sister: he is thy brother; regard not this thing. So Tamar remained desolate in her brother Absalom's house.
21 [†] ¶ But when king David heard of all these things, he was very wroth.
22 And Absalom spake unto his brother Amnon neither good nor bad: for Absalom hated Amnon, because he had forced his sister Tamar.

23 ¶ And it came to pass after two full years, that Absalom had sheepshearers in Baal-hazor, which is beside Ephraim: and Absalom invited all the king's sons.
24 And Absalom came to the king, and said, Behold now, thy servant hath sheepshearers; let the king, I beseech thee, and his servants go with thy servant.
25 [†] And the king said to Absalom, Nay, my son, let us not all now go, lest we be chargeable unto thee. And he pressed him: howbeit he would not go, but blessed him.
26 Then said Absalom, If not, I pray thee, let my brother Amnon go with us. And the king said unto him, Why should he go with thee?
27 But Absalom pressed him, that he let Amnon and all the king's sons go with him.
28 ¶ Now Absalom had commanded his servants, saying, Mark ye now when Amnon's heart is merry with wine, and when I say unto you, Smite Amnon; then kill him, fear not: have not I commanded you? be courageous, and be valiant.
29 [†] And the servants of Absalom did unto Amnon as Absalom had commanded. Then all the king's sons arose, and every man gat him up upon his mule, and fled.
30 ¶ And it came to pass, while they were in the way, that tidings came to David, saying, Absalom hath slain all the king's sons, and there is not one of them left.
31 [†] Then the king arose, and tare his garments, and lay on the earth; and all his servants stood by with their clothes rent.
32 And Jonadab, the son of Shimeah David's brother, answered and said, Let not my lord suppose that they have slain all the young men the king's sons; for Amnon only is dead: for by the appointment of Absalom this hath been determined from the day that he forced his sister Tamar.
33 Now therefore let not my lord the king take the thing to his heart, to think that all the king's sons are dead: for Amnon only is dead.
34 But Absalom fled. And the young man that kept the watch lifted up his eyes, and looked, and, behold, there came much people by the way of the hill side behind him.
35 And Jonadab said unto the king, Behold, the king's sons come: as thy servant said, so it is.
36 [†] And it came to pass, as soon as he had made an end of speaking, that, behold, the king's sons came, and lifted up their voice and wept: and the king also and all his servants wept very sore.
37 [†] ¶ But Absalom fled, and went to Talmai, the son of Ammihud, king of Geshur. And David mourned for his son every day.
38 So Absalom fled, and went to Geshur, and was there three years.
39 And the soul of king David longed to go forth unto Absalom: for he was comforted concerning Amnon, seeing he was dead.

2 Samuel 14 [†]

1 [†] Now Joab the son of Zeruiah perceived that the king's heart was toward Absalom.
2 [†] And Joab sent to Tekoah, and fetched thence a wise woman, and said unto her, I pray thee, feign thyself to be a mourner, and put on now mourning apparel, and anoint not thyself with oil, but be as a woman that had a long time mourned for the dead:
3 And come to the king, and speak on this manner unto him. So Joab put the words in her mouth.
4 [†] ¶ And when the woman of Tekoah spake to the king, she fell on her face to the ground, and did obeisance, and said, Help, O king.
5 And the king said unto her, What aileth thee? And she answered, I am indeed a widow woman, and mine husband is dead.
6 And thy handmaid had two sons, and they two strove together in the field, and there was none to part them, but the one smote the other, and slew him.
7 And, behold, the whole family is risen against thine handmaid, and they said, Deliver him that smote his brother, that we may kill him, for the life of his brother whom he slew; and we will destroy the heir also: and so they shall quench my coal which is left, and shall not leave to my husband neither name nor remainder upon the earth.
8 [†] And the king said unto the woman, Go to thine house, and I will give charge concerning thee.
9 And the woman of Tekoah said unto the king, My lord, O king, the iniquity be on me, and on my father's house: and the king and his throne be guiltless.
10 And the king said, Whosoever saith ought unto thee, bring him to me, and he shall not touch thee any more.
11 [†] Then said she, I pray thee, let the king remember the Lord thy God, that thou wouldest not suffer the revengers of blood to destroy any more, lest they destroy my son. And he said, As the Lord liveth, there shall not one hair of thy son fall to the earth.
12 Then the woman said, Let thine handmaid, I pray thee, speak one word unto my lord the king. And he said, Say on.
13 [†] And the woman said, Wherefore then hast thou thought such a thing against the people of God? for the king doth speak this thing as one which is faulty, in that the king doth not fetch home again his banished.
14 For we must needs die, and are as water spilt on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again; neither doth God respect any person: yet doth he devise means, that his banished be not expelled from him.
15 Now therefore that I am come to speak of this thing unto my lord the king, it is because the people have made me afraid: and thy handmaid said, I will now speak unto the king; it may be that the king will perform the request of his handmaid.
16 For the king will hear, to deliver his handmaid out of the hand of the man that would destroy me and my son together out of the inheritance of God.
17 [†] Then thine handmaid said, The word of my lord the king shall now be comfortable: for as an angel of God, so is my lord the king to discern good and bad: therefore the Lord thy God will be with thee.
18 Then the king answered and said unto the woman, Hide not from me, I pray thee, the thing that I shall ask thee. And the woman said, Let my lord the king now speak.
19 [†] And the king said, Is not the hand of Joab with thee in all this? And the woman answered and said, As thy soul liveth, my lord the king, none can turn to the right hand or to the left from ought that my lord the king hath spoken: for thy servant Joab, he bade me, and he put all these words in the mouth of thine handmaid:

20 To fetch about this form of speech hath thy servant Joab done this thing: and my lord is wise, according to the wisdom of an angel of God, to know all things that are in the earth.
21 ¶ And the king said unto Joab, Behold now, I have done this thing: go therefore, bring the young man Absalom again.
22 And Joab fell to the ground on his face, and bowed himself, and thanked the king: and Joab said, To day thy servant knoweth that I have found grace in thy sight, my lord, O king, in that the king hath fulfilled the request of his servant.
23 So Joab arose and went to Geshur, and brought Absalom to Jerusalem.
24 And the king said, Let him turn to his own house, and let him not see my face. So Absalom returned to his own house, and saw not the king's face.
25 [†] ¶ But in all Israel there was none to be so much praised as Absalom for his beauty: from the sole of his foot even to the crown of his head there was no blemish in him.
26 [†] And when he polled his head, (for it was at every year's end that he polled it: because the hair was heavy on him, therefore he polled it:) he weighed the hair of his head at two hundred shekels after the king's weight.
27 [†] And unto Absalom there were born three sons, and one daughter, whose name was Tamar: she was a woman of a fair countenance.
28 ¶ So Absalom dwelt two full years in Jerusalem, and saw not the king's face.
29 Therefore Absalom sent for Joab, to have sent him to the king; but he would not come to him: and when he sent again the second time, he would not come.
30 Therefore he said unto his servants, See, Joab's field is near mine, and he hath barley there; go and set it on fire. And Absalom's servants set the field on fire.
31 Then Joab arose, and came to Absalom unto his house, and said unto him, Wherefore have thy servants set my field on fire?
32 And Absalom answered Joab, Behold, I sent unto thee, saying, Come hither, that I may send thee to the king, to say, Wherefore am I come from Geshur? it had been good for me to have been there still: now therefore let me see the king's face; and if there be any iniquity in me, let him kill me.
33 So Joab came to the king, and told him: and when he had called for Absalom, he came to the king, and bowed himself on his face to the ground before the king: and the king kissed Absalom.

2 Samuel 15 [†]

1 And it came to pass after this, that Absalom prepared him chariots and horses, and fifty men to run before him.
2 And Absalom rose up early, and stood beside the way of the gate: and it was so, that when any man that had a controversy came to the king for judgment, then Absalom called unto him, and said, Of what city art thou? And he said, Thy servant is of one of the tribes of Israel.
3 And Absalom said unto him, See, thy matters are good and right; but there is no man deputed of the king to hear thee.
4 Absalom said moreover, Oh that I were made judge in the land, that every man which hath any suit or cause might come unto me, and I would do him justice!
5 [†] And it was so, that when any man came nigh to him to do him obeisance, he put forth his hand, and took him, and kissed him.
6 And on this manner did Absalom to all Israel that came to the king for judgment: so Absalom stole the hearts of the men of Israel.
7 [†] ¶ And it came to pass after forty years, that Absalom said unto the king, I pray thee, let me go and pay my vow, which I have vowed unto the LORD, in Hebron.
8 [†] For thy servant vowed a vow while I abode at Geshur in Syria, saying, If the LORD shall bring me again indeed to Jerusalem, then I will serve the LORD.
9 And the king said unto him, Go in peace. So he arose, and went to Hebron.
10 ¶ But Absalom sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, As soon as ye hear the sound of the trumpet, then ye shall say, Absalom reigneth in Hebron.
11 [†] And with Absalom went two hundred men out of Jerusalem, that were called; and they went in their simplicity, and they knew not any thing.
12 And Absalom sent for Ahithophel the Gilonite, David's counsellor, from his city, even from Giloh, while he offered sacrifices. And the conspiracy was strong; for the people increased continually with Absalom.
13 ¶ And there came a messenger to David, saying, The hearts of the men of Israel are after Absalom.
14 [†] And David said unto all his servants that were with him at Jerusalem, Arise, and let us flee; for we shall not else escape from Absalom: make speed to depart, lest he overtake us suddenly, and bring evil upon us, and smite the city with the edge of the sword.
15 [†] And the king's servants said unto the king, Behold, thy servants are ready to do whatsoever my lord the king shall appoint.
16 And the king went forth, and all his household after him. And the king left ten women, which were concubines, to keep the house.
17 And the king went forth, and all the people after him, and tarried in a place that was far off.
18 And all his servants passed on beside him; and all the Cherethites, and all the Pelethites, and all the Gittites, six hundred men which came after him from Gath, passed on before the king.
19 [†] ¶ Then said the king to Ittai the Gittite, Wherefore goest thou also with us? return to thy place, and abide with the king: for thou art a stranger, and also an exile.
20 Whereas thou camest but yesterday, should I this day make thee go up and down with us? seeing I go whither I may, return thou, and take back thy brethren: mercy and truth be with thee.
21 And Ittai answered the king, and said, As the LORD liveth, and as my lord the king liveth, surely in what place my lord the king shall be, whether in death or life, even there also will thy servant be.
22 And David said to Ittai, Go and pass over. And Ittai the Gittite passed over, and all his men, and all the little ones that were with him.

23 And all the country wept with a loud voice, and all the people passed over: the king also himself passed over the brook Kidron, and all the people passed over, toward the way of the wilderness.
24 ¶ And lo Zadok also, and all the Levites were with him, bearing the ark of the covenant of God: and they set down the ark of God; and Abiathar went up, until all the people had done passing out of the city.
25 And the king said unto Zadok, Carry back the ark of God into the city: if I shall find favour in the eyes of the LORD, he will bring me again, and shew me both it, and his habitation:
26 But if he thus say, I have no delight in thee; behold, here am I, let him do to me as seemeth good unto him.
27 [†] The king said also unto Zadok the priest, Art not thou a seer? return into the city in peace, and your two sons with you, Ahimaaz thy son, and Jonathan the son of Abiathar.
28 See, I will tarry in the plain of the wilderness, until there come word from you to certify me.
29 Zadok therefore and Abiathar carried the ark of God again to Jerusalem: and they tarried there.
30 ¶ And David went up by the ascent of mount Olivet, and wept as he went up, and had his head covered, and he went barefoot: and all the people that was with him covered every man his head, and they went up, weeping as they went up.
31 [†] ¶ And one told David, saying, Ahithophel is among the conspirators with Absalom. And David said, O LORD, I pray thee, turn the counsel of Ahithophel into foolishness.
32 [†] ¶ And it came to pass, that when David was come to the top of the mount, where he worshipped God, behold, Hushai the Archite came to meet him with his coat rent, and earth upon his head:
33 Unto whom David said, If thou passest on with me, then thou shalt be a burden unto me:
34 But if thou return to the city, and say unto Absalom, I will be thy servant, O king; as I have been thy father's servant hitherto, so will I now also be thy servant: then mayest thou for me defeat the counsel of Ahithophel.
35 And hast thou not there with thee Zadok and Abiathar the priests? therefore it shall be, that what thing soever thou shalt hear out of the king's house, thou shalt tell it to Zadok and Abiathar the priests.
36 Behold, they have there with them their two sons, Ahimaaz Zadok's son, and Jonathan Abiathar's son; and by them ye shall send unto me every thing that ye can hear.
37 So Hushai David's friend came into the city, and Absalom came into Jerusalem.

2 Samuel 16 [†]

1 And when David was a little past the top of the hill, behold, Ziba the servant of Mephibosheth met him, with a couple of asses saddled, and upon them two hundred loaves of bread, and an hundred bunches of raisins, and an hundred of summer fruits, and a bottle of wine.
2 And the king said unto Ziba, What meanest thou by these? And Ziba said, The asses be for the king's household to ride on; and the bread and summer fruit for the young men to eat; and the wine, that such as be faint in the wilderness may drink.
3 [†] And the king said, And where is thy master's son? And Ziba said unto the king, Behold, he abideth at Jerusalem: for he said, To day shall the house of Israel restore me the kingdom of my father.
4 [†] Then said the king to Ziba, Behold, thine are all that pertained unto Mephibosheth. And Ziba said, I humbly beseech thee that I may find grace in thy sight, my lord, O king.
5 [†] ¶ And when king David came to Bahurim, behold, thence came out a man of the family of the house of Saul, whose name was Shimei, the son of Gera: he came forth, and cursed still as he came.
6 And he cast stones at David, and at all the servants of king David: and all the people and all the mighty men were on his right hand and on his left.
7 [†] And thus said Shimei when he cursed, Come out, come out, thou bloody man, and thou man of Belial:
8 [†] The Lord hath returned upon thee all the blood of the house of Saul, in whose stead thou hast reigned; and the Lord hath delivered the kingdom into the hand of Absalom thy son: and, behold, thou art taken in thy mischief, because thou art a bloody man.
9 ¶ Then said Abishai the son of Zeruiah unto the king, Why should this dead dog curse my lord the king? let me go over, I pray thee, and take off his head.
10 And the king said, What have I to do with you, ye sons of Zeruiah? so let him curse, because the Lord hath said unto him, Curse David. Who shall then say, Wherefore hast thou done so?
11 [†] And David said to Abishai, and to all his servants, Behold, my son, which came forth of my bowels, seeketh my life: how much more now may this Benjamite do it? let him alone, and let him curse; for the Lord hath bidden him.
12 [†] It may be that the Lord will look on mine affliction, and that the Lord will requite me good for his cursing this day.
13 [†] And as David and his men went by the way, Shimei went along on the hill's side over against him, and cursed as he went, and threw stones at him, and cast dust.
14 And the king, and all the people that were with him, came weary, and refreshed themselves there.
15 [†] ¶ And Absalom, and all the people the men of Israel, came to Jerusalem, and Ahithophel with him.
16 [†] And it came to pass, when Hushai the Archite, David's friend, was come unto Absalom, that Hushai said unto Absalom, God save the king, God save the king.
17 [†] And Absalom said to Hushai, Is this thy kindness to thy friend? why wentest thou not with thy friend?
18 [†] And Hushai said unto Absalom, Nay; but whom the Lord, and this people, and all the men of Israel, choose, his will I be, and with him will I abide.
19 And again, whom should I serve? should I not serve in the presence of his son? as I have served in thy father's presence, so will I be in thy presence.
20 ¶ Then said Absalom to Ahithophel, Give counsel among you what we shall do.
21 And Ahithophel said unto Absalom, Go in unto thy father's concubines, which he hath left to keep the house; and all Israel shall hear that thou art abhorred of thy father: then shall the hands of all that are with thee be strong.

22 [†] So they spread Absalom a tent upon the top of the house; and Absalom went in unto his father's concubines in the sight of all Israel.
23 And the counsel of Ahithophel, which he counselled in those days, was as if a man had enquired at the oracle of God: so was all the counsel of Ahithophel both with David and with Absalom.

2 Samuel 17 [†]

1 Moreover Ahithophel said unto Absalom, Let me now choose out twelve thousand men, and I will arise and pursue after David this night:
2 And I will come upon him while he is weary and weak handed, and will make him afraid: and all the people that are with him shall flee; and I will smite the king only:
3 [†] And I will bring back all the people unto thee: the man whom thou seekest is as if all returned: so all the people shall be in peace.
4 And the saying pleased Absalom well, and all the elders of Israel.
5 Then said Absalom, Call now Hushai the Archite also, and let us hear likewise what he saith.
6 And when Hushai was come to Absalom, Absalom spake unto him, saying, Ahithophel hath spoken after this manner: shall we do after his saying? if not; speak thou.
7 And Hushai said unto Absalom, The counsel that Ahithophel hath given is not good at this time.
8 [†] For, said Hushai, thou knowest thy father and his men, that they be mighty men, and they be chafed in their minds, as a bear robbed of her whelps in the field: and thy father is a man of war, and will not lodge with the people.
9 Behold, he is hid now in some pit, or in some other place: and it will come to pass, when some of them be overthrown at the first, that whosoever heareth it will say, There is a slaughter among the people that follow Absalom.
10 And he also that is valiant, whose heart is as the heart of a lion, shall utterly melt: for all Israel knoweth that thy father is a mighty man, and they which be with him are valiant men.
11 Therefore I counsel that all Israel be generally gathered unto thee, from Dan even to Beer-sheba, as the sand that is by the sea for multitude; and that thou go to battle in thine own person.
12 So shall we come upon him in some place where he shall be found, and we will light upon him as the dew falleth on the ground: and of him and of all the men that are with him there shall not be left so much as one.
13 [†] Moreover, if he be gotten into a city, then shall all Israel bring ropes to that city, and we will draw it into the river, until there be not one small stone found there.
14 [†] And Absalom and all the men of Israel said, The counsel of Hushai the Archite is better than the counsel of Ahithophel. For the Lord had appointed to defeat the good counsel of Ahithophel, to the intent that the Lord might bring evil upon Absalom.
15 ¶ Then said Hushai unto Zadok and to Abiathar the priests, Thus and thus did Ahithophel counsel Absalom and the elders of Israel; and thus and thus have I counselled.
16 Now therefore send quickly, and tell David, saying, Lodge not this night in the plains of the wilderness, but speedily pass over; lest the king be swallowed up, and all the people that are with him.
17 [†] Now Jonathan and Ahimaaz stayed by En-rogel; for they might not be seen to come into the city: and a wench went and told them; and they went and told king David.
18 Nevertheless a lad saw them, and told Absalom: but they went both of them away quickly, and came to a man's house in Bahurim, which had a well in his court; whither they went down.
19 And the woman took and spread a covering over the well's mouth, and spread ground corn thereon; and the thing was not known.
20 [†] And when Absalom's servants came to the woman to the house, they said, Where is Ahimaaz and Jonathan? And the woman said unto them, They be gone over the brook of water. And when they had sought and could not find them, they returned to Jerusalem.
21 And it came to pass, after they were departed, that they came up out of the well, and went and told king David, and said unto David, Arise, and pass quickly over the water: for thus hath Ahithophel counselled against you.

22 Then David arose, and all the people that were with him, and they passed over Jordan: by the morning light there lacked not one of them that was not gone over Jordan.
23 [†] ¶ And when Ahithophel saw that his counsel was not followed, he saddled his ass, and arose, and gat him home to his house, to his city, and put his household in order, and hanged himself, and died, and was buried in the sepulchre of his father.
24 Then David came to Mahanaim. And Absalom passed over Jordan, he and all the men of Israel with him.
25 ¶ And Absalom made Amasa captain of the host instead of Joab: which Amasa was a man's son, whose name was Ithra an Israelite, that went in to Abigail the daughter of Nahash, sister to Zeruiah Joab's mother.
26 [†] So Israel and Absalom pitched in the land of Gilead.
27 [†] ¶ And it came to pass, when David was come to Mahanaim, that Shobi the son of Nahash of Rabbah of the children of Ammon, and Machir the son of Ammiel of Lo-debar, and Barzillai the Gileadite of Rogelim,
28 [†] Brought beds, and basons, and earthen vessels, and wheat, and barley, and flour, and parched corn, and beans, and lentiles, and parched pulse,
29 [†] And honey, and butter, and sheep, and cheese of kine, for David, and for the people that were with him, to eat: for they said, The people is hungry, and weary, and thirsty, in the wilderness.

2 Samuel 18 [†]

1 And David numbered the people that were with him, and set captains of thousands and captains of hundreds over them.
2 And David sent forth a third part of the people under the hand of Joab, and a third part under the hand of Abishai the son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, and a third part under the hand of Ittai the Gittite. And the king said unto the people, I will surely go forth with you myself also.
3 [†] But the people answered, Thou shalt not go forth: for if we flee away, they will not care for us; neither if half of us die, will they care for us: but now thou art worth ten thousand of us: therefore now it is better that thou succour us out of the city.
4 And the king said unto them, What seemeth you best I will do. And the king stood by the gate side, and all the people came out by hundreds and by thousands.
5 And the king commanded Joab and Abishai and Ittai, saying, Deal gently for my sake with the young man, even with Absalom. And all the people heard when the king gave all the captains charge concerning Absalom.
6 ¶ So the people went out into the field against Israel: and the battle was in the wood of Ephraim;
7 Where the people of Israel were slain before the servants of David, and there was there a great slaughter that day of twenty thousand men.
8 [†] For the battle was there scattered over the face of all the country: and the wood devoured more people that day than the sword devoured.
9 [†] ¶ And Absalom met the servants of David. And Absalom rode upon a mule, and the mule went under the thick boughs of a great oak, and his head caught hold of the oak, and he was taken up between the heaven and the earth; and the mule that was under him went away.
10 And a certain man saw it, and told Joab, and said, Behold, I saw Absalom hanged in an oak.
11 [†] And Joab said unto the man that told him, And, behold, thou sawest him, and why didst thou not smite him there to the ground? and I would have given thee ten shekels of silver, and a girdle.
12 [†] And the man said unto Joab, Though I should receive a thousand shekels of silver in mine hand, yet would I not put forth mine hand against the king's son: for in our hearing the king charged thee and Abishai and Ittai, saying, Beware that none touch the young man Absalom.
13 [†] Otherwise I should have wrought falsehood against mine own life: for there is no matter hid from the king, and thou thyself wouldest have set thyself against me.
14 [†] Then said Joab, I may not tarry thus with thee. And he took three darts in his hand, and thrust them through the heart of Absalom, while he was yet alive in the midst of the oak.
15 [†] And ten young men that bare Joab's armour compassed about and smote Absalom, and slew him.
16 And Joab blew the trumpet, and the people returned from pursuing after Israel: for Joab held back the people.
17 And they took Absalom, and cast him into a great pit in the wood, and laid a very great heap of stones upon him: and all Israel fled every one to his tent.
18 [†] ¶ Now Absalom in his lifetime had taken and reared up for himself a pillar, which is in the king's dale: for he said, I have no son to keep my name in remembrance: and he called the pillar after his own name: and it is called unto this day, Absalom's place.
19 ¶ Then said Ahimaaz the son of Zadok, Let me now run, and bear the king tidings, how that the LORD hath avenged him of his enemies.
20 And Joab said unto him, Thou shalt not bear tidings this day, but thou shalt bear tidings another day: but this day thou shalt bear no tidings, because the king's son is dead.
21 Then said Joab to Cushi, Go tell the king what thou hast seen. And Cushi bowed himself unto Joab, and ran.

22 Then said Ahimaaz the son of Zadok yet again to Joab, But howsoever, let me, I pray thee, also run after Cushi. And Joab said, Wherefore wilt thou run, my son, seeing that thou hast no tidings ready?
23 But howsoever, said he, let me run. And he said unto him, Run. Then Ahimaaz ran by the way of the plain, and overran Cushi.
24 And David sat between the two gates: and the watchman went up to the roof over the gate unto the wall, and lifted up his eyes, and looked, and behold a man running alone.
25 [†] And the watchman cried, and told the king. And the king said, If he be alone, there is tidings in his mouth. And he came apace, and drew near.
26 And the watchman saw another man running: and the watchman called unto the porter, and said, Behold another man running alone. And the king said, He also bringeth tidings.
27 [†] And the watchman said, Me thinketh the running of the foremost is like the running of Ahimaaz the son of Zadok. And the king said, He is a good man, and cometh with good tidings.
28 And Ahimaaz called, and said unto the king, All is well. And he fell down to the earth upon his face before the king, and said, Blessed be the LORD thy God, which hath delivered up the men that lifted up their hand against my lord the king.
29 And the king said, Is the young man Absalom safe? And Ahimaaz answered, When Joab sent the king's servant, and me thy servant, I saw a great tumult, but I knew not what it was.
30 And the king said unto him, Turn aside, and stand here. And he turned aside, and stood still.
31 [†] And, behold, Cushi came; and Cushi said, Tidings, my lord the king: for the LORD hath avenged thee this day of all them that rose up against thee.
32 [†] And the king said unto Cushi, Is the young man Absalom safe? And Cushi answered, The enemies of my lord the king, and all that rise against thee to do thee hurt, be as that young man is.
33 [†] ¶ And the king was much moved, and went up to the chamber over the gate, and wept: and as he went, thus he said, O my son Absalom, my son, my son Absalom! would God I had died for thee, O Absalom, my son, my son!

2 Samuel 19 [†]

1 And it was told Joab, Behold, the king weepeth and mourneth for Absalom.
2 And the victory that day was turned into mourning unto all the people: for the people heard say that day how the king was grieved for his son.
3 [†] And the people gat them by stealth that day into the city, as people being ashamed steal away when they flee in battle.
4 [†] But the king covered his face, and the king cried with a loud voice, O my son Absalom, O Absalom, my son, my son!
5 And Joab came into the house to the king, and said, Thou hast shamed this day the faces of all thy servants, which this day have saved thy life, and the lives of thy sons and of thy daughters, and the lives of thy wives, and the lives of thy concubines;
6 In that thou lovest thine enemies, and hatest thy friends. For thou hast declared this day, that thou regardest neither princes nor servants: for this day I perceive, that if Absalom had lived, and all we had died this day, then it had pleased thee well.
7 [†] Now therefore arise, go forth, and speak comfortably unto thy servants: for I swear by the Lord, if thou go not forth, there will not tarry one with thee this night: and that will be worse unto thee than all the evil that befell thee from thy youth until now.
8 Then the king arose, and sat in the gate. And they told unto all the people, saying, Behold, the king doth sit in the gate. And all the people came before the king: for Israel had fled every man to his tent.
9 ¶ And all the people were at strife throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, The king saved us out of the hand of our enemies, and he delivered us out of the hand of the Philistines; and now he is fled out of the land for Absalom.
10 And Absalom, whom we anointed over us, is dead in battle. Now therefore why speak ye not a word of bringing the king back?
11 ¶ And king David sent to Zadok and to Abiathar the priests, saying, Speak unto the elders of Judah, saying, Why are ye the last to bring the king back to his house? seeing the speech of all Israel is come to the king, even to his house.
12 Ye are my brethren, ye are my bones and my flesh: wherefore then are ye the last to bring back the king?
13 [†] And say ye to Amasa, Art thou not of my bone, and of my flesh? God do so to me, and more also, if thou be not captain of the host before me continually in the room of Joab.
14 And he bowed the heart of all the men of Judah, even as the heart of one man; so that they sent this word unto the king, Return thou, and all thy servants.
15 So the king returned, and came to Jordan. And Judah came to Gilgal, to go to meet the king, to conduct the king over Jordan.
16 ¶ And Shimei the son of Gera, a Benjamite, which was of Bahurim, hasted and came down with the men of Judah to meet king David.
17 And there were a thousand men of Benjamin with him, and Ziba the servant of the house of Saul, and his fifteen sons and his twenty servants with him; and they went over Jordan before the king.
18 And there went over a ferry boat to carry over the king's household, and to do what he thought good. And Shimei the son of Gera fell down before the king, as he was come over Jordan;
19 And said unto the king, Let not my lord impute iniquity unto me, neither do thou remember that which thy servant did perversely the day that my lord the king went out of Jerusalem, that the king should take it to his heart.

20 For thy servant doth know that I have sinned: therefore, behold, I am come the first this day of all the house of Joseph to go down to meet my lord the king.
21 But Abishai the son of Zeruiah answered and said, Shall not Shimei be put to death for this, because he cursed the LORD's anointed?
22 And David said, What have I to do with you, ye sons of Zeruiah, that ye should this day be adversaries unto me? shall there any man be put to death this day in Israel? for do not I know that I am this day king over Israel?
23 Therefore the king said unto Shimei, Thou shalt not die. And the king sware unto him.
24 ¶ And Mephibosheth the son of Saul came down to meet the king, and had neither dressed his feet, nor trimmed his beard, nor washed his clothes, from the day the king departed until the day he came again in peace.
25 [†] And it came to pass, when he was come to Jerusalem to meet the king, that the king said unto him, Wherefore wentest not thou with me, Mephibosheth?
26 And he answered, My lord, O king, my servant deceived me: for thy servant said, I will saddle me an ass, that I may ride thereon, and go to the king; because thy servant is lame.
27 [†] And he hath slandered thy servant unto my lord the king; but my lord the king is as an angel of God: do therefore what is good in thine eyes.
28 [†] For all of my father's house were but dead men before my lord the king: yet didst thou set thy servant among them that did eat at thine own table. What right therefore have I yet to cry any more unto the king?
29 And the king said unto him, Why speakest thou any more of thy matters? I have said, Thou and Ziba divide the land.
30 And Mephibosheth said unto the king, Yea, let him take all, forasmuch as my lord the king is come again in peace unto his own house.
31 ¶ And Barzillai the Gileadite came down from Rogelim, and went over Jordan with the king, to conduct him over Jordan.
32 [†] Now Barzillai was a very aged man, even fourscore years old: and he had provided the king of sustenance while he lay at Mahanaim; for he was a very great man.
33 And the king said unto Barzillai, Come thou over with me, and I will feed thee with me in Jerusalem.
34 And Barzillai said unto the king, How long have I to live, that I should go up with the king unto Jerusalem?
35 [†] I am this day fourscore years old: and can I discern between good and evil? can thy servant taste what I eat or what I drink? can I hear any more the voice of singing men and singing women? wherefore then should thy servant be yet a burden unto my lord the king?
36 Thy servant will go a little way over Jordan with the king: and why should the king recompense it me with such a reward?
37 Let thy servant, I pray thee, turn back again, that I may die in mine own city, and be buried by the grave of my father and of my mother. But behold thy servant Chimham; let him go over with my lord the king; and do to him what shall seem good unto thee.
38 [†] And the king answered, Chimham shall go over with me, and I will do to him that which shall seem good unto thee: and whatsoever thou shalt require of me, that will I do for thee.
39 And all the people went over Jordan. And when the king was come over, the king kissed Barzillai, and blessed him; and he returned unto his own place.
40 Then the king went on to Gilgal, and Chimham went on with him: and all the people of Judah conducted the king, and also half the people of Israel.
41 [†] ¶ And, behold, all the men of Israel came to the king, and said unto the king, Why have our brethren the men of Judah stolen thee away, and have brought the king, and his household, and all

David’s men with him, over Jordan?
42 And all the men of Judah answered the men of Israel, Because the king is near of kin to us: wherefore then be ye angry for this matter? have we eaten at all of the king’s cost? or hath he given us any gift?
43 And the men of Israel answered the men of Judah, and said, We have ten parts in the king, and we have also more right in David than ye: why then did ye despise us, that our advice should not be first had in bringing back our king? And the words of the men of Judah were fiercer than the words of the men of Israel.

2 Samuel 20 [†]

1 [†] And there happened to be there a man of Belial, whose name was Sheba, the son of Bichri, a Benjamite: and he blew a trumpet, and said, We have no part in David, neither have we inheritance in the son of Jesse: every man to his tents, O Israel.
2 [†] So every man of Israel went up from after David, and followed Sheba the son of Bichri: but the men of Judah clave unto their king, from Jordan even to Jerusalem.
3 [†] ¶ And David came to his house at Jerusalem; and the king took the ten women his concubines, whom he had left to keep the house, and put them in ward, and fed them, but went not in unto them. So they were shut up unto the day of their death, living in widowhood.
4 [†] ¶ Then said the king to Amasa, Assemble me the men of Judah within three days, and be thou here present.
5 [†] So Amasa went to assemble the men of Judah: but he tarried longer than the set time which he had appointed him.
6 And David said to Abishai, Now shall Sheba the son of Bichri do us more harm than did Absalom: take thou thy lord's servants, and pursue after him, lest he get him fenced cities, and escape us.
7 [†] And there went out after him Joab's men, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, and all the mighty men: and they went out of Jerusalem, to pursue after Sheba the son of Bichri.
8 [†] When they were at the great stone which is in Gibeon, Amasa went before them. And Joab's garment that he had put on was girded unto him, and upon it a girdle with a sword fastened upon his loins in the sheath thereof; and as he went forth it fell out.
9 [†] And Joab said to Amasa, Art thou in health, my brother? And Joab took Amasa by the beard with the right hand to kiss him.
10 [†] But Amasa took no heed to the sword that was in Joab's hand: so he smote him therewith in the fifth rib, and shed out his bowels to the ground, and struck him not again; and he died. So Joab and Abishai his brother pursued after Sheba the son of Bichri.
11 And one of Joab's men stood by him, and said, He that favoureth Joab, and he that is for David, let him go after Joab.
12 [†] And Amasa wallowed in blood in the midst of the highway. And when the man saw that all the people stood still, he removed Amasa out of the highway into the field, and cast a cloth upon him, when he saw that every one that came by him stood still.
13 When he was removed out of the highway, all the people went on after Joab, to pursue after Sheba the son of Bichri.
14 ¶ And he went through all the tribes of Israel unto Abel, and to Beth-maachah, and all the Berites: and they were gathered together, and went also after him.
15 [†] And they came and besieged him in Abel of Beth-maachah, and they cast up a bank against the city, and it stood in the trench: and all the people that were with Joab battered the wall, to throw it down.
16 ¶ Then cried a wise woman out of the city, Hear, hear; say, I pray you, unto Joab, Come near hither, that I may speak with thee.
17 And when he was come near unto her, the woman said, Art thou Joab? And he answered, I am he. Then she said unto him, Hear the words of thine handmaid. And he answered, I do hear.
18 [†] Then she spake, saying, They were wont to speak in old time, saying, They shall surely ask counsel at Abel: and so they ended the matter.
19 I am one of them that are peaceable and faithful in Israel: thou seekest to destroy a city and a mother in Israel: why wilt thou swallow up the inheritance of the LORD?
20 And Joab answered and said, Far be it, far be it from me, that I should swallow up or destroy.

21 The matter is not so: but a man of mount Ephraim, Sheba the son of Bichri by name, hath lifted up his hand against the king, even against David: deliver him only, and I will depart from the city. And the woman said unto Joab, Behold, his head shall be thrown to thee over the wall.
22 [†] Then the woman went unto all the people in her wisdom. And they cut off the head of Sheba the son of Bichri, and cast it out to Joab. And he blew a trumpet, and they retired from the city, every man to his tent. And Joab returned to Jerusalem unto the king.
23 ¶ Now Joab was over all the host of Israel: and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and over the Pelethites:
24 And Adoram was over the tribute: and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder:
25 And Sheva was scribe: and Zadok and Abiathar were the priests:
26 And Ira also the Jairite was a chief ruler about David.

2 Samuel 21 [†]

1 [†] Then there was a famine in the days of David three years, year after year; and David enquired of the Lord. And the Lord answered, It is for Saul, and for his bloody house, because he slew the Gibeonites.
2 [†] And the king called the Gibeonites, and said unto them; (now the Gibeonites were not of the children of Israel, but of the remnant of the Amorites; and the children of Israel had sworn unto them: and Saul sought to slay them in his zeal to the children of Israel and Judah.)
3 [†] Wherefore David said unto the Gibeonites, What shall I do for you? and wherewith shall I make the atonement, that ye may bless the inheritance of the Lord?
4 And the Gibeonites said unto him, We will have no silver nor gold of Saul, nor of his house; neither for us shalt thou kill any man in Israel. And he said, What ye shall say, that will I do for you.
5 And they answered the king, The man that consumed us, and that devised against us that we should be destroyed from remaining in any of the coasts of Israel,
6 [†] Let seven men of his sons be delivered unto us, and we will hang them up unto the Lord in Gibeah of Saul, whom the Lord did choose. And the king said, I will give them.
7 [†] But the king spared Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan the son of Saul, because of the Lord's oath that was between them, between David and Jonathan the son of Saul.
8 But the king took the two sons of Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, whom she bare unto Saul, Armoni and Mephibosheth; and the five sons of Michal the daughter of Saul, whom she brought up for Adriel the son of Barzillai the Meholathite:
9 And he delivered them into the hands of the Gibeonites, and they hanged them in the hill before the Lord: and they fell all seven together, and were put to death in the days of harvest, in the first days, in the beginning of barley harvest.
10 [†] ¶ And Rizpah the daughter of Aiah took sackcloth, and spread it for her upon the rock, from the beginning of harvest until water dropped upon them out of heaven, and suffered neither the birds of the air to rest on them by day, nor the beasts of the field by night.
11 And it was told David what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, the concubine of Saul, had done.
12 ¶ And David went and took the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son from the men of Jabesh-gilead, which had stolen them from the street of Beth-shan, where the Philistines had hanged them, when the Philistines had slain Saul in Gilboa:
13 And he brought up from thence the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son; and they gathered the bones of them that were hanged.
14 And the bones of Saul and Jonathan his son buried they in the country of Benjamin in Zelah, in the sepulchre of Kish his father: and they performed all that the king commanded. And after that God was intreated for the land.
15 [†] ¶ Moreover the Philistines had yet war again with Israel; and David went down, and his servants with him, and fought against the Philistines: and David waxed faint.
16 [†] And Ishbi-benob, which was of the sons of the giant, the weight of whose spear weighed three hundred shekels of brass in weight, he being girded with a new sword, thought to have slain David.
17 [†] But Abishai the son of Zeruiah succoured him, and smote the Philistine, and killed him. Then the men of David sware unto him, saying, Thou shalt go no more out with us to battle, that thou quench not the light of Israel.
18 And it came to pass after this, that there was again a battle with the Philistines at Gob: then Sibbechai the Hushathite slew Saph, which was of the sons of the giant.
19 And there was again a battle in Gob with the Philistines, where Elhanan the son of Jaare-oregim, a

Beth-lehemite, slew the brother of Goliath the Gittite, the staff of whose spear was like a weaver's beam.
20 And there was yet a battle in Gath, where was a man of great stature, that had on every hand six fingers, and on every foot six toes, four and twenty in number; and he also was born to the giant.
21 And when he defied Israel, Jonathan the son of Shimea the brother of David slew him.
22 These four were born to the giant in Gath, and fell by the hand of David, and by the hand of his servants.

2 Samuel 22 [†]

1 [†] And David spake unto the Lord the words of this song in the day that the Lord had delivered him out of the hand of all his enemies, and out of the hand of Saul:
2 [†] And he said, The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer;
3 [†] The God of my rock; in him will I trust: he is my shield, and the horn of my salvation, my high tower, and my refuge, my saviour; thou savest me from violence.
4 I will call on the Lord, who is worthy to be praised: so shall I be saved from mine enemies.
5 When the waves of death compassed me, the floods of ungodly men made me afraid;
6 [†] The sorrows of hell compassed me about; the snares of death prevented me;
7 In my distress I called upon the Lord, and cried to my God: and he did hear my voice out of his temple, and my cry did enter into his ears.
8 [†] Then the earth shook and trembled; the foundations of heaven moved and shook, because he was wroth.
9 There went up a smoke out of his nostrils, and fire out of his mouth devoured: coals were kindled by it.
10 He bowed the heavens also, and came down; and darkness was under his feet.
11 And he rode upon a cherub, and did fly: and he was seen upon the wings of the wind.
12 [†] And he made darkness pavilions round about him, dark waters, and thick clouds of the skies.
13 Through the brightness before him were coals of fire kindled.
14 The Lord thundered from heaven, and the most High uttered his voice.
15 [†] And he sent out arrows, and scattered them; lightning, and discomfited them.
16 [†] And the channels of the sea appeared, the foundations of the world were discovered, at the rebuking of the Lord, at the blast of the breath of his nostrils.
17 He sent from above, he took me; he drew me out of many waters;
18 He delivered me from my strong enemy, and from them that hated me: for they were too strong for me.
19 [†] They prevented me in the day of my calamity: but the Lord was my stay.
20 He brought me forth also into a large place: he delivered me, because he delighted in me.
21 The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness: according to the cleanness of my hands hath he recompensed me.
22 For I have kept the ways of the Lord, and have not wickedly departed from my God.
23 For all his judgments were before me: and as for his statutes, I did not depart from them.
24 I was also upright before him, and have kept myself from mine iniquity.
25 Therefore the Lord hath recompensed me according to my righteousness; according to my cleanness in his eye sight.
26 With the merciful thou wilt shew thyself merciful, and with the upright man thou wilt shew thyself upright.
27 [†] With the pure thou wilt shew thyself pure; and with the froward thou wilt shew thyself unsavoury.
28 And the afflicted people thou wilt save: but thine eyes are upon the haughty, that thou mayest bring them down.
29 For thou art my lamp, O Lord: and the Lord will lighten my darkness.
30 [†] For by thee I have run through a troop: by my God have I leaped over a wall.
31 [†] As for God, his way is perfect; the word of the Lord is tried: he is a buckler to all them that trust in him.

32 [†] For who is God, save the LORD? and who is a rock, save our God?
33 God is my strength and power: and he maketh my way perfect.
34 [†] He maketh my feet like hinds' feet: and setteth me upon my high places.
35 He teacheth my hands to war; so that a bow of steel is broken by mine arms.
36 Thou hast also given me the shield of thy salvation: and thy gentleness hath made me great.
37 Thou hast enlarged my steps under me; so that my feet did not slip.
38 I have pursued mine enemies, and destroyed them; and turned not again until I had consumed them.
39 And I have consumed them, and wounded them, that they could not arise: yea, they are fallen under my feet.
40 [†] For thou hast girded me with strength to battle: them that rose up against me hast thou subdued under me.
41 Thou hast also given me the necks of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.
42 They looked, but there was none to save; even unto the LORD, but he answered them not.
43 Then did I beat them as small as the dust of the earth, I did stamp them as the mire of the street, and did spread them abroad.
44 Thou also hast delivered me from the strivings of my people, thou hast kept me to be head of the heathen: a people which I knew not shall serve me.
45 [†] Strangers shall submit themselves unto me: as soon as they hear, they shall be obedient unto me.
46 Strangers shall fade away, and they shall be afraid out of their close places.
47 The LORD liveth; and blessed be my rock; and exalted be the God of the rock of my salvation.
48 It is God that avengeth me, and that bringeth down the people under me,
49 And that bringeth me forth from mine enemies: thou also hast lifted me up on high above them that rose up against me: thou hast delivered me from the violent man.
50 Therefore I will give thanks unto thee, O LORD, among the heathen, and I will sing praises unto thy name.
51 He is the tower of salvation for his king: and sheweth mercy to his anointed, unto David, and to his seed for evermore.

2 Samuel 23 [†]

1 [†] Now these be the last words of David. David the son of Jesse said, and the man who was raised up on high, the anointed of the God of Jacob, and the sweet psalmist of Israel, said,
2 [†] The Spirit of the Lord spake by me, and his word was in my tongue.
3 The God of Israel said, the Rock of Israel spake to me, He that ruleth over men must be just, ruling in the fear of God.
4 And he shall be as the light of the morning, when the sun riseth, even a morning without clouds; as the tender grass springing out of the earth by clear shining after rain.
5 [†] Although my house be not so with God; yet he hath made with me an everlasting covenant, ordered in all things, and sure: for this is all my salvation, and all my desire, although he make it not to grow.
6 [†] ¶ But the sons of Belial shall be all of them as thorns thrust away, because they cannot be taken with hands:
7 [†] But the man that shall touch them must be fenced with iron and the staff of a spear; and they shall be utterly burned with fire in the same place.
8 ¶ These be the names of the mighty men whom David had: The Tachmonite that sat in the seat, chief among the captains; the same was Adino the Eznite: he lift up his spear against eight hundred, whom he slew at one time.
9 And after him was Eleazar the son of Dodo the Ahohite, one of the three mighty men with David, when they defied the Philistines that were there gathered together to battle, and the men of Israel were gone away:
10 [†] He arose, and smote the Philistines until his hand was weary, and his hand clave unto the sword: and the Lord wrought a great victory that day; and the people returned after him only to spoil.
11 [†] And after him was Shammah the son of Agee the Hararite. And the Philistines were gathered together into a troop, where was a piece of ground full of lentiles: and the people fled from the Philistines.
12 But he stood in the midst of the ground, and defended it, and slew the Philistines: and the Lord wrought a great victory.
13 [†] And three of the thirty chief went down, and came to David in the harvest time unto the cave of Adullam: and the troop of the Philistines pitched in the valley of Rephaim.
14 [†] And David was then in an hold, and the garrison of the Philistines was then in Beth-lehem.
15 And David longed, and said, Oh that one would give me drink of the water of the well of Beth-lehem, which is by the gate!
16 [†] And the three mighty men brake through the host of the Philistines, and drew water out of the well of Beth-lehem, that was by the gate, and took it, and brought it to David: nevertheless he would not drink thereof, but poured it out unto the Lord.
17 And he said, Be it far from me, O Lord, that I should do this: is not this the blood of the men that went in jeopardy of their lives? therefore he would not drink it. These things did these three mighty men.
18 [†] And Abishai, the brother of Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was chief among three. And he lifted up his spear against three hundred, and slew them, and had the name among three.
19 Was he not most honourable of three? therefore he was their captain: howbeit he attained not unto the first three.
20 And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, the son of a valiant man, of Kabzeel, who had done many acts, he slew two lionlike men of Moab: he went down also and slew a lion in the midst of a pit in time of snow:

21 [†] And he slew an Egyptian, a goodly man: and the Egyptian had a spear in his hand; but he went down to him with a staff, and plucked the spear out of the Egyptian’s hand, and slew him with his own spear.
22 These things did Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and had the name among three mighty men.
23 [†] He was more honourable than the thirty, but he attained not to the first three. And David set him over his guard.
24 [†] Asahel the brother of Joab was one of the thirty; Elhanan the son of Dodo of Beth-lehem,
25 Shammah the Harodite, Elika the Harodite,
26 Helez the Paltite, Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite,
27 Abi-ezer the Anethothite, Mebunnai the Hushathite,
28 Zalmon the Ahohite, Maharai the Netophathite,
29 Heleb the son of Baanah, a Netophathite, Ittai the son of Ribai out of Gibeah of the children of Benjamin,
30 Benaiah the Pirathonite, Hiddai of the brooks of Gaash,
31 Abi-albon the Arbathite, Azmaveth the Barhumite,
32 Eliahba the Shaalbonite, of the sons of Jashen, Jonathan,
33 Shammah the Hararite, Ahiam the son of Sharar the Hararite,
34 Eliphelet the son of Ahasbai, the son of the Maachathite, Eliam the son of Ahithophel the Gilonite,
35 Hezrai the Carmelite, Paarai the Arbite,
36 Igal the son of Nathan of Zobah, Bani the Gadite,
37 Zelek the Ammonite, Naharai the Beerothite, armourbearer to Joab the son of Zeruiah,
38 Ira an Ithrite, Gareb an Ithrite,
39 [†] Uriah the Hittite: thirty and seven in all.

2 Samuel 24 [†]

1 [†] And again the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel, and he moved David against them to say, Go, number Israel and Judah.
2 [†] For the king said to Joab the captain of the host, which was with him, Go now through all the tribes of Israel, from Dan even to Beer-sheba, and number ye the people, that I may know the number of the people.
3 And Joab said unto the king, Now the Lord thy God add unto the people, how many soever they be, an hundredfold, and that the eyes of my lord the king may see it: but why doth my lord the king delight in this thing?
4 Notwithstanding the king's word prevailed against Joab, and against the captains of the host. And Joab and the captains of the host went out from the presence of the king, to number the people of Israel.
5 [†] ¶ And they passed over Jordan, and pitched in Aroer, on the right side of the city that lieth in the midst of the river of Gad, and toward Jazer:
6 Then they came to Gilead, and to the land of Tahtim-hodshi; and they came to Dan-jaan, and about to Zidon,
7 And came to the strong hold of Tyre, and to all the cities of the Hivites, and of the Canaanites: and they went out to the south of Judah, even to Beer-sheba.
8 So when they had gone through all the land, they came to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days.
9 And Joab gave up the sum of the number of the people unto the king: and there were in Israel eight hundred thousand valiant men that drew the sword; and the men of Judah were five hundred thousand men.
10 [†] ¶ And David's heart smote him after that he had numbered the people. And David said unto the Lord, I have sinned greatly in that I have done: and now, I beseech thee, O Lord, take away the iniquity of thy servant; for I have done very foolishly.
11 [†] For when David was up in the morning, the word of the Lord came unto the prophet Gad, David's seer, saying,
12 Go and say unto David, Thus saith the Lord, I offer thee three things; choose thee one of them, that I may do it unto thee.
13 [†] So Gad came to David, and told him, and said unto him, Shall seven years of famine come unto thee in thy land? or wilt thou flee three months before thine enemies, while they pursue thee? or that there be three days' pestilence in thy land? now advise, and see what answer I shall return to him that sent me.
14 [†] And David said unto Gad, I am in a great strait: let us fall now into the hand of the Lord; for his mercies are great: and let me not fall into the hand of man.
15 ¶ So the Lord sent a pestilence upon Israel from the morning even to the time appointed: and there died of the people from Dan even to Beer-sheba seventy thousand men.
16 [†] And when the angel stretched out his hand upon Jerusalem to destroy it, the Lord repented him of the evil, and said to the angel that destroyed the people, It is enough: stay now thine hand. And the angel of the Lord was by the threshingplace of Araunah the Jebusite.
17 And David spake unto the Lord when he saw the angel that smote the people, and said, Lo, I have sinned, and I have done wickedly: but these sheep, what have they done? let thine hand, I pray thee, be against me, and against my father's house.
18 [†] ¶ And Gad came that day to David, and said unto him, Go up, rear an altar unto the Lord in the threshingfloor of Araunah the Jebusite.

19 And David, according to the saying of Gad, went up as the LORD commanded.
20 And Araunah looked, and saw the king and his servants coming on toward him: and Araunah went out, and bowed himself before the king on his face upon the ground.
21 [†] And Araunah said, Wherefore is my lord the king come to his servant? And David said, To buy the threshingfloor of thee, to build an altar unto the LORD, that the plague may be stayed from the people.
22 And Araunah said unto David, Let my lord the king take and offer up what seemeth good unto him: behold, here be oxen for burnt sacrifice, and threshing instruments and other instruments of the oxen for wood.
23 [†] All these things did Araunah, as a king, give unto the king. And Araunah said unto the king, The LORD thy God accept thee.
24 [†] And the king said unto Araunah, Nay; but I will surely buy it of thee at a price: neither will I offer burnt offerings unto the LORD my God of that which doth cost me nothing. So David bought the threshingfloor and the oxen for fifty shekels of silver.
25 And David built there an altar unto the LORD, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings. So the LORD was intreated for the land, and the plague was stayed from Israel.

NOTES ON THE BOOK OF

2 SAMUEL

THE END OF SAUL AND RISE OF KING DAVID (1 SAM. 27:1—2 SAM. 4:12)

Chapter 1: David laments the deaths of Saul and Jonathan.

David's Lamentation over Saul and Jonathan (2 Sam. 1:1–27)

1:2 did obeisance. Bowed down as a gesture of respect and submission.

1:9 anguish is come upon me. Literally, "trembling or weakness has seized me."

1:11 rent. Tore, a common gesture expressing grief.

1:13 the son of a stranger. A resident alien living as a protected citizen.

1:18 bade them teach. Literally, "said to teach." the book of Jasher. Translated, "the book of the upright," an uninspired book, now lost, that recorded significant events regarding national Israel (Josh. 10:13).

1:19–27 Some of the most touching and poetic words ever recorded in the Word of God. This was intended to be a testimony to Saul, the Lord's anointed. His bravery and military might are celebrated, and his faults are set aside. There was more to Saul than met the eye.

1:19 The beauty of Israel. Saul and Jonathan were the ornaments of the nation, cut down upon thy high places (Mount Gilboa).

1:20 Gath . . . Askelon. Two principal cities in Philistia, here representing the whole nation.

1:21 let there be no dew, neither let there be rain. This would be abnormal in a place as lush and green as Gilboa. Here poetic language is employed to express the grief of the heart. vilely cast away. Hebrew, "to be defiled."

1:22 the fat of the mighty. Referring to that which covers the inner body. Together with blood, refers to the relentless prowess of Jonathan's and Saul's military skills. They went for the kill.

1:23 lovely. The Hebrew form means "worthy of love." pleasant. Delightful or lovely, a word that elsewhere describes God's name (Ps. 135:3).

1:24 delights. Luxurious things.

1:26 very pleasant hast thou been. The Hebrew suggests "you have been a dear friend." wonderful. Extraordinary. In Jonathan, David had a friend closer than a brother (Prov. 18:24). That is rare; hence, the statement that it surpassed the love of women, which is far more common.

1:27 How are the mighty fallen. Three times these words occur, making up the chorus of this epic poem and establishing its theme.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 1

1. The Amalekite lied, assuming the deception would earn him a reward. Almost every lie is motivated by self-preservation or self-advancement. Very often lies are discovered and consequences must be faced. Here the Amalekite's lie is not discovered, but he suffers the consequence of being believed. The bottom line is that one way or another and sooner or later our words will betray us. We can be sure that our sins will find us out. There is no covering ourselves or escaping the One who sees all, no matter how well we plan or how detailed our lie. In this life or the next, sin will be punished unless Christ has borne the penalty. Why must we be totally honest to the Lord when confessing our sins?

2. David's anguish over Jonathan is intense. How tender the son of Jesse's love is for his friend! But as close knit as the friendship of David and Jonathan was, it pales in comparison to Christ's friendship with His people. "I have called you friends," He says to His disciples, who were at the point of either denying or abandoning Him (John 15:15). We see here why David is the prophetic image of Christ, who, "having loved his own which were in the world, he loved them unto the end" (John 13:1).

David, King of Judah, against Ish-bosheth, King of Israel (2 Sam. 2:1–4:12)

Chapter 2: David is anointed king over Judah, but Ish-bosheth, the son of Saul, over Israel, resulting in a power struggle between the two houses.

2:1 enquired of the LORD. Having learned his lesson at Ziklag (1 Sam. 30), David wisely seeks the Lord's will.

2:3 cities of Hebron. Plural because it includes the surrounding villages.

2:4 they anointed David. David had been privately anointed by Samuel (1 Sam. 16:13), and now publicly. The delay between the initial promise and its fulfillment did not jeopardize the promise. God's timing is always best, and it is always best to wait on Him.

2:5 ye have shewed this kindness. This was an act of loyalty based on their relationship with Saul.

2:6 the LORD SHEW KINDNESS AND TRUTH. Expressions of loyalty are mutual and often linked with truth to stress steadfast fidelity; the kindness is certain. I also will requite. Literally, "I will do with you this good thing."

2:8 Abner the son of Ner. Saul's cousin and captain of his armies. Ish-bosheth. Translated, "man of shame." His real name was Esh-baal, translated, "man of Baal" (1 Chron. 8:33). However, to avoid any reference to a false god, Baal was replaced with bosheth, meaning "shame."

2:13 pool of Gibeon. Bubbling springs flowing from limestone rock.

2:14 play before us. The Hebrew means "to struggle or fight."

2:16 Helkath-hazzurim. Translated, "the field or plot of the ones pressing hard," where each of the combatants perished.

2:17 a very sore battle. An extremely severe battle involving the opposing sides followed the contest of the twenty-four.

2:18 Zeruiah. David's sister (1 Chron. 2:16). light of foot. Nimble or quick on his feet. wild roe. Gazelle.

2:21 Take thee his armor. As a trophy.

2:23 the hinder end of the spear. The back or butt end of the spear. under the fifth rib. Specifically refers to the abdomen. came out behind him. So fierce was the blow that even the butt end pierced him through.

2:31 three hundred and threescore. 360.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 2

1. Although David had been promised the kingdom years earlier (1 Sam. 16), he did not try to establish it on his own. He refused to kill Saul even though he had multiple chances, and now he is still patient. He was willing to be guided by the Lord's will as to both time and manner of his promotion. This reminds us that "He that believeth shall not make haste" (Isa. 28:16). By David's example we are reminded that in all of life's dealings, hopes, and fears, we must seek the will of God by faith and prayer. "In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths" (Prov. 3:6). David's example also reminds us not to give up on God's promises. Delay of promise is not denial of promise. We must learn to wait on the Lord with the confidence that He will accomplish His word in His way and in His time. How does waiting on God increase your faith and dependence on Him?
2. Resorting to violence to resolve differences, even at the national level, should be the last resort. It was God's will that David rule in Saul's place (1 Sam. 13:13–14; 15:28). Had Israel sought the Lord, David's kingdom could have been established without bloodshed. Discerning God's will ought always to be a priority for God's people. But instead, the narrative records the brutality of the battle. If we love our neighbors as ourselves, let us use the best means possible to advance the principle of peace with all men and look to that perfect day when "they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks" (Isa. 2:4).

Chapter 3: David grows stronger against the house of Saul, leading to Abner's defection to David and then his vengeful death by Joab.

3:1 waxed stronger . . . waxed weaker. Literally, David "was walking and strong," and the house of Saul "was walking and powerless," a Hebrew idiom meaning "increasing in strength," on the one side, and increasing in weakness on the other.

3:8 very wroth. Exceedingly angry.

3:10 To translate. Literally, "to cause to pass over" or "to transfer." from Dan even to Beer-sheba. The extreme northern city and the extreme southern city are a means of designating the entire country.

3:12 Make thy league with me. Literally, "cut your covenant with me," referring to a mutually binding agreement between them (vv. 13,21).

3:13 require. Literally, "ask."

3:20 twenty men. Most likely representatives of all Israel. a feast. Most likely connected to the sealing of the covenant between them, an evidence of reconciliation between the previously hostile parties (Gen. 26:30; 31:54; Ps. 41:9).

3:24 is quite gone. Literally, "went walking," suggesting that he kept on walking further and further away.

3:26 the well of Sirah. Josephus locates this about two and a half miles from Hebron; Abner had not gone as far as Joab thought.

3:27 quietly. In tranquility or peaceably. under the fifth rib. In the abdomen.

3:28 the blood. The Hebrew is plural, referring to blood shedding or blood guiltiness.

3:29 hath an issue. Refers to some sort of bodily discharge. leper. Refers to some sort of skin disorder or disease. leaneth on a staff. Literally, "takes hold of a spindle-whorl," regarded as the work of a woman (Prov. 31:19), hence perhaps referring to a weak or effeminate person.

3:31 Rend . . . gird. Tearing clothes and putting on sackcloth were common gestures associated with grief. bier. A portable framework holding a coffin; the Hebrew is simply "bed" or "couch. "

3:34 Thy hands were not bound. He was unsuspecting and taken off guard.

3:35 meat. Food of any kind.

3:38 prince. A leader, but not necessarily royalty.

3:39 Weak. Tender or sensitive.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 3

1. It was God's purpose for David to reign over Israel. Divine providence assured that the divine will would happen. As God is able to turn the heart of kings (Prov. 21:1), so He turned the heart of Abner, the chief leader in Saul's house, to become a principal agent in uniting the nation under David. Regardless of Abner's motives, selfish or otherwise, God used him to accomplish the divine will. We can be confident that God's power to control circumstances and people has never diminished. Thus, as we pray for God's will to be done and for His kingdom to come, we can be sure that nothing can ultimately prevent either from occurring.
2. Vengeance belongs to the Lord (Heb. 10:30). To presume to take upon oneself a work that belongs to God is always going to have serious consequences. Joab's treacherous murder of Abner is a tragic illustration. Abner had indeed killed Joab's brother, but it was in battle and not a surprising casualty of war. Joab's murder was calculated, hateful, and under the guise of peace. David recognized the cold-blooded nature of the crime and pronounced a curse on Joab and his family. In all likelihood there are going to be times when we will be wronged by others, and our natural impulse will be to get even. We should learn to leave with the Lord what belongs to Him and not take matters into our own hands. Indeed, Christ teaches us that when we suffer personal wrong we are to turn the other cheek (Matt. 5:39).

Chapter 4: Ish-bosheth is murdered, and David executes justice on his assassins.

4:4 Mephibosheth. Also called Merib-baal (1 Chron. 8:34), meaning "antagonist of Baal," similar to Gideon's being called Jerubbaal (Judg. 6:32) because he contended against Baal (on the substitution of bosheth for baal, see note at 2 Sam. 2:8). This was Jonathan's son, soon to be the last survivor of Saul's house.

4:6 under the fifth rib. In the stomach.

4:7 gat them away through the plain. Literally, "went the way of the desert plain."

4:10 When one told me. See 1:2.

4:11 take you away from the earth. A phrase used of removing the guilt of murder from the land (Deut. 19:13,19). The guilt of murder contaminated the whole land until removed by the execution of the murderer (Num. 35:33).

4:12 cut off their hands and their feet. Popular custom of warning others by exposing the heads and limbs of traitors on the gates of the city.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 4

Ish-bosheth was sleeping when he should have been vigilant and on guard. While he slumbered, the enemy came in unawares, and he was slain in his sleep. It is only common sense to stay awake and watchful in the face of danger. But this is an important strategy for spiritual life as well. First Peter 5:8 says, "Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour." Christ's words to His sleepy disciples are also to the point:

"Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak" (Matt. 26:41). How can Christians stay vigilant in the spiritual battle?

THE TRIUMPHANT REIGN OF DAVID OVER ALL ISRAEL (2 SAM. 5:1—10:19)

Chapter 5: David is anointed king over Israel, establishes Jerusalem as the capital, and engages the Philistines in battle.

The Establishment of David's Kingdom (2 Sam. 5:1–25)

5:2 feed. Shepherd. The king as shepherd was a common image of sovereign rule throughout the Old Testament, as well as in the ancient near-eastern world (7:7; Num. 27:17; 1 Kings 22:17; Ps. 78:71–72; Isa. 44:28; 56:11; Jer. 2:8; 23:1–6; Ezek. 34), and thus also a title for the Lord (Gen. 48:15; 49:24; Pss. 23:1; 28:9; 80:1; Eccl. 12:11; Isa. 40:11; Ezek. 34:15; Mic. 5:4; John 10).

5:3 all the elders of Israel. The representative delegates from every tribe. made a league. Literally, "cut a covenant," the common idiom for ratifying the covenant terms.

5:8 gutter. The Hebrew is uncertain; some sort of a canal, conduit, pipe, or spout.

5:9 fort. Mountain stronghold. Millo. Literally, a "filling," a terrace-like structure.

5:11 Hiram. Later, Solomon's ally (1 Kings 5:15; 2 Chron. 2:2).

5:14 Shammua. A summary but not chronological statement since there is reference to the sons born to Bath-sheba (chronologically after ch. 12). See also 1 Chron. 3:5.

5:17 to the hold. A fortified rallying point or stronghold.

5:20 Baal-perazim. Translated "possessor of breaches," probably between two strongholds.

5:21 And there they left their images. History tells us that these were turtle-like idols that were taken into battle with the army.

5:23 fetch a compass. Get behind the enemy.

5:24 bestir thyself. The Hebrew means "to pay attention" or "to act decisively."

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 5

1. One of the most important statements in this chapter is verse 19, "And David enquired of the LORD." He was the king of a great realm, but David felt that even on a throne he needed the Lord's counsel. David was not satisfied without something higher and greater than himself. There is no status in life beyond the necessity of prayer. The day will come when prayer gives way to only praise. But in this world no one can rise above their circumstances. No one can escape the many needs to be filled, sins to be forgiven, and tears to be wiped away. We need to inquire of the Lord. There is nothing so small that He does not know, care for, and control. Do you inquire of the Lord as you should? How can you grow in your prayer life?
2. God leads His people in different ways, and we must learn to be sensitive and open to Him. It was just the sound of rustling leaves that was David's sign to move against the enemy—something very ordinary and very subtle. Yet having prayed for God to lead, he was paying attention to the divine instruction. Too often in seeking God's will we try to set the terms or devise scenarios in which we challenge the Lord to act in the most obvious of ways (fleece after fleece). Sometimes He does. But more often it is just the "whisper" of His Spirit through His Word that gives the answer we need. The key is to fear Him so that He gives us His counsel (Ps. 25:14).

Chapter 6: Transporting the ark contrary to God's prescription leads to tragedy, but doing so according to God's way leads to rejoicing.

The Bringing of the Ark of the Covenant to Jerusalem (2 Sam. 6:1–23)

6:2 Baale. More commonly, Kirjath-jearim, meaning "city of woods" (Josh. 15:9; 1 Sam. 7:1; also Ps. 132:6, where the statement "fields of the wood" suggests the same location). the LORD OF HOSTS. JEHOVAH of armies, declaring God's power and authority; the Commander-in-Chief. between the cherubims. See Ex. 25:22; Ps. 80:1. The cherubim are very often associated with God's presence as the guardians of His holiness (see the living creatures of Ezek. 1).

6:3 they set the ark. Literally, "they loaded the ark or made it ride." drave. Drove. Transporting the ark in this way violated God's directive (Ex. 25:12–14; Num. 4:4–15), which threatened the death penalty for touching any holy thing.

6:5 played. Their jubilant celebration before the Lord. That v. 21 and 1 Chron. 15:29 use the same word to describe David's behavior when the ark was retrieved properly suggests that no carelessness or irreverence was intended. Their celebration was sincere and genuine but biblically unfounded. harps . . . cymbals. Different sorts of instruments, the first two being some sort of stringed instruments and the last three some sort of percussion instruments.

6:6 the oxen shook it. The Hebrew term means "to let fall" or "to drop," referring either to the oxen stumbling (causing the ark to totter) or perhaps to becoming loose from their yoke (leaving the ark on a runaway wagon). Something happened to cause Uzzah to attempt to stabilize the ark.

6:7 his error. The Hebrew occurs only here and has the idea of irreverence. No one was to even look at the ark without punishment, let alone touch it (Num. 4:15,16,20).

6:8 And David was displeased. Literally, "it was hot to David." The same word used for the Lord's anger (v. 7). made a breach. Literally, "made an outburst or broke out violently." Perez-uzzah means "the outburst of Uzzah."

6:10 Obed-edom. A Levite (1 Chron. 15:17–18; 26:4–8). the Gittite. A reference to where he was from.

6:12 gladness. Jubilation and joy.

6:13 sacrificed. Offered in thanksgiving and praise. Six steps were sufficient to convince David that God was pleased when worship conformed to His word.

6:14 David danced. This was a ceremonial dancing and not to be equated with the recreational dancing in our modern times. girded with a linen ephod. He buckled a cape over his shoulders.

6:17 tabernacle. Not the official tabernacle, but a temporary tent structure erected to house the ark. David offered burnt offerings. This does not imply that David himself offered the sacrifices; rather, as the king he ordered the priests to do so.

6:19 dealt. Divided or allotted. flagon of wine. The Hebrew refers to "a raisin cake."

6:20 uncovered himself to day. In the sense of removing the royal garments, making him appear as a commoner. vain fellows. Worthless ones, the rabble.

6:22 will yet be more vile. Demean myself even more or be more lightly esteemed. base. Of little value or of low standing. David was gladly humbled before the Lord in order to magnify God and the goodness of His grace.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 6

1. David's desire for the ark expressed his desire for the manifest presence of God. This man after God's own heart purposed to put the ark of the Lord in the place of preeminence it deserved. He had nothing but the glory of the Lord in mind. But tragically, he was taken away with the fervency of his zeal. His desire was good and his motives pure, but he displeased the Lord he sought to honor. It is not sufficient to claim a worthy purpose without conforming as well to the clear mandates of God's Word. He adopted the practice of the pagans in transporting the ark (1 Sam. 6) in violation of the precise method that God had prescribed. Methods of worship do matter, and we must avoid adopting or adapting the practices of the world for use in sacred worship. There are many Christians who desire the right things but are lax in the mode of practice. Not only is God the sole object of worship, but He has revealed the acceptable way of worshiping.
2. The ark was the ultimate symbol in the Old Testament for God's presence. This narrative highlights four important lessons about experiencing God's presence. First, it is something to be understood. The ark declares God's sovereignty, holiness, righteousness, grace, and mercy, all of which are realized in Christ (see notes at Ex. 25:10–22). Second, it is something to be desired. David's desire was intensified by the ark's long absence (1 Sam. 7:1–2). The absence of God's presence should be intolerable to us. Third, it is something to be feared. This was learned the hard way in the death of Uzzah. Not even the most godly dare become familiar with holy things by treating them as common. Fourth, it is something to be enjoyed. The house of Obed-edom experienced real and obvious blessing, which motivated David to enjoy the blessing for himself. Enjoying God is worth doing things the right way. When David brought up the ark according to God's way, he was overwhelmed with joy and humble worship. How should these principles shape the way that we approach God in worship?

Chapter 7: The Lord rejects David's plan to build a house for the ark and gives a solemn promise to build a house for David.

The Lord's Covenant with David (2 Sam. 7:1–29)

7:1 rest. Cessation of hostility, an experience of peace and quiet.

7:2 within curtains. In the middle of the tent.

7:3 A prophet never has authority to speak without a word from the Lord.

7:8 sheepcote. Grazing place or pen for sheep.

7:11 house. Dynasty.

7:12–17 The Davidic covenant was a major advance in God's redemptive message regarding the Messiah (Gen. 49:10). Note the divine initiative (repeated I will), the unique relationship (father and son), the everlasting throne and kingdom, and the unconditional guarantee unlike that given to Saul (Ps. 89:29–37).

7:13 He shall build an house for my name. Solomon's temple was the first stage of this house, but the promise was ultimately fulfilled in Christ, in whom the fullness of deity dwells bodily (John 2:19–22; Col. 2:9) and in His church in union with Him (1 Cor. 3:16; Eph. 2:21–22). and I will stablish the throne of his kingdom for ever. Uniquely applies to Christ (Isa. 9:7; Luke 1:31–32).

7:14 I will be his father, and he shall be my son. A legal relationship applicable to every Davidic king but uniquely descriptive of Christ, both as the eternal Son of God and the appointed Son of Man. If he commit iniquity, I will chasten. Literally, "when he goes astray, I will correct or rebuke." David's lesser sons will certainly sin, indeed in far worse ways than Saul, and they will be held accountable.

7:15 my mercy shall not depart. My covenant loyalty will not turn aside. The sins of the lesser sons could not jeopardize the coming of David's greater son. The covenant promise is unconditional because the ideal seed or offspring of David is Christ.

7:18–19 David realized that God had a greater purpose beyond his family and time. manner of man. Literally, "instruction or revelation for mankind." Part of a declarative statement revealing David's understanding of the worldwide implications of the messianic promise.

7:20 thy servant. The Lord had addressed King David as "my servant" (v. 8), and David repeatedly echoes these words (ten times in vv. 19–29) to express his humble commitment to do God's will for His glory.

7:22 neither is there any God beside thee. God's covenant and messianic kingdom reveal His unique greatness, moving people to praise Him.

7:23 thy people. God's covenant with David advances the fulfillment of His covenant with Israel through Moses. terrible. Fearful or awe-inspiring.

7:25 And now, O LORD God. Having learned God's will, he prays for God's will to be done. God's Word and prayer are always linked.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 7

1. Although God's covenant promise to David narrowed the identity of the Messiah to the family of David, David realized that the significance of the promise went far beyond the concerns of his family and little kingdom. He made a profound statement reflecting his faith and insight into worldwide significance: "this is the revelation for humanity." David saw that his Seed was going to be a source of blessing for the world, just as in the promise to Abraham hundreds of years earlier (Gen. 12:3; 22:18). How does the gospel make the covenant with David good news for us today?
2. David's prayer following the promise provides a wonderful pattern for us as we pray. As you work through the prayer, note the recognition of God's free grace (v. 21), greatness (v. 22), goodness (v. 23), and gracious covenant (v. 24). Our prayers likewise should be full of praises for these things. Note also the desire for God's glory (v. 26) and the plea for God's revealed will to be done (vv. 28–29). In the same way we should seek God's honor in all our prayers and turn God's promises into petitions that He would do what He has said.

The Power, Justice, and Mercy of King David (2 Sam. 8:1—10:19)

Chapter 8: David defeats a host of Israel's enemies and reigns over Israel with justice.

8:2 and measured them with a line. A rope was used to divide the prisoners of war into two groups, one sentenced to death and the other spared. The criterion for the allotment is not specified. casting them down. Making them lie down. brought gifts. In the sense of tribute payments, a common practice for a vassal state (v. 6).

8:3 to recover his border. Literally, "to restore his hand," in the sense of reclaiming possessions.

8:4 houghed. Cut the hamstring, making the horses unusable.

8:5 succour. Help or assist.

8:8 brass. See 1 Chron. 18:8.

8:10 salute him. Send greetings by asking about his welfare. bless him. In the sense of praising or congratulating him on his victory.

8:11 dedicate unto the LORD. He set aside or consecrated the spoils of war for the building of the temple. He did not keep it for himself.

8:13 gat him a name. Became famous in the land.

8:15 David executed judgment and justice. He demonstrated righteousness and justice in all of his legal decisions and administration—key qualities of a godly king (1 Kings 10:9; Ps. 72:1; Prov. 8:15–20; Isa. 9:7; Jer. 22:15; 23:5; Ezek. 45:9), for they reflect the character of God (Job 37:23; Pss. 33:5; 36:6; 89:14; 99:4; 103:6; Isa. 5:16).

8:16 recorder. Secretary, chronicling David's memorial accomplishments (a form of the word "to remember").

8:17 scribe. Secretary of state.

8:18 chief rulers. The Hebrew calls them priests, for which office David's sons would not have qualified. The word can have the sense of chieftain (1 Chron. 18:17).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 8

1. David's subduing one enemy after another is a wonderful picture pointing to the One greater than David, the Lord Jesus. He is the messianic and mediatorial King of His people, who conquers all of His and our enemies. He conquers His people by grace, making them willing in the day of His power (Ps. 110:3). He conquers His enemies with the rod of His strength (110:2). But whether by grace or by rod, He conquers. Those of us who are willing subjects should be careful to pledge to Him our allegiance and to praise Him for His benefits to us. Those who remain rebels should obey the call of the Spirit to honor the Son before it is too late (2:12).
2. David's just rule of his people is another pointer to the ideal King. God's decree regarding Messiah's kingdom was "to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice" forever (Isa. 9:7). Similarly, Ps. 72 details Messiah's execution of righteous judgments; His rule is ideal (45:6–7; Isa. 11:1–5). None other than Jesus satisfies the inspired job description of kings: "He that ruleth over men must be just, ruling in the fear of God" (2 Sam. 23:3). This should be great comfort to believers. So often it appears that wickedness reigns supreme and that life is filled with inequities. But the King and Judge of all the earth does only right, and justice will prevail (Eccl. 8:12–13). How can this truth strengthen Christians?

9:1 shew him kindness. Literally, "do with him covenant loyalty" (v. 7). David was moved both by love and by covenant obligation (1 Sam. 20:14–17).

9:3 lame on his feet. His nurse had dropped him when he was a child (4:4).

9:6 Mephibosheth. On his name, see note at 4:4.

9:10 till the land . . . at my table. David made provision for daily sustenance from Mephibosheth's land but reserved a place for him at the royal table at times of special feasting.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 9

1. This narrative is rich in parallels to the gospel that deserve meditation. We are reminded of the love of Jesus, who seeks out, saves, loves, and dwells with poor, ruined, worthless sinners and lays on them great and lasting mercy. David is a picture of the Savior who graciously and mercifully seeks those whom He will save. Mephibosheth is a picture of the sinner. His being lame and living in Lo-debar (no pasture) illustrate the sinner who has no power or resources of his own to remedy his dreadful state of misery. The bountiful provisions picture salvation itself. Being regarded and treated as the king's son and feasting at the royal banquets point to the believer's adoption into God's family and the enjoyment of all the benefits of grace as He brings poor, vile sinners into His house of wine (Song 2:4).

2. The episode also teaches very practical lessons. As David remembered his promise to Jonathan, so the child of God should always keep his word to others. Let it never be said that the men of this world keep their word better than the believer. The example of David here is worthy of imitation. The kindness that David showed to Mephibosheth also teaches us to show kindness to those who are in need. All true kindness shown by a child of God is Christlike. "Let us do good unto all men, but especially unto them who are of the household of faith" (Gal. 6:10).

Chapter 10: David triumphs over more enemies and executes vengeance against those who had humiliated his servants.

10:1 king of the children of Ammon. Nahash (v. 2).

10:2 shew kindness unto Hanun . . . as his father shewed kindness unto me. Illustrates the reciprocal nature of covenant loyalty. Most likely Nahash had protected David when fleeing from Saul.

10:4 shaved off the one half of their beards. Obvious acts of disrespect and humiliation.

10:6 they stank. They were hated, or became odious (1 Chron. 19:6). hired the Syrians. They were mercenary soldiers, 33,000 in total.

10:8 put the battle in array. Lined up in preparation for battle (vv. 10,17).

10:9 the front of the battle . . . before and behind. The attack or assault was coming from two directions; there were two front lines.

10:12 Be of good courage, and let us play the men. Literally, "be strong and show yourself to be strong." the LORD do . . . good. Strong human effort and activity are perfectly compatible with faith in God's sovereignty over the results.

10:13 drew nigh. Came near.

10:16 the river. The Euphrates.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 10

1. Hanun's rejection of David's kindness is analogous to the way sinners reject the mercy of God in the gospel. So many benefits were offered, but he was blinded to them by his own mind and by those who advised him. In this regard, he is much like the cursed man described in Jer. 17, who listens to his own deceitful heart leading him to depart from God (vv. 5,9) and is like the desert shrub that is insensitive to the good (v. 6). It is the deadness of the heart and the blindness of the eyes caused by sin that keeps man from seeing the beauty and wonder of the gospel. Hanun's repudiation of David's mercy was foolish and resulted in devastating consequences. But even more foolish and more severe are the consequences of rejecting the gospel.
2. Although Hanun rejected David, he showed his rejection by humiliating David's servants. Hanun could not get to David, so he took things out on those who represented him. This parallels the treatment believers often receive in this world, which is so hostile to God and grace. It is impossible for the world to get to God, so it demonstrates hatred of God by persecuting the church.

But this should not be surprising. We should not marvel if the world hates us (1 John 3:13) because Christ said "if the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you" (John 15:18). In the end, the son of David will repay the humiliation heaped on his people from the impenitent, unbelieving, and disobedient world. "Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord" (Rom. 12:19). How have you suffered humiliation for Christ?

THE CRIMES AND TROUBLES OF DAVID AND HIS HOUSEHOLD (2 SAM. 11:1—20:26)

David's Adultery, Murder, and Repentance (2 Sam. 11:1—12:31)

Chapter 11: David commits adultery and attempts to cover up his sin with deception and ultimately with murder.

11:2 in an eveningtide. Toward evening. upon the roof. In the architecture of that day, the flat-style roof was the place of entertainment and relaxation.

11:3 Uriah the Hittite. One of David's mighty men (23:39).

11:4 was purified from her uncleanness. See Lev. 15:18.

11:7 demanded. Literally, "asked concerning the welfare of."

11:8 mess of meat from the king. Literally, "the portion of the king."

11:11 shall I then go into mine house. Uriah's self-control and loyalty are in sharp contrast to David's lust and deception.

11:17 there fell some of the people. In trying to kill Uriah, David became a mass murderer.

11:27 displeased the LORD. Literally, "was evil in the eyes of the Lord."

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 11

1. Here we see sin in its progression from lust to act. In this case it arose from a casual glance at a beautiful woman. This shows how Eye-Gate, as John Bunyan calls it, is an entrance for sin into Man-Soul. We have a great need to do what Job did, to make a covenant with our eyes (Job 31:1). The eyes are not only a window to the soul but the inlet to many sins. Here we also see sin in its growth. A look led to lusting, lusting to adultery, adultery to lying, and lying to the murder of a valiant soldier. A conscience that is hardening to sin is a dangerous thing. The lusts of the flesh are powerful and deceitful. When we are out of God's plan we cannot expect His protection. If our eyes wander from Him, our hearts and feet will soon follow. Check your armor. Hold tight the sword of the Spirit, waging war against your own flesh. Never stop praying, "And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil" (Matt. 6:13).
2. David created this temptation by neglecting his duty as the Lord's king. As is true of so many other occasions in life, David should have been leading the battle, not relaxing at home. Thomas Watson said, "An idle person is the devil's tennis ball, which he bandies up and down with temptation till at last the ball goes out of play." In many ways the whole Christian life is the time for battle, and there is no discharge in this conflict. The enemy of the soul is constantly on the prowl, looking for places to attack. It is imperative that we do not neglect our duty to be on guard, to be equipped with the armor and arsenal God has provided, and to fight the good fight.

Chapter 12: David repents of his sin in response to the prophet, accepts as God's will the death of his child, is comforted by the birth of Solomon, and returns to the place of battle.

12:3 meat. Any kind of food.

12:4 dress. Prepare food for eating.

12:11 evil. Trouble or calamity. neighbour. Companion, comrade, or friend. in the sight of this sun. Private sins bring public consequences, either now or on judgment day.

12:13 I have sinned. The prophetic word brought David to confession. His conscience had kept him in misery, but confessing sin brought freedom (Ps. 32:1–5). Sin is always a hostile presence in a believer.

12:14 occasion to the enemies of the LORD to blaspheme. The sins of believers publically dishonor God in the eyes of the world (Rom. 2:24; Titus 2:5,8,10).

12:16 besought God. Sought or pleaded in prayer. fasted. David refrained from eating in order to devote himself to uninterrupted prayer.

12:18 vex himself. Literally, "do a harmful thing."

12:20 came into the house of the LORD, and worshipped. He acknowledged the justice of God, being at peace with God's will as evidence of a restored relationship with God. required. Asked.

12:23 I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me. At the very least, David's acknowledgment that he, too, would go to the grave. But David's peaceful reaction to the death of this child, in contrast to his exceeding grief over Absalom's death (18:33), suggests his hope regarding covenant children dying in infancy.

12:24 Solomon. The name (Hebrew, Shelomoh) is related to the word "peace" (shalom).

12:25 Jedidiah. Means "beloved of the Lord" (v. 24). The Lord revealed that Solomon would be the heir of David's throne, rule the kingdom in peace, and build the temple (1 Chron. 22:9–10), as promised in the covenant with David (2 Sam. 7:12–17).

12:29 David gathered all the people together. Having learned his lesson, he went to battle instead of staying at home.

12:30 talent. A weight between sixty-five and seventy pounds.

12:31 put them under. Appointed them to various spheres of forced labor. harrows. Some sort of pick or sharp instrument. pass through the brickkiln. Work at or bring what they had cut to an oven that baked and hardened bricks.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 12

1. David had persisted in unconfessed sin for some time, though as far as anyone else could tell all was well. But according to Pss. 32 and 51 a battle was raging within David: his sin was ever before him, as two armies lining up for war (51:3; also the turmoil described in 32:3–5). David was miserable in his sin, yet he made no confession to the Lord. God graciously sent the prophet with a word, not to remind David of his sin but to bring David to his spiritual senses to appeal to God for mercy. Although God is plenteous in mercy and ready to pardon (Neh. 9:17), believers are often slow to confess and enjoy restoration to the place of fellowship with God. It is wise to keep our accounts short before the Lord, confessing our sins immediately, lest the sense of guilt rob us of all spiritual joy. First John 1:9 should be the Nathan-like word for sinning Christians: "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins."
2. The death of the child indicates that consequences for sin are necessary parts of God's discipline (Ps. 94:12; Prov. 3:11–12; Heb. 12:5–11; Rev. 3:19). Even sorrow over sin and the resolution to turn from it do not exempt us from all its consequences. Sometimes erring children assume that simply telling their parents they are sorry for a bad behavior will excuse them from any disciplinary action. But learning that sin has consequences and then experiencing those consequences is itself a sanctifying process (Prov. 20:30). The best way to avoid sin's consequences is to avoid sin. Why is it a mercy that God disciplines His people?

Amnon's Incest and Absalom's Revenge (2 Sam. 13:1—14:33)

Chapter 13: Amnon commits incest with his half sister and then is murdered by Absalom.

13:1 fair. Beautiful.

13:2 vexed. Depressed. Amnon thought it hard. Literally, "it was difficult in the eyes of Amnon."

13:3 subtil. Skillful in the sense of being cunning.

13:4 lean. As well as "thin," the Hebrew can mean "downcast" or "sullen."

13:5 dress the meat. Administer a patient's or sick person's diet of food (also vv. 7,10).

13:6 cakes. Most likely some sort of pancake (v. 8).

13:11 Come lie with me, my sister. A forbidden act in the law of God (Lev. 18:9; 20:17).

13:12 do not force me. The Hebrew means "do not do violence to me" or "humble me" (vv. 14,22).

13:14 Howbeit he would not hearken. But he would not listen.

13:18–19 garment of divers colours. A tunic of multi-colored material (Gen. 37:3). put ashes . . . rent. Common gestures of grief and mourning.

13:21 wroth. Angry.

13:25 lest we be chargeable unto thee. Literally, "lest we be heavy upon you," in the sense of being a burden. pressed. Urged (v. 27).

13:29 gat him up upon his mule. Literally, "rode upon his mule."

13:31 tare his garments. Tore his clothes, a gesture expressing grief or mourning.

13:36 very sore. Greatly. Already the sword was coming down upon David's household for his sins (12:10).

13:37 Talmai . . . king of Geshur. Absalom fled to his maternal grandfather (1 Chron. 3:2).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 13

1. The friendship between Amnon and Jonadab is a warning about having the right kind of friends. Godly friends can be effective in providing accountability and preventing behavior that is displeasing to God. But Jonadab was just the opposite. Instead of trying to quench the lusts that burned in the heart of Amnon, he advised him how he might satisfy his lust. Christian parents should always keep before their children the directive of Prov. 1:10, "My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not." We all should avoid the kind of friendships that corrupt and foster those that aid for godliness.
2. Amnon was a fornicator before he forced Tamar (Matt. 5:28). Similarly, Absalom was a murderer long before he plotted Amnon's death, for he hated him (v. 22; see Matt. 5:22; 1 John 3:15). Both testify to what happens when lust is not subdued. Sin begins in the head and heart before it shows itself in action. This is why it is so vital to think proper and godly thoughts. Had the minds of Amnon and Absalom been filled with the thoughts expressed in Phil. 4:8, the tragedy of this narrative could have been avoided. Let us learn from their tragedy to keeps our minds and hearts fixed on spiritual matters. Right thinking produces right living.

Chapter 14: Joab schemes for Absalom's return, and Absalom pressures Joab to gain an audience with the king.

14:1 the king's heart was toward Absalom. David's heart longed to be reunited with his son (13:39).

14:2 feign thyself to be a mourner. Literally, "observe mourning rites" or "play the mourner."

14:4 did obeisance. Bowed down.

14:8 give charge. Command.

14:11 suffer. Allow.

14:13 faulty. Guilty.

14:17 angel of God. Messenger of or from God (v. 20).

14:19 bade. Hebrew, "commanded."

14:25 his beauty. Ironically, one so handsome on the outside was so ugly within.

14:26 polled. Cut or shaved. two hundred shekels. Approximately five-and-a-half pounds.

14:27 fair countenance. Literally, "beautiful of appearance."

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 14

1. In her story to David, the woman of Tekoa makes a remarkable statement deserving of pause and meditation (v. 14). The first part reminds us of the certainty of death: "we must needs die" (cf. Pss. 49:7–12,17,20; 89:47–48; Heb. 9:27). Acknowledging the certainty of death is not to generate morbid thoughts, but it should be a motive to take full advantage of the time that God allots us to be ready for eternity by trusting in Christ and serving Him wholeheartedly, since death marks the end of earthly opportunity (like water that is spilled, v.14).
2. The second part of verse 14 draws a straight and bold line to the gospel: God devises "means, that his banished be not expelled from him." In Adam, all humanity was banished from Paradise (Gen. 3:24). But God in His grace devised a plan whereby sinners, outcasts from His presence, might be reconciled to Him. The promised Seed of the Woman, the Seed of Abraham and David, would come in the fullness of time to redeem those who were under the curse. Because of the work of Jesus Christ, the way of access has been opened to the very presence of God for all those who trust in Him as the only way, truth, and life. The first Adam lost the earthly Paradise; the second Adam regains the heavenly paradise for His people.

Absalom's Rebellion against David (2 Sam. 15:1—17:29)

Chapter 15: Absalom schemes to usurp the throne, and David flees for safety.

15:5 do him obeisance. Bow down to him. By turning the people's submissive gestures to expressions of approachability and warmth, Absalom flattered them and won their hearts.

15:7 Hebron. Both the place of his birth and the place of David's initial coronation.

15:8 I will serve the LORD. Seemingly without conscience, he uses religion to mask his treachery and treason.

15:11 their simplicity. Their innocence; they were not part of the conspiracy.

15:14 bring evil upon us. Hebrew, "thrust calamity on us."

15:15 appoint. Hebrew, "choose."

15:19 stranger. Foreigner.

15:27 seer. Prophet.

15:31 O Lord, I pray thee. David's prayer for the frustration of Ahithophel's counsel showed his continuing dependence on God, and God's answer would prove decisive in the conflict (17:14).

15:32 his coat rent, and earth upon his head. Gestures of grief and mourning.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 15

1. In many ways, David's family trouble is his reaping what he has sown. On the one hand, David is reaping the sad consequences of the complex home situation of having multiple wives with competing children. Marriage outside God's revealed standard is always an open door to trouble. But most to the point is that this rebellion by Absalom is the consequence of David's sin with Bath-sheba: "the sword shall never depart from thine house" (12:10). His sin was forgiven, and even some good things followed from this union, including the coming Christ (Matt. 1:6). Nonetheless, there are unavoidable consequences of sin; hence the warning of Gal. 6:7: what you sow you will reap.
2. Although Absalom's rebellion was a component in David's predicted family trouble, Absalom was not exempt from personal responsibility and guilt for his actions. He was deceitful, treacherous, and disloyal to his father, whom he should have honored (fifth commandment). His charisma and bold promises appealed to the temporal needs of those he seduced from David's kingdom. He had ambition, but ambition in fools is a dangerous thing. He thought more highly of himself than he ought and sought a position for himself that was not ordained by God. His folly stands as a warning against all selfish ambition. We must remember that God makes men what they are, and the child of God should always be submissive to the place to which he is called (1 Cor. 7:20). Are you envious of others or content to serve the Lord where He has placed you?

Chapter 16: David is deceived by Ziba and cursed by Shimei, and Absalom enters Jerusalem and follows the advice of Ahithophel.

16:3 where is thy master's son? Saul was the master (9:2) and Mephibosheth the son, Saul's grandson. for he said. Mephibosheth denies this (19:24–34). David was deceived.

16:4 thine are all that pertained unto Mephibosheth. David makes a hasty decision without consulting Mephibosheth. Ziba took advantage of David in a time of trouble.

16:5 he came forth, and cursed still as he came. Literally, "one going out was going out and [he was] one cursing"; he was railing and declaring a curse on David with every step.

16:7 bloody man. Literally, "man of bloods," referring to blood shedding or blood guiltiness (v. 8). man of Belial. One who is a useless, worthless good-for-nothing (see note at 1 Sam. 1:16).

16:8 the blood of the house of Saul. In Hebrew, "blood" is plural, here referring to blood that has been shed. behold, thou art taken in thy mischief. Literally, "behold you, in your evil," the idea being "here you are in your trouble," getting what you deserve.

16:11 the Lord hath bidden him. God commanded him, not in the sense of speaking a word for Shimei to obey but in secretly decreeing all that comes to pass (Lam. 3:37–38). David's faith in God's providence preserved him from seeking personal revenge.

16:12 mine affliction. Literally, "my eyes," perhaps referring to his tears. requite. The Hebrew is "to return."

16:13 cursed as he went. Literally, “walking and he cursed,” an idiom meaning that he cursed continually.

16:15 Ahithophel. Previously part of David’s inner circle (15:12; 1 Chron. 27:33).

16:16 God save the king. Literally, “may the king live.” Hushai was David’s agent to defeat Ahithophel’s counsel (15:32–37).

16:17 kindness to thy friend. Loyalty to David. Absalom expressed suspicion regarding Hushai.

16:18–19 Reassuring words to Absalom to ensure the success of his mission against David.

16:22 Absalom went in unto his father’s concubines in the sight of all Israel. The public violation of David’s concubines was a despicable crime by Absalom, and yet this was also God’s just judgment against the house of David for his sins (12:11–12).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 16

1. Proverbs 18:17 says, “He that is first in his own cause seemeth just.” This is why it is always wise to hear both sides of a matter before rushing to judgment. The interchange between Ziba and David is a case in point. Ziba sought to gain favor with David by misrepresenting Mephibosheth, and David took Ziba at his word without consulting with Mephibosheth to get his side of the story, which later exposed Ziba’s deception (2 Sam. 19:24–30). Ziba’s actions were contemptible, and David’s were rash and unfounded. Too often we rush to judgment without knowing all the facts and do harm to our fellow believers. Before believing every accusation or rumor, let us learn all the facts and give priority to meeting directly with the other person (Matt. 18:15).
2. David once again expresses his confidence in God’s justice. Rather than taking personal vengeance on Shimei, which he had the opportunity to do, he left the matter with the Lord (v. 12). This relative of Saul (v. 5) experienced the same mercy from David that Saul himself had experienced when David passed up opportunities to take revenge. It is always easiest to fight fire with fire, but allowing oneself to be abused and then showing mercy is often a more powerful weapon (Prov. 25:21–22).

Chapter 17: Hushai overturns Ahithophel’s counsel, causing him to hang himself.

17:3 I will bring back. The Hebrew is not a prediction but a statement of resolve: “I am determined to bring back.” He is certain that killing David will solidify the kingdom for Absalom.

17:8 chafed in their minds. Literally, “bitter or fierce ones of soul.”

17:13 if he be gotten into a city. Literally, “if to a city he is gathered.”

17:14 had appointed to defeat. Literally, “had commanded to foil or make ineffectual.” bring evil. Cause calamity or disaster. In answer to David’s prayer (15:31), God exercised His sovereignty over the minds of Absalom and his men to blind them to Ahithophel’s good counsel.

17:17 Jonathan and Ahimaaz. Those sent by the priests to warn David (15:27–28). wench. Slave-girl.

17:20 the woman said unto them. Truth is ultimately fidelity to God and His cause.

17:23 gat him home to his house. Literally, “went to his house.”

17:26 Gilead, the mountain range east of the Jordan.

17:27 Shobi the son of Nahash. Ironically, it was his brother Hanun who had treated David’s servants with contempt (10:1–4).

17:28 basons. Cups or bowls. parched. Roasted.

17:29 kine. Cows.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 17

Verse 14 is the key thought in the chapter. The scene is filled with intrigue, political maneuvering, daring courage, and humanitarian relief, but behind the scene is the throne of God. The Lord decreed and orchestrated every detail to bring down Absalom in order to preserve David and his throne (Ps. 33:9–11). As events unfolded, there were moments when it seemed that Absalom would prevail, but God ordained his failure, and David's safety was never in real jeopardy. This should be a comforting thought for all of God's people. It is easy to become distracted and discouraged by the things we see happening, but we should always remember that God is in heaven and that He does what pleases Him (Ps. 135:5–6). No power in hell or on earth can stop Christ (Rom. 8:38–39). How do you need to rely upon Him today?

Absalom's Death and David's Restoration (2 Sam. 18:1—19:40)

Chapter 18: David's forces defeat their enemies and kill Absalom, bringing great grief to David.

18:3 better that thou succour us out of the city. Literally, it is "good that you should be for us to help from the city."

18:8 the wood devoured more . . . than the sword devoured. Most of Absalom's losses took place due to his getting caught in dense brush (v. 9) or to wild animals or other dangers in the forest.

18:9 his head caught hold of the oak. Providentially, one of the casualties of the woods.

18:11 a girdle. A belt, perhaps signifying some sort of promotion in military rank.

18:12 Beware. Hebrew, "be on guard or watch carefully."

18:13 wrought falsehood. The Hebrew can mean "to do what is wrong."

18:14 darts. Rods used as weapons, perhaps iron with spikes.

18:15 compassed about. Surrounded.

18:18 king's dale. Valley of the king.

18:25 came apace, and drew near. Literally, "came walking and approaching," an idiom for coming closer and closer.

18:27 Me thinketh the running. Literally, "I see the running style of."

18:31 Tidings, my lord. Literally, "may the lord receive good news."

18:32 be as that young man is. That is, dead like his son Absalom.

18:33 the king was much moved. He trembled, being greatly troubled. would God I had died for thee. An idiom expressing desire; literally, "who would give my death, I instead of you."

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 18

1. Absalom has been justly denounced as "the first of traitors and the worst of sons." We see in this chapter that the end of the rebellious is destruction. Absalom, who aspired to the crown, found a grave instead. Ironically, He had set up a monument to his own name and was buried beneath a heap of stones. He had hoped to make his name famous, similar to Shebna, who made a conspicuous grave for himself, only to be cast out in shame (Isa. 22:15–19). Pride comes before destruction. We should all learn that there is a watchful eye of justice for rebellion and disobedience against authority.

2. We see the pain of heart in a good father. The sins of children are always a grief to Christian parents, and tragically so when rebellious children persist in their sins to the end without repentance. David was overwhelmed with grief when he heard of his son's tragic end, for he knew that his son had died without hope in the world. Like Paul, who wished himself accursed from Christ if it meant the salvation of his kinsmen (Rom. 9:3–4), David wished that he could have died if it had meant sparing his son from condemnation. Children should always remember how much their salvation means to their believing parents and follow their parental instruction to submit to the Lord.

Chapter 19: David is restored to the throne and deals kindly and justly with both his antagonists and loyalists.

19:3 gat them by stealth. Entered stealthily. They had been victorious, but they acted as though they had been defeated.

19:4 covered his face. A gesture of mourning.

19:7 speak comfortably. Literally, "speak to the heart." evil. Trouble.

19:13 in the room of. Instead of.

19:25 Wherefore wentest not thou. Why did you not go . . . ?

19:27 angel of God. Messenger of God.

19:28–30 Mephibosheth demonstrated great humility, gratitude, and love for David despite the injustice done to him. His greatest joy was seeing David return in peace, not recovering property. In this Mephibosheth showed himself a true son of Jonathan (1 Sam. 18:1–4; 20:16–17).

19:32 fourscore. Eighty.

19:35 can I discern between good and evil? Barzillai's ability to reason rightly was departing with age.

19:38 require of me. The Hebrew is "to choose."

The Rebellion of Sheba against David (2 Sam. 19:41—20:26)

19:41–43 Although it was a united monarchy, there was always a tension between Judah and the other tribes of Israel (1 Sam. 11:8; 17:52; 18:16; 2 Sam. 2:8–10; 20:2) that would intensify in time.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 19

David's treatment of Shimei illustrates how to deal with those who have wronged us and points to the even greater mercy shown by Christ, David's greater son. David never looked more Christlike than when he pardoned Shimei. Shimei's sins were great, making David's forgiveness that much greater. This reminds us of the great work of Christ, that "God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Rom. 5:8). As Matthew Henry says, "They that are forgiven, must forgive."

Chapter 20: Sheba's revolt is subdued, assuring the restoration of David, and Joab murders Amasa, securing his command of Israel's army.

20:1 man of Belial. See note at 16:7.

20:2 clave. Clung; the men of Judah stuck with David. Here is evidence of the tension between Judah and the other tribes.

20:3 in ward. Under guard. shut up. Locked in. No reason is given, but perhaps because of the affair involving Absalom (16:20–22).

20:4 Amasa. Commissioned by David to replace Joab (19:13).

20:5 he tarried longer than the set time. Perhaps delayed by the people's suspicion of him since he had served under Absalom (17:25).

20:7 the Cherethites, and the Pelethites. Mercenaries who had helped David before (8:18; 15:18).

20:8 girded unto him. Secured with a belt. girdle. Band or belt for carrying the sword. upon his loins. Around his hips.

20:9 Art thou in health. Literally, "Are you [in] peace?" a common greeting like "How are you?"

20:10 the fifth rib. The Hebrew designates the abdomen. bowels. Entrails or intestines. struck him not again. Literally, "did not repeat," so severe and on target was the first thrust that death was certain even if not immediate.

20:12 the man. A man; the Hebrew often uses the article "the" in a generic or indefinite sense.

20:15 a bank. A mound or assault ramp to scale the city wall. it stood in the trench. Literally, "it stood [was placed] against the outer rampart."

20:18 were wont to speak in old time. Were accustomed to speak; literally, "certainly spoke in former time."

20:22 retired. Dispersed.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 20

1. Joab's treacherous murder of Amasa shows the depths to which envy and selfish ambition can plunge. Because of Amasa's promotion, Joab no longer enjoyed the rank and privilege that once had been his, and he was willing and capable of doing anything to regain it, including murder. Discontent with one's position and envy over another's may not lead to the same horrific crime, but those attitudes are always violations of the tenth commandment not to covet what belongs to another. It is a noble Christian virtue to be able to rejoice with others (Rom. 12:15) without yielding to the temptation to envy. Sadly, the church of Christ is not immune to this creeping sin. The Lord's own disciples were guilty of it. We must pray against the spirit that asks, "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?" (Matt. 18:1). The only remedy is to be like Christ, who humbled himself (Phil. 2:5).
2. The wise woman of Abel mirrors the poor wise man who by his wisdom delivered a city (Eccl. 8:14–15). Without her actions, a whole city of innocent people would have been destroyed because of the rebellion of one man. Should not the believer follow her example and strive, even if the task is hard, to calm the storm of contending parties? "Blessed are the peacemakers" (Matt. 5:9). Do you know people in conflict? How might you speak a word of peace?

THE CONCLUSION OF DAVID'S REIGN (2 SAM. 21:1—24:25)

Chapter 21: David allows the Gibeonites to avenge themselves for Saul's breaking an ancient covenant, and war erupts with the Philistines.

Vengeance for the Gibeonites on Saul's Family (21:1–14)

21:1 enquired of the LORD. Literally, "sought the face of the Lord."

21:2 See Josh. 9:3–17 for Israel's covenant with the Gibeonites, which Saul violated.

21:3 wherewith shall I make the atonement. What can I do to appease or make amends?

21:6 Let seven men of his sons be delivered. Most likely these sons were complicit in the attack on the Gibeonites.

21:7 But the king spared Mephibosheth. David's covenant with Jonathan guaranteed Mephibosheth's safety (1 Sam. 18:3; 20:8,42; 23:18).

21:10 took sackcloth. A sign of mourning.

War between the Philistines and an Aging David (21:15–22)

21:15 waxed faint. Became tired.

21:16 three hundred shekels. Approximately eight and a quarter pounds. girded. Secured with a belt.

21:17 succoured. Helped. that thou quench not the light. Literally, "lest you extinguish the lamp." David's death in battle would bring chaos, like floundering in the dark. His dynasty was later compared to a lamp kept shining in Jerusalem by God's mercy (1 Kings 11:36; 15:4; 2 Kings 8:19). David was the light of Israel, but his descendant Jesus Christ is the "light of the world" (John 8:12).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 21

1. Covenant promises are binding, and breaking them has serious consequences. Joshua made a covenant with the Gibeonites to let them live (Josh. 9:15). Years later, Saul broke that covenant by slaying the Gibeonites (2 Sam. 21:1). Years after that Israel suffers a famine, and it is not until David seeks the reason from the Lord that he learns that it is because of Saul's covenant transgression. Saul did not make the covenant, but he was liable to it. David had not violated the covenant, but he was liable for it. Could it be that troubles and trials that seem to come without reason can be traced to vows made long ago that have been forgotten? We may forget, but God does not. Vows, if made, must be kept (Eccl. 5:4–6). God takes them seriously.
2. That the nation suffered because of Saul's sin is a vivid reminder of the powerful influence of sin. In one sense, there is no such thing as private sin. Either by example or by consequence, sin affects others. This is magnified when leaders sin because the sphere of their influence is so great. It is particularly important for those in authority, whether civil, religious, or in the home, to live in such a way as to influence positively those under their authority. It is important to pray for those in authority that they might rule well for our own benefit (1 Tim. 2:2).

Chapter 22: Recognizing God as the source of every deliverance and blessing, David offers his praise and thanksgiving.

The Song of David to the Lord (2 Sam. 22:1–51)

22:1 in the day. A Hebrew idiom meaning "when."

22:2 With only minor variations, this psalm of thanksgiving is the same as Ps. 18 (see the notes there).

22:3 horn. A common image for strength or power.

22:6 hell. The Hebrew, sheol, can refer to death, the grave, or the abode of departed wicked spirits. The parallelism here would suggest that it refers to death.

22:8 wroth. Angry.

22:12 pavilions. Booths or tents.

22:15 discomfited. Confused.

22:16 discovered. Uncovered or exposed.

22:19 prevented. The Hebrew is "confronted." stay. Support or staff.

22:27 froward. Twisted or perverted. shew thyself unsavoury. Hebrew, "prove oneself tortuous."

22:30 run through a troop . . . leaped over a wall. The image of bursting through a marauding band, the enemy lines, and jumping over their defenses.

22:31 tried. Refined and therefore pure. buckler. Shield.

22:32 save. Except.

22:34 hinds' feet. Feet of does of fallow deer.

22:40 girded. Surrounded.

22:45–46 Strangers. Foreigners.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 22

> This song of David testifies to his recognition that he owes everything to the Lord's mercy, covenant faithfulness, and timely providences. He is careful to give the Lord the thanks and praise He deserves. Similarly, we should be conscious of and sensitive to all that God does for us in preserving, protecting, and providentially meeting our every need. Like David, we should lift our hearts and voices in praise and thanksgiving. God does not grow weary of the praise of His people, even when they are praising Him for the same things over and again. That David's song in this chapter is virtually the same as Ps. 18 directs us never to forget the Lord's benefits to us and never to cease praising Him for them. It is quite acceptable to repeat; God is not looking for originality so much as He desires genuineness and sincerity.

Chapter 23: David speaks his last words and recounts the mighty men of valor.

David's Last Words (2 Sam. 23:1–7)

23:1 anointed. The Hebrew is transliterated into English as "Messiah" and was translated into Greek as "Christ." David, one of the lesser "messiahs," prefigured and pointed to the ideal Messiah or Anointed One to come.

23:2 The Spirit of the LORD spake by me. David was aware that his words came by divine inspiration of the Spirit.

23:5 This statement is a high water mark of David's faith, expressing his understanding that even though his house would fail and falter, the covenant was sure because it would find unconditional fulfillment in the Christ, his salvation and all his desire (7:12–16; Ps. 89:19–37).

23:6 Belial. See note at 16:7.

23:7 fenced with iron. Hebrew, "filled with iron."

David's Mighty Men (23:8–39)

23:10 clave. To cling or to remain stuck. His grip became frozen because he had been holding it so long.

23:11 troop. Army.

23:13 pitched. Encamped.

23:14 an hold. A mountain fortress or stronghold.

23:16 poured it out unto the LORD. As an offering to him and a display of his dedication.

23:18 had the name among three. The most famous of the three.

23:21 a goodly man. Literally, "a man of appearance." See 1 Chron. 11:23, where he is called a "man of measure" or great stature.

23:23 He was more honourable than the thirty . . . attained not to the first three. His reputation was greater than that of most, but not the best.

23:24 Asahel . . . was one of the thirty. More properly, "over the thirty."

23:39 Uriah the Hittite. David now comes full circle to all his troubles, giving honor to the man who died for his lust.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 23

1. David's description of the ideal ruler (vv. 3–4) points directly to the one and only King who meets the requirements, the Lord Jesus. David rejoiced at the prospect of the coming of Messiah, the ultimate fulfillment of the covenant promise. He acknowledged Christ as his salvation and the totality of his desire. David looked to Christ's coming; we rejoice in the fact that He has come and indeed is coming again. Christ is the salvation of His people. Let it be true that He is all our hearts' desire as well.
2. The exploits of David's mighty men are noteworthy. Each of these men was completely devoted and loyal to David to the extent that they risked their own lives for the welfare of their king. They were courageous and determined in serving their king. If they were willing to expend themselves in such ways in the service of an earthly king, how much more should the servants of Christ, the heavenly King, not give themselves in total devotion and selfless service to Him and the advancing of His kingdom? He has given us the equipment we need to fight our battles (Eph. 6:10–18), so let us abandon ourselves to His service. In your particular calling and place in life, how can you strive to be a mighty man or woman for the Lord?

Chapter 24: David numbers the people, bringing a plague upon them that stops after David's repentance.

The Tragic Census of Israel (2 Sam. 24:1–25)

24:1 he moved David. Here the Lord incites David, whereas 1 Chron. 21:1 attributes the action to Satan. There is no contradiction nor any suggestion that God tempts to sin, something He does not do (James 1:13–14). What God uses as a test Satan turns into a temptation to sin.

24:2 that I may know. Numbering the people would have been an expression of pride rather than humble acknowledgement of the Lord as the builder of the kingdom.

24:5 the river of Gad. A small river or wadi (a stream-bed that flows during rainy seasons).

24:10 And David's heart smote him after. A stricken conscience regarding sin is an evidence of grace since sin is always a hostile presence in a believer (1 Sam. 24:5). iniquity. The principal word in the Old Testament for guilt. David's sense of guilt leads to immediate confession, unlike his wallowing in guilt when he sinned with Bath-sheba (chs. 11–12).

24:11 seer. Prophet.

24:13 pestilence. Plague (v. 15).

24:14 strait. Distress. mercies. Acts of compassion from seeing the misery of another.

24:16 repented him of the evil. Relented regarding the disaster (here the plague). On divine repentance and unchangeableness, see notes at 1 Sam. 15:11,29. stay now thine hand. Let the hand drop that was stretched out to execute the plague.

24:18 rear. Erect.

24:21 stayed. Restrained or brought to a halt (v. 25).

24:23 accept thee. Take pleasure or be favorable to you.

24:24 fifty shekels. Whereas 1 Chron. 21:25 says David paid 600 shekels. Rather than being a contradiction, what was purchased accounts for the discrepancy: 50 shekels for the threshing floor and oxen and 600 shekels for the whole piece of property that ultimately became the site of the temple (2 Chron. 3:1).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 24

1. Nebuchadnezzar boasted, "Is not this great Babylon, that I have built . . . ?" (Dan. 4:30). In many ways that boast is an echo of David at the close of his reign. David's numbering the people expressed his pride and sense of self-achievement. Throughout David's career, the evidence was unmistakable that it was God who built David's house, his kingdom (2 Sam. 7:8–16). During his reign, David himself confessed that even though some trusted in chariots and horses, he would acknowledge God (Ps. 20:7). Sadly, at the end his focus at least momentarily is on self. What appeared to be an innocent act had tragic consequences, touching the object of his pride. Let us be warned and let us walk humbly before God in all things, to His glory, not our own.
2. That David confessed immediately when his heart struck him (v. 10) is one of the most encouraging statements in the narrative. The Spirit dwelling in the believer reveals sin to the conscience and leads him to repentance. David did not delay; as soon as his conscience smote him he appealed to the Lord for mercy. That is the pattern to follow: deal with sin immediately. Sacrifices (v. 25) point to Christ's sacrifice that keeps on cleansing from sin (1 John 1:7). Significantly, David offers the burnt offering, which in part pictures complete consecration (everything on the altar), and the peace offering, which pictures the fellowship between God and the repentant sinner. When we receive forgiveness from God (1 John 1:9) we ought to dedicate ourselves anew to Him in thanksgiving (that's our reasonable service, Rom. 12:1). That the burnt offering particularly pictures consecration of self explains why David refused to offer to the Lord something that cost him nothing (2 Sam. 24:24). Christ's sacrifice cost Him everything upon the cross. While you cannot pay for your sins, following Christ will be costly. What has it cost you to be a Christian? Is there any area of repentance that you are avoiding because of the cost?

The Son of David

Both the Old and New Testaments frequently refer to the Son of David (see 2 Sam. 7:12; Matt. 22:41–46; Mark 10:47). Of course, David had many sons, but only one of them, Solomon, succeeded him on the throne (1 Kings 1:32–34). Yet when the Bible speaks of "the son of David" it often means someone far greater than Solomon or any other mere human descendant of David. Simply put, the term "Son of David" became a term for the Messiah, who has other titles as well, such as Son of God, Servant of the Lord, and Anointed One. We know from the New Testament that Christ is the true Son of David (Matt. 1:1; Rev. 22:16).

What is the significance of Christ being the Son of David? First, this means that God is faithful to His promises. God promised that David's seed, that is, his dynasty, "would be established forever before thee; thy throne shall be established for ever" (2 Sam. 7:16). Though many of David's descendants, such as Rehoboam, Asa, Hezekiah, and Josiah, sat on the throne of Judah, after the exile into Babylon none of David's physical descendants reigned. Yet in Jesus Christ God was faithful to this promise to David. God told Mary, the mother of Jesus, regarding the Son who would be born to her, "He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David: and he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end" (Luke 1:33).

Second, it means that Christ took upon Himself a human nature through the line of David. Paul makes this point in Romans 1:3: "Concerning his Son Jesus Christ our Lord, which was made of the seed of David according to the flesh." Christ did not come just as true God but also as true man. He was content to take upon Himself a human nature, and specifically one from the line of David.

Third, it means that Christ was like David in many ways, though unlike him in other ways. Sons are often like their fathers, and David's life and work prefigured Christ's life and ministry in some ways. Both were hounded by their enemies. Both gave themselves to the service of God. Both were known for their kindness to people such as Mephibosheth (2 Sam. 9), Bartimaeus (Mark 10:48), and the Canaanite woman (Matt. 15:22,28). Of course, Christ was unlike David in many other ways. He was without sin. He was permitted to build the temple of the Lord. His kingship is everlasting. And His death was meritorious.

Fourth, this means that Christ was greater than David. According to Psalm 110:1, David called His own Son "Lord" (cf. Matt. 22:45). He did this because His Son was actually at the same time the Son of God.

Fifth, it means that those engrafted into Christ can be called children of God. If Christ had not become the Son of David, sinners could not have been saved, and neither could they have received the privilege of calling God "Father" and be heirs of God together with Christ, the great Son of David. Psalm 89:26–36 gives the right and privilege of adoption to all those who belong to David's Son. This is confirmed repeatedly in the New Testament (Rom. 8:15–17; Gal. 4:6; 1 John 3:1–3).

Finally, it means that Christ is the great Bridegroom of His church and people. The Song of Solomon speaks of the relationship between Christ and His church under the names of Solomon, the son of David, and the Shulamite. Christ was the ultimate Son of David who wins a bride for Himself, cares for her, nourishes and sustains her, and shows her His beauty and grace forever.

God’s Foreknowledge

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOKS OF

1 AND 2 KINGS

Authorship

First and Second Kings constitute a single book, just as 1 and 2 Samuel are a single unit. Their division into four books traces back to the translation of Hebrew Scriptures into Greek in the Septuagint, which designated the books as the four books of Kingdoms. The currently accepted designations are attributed to Daniel Bomberg's printed edition of the Hebrew Scriptures in 1518. The different titles used to designate the books have no bearing on the content. But since 1 and 2 Kings are a single unit, their introductory matters are treated together.

The author of Kings was a prophet from the kingdom of Judah who lived through the first part of the Babylonian exile. His historical narrative ends with the lifting up of Jehoiachin from the Babylonian prison at the beginning of the reign of King Evil-merodach, Nebuchadnezzar's successor. The book is anonymous, but both the Jewish and Christian traditions identify Jeremiah as the author. Nothing in the book would prevent Jeremiah's authorship, and it would be fitting for this prophet, whose ministry focused on the events and causes leading to the Babylonian exile, to have been the inspired chronicler.

Date

The composition of 1 and 2 Kings would have been between 586 BC and 561 BC. These dates mark the destruction of Jerusalem and the death of Nebuchadnezzar, who was succeeded by Evil-merodach. These dates do not preclude Jeremiah's authorship, since he records the same events in his prophecy (Jer. 52:31).

The books' canonical context (the time of their composition) dates to the sixth century BC, but the historical context (the events detailed) is more extensive. There are inherent difficulties in determining an absolute chronology because of different ways of reckoning the reigns of kings, as well as periods of co-regencies, but the following provides a general chronology of key events and a chart with pertinent data for each king.

Dates (BC)	Key Events
1050–1010	Reign of King Saul
1010–970	Reign of King David
970–931	Reign of King Solomon
931	Division of the Kingdom between Rehoboam and Jeroboam
722	Israel's Exile by Assyria
606	Judah's First Partial Exile by Babylon
597	Judah's Second Partial Exile by Babylon
586	Jerusalem's Destruction and Judah's Exile by Babylon

Theme

The development, disruption, division, decline, and dispersion of the kingdom of God through the sons of David.

Purpose

To demonstrate that apostasy leads to judgment even as God remains faithful to His covenant promises.

Synopsis

The Contribution of 1 and 2 Kings to Redemptive Revelation

The book is in part a theodicy, a defense of divine justice. The nation had done that which was evil in the sight of the Lord, and in anger the Lord cast them out from His presence (2 Kings 24:19–20). The exile of Israel and later of Judah was not evidence of God's inability or failure to protect His covenant people, but rather the means He used to progress the promise and keep His covenant word. The purpose of the book is directly linked to the theology of Deuteronomy and its covenant warnings that possession of the land depended on covenant obedience (Deut. 27–28). By focusing on the religious history more than the civil, the book of Kings makes it undeniably clear that the Lord cast the people out from His presence because of their sins against Him. The Assyrians and Babylonians were the weapons in God's hand to accomplish His covenant purpose. God's faithfulness to the covenant promise to David is also in focus as David's dynasty continues, even though many of the kings failed terribly. But even the failure of Judah's kings served the purpose of increasing the desire and expectation of David's greater son, Jesus Christ, who would establish a perfect kingdom of righteousness and peace.

First Kings overviews Israel's history from David's death to Ahab's death, a period of approximately 120 years. This period was marked by God's continuing and unfailing covenant faithfulness, in contrast to the nation's checkered history of covenant obedience and covenant transgression. Kings were evaluated not according to their military or civil feats but on how they conformed to God's law, with Deuteronomy in the background. The focus on sins and failures serves an important redemptive function by highlighting the human condition that has no remedy apart from the King who was coming in fulfillment of God's covenant promise. The worst of kings, whether from Judah or from Israel, contributed to messianic theology and expectation. Understanding the need for Christ is a crucial component of understanding the gospel.

There were, as well, some high points that in a positive way pointed to the Messiah. The early days of Solomon highlighting his wisdom, his wealth, and his works are certainly typical (as in representative) of Christ, though they pale before Jesus, who said of Himself, "behold, a greater than Solomon is here" (Matt. 12:42). Likewise, the construction of the temple with all of its ornate beauty and ceremonial rituals points directly to Jesus, who said, "in this place is one greater than the temple" (Matt. 12:6).

Second Kings overviews the history of the divided monarchy from the reign of the northern king Ahaziah, Ahab's successor, to the favorable treatment of the southern king Jehoichin while he was a captive in Babylon, a period of approximately 290 years. This period was marked by spiritual darkness and decline in both kingdoms, apart from glimmers of light coming from the south (Judah), particularly during the reigns of Hezekiah and Josiah.

The special attention of Kings to the prophetic word also has redemptive significance since faith comes by hearing the Word of God. The kings of Judah and Israel were subject to the prophetic office. God sent His prophets to bring His authoritative Word, threatening these kings with punishment, calling them to repentance, and announcing deliverance. Most significant were Elijah and Elisha, whom God raised up at a crucial moment when the existence of true religion was under threat. Due to their preaching and miracles, the uniqueness of the one true and living God became indisputable. No matter how dark the day, God has a word that sheds light on the darkness.

Although not all of the writing prophets are mentioned in Kings, the fact that all of them (except the postexilic prophets Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi) ministered and wrote during the timeframe of 2 Kings testifies to God's grace in sending preachers to warn of judgment, to command repentance, and to announce the gospel of the Messiah as the only hope for sinners. The intensity of prophetic activity during this period, categorically rejected as it was by most who heard, heightens the sense of human depravity that makes the gospel so necessary. Even sin contributes to the redemptive message; apart from sin the need for the gospel would not exist.

God's covenant faithfulness in ensuring the coming of Christ is most vividly displayed in the treason of the wicked queen Athaliah (2 Kings 11), a seed of the serpent (Gen. 3:15). Had she succeeded in destroying the royal house, which was her intention, the promise of Messiah as the son of David would have been nullified. But God providentially secured Joash from her scheme, thus guaranteeing the line of David into which Christ would come. Nothing can frustrate God's unfailing redemptive purpose to send His Son as the Redeemer. As the book of Kings testifies, the rise and fall of various human kingdoms is all under the sovereign control of the one divine King, and He will establish the kingdom of His Son without fail.

Outline

Rather than repeating the list of kings presented earlier in this Introduction, the following outline will be briefer and more thematic.

1. The Development and Decline of the Kingdom under Solomon (1 Kings 1:1—11:43)
    1. Solomon's Coronation and Consolidation of the Kingdom (1 Kings 1:1—4:34)
    2. Solomon's Construction of the Temple by God's Covenant (1 Kings 5:1—9:9)
    3. Solomon's Wisdom and Wealth from the Lord (1 Kings 9:10—10:29)
    4. Solomon's Breaking the Covenant (1 Kings 11:1–43)
2. The Disruption and Division of the Kingdom (1 Kings 12:1–16:28)
    1. The Splitting of the Kingdom (1 Kings 12:1–24)
    2. The Apostasy of Israel and Discipline of Judah (1 Kings 12:25—14:31)
    3. Two Kingdoms in Conflict (1 Kings 15:1—16:28)
3. The Dispute of Elijah and Elisha for the Lord (1 Kings 16:29—2 Kings 13:25)
    1. The Ministry of Elijah against Ahab's House (1 Kings 16:29—2 Kings 1:18)
    2. The Glorification of Elijah and Empowerment of Elisha (2 Kings 2:1–25)
    3. The Ministry of Elisha against Ahab's House (2 Kings 3:1—10:36)
    4. The Deliverance of the Line of David in Judah (2 Kings 11:1—12:21)
    5. God's Patient Mercies toward Israel (2 Kings 13:1–25)
4. The Dispersion of the Kingdom (2 Kings 14:1—25:30)
    1. The Downward Spiral of Israel and Judah (2 Kings 14:1—16:20)
    2. The Destruction of Israel by Assyria (2 Kings 17:1–41)
    3. The Spiritual Revival of Judah under Hezekiah (2 Kings 18:1—20:21)
    4. The Spiritual Ruin of Judah by Manasseh and Amon (2 Kings 21:1–26)
    5. Another Revival of Judah under Josiah (2 Kings 22:1—23:30)
    6. The End of the Kingdom of Judah (2 Kings 23:31—25:30)

THE FIRST BOOK OF THE

KINGS

OTHERWISE CALLED THE THIRD BOOK OF THE KINGS

1 Kings 1 [†]

1 [†] Now king David was old and stricken in years; and they covered him with clothes, but he gat no heat.
2 [†] Wherefore his servants said unto him, Let there be sought for my lord the king a young virgin: and let her stand before the king, and let her cherish him, and let her lie in thy bosom, that my lord the king may get heat.
3 [†] So they sought for a fair damsel throughout all the coasts of Israel, and found Abishag a Shunammite, and brought her to the king.
4 And the damsel was very fair, and cherished the king, and ministered to him: but the king knew her not.
5 [†] ¶ Then Adonijah the son of Haggith exalted himself, saying, I will be king: and he prepared him chariots and horsemen, and fifty men to run before him.
6 [†] And his father had not displeased him at any time in saying, Why hast thou done so? and he also was a very goodly man; and his mother bare him after Absalom.
7 And he conferred with Joab the son of Zeruiah, and with Abiathar the priest: and they following Adonijah helped him.
8 But Zadok the priest, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and Nathan the prophet, and Shimei, and Rei, and the mighty men which belonged to David, were not with Adonijah.
9 And Adonijah slew sheep and oxen and fat cattle by the stone of Zoheleth, which is by En-rogel, and called all his brethren the king's sons, and all the men of Judah the king's servants:
10 But Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, and the mighty men, and Solomon his brother, he called not.
11 ¶ Wherefore Nathan spake unto Bath-sheba the mother of Solomon, saying, Hast thou not heard that Adonijah the son of Haggith doth reign, and David our lord knoweth it not?
12 Now therefore come, let me, I pray thee, give thee counsel, that thou mayest save thine own life, and the life of thy son Solomon.
13 Go and get thee in unto king David, and say unto him, Didst not thou, my lord, O king, swear unto thine handmaid, saying, Assuredly Solomon thy son shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne? why then doth Adonijah reign?
14 Behold, while thou yet talkest there with the king, I also will come in after thee, and confirm thy words.
15 ¶ And Bath-sheba went in unto the king into the chamber: and the king was very old; and Abishag the Shunammite ministered unto the king.
16 [†] And Bath-sheba bowed, and did obeisance unto the king. And the king said, What wouldest thou?
17 [†] And she said unto him, My lord, thou swarest by the Lord thy God unto thine handmaid, saying, Assuredly Solomon thy son shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne.
18 And now, behold, Adonijah reigneth; and now, my lord the king, thou knowest it not:
19 And he hath slain oxen and fat cattle and sheep in abundance, and hath called all the sons of the king, and Abiathar the priest, and Joab the captain of the host: but Solomon thy servant hath he not called.
20 And thou, my lord, O king, the eyes of all Israel are upon thee, that thou shouldest tell them who shall sit on the throne of my lord the king after him.
21 [†] Otherwise it shall come to pass, when my lord the king shall sleep with his fathers, that I and my son Solomon shall be counted offenders.
22 ¶ And, lo, while she yet talked with the king, Nathan the prophet also came in.
23 And they told the king, saying, Behold Nathan the prophet. And when he was come in before the king, he bowed himself before the king with his face to the ground.

24 And Nathan said, My lord, O king, hast thou said, Adonijah shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne?
25 [†] For he is gone down this day, and hath slain oxen and fat cattle and sheep in abundance, and hath called all the king's sons, and the captains of the host, and Abiathar the priest; and, behold, they eat and drink before him, and say, God save king Adonijah.
26 But me, even me thy servant, and Zadok the priest, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and thy servant Solomon, hath he not called.
27 Is this thing done by my lord the king, and thou hast not shewed it unto thy servant, who should sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?
28 ¶ Then king David answered and said, Call me Bath-sheba. And she came into the king's presence, and stood before the king.
29 And the king sware, and said, As the LORD liveth, that hath redeemed my soul out of all distress,
30 [†] Even as I sware unto thee by the LORD God of Israel, saying, Assuredly Solomon thy son shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne in my stead; even so will I certainly do this day.
31 Then Bath-sheba bowed with her face to the earth, and did reverence to the king, and said, Let my lord king David live for ever.
32 ¶ And king David said, Call me Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada. And they came before the king.
33 [†] The king also said unto them, Take with you the servants of your lord, and cause Solomon my son to ride upon mine own mule, and bring him down to Gihon:
34 [†] And let Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet anoint him there king over Israel: and blow ye with the trumpet, and say, God save king Solomon.
35 Then ye shall come up after him, that he may come and sit upon my throne; for he shall be king in my stead: and I have appointed him to be ruler over Israel and over Judah.
36 [†] And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered the king, and said, Amen: the LORD God of my lord the king say so too.
37 [†] As the LORD hath been with my lord the king, even so be he with Solomon, and make his throne greater than the throne of my lord king David.
38 So Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, went down, and caused Solomon to ride upon king David's mule, and brought him to Gihon.
39 [†] And Zadok the priest took an horn of oil out of the tabernacle, and anointed Solomon. And they blew the trumpet; and all the people said, God save king Solomon.
40 [†] And all the people came up after him, and the people piped with pipes, and rejoiced with great joy, so that the earth rent with the sound of them.
41 ¶ And Adonijah and all the guests that were with him heard it as they had made an end of eating. And when Joab heard the sound of the trumpet, he said, Wherefore is this noise of the city being in an uproar?
42 And while he yet spake, behold, Jonathan the son of Abiathar the priest came: and Adonijah said unto him, Come in; for thou art a valiant man, and bringest good tidings.
43 [†] And Jonathan answered and said to Adonijah, Verily our lord king David hath made Solomon king.
44 And the king hath sent with him Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, and they have caused him to ride upon the king's mule:
45 And Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet have anointed him king in Gihon: and they are come up from thence rejoicing, so that the city rang again. This is the noise that ye have heard.

46 And also Solomon sitteth on the throne of the kingdom.
47 [†] And moreover the king's servants came to bless our lord king David, saying, God make the name of Solomon better than thy name, and make his throne greater than thy throne. And the king bowed himself upon the bed.
48 And also thus said the king, Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, which hath given one to sit on my throne this day, mine eyes even seeing it.
49 And all the guests that were with Adonijah were afraid, and rose up, and went every man his way.
50 [†] ¶ And Adonijah feared because of Solomon, and arose, and went, and caught hold on the horns of the altar.
51 And it was told Solomon, saying, Behold, Adonijah feareth king Solomon: for, lo, he hath caught hold on the horns of the altar, saying, Let king Solomon swear unto me to day that he will not slay his servant with the sword.
52 And Solomon said, If he will shew himself a worthy man, there shall not an hair of him fall to the earth: but if wickedness shall be found in him, he shall die.
53 So king Solomon sent, and they brought him down from the altar. And he came and bowed himself to king Solomon: and Solomon said unto him, Go to thine house.

1 Kings 2 [†]

1 [†] Now the days of David drew nigh that he should die; and he charged Solomon his son, saying,
2 I go the way of all the earth: be thou strong therefore, and shew thyself a man;
3 [†] And keep the charge of the Lord thy God, to walk in his ways, to keep his statutes, and his commandments, and his judgments, and his testimonies, as it is written in the law of Moses, that thou mayest prosper in all that thou doest, and whithersoever thou turnest thyself:
4 [†] That the Lord may continue his word which he spake concerning me, saying, If thy children take heed to their way, to walk before me in truth with all their heart and with all their soul, there shall not fail thee (said he) a man on the throne of Israel.
5 [†] Moreover thou knowest also what Joab the son of Zeruiah did to me, and what he did to the two captains of the hosts of Israel, unto Abner the son of Ner, and unto Amasa the son of Jether, whom he slew, and shed the blood of war in peace, and put the blood of war upon his girdle that was about his loins, and in his shoes that were on his feet.
6 [†] Do therefore according to thy wisdom, and let not his hoar head go down to the grave in peace.
7 [†] But shew kindness unto the sons of Barzillai the Gileadite, and let them be of those that eat at thy table: for so they came to me when I fled because of Absalom thy brother.
8 [†] And, behold, thou hast with thee Shimei the son of Gera, a Benjamite of Bahurim, which cursed me with a grievous curse in the day when I went to Mahanaim: but he came down to meet me at Jordan, and I sware to him by the Lord, saying, I will not put thee to death with the sword.
9 Now therefore hold him not guiltless: for thou art a wise man, and knowest what thou oughtest to do unto him; but his hoar head bring thou down to the grave with blood.
10 [†] So David slept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David.
11 And the days that David reigned over Israel were forty years: seven years reigned he in Hebron, and thirty and three years reigned he in Jerusalem.
12 [†] ¶ Then sat Solomon upon the throne of David his father; and his kingdom was established greatly.
13 ¶ And Adonijah the son of Haggith came to Bath-sheba the mother of Solomon. And she said, Comest thou peaceably? And he said, Peaceably.
14 He said moreover, I have somewhat to say unto thee. And she said, Say on.
15 And he said, Thou knowest that the kingdom was mine, and that all Israel set their faces on me, that I should reign: howbeit the kingdom is turned about, and is become my brother's: for it was his from the Lord.
16 And now I ask one petition of thee, deny me not. And she said unto him, Say on.
17 And he said, Speak, I pray thee, unto Solomon the king, (for he will not say thee nay,) that he give me Abishag the Shunammite to wife.
18 And Bath-sheba said, Well; I will speak for thee unto the king.
19 ¶ Bath-sheba therefore went unto king Solomon, to speak unto him for Adonijah. And the king rose up to meet her, and bowed himself unto her, and sat down on his throne, and caused a seat to be set for the king's mother; and she sat on his right hand.
20 Then she said, I desire one small petition of thee; I pray thee, say me not nay. And the king said unto her, Ask on, my mother: for I will not say thee nay.
21 And she said, Let Abishag the Shunammite be given to Adonijah thy brother to wife.
22 And king Solomon answered and said unto his mother, And why dost thou ask Abishag the Shunammite for Adonijah? ask for him the kingdom also; for he is mine elder brother; even for him, and for Abiathar the priest, and for Joab the son of Zeruiah.

23 Then king Solomon sware by the LORD, saying, God do so to me, and more also, if Adonijah have not spoken this word against his own life.
24 Now therefore, as the LORD liveth, which hath established me, and set me on the throne of David my father, and who hath made me an house, as he promised, Adonijah shall be put to death this day.
25 And king Solomon sent by the hand of Benaiah the son of Jehoiada; and he fell upon him that he died.
26 ¶ And unto Abiathar the priest said the king, Get thee to Anathoth, unto thine own fields; for thou art worthy of death: but I will not at this time put thee to death, because thou barest the ark of the Lord GOD before David my father, and because thou hast been afflicted in all wherein my father was afflicted.
27 [†] So Solomon thrust out Abiathar from being priest unto the LORD; that he might fulfil the word of the LORD, which he spake concerning the house of Eli in Shiloh.
28 [†] ¶ Then tidings came to Joab: for Joab had turned after Adonijah, though he turned not after Absalom. And Joab fled unto the tabernacle of the LORD, and caught hold on the horns of the altar.
29 And it was told king Solomon that Joab was fled unto the tabernacle of the LORD; and, behold, he is by the altar. Then Solomon sent Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, saying, Go, fall upon him.
30 And Benaiah came to the tabernacle of the LORD, and said unto him, Thus saith the king, Come forth. And he said, Nay; but I will die here. And Benaiah brought the king word again, saying, Thus said Joab, and thus he answered me.
31 And the king said unto him, Do as he hath said, and fall upon him, and bury him; that thou mayest take away the innocent blood, which Joab shed, from me, and from the house of my father.
32 [†] And the LORD shall return his blood upon his own head, who fell upon two men more righteous and better than he, and slew them with the sword, my father David not knowing thereof, to wit, Abner the son of Ner, captain of the host of Israel, and Amasa the son of Jether, captain of the host of Judah.
33 Their blood shall therefore return upon the head of Joab, and upon the head of his seed for ever: but upon David, and upon his seed, and upon his house, and upon his throne, shall there be peace for ever from the LORD.
34 So Benaiah the son of Jehoiada went up, and fell upon him, and slew him: and he was buried in his own house in the wilderness.
35 ¶ And the king put Benaiah the son of Jehoiada in his room over the host: and Zadok the priest did the king put in the room of Abiathar.
36 [†] ¶ And the king sent and called for Shimei, and said unto him, Build thee an house in Jerusalem, and dwell there, and go not forth thence any whither.
37 For it shall be, that on the day thou goest out, and passest over the brook Kidron, thou shalt know for certain that thou shalt surely die: thy blood shall be upon thine own head.
38 And Shimei said unto the king, The saying is good: as my lord the king hath said, so will thy servant do. And Shimei dwelt in Jerusalem many days.
39 And it came to pass at the end of three years, that two of the servants of Shimei ran away unto Achish son of Maachah king of Gath. And they told Shimei, saying, Behold, thy servants be in Gath.
40 And Shimei arose, and saddled his ass, and went to Gath to Achish to seek his servants: and Shimei went, and brought his servants from Gath.
41 And it was told Solomon that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath, and was come again.
42 And the king sent and called for Shimei, and said unto him, Did I not make thee to swear by the LORD, and protested unto thee, saying, Know for a certain, on the day thou goest out, and walkest abroad any whither, that thou shalt surely die? and thou saidst unto me, The word that I have heard is good.
43 Why then hast thou not kept the oath of the LORD, and the commandment that I have charged thee with?
44 [†] The king said moreover to Shimei, Thou knowest all the wickedness which thine heart is privy to, that thou didst to David my father: therefore the LORD shall return thy wickedness upon thine own head;

45 And king Solomon shall be blessed, and the throne of David shall be established before the LORD for ever.
46 So the king commanded Benaiah the son of Jehoiada; which went out, and fell upon him, that he died. And the kingdom was established in the hand of Solomon.

1 Kings 3 [†]

1 [†] And Solomon made affinity with Pharaoh king of Egypt, and took Pharaoh's daughter, and brought her into the city of David, until he had made an end of building his own house, and the house of the Lord, and the wall of Jerusalem round about.
2 [†] Only the people sacrificed in high places, because there was no house built unto the name of the Lord, until those days.
3 And Solomon loved the Lord, walking in the statutes of David his father: only he sacrificed and burnt incense in high places.
4 [†] And the king went to Gibeon to sacrifice there; for that was the great high place: a thousand burnt offerings did Solomon offer upon that altar.
5 [†] ¶ In Gibeon the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream by night: and God said, Ask what I shall give thee.
6 [†] And Solomon said, Thou hast shewed unto thy servant David my father great mercy, according as he walked before thee in truth, and in righteousness, and in uprightness of heart with thee; and thou hast kept for him this great kindness, that thou hast given him a son to sit on his throne, as it is this day.
7 [†] And now, O Lord my God, thou hast made thy servant king instead of David my father: and I am but a little child: I know not how to go out or come in.
8 And thy servant is in the midst of thy people which thou hast chosen, a great people, that cannot be numbered nor counted for multitude.
9 [†] Give therefore thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people, that I may discern between good and bad: for who is able to judge this thy so great a people?
10 And the speech pleased the Lord, that Solomon had asked this thing.
11 And God said unto him, Because thou hast asked this thing, and hast not asked for thyself long life; neither hast asked riches for thyself, nor hast asked the life of thine enemies; but hast asked for thyself understanding to discern judgment;
12 [†] Behold, I have done according to thy words: lo, I have given thee a wise and an understanding heart; so that there was none like thee before thee, neither after thee shall any arise like unto thee.
13 And I have also given thee that which thou hast not asked, both riches, and honour: so that there shall not be any among the kings like unto thee all thy days.
14 And if thou wilt walk in my ways, to keep my statutes and my commandments, as thy father David did walk, then I will lengthen thy days.
15 [†] And Solomon awoke; and, behold, it was a dream. And he came to Jerusalem, and stood before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and offered up burnt offerings, and offered peace offerings, and made a feast to all his servants.
16 ¶ Then came there two women, that were harlots, unto the king, and stood before him.
17 And the one woman said, O my lord, I and this woman dwell in one house; and I was delivered of a child with her in the house.
18 [†] And it came to pass the third day after that I was delivered, that this woman was delivered also: and we were together; there was no stranger with us in the house, save we two in the house.
19 [†] And this woman's child died in the night; because she overlaid it.
20 And she arose at midnight, and took my son from beside me, while thine handmaid slept, and laid it in her bosom, and laid her dead child in my bosom.
21 And when I rose in the morning to give my child suck, behold, it was dead: but when I had considered it in the morning, behold, it was not my son, which I did bear.
22 And the other woman said, Nay; but the living is my son, and the dead is thy son. And this said, No; but the dead is thy son, and the living is my son. Thus they spake before the king.

23 Then said the king, The one saith, This is my son that liveth, and thy son is the dead: and the other saith, Nay; but thy son is the dead, and my son is the living.
24 And the king said, Bring me a sword. And they brought a sword before the king.
25 And the king said, Divide the living child in two, and give half to the one, and half to the other.
26 [†] Then spake the woman whose the living child was unto the king, for her bowels yearned upon her son, and she said, O my lord, give her the living child, and in no wise slay it. But the other said, Let it be neither mine nor thine, but divide it.
27 Then the king answered and said, Give her the living child, and in no wise slay it: she is the mother thereof.
28 [†] And all Israel heard of the judgment which the king had judged; and they feared the king: for they saw that the wisdom of God was in him, to do judgment.

1 Kings 4 [†]

1 So king Solomon was king over all Israel.
2 [†] And these were the princes which he had; Azariah the son of Zadok the priest,
3 [†] Elihoreph and Ahiah, the sons of Shisha, scribes; Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud, the recorder.
4 And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the host: and Zadok and Abiathar were the priests:
5 And Azariah the son of Nathan was over the officers: and Zabud the son of Nathan was principal officer, and the king's friend:
6 [†] And Ahishar was over the household: and Adoniram the son of Abda was over the tribute.
7 [†] ¶ And Solomon had twelve officers over all Israel, which provided victuals for the king and his household: each man his month in a year made provision.
8 And these are their names: The son of Hur, in mount Ephraim:
9 The son of Dekar, in Makaz, and in Shaalbim, and Beth-shemesh, and Elon-beth-hanan:
10 The son of Hesed, in Aruboth; to him pertained Sochoh, and all the land of Hepher:
11 The son of Abinadab, in all the region of Dor; which had Taphath the daughter of Solomon to wife:
12 Baana the son of Ahilud; to him pertained Taanach and Megiddo, and all Beth-shean, which is by Zartanah beneath Jezreel, from Beth-shean to Abel-meholah, even unto the place that is beyond Jokneam:
13 The son of Geber, in Ramoth-gilead; to him pertained the towns of Jair the son of Manasseh, which are in Gilead; to him also pertained the region of Argob, which is in Bashan, threescore great cities with walls and brasen bars:
14 Ahinadab the son of Iddo had Mahanaim:
15 Ahimaaz was in Naphtali; he also took Basmath the daughter of Solomon to wife:
16 Baanah the son of Hushai was in Asher and in Aloth:
17 Jehoshaphat the son of Paruah, in Issachar:
18 Shimei the son of Elah, in Benjamin:
19 Geber the son of Uri was in the country of Gilead, in the country of Sihon king of the Amorites, and of Og king of Bashan; and he was the only officer which was in the land.
20 [†] ¶ Judah and Israel were many, as the sand which is by the sea in multitude, eating and drinking, and making merry.
21 [†] And Solomon reigned over all kingdoms from the river unto the land of the Philistines, and unto the border of Egypt: they brought presents, and served Solomon all the days of his life.
22 ¶ And Solomon's provision for one day was thirty measures of fine flour, and threescore measures of meal,
23 Ten fat oxen, and twenty oxen out of the pastures, and an hundred sheep, beside harts, and roebucks, and fallowdeer, and fatted fowl.
24 For he had dominion over all the region on this side the river, from Tiphsah even to Azzah, over all the kings on this side the river: and he had peace on all sides round about him.
25 [†] And Judah and Israel dwelt safely, every man under his vine and under his fig tree, from Dan even to Beer-sheba, all the days of Solomon.
26 [†] ¶ And Solomon had forty thousand stalls of horses for his chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen.
27 And those officers provided victual for king Solomon, and for all that came unto king Solomon's table, every man in his month: they lacked nothing.
28 [†] Barley also and straw for the horses and dromedaries brought they unto the place where the officers were, every man according to his charge.

29 [†] ¶ And God gave Solomon wisdom and understanding exceeding much, and largeness of heart, even as the sand that is on the sea shore.
30 And Solomon's wisdom excelled the wisdom of all the children of the east country, and all the wisdom of Egypt.
31 For he was wiser than all men; than Ethan the Ezrahite, and Heman, and Chalcol, and Darda, the sons of Mahol: and his fame was in all nations round about.
32 [†] And he spake three thousand proverbs: and his songs were a thousand and five.
33 And he spake of trees, from the cedar tree that is in Lebanon even unto the hyssop that springeth out of the wall: he spake also of beasts, and of fowl, and of creeping things, and of fishes.
34 [†] And there came of all people to hear the wisdom of Solomon, from all kings of the earth, which had heard of his wisdom.

1 Kings 5 [†]

1 [†] And Hiram king of Tyre sent his servants unto Solomon; for he had heard that they had anointed him king in the room of his father: for Hiram was ever a lover of David.
2 And Solomon sent to Hiram, saying,
3 [†] Thou knowest how that David my father could not build an house unto the name of the Lord his God for the wars which were about him on every side, until the Lord put them under the soles of his feet.
4 But now the Lord my God hath given me rest on every side, so that there is neither adversary nor evil occurrent.
5 And, behold, I purpose to build an house unto the name of the Lord my God, as the Lord spake unto David my father, saying, Thy son, whom I will set upon thy throne in thy room, he shall build an house unto my name.
6 [†] Now therefore command thou that they hew me cedar trees out of Lebanon; and my servants shall be with thy servants: and unto thee will I give hire for thy servants according to all that thou shalt appoint: for thou knowest that there is not among us any that can skill to hew timber like unto the Sidonians.
7 [†] ¶ And it came to pass, when Hiram heard the words of Solomon, that he rejoiced greatly, and said, Blessed be the Lord this day, which hath given unto David a wise son over this great people.
8 And Hiram sent to Solomon, saying, I have considered the things which thou sentest to me for: and I will do all thy desire concerning timber of cedar, and concerning timber of fir.
9 [†] My servants shall bring them down from Lebanon unto the sea: and I will convey them by sea in floats unto the place that thou shalt appoint me, and will cause them to be discharged there, and thou shalt receive them: and thou shalt accomplish my desire, in giving food for my household.
10 So Hiram gave Solomon cedar trees and fir trees according to all his desire.
11 And Solomon gave Hiram twenty thousand measures of wheat for food to his household, and twenty measures of pure oil: thus gave Solomon to Hiram year by year.
12 [†] And the Lord gave Solomon wisdom, as he promised him: and there was peace between Hiram and Solomon; and they two made a league together.
13 [†] ¶ And king Solomon raised a levy out of all Israel; and the levy was thirty thousand men.
14 And he sent them to Lebanon, ten thousand a month by courses: a month they were in Lebanon, and two months at home: and Adoniram was over the levy.
15 And Solomon had threescore and ten thousand that bare burdens, and fourscore thousand hewers in the mountains;
16 Beside the chief of Solomon's officers which were over the work, three thousand and three hundred, which ruled over the people that wrought in the work.
17 And the king commanded, and they brought great stones, costly stones, and hewed stones, to lay the foundation of the house.
18 And Solomon's builders and Hiram's builders did hew them, and the stonesquarers: so they prepared timber and stones to build the house.

1 Kings 6 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass in the four hundred and eightieth year after the children of Israel were come out of the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in the month Zif, which is the second month, that he began to build the house of the Lord.
2 [†] And the house which king Solomon built for the Lord, the length thereof was threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof twenty cubits, and the height thereof thirty cubits.
3 And the porch before the temple of the house, twenty cubits was the length thereof, according to the breadth of the house; and ten cubits was the breadth thereof before the house.
4 [†] And for the house he made windows of narrow lights.
5 [†] ¶ And against the wall of the house he built chambers round about, against the walls of the house round about, both of the temple and of the oracle: and he made chambers round about:
6 [†] The nethermost chamber was five cubits broad, and the middle was six cubits broad, and the third was seven cubits broad: for without in the wall of the house he made narrowed rests round about, that the beams should not be fastened in the walls of the house.
7 And the house, when it was in building, was built of stone made ready before it was brought thither: so that there was neither hammer nor axe nor any tool of iron heard in the house, while it was in building.
8 The door for the middle chamber was in the right side of the house: and they went up with winding stairs into the middle chamber, and out of the middle into the third.
9 So he built the house, and finished it; and covered the house with beams and boards of cedar.
10 And then he built chambers against all the house, five cubits high: and they rested on the house with timber of cedar.
11 ¶ And the word of the Lord came to Solomon, saying,
12 [†] Concerning this house which thou art in building, if thou wilt walk in my statutes, and execute my judgments, and keep all my commandments to walk in them; then will I perform my word with thee, which I spake unto David thy father:
13 And I will dwell among the children of Israel, and will not forsake my people Israel.
14 So Solomon built the house, and finished it.
15 And he built the walls of the house within with boards of cedar, both the floor of the house, and the walls of the cieling: and he covered them on the inside with wood, and covered the floor of the house with planks of fir.
16 And he built twenty cubits on the sides of the house, both the floor and the walls with boards of cedar: he even built them for it within, even for the oracle, even for the most holy place.
17 And the house, that is, the temple before it, was forty cubits long.
18 [†] And the cedar of the house within was carved with knops and open flowers: all was cedar; there was no stone seen.
19 And the oracle he prepared in the house within, to set there the ark of the covenant of the Lord.
20 And the oracle in the forepart was twenty cubits in length, and twenty cubits in breadth, and twenty cubits in the height thereof: and he overlaid it with pure gold; and so covered the altar which was of cedar.
21 [†] So Solomon overlaid the house within with pure gold: and he made a partition by the chains of gold before the oracle; and he overlaid it with gold.
22 [†] And the whole house he overlaid with gold, until he had finished all the house: also the whole altar that was by the oracle he overlaid with gold.

23 [†] ¶ And within the oracle he made two cherubims of olive tree, each ten cubits high.
24 And five cubits was the one wing of the cherub, and five cubits the other wing of the cherub: from the uttermost part of the one wing unto the uttermost part of the other were ten cubits.
25 And the other cherub was ten cubits: both the cherubims were of one measure and one size.
26 The height of the one cherub was ten cubits, and so was it of the other cherub.
27 And he set the cherubims within the inner house: and they stretched forth the wings of the cherubims, so that the wing of the one touched the one wall, and the wing of the other cherub touched the other wall; and their wings touched one another in the midst of the house.
28 And he overlaid the cherubims with gold.
29 [†] And he carved all the walls of the house round about with carved figures of cherubims and palm trees and open flowers, within and without.
30 And the floor of the house he overlaid with gold, within and without.
31 [†] ¶ And for the entering of the oracle he made doors of olive tree: the lintel and side posts were a fifth part of the wall.
32 The two doors also were of olive tree; and he carved upon them carvings of cherubims and palm trees and open flowers, and overlaid them with gold, and spread gold upon the cherubims, and upon the palm trees.
33 So also made he for the door of the temple posts of olive tree, a fourth part of the wall.
34 And the two doors were of fir tree: the two leaves of the one door were folding, and the two leaves of the other door were folding.
35 And he carved thereon cherubims and palm trees and open flowers: and covered them with gold fitted upon the carved work.
36 ¶ And he built the inner court with three rows of hewed stone, and a row of cedar beams.
37 ¶ In the fourth year was the foundation of the house of the LORD laid, in the month Zif:
38 And in the eleventh year, in the month Bul, which is the eighth month, was the house finished throughout all the parts thereof, and according to all the fashion of it. So was he seven years in building it.

1 Kings 7 [†]

1 [†] But Solomon was building his own house thirteen years, and he finished all his house.
2 ¶ He built also the house of the forest of Lebanon; the length thereof was an hundred cubits, and the breadth thereof fifty cubits, and the height thereof thirty cubits, upon four rows of cedar pillars, with cedar beams upon the pillars.
3 And it was covered with cedar above upon the beams, that lay on forty five pillars, fifteen in a row.
4 And there were windows in three rows, and light was against light in three ranks.
5 And all the doors and posts were square, with the windows: and light was against light in three ranks.
6 ¶ And he made a porch of pillars; the length thereof was fifty cubits, and the breadth thereof thirty cubits: and the porch was before them: and the other pillars and the thick beam were before them.
7 ¶ Then he made a porch for the throne where he might judge, even the porch of judgment: and it was covered with cedar from one side of the floor to the other.
8 ¶ And his house where he dwelt had another court within the porch, which was of the like work. Solomon made also an house for Pharaoh's daughter, whom he had taken to wife, like unto this porch.
9 [†] All these were of costly stones, according to the measures of hewed stones, sawed with saws, within and without, even from the foundation unto the coping, and so on the outside toward the great court.
10 And the foundation was of costly stones, even great stones, stones of ten cubits, and stones of eight cubits.
11 And above were costly stones, after the measures of hewed stones, and cedars.
12 And the great court round about was with three rows of hewed stones, and a row of cedar beams, both for the inner court of the house of the Lord, and for the porch of the house.
13 [†] ¶ And king Solomon sent and fetched Hiram out of Tyre.
14 He was a widow's son of the tribe of Naphtali, and his father was a man of Tyre, a worker in brass: and he was filled with wisdom, and understanding, and cunning to work all works in brass. And he came to king Solomon, and wrought all his work.
15 [†] For he cast two pillars of brass, of eighteen cubits high apiece: and a line of twelve cubits did compass either of them about.
16 [†] And he made two chapiters of molten brass, to set upon the tops of the pillars: the height of the one chapiter was five cubits, and the height of the other chapiter was five cubits:
17 [†] And nets of checker work, and wreaths of chain work, for the chapiters which were upon the top of the pillars; seven for the one chapiter, and seven for the other chapiter.
18 And he made the pillars, and two rows round about upon the one network, to cover the chapiters that were upon the top, with pomegranates: and so did he for the other chapiter.
19 And the chapiters that were upon the top of the pillars were of lily work in the porch, four cubits.
20 [†] And the chapiters upon the two pillars had pomegranates also above, over against the belly which was by the network: and the pomegranates were two hundred in rows round about upon the other chapiter.
21 [†] And he set up the pillars in the porch of the temple: and he set up the right pillar, and called the name thereof Jachin: and he set up the left pillar, and called the name thereof Boaz.
22 And upon the top of the pillars was lily work: so was the work of the pillars finished.
23 [†] ¶ And he made a molten sea, ten cubits from the one brim to the other: it was round all about, and his height was five cubits: and a line of thirty cubits did compass it round about.
24 [†] And under the brim of it round about there were knops compassing it, ten in a cubit, compassing the sea round about: the knops were cast in two rows, when it was cast.

25 [†] It stood upon twelve oxen, three looking toward the north, and three looking toward the west, and three looking toward the south, and three looking toward the east: and the sea was set above upon them, and all their hinder parts were inward.
26 [†] And it was an hand breadth thick, and the brim thereof was wrought like the brim of a cup, with flowers of lilies: it contained two thousand baths.
27 ¶ And he made ten bases of brass; four cubits was the length of one base, and four cubits the breadth thereof, and three cubits the height of it.
28 And the work of the bases was on this manner: they had borders, and the borders were between the ledges:
29 And on the borders that were between the ledges were lions, oxen, and cherubims: and upon the ledges there was a base above: and beneath the lions and oxen were certain additions made of thin work.
30 [†] And every base had four brasen wheels, and plates of brass: and the four corners thereof had undersetters: under the laver were undersetters molten, at the side of every addition.
31 [†] And the mouth of it within the chapiter and above was a cubit: but the mouth thereof was round after the work of the base, a cubit and an half: and also upon the mouth of it were gravings with their borders, foursquare, not round.
32 [†] And under the borders were four wheels; and the axletrees of the wheels were joined to the base: and the height of a wheel was a cubit and half a cubit.
33 And the work of the wheels was like the work of a chariot wheel: their axletrees, and their naves, and their felloes, and their spokes, were all molten.
34 And there were four undersetters to the four corners of one base: and the undersetters were of the very base itself.
35 And in the top of the base was there a round compass of half a cubit high: and on the top of the base the ledges thereof and the borders thereof were of the same.
36 For on the plates of the ledges thereof, and on the borders thereof, he graved cherubims, lions, and palm trees, according to the proportion of every one, and additions round about.
37 After this manner he made the ten bases: all of them had one casting, one measure, and one size.
38 ¶ Then made he ten lavers of brass: one laver contained forty baths: and every laver was four cubits: and upon every one of the ten bases one laver.
39 And he put five bases on the right side of the house, and five on the left side of the house: and he set the sea on the right side of the house eastward over against the south.
40 ¶ And Hiram made the lavers, and the shovels, and the basons. So Hiram made an end of doing all the work that he made king Solomon for the house of the LORD:
41 The two pillars, and the two bowls of the chapiters that were on the top of the two pillars; and the two networks, to cover the two bowls of the chapiters which were upon the top of the pillars;
42 And four hundred pomegranates for the two networks, even two rows of pomegranates for one network, to cover the two bowls of the chapiters that were upon the pillars;
43 And the ten bases, and ten lavers on the bases;
44 And one sea, and twelve oxen under the sea;
45 And the pots, and the shovels, and the basons: and all these vessels, which Hiram made to king Solomon for the house of the LORD, were of bright brass.
46 In the plain of Jordan did the king cast them, in the clay ground between Succoth and Zarthan.
47 And Solomon left all the vessels unweighed, because they were exceeding many: neither was the weight of the brass found out.
48 And Solomon made all the vessels that pertained unto the house of the LORD: the altar of gold, and the table of gold, whereupon the shewbread was,
49 And the candlesticks of pure gold, five on the right side, and five on the left, before the oracle, with the flowers, and the lamps, and the tongs of gold,

50 [†] And the bowls, and the snuffers, and the basons, and the spoons, and the censers of pure gold; and the hinges of gold, both for the doors of the inner house, the most holy place, and for the doors of the house, to wit, of the temple.
51 So was ended all the work that king Solomon made for the house of the LORD. And Solomon brought in the things which David his father had dedicated; even the silver, and the gold, and the vessels, did he put among the treasures of the house of the LORD.

1 Kings 8 [†]

1 Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel, and all the heads of the tribes, the chief of the fathers of the children of Israel, unto king Solomon in Jerusalem, that they might bring up the ark of the covenant of the Lord out of the city of David, which is Zion.
2 [†] And all the men of Israel assembled themselves unto king Solomon at the feast in the month Ethanim, which is the seventh month.
3 And all the elders of Israel came, and the priests took up the ark.
4 [†] And they brought up the ark of the Lord, and the tabernacle of the congregation, and all the holy vessels that were in the tabernacle, even those did the priests and the Levites bring up.
5 And king Solomon, and all the congregation of Israel, that were assembled unto him, were with him before the ark, sacrificing sheep and oxen, that could not be told nor numbered for multitude.
6 [†] And the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the Lord unto his place, into the oracle of the house, to the most holy place, even under the wings of the cherubims.
7 [†] For the cherubims spread forth their two wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubims covered the ark and the staves thereof above.
8 [†] And they drew out the staves, that the ends of the staves were seen out in the holy place before the oracle, and they were not seen without: and there they are unto this day.
9 [†] There was nothing in the ark save the two tables of stone, which Moses put there at Horeb, when the Lord made a covenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of the land of Egypt.
10 [†] And it came to pass, when the priests were come out of the holy place, that the cloud filled the house of the Lord,
11 So that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud: for the glory of the Lord had filled the house of the Lord.
12 [†] ¶ Then spake Solomon, The Lord said that he would dwell in the thick darkness.
13 [†] I have surely built thee an house to dwell in, a settled place for thee to abide in for ever.
14 And the king turned his face about, and blessed all the congregation of Israel: (and all the congregation of Israel stood;)
15 [†] And he said, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, which spake with his mouth unto David my father, and hath with his hand fulfilled it, saying,
16 [†] Since the day that I brought forth my people Israel out of Egypt, I chose no city out of all the tribes of Israel to build an house, that my name might be therein; but I chose David to be over my people Israel.
17 And it was in the heart of David my father to build an house for the name of the Lord God of Israel.
18 And the Lord said unto David my father, Whereas it was in thine heart to build an house unto my name, thou didst well that it was in thine heart.
19 Nevertheless thou shalt not build the house; but thy son that shall come forth out of thy loins, he shall build the house unto my name.
20 [†] And the Lord hath performed his word that he spake, and I am risen up in the room of David my father, and sit on the throne of Israel, as the Lord promised, and have built an house for the name of the Lord God of Israel.
21 [†] And I have set there a place for the ark, wherein is the covenant of the Lord, which he made with our fathers, when he brought them out of the land of Egypt.
22 [†] ¶ And Solomon stood before the altar of the Lord in the presence of all the congregation of Israel, and spread forth his hands toward heaven:
23 [†] And he said, Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee, in heaven above, or on earth beneath, who keepest covenant and mercy with thy servants that walk before thee with all their heart:

24 Who hast kept with thy servant David my father that thou promisedst him: thou spakest also with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine hand, as it is this day.
25 Therefore now, LORD God of Israel, keep with thy servant David my father that thou promisedst him, saying, There shall not fail thee a man in my sight to sit on the throne of Israel; so that thy children take heed to their way, that they walk before me as thou hast walked before me.
26 [†] And now, O God of Israel, let thy word, I pray thee, be verified, which thou spakest unto thy servant David my father.
27 [†] But will God indeed dwell on the earth? behold, the heaven and heaven of heavens cannot contain thee; how much less this house that I have builded?
28 Yet have thou respect unto the prayer of thy servant, and to his supplication, O LORD my God, to hearken unto the cry and to the prayer, which thy servant prayeth before thee to day:
29 That thine eyes may be open toward this house night and day, even toward the place of which thou hast said, My name shall be there: that thou mayest hearken unto the prayer which thy servant shall make toward this place.
30 [†] And hearken thou to the supplication of thy servant, and of thy people Israel, when they shall pray toward this place: and hear thou in heaven thy dwelling place: and when thou hearest, forgive.
31 [†] ¶ If any man trespass against his neighbour, and an oath be laid upon him to cause him to swear, and the oath come before thine altar in this house:
32 Then hear thou in heaven, and do, and judge thy servants, condemning the wicked, to bring his way upon his head; and justifying the righteous, to give him according to his righteousness.
33 [†] ¶ When thy people Israel be smitten down before the enemy, because they have sinned against thee, and shall turn again to thee, and confess thy name, and pray, and make supplication unto thee in this house:
34 Then hear thou in heaven, and forgive the sin of thy people Israel, and bring them again unto the land which thou gavest unto their fathers.
35 [†] ¶ When heaven is shut up, and there is no rain, because they have sinned against thee; if they pray toward this place, and confess thy name, and turn from their sin, when thou afflictest them:
36 Then hear thou in heaven, and forgive the sin of thy servants, and of thy people Israel, that thou teach them the good way wherein they should walk, and give rain upon thy land, which thou hast given to thy people for an inheritance.
37 [†] ¶ If there be in the land famine, if there be pestilence, blasting, mildew, locust, or if there be caterpiller; if their enemy besiege them in the land of their cities; whatsoever plague, whatsoever sickness there be;
38 What prayer and supplication soever be made by any man, or by all thy people Israel, which shall know every man the plague of his own heart, and spread forth his hands toward this house:
39 [†] Then hear thou in heaven thy dwelling place, and forgive, and do, and give to every man according to his ways, whose heart thou knowest; (for thou, even thou only, knowest the hearts of all the children of men;)
40 [†] That they may fear thee all the days that they live in the land which thou gavest unto our fathers.
41 [†] Moreover concerning a stranger, that is not of thy people Israel, but cometh out of a far country for thy name's sake;
42 (For they shall hear of thy great name, and of thy strong hand, and of thy stretched out arm;) when he shall come and pray toward this house;
43 Hear thou in heaven thy dwelling place, and do according to all that the stranger calleth to thee for: that all people of the earth may know thy name, to fear thee, as do thy people Israel; and that they may know that this house, which I have builded, is called by thy name.

44 ¶ If thy people go out to battle against their enemy, whithersoever thou shalt send them, and shall pray unto the LORD toward the city which thou hast chosen, and toward the house that I have built for thy name:
45 Then hear thou in heaven their prayer and their supplication, and maintain their cause.
46 If they sin against thee, (for there is no man that sinneth not,) and thou be angry with them, and deliver them to the enemy, so that they carry them away captives unto the land of the enemy, far or near;
47 [†] Yet if they shall bethink themselves in the land whither they were carried captives, and repent, and make supplication unto thee in the land of them that carried them captives, saying, We have sinned, and have done perversely, we have committed wickedness;
48 And so return unto thee with all their heart, and with all their soul, in the land of their enemies, which led them away captive, and pray unto thee toward their land, which thou gavest unto their fathers, the city which thou hast chosen, and the house which I have built for thy name:
49 Then hear thou their prayer and their supplication in heaven thy dwelling place, and maintain their cause,
50 And forgive thy people that have sinned against thee, and all their transgressions wherein they have transgressed against thee, and give them compassion before them who carried them captive, that they may have compassion on them:
51 [†] For they be thy people, and thine inheritance, which thou broughtest forth out of Egypt, from the midst of the furnace of iron:
52 That thine eyes may be open unto the supplication of thy servant, and unto the supplication of thy people Israel, to hearken unto them in all that they call for unto thee.
53 For thou didst separate them from among all the people of the earth, to be thine inheritance, as thou spakest by the hand of Moses thy servant, when thou broughtest our fathers out of Egypt, O Lord GOD.
54 [†] And it was so, that when Solomon had made an end of praying all this prayer and supplication unto the LORD, he arose from before the altar of the LORD, from kneeling on his knees with his hands spread up to heaven.
55 And he stood, and blessed all the congregation of Israel with a loud voice, saying,
56 Blessed be the LORD, that hath given rest unto his people Israel, according to all that he promised: there hath not failed one word of all his good promise, which he promised by the hand of Moses his servant.
57 The LORD our God be with us, as he was with our fathers: let him not leave us, nor forsake us:
58 That he may incline our hearts unto him, to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments, and his statutes, and his judgments, which he commanded our fathers.
59 And let these my words, wherewith I have made supplication before the LORD, be nigh unto the LORD our God day and night, that he maintain the cause of his servant, and the cause of his people Israel at all times, as the matter shall require:
60 That all the people of the earth may know that the LORD is God, and that there is none else.
61 [†] Let your heart therefore be perfect with the LORD our God, to walk in his statutes, and to keep his commandments, as at this day.
62 ¶ And the king, and all Israel with him, offered sacrifice before the LORD.
63 And Solomon offered a sacrifice of peace offerings, which he offered unto the LORD, two and twenty thousand oxen, and an hundred and twenty thousand sheep. So the king and all the children of Israel dedicated the house of the LORD.
64 [†] The same day did the king hallow the middle of the court that was before the house of the LORD: for there he offered burnt offerings, and meat offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings: because the brasen altar that was before the LORD was too little to receive the burnt offerings, and meat offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings.

65 [†] And at that time Solomon held a feast, and all Israel with him, a great congregation, from the entering in of Hamath unto the river of Egypt, before the LORD our God, seven days and seven days, even fourteen days.
66 On the eighth day he sent the people away: and they blessed the king, and went unto their tents joyful and glad of heart for all the goodness that the LORD had done for David his servant, and for Israel his people.

1 Kings 9 [†]

1 And it came to pass, when Solomon had finished the building of the house of the Lord, and the king's house, and all Solomon's desire which he was pleased to do,
2 That the Lord appeared to Solomon the second time, as he had appeared unto him at Gibeon.
3 [†] And the Lord said unto him, I have heard thy prayer and thy supplication, that thou hast made before me: I have hallowed this house, which thou hast built, to put my name there for ever; and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually.
4 [†] And if thou wilt walk before me, as David thy father walked, in integrity of heart, and in uprightness, to do according to all that I have commanded thee, and wilt keep my statutes and my judgments:
5 Then I will establish the throne of thy kingdom upon Israel for ever, as I promised to David thy father, saying, There shall not fail thee a man upon the throne of Israel.
6 But if ye shall at all turn from following me, ye or your children, and will not keep my commandments and my statutes which I have set before you, but go and serve other gods, and worship them:
7 [†] Then will I cut off Israel out of the land which I have given them; and this house, which I have hallowed for my name, will I cast out of my sight; and Israel shall be a proverb and a byword among all people:
8 [†] And at this house, which is high, every one that passeth by it shall be astonished, and shall hiss; and they shall say, Why hath the Lord done thus unto this land, and to this house?
9 And they shall answer, Because they forsook the Lord their God, who brought forth their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and have taken hold upon other gods, and have worshipped them, and served them: therefore hath the Lord brought upon them all this evil.
10 ¶ And it came to pass at the end of twenty years, when Solomon had built the two houses, the house of the Lord, and the king's house,
11 (Now Hiram the king of Tyre had furnished Solomon with cedar trees and fir trees, and with gold, according to all his desire,) that then king Solomon gave Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee.
12 And Hiram came out from Tyre to see the cities which Solomon had given him; and they pleased him not.
13 [†] And he said, What cities are these which thou hast given me, my brother? And he called them the land of Cabul unto this day.
14 [†] And Hiram sent to the king sixscore talents of gold.
15 [†] ¶ And this is the reason of the levy which king Solomon raised; for to build the house of the Lord, and his own house, and Millo, and the wall of Jerusalem, and Hazor, and Megiddo, and Gezer.
16 For Pharaoh king of Egypt had gone up, and taken Gezer, and burnt it with fire, and slain the Canaanites that dwelt in the city, and given it for a present unto his daughter, Solomon's wife.
17 [†] And Solomon built Gezer, and Beth-horon the nether,
18 And Baalath, and Tadmor in the wilderness, in the land,
19 And all the cities of store that Solomon had, and cities for his chariots, and cities for his horsemen, and that which Solomon desired to build in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and in all the land of his dominion.
20 And all the people that were left of the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites, which were not of the children of Israel,
21 Their children that were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel also were not able utterly to destroy, upon those did Solomon levy a tribute of bondservice unto this day.
22 But of the children of Israel did Solomon make no bondmen: but they were men of war, and his servants, and his princes, and his captains, and rulers of his chariots, and his horsemen.

23 These were the chief of the officers that were over Solomon's work, five hundred and fifty, which bare rule over the people that wrought in the work.
24 [†] ¶ But Pharaoh's daughter came up out of the city of David unto her house which Solomon had built for her: then did he build Millo.
25 [†] ¶ And three times in a year did Solomon offer burnt offerings and peace offerings upon the altar which he built unto the LORD, and he burnt incense upon the altar that was before the LORD. So he finished the house.
26 [†] ¶ And king Solomon made a navy of ships in Ezion-geber, which is beside Eloth, on the shore of the Red sea, in the land of Edom.
27 And Hiram sent in the navy his servants, shipmen that had knowledge of the sea, with the servants of Solomon.
28 And they came to Ophir, and fetched from thence gold, four hundred and twenty talents, and brought it to king Solomon.

1 Kings 10 [†]

1 [†] And when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon concerning the name of the Lord, she came to prove him with hard questions.
2 [†] And she came to Jerusalem with a very great train, with camels that bare spices, and very much gold, and precious stones: and when she was come to Solomon, she communed with him of all that was in her heart.
3 And Solomon told her all her questions: there was not any thing hid from the king, which he told her not.
4 And when the queen of Sheba had seen all Solomon's wisdom, and the house that he had built,
5 [†] And the meat of his table, and the sitting of his servants, and the attendance of his ministers, and their apparel, and his cupbearers, and his ascent by which he went up unto the house of the Lord; there was no more spirit in her.
6 And she said to the king, It was a true report that I heard in mine own land of thy acts and of thy wisdom.
7 Howbeit I believed not the words, until I came, and mine eyes had seen it: and, behold, the half was not told me: thy wisdom and prosperity exceedeth the fame which I heard.
8 [†] Happy are thy men, happy are these thy servants, which stand continually before thee, and that hear thy wisdom.
9 [†] Blessed be the Lord thy God, which delighted in thee, to set thee on the throne of Israel: because the Lord loved Israel for ever, therefore made he thee king, to do judgment and justice.
10 [†] And she gave the king an hundred and twenty talents of gold, and of spices very great store, and precious stones: there came no more such abundance of spices as these which the queen of Sheba gave to king Solomon.
11 And the navy also of Hiram, that brought gold from Ophir, brought in from Ophir great plenty of almug trees, and precious stones.
12 [†] And the king made of the almug trees pillars for the house of the Lord, and for the king's house, harps also and psalteries for singers: there came no such almug trees, nor were seen unto this day.
13 And king Solomon gave unto the queen of Sheba all her desire, whatsoever she asked, beside that which Solomon gave her of his royal bounty. So she turned and went to her own country, she and her servants.
14 ¶ Now the weight of gold that came to Solomon in one year was six hundred threescore and six talents of gold,
15 [†] Beside that he had of the merchantmen, and of the traffick of the spice merchants, and of all the kings of Arabia, and of the governors of the country.
16 [†] ¶ And king Solomon made two hundred targets of beaten gold: six hundred shekels of gold went to one target.
17 [†] And he made three hundred shields of beaten gold; three pound of gold went to one shield: and the king put them in the house of the forest of Lebanon.
18 ¶ Moreover the king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with the best gold.
19 [†] The throne had six steps, and the top of the throne was round behind: and there were stays on either side on the place of the seat, and two lions stood beside the stays.
20 And twelve lions stood there on the one side and on the other upon the six steps: there was not the like made in any kingdom.
21 ¶ And all king Solomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the forest of Lebanon were of pure gold; none were of silver: it was nothing accounted of in the days of Solomon.

22 [†] For the king had at sea a navy of Tharshish with the navy of Hiram: once in three years came the navy of Tharshish, bringing gold, and silver, ivory, and apes, and peacocks.
23 So king Solomon exceeded all the kings of the earth for riches and for wisdom.
24 [†] ¶ And all the earth sought to Solomon, to hear his wisdom, which God had put in his heart.
25 And they brought every man his present, vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and garments, and armour, and spices, horses, and mules, a rate year by year.
26 [†] ¶ And Solomon gathered together chariots and horsemen: and he had a thousand and four hundred chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen, whom he bestowed in the cities for chariots, and with the king at Jerusalem.
27 And the king made silver to be in Jerusalem as stones, and cedars made he to be as the sycomore trees that are in the vale, for abundance.
28 [†] ¶ And Solomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and linen yarn: the king's merchants received the linen yarn at a price.
29 And a chariot came up and went out of Egypt for six hundred shekels of silver, and an horse for an hundred and fifty: and so for all the kings of the Hittites, and for the kings of Syria, did they bring them out by their means.

1 Kings 11 [†]

1 [†] But king Solomon loved many strange women, together with the daughter of Pharaoh, women of the Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, Zidonians, and Hittites;
2 Of the nations concerning which the Lord said unto the children of Israel, Ye shall not go in to them, neither shall they come in unto you: for surely they will turn away your heart after their gods: Solomon clave unto these in love.
3 [†] And he had seven hundred wives, princesses, and three hundred concubines: and his wives turned away his heart.
4 [†] For it came to pass, when Solomon was old, that his wives turned away his heart after other gods: and his heart was not perfect with the Lord his God, as was the heart of David his father.
5 [†] For Solomon went after Ashtoreth the goddess of the Zidonians, and after Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites.
6 And Solomon did evil in the sight of the Lord, and went not fully after the Lord, as did David his father.
7 [†] Then did Solomon build an high place for Chemosh, the abomination of Moab, in the hill that is before Jerusalem, and for Molech, the abomination of the children of Ammon.
8 And likewise did he for all his strange wives, which burnt incense and sacrificed unto their gods.
9 ¶ And the Lord was angry with Solomon, because his heart was turned from the Lord God of Israel, which had appeared unto him twice,
10 And had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods: but he kept not that which the Lord commanded.
11 [†] Wherefore the Lord said unto Solomon, Forasmuch as this is done of thee, and thou hast not kept my covenant and my statutes, which I have commanded thee, I will surely rend the kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy servant.
12 Notwithstanding in thy days I will not do it for David thy father's sake: but I will rend it out of the hand of thy son.
13 [†] Howbeit I will not rend away all the kingdom; but will give one tribe to thy son for David my servant's sake, and for Jerusalem's sake which I have chosen.
14 [†] ¶ And the Lord stirred up an adversary unto Solomon, Hadad the Edomite: he was of the king's seed in Edom.
15 For it came to pass, when David was in Edom, and Joab the captain of the host was gone up to bury the slain, after he had smitten every male in Edom;
16 (For six months did Joab remain there with all Israel, until he had cut off every male in Edom:)
17 That Hadad fled, he and certain Edomites of his father's servants with him, to go into Egypt; Hadad being yet a little child.
18 [†] And they arose out of Midian, and came to Paran: and they took men with them out of Paran, and they came to Egypt, unto Pharaoh king of Egypt; which gave him an house, and appointed him victuals, and gave him land.
19 And Hadad found great favour in the sight of Pharaoh, so that he gave him to wife the sister of his own wife, the sister of Tahpenes the queen.
20 And the sister of Tahpenes bare him Genubath his son, whom Tahpenes weaned in Pharaoh's house: and Genubath was in Pharaoh's household among the sons of Pharaoh.
21 And when Hadad heard in Egypt that David slept with his fathers, and that Joab the captain of the host was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, Let me depart, that I may go to mine own country.
22 Then Pharaoh said unto him, But what hast thou lacked with me, that, behold, thou seekest to go to thine own country? And he answered, Nothing: howbeit let me go in any wise.

23 [†] ¶ And God stirred him up another adversary, Rezon the son of Eliadah, which fled from his lord Hadadezer king of Zobah:
24 And he gathered men unto him, and became captain over a band, when David slew them of Zobah: and they went to Damascus, and dwelt therein, and reigned in Damascus.
25 And he was an adversary to Israel all the days of Solomon, beside the mischief that Hadad did: and he abhorred Israel, and reigned over Syria.
26 ¶ And Jeroboam the son of Nebat, an Ephrathite of Zereda, Solomon's servant, whose mother's name was Zeruah, a widow woman, even he lifted up his hand against the king.
27 [†] And this was the cause that he lifted up his hand against the king: Solomon built Millo, and repaired the breaches of the city of David his father.
28 [†] And the man Jeroboam was a mighty man of valour: and Solomon seeing the young man that he was industrious, he made him ruler over all the charge of the house of Joseph.
29 And it came to pass at that time when Jeroboam went out of Jerusalem, that the prophet Ahijah the Shilonite found him in the way; and he had clad himself with a new garment; and they two were alone in the field:
30 And Ahijah caught the new garment that was on him, and rent it in twelve pieces:
31 [†] And he said to Jeroboam, Take thee ten pieces: for thus saith the LORD, the God of Israel, Behold, I will rend the kingdom out of the hand of Solomon, and will give ten tribes to thee:
32 [†] (But he shall have one tribe for my servant David's sake, and for Jerusalem's sake, the city which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel:)
33 Because that they have forsaken me, and have worshipped Ashtoreth the goddess of the Zidonians, Chemosh the god of the Moabites, and Milcom the god of the children of Ammon, and have not walked in my ways, to do that which is right in mine eyes, and to keep my statutes and my judgments, as did David his father.
34 [†] Howbeit I will not take the whole kingdom out of his hand: but I will make him prince all the days of his life for David my servant's sake, whom I chose, because he kept my commandments and my statutes:
35 But I will take the kingdom out of his son's hand, and will give it unto thee, even ten tribes.
36 [†] And unto his son will I give one tribe, that David my servant may have a light alway before me in Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen me to put my name there.
37 And I will take thee, and thou shalt reign according to all that thy soul desireth, and shalt be king over Israel.
38 [†] And it shall be, if thou wilt hearken unto all that I command thee, and wilt walk in my ways, and do that is right in my sight, to keep my statutes and my commandments, as David my servant did; that I will be with thee, and build thee a sure house, as I built for David, and will give Israel unto thee.
39 And I will for this afflict the seed of David, but not for ever.
40 Solomon sought therefore to kill Jeroboam. And Jeroboam arose, and fled into Egypt, unto Shishak king of Egypt, and was in Egypt until the death of Solomon.
41 [†] ¶ And the rest of the acts of Solomon, and all that he did, and his wisdom, are they not written in the book of the acts of Solomon?
42 And the time that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel was forty years.
43 And Solomon slept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David his father: and Rehoboam his son reigned in his stead.

1 Kings 12 [†]

1 [†] And Rehoboam went to Shechem: for all Israel were come to Shechem to make him king.
2 And it came to pass, when Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who was yet in Egypt, heard of it, (for he was fled from the presence of king Solomon, and Jeroboam dwelt in Egypt;)
3 That they sent and called him. And Jeroboam and all the congregation of Israel came, and spake unto Rehoboam, saying,
4 [†] Thy father made our yoke grievous: now therefore make thou the grievous service of thy father, and his heavy yoke which he put upon us, lighter, and we will serve thee.
5 And he said unto them, Depart yet for three days, then come again to me. And the people departed.
6 ¶ And king Rehoboam consulted with the old men, that stood before Solomon his father while he yet lived, and said, How do ye advise that I may answer this people?
7 [†] And they spake unto him, saying, If thou wilt be a servant unto this people this day, and wilt serve them, and answer them, and speak good words to them, then they will be thy servants for ever.
8 But he forsook the counsel of the old men, which they had given him, and consulted with the young men that were grown up with him, and which stood before him:
9 And he said unto them, What counsel give ye that we may answer this people, who have spoken to me, saying, Make the yoke which thy father did put upon us lighter?
10 [†] And the young men that were grown up with him spake unto him, saying, Thus shalt thou speak unto this people that spake unto thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heavy, but make thou it lighter unto us; thus shalt thou say unto them, My little finger shall be thicker than my father's loins.
11 [†] And now whereas my father did lade you with a heavy yoke, I will add to your yoke: my father hath chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.
12 ¶ So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had appointed, saying, Come to me again the third day.
13 [†] And the king answered the people roughly, and forsook the old men's counsel that they gave him;
14 And spake to them after the counsel of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke heavy, and I will add to your yoke: my father also chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.
15 [†] Wherefore the king hearkened not unto the people; for the cause was from the Lord, that he might perform his saying, which the Lord spake by Ahijah the Shilonite unto Jeroboam the son of Nebat.
16 [†] ¶ So when all Israel saw that the king hearkened not unto them, the people answered the king, saying, What portion have we in David? neither have we inheritance in the son of Jesse: to your tents, O Israel: now see to thine own house, David. So Israel departed unto their tents.
17 But as for the children of Israel which dwelt in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.
18 [†] Then king Rehoboam sent Adoram, who was over the tribute; and all Israel stoned him with stones, that he died. Therefore king Rehoboam made speed to get him up to his chariot, to flee to Jerusalem.
19 So Israel rebelled against the house of David unto this day.
20 And it came to pass, when all Israel heard that Jeroboam was come again, that they sent and called him unto the congregation, and made him king over all Israel: there was none that followed the house of David, but the tribe of Judah only.
21 ¶ And when Rehoboam was come to Jerusalem, he assembled all the house of Judah, with the tribe of Benjamin, an hundred and fourscore thousand chosen men, which were warriors, to fight against the house of Israel, to bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam the son of Solomon.
22 [†] But the word of God came unto Shemaiah the man of God, saying,

23 Speak unto Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, king of Judah, and unto all the house of Judah and Benjamin, and to the remnant of the people, saying,
24 [†] Thus saith the LORD, Ye shall not go up, nor fight against your brethren the children of Israel: return every man to his house; for this thing is from me. They hearkened therefore to the word of the LORD, and returned to depart, according to the word of the LORD.
25 [†] ¶ Then Jeroboam built Shechem in mount Ephraim, and dwelt therein; and went out from thence, and built Penuel.
26 And Jeroboam said in his heart, Now shall the kingdom return to the house of David:
27 [†] If this people go up to do sacrifice in the house of the LORD at Jerusalem, then shall the heart of this people turn again unto their lord, even unto Rehoboam king of Judah, and they shall kill me, and go again to Rehoboam king of Judah.
28 Whereupon the king took counsel, and made two calves of gold, and said unto them, It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem: behold thy gods, O Israel, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.
29 [†] And he set the one in Beth-el, and the other put he in Dan.
30 And this thing became a sin: for the people went to worship before the one, even unto Dan.
31 [†] And he made an house of high places, and made priests of the lowest of the people, which were not of the sons of Levi.
32 [†] And Jeroboam ordained a feast in the eighth month, on the fifteenth day of the month, like unto the feast that is in Judah, and he offered upon the altar. So did he in Beth-el, sacrificing unto the calves that he had made: and he placed in Beth-el the priests of the high places which he had made.
33 [†] So he offered upon the altar which he had made in Beth-el the fifteenth day of the eighth month, even in the month which he had devised of his own heart; and ordained a feast unto the children of Israel: and he offered upon the altar, and burnt incense.

1 Kings 13 [†]

(see article: God's Foreknowledge)

1 [†] And, behold, there came a man of God out of Judah by the word of the Lord unto Beth-el: and Jeroboam stood by the altar to burn incense.
2 [†] And he cried against the altar in the word of the Lord, and said, O altar, altar, thus saith the Lord; Behold, a child shall be born unto the house of David, Josiah by name; and upon thee shall he offer the priests of the high places that burn incense upon thee, and men's bones shall be burnt upon thee.
3 [†] And he gave a sign the same day, saying, This is the sign which the Lord hath spoken; Behold, the altar shall be rent, and the ashes that are upon it shall be poured out.
4 [†] And it came to pass, when king Jeroboam heard the saying of the man of God, which had cried against the altar in Beth-el, that he put forth his hand from the altar, saying, Lay hold on him. And his hand, which he put forth against him, dried up, so that he could not pull it in again to him.
5 The altar also was rent, and the ashes poured out from the altar, according to the sign which the man of God had given by the word of the Lord.
6 And the king answered and said unto the man of God, Intreat now the face of the Lord thy God, and pray for me, that my hand may be restored me again. And the man of God besought the Lord, and the king's hand was restored him again, and became as it was before.
7 And the king said unto the man of God, Come home with me, and refresh thyself, and I will give thee a reward.
8 And the man of God said unto the king, If thou wilt give me half thine house, I will not go in with thee, neither will I eat bread nor drink water in this place:
9 For so was it charged me by the word of the Lord, saying, Eat no bread, nor drink water, nor turn again by the same way that thou camest.
10 So he went another way, and returned not by the way that he came to Beth-el.
11 ¶ Now there dwelt an old prophet in Beth-el; and his sons came and told him all the works that the man of God had done that day in Beth-el: the words which he had spoken unto the king, them they told also to their father.
12 And their father said unto them, What way went he? For his sons had seen what way the man of God went, which came from Judah.
13 And he said unto his sons, Saddle me the ass. So they saddled him the ass: and he rode thereon,
14 And went after the man of God, and found him sitting under an oak: and he said unto him, Art thou the man of God that camest from Judah? And he said, I am.
15 Then he said unto him, Come home with me, and eat bread.
16 And he said, I may not return with thee, nor go in with thee: neither will I eat bread nor drink water with thee in this place:
17 For it was said to me by the word of the Lord, Thou shalt eat no bread nor drink water there, nor turn again to go by the way that thou camest.
18 He said unto him, I am a prophet also as thou art; and an angel spake unto me by the word of the Lord, saying, Bring him back with thee into thine house, that he may eat bread and drink water. But he lied unto him.
19 [†] So he went back with him, and did eat bread in his house, and drank water.
20 ¶ And it came to pass, as they sat at the table, that the word of the Lord came unto the prophet that brought him back:
21 [†] And he cried unto the man of God that came from Judah, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Forasmuch as thou hast disobeyed the mouth of the LORD, and hast not kept the commandment which the LORD thy God commanded thee, 22 But camest back, and hast eaten bread and drunk water in the place, of the which the LORD did say to thee, Eat no bread, and drink no water; thy carcase shall not come unto the sepulchre of thy fathers.

23 [†] ¶ And it came to pass, after he had eaten bread, and after he had drunk, that he saddled for him the ass, to wit, for the prophet whom he had brought back.
24 [†] And when he was gone, a lion met him by the way, and slew him: and his carcase was cast in the way, and the ass stood by it, the lion also stood by the carcase.
25 And, behold, men passed by, and saw the carcase cast in the way, and the lion standing by the carcase: and they came and told it in the city where the old prophet dwelt.
26 And when the prophet that brought him back from the way heard thereof, he said, It is the man of God, who was disobedient unto the word of the LORD: therefore the LORD hath delivered him unto the lion, which hath torn him, and slain him, according to the word of the LORD, which he spake unto him.
27 And he spake to his sons, saying, Saddle me the ass. And they saddled him.
28 And he went and found his carcase cast in the way, and the ass and the lion standing by the carcase: the lion had not eaten the carcase, nor torn the ass.
29 And the prophet took up the carcase of the man of God, and laid it upon the ass, and brought it back: and the old prophet came to the city, to mourn and to bury him.
30 And he laid his carcase in his own grave; and they mourned over him, saying, Alas, my brother!
31 And it came to pass, after he had buried him, that he spake to his sons, saying, When I am dead, then bury me in the sepulchre wherein the man of God is buried; lay my bones beside his bones:
32 For the saying which he cried by the word of the LORD against the altar in Beth-el, and against all the houses of the high places which are in the cities of Samaria, shall surely come to pass.
33 [†] ¶ After this thing Jeroboam returned not from his evil way, but made again of the lowest of the people priests of the high places: whosoever would, he consecrated him, and he became one of the priests of the high places.
34 And this thing became sin unto the house of Jeroboam, even to cut it off, and to destroy it from off the face of the earth.

1 Kings 14 [†]

1 At that time Abijah the son of Jeroboam fell sick.
2 [†] And Jeroboam said to his wife, Arise, I pray thee, and disguise thyself, that thou be not known to be the wife of Jeroboam; and get thee to Shiloh: behold, there is Ahijah the prophet, which told me that I should be king over this people.
3 [†] And take with thee ten loaves, and cracknels, and a cruse of honey, and go to him: he shall tell thee what shall become of the child.
4 [†] And Jeroboam's wife did so, and arose, and went to Shiloh, and came to the house of Ahijah. But Ahijah could not see; for his eyes were set by reason of his age.
5 [†] ¶ And the Lord said unto Ahijah, Behold, the wife of Jeroboam cometh to ask a thing of thee for her son; for he is sick: thus and thus shalt thou say unto her: for it shall be, when she cometh in, that she shall feign herself to be another woman.
6 [†] And it was so, when Ahijah heard the sound of her feet, as she came in at the door, that he said, Come in, thou wife of Jeroboam; why feignest thou thyself to be another? for I am sent to thee with heavy tidings.
7 [†] Go, tell Jeroboam, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Forasmuch as I exalted thee from among the people, and made thee prince over my people Israel,
8 And rent the kingdom away from the house of David, and gave it thee: and yet thou hast not been as my servant David, who kept my commandments, and who followed me with all his heart, to do that only which was right in mine eyes;
9 [†] But hast done evil above all that were before thee: for thou hast gone and made thee other gods, and molten images, to provoke me to anger, and hast cast me behind thy back:
10 [†] Therefore, behold, I will bring evil upon the house of Jeroboam, and will cut off from Jeroboam him that pisseth against the wall, and him that is shut up and left in Israel, and will take away the remnant of the house of Jeroboam, as a man taketh away dung, till it be all gone.
11 [†] Him that dieth of Jeroboam in the city shall the dogs eat; and him that dieth in the field shall the fowls of the air eat: for the Lord hath spoken it.
12 Arise thou therefore, get thee to thine own house: and when thy feet enter into the city, the child shall die.
13 [†] And all Israel shall mourn for him, and bury him: for he only of Jeroboam shall come to the grave, because in him there is found some good thing toward the Lord God of Israel in the house of Jeroboam.
14 [†] Moreover the Lord shall raise him up a king over Israel, who shall cut off the house of Jeroboam that day: but what? even now.
15 [†] For the Lord shall smite Israel, as a reed is shaken in the water, and he shall root up Israel out of this good land, which he gave to their fathers, and shall scatter them beyond the river, because they have made their groves, provoking the Lord to anger.
16 [†] And he shall give Israel up because of the sins of Jeroboam, who did sin, and who made Israel to sin.
17 [†] ¶ And Jeroboam's wife arose, and departed, and came to Tirzah: and when she came to the threshold of the door, the child died;
18 And they buried him; and all Israel mourned for him, according to the word of the Lord, which he spake by the hand of his servant Ahijah the prophet.
19 [†] And the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, how he warred, and how he reigned, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

20 And the days which Jeroboam reigned were two and twenty years: and he slept with his fathers, and Nadab his son reigned in his stead.
21 ¶ And Rehoboam the son of Solomon reigned in Judah. Rehoboam was forty and one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the LORD did choose out of all the tribes of Israel, to put his name there. And his mother's name was Naamah an Ammonitess.
22 [†] And Judah did evil in the sight of the LORD, and they provoked him to jealousy with their sins which they had committed, above all that their fathers had done.
23 [†] For they also built them high places, and images, and groves, on every high hill, and under every green tree.
24 [†] And there were also sodomites in the land: and they did according to all the abominations of the nations which the LORD cast out before the children of Israel.
25 ¶ And it came to pass in the fifth year of king Rehoboam, that Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem:
26 And he took away the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king's house; he even took away all: and he took away all the shields of gold which Solomon had made.
27 [†] And king Rehoboam made in their stead brasen shields, and committed them unto the hands of the chief of the guard, which kept the door of the king's house.
28 And it was so, when the king went into the house of the LORD, that the guard bare them, and brought them back into the guard chamber.
29 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Rehoboam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
30 And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all their days.
31 And Rehoboam slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David. And his mother's name was Naamah an Ammonitess. And Abijam his son reigned in his stead.

1 Kings 15 [†]

1 Now in the eighteenth year of king Jeroboam the son of Nebat reigned Abijam over Judah.
2 Three years reigned he in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Maachah, the daughter of Abishalom.
3 [†] And he walked in all the sins of his father, which he had done before him: and his heart was not perfect with the Lord his God, as the heart of David his father.
4 [†] Nevertheless for David's sake did the Lord his God give him a lamp in Jerusalem, to set up his son after him, and to establish Jerusalem:
5 Because David did that which was right in the eyes of the Lord, and turned not aside from any thing that he commanded him all the days of his life, save only in the matter of Uriah the Hittite.
6 And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all the days of his life.
7 [†] Now the rest of the acts of Abijam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? And there was war between Abijam and Jeroboam.
8 And Abijam slept with his fathers; and they buried him in the city of David: and Asa his son reigned in his stead.
9 ¶ And in the twentieth year of Jeroboam king of Israel reigned Asa over Judah.
10 [†] And forty and one years reigned he in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Maachah, the daughter of Abishalom.
11 And Asa did that which was right in the eyes of the Lord, as did David his father.
12 [†] And he took away the sodomites out of the land, and removed all the idols that his fathers had made.
13 [†] And also Maachah his mother, even her he removed from being queen, because she had made an idol in a grove; and Asa destroyed her idol, and burnt it by the brook Kidron.
14 [†] But the high places were not removed: nevertheless Asa's heart was perfect with the Lord all his days.
15 And he brought in the things which his father had dedicated, and the things which himself had dedicated, into the house of the Lord, silver, and gold, and vessels.
16 ¶ And there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days.
17 [†] And Baasha king of Israel went up against Judah, and built Ramah, that he might not suffer any to go out or come in to Asa king of Judah.
18 [†] Then Asa took all the silver and the gold that were left in the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king's house, and delivered them into the hand of his servants: and king Asa sent them to Ben-hadad, the son of Tabrimon, the son of Hezion, king of Syria, that dwelt at Damascus, saying,
19 [†] There is a league between me and thee, and between my father and thy father: behold, I have sent unto thee a present of silver and gold; come and break thy league with Baasha king of Israel, that he may depart from me.
20 So Ben-hadad hearkened unto king Asa, and sent the captains of the hosts which he had against the cities of Israel, and smote Ijon, and Dan, and Abel-beth-maachah, and all Cinneroth, with all the land of Naphtali.
21 And it came to pass, when Baasha heard thereof, that he left off building of Ramah, and dwelt in Tirzah.
22 Then king Asa made a proclamation throughout all Judah; none was exempted: and they took away the stones of Ramah, and the timber thereof, wherewith Baasha had builded; and king Asa built with them Geba of Benjamin, and Mizpah.

23 The rest of all the acts of Asa, and all his might, and all that he did, and the cities which he built, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? Nevertheless in the time of his old age he was diseased in his feet.
24 And Asa slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father: and Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his stead.
25 ¶ And Nadab the son of Jeroboam began to reign over Israel in the second year of Asa king of Judah, and reigned over Israel two years.
26 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father, and in his sin wherewith he made Israel to sin.
27 ¶ And Baasha the son of Ahijah, of the house of Issachar, conspired against him; and Baasha smote him at Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines; for Nadab and all Israel laid siege to Gibbethon.
28 Even in the third year of Asa king of Judah did Baasha slay him, and reigned in his stead.
29 [†] And it came to pass, when he reigned, that he smote all the house of Jeroboam; he left not to Jeroboam any that breathed, until he had destroyed him, according unto the saying of the LORD, which he spake by his servant Ahijah the Shilonite:
30 Because of the sins of Jeroboam which he sinned, and which he made Israel sin, by his provocation wherewith he provoked the LORD God of Israel to anger.
31 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Nadab, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
32 And there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days.
33 In the third year of Asa king of Judah began Baasha the son of Ahijah to reign over all Israel in Tirzah, twenty and four years.
34 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sin wherewith he made Israel to sin.

1 Kings 16 [†]

1 Then the word of the Lord came to Jehu the son of Hanani against Baasha, saying,
2 [†] Forasmuch as I exalted thee out of the dust, and made thee prince over my people Israel; and thou hast walked in the way of Jeroboam, and hast made my people Israel to sin, to provoke me to anger with their sins;
3 Behold, I will take away the posterity of Baasha, and the posterity of his house; and will make thy house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat.
4 [†] Him that dieth of Baasha in the city shall the dogs eat; and him that dieth of his in the fields shall the fowls of the air eat.
5 [†] Now the rest of the acts of Baasha, and what he did, and his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
6 So Baasha slept with his fathers, and was buried in Tirzah: and Elah his son reigned in his stead.
7 [†] And also by the hand of the prophet Jehu the son of Hanani came the word of the Lord against Baasha, and against his house, even for all the evil that he did in the sight of the Lord, in provoking him to anger with the work of his hands, in being like the house of Jeroboam; and because he killed him.
8 ¶ In the twenty and sixth year of Asa king of Judah began Elah the son of Baasha to reign over Israel in Tirzah, two years.
9 And his servant Zimri, captain of half his chariots, conspired against him, as he was in Tirzah, drinking himself drunk in the house of Arza steward of his house in Tirzah.
10 And Zimri went in and smote him, and killed him, in the twenty and seventh year of Asa king of Judah, and reigned in his stead.
11 [†] ¶ And it came to pass, when he began to reign, as soon as he sat on his throne, that he slew all the house of Baasha: he left him not one that pisseth against a wall, neither of his kinsfolks, nor of his friends.
12 [†] Thus did Zimri destroy all the house of Baasha, according to the word of the Lord, which he spake against Baasha by Jehu the prophet,
13 [†] For all the sins of Baasha, and the sins of Elah his son, by which they sinned, and by which they made Israel to sin, in provoking the Lord God of Israel to anger with their vanities.
14 Now the rest of the acts of Elah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
15 ¶ In the twenty and seventh year of Asa king of Judah did Zimri reign seven days in Tirzah. And the people were encamped against Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines.
16 And the people that were encamped heard say, Zimri hath conspired, and hath also slain the king: wherefore all Israel made Omri, the captain of the host, king over Israel that day in the camp.
17 And Omri went up from Gibbethon, and all Israel with him, and they besieged Tirzah.
18 [†] And it came to pass, when Zimri saw that the city was taken, that he went into the palace of the king's house, and burnt the king's house over him with fire, and died,
19 For his sins which he sinned in doing evil in the sight of the Lord, in walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sin which he did, to make Israel to sin.
20 Now the rest of the acts of Zimri, and his treason that he wrought, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
21 ¶ Then were the people of Israel divided into two parts: half of the people followed Tibni the son of Ginath, to make him king; and half followed Omri.
22 But the people that followed Omri prevailed against the people that followed Tibni the son of Ginath: so Tibni died, and Omri reigned.

23 [†] ¶ In the thirty and first year of Asa king of Judah began Omri to reign over Israel, twelve years: six years reigned he in Tirzah.
24 [†] And he bought the hill Samaria of Shemer for two talents of silver, and built on the hill, and called the name of the city which he built, after the name of Shemer, owner of the hill, Samaria.
25 ¶ But Omri wrought evil in the eyes of the LORD, and did worse than all that were before him.
26 For he walked in all the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and in his sin wherewith he made Israel to sin, to provoke the LORD God of Israel to anger with their vanities.
27 Now the rest of the acts of Omri which he did, and his might that he shewed, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
28 So Omri slept with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria: and Ahab his son reigned in his stead.
29 ¶ And in the thirty and eighth year of Asa king of Judah began Ahab the son of Omri to reign over Israel: and Ahab the son of Omri reigned over Israel in Samaria twenty and two years.
30 And Ahab the son of Omri did evil in the sight of the LORD above all that were before him.
31 [†] And it came to pass, as if it had been a light thing for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, that he took to wife Jezebel the daughter of Ethbaal king of the Zidonians, and went and served Baal, and worshipped him.
32 And he reared up an altar for Baal in the house of Baal, which he had built in Samaria.
33 [†] And Ahab made a grove; and Ahab did more to provoke the LORD God of Israel to anger than all the kings of Israel that were before him.
34 [†] ¶ In his days did Hiel the Beth-elite build Jericho: he laid the foundation thereof in Abiram his firstborn, and set up the gates thereof in his youngest son Segub, according to the word of the LORD, which he spake by Joshua the son of Nun.

1 Kings 17 [†]

1 [†] And Elijah the Tishbite, who was of the inhabitants of Gilead, said unto Ahab, As the Lord God of Israel liveth, before whom I stand, there shall not be dew nor rain these years, but according to my word.
2 And the word of the Lord came unto him, saying,
3 [†] Get thee hence, and turn thee eastward, and hide thyself by the brook Cherith, that is before Jordan.
4 And it shall be, that thou shalt drink of the brook; and I have commanded the ravens to feed thee there.
5 So he went and did according unto the word of the Lord: for he went and dwelt by the brook Cherith, that is before Jordan.
6 And the ravens brought him bread and flesh in the morning, and bread and flesh in the evening; and he drank of the brook.
7 And it came to pass after a while, that the brook dried up, because there had been no rain in the land.
8 ¶ And the word of the Lord came unto him, saying,
9 [†] Arise, get thee to Zarephath, which belongeth to Zidon, and dwell there: behold, I have commanded a widow woman there to sustain thee.
10 So he arose and went to Zarephath. And when he came to the gate of the city, behold, the widow woman was there gathering of sticks: and he called to her, and said, Fetch me, I pray thee, a little water in a vessel, that I may drink.
11 [†] And as she was going to fetch it, he called to her, and said, Bring me, I pray thee, a morsel of bread in thine hand.
12 [†] And she said, As the Lord thy God liveth, I have not a cake, but an handful of meal in a barrel, and a little oil in a cruse: and, behold, I am gathering two sticks, that I may go in and dress it for me and my son, that we may eat it, and die.
13 And Elijah said unto her, Fear not; go and do as thou hast said: but make me thereof a little cake first, and bring it unto me, and after make for thee and for thy son.
14 [†] For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, The barrel of meal shall not waste, neither shall the cruse of oil fail, until the day that the Lord sendeth rain upon the earth.
15 And she went and did according to the saying of Elijah: and she, and he, and her house, did eat many days.
16 And the barrel of meal wasted not, neither did the cruse of oil fail, according to the word of the Lord, which he spake by Elijah.
17 [†] ¶ And it came to pass after these things, that the son of the woman, the mistress of the house, fell sick; and his sickness was so sore, that there was no breath left in him.
18 [†] And she said unto Elijah, What have I to do with thee, O thou man of God? art thou come unto me to call my sin to remembrance, and to slay my son?
19 And he said unto her, Give me thy son. And he took him out of her bosom, and carried him up into a loft, where he abode, and laid him upon his own bed.
20 [†] And he cried unto the Lord, and said, O Lord my God, hast thou also brought evil upon the widow with whom I sojourn, by slaying her son?
21 [†] And he stretched himself upon the child three times, and cried unto the Lord, and said, O Lord my God, I pray thee, let this child's soul come into him again.
22 [†] And the Lord heard the voice of Elijah; and the soul of the child came into him again, and he revived.

23 And Elijah took the child, and brought him down out of the chamber into the house, and delivered him unto his mother: and Elijah said, See, thy son liveth.
24 [†] ¶ And the woman said to Elijah, Now by this I know that thou art a man of God, and that the word of the LORD in thy mouth is truth.

1 Kings 18 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass after many days, that the word of the Lord came to Elijah in the third year, saying, Go, shew thyself unto Ahab; and I will send rain upon the earth.
2 [†] And Elijah went to shew himself unto Ahab. And there was a sore famine in Samaria.
3 And Ahab called Obadiah, which was the governor of his house. (Now Obadiah feared the Lord greatly:
4 For it was so, when Jezebel cut off the prophets of the Lord, that Obadiah took an hundred prophets, and hid them by fifty in a cave, and fed them with bread and water.)
5 And Ahab said unto Obadiah, Go into the land, unto all fountains of water, and unto all brooks: peradventure we may find grass to save the horses and mules alive, that we lose not all the beasts.
6 So they divided the land between them to pass throughout it: Ahab went one way by himself, and Obadiah went another way by himself.
7 ¶ And as Obadiah was in the way, behold, Elijah met him: and he knew him, and fell on his face, and said, Art thou that my lord Elijah?
8 And he answered him, I am: go, tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here.
9 And he said, What have I sinned, that thou wouldest deliver thy servant into the hand of Ahab, to slay me?
10 As the Lord thy God liveth, there is no nation or kingdom, whither my lord hath not sent to seek thee: and when they said, He is not there; he took an oath of the kingdom and nation, that they found thee not.
11 And now thou sayest, Go, tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here.
12 And it shall come to pass, as soon as I am gone from thee, that the Spirit of the Lord shall carry thee whither I know not; and so when I come and tell Ahab, and he cannot find thee, he shall slay me: but I thy servant fear the Lord from my youth.
13 Was it not told my lord what I did when Jezebel slew the prophets of the Lord, how I hid an hundred men of the Lord's prophets by fifty in a cave, and fed them with bread and water?
14 And now thou sayest, Go, tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here: and he shall slay me.
15 And Elijah said, As the Lord of hosts liveth, before whom I stand, I will surely shew myself unto him to day.
16 So Obadiah went to meet Ahab, and told him: and Ahab went to meet Elijah.
17 [†] ¶ And it came to pass, when Ahab saw Elijah, that Ahab said unto him, Art thou he that troubleth Israel?
18 And he answered, I have not troubled Israel; but thou, and thy father's house, in that ye have forsaken the commandments of the Lord, and thou hast followed Baalim.
19 [†] Now therefore send, and gather to me all Israel unto mount Carmel, and the prophets of Baal four hundred and fifty, and the prophets of the groves four hundred, which eat at Jezebel's table.
20 So Ahab sent unto all the children of Israel, and gathered the prophets together unto mount Carmel.
21 [†] And Elijah came unto all the people, and said, How long halt ye between two opinions? if the Lord be God, follow him: but if Baal, then follow him. And the people answered him not a word.
22 Then said Elijah unto the people, I, even I only, remain a prophet of the Lord; but Baal's prophets are four hundred and fifty men.
23 [†] Let them therefore give us two bullocks; and let them choose one bullock for themselves, and cut it in pieces, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under: and I will dress the other bullock, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under:
24 [†] And call ye on the name of your gods, and I will call on the name of the Lord: and the God that answereth by fire, let him be God. And all the people answered and said, It is well spoken.

25 And Elijah said unto the prophets of Baal, Choose you one bullock for yourselves, and dress it first; for ye are many; and call on the name of your gods, but put no fire under.
26 [†] And they took the bullock which was given them, and they dressed it, and called on the name of Baal from morning even until noon, saying, O Baal, hear us. But there was no voice, nor any that answered. And they leaped upon the altar which was made.
27 [†] And it came to pass at noon, that Elijah mocked them, and said, Cry aloud: for he is a god; either he is talking, or he is pursuing, or he is in a journey, or peradventure he sleepeth, and must be awaked.
28 [†] And they cried aloud, and cut themselves after their manner with knives and lancets, till the blood gushed out upon them.
29 [†] And it came to pass, when midday was past, and they prophesied until the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice, that there was neither voice, nor any to answer, nor any that regarded.
30 And Elijah said unto all the people, Come near unto me. And all the people came near unto him. And he repaired the altar of the LORD that was broken down.
31 And Elijah took twelve stones, according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob, unto whom the word of the LORD came, saying, Israel shall be thy name:
32 And with the stones he built an altar in the name of the LORD: and he made a trench about the altar, as great as would contain two measures of seed.
33 And he put the wood in order, and cut the bullock in pieces, and laid him on the wood, and said, Fill four barrels with water, and pour it on the burnt sacrifice, and on the wood.
34 And he said, Do it the second time. And they did it the second time. And he said, Do it the third time. And they did it the third time.
35 And the water ran round about the altar; and he filled the trench also with water.
36 [†] And it came to pass at the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice, that Elijah the prophet came near, and said, LORD God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Israel, let it be known this day that thou art God in Israel, and that I am thy servant, and that I have done all these things at thy word.
37 Hear me, O LORD, hear me, that this people may know that thou art the LORD God, and that thou hast turned their heart back again.
38 [†] Then the fire of the LORD fell, and consumed the burnt sacrifice, and the wood, and the stones, and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench.
39 And when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces: and they said, The LORD, he is the God; the LORD, he is the God.
40 [†] And Elijah said unto them, Take the prophets of Baal; let not one of them escape. And they took them: and Elijah brought them down to the brook Kishon, and slew them there.
41 ¶ And Elijah said unto Ahab, Get thee up, eat and drink; for there is a sound of abundance of rain.
42 [†] So Ahab went up to eat and to drink. And Elijah went up to the top of Carmel; and he cast himself down upon the earth, and put his face between his knees,
43 [†] And said to his servant, Go up now, look toward the sea. And he went up, and looked, and said, There is nothing. And he said, Go again seven times.
44 And it came to pass at the seventh time, that he said, Behold, there ariseth a little cloud out of the sea, like a man's hand. And he said, Go up, say unto Ahab, Prepare thy chariot, and get thee down, that the rain stop thee not.
45 [†] And it came to pass in the mean while, that the heaven was black with clouds and wind, and there was a great rain. And Ahab rode, and went to Jezreel.
46 And the hand of the LORD was on Elijah; and he girded up his loins, and ran before Ahab to the entrance of Jezreel.

1 Kings 19 [†]

1 [†] And Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done, and withal how he had slain all the prophets with the sword.
2 [†] Then Jezebel sent a messenger unto Elijah, saying, So let the gods do to me, and more also, if I make not thy life as the life of one of them by to morrow about this time.
3 [†] And when he saw that, he arose, and went for his life, and came to Beer-sheba, which belongeth to Judah, and left his servant there.
4 [†] ¶ But he himself went a day's journey into the wilderness, and came and sat down under a juniper tree: and he requested for himself that he might die; and said, It is enough; now, O Lord, take away my life; for I am not better than my fathers.
5 And as he lay and slept under a juniper tree, behold, then an angel touched him, and said unto him, Arise and eat.
6 [†] And he looked, and, behold, there was a cake baken on the coals, and a cruse of water at his head. And he did eat and drink, and laid him down again.
7 And the angel of the Lord came again the second time, and touched him, and said, Arise and eat; because the journey is too great for thee.
8 [†] And he arose, and did eat and drink, and went in the strength of that meat forty days and forty nights unto Horeb the mount of God.
9 ¶ And he came thither unto a cave, and lodged there; and, behold, the word of the Lord came to him, and he said unto him, What doest thou here, Elijah?
10 [†] And he said, I have been very jealous for the Lord God of hosts: for the children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant, thrown down thine altars, and slain thy prophets with the sword; and I, even I only, am left; and they seek my life, to take it away.
11 [†] And he said, Go forth, and stand upon the mount before the Lord. And, behold, the Lord passed by, and a great and strong wind rent the mountains, and brake in pieces the rocks before the Lord; but the Lord was not in the wind: and after the wind an earthquake; but the Lord was not in the earthquake:
12 And after the earthquake a fire; but the Lord was not in the fire: and after the fire a still small voice.
13 [†] And it was so, when Elijah heard it, that he wrapped his face in his mantle, and went out, and stood in the entering in of the cave. And, behold, there came a voice unto him, and said, What doest thou here, Elijah?
14 And he said, I have been very jealous for the Lord God of hosts: because the children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant, thrown down thine altars, and slain thy prophets with the sword; and I, even I only, am left; and they seek my life, to take it away.
15 [†] And the Lord said unto him, Go, return on thy way to the wilderness of Damascus: and when thou comest, anoint Hazael to be king over Syria:
16 And Jehu the son of Nimshi shalt thou anoint to be king over Israel: and Elisha the son of Shaphat of Abel-meholah shalt thou anoint to be prophet in thy room.
17 [†] And it shall come to pass, that him that escapeth the sword of Hazael shall Jehu slay: and him that escapeth from the sword of Jehu shall Elisha slay.
18 [†] Yet I have left me seven thousand in Israel, all the knees which have not bowed unto Baal, and every mouth which hath not kissed him.
19 ¶ So he departed thence, and found Elisha the son of Shaphat, who was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen before him, and he with the twelfth: and Elijah passed by him, and cast his mantle upon him.
20 And he left the oxen, and ran after Elijah, and said, Let me, I pray thee, kiss my father and my mother, and then I will follow thee. And he said unto him, Go back again: for what have I done to thee?

21 [†] And he returned back from him, and took a yoke of oxen, and slew them, and boiled their flesh with the instruments of the oxen, and gave unto the people, and they did eat. Then he arose, and went after Elijah, and ministered unto him.

1 Kings 20 [†]

1 [†] And Ben-hadad the king of Syria gathered all his host together: and there were thirty and two kings with him, and horses, and chariots: and he went up and besieged Samaria, and warred against it.
2 And he sent messengers to Ahab king of Israel into the city, and said unto him, Thus saith Ben-hadad,
3 Thy silver and thy gold is mine; thy wives also and thy children, even the goodliest, are mine.
4 And the king of Israel answered and said, My lord, O king, according to thy saying, I am thine, and all that I have.
5 And the messengers came again, and said, Thus speaketh Ben-hadad, saying, Although I have sent unto thee, saying, Thou shalt deliver me thy silver, and thy gold, and thy wives, and thy children;
6 [†] Yet I will send my servants unto thee to morrow about this time, and they shall search thine house, and the houses of thy servants; and it shall be, that whatsoever is pleasant in thine eyes, they shall put it in their hand, and take it away.
7 [†] Then the king of Israel called all the elders of the land, and said, Mark, I pray you, and see how this man seeketh mischief: for he sent unto me for my wives, and for my children, and for my silver, and for my gold; and I denied him not.
8 And all the elders and all the people said unto him, Hearken not unto him, nor consent.
9 Wherefore he said unto the messengers of Ben-hadad, Tell my lord the king, All that thou didst send for to thy servant at the first I will do: but this thing I may not do. And the messengers departed, and brought him word again.
10 [†] And Ben-hadad sent unto him, and said, The gods do so unto me, and more also, if the dust of Samaria shall suffice for handfuls for all the people that follow me.
11 [†] And the king of Israel answered and said, Tell him, Let not him that girdeth on his harness boast himself as he that putteth it off.
12 [†] And it came to pass, when Ben-hadad heard this message, as he was drinking, he and the kings in the pavilions, that he said unto his servants, Set yourselves in array. And they set themselves in array against the city.
13 [†] ¶ And, behold, there came a prophet unto Ahab king of Israel, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Hast thou seen all this great multitude? behold, I will deliver it into thine hand this day; and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.
14 [†] And Ahab said, By whom? And he said, Thus saith the Lord, Even by the young men of the princes of the provinces. Then he said, Who shall order the battle? And he answered, Thou.
15 Then he numbered the young men of the princes of the provinces, and they were two hundred and thirty two: and after them he numbered all the people, even all the children of Israel, being seven thousand.
16 And they went out at noon. But Ben-hadad was drinking himself drunk in the pavilions, he and the kings, the thirty and two kings that helped him.
17 And the young men of the princes of the provinces went out first; and Ben-hadad sent out, and they told him, saying, There are men come out of Samaria.
18 And he said, Whether they be come out for peace, take them alive; or whether they be come out for war, take them alive.
19 So these young men of the princes of the provinces came out of the city, and the army which followed them.
20 And they slew every one his man: and the Syrians fled; and Israel pursued them: and Ben-hadad the king of Syria escaped on an horse with the horsemen.
21 And the king of Israel went out, and smote the horses and chariots, and slew the Syrians with a great slaughter.

22 [†] ¶ And the prophet came to the king of Israel, and said unto him, Go, strengthen thyself, and mark, and see what thou doest: for at the return of the year the king of Syria will come up against thee.
23 And the servants of the king of Syria said unto him, Their gods are gods of the hills; therefore they were stronger than we; but let us fight against them in the plain, and surely we shall be stronger than they.
24 [†] And do this thing, Take the kings away, every man out of his place, and put captains in their rooms:
25 And number thee an army, like the army that thou hast lost, horse for horse, and chariot for chariot: and we will fight against them in the plain, and surely we shall be stronger than they. And he hearkened unto their voice, and did so.
26 And it came to pass at the return of the year, that Ben-hadad numbered the Syrians, and went up to Aphek, to fight against Israel.
27 [†] And the children of Israel were numbered, and were all present, and went against them: and the children of Israel pitched before them like two little flocks of kids; but the Syrians filled the country.
28 [†] ¶ And there came a man of God, and spake unto the king of Israel, and said, Thus saith the LORD, Because the Syrians have said, The LORD is God of the hills, but he is not God of the valleys, therefore will I deliver all this great multitude into thine hand, and ye shall know that I am the LORD.
29 [†] And they pitched one over against the other seven days. And so it was, that in the seventh day the battle was joined: and the children of Israel slew of the Syrians an hundred thousand footmen in one day.
30 But the rest fled to Aphek, into the city; and there a wall fell upon twenty and seven thousand of the men that were left. And Ben-hadad fled, and came into the city, into an inner chamber.
31 [†] ¶ And his servants said unto him, Behold now, we have heard that the kings of the house of Israel are merciful kings: let us, I pray thee, put sackcloth on our loins, and ropes upon our heads, and go out to the king of Israel: peradventure he will save thy life.
32 So they girded sackcloth on their loins, and put ropes on their heads, and came to the king of Israel, and said, Thy servant Ben-hadad saith, I pray thee, let me live. And he said, Is he yet alive? he is my brother.
33 [†] Now the men did diligently observe whether any thing would come from him, and did hastily catch it: and they said, Thy brother Ben-hadad. Then he said, Go ye, bring him. Then Ben-hadad came forth to him; and he caused him to come up into the chariot.
34 [†] And Ben-hadad said unto him, The cities, which my father took from thy father, I will restore; and thou shalt make streets for thee in Damascus, as my father made in Samaria. Then said Ahab, I will send thee away with this covenant. So he made a covenant with him, and sent him away.
35 [†] ¶ And a certain man of the sons of the prophets said unto his neighbour in the word of the LORD, Smite me, I pray thee. And the man refused to smite him.
36 Then said he unto him, Because thou hast not obeyed the voice of the LORD, behold, as soon as thou art departed from me, a lion shall slay thee. And as soon as he was departed from him, a lion found him, and slew him.
37 Then he found another man, and said, Smite me, I pray thee. And the man smote him, so that in smiting he wounded him.
38 So the prophet departed, and waited for the king by the way, and disguised himself with ashes upon his face.
39 [†] And as the king passed by, he cried unto the king: and he said, Thy servant went out into the midst of the battle; and, behold, a man turned aside, and brought a man unto me, and said, Keep this man: if by any means he be missing, then shall thy life be for his life, or else thou shalt pay a talent of silver.

40 [†] And as thy servant was busy here and there, he was gone. And the king of Israel said unto him, So shall thy judgment be; thyself hast decided it.
41 And he hasted, and took the ashes away from his face; and the king of Israel discerned him that he was of the prophets.
42 And he said unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Because thou hast let go out of thy hand a man whom I appointed to utter destruction, therefore thy life shall go for his life, and thy people for his people.
43 [†] And the king of Israel went to his house heavy and displeased, and came to Samaria.

1 Kings 21 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass after these things, that Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard, which was in Jezreel, hard by the palace of Ahab king of Samaria.
2 And Ahab spake unto Naboth, saying, Give me thy vineyard, that I may have it for a garden of herbs, because it is near unto my house: and I will give thee for it a better vineyard than it; or, if it seem good to thee, I will give thee the worth of it in money.
3 [†] And Naboth said to Ahab, The LORD forbid it me, that I should give the inheritance of my fathers unto thee.
4 [†] And Ahab came into his house heavy and displeased because of the word which Naboth the Jezreelite had spoken to him: for he had said, I will not give thee the inheritance of my fathers. And he laid him down upon his bed, and turned away his face, and would eat no bread.
5 [†] ¶ But Jezebel his wife came to him, and said unto him, Why is thy spirit so sad, that thou eatest no bread?
6 And he said unto her, Because I spake unto Naboth the Jezreelite, and said unto him, Give me thy vineyard for money; or else, if it please thee, I will give thee another vineyard for it: and he answered, I will not give thee my vineyard.
7 And Jezebel his wife said unto him, Dost thou now govern the kingdom of Israel? arise, and eat bread, and let thine heart be merry: I will give thee the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite.
8 So she wrote letters in Ahab's name, and sealed them with his seal, and sent the letters unto the elders and to the nobles that were in his city, dwelling with Naboth.
9 [†] And she wrote in the letters, saying, Proclaim a fast, and set Naboth on high among the people:
10 [†] And set two men, sons of Belial, before him, to bear witness against him, saying, Thou didst blaspheme God and the king. And then carry him out, and stone him, that he may die.
11 And the men of his city, even the elders and the nobles who were the inhabitants in his city, did as Jezebel had sent unto them, and as it was written in the letters which she had sent unto them.
12 They proclaimed a fast, and set Naboth on high among the people.
13 And there came in two men, children of Belial, and sat before him: and the men of Belial witnessed against him, even against Naboth, in the presence of the people, saying, Naboth did blaspheme God and the king. Then they carried him forth out of the city, and stoned him with stones, that he died.
14 Then they sent to Jezebel, saying, Naboth is stoned, and is dead.
15 ¶ And it came to pass, when Jezebel heard that Naboth was stoned, and was dead, that Jezebel said to Ahab, Arise, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he refused to give thee for money: for Naboth is not alive, but dead.
16 And it came to pass, when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, that Ahab rose up to go down to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, to take possession of it.
17 ¶ And the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying,
18 Arise, go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, which is in Samaria: behold, he is in the vineyard of Naboth, whither he is gone down to possess it.
19 [†] And thou shalt speak unto him, saying, Thus saith the LORD, Hast thou killed, and also taken possession? And thou shalt speak unto him, saying, Thus saith the LORD, In the place where dogs licked the blood of Naboth shall dogs lick thy blood, even thine.
20 [†] And Ahab said to Elijah, Hast thou found me, O mine enemy? And he answered, I have found thee: because thou hast sold thyself to work evil in the sight of the LORD.
21 [†] Behold, I will bring evil upon thee, and will take away thy posterity, and will cut off from Ahab him that pisseth against the wall, and him that is shut up and left in Israel,

22 [†] And will make thine house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah, for the provocation wherewith thou hast provoked me to anger, and made Israel to sin.
23 [†] And of Jezebel also spake the Lord, saying, The dogs shall eat Jezebel by the wall of Jezreel.
24 [†] Him that dieth of Ahab in the city the dogs shall eat; and him that dieth in the field shall the fowls of the air eat.
25 ¶ But there was none like unto Ahab, which did sell himself to work wickedness in the sight of the Lord, whom Jezebel his wife stirred up.
26 [†] And he did very abominably in following idols, according to all things as did the Amorites, whom the Lord cast out before the children of Israel.
27 [†] And it came to pass, when Ahab heard those words, that he rent his clothes, and put sackcloth upon his flesh, and fasted, and lay in sackcloth, and went softly.
28 And the word of the Lord came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying,
29 [†] Seest thou how Ahab humbleth himself before me? because he humbleth himself before me, I will not bring the evil in his days: but in his son's days will I bring the evil upon his house.

1 Kings 22 [†]

1 And they continued three years without war between Syria and Israel.
2 And it came to pass in the third year, that Jehoshaphat the king of Judah came down to the king of Israel.
3 [†] And the king of Israel said unto his servants, Know ye that Ramoth in Gilead is ours, and we be still, and take it not out of the hand of the king of Syria?
4 And he said unto Jehoshaphat, Wilt thou go with me to battle to Ramoth-gilead? And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, I am as thou art, my people as thy people, my horses as thy horses.
5 And Jehoshaphat said unto the king of Israel, Enquire, I pray thee, at the word of the LORD to day.
6 [†] Then the king of Israel gathered the prophets together, about four hundred men, and said unto them, Shall I go against Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall I forbear? And they said, Go up; for the Lord shall deliver it into the hand of the king.
7 And Jehoshaphat said, Is there not here a prophet of the LORD besides, that we might enquire of him?
8 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, There is yet one man, Micaiah the son of Imlah, by whom we may enquire of the LORD: but I hate him; for he doth not prophesy good concerning me, but evil. And Jehoshaphat said, Let not the king say so.
9 Then the king of Israel called an officer, and said, Hasten hither Micaiah the son of Imlah.
10 [†] And the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah sat each on his throne, having put on their robes, in a void place in the entrance of the gate of Samaria; and all the prophets prophesied before them.
11 [†] And Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah made him horns of iron: and he said, Thus saith the LORD, With these shalt thou push the Syrians, until thou have consumed them.
12 And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, Go up to Ramoth-gilead, and prosper: for the LORD shall deliver it into the king's hand.
13 And the messenger that was gone to call Micaiah spake unto him, saying, Behold now, the words of the prophets declare good unto the king with one mouth: let thy word, I pray thee, be like the word of one of them, and speak that which is good.
14 And Micaiah said, As the LORD liveth, what the LORD saith unto me, that will I speak.
15 [†] ¶ So he came to the king. And the king said unto him, Micaiah, shall we go against Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall we forbear? And he answered him, Go, and prosper: for the LORD shall deliver it into the hand of the king.
16 And the king said unto him, How many times shall I adjure thee that thou tell me nothing but that which is true in the name of the LORD?
17 [†] And he said, I saw all Israel scattered upon the hills, as sheep that have not a shepherd: and the LORD said, These have no master: let them return every man to his house in peace.
18 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee that he would prophesy no good concerning me, but evil?
19 [†] And he said, Hear thou therefore the word of the LORD: I saw the LORD sitting on his throne, and all the host of heaven standing by him on his right hand and on his left.
20 And the LORD said, Who shall persuade Ahab, that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead? And one said on this manner, and another said on that manner.
21 And there came forth a spirit, and stood before the LORD, and said, I will persuade him.
22 [†] And the LORD said unto him, Wherewith? And he said, I will go forth, and I will be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets. And he said, Thou shalt persuade him, and prevail also: go forth, and do so.

23 [†] Now therefore, behold, the LORD hath put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these thy prophets, and the LORD hath spoken evil concerning thee.
24 But Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah went near, and smote Micaiah on the cheek, and said, Which way went the Spirit of the LORD from me to speak unto thee?
25 And Micaiah said, Behold, thou shalt see in that day, when thou shalt go into an inner chamber to hide thyself.
26 And the king of Israel said, Take Micaiah, and carry him back unto Amon the governor of the city, and to Joash the king's son;
27 [†] And say, Thus saith the king, Put this fellow in the prison, and feed him with bread of affliction and with water of affliction, until I come in peace.
28 [†] And Micaiah said, If thou return at all in peace, the LORD hath not spoken by me. And he said, Hearken, O people, every one of you.
29 So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth-gilead.
30 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, I will disguise myself, and enter into the battle; but put thou on thy robes. And the king of Israel disguised himself, and went into the battle.
31 But the king of Syria commanded his thirty and two captains that had rule over his chariots, saying, Fight neither with small nor great, save only with the king of Israel.
32 And it came to pass, when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, that they said, Surely it is the king of Israel. And they turned aside to fight against him: and Jehoshaphat cried out.
33 And it came to pass, when the captains of the chariots perceived that it was not the king of Israel, that they turned back from pursuing him.
34 [†] And a certain man drew a bow at a venture, and smote the king of Israel between the joints of the harness: wherefore he said unto the driver of his chariot, Turn thine hand, and carry me out of the host; for I am wounded.
35 And the battle increased that day: and the king was stayed up in his chariot against the Syrians, and died at even: and the blood ran out of the wound into the midst of the chariot.
36 And there went a proclamation throughout the host about the going down of the sun, saying, Every man to his city, and every man to his own country.
37 [†] ¶ So the king died, and was brought to Samaria; and they buried the king in Samaria.
38 [†] And one washed the chariot in the pool of Samaria; and the dogs licked up his blood; and they washed his armour; according unto the word of the LORD which he spake.
39 [†] Now the rest of the acts of Ahab, and all that he did, and the ivory house which he made, and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
40 So Ahab slept with his fathers; and Ahaziah his son reigned in his stead.
41 ¶ And Jehoshaphat the son of Asa began to reign over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel.
42 Jehoshaphat was thirty and five years old when he began to reign; and he reigned twenty and five years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.
43 And he walked in all the ways of Asa his father; he turned not aside from it, doing that which was right in the eyes of the LORD: nevertheless the high places were not taken away; for the people offered and burnt incense yet in the high places.
44 And Jehoshaphat made peace with the king of Israel.
45 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, and his might that he shewed, and how he warred, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
46 [†] And the remnant of the sodomites, which remained in the days of his father Asa, he took out of the land.
47 [†] There was then no king in Edom: a deputy was king.

48 [†] Jehoshaphat made ships of Tharshish to go to Ophir for gold: but they went not; for the ships were broken at Ezion-geber.
49 Then said Ahaziah the son of Ahab unto Jehoshaphat, Let my servants go with thy servants in the ships. But Jehoshaphat would not.
50 ¶ And Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father: and Jehoram his son reigned in his stead.
51 ¶ Ahaziah the son of Ahab began to reign over Israel in Samaria the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and reigned two years over Israel.
52 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father, and in the way of his mother, and in the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin:
53 For he served Baal, and worshipped him, and provoked to anger the LORD God of Israel, according to all that his father had done.

NOTES ON THE BOOK OF

1 KINGS

THE DEVELOPMENT AND DECLINE OF THE KINGDOM UNDER SOLOMON (1 KINGS 1:1—11:43)

Solomon's Coronation and Consolidation of the Kingdom (1 Kings 1:1—4:34)

Chapter 1: Before David dies, he declares that Solomon will be his successor to the throne.

1:1 stricken in years. Literally, "one who enters into the days," an idiom for growing old. David is now seventy years old, having begun to reign at the age of thirty (2 Sam. 5:4) and reigning for a total of forty years (1 Kings 2:11). gat no heat. Literally, "it did not feel warm to him."

1:2 let her cherish him. The Hebrew indicates that she will be a nurse for him (v. 4).

1:3 damsel. Young woman (v. 4). coasts. Borders or regions.

1:5 Adonijah. The oldest surviving son of David. prepared chariots. His forming a royal procession to gain status among the people mirrors Absalom's action (2 Sam. 15:1).

1:6 had not displeased. David had not admonished or rebuked Adonijah. very goodly man. A reference to his appearance, not his character. his mother bare him after Absalom. Adonijah was born after Absalom but to a different mother (2 Sam. 3:4; 1 Chron. 3:2).

1:16 bowed and, did obeisance. Kneeled down in respect or submission.

1:17 thou swarest. The Lord had revealed to David that Solomon would be the heir to his throne (2 Sam. 7:13; 12:24–25; 1 Chron. 22:9–10; 28:5–6).

1:21 sleep with his fathers. Hebrew, "lie down" with his fathers, a euphemism for death that anticipates an awakening. Life after death and the hope of resurrection were integral to Old Testament theology (see Job 19:25–27; Ps. 49:15; Eccl. 12:7; Isa. 26:19; Dan. 12:2).

1:25 God save king Adonijah. Literally, "May the king Adonijah live."

1:30 See comments at v. 17.

1:33 the servants of your lord. Most likely David's personal bodyguards. David's assigning them to Solomon would have been a token of royal honor, a public proclamation of him as king over Israel.

1:34 God save king Solomon. Literally, "may the king Solomon live" (v. 39).

1:36 Amen. Translated, "surely" or "truly."

1:37 Despite all sinful human ambition, the Lord will establish His chosen king of the line of David (Isa. 9:7).

1:39 anointed. This symbolized the Spirit's empowering for the kingly office (1 Sam. 16:13). Kings, prophets, and priests were anointed for their respective ministries as representatives of the coming Messiah, who would unite the three offices in Himself as the ideal Mediator.

1:40 piped with pipes. Played some sort of flutelike instrument. rent. Split, an obvious hyperbole to describe the magnitude of the loud exaltation.

1:43 Verily. Surely or indeed.

1:47 bowed. The usual Hebrew word for "worship."

1:50–53 caught hold on the horns of the altar. This was an ancient custom in Israel to allow those who were guilty of a crime to plead for mercy and escape capital punishment by holding on to one of the four horns of the burnt offering altar. This gesture was no protection for the blatantly guilty (2:28; Ex. 21:14). Solomon gave him the benefit of the doubt.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 1

1. Adonijah shared with Absalom, his elder half brother, not only good looks but also a selfish, unharnessed ambition for power. Proverbs teaches that the judgment that falls on the mocker should be a warning to others not to follow the same course (Prov. 19:25; 21:11). Unfortunately, Adonijah failed to learn from Absalom's rebellion and demise that elevating self above and against God's will is foolishness with devastating consequences. Adonijah knew that Solomon had been designated as the successor to the royal throne, and yet he opposed this. Opposing God's will always leads to misery. Man needs to be on guard for pride and rash presumption that will motivate self-promotion. To defer to another with regard to some promotion when we think we possess all the necessary qualifications is an unnatural response that requires the kind of humility exemplified by the Savior. This was Paul's directive against the strife in the church: to have the mind of Christ (Phil. 2:1–5). What can you do when you are tempted to be like Adonijah?
2. Although Adonijah's motives are suspect, his taking hold of the horns of the altar suggests a beautiful gospel picture. The altar was the place of sacrifice, reconciliation, and deliverance. Solomon, the peace giver, spared Adonijah even though he was deserving of death. This is a symbol of a sinner taking hold of Christ Jesus, who is greater than both Solomon and the temple with all of its furniture and rituals. It is only when the sinner lays hold of Christ that he is delivered from death to life.

Chapter 2: David gives Solomon instructions concerning the administration of the kingdom, including the purging of those who were disloyal to his administration.

2:1 he charged. Literally, "he commanded."

2:3 These obligations correspond to God's initial instructions regarding kings (Deut. 17:19–20). that thou mayest prosper. That you may achieve success.

2:4 David reiterates God's covenant promise to him (2 Sam. 7:12–13), the ultimate fulfillment being the coming of Christ, who will reign forever.

2:5 shed the blood of war in peace. What is legitimate in time of war is murder in time of peace. Joab was guilty of murder (2 Sam. 20:9–10). girdle . . . loins. The belt around his waist or hips. A gruesome picture of his being splattered with the blood of his victims.

2:6 hoar head. Gray hair (v. 9).

2:7 shew kindness. Practice covenant loyalty, involving mutual reciprocation.

2:8 cursed me with a grievous curse. Literally, "cursed me a curse," an idiom expressing intensity. He cursed greatly.

2:10 David slept. See note at 1:21.

2:12 his kingdom was established. Four times this chapter says that the Lord established the kingdom (vv. 12,24,45–46). The kingdom was moving into a new phase of peace and glory (5:3–4). This may explain why sinners who had been patiently tolerated in David's reign were now punished.

2:27 fulfil the word of the LORD. See notes at 1 Sam. 2:31,35. The rejection of Abiathar is a key step in showing the obsolescence of the Aaronic priesthood in anticipation of the ideal Priest to come.

2:28–29 the horns of the altar. See note at 1:50–53. There is no safety in religious ritual without a genuine heart of repentance.

2:32 to wit. That is.

2:36 any wither. Anywhere (v. 42).

2:44 thine heart is privy to. Literally, "your heart has known."

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 2

1. God often delays the execution of His justice, but He never sets it aside. Joab had sinned greatly, seemingly with impunity. But "though a sinner do evil an hundred times, and his days be prolonged . . . it shall not be well with the wicked . . . because he feareth not before God" (Eccl. 8:12–13). The goodness and longsuffering of God should lead to repentance (Rom. 2:4), but the impenitent persist in wickedness, eventually getting from God what they deserve. Joab had shed man's blood, and by man his blood was to be shed. In the same way sinners today should not interpret "life as usual" to be evidence of God's inactivity or His ignoring of justice. God will repay the sinner for the evil he has done. The Lord remembers the evil deeds of the wicked, and sooner or later He will execute His punishments upon them. The only remedy for us is to flee to the Lord Jesus Christ and be washed from all our sins in His blood by true, saving faith alone.
2. Joab's vainly hanging on to the horns of the altar provides a sobering lesson in the ineffectiveness of trusting in religious routines, rituals, or traditions for salvation. Religion without Christ and a saving dependence on Him is worthless. Yet so many convince themselves that just going to church or performing some other religious acts will be good enough. Going to the tabernacle was not enough to save Joab, and simply going to church is not enough to save anyone. What must we do in order to be forgiven of our sins?

Chapter 3: The Lord grants Solomon's request for wisdom, which Solomon displays in judging between two women, leaving a profound impression upon the whole nation.

3:1 made affinity. Hebrew, "to become a son-in-law."

3:2 sacrificed in high places. A violation of the law of the central sanctuary (Lev. 17:3–5; Deut. 12:5–7). Circumstances sometimes prevented this during the tabernacle era (for instance, when the ark was captured and then secluded). Yet even when the temple was erected, eliminating the high places proved difficult even for the best of kings (1 Kings 15:14).

3:4 Gibeon . . . the great high place. The tabernacle had been set up here with the altar for burnt offering (2 Chron. 1:3–5) while the ark had been transported to Jerusalem by David and placed in a tent (2 Sam. 6:17).

3:5 in a dream. Dreams were a frequent means of divine revelation in the Old Testament, one of the diverse manners of God's speaking (Heb. 1:1).

3:6 mercy . . . kindness. Both translate the same Hebrew word for covenant faithfulness and loyalty.

3:7 I am but a little child. Not a reference to size or age but to lack of experience.

3:9 an understanding heart. Literally, "a hearing heart." The ability to listen well is an essential component in fair and just discernment.

3:12 wise. The Hebrew root for "wise" or "wisdom" has the essential idea of "skill" or "ability." The Lord gave Solomon the wisdom, skill, and ability to know what to do in ruling and to understand the best means to achieve the best end.

3:15 offered up burnt offerings . . . peace offerings. This is an expression of Solomon's personal dedication and deep gratitude for God's covenant mercies.

3:18 no stranger. Literally, "nonexistence of another"; no one else was there except (save) the two of them.

3:19 overlaid it. Lay upon it.

3:26 her bowels yearned. Literally, "her compassion" or "her feelings of love" . . . "grew excited" or "warm and tender."

3:28 wisdom of God. Wisdom from God. judgment. Justice. In Solomon we see a type of the divine wisdom given by God to Christ so that He reigns in justice (Isa. 11:1–5).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 3

1. The Lord granted Solomon's unselfish request for wisdom, as well as giving him things he did not ask for (vv. 12–13). This testifies to God's amazing goodness and grace; in Paul's inspired words, he "is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think" (Eph. 3:20). We should learn from this that prayer is not just a list of wants in order to enrich ourselves but a means of seeking the Lord for His will to be done. We need to pray that God will grant us the wisdom or skill to fulfill well whatever calling and tasks He has for us. What wisdom do you need from the Lord today?
2. Christ the King has received the Spirit in His fullness to reign in perfect wisdom and justice. His Word and Spirit are the source of all the church's wisdom (Eph. 1:17; Col. 3:16). It is not enough to pray for wisdom and then to consult this world for guidance. We must look to Christ in faith and depend upon the Holy Scriptures as the Word of our King. Then we show Christ the reverence He deserves (1 Kings 3:28).

Chapter 4: Solomon reigns over a glorious and vast kingdom and gains a worldwide reputation for his wisdom.

4:2 priest. The Hebrew word can also designate a political rather than a religious official. See v. 5, where the word is translated "principal officer."

4:3 scribes. Secretaries to the king. recorder. One who chronicles the royal career.

4:6 tribute. Annual income and revenues of the king.

4:7 provided victuals for the king. Provided food; literally, "nourished the king" (v. 27).

4:20 as the sand which is by the sea in multitude. God was fulfilling His covenant with Abraham (Gen. 22:17; 32:12) through the wisdom of the royal son of David (1 Kings 4:29). making merry. Joyful in the sense of being satisfied or content. These are components of the ideal life (Eccl. 2:24; 3:22). Life was good in Solomon's kingdom.

4:21 reigned over all kingdoms. Compare the borders with the divine promises given to Abraham (Gen. 15:18), Moses (Ex. 23:31), and Joshua (Josh. 1:4).

4:25 under his vine and under his fig tree. An expression denoting peace and prosperity, not only in material matters but also spiritually (Mic. 4:4; Zech. 3:10).

4:26 This contradicted the divine mandate against kings multiplying horses (Deut. 17:16)—a military buildup that potentially became a source of confidence, as opposed to trusting God (Ps. 20:7; Isa. 31:1,3).

4:28 dromedaries. Camels, but the Hebrew refers to teams of horses used to carry loads.

4:29 heart. The inner man, including the mind, emotions, and will. Here largeness most likely refers to the greatness of mental power rather than to compassion.

4:32 proverbs . . . songs. Many of these were divinely inspired and thus preserved in the Bible in Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, and the Song of Solomon.

4:34 all people . . . all kings. God used the wisdom of Solomon to bless many nations, another fulfillment of the covenant with Abraham (Gen. 12:3; 22:18). This too is fulfilled in Christ (Isa. 2:3; 42:4).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 4

1. The glories and expanse of Solomon's kingdom serve as a beautiful picture or type of Christ and His kingdom. As great as Solomon was, he pales before Christ, who is greater (Matt. 12:42). Solomon received wisdom from God, but Christ is Himself the Wisdom of God (Prov. 8:12–35; 1 Cor. 1:30). The borders of Israel were expansive under Solomon's administration, but the kingdom of Christ is without borders, including subjects from every nation and people on the planet (Ps. 2:8). Solomon had to build up a military, but Christ rules with an irresistible rod of iron against all His enemies and has people who are irresistibly made willing in the day of His power (110:2–3). Solomon ruled over a kingdom at peace in which all his subjects had what was necessary for a contented life (1 Kings 4:20). How much more do those citizens in Christ's kingdom enjoy a peace that surpasses all understanding!
2. Solomon displayed profound wisdom, not only in human affairs and in politics but also regarding the matters of nature and biology. All of creation testifies to God's glory and reveals something of His great person and work. Christian faith encourages learning. Many universities were started at the initiative of godly men who desired an institution of sanctified learning. True godliness promotes scholarship, and true science is in strict adherence to the Word of God. "The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom" (Ps. 111:10). How can researchers and scientists glorify God?

Solomon's Construction of the Temple by God's Covenant (1 Kings 5:1—9:9)

Chapter 5: Solomon makes preparations for building the temple.

5:1 Tyre. A wealthy Phoenician city of commerce, located on an island in the Mediterranean Sea just off the coast of Phoenicia.

5:3–5 under the soles of his feet. An image of bringing enemies into subjugation. nor evil occurrent. Literally, "nonexistence of a harmful occurrence." Nothing bad was happening to hinder the work. The kingdom had transitioned from a time of war to a time of rest, opening the door for the building of the temple for God's glory (name, Deut. 12:9–11).

5:6 that can skill to hew timber. Literally, "that knows how to cut wood."

5:7 Solomon's wisdom was crucial for obtaining the materials from surrounding nations to build the temple (v. 12).

5:9 floats. Rafts constructed of logs bound together. in giving food. Tyre had little agricultural land and depended on food imports, primarily from the land of Israel (Acts 12:20).

5:12 made a league. Cut a covenant, here referring to a mutually accepted and binding business contract.

5:13 levy. This is not a monetary taxation but a draft of forced laborers. Samuel had predicted that kings would do this (1 Sam. 8:11–16).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 5

1. When Christ ascended into heaven, His earthly warfare had come to an end and He entered His rest. However, Solomon's kingdom reminds us that our own day is not a time of inactivity for our King but the era during which He is using His wisdom to enlist people from the nations to build His living temple, the church. One day the whole church will enter its rest; then the glory of God will dwell with man so that no temple will be needed.
2. One lesson from this chapter is the importance of preparing for the tasks before you. Wise Solomon put it this way: "If the iron be blunt, and he do not whet the edge, then must he put to more strength: but wisdom is profitable to direct" (Eccl. 10:10). Getting the tools ready before using them only makes sense. Solomon demonstrated his wisdom by making due preparations for the construction of the temple. This was a matter of common sense, but a lack of common sense can dishonor the Lord, as with a half-built construction project by a church. Christ applied this principle to spiritual life (Luke 14:25–33). Following the Lord Jesus incurs a cost—hardships and even suffering. To follow Him to the end you must look ahead, count the cost, and prepare yourself.

Chapter 6: Solomon builds the temple of the Lord.

6:1 in the four hundred and eightieth year. This is a crucial point of data for dating the exodus. Virtually all agree that Solomon's fourth year was 966 BC. If we assume that the 480 years are to be taken literally (and there is no contextual warrant to assume otherwise), adding 480 years gives the date 1446 BC for the exodus. Other references, such as Judg. 11:26, also point to a mid-fifteenth-century BC date.

6:2 house. The house of the Lord was comparable to the tabernacle, although the temple was twice as large. Each consisted of three sections: the front or outer court, the sanctuary (the holy place), and the inner sanctuary (the Holy of Holies), where the ark of the covenant was situated.

6:4 windows of narrow lights. The Hebrew is uncertain but seems to describe windows that were wide on the inside but narrow on the outside, allowing light to enter but preventing the elements from entering.

6:5 of the temple. Most likely referring specifically to the holy place. the oracle. Most likely referring specifically to the most holy place (vv. 19–20).

6:6 nethermost. Lowest. The storied chambers of increasing size were rooms for storage.

6:12–13 if thou wilt walk . . . then will I. God's blessing on the kingdom and His dwelling in the temple depended upon the obedience of the king to the law of God (9:4).

6:18 knops. Ornaments in the shape of gourds.

6:21 made a partition. Literally, "drew across it," most likely referring to the thick curtain separating the holy place from the most holy place (Ex. 26:31–33).

6:22 altar. The golden incense altar, situated in the sanctuary in front of the curtain of the inner sanctuary.

6:23 olive tree. Literally, "wood of oil," referring either to the oily kind of wood of the olive tree or perhaps to a fir tree. The same expression (vv. 31–32) is defined more specifically in v. 34 as a fir tree.

6:29–30 The cherubims, trees, flowers, and gold in the temple's artwork suggest that it was like the garden of Eden (Gen. 2:8–9,12; 3:24). The Lord restores His people from the fall and returns them to His presence, as in Paradise (Isa. 51:3; Rev. 22:1–5). within and without. Inside and outside, probably meaning in both the most holy place and the holy place.

6:31 These doors separated the sanctuary from the outer court (v. 33).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 6

1. We read that there was "neither hammer nor axe nor any tool of iron heard in the house, while it was in building" (v. 7). The temple was built in relative silence. Since the New Testament identifies believers, both individually and corporately, as the temple of God, this is suggestive or characteristic of the manner in which the Lord builds His church. Without much public show or loud proclamation the Lord converts sinners and expands His church. He performs His work in the private lives of people and causes them to be His witnesses in this world, but without ostentatious display or fanfare.
2. The temple, like the tabernacle before it, symbolized God's dwelling with His people. The temple was beautiful and ornate, a most special place filled with pointers to the One coming who was greater than the temple (Matt. 12:6). In the person of Christ, God came to dwell directly with man and revealed His glory, full of grace and truth (John 1:14). Solomon's temple was glorious, but nowhere does the glory of God shine more brightly than in the face of Jesus Christ (2 Cor. 4:6). An even greater wonder is that Christ dwells now in a most special and intimate way in the hearts of His people (Col. 1:27). However, God's dwelling with Christians does not depend upon the obedience of a fallen, sinful man like Solomon but upon the perfect righteousness of the God-man (Heb. 7:26). Therefore, believers in Christ will enjoy God's presence forever.

Chapter 7: Solomon completes various building projects, including items and utensils for the temple.

7:1 thirteen years. It took Solomon nearly twice as long to build the royal palace as the temple (6:38), implying that his priorities were right.

7:9 coping. The eaves or top part of the wall.

7:13–14 Hiram. Not to be confused with Hiram, the king of Tyre (5:1). filled with wisdom. Had skill and ability, specifically as an artisan with bronze. cunning to work. Had the skill or "know-how" to work with bronze.

7:15 cast. Formed or fashioned. a line . . . did compass. A thread or cord of some sort surrounded (v. 23).

7:16 chapiters. The capitals of a column or pillar. Here referring to some ornamentations placed at the top (vv. 17–20,31,41–42).

7:17 nets of checker work. Some sort of lattice or trellis work, an ornamental grating.

7:20 belly. Bulging section or rounded projection.

7:21 Jachin. Translated, "he shall establish." Boaz. Translated, "in Him is strength." A symbolic depiction of the spiritual reality that the church of Christ, the spiritual temple of the Lord, is established by the almighty power of God and rests in His strength.

7:23 molten sea. The sea of cast metal, referring to a large basin containing an abundance of water to be used by the priests and Levites for their ceremonial washings (Ex. 30:18–21). compass. Surround.

7:24 knops. See note at 6:18.

7:25 their hinder parts were inward. The molten sea, the laver, stood upon a base of twelve oxen that were all facing outward. The back parts of these oxen could not be seen from the outside.

7:26 two thousand baths. One bath is around nine gallons (also v. 38).

7:30,34 undersetters. Supports or bases.

7:31 gravings. Engravings.

7:32–33 axletrees. Axles, bars connecting the wheels. naves. Rims. felloes. Spokes. spokes. Hubs.

7:50 to wit. That is.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 7

1. Solomon's priority in finishing the temple before finishing his own palace (6:38; 7:1) stands in stark contrast to the rebuilding of the temple after the Babylonian exile. Haggai lamented that those who returned to the land were comfortable in their finished houses while the temple was still in ruins (Hag. 1:4). They put their own interests ahead of God, and the work of God suffered. Solomon's example charts the proper course. Putting God and His kingdom work first puts everything else in its proper place. Significantly, Solomon's personal interests did not suffer, and the construction projects in his kingdom were magnificent. God is no man's debtor; He will take care of His people. He will honor those who honor Him.
2. Every component of the temple has significance in what it reveals about God and how to worship Him. Special attention in this chapter is given to the molten sea (v. 23), the washbasin in the outer court just beyond the altar of sacrifice. The whole tripartite design of the tabernacle/temple, with its corresponding furniture, teaches how to approach God. The altar is first because approaching God cannot begin apart from the blood sacrifice. Then, before entering the holy place, the priests had to wash at the laver, illustrating Ps. 24:3–4, "Who shall stand in his holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart." What the priests pictured remains the requirement for Christians today. Fellowship with God requires pardon and purity, both walking in the light and being cleansed with Christ's blood (1 John 1:7).

Chapter 8: Solomon dedicates the temple, after which the Lord manifests His glory and Solomon offers a prayer of praise and intercession.

8:2 the feast in the month Ethanim. Most likely the Feast of Tabernacles (Lev. 23:24; Deut. 16:13), commemorating the wilderness wanderings and the nation's total dependence upon God.

8:4 brought up the ark. From the special place David had made when he retrieved it from Kirjath-jearim (2 Sam. 6:17; 2 Chron. 1:4). tabernacle of the congregation. From Gibeon (v. 3).

8:6 oracle of the house. The most holy place behind the veil.

8:7 staves. Poles used to transport the ark.

8:8 in the holy place. Place is not in the Hebrew text; the holy thing was the ark itself (2 Chron. 5:9). Thus, the staves were removed but remained with the ark in the most holy place and could not be seen from the outside (without).

8:9 There was nothing in the ark save the two tables of stone. A pot of manna and Aaron's rod had been kept either with or inside the ark (Ex. 16:33–34; Num. 17:10; Heb. 9:4). These items had disappeared by the time of the temple, perhaps during the ark's Philistine captivity (1 Sam. 4–6).

8:10 cloud. An appearance of God's glory (theophany) and sign of His presence (Ex. 40:34).

8:12 thick darkness. A sign of God's infinite holiness and inaccessibility to human sight (Pss. 18:11–12; 97:2). Ironically, even His dwelling in light has the same consequence (1 Tim. 6:16). This highlights the grace of God in allowing Himself to be approached through the gospel, which is pictured in the temple (His dwelling place). God would live with His people by means of His Word and the visible signs of His grace.

8:13 I have surely built thee an house to dwell in. God works through the mediation of His king to establish His gracious presence with His people (Matt. 16:18; 18:20; 28:18,20).

8:15 which spake with his mouth . . . and hath with his hand fulfilled it. God's dwelling with His people is His fulfillment of the promise of all His covenants, including those with Israel and David (vv. 16–17,20–21,23–24; Gen. 26:3; Ex. 29:45–46; 2 Sam. 7:13; 2 Cor. 6:16; Rev. 21:3,7).

8:16 my name might be therein. This marks the climax to the law of central sanctuary (Deut. 12:5).

8:20 in the room of. In the place of or instead of.

8:21 the covenant of the LORD. The Ten Commandments in the ark, detailing the people's obligations to God's covenant of grace.

8:22 spread forth his hands. A common prayer gesture (Pss. 134:2; 141:2).

8:23 mercy. Covenant love and loyalty.

8:26 be verified. Prove to be firm and reliable. The Hebrew word is the basis of "Amen."

8:27 heaven of heavens cannot contain thee. God is both in all places (omnipresent) and beyond all places—infinite with regard to space (Ps. 139:7–10; Isa. 66:1; Jer. 23:23–24). This makes it all the more remarkable that He would manifest His presence in the temple.

8:30 hear thou in heaven. A central function of the temple was to offer access to God through prayer (vv. 32,34,36,39,43,45). God's house is a house of prayer (Isa. 56:7). Access to the Father comes through Christ by a Spirit-worked faith (Eph. 2:18; 3:12).

8:31 neighbour. Fellow man, not the resident next door.

8:33 smitten down. Defeated.

8:35 See Deut. 11:17; 28:11–12,23.

8:37 blasting. Blight or scourging, generally affecting foliage (Joel 1).

8:39 thou only, knowest. See Jer. 17:10.

8:40 That they may fear thee. Fearing God is living in conscious awareness of God, resulting in worship and godly behavior.

8:41–42 stranger. Foreigner. thy great name. God's temple was to attract people from all nations to recognize the glory of the Lord and seek Him (Isa. 2:3). The church should do the same today.

8:47 bethink themselves. Literally, "return to their heart," with the sense of having a change of heart or coming back to their senses spiritually.

8:51 furnace of iron. The Hebrew word signifies a pot in which metal alloys are molten, symbolizing the severity of the sufferings in Egypt.

8:54 kneeling on his knees. Gesture of humility and unworthiness before the Lord.

8:61 be perfect. Have whole and undivided determination and resolve to do something.

8:64 hallow. Dedicate or consecrate. meat offerings. Grain offerings that were always in connection with a bloody sacrifice.

8:65 feast. Feast of Tabernacles, lasting seven days (Lev. 23:34).

8:65 Hamath unto the river of Egypt. Northern and southern extremes of the kingdom.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 8

1. As beautiful and glorious as the temple was, it was nothing but a building until the Lord filled it with His glorious presence (vv. 10–11). It is the Lord's presence that makes a house to be God's house. How much more is that true today, when God has no holy buildings, but His temple is the people of the church (1 Cor. 3:16)? Beautiful architecture and impressive gatherings of people are no substitute for the presence of the living God. Let us beware of the error of Laodicea, thinking that our church is rich while Christ is outside knocking to enter (Rev. 3:17,20). Praying for God's special presence ought to be a regular routine in our preparations for worship.
2. We can learn to pray from the prayers recorded for us in Scripture. Solomon's prayer offers a pattern to follow. His prayer involves praise and worship, confession, intercessions, and supplications. He often appeals to God's words and promises. It would be a good spiritual exercise to work through the prayer, praying with Solomon and addressing your own personal needs and issues. Prayer always is evidence of our sense of dependence upon God. The more conscious we are of needing the Lord, the more often and effectively we will pray.

Chapter 9: The Lord repeats the covenant to Solomon, and Solomon continues to build up the kingdom.

9:3 hallowed. Consecrated or set aside (v. 7). mine eyes and mine heart. He will ever be present to receive the prayers of His people (8:29).

9:4 integrity of heart. To serve the Lord with one's whole heart, in simplicity and sincerity. Though the covenant with David committed the Lord unconditionally to David's line (2 Sam. 7:13–15; Ps. 89:34–37), the enjoyment of covenant blessings upon the kingdom and the temple depended on the sincere obedience of each reigning son of David (1 Kings 6:12–13; 11:11).

9:7 proverb and a byword. A sharp word or taunt directed toward an object of scorn or derision.

9:8–9 hiss. Or to whistle as an expression of mockery. These verses echo the warning of covenant curses in the law of Moses (Deut. 29:24–27).

Solomon's Wisdom and Wealth from the Lord (1 Kings 9:10—10:29)

9:13 Cabul. Worthless, displeasing, or dirty (2 Chron. 8:2).

9:14 sixscore talents. 120 talents or almost 8,000 pounds, a talent being about 66 pounds (v. 28).

9:15 levy. Not taxes but the drafting of a labor force. Millo. Probably the name of a large building in the proximity of the king's palace where visitors to the king were received and the king's personal bodyguards were stationed. Hazor, and Megiddo, and Gezer. Three strategically important cities.

9:17 nether. Lower or lowest.

9:24 Millo. Some sort of terraced structure.

9:25 three times in a year. The pilgrimages for the Feasts of Unleavened Bread, Tabernacles, and Weeks or Pentecost (2 Chron. 8:13).

9:26 Red sea. Ancient name given to the Gulf of Suez and the Gulf of Aqaba.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 9

1. The Lord appeared to King Solomon to reiterate the covenant promise given to David and to warn him against forsaking the covenant obligations (vv. 1–9). As king of Israel, he represented the nation before God in the covenant. His obedience would establish God's kingdom and presence among them, whereas his disobedience would lead the nation into apostasy and judgment. How precious then is the promise of a King of perfect righteousness, even divine righteousness (Jer. 23:5–6)! Christ's perfect obedience has secured God's kingdom and presence forever for those united to Him. In Christ they are counted righteous before God, and by Christ's Spirit they too walk in sincere obedience.
2. The Lord explains what the cost would be if Israel were to forsake His commandments and embrace false gods (v. 9). The Lord would forsake His temple and give up the people of Israel to discipline and misery. Enjoying fellowship with God required purity of life and the forsaking of sin (2 Cor. 6:17–18; 1 John 1:5–10). Today there are many temptations alluring churches away from the truth of God's Word. The stakes for such apostasy are high: the Lord withdraws Himself. When Christians start backsliding, let them be quick to confess their sins and seek forgiveness and restoration by the blood of Christ.

Chapter 10: The Queen of Sheba visits Solomon and is astounded by his wisdom and wealth, which is described in detail.

10:1 Sheba. Located in the southwest of the Arabian Peninsula, approximately 1,000 miles from Jerusalem. This indicates how extensive Solomon's reputation was. prove him with hard questions. Test him with riddles or perplexing questions.

10:2 a very great train. Elsewhere refers to a numerous army (2 Kings 6:14), here most likely to the queen's entourage of guards.

10:5 meat. Food of any kind. the sitting. The assembly.

10:8 Happy. Often translated, "blessed" (Ps. 1:1), describing the benefits that belong to someone.

10:9 Blessed. Synonymous with a different Hebrew word translated, "happy" (v. 8); designates the ascription of praise when applied to God. because the LORD loved ISRAEL. The king is God's love gift to His people (Isa. 9:6). judgment and justice. Justice and righteousness (Ps. 72:1–2).

10:10 talents. Each approximately 66 pounds (v. 14).

10:12 pillars. Handrails used for support between the king's palace and the temple. harps . . . psalteries. Stringed instruments of some sort.

10:15 merchantmen. Traders or traveling merchants. traffick of the spice merchants. Merchandise of the vendors.

10:16 targets. Round shields.

10:17 pound. About 6.5 pounds.

10:19 stays. Literally, "hands," referring to armrests on either side of the throne's seat.

10:22 Tharshish. Or Tarshish (22:48; 2 Chron. 9:21).

10:24 sought to Solomon. Literally, "were seeking the face of Solomon," wanting to be in his presence.

10:26 in the cities. Most likely Gezer, Megiddo, and Hazor (see note at 9:15).

10:28 linen yarn. Most likely a proper name, "Kue," referring to a town in Asia Minor, present day Turkey. the king's merchants received the linen yarn at a price. Literally, "the traders of the king acquired from Kue at the purchase price."

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 10

1. The glorious reign of King Solomon is a reflection of the glorious kingdom of Christ, the One greater than Solomon. The wisdom, prosperity, abundance, wealth, and glory are but a weak resemblance of the eternal glory of the reign of Christ, whose kingdom shall endure forever in blessing and peace (Ps. 72; Eph. 1:3). The Queen of Sheba saw all the glory of Solomon and declared that the half of Solomon's glory had not been revealed to her. When God's people enter heaven and see the glories of His kingdom and the blessedness of His people, they will also be, so to speak, breathless, and each one of them will have to say that the half of the glories of Christ had not been told to them. Just as King Solomon gave regal gifts to the Queen of Sheba, so Christ shares with His people from the abundance of His riches the very fullness of God (1 Kings 10:16–19).
2. Solomon's gathering of many horses (vv. 26–29) casts a shadow across his kingdom, for this defied the Lord's command and suggests a worldly glorying in earthly strength (see note at 4:26). The temptations of affliction are hard, but the temptations of prosperity may be much worse. The king was ever to be a servant of the Lord. Let us all beware of glorying in our strengths and resources and always live as humble servants, even if God blesses us with success.

Chapter 11: Solomon sins against the Lord, disrupting the peace of the kingdom and setting the course for the kingdom's division.

Solomon's Breaking the Covenant (1 Kings 11:1–43)

11:1–2 strange. Foreign (v. 8). clave unto these. Clung to them. Marrying foreign women violated God's law (Ex. 34:16; Deut. 7:3), not because of race but because being unequally yoked with unbelievers has serious consequences (2 Cor. 6:14).

11:3 seven hundred wives. A violation of Deut. 17:17. concubines. Of a lower status than wives but kept in a harem as a status symbol. Most likely many of these relationships were politically arranged. It was not uncommon in treaties for one king to give another his daughter in marriage as a means of solidifying political or commercial contracts. his wives turned away his heart. The predicted outcome (Deut. 7:4). Solomon ignored his own advice (Eccl. 7:26).

11:4 not perfect. Undivided or not whole.

11:5 Milcom. Molech (v. 7; Lev. 18:21).

11:7 an high place. See 2 Kings 23:13, where this is referred to as the "mount of corruption."

11:11 rend. Tear.

11:13 one tribe. The Lord kept His promise (Gen. 49:10; 2 Sam. 7:14–15) by preserving David's throne in the tribe of Judah (1 Kings 12:20). The tribe of Benjamin, located around Jerusalem, joined Judah (vv. 21,23), as did Simeon, whose lands were enclosed by Judah (2 Chron. 15:9), and the Levites and godly people from all Israel (1 Kings 11:13–17).

11:14 stirred up an adversary. As He had stated in the covenant, the Lord disciplined the disobedient son of David with the opposition of men (2 Sam. 7:14).

11:18 victuals. Food, including provisions in general.

11:23 See 2 Sam. 8:2–3.

11:27 Millo. See note at 9:15.

11:28 ruler over all the charge of the house of Joseph. Overseer or foreman over all the forced labor from the descendants of Joseph, the combined tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh.

11:31 Take thee ten pieces. This symbolizes that Jeroboam would be king over ten tribes of Israel (see v. 35).

11:32 one tribe. See note at v. 13. which I have chosen. God's election of David to be His servant-king and Jerusalem to be His dwelling place preserved the kingdom even after Solomon's great sins (vv. 13,34,36).

11:34 prince. Literally, "one who is lifted up or exalted," referring to a leader but generally not to the son of a king.

11:36 have a light alway. David was the light of Israel, and the Lord was his light (2 Sam. 21:17; 22:29). The unconditional and unfailing promise to David found fulfillment in Christ (1 Kings 11:39; Ps. 132:17; 2 Chron. 21:7; Isa. 9:1–2; Luke 1:33), who is the light of the world (John 1:7–9).

11:38 a sure house. An established dynasty, though conditioned on obedience (if thou wilt hearken), whereas the promise to David was unconditional.

11:41 the book of the acts of Solomon. Keeping such a record was common practice among kings. This record was not inspired and has not been preserved.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 11

1. When Solomon was old his wives turned his heart away from God (v. 4). Solomon's downfall was gradual. At the beginning of his reign he married Pharaoh's daughter (3:1). Although that violated God's stipulation not to intermarry with pagans, apparently Solomon was able to hold in check its consequences, as the first part of his reign was marked by his service to the Lord. But this led Solomon to more sin. Let us be warned that, apart from repentance, sin will only grow and take us further from the Lord. It is imperative that we address sin immediately, confessing it and seeking the Lord's forgiveness and help to resist temptation.
2. Solomon's downfall is a reminder of what he himself summarized: "Better is the end of a thing than the beginning thereof" (Eccl. 7:8). Solomon had an exemplary beginning as he acknowledged his utter dependence on the Lord by seeking wisdom and dedicating himself wholeheartedly to the work of temple. But, sadly, Solomon is often remembered as much for his folly as for his wisdom. Church history, ancient and modern, is filled with tragic examples of those who started well but ruined their testimonies by some sin after years of God-honoring service. We should devote ourselves to constant prayer and vigilance that we will remain faithful until the end.

THE DISRUPTION AND DIVISION OF THE KINGDOM (1 KINGS 12:1—16:28)

Chapter 12: The northern tribes, led by Jeroboam, revolt against Judah and Rehoboam, resulting in the division of the kingdom.

The Splitting of the Kingdom (1 Kings 12:1–24)

12:1 Shechem. Located about 35 miles north of Jerusalem, historically associated with covenant commitment (Josh. 24). Perhaps selected as the coronation site to foster allegiance from the northern tribes. Tension between the north and the south was never far beneath the surface.

12:4 The yoke, used to restrict oxen for work, symbolizes the forced labor and other burdens imposed on the people by Solomon. heavy. Burdensome or oppressive.

12:7 A wise ruler wins the loyalty of his people by being their servant in response to their legitimate desires (Mark 10:42–44).

12:10 My little finger shall be thicker than my father's loins. He would increase the demands upon the people instead of lightning them.

12:11 lade. Imposed on. chastise you with scorpions. Refers to an especially painful scourge, another figure of speech to express increased burdens (v. 14).

12:13 roughly. Harshly or severely.

12:15 for the cause was from the LORD. The turn of events was under God's direction. God fulfills His Word (which the LORD spake) through His providence over historical events (Isa. 46:11; Ezek. 22:14). Here He gave a sinner over to His own pride and foolishness (2 Sam. 17:14).

12:16 What portion. What interest or share?

12:18 over the tribute. Over the forced labor or labor gangs. made speed to get him up to his chariot. Hurried to mount his war chariot.

12:22 Shemaiah. See 2 Chron. 11:2; 12:5.

12:24 this thing is from me. The Lord has decreed both the good and the bad (v. 15).

The Apostasy of Israel and Discipline of Judah (1 Kings 12:25—14:31)

12:25 Shechem. The first capital of the Northern Kingdom. Penuel. Straight east of Shechem on the east side of the Jordan, a strategic city of defense.

12:27–28 Erecting the two calves was a brilliant move both strategically and politically, since he surmised that a people that "pray together will stay together." False religion often serves as a tool for political unity and power (Rev. 13:11–15). Religiously, it was a tragic move that became the sin for which every other king of Israel was to be judged (1 Kings 13:34; 15:26). behold thy gods . . . which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt. He does not introduce a newly named deity but identifies the calves as representing Jehovah, the God of the exodus—a direct violation of the second commandment that prohibits any kind of image of the true God (Ex. 20:4–6; 32:4–8).

12:29 Beth-el . . . Dan. Located in the southern and northern borders of the kingdom. This was an effort to make false religion more convenient than traveling to the central sanctuary.

12:31 house of high places. Temple built on an elevation, where the Israelites committed idolatry.

12:31 the lowest of the people. Literally, "the extremities of the people," meaning that anyone qualified regardless of tribal identity or character. The legitimate priesthood was restricted to the sons of Aaron from tribe of Levi.

12:32 ordained a feast. Approximated and replaced the divinely ordained feast, probably here the Feast of Tabernacles.

12:33 he had devised of his own heart. Jeroboam had invented all these rituals and ceremonies of worship without any divine guidance, a vivid example of what Paul calls "will worship" (Col. 2:23).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 12

1. Rehoboam is a classic example of the folly of bowing to peer pressure. From the divine perspective, all this was orchestrated to accomplish the divine purpose. Yet from the human perspective, had he listened to the counsel of his elders, with their wisdom and experience, he could have avoided the calamity of losing the majority of his kingdom. This should be a warning to all, and particularly to young people. Listen to what Solomon, in all likelihood, told Rehoboam directly, as well as ourselves: “My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not” (Prov. 1:10). Rather, “My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother” (v. 8). Why is it hard at times to listen to our elders?

2. Rehoboam listened to foolish friends, but Jeroboam listened to himself, which is even more dangerous. He devised a course of action in his own heart (v. 33) that put the newly formed kingdom on the downward slope from its inauguration. The heart is deceitful above all things, leading us to depart from the Lord (Jer. 17:5,9). The plan he devised was logical in its policy and apparently successful in its effect, but it was neither right nor wise. God had given him the condition for establishing the kingdom: obedience (1 Kings 11:38). Following God’s ways may seem to jeopardize our future, but it actually secures it.

Chapter 13: An unnamed prophet from Judah obeys God by boldly rebuking Jeroboam and then is slain for his disobedience.

13:1 man of God. A common designation for a prophet.

13:2 O altar, altar. A rhetorical devise called apostrophe in which an inanimate object is addressed like a person. The message is ultimately for Jeroboam. Josiah. The Lord knew his name and what he would do hundreds of years before he appeared on the scene (2 Kings 23:14–17).

13:3 sign. A wonder or token, frequently in connection with a prophetic word to confirm reliability. rent. Torn in pieces (v. 5).

13:4 dried up. Withered.

13:19 he went back with him. He was duped because he failed to discern the spirit of prophecy. One of the key tests to identify a true prophet was whether or not his word conformed to what God had already revealed (Deut. 13:1–3; 1 Cor. 14:32). God never contradicts Himself.

13:21 he cried. The Lord still used this old prophet as a means to convey His Word, in spite of his sins and deceit. Spiritual gifts are not the same as godliness (Matt. 7:21–23).

13:23 to wit. That is.

13:24 the lion also stood. The lion stood there not as an animal of prey but as the agent of God’s providence.

13:33 the lowest of the people. See note at 12:31.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 13

1. The unnamed prophet is a lesson in contrast. On the one hand he is to be imitated. The Lord commissioned him with a dangerous task, but without hesitation he obeyed God, entering hostile territory with a fearless message to the hostile king. In the same way we all should have the courage to witness for God and Christ in the midst of a hostile world.
2. On the other hand, the prophet stands as a stark warning against disobeying God. Jeroboam trusted a prophet who appeared to have more experience but who contradicted God’s Word rather than trusting in the clear, unmistakable commands that God had given. He paid the consequence for his disobedience, and justly so. We should always be careful to discern the spirits. We are not to obey our own reasoning, nor are we to follow the words of others, but to abide with the clear directions of God's Word.

3. The prophecy about Josiah (v. 2) illustrates the amazing accuracy of God's prophetic word (2 Kings 23:14–17). The events of fulfillment occurred over 300 years later and yet were accurate to every detail of the prediction. God knows and has decreed the end from the beginning, so predicting the future is not difficult for Him; it is evidence of His deity (Isa. 46:9–10). Seeing how accurately prophecy has been fulfilled should encourage us that what God has predicted is as certain as though it has already happened.

Chapter 14: The Lord punishes both Jeroboam and Rehoboam for their persistent sins.

14:2 Shiloh. A city located in the tribe of Ephraim, the previous site of the tabernacle (Josh. 18:1; Ps. 78:60; Jer. 7:12,14).

14:3 cracknels. Small pastries or cakes. cruse. Bottle or jar. child. The term is not age specific, ranging from infant to young adult.

14:4 his eyes were set by reason of his age. Literally, "his eyes arose because of his gray-headedness," an idiom describing his inability to focus because of his age.

14:5 feign. Pretend; she will try to make herself unrecognizable.

14:6 heavy tidings. Severe words.

14:7 prince. A leader or ruler who was not the son of royalty.

14:9 cast me behind thy back. An expression designating complete rejection, putting God out of one's sight.

14:10 him that pisseth against the wall. A Hebrew idiom designating a male, without any vulgar connotation. Every male was going to be put to death; no hiding place (shut up) would provide escape (15:29).

14:11 shall the dogs eat. Referring to stray and wild dogs, not pets. Being eaten by scavengers, instead of receiving a decent burial, pictures a disgraceful death under the covenant curse of God (Deut. 28:15,26; Jer. 16:4; 34:18–20).

14:13 Although Abijah's death was part of Jeroboam's chastisement, the fact that he died a natural death and was buried was a mercy of God, who found some good thing in him.

14:14 but what? even now. From now on.

14:15 as a reed is shaken. A picture of instability. beyond the river. The Euphrates, referring to the Assyrian exile (2 Kings 17:6). groves. Asherah, the cultic poles erected near an altar used for pagan rituals. Israel was guilty of the sins that excluded them from living in the Promised Land (Lev. 26:15–39).

14:16 because of the sins of Jeroboam. Jeroboam's guilt and lingering influence by establishing idolatry as the state religion of Israel doomed the nation to spiritual decline and divine judgment. made Israel to sin. The tragic epitaph by which Jeroboam was remembered (15:26,30,34; 16:26; 2 Kings 3:3; 10:29,31; 13:2,11; 14:24; 15:9,18,24; 23:15).

14:17 Tirzah. A city of Manasseh, the first capital of the Northern Kingdom.

14:19 in the book of the chronicles. Literally, "in the book of the words of the days," an uninspired record of the king's career that has not been preserved (v. 29). The canonical books of Chronicles had not yet been composed.

14:22 Judah did evil. In the first three years of Rehoboam's reign they walked in the ways of the Lord

(2 Chron. 11:17). The transition to evil was perhaps due to his Ammonite mother's influence (1 Kings 14:21), another bitter fruit of Solomon's infidelity.

14:23 groves. See note at v. 15.

14:24 sodomites. Homosexual male prostitutes (15:12; 22:46; 2 Kings 23:7), forbidden by the law of God (Deut. 23:7).

14:27 brasen shields. Shields made of copper or bronze (copper alloyed with tin).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 14

1. God remembers mercy in His wrath (Hab. 3:2). God pronounced His just wrath and punishment on Jeroboam because of his sin. The fatal illness of his son Abijah was a component of that wrath, but it is here that God shows His mercy. This child would be spared the disgraceful death to be suffered by all his male relatives, as God mercifully brought him to death through natural causes. We know virtually nothing about this child, neither his age nor anything regarding his behavior, but God saw in Abijah something that pleased Him. The Lord takes no pleasure in the death of the wicked (Ezek. 18:32), yet the deaths of saints is precious to Him (Ps. 116:15).
2. Jeroboam owns the most dreadful legacy in the entire history of the Northern Kingdom: the one who made Israel sin. Any and every sin is a terrible offense against God, but the Lord Jesus said that leading others into sin deserves special punishment (Mark 9:42). What a tragedy it would be to be remembered for sin rather than for piety. "A good name is better than precious ointment" (Eccl. 7:1). Having a good reputation and godly testimony should be a concern for every believer. None of us will be remembered for very long (1 Kings 1:11), but as short-lived as our legacy may be, let it be that we feared God and influenced others for righteousness (Dan. 12:3).

Two Kingdoms in Conflict (1 Kings 15:1—16:28)

Chapter 15: Conflicts continue between Israel and Judah, and God consistently judges the wicked rulers of both kingdoms, while preserving Judah for David's sake.

15:3 not perfect. Not completely undivided; no whole-hearted consecration to the Lord.

15:4–5 lamp in Jerusalem. See note at 11:36. Neither David's sin nor that of his sons threatened God's unfailing promise to bless the line of David and bring through it His Son (2 Sam. 7:14–16).

15:7 the chronicles. See note 14:19.

15:10 his mother's name was Maachah. Actually, his grandmother's (v. 2), likely mentioned because she led the people into idolatry (v. 13). It was customary to refer to any ancestor as father or mother.

15:12 sodomites. See note at 14:24. his fathers had made. Referring to his father, Abijam, his grandfather, Rehoboam, and his great-grandfather, Solomon.

15:13 an idol in a grove. See note at 14:15.

15:14 heart was perfect. Allegiance to the Lord was undivided.

15:17 suffer. Allow. Baasha blockaded the way to Jerusalem lest those going to worship the true God (2 Chron. 15:9) would transfer their allegiance to Asa, the thing Jeroboam had tried to prevent with his two calves.

15:18 the silver and the gold that were left. After Shishak ransacked the temple (14:26).

15:19 league. Covenant or treaty. Asa sent a bribe to Syria to break alliance with Israel. Since Syria was directly north of Israel, this would divert Israel's attention away from Judah. The plan worked (17:21).

15:29 according unto the saying of the LORD. See 14:10,14.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 15

> "Asa did that which was right in the eyes of the LORD" (v. 11), and his "heart was perfect with the LORD all his days" (v. 14). Yet notwithstanding his overall devotion and uncompromising loyalty to the Lord, he did things that evidenced a lack of faith, a fearing of man more than God. Asa used temple money to bribe Ben-hadad to deliver him from Baasha. Instead of trusting a heathen king, he should have sought deliverance from the Lord. The Lord was not pleased and sent a prophet to rebuke Asa for his folly (2 Chron. 16). The danger was real, but he allowed the fear of what he saw to cloud his faith. Walking by sight instead of by faith is always easier, but we are to fear God above all and to trust Him to direct our paths in every circumstance of life (Prov. 3:6).

Chapter 16: A succession of wicked kings rules over the kingdom of Israel.

16:2 out of the dust. God is sovereign over mankind, appointing whomever he pleases to rule (1 Sam. 2:8) prince. Ruler or leader, but not a royal son. walked in the way of Jeroboam. Continued to lead Israel in idol worship (1 Kings 15:34).

16:4 shall the dogs eat. See note at 14:11.

16:5 chronicles. See note at 14:19 (16:14,20).

16:7 because he killed him. Baasha's killing the descendants of Jeroboam (15:29) fulfilled God's word of judgment on the wicked (14:10–11), but God held him accountable for his idolatry (16:2–3) and his sin in murdering Jeroboam's house (15:27–29). That his house would receive the same fate (16:4) illustrates lex talionis (the law of retaliation, Ex. 21:24).

16:11 pisseth against a wall. See note at 14:10.

16:12 according to the word of the LORD. God's threat of judgment would be fulfilled (v. 34; 14:18). Turning from sin to God is the only course of wisdom.

16:13 vanities. Idols, as worthless things without real existence (v. 26).

16:18 burnt the king's house over him. A destructive suicide.

16:23 Omri is the first king of Israel mentioned in an extant non-biblical record (the Mesha inscription or Moabite Stone), particularly for his conquest of the Moabites. The Assyrians referred to the king of Israel as the "son of Omri" and called Israel "Omri-land" even after his dynasty ended.

16:24 talents. Each approximately 66 pounds. Samaria. The new capital of the Northern Kingdom.

THE DISPUTE OF ELIJAH AND ELISHA FOR THE LORD (1 KINGS 16:29—2 KINGS 13:25)

The Ministry of Elijah against Ahab's House (1 Kings 16:29—2 Kings 1:18)

16:31–32 In addition to Jeroboam's state religion that continued, Ahab introduced the worship of pagan gods as an officially recognized religion. Baal. Title meaning "lord" or "master." The name depended on the particular location (Hadad for Phoenicia, Chemosh for Moab, etc.), but the rituals connected with each were similar. Baal worship was a fertility cult connected with the agricultural cycle, seeking to manipulate the gods by perverse rituals to obtain a good harvest. Archaeology has provided much information about Baal worship, particularly from a place called Ras Shamra, ancient Ugarit, not far from Jezebel's home.

16:33 grove. See note at 14:15.

16:34 Centuries later, the word of the LORD through Joshua came true (Josh. 6:26).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 16

> Comparing the biblical assessment of Omri with that of the secular historian illustrates how differently God sees things and what is truly significant. In terms of statesmanship, this king accomplished much. He conquered the Moabites and forged trade treaties with the Phoenicians, marrying his son Ahab to one of their princesses. He founded a dynasty of kings in Israel and built a brand new capital city, controlling the trade routes and securing income for his kingdom. Yet none of his accomplishments is even mentioned in Scripture. What is recorded is that he did not fear the Lord but did more wickedly than all who had reigned before him. This shows us that the important matter in life is not what we accomplish in terms of prestige or income but whether we fear and love the Lord. That will bring eternal blessings, but all the accomplishments in this life will soon wither and come to nothing. Of your life's efforts, which will last for eternity?

Chapter 17: Elijah confronts Ahab and begins to show the absurdity of Baal worship.

17:1 Elijah the Tishbite. Nothing is known about the prophet other than his name and home, but his name, "My God is Jehovah," sums up his ministry as a defender of true religion, particularly against Baal. Tishbe was on the east side of Jordan in Gilead, part of the Northern Kingdom. not be dew nor rain. Divine judgment for breaking the covenant (Deut. 28:23–24) and a direct attack against Baal (particularly Baal-Hadad of Jezebel's homeland), supposedly the god of thunder and rain. Jehovah, not Baal, controlled the rains.

17:3 Get thee hence. Go from this place. Cherith. A tributary brook leading to the Jordan River.

17:9 get thee. Go. Zarephath. A city in Phoenicia, in the middle of Baal territory. I have commanded a widow. Not in the sense of speaking a message for her to obey, but in that God had decreed that she would care for the prophet (see note at 2 Kings 24:3). God's decree determines all events, including the actions of animals (1 Kings 17:4) and the choices of human beings (see notes at 12:15,24).

17:11 morsel. Scrap or fragment. He did not ask for much.

17:12 cake. Loaf. but an handful. Ironically, Baal had no power in the heart of his own territory to prevent famine. meal. Flour (vv. 14,16). cruse. Bottle or jar (vv. 14,16). dress. Make or prepare.

17:14 shall not waste. The supply will not finish or run out (v. 16). until the day that the LORD SENDETH RAIN. Jehovah, not Baal, controlled the weather (Hos. 2:8).

17:17 mistress. The female owner or master; the Hebrew is the feminine form of "baal." sore. Severe. no breath left in him. Literally, "breath did not remain in him," referring to his death.

17:18 What have I to do with thee. Literally, "what to me and to you?" expressing wonder or bewilderment. man of God. Prophet (12:22; 13:1).

17:20 evil. Not referring to sin but to something hurtful, a calamity.

17:21 stretched himself upon the child. Dead bodies were unclean, but Elijah lay down in the uncleanness and death of the child of a sinner (v. 18) to raise him to life, just as Christ would embrace the uncleanness and death of sinners to raise them to life (Eph. 2:4–5). soul. Here referring to the principle of life.

17:22 he revived. This miracle was another attack against Baal. Baal's chief enemy was Mot, the god of death, whom he defeated in regular cycles. By raising the boy from the dead in a stronghold of Baal, Elijah declared that only Jehovah is the giver of life and the victor over death.

17:24 by this I know. Miracles confirmed that the message of the prophet was truly a new revelation from God. the word of the LORD in thy mouth is truth. Divine inspiration extends not merely to the ideas in the prophet's mind but also to the specific words he spoke and wrote, so that every word is true (Prov. 30:5; Matt. 5:18; John 10:35).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 17

1. The ministry of Elijah introduces a period of miracles. Christians rightly see God's providence in all events, but miracles in the strictest sense are extraordinary works of God's supernatural power that occurred at crucial moments in redemptive history to testify to His unique glory. For example, the Bible speaks of the miracles done through Moses to glorify the Lord above the gods of Egypt, those done through Elijah and Elisha to declare God's supremacy against Baal worship, and those done in the days of the Lord Jesus and His apostles to bear witness to Christ's coming and accomplishment of redemption. Though such miracles are rare, they teach us that God's power has no limits. Therefore, just as Elijah called down the covenant curses of the Law upon Israel through His prayers, so we can pray God's promises with great faith (James 5:16–18), since He is able to do more than we can ask or think (Eph. 3:20).
2. The miracles performed by Elijah (and later Elisha) stand by themselves as testimonies to God's power, but it is clear from the ancient literature that virtually every miracle was directed at some pagan belief about Baal. Point by point the prophets proved that the powers associated with Baal in truth belonged to Jehovah alone. It seems as though they knew what the worshipers of Baal believed. This is a good lesson in apologetics, the discipline of defending the Scriptures against those who attack them. The aim of apologetics is to display the emptiness and futility of the idolatrous beliefs of this world and to demonstrate that power, wisdom, and goodness belong to the Lord alone.

Chapter 18: Elijah meets with Ahab and challenges the prophets of Baal to a contest to prove whether Baal or Jehovah is the true God.

18:1 many days. Three years and six months (Luke 4:25; James 5:17). I will send rain. Elijah had said that there would be no rain "but according to my word" (1 Kings 17:1); the prophetic word equates to the word of the Lord Himself.

18:2 sore. Severe.

18:17 troubleth. Puts into disorder, brings disaster, or throws into confusion (v. 18).

18:19 groves. See note at 14:15.

18:21 How long halt ye between two opinions? The Hebrew could be either "how long do you limp on two wooden crutches?" or "how long do you limp on two divided (thoughts)?" Either way they were unstable and uncommitted.

18:23 I will dress. I will prepare; the Hebrew is simply "make" (v. 26).

18:24 the God that answereth by fire, let him be God. A contest of sovereignty between the Lord and the demonic gods of the world, similar to the way the Lord humiliated the gods of Egypt in the plagues and exodus of Israel (Ex. 7–12).

18:26 they leaped upon the altar. Some sort of cultic dance.

18:27 mocked. Elijah employed a bit of sanctified sarcasm. Each of these taunts alludes to some act associated with Baal referred to in the Canaanite literature. peradventure. Perhaps.

18:28 knives and lancets. Swords and spears.

18:29 prophesied. Ecstatic, self-induced frenzy. nor any that regarded. Literally, "nonexistence of attentiveness."

18:36 God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Israel. The faithful God who keeps His covenant promises. let it be known this day that thou art God. God always aims to glorify Himself as the only Lord (Ex. 6:7; 7:5; 9:16; Isa. 48:11).

18:38 the fire of the LORD fell. Another point against Baal, since he was the god of thunder and lightning. Icons of Baal often portray him with a lightning bolt as his scepter.

18:40 slew them. As commanded in the Law (Deut. 13:1–5; 18:20).

18:42 put his face between his knees. Knowing that God's will is to send rain, Elijah prays for God to do so. A key petition in prayer is "Thy will be done" (Matt. 6:10).

18:43 seven times. Sometimes God answers prayer immediately, as in the sending of fire (v. 38). At other times He delays, as in the sending of the rain. His timing is always best.

18:45 great rain. The acknowledgment of the Lord by the people turned back the covenant curse of famine and restored the covenant blessing of rain (Deut. 28:12,23–24; see note at 1 Kings 17:1).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 18

1. The Lord works to make Himself known as the only true God. Idols always challenge His sovereignty over some area of life. Christ's death on the cross, like Elijah's sacrifice at Carmel, decisively defeated the powers of this world (Col. 2:15). Now, through the proclamation of the cross and the power of the risen Savior, the Lord is causing all peoples to know that He is the Lord God, and that there is no other (1 Kings 8:60; Deut. 4:35). This is a key component of our witness: telling people that the Lord alone is God (Isa. 43:10–13) and calling all peoples to turn to Him as the only Savior (45:21–22).
2. James says that Elijah was "a man subject to like passions as we are, and he prayed earnestly" (James 5:17–18). When we consider the boldness of Elijah in confronting Ahab and the prophets of Baal, or the power of Elijah in performing so many miracles, it is hard to see any similarities at all between him and ourselves. Yet he provides for us an example, particularly in the practice of prayer. He prayed humbly, with his face to the ground; specifically, for the need of the people; persistently, despite six prayers without an answer; and effectively. Elijah was able to do what he did because he knew God's Word and trusted God to accomplish His Word. How does Elijah's example challenge you to grow in prayer?

Chapter 19: Fearing Jezebel, Elijah flees to the wilderness, where the Lord provides for him and gives him various instructions, including the anointing of his successor.

19:1 withal. Also.

19:2 So let the gods do to me. An oath formula by which Jezebel swears to kill Elijah.

19:3 Beer-sheba. In the south of Judah. The whole of the Southern Kingdom became a buffer zone between him and Jezebel.

19:4 into the wilderness. Most likely desiring solitude; he would have been safe enough in Beer-sheba. juniper tree. A kind of broom-shrub, a source of shade (v. 5). he requested for himself that he might die. Literally, "he asked his soul (himself) to die." Fatigue and emotion overcame him and skewed his thinking, so that he ran for his life and now desired death.

19:6 baken. Baked. cruse. Bottle or jar.

19:8 meat. Food of any kind. forty days and forty nights. A duration often linked to testing (Ex. 24:18; 34:28; Matt. 4:2). Horeb. Where the Lord had appeared to Moses and Israel (Ex. 3:1; 19:18).

19:10 very jealous. Fervently zealous (v. 14). I only, am left. Loneliness in his calling overwhelmed him (18:22).

19:11–12 The Lord demonstrated His power in the strong wind, the earthquake and the fire—signs of His holiness and wrath against sin (Ex. 19:18; Isa. 29:6; Nah. 1:5–6). But the Lord revealed Himself in a soft breeze (still small voice). He met His depressed servant with gentleness and grace and is often working quietly when not blatantly visible (1 Kings 19:18).

19:13 mantle. Cloak or cape (v. 19).

19:15–16 anoint Hazael . . . Jehu. These directions were not carried out by Elijah but left to Elisha (2 Kings 8:13; 9:1–3), whose name means "My God delivers" and who would serve instead of his master (in thy room).

19:17 The Lord will use these agents to destroy the house of Ahab.

19:18 Yet I have left. The Hebrew expresses the idea that God had been in the process of leaving. All the time Elijah thought he was alone, the Lord was gathering His people, preserving a remnant by His grace (Rom. 11:2–6). The Lord's working is not limited by our sight.

19:21 Elisha showed that he had forsaken his former occupation and would now be devoted to Elijah and the Lord; he left all behind him to obey the Lord's calling.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 19

1. All too often low points in our spiritual lives immediately follow the high points. On the top of Mt. Carmel Elijah performed bold exploits for God and prayed exemplary prayers. Yet immediately after the extraordinary victories, he became overcome with fear, fled for his life, and thought irrationally. Elijah was "subject to like passions as we are" (James 5:17)—and we can relate to him. Most likely he was physically exhausted, which contributed to his depression. There is a connection between the physical and the spiritual that cannot be ignored. Significantly, before the Lord said anything to him, He allowed Elijah to sleep and then provided necessary nourishment. The Lord knows the frailty of His people, and He gave no rebuke to Elijah. But this should be a warning to us to be on special guard after spiritual victories and to give attention to our physical as well as spiritual needs.
2. Elisha's response to his commission to be a prophet is exemplary for all who would be followers of Christ. He left his oxen behind, unlike those who refused to follow Christ because of their new oxen (Luke 14:19). But as the disciples left their nets and followed the Lord Jesus (Mark 1:18), so Elisha left his life of farming to do the will of God. Christ said, "whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple" (Luke 14:33). The Lord calls for total commitment to Himself. He first gave Himself on the cross, and now He calls us to take up our cross (v. 27). Whatever the cost to follow Christ, it is worth it. What will it mean for you to take up your cross?

Chapter 20: Wars between Israel and Syria rage, and Ahab is rebuked for entering a covenant with Ben-hadad.

20:1 Ben-hadad. Translated, "the son of Hadad," not the name of his father but the principal deity or Baal of that region. besieged Samaria. The Syrian army with a large coalition encircled the capital city. Israel was outnumbered, and Ahab acquiesced to the demands (v. 4).

20:6 whatsoever is pleasant. Literally, "all the desire of your eyes." They would plunder whatever they determined to be Ahab's prized possessions. Ben-hadad increased the demands.

20:7 Mark. Hebrew, "know." mischief. Harm, calamity, something hurtful.

20:10 The gods do so. An oath formula whereby Ben-hadad swears what he will do. if the dust . . . for handfuls for all the people. Total devastation.

20:11 girdeth on his harness. Puts on his armor. let not him . . . boast himself. A warning against bragging of victory before the battle.

20:12 pavilions. Huts or some sort of temporary structures like tents (v. 16). Set yourselves in array. Prepare or line up for battle.

20:13 know that I am the LORD. See note at 18:36.

20:14 young men of the princes. Most likely an appositional statement: the young men were the leaders in their respective districts. They would serve as a special force under Ahab's command.

20:22 mark. Know.

20:24 in their rooms. In their places, instead of them.

20:27 like two little flocks of kids. Israel was vastly outnumbered.

20:28 man of God. Prophet. God of the hills . . . not God of the valleys. Idolatry divides sovereignty over different spheres of the world among various gods, just as today secularism claims that God is irrelevant or inappropriate to certain areas of life, especially in the pubic arena. This is a great offense to the Lord.

20:29 the battle was joined. Literally, "the battle drew near."

20:31 merciful kings. Kings of covenant loyalty. The plan was to sign a treaty with Israel, being confident that Israel would honor the terms. put sackcloth on. A gesture of contrition, submission, and surrender. peradventure. Perhaps.

20:33 the men did diligently observe. Literally, "the men divined"; they took as an omen or sign. did hastily catch it. They caught the significance of Ahab's referring to Ben-hadad as a brother.

20:34 The cities which my father took. See 15:20. Ben-hadad made significant concessions, which Ahab accepted, entering a covenant with him (a mutually binding agreement, a peace treaty).

20:35 sons of the prophets. Prophets, not children of prophets or prophets-in-training. The Hebrew uses the word "son" to designate class or category. neighbour. Fellow person, not the resident next door.

20:39 pay a talent of silver. Weigh out a talent, about 66 pounds, usually in the form of a disk.

20:40 The prophet's object lesson, whereby Ahab makes the judgment ultimately against himself, parallels Nathan's story to David, whereby he also condemned himself (2 Sam. 12:5–7).

20:43 heavy and displeased. Resentful (or impossible to satisfy) and furious.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 20

As wicked and undeserving as Ahab was, God gave him an opportunity to come to his spiritual senses. Although he was vastly outnumbered by the enemy and was willing to surrender, God sent a prophet promising victory so that Ahab would "know that I am the LORD" (vv. 13,28). Ahab received God's word and saw firsthand its truth, yet he did not repent of his sins and turn to the Lord with saving knowledge. It is easy to see Ahab among the fools who hated knowledge and did not choose the fear of God (Prov. 1:22–33). This is a warning to those who sit regularly under the teaching of God's Word and have opportunity after opportunity to submit in faith and repentance. Remember that the same message that can bring life can harden those who hear and reject. This is an opportunity to press this truth upon the children in every Christian home.

Chapter 21: Jezebel plots to acquire Naboth's vineyard for Ahab, and Elijah declares God's punishment on the house of Ahab.

21:1 hard by the palace. Adjacent to Ahab's royal palace in Jezreel.

21:3 The LORD forbid it me. Literally, "far be it for me from the Lord." Such a transaction was forbidden (Lev. 25:23; Num. 36:7).

21:4 heavy and displeased. See note at 20:43.

21:5 sad. Sullen, dejected, or unable to be satisfied. Same Hebrew word as "heavy" (v. 4).

21:9 Proclaim a fast. Fasts were often called to discover the cause of some perceived transgression. Here the occasion was to accuse Naboth of the false charges.

21:10–14 sons of Belial. Those who were worthless, wicked, good for nothing. They executed Jezebel's scheme.

21:19 Hast thou killed. Ahab's sins of killing Naboth and stealing his ancestral inheritance were exposed, and God's just punishment was pronounced against him.

21:19 In the place where dogs licked the blood of Naboth. Dogs licked Naboth's blood, and they would also lick Ahab's blood—a most shameful death. This sentence was fulfilled first when dogs licked Ahab's blood outside of Samaria (22:38) and, second, when Jehu had the body of Jehoram, Ahab's son, cast on the field of Naboth (2 Kings 9:25–26).

21:20 sold thyself to work evil. Gave himself up to the slavery of sin (2 Kings 17:17).

21:21 evil. Calamity, referring to the judgment to come. him that pisseth against the wall. A Hebrew idiom for males, without any vulgar connotation. him that is shut up and left in Israel. A proverb implying total destruction; there was no place to hide in order to escape (14:10).

21:22 provocation. Offensive irritation.

21:23 The dogs shall eat Jezebel. Fulfilled after Jehu killed her (2 Kings 9:35–36).

21:24 See note at 14:11.

21:26 idols. The Hebrew root is similar to the word for "dung" to show how disgusting idols are in God's sight (Lev. 26:30). Amorites. General term for all the Canaanite nations.

21:27 rent his clothes. Gesture of sorrow and mourning. went softly. Walked around in a depressed or dejected mood.

21:29 I will not bring the evil in his days. The punishment will be delayed. The focus is on God's mercy, not on the genuineness of Ahab's repentance.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 21

1. Ahab's behavior in response to Naboth's refusal to turn over his vineyard was like that of a selfish child who does not get his own way. He got mad and pouted (v. 4). Rather than being grateful for the many things he did have, he wanted what belonged to another. His breaking of the tenth commandment led to the breaking of commandments six and nine as well. Children should learn early to be content with what the Lord has given them, not to envy what belongs to another and not to pout when they don't get their own way. But, in reality, that is a lesson for all to learn, regardless of age.
2. Tragically, earthly tribunals do not always serve justice (Eccl. 3:16; 5:8). Jezebel's mock court appeared to follow the proper legal procedures. The law required two or three witnesses to condemn in the case of a capital offense (Deut. 17:6), and she arranged for the two witnesses to make the accusation. The just one was condemned, but God, who is higher than any earthly court, knows, and in the end justice prevails. The greatest miscarriage of justice the world has ever known was in the trials of the Lord Jesus, where He was falsely accused by the Jews, recognized as innocent by Pilate, but nonetheless condemned. Even though we stand aghast at the debacle that transpired at Christ's trial before wicked men, we must rejoice that His death sentence that led to Calvary was the execution of God's will for our salvation (Acts 2:23). God rules, even through human injustice. How can that comfort us when we face the injustice around us today?

Chapter 22: In alliance with Jehoshaphat, Ahab goes to war against the Syrians and is mortally wounded in battle.

22:3 we be still, and take it not. Literally, "we have been hesitating from taking it."

22:6–7 The identity of the prophets is uncertain, but Jehoshaphat is suspicious and so requests a prophet of the Lord.

22:10 void place. The Hebrew refers to a threshing floor.

22:11 horns of iron. Prophets frequently used props or object lessons to illustrate or symbolize their message (Jer. 27:2). Bullhorns symbolize power and here picture the easy defeat of the enemy.

22:15–16 Go, and prosper. Probably said in a mocking, sarcastic tone that Ahab easily discerned. adjure. To swear or urgently beg.

22:17 as sheep that have not a shepherd. The imagery of shepherdless sheep is graphically clear. In the Ancient Near East kings were often designated as shepherds (see note at 2 Sam. 5:2).

22:19 I saw the LORD sitting on his throne. Though men may sit on thrones (v. 10), the Lord is the true King (Isa. 6:1). host of heaven. Army of heaven, here referring to angels.

22:22 I will be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets. Whether this is a demon of Satan (Job 1:6) or a personification of the spirit of false prophecy (Zech. 13:2; 1 John 4:6), the point is that God can use even false prophets to accomplish His purpose (Deut. 13:1–3; Ezek. 14:9; 2 Thess. 2:11).

22:23 evil. Calamity, referring to the sentence of judgment.

22:27 bread of affliction. Refers to a meager ration.

22:28 Fulfilled predictions were evidence of a true prophet (Deut. 18:20–22). Micaiah stakes his prophetic reputation on the certainty of Ahab's death.

22:34 at a venture. At random. The Hebrew has the idea of doing it in innocence or simplicity. joints of the harness. The scales of the body armor.

22:37 was brought to Samaria. They transported the dead body of Ahab to Samaria for burial.

22:38 they washed. More properly translated, "the harlots washed." This pool was the place where the temple prostitutes would wash themselves. Ironically, Ahab introduced temple prostitution in Israel, and in death his sins followed him.

22:39 chronicles. Uninspired records of royal careers that have not been preserved (v. 45).

22:46 sodomites. See note at 14:24.

22:47 deputy. Overseer.

22:48–49 made ships of Tharshish. Like his forefather, Solomon (9:26,28; 10:22). The whole project failed because the ships were broken by the Lord, perhaps by a storm (Ps. 48:7), while still lying in harbor because they were intended for a joint venture with the son of Ahab (2 Chron. 20:36–37). Jehoshaphat would not. He had learned his lesson not to collaborate with the wicked in such an endeavor.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 22

1. "And a certain man drew a bow at a venture" (v. 34). This is a simple yet profound illustration of the unfailing providence of God. Ahab was sentenced to death in the battle, and he did his best to hide from that judgment by disguising himself. An unnamed soldier shot his arrow, apparently aiming at nothing in particular, but God guided the flight of that arrow to the precise point it needed to go. We can learn from this that there is no escape from judgment by disguise, flight, or hiding (Amos 5:19). Instead of hiding ourselves and trying to escape, it is eternally better to surrender to Him whose eyes are a flame of fire (Rev. 1:14). Christ is the sovereign King over all mankind, even over kings (Matt. 28:18; Rev. 1:5). In what specific ways are you to honor Him with the power or authority He has given you?
2. "Jehoshaphat made peace with the king of Israel" (v. 44). This was an unlikely alliance between the worst of Israel's kings and a king of Judah who received the epitaph that he did "right in the eyes of the LORD" (v. 43), except for failing to remove the high places and for making peace with Ahab. God mercifully spared him from being killed in battle (vv. 32–33), but his own foolishness put him in danger. Second Chronicles 20:35–37 also records God's rebuke to Jehoshaphat for entering a commercial relationship with Ahab's son, who did wickedly. Paul warns that believers are not to be unequally yoked with unbelievers because light has nothing in common with darkness (2 Cor. 6:14–15).

God's Foreknowledge

Knowledge of all things is properly attributed to God (2 Cor. 12:2–3; cf. Acts 2:23; Rom. 8:29; 11:2; 1 Peter 1:2). The idea of foreknowledge can be used in two ways: as an expression of knowledge of all things, even prior to their happening in time, and as an act of choice or ordaining. The former is the subject for consideration here; the latter is treated briefly in the article on election.

The idea of foreknowledge relates to the things known by God and the order in which they stand to each other as they are, whether they be to us past, present, or future. All of these things God knows equally from eternity. Things that to us are yet future have been known by God from eternity; His knowledge of the future is so real that when events become "past" to us (based on their actual occurrence in time), God knows them in the same way He did before. Nothing is altered in His knowledge by the passage of time; His understanding is infinite and unchanging.

Some have objected to the premise of God's perfect and complete knowledge of all things prior to their occurrence. Such challengers point to passages in Scripture that appear to suggest God's lack of knowledge: God's fearing or being afraid (Gen. 3:22–23; Ex. 13:17; Deut. 32:26–27); His repentance (1 Sam. 15:10–11); a change or alteration of His mind (Num. 14:27,30; 1 Sam. 2:30); or His testing of men's hearts to discover their contents (Judg. 3:1,4; 2 Chron. 32:31; Dan. 12:10).

However, each of these passages speaks of God in a figurative fashion, or anthropomorphically. Thus these passages do not describe the nature of God as He is. Rather, God condescends to speak at our level, to express reality in human terms. This idea could be likened to a father's talking to a newborn. The father babbles in "baby talk" to accommodate himself to the baby's level.

In other places of Scripture God is directly said not to do these things, for He is not a man (1 Sam. 15:29). Such traits would destroy God's immutability. How, for example, could God in His omnipotence and true nature properly be termed afraid in the sense that we ourselves experience fear? Furthermore, the abundance of scriptural evidence in favor of God's knowledge overwhelmingly demonstrates the verity of the doctrine of His foreknowledge.

Scripture attests that God knows all things in all details, whether past, present, or future. He understands all the ways and actions of men, even before their occurrence (1 Sam. 2:3; Pss. 139:2–4; 147:5; Isa. 40:13–14,28; Acts 15:18; Rom. 11:36; Heb. 4:13; 1 John 3:20). The countless miraculous predictions in Scripture necessitate a detailed knowledge of all things. By His holy prophets God foretold the free actions of men, what they would do and what they should do, long before they were born (cf. Gen. 15:13–14; 18:18–19; Deut. 31:16–18; 1 Kings 13:2; 22:28; Matt. 24:5; Mark 13:6; 14:30; Acts 20:29; 2 Thess. 2:3,4; 1 Tim. 4:1; 2 Tim. 3:1; 2 Peter 2:1). Thus God perfectly knew from eternity all of the free actions of men before they performed them. This knowledge extends even to those things that deal with the secrets of men's hearts (Deut. 31:21; 1 Sam. 16:7; 23:12; 1 Kings 8:39; 2 Kings 8:12–13; Job 31:4; Pss. 38:9; 94:11; Prov. 15:11; Isa. 48:4; Jer. 17:9–10; Ezek. 11:5; Matt. 6:4,6,8; Luke 16:15; Acts 1:24; Rev. 3:15).

Some wrongly view God's foreknowledge of all men's actions as the logical, a priori cause of His predetermining all things. God's knowledge, they incorrectly assume, caused Him to shape His plan for eternity. However, while both God's foreknowledge and His predeterminate counsel occur from eternity (temporally considered), God's foreknowledge must be viewed as coming after His predetermination (logically considered). God's knowledge of all men's future free actions did not cause Him to adapt His workings accordingly—for this would have placed God below man, as One reactive and subject rather than determinate and sovereign. Surely, what is not pre-decreed cannot be certain and therefore cannot be known. Yet upon the determination of God's sovereign counsel out of eternity, His foreknowledge extends to a grasp of all things—also from eternity.

    4. The Spiritual Ruin of Judah by Manasseh and Amon (2 Kings 21:1–26)
    5. Another Revival of Judah under Josiah (2 Kings 22:1—23:30)
    6. The End of the Kingdom of Judah (2 Kings 23:31—25:30)

THE SECOND BOOK OF THE

KINGS

OTHERWISE CALLED THE FOURTH BOOK OF THE KINGS

2 Kings 1 [†]

1 [†] THEN Moab rebelled against Israel after the death of Ahab.
2 [†] And Ahaziah fell down through a lattice in his upper chamber that was in Samaria, and was sick: and he sent messengers, and said unto them, Go, enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron whether I shall recover of this disease.
3 But the angel of the LORD said to Elijah the Tishbite, Arise, go up to meet the messengers of the king of Samaria, and say unto them, Is it not because there is not a God in Israel, that ye go to enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron?
4 Now therefore thus saith the LORD, Thou shalt not come down from that bed on which thou art gone up, but shalt surely die. And Elijah departed.
5 ¶ And when the messengers turned back unto him, he said unto them, Why are ye now turned back?
6 And they said unto him, There came a man up to meet us, and said unto us, Go, turn again unto the king that sent you, and say unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Is it not because there is not a God in Israel, that thou sendest to enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron? therefore thou shalt not come down from that bed on which thou art gone up, but shalt surely die.
7 And he said unto them, What manner of man was he which came up to meet you, and told you these words?
8 [†] And they answered him, He was an hairy man, and girt with a girdle of leather about his loins. And he said, It is Elijah the Tishbite.
9 [†] Then the king sent unto him a captain of fifty with his fifty. And he went up to him: and, behold, he sat on the top of an hill. And he spake unto him, Thou man of God, the king hath said, Come down.
10 [†] And Elijah answered and said to the captain of fifty, If I be a man of God, then let fire come down from heaven, and consume thee and thy fifty. And there came down fire from heaven, and consumed him and his fifty.
11 Again also he sent unto him another captain of fifty with his fifty. And he answered and said unto him, O man of God, thus hath the king said, Come down quickly.
12 And Elijah answered and said unto them, If I be a man of God, let fire come down from heaven, and consume thee and thy fifty. And the fire of God came down from heaven, and consumed him and his fifty.
13 ¶ And he sent again a captain of the third fifty with his fifty. And the third captain of fifty went up, and came and fell on his knees before Elijah, and besought him, and said unto him, O man of God, I pray thee, let my life, and the life of these fifty thy servants, be precious in thy sight.
14 Behold, there came fire down from heaven, and burnt up the two captains of the former fifties with their fifties: therefore let my life now be precious in thy sight.
15 [†] And the angel of the LORD said unto Elijah, Go down with him: be not afraid of him. And he arose, and went down with him unto the king.
16 And he said unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Forasmuch as thou hast sent messengers to enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron, is it not because there is no God in Israel to enquire of his word? therefore thou shalt not come down off that bed on which thou art gone up, but shalt surely die.
17 [†] ¶ So he died according to the word of the LORD which Elijah had spoken. And Jehoram reigned in his stead in the second year of Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah; because he had no son.
18 [†] Now the rest of the acts of Ahaziah which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

2 Kings 2 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass, when the Lord would take up Elijah into heaven by a whirlwind, that Elijah went with Elisha from Gilgal.
2 And Elijah said unto Elisha, Tarry here, I pray thee; for the Lord hath sent me to Beth-el. And Elisha said unto him, As the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they went down to Beth-el.
3 [†] And the sons of the prophets that were at Beth-el came forth to Elisha, and said unto him, Knowest thou that the Lord will take away thy master from thy head to day? And he said, Yea, I know it; hold ye your peace.
4 And Elijah said unto him, Elisha, tarry here, I pray thee; for the Lord hath sent me to Jericho. And he said, As the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they came to Jericho.
5 And the sons of the prophets that were at Jericho came to Elisha, and said unto him, Knowest thou that the Lord will take away thy master from thy head to day? And he answered, Yea, I know it; hold ye your peace.
6 And Elijah said unto him, Tarry, I pray thee, here; for the Lord hath sent me to Jordan. And he said, As the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. And they two went on.
7 And fifty men of the sons of the prophets went, and stood to view afar off: and they two stood by Jordan.
8 [†] And Elijah took his mantle, and wrapped it together, and smote the waters, and they were divided hither and thither, so that they two went over on dry ground.
9 [†] ¶ And it came to pass, when they were gone over, that Elijah said unto Elisha, Ask what I shall do for thee, before I be taken away from thee. And Elisha said, I pray thee, let a double portion of thy spirit be upon me.
10 [†] And he said, Thou hast asked a hard thing: nevertheless, if thou see me when I am taken from thee, it shall be so unto thee; but if not, it shall not be so.
11 And it came to pass, as they still went on, and talked, that, behold, there appeared a chariot of fire, and horses of fire, and parted them both asunder; and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven.
12 [†] ¶ And Elisha saw it, and he cried, My father, my father, the chariot of Israel, and the horsemen thereof. And he saw him no more: and he took hold of his own clothes, and rent them in two pieces.
13 He took up also the mantle of Elijah that fell from him, and went back, and stood by the bank of Jordan;
14 And he took the mantle of Elijah that fell from him, and smote the waters, and said, Where is the Lord God of Elijah? and when he also had smitten the waters, they parted hither and thither: and Elisha went over.
15 [†] And when the sons of the prophets which were to view at Jericho saw him, they said, The spirit of Elijah doth rest on Elisha. And they came to meet him, and bowed themselves to the ground before him.
16 [†] ¶ And they said unto him, Behold now, there be with thy servants fifty strong men; let them go, we pray thee, and seek thy master: lest peradventure the Spirit of the Lord hath taken him up, and cast him upon some mountain, or into some valley. And he said, Ye shall not send.
17 And when they urged him till he was ashamed, he said, Send. They sent therefore fifty men; and they sought three days, but found him not.
18 And when they came again to him, (for he tarried at Jericho,) he said unto them, Did I not say unto you, Go not?
19 [†] ¶ And the men of the city said unto Elisha, Behold, I pray thee, the situation of this city is pleasant, as my lord seeth: but the water is naught, and the ground barren.

20 [†] And he said, Bring me a new cruse, and put salt therein. And they brought it to him.
21 And he went forth unto the spring of the waters, and cast the salt in there, and said, Thus saith the LORD, I have healed these waters; there shall not be from thence any more death or barren land.
22 So the waters were healed unto this day, according to the saying of Elisha which he spake.
23 [†] ¶ And he went up from thence unto Beth-el: and as he was going up by the way, there came forth little children out of the city, and mocked him, and said unto him, Go up, thou bald head; go up, thou bald head.
24 [†] And he turned back, and looked on them, and cursed them in the name of the LORD. And there came forth two she bears out of the wood, and tare forty and two children of them.
25 And he went from thence to mount Carmel, and from thence he returned to Samaria.

2 Kings 3 [†]

1 Now Jehoram the son of Ahab began to reign over Israel in Samaria the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and reigned twelve years.
2 [†] And he wrought evil in the sight of the Lord; but not like his father, and like his mother: for he put away the image of Baal that his father had made.
3 [†] Nevertheless he cleaved unto the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, which made Israel to sin; he departed not therefrom.
4 [†] ¶ And Mesha king of Moab was a sheepmaster, and rendered unto the king of Israel an hundred thousand lambs, and an hundred thousand rams, with the wool.
5 [†] But it came to pass, when Ahab was dead, that the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel.
6 ¶ And king Jehoram went out of Samaria the same time, and numbered all Israel.
7 [†] And he went and sent to Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, saying, The king of Moab hath rebelled against me: wilt thou go with me against Moab to battle? And he said, I will go up: I am as thou art, my people as thy people, and my horses as thy horses.
8 And he said, Which way shall we go up? And he answered, The way through the wilderness of Edom.
9 [†] So the king of Israel went, and the king of Judah, and the king of Edom: and they fetched a compass of seven days' journey: and there was no water for the host, and for the cattle that followed them.
10 And the king of Israel said, Alas! that the Lord hath called these three kings together, to deliver them into the hand of Moab!
11 [†] But Jehoshaphat said, Is there not here a prophet of the Lord, that we may enquire of the Lord by him? And one of the king of Israel's servants answered and said, Here is Elisha the son of Shaphat, which poured water on the hands of Elijah.
12 And Jehoshaphat said, The word of the Lord is with him. So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat and the king of Edom went down to him.
13 [†] And Elisha said unto the king of Israel, What have I to do with thee? get thee to the prophets of thy father, and to the prophets of thy mother. And the king of Israel said unto him, Nay: for the Lord hath called these three kings together, to deliver them into the hand of Moab.
14 [†] And Elisha said, As the Lord of hosts liveth, before whom I stand, surely, were it not that I regard the presence of Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, I would not look toward thee, nor see thee.
15 [†] But now bring me a minstrel. And it came to pass, when the minstrel played, that the hand of the Lord came upon him.
16 [†] And he said, Thus saith the Lord, Make this valley full of ditches.
17 For thus saith the Lord, Ye shall not see wind, neither shall ye see rain; yet that valley shall be filled with water, that ye may drink, both ye, and your cattle, and your beasts.
18 And this is but a light thing in the sight of the Lord: he will deliver the Moabites also into your hand.
19 [†] And ye shall smite every fenced city, and every choice city, and shall fell every good tree, and stop all wells of water, and mar every good piece of land with stones.
20 [†] And it came to pass in the morning, when the meat offering was offered, that, behold, there came water by the way of Edom, and the country was filled with water.
21 [†] ¶ And when all the Moabites heard that the kings were come up to fight against them, they gathered all that were able to put on armour, and upward, and stood in the border.
22 [†] And they rose up early in the morning, and the sun shone upon the water, and the Moabites saw the water on the other side as red as blood:

23 And they said, This is blood: the kings are surely slain, and they have smitten one another: now therefore, Moab, to the spoil.
24 And when they came to the camp of Israel, the Israelites rose up and smote the Moabites, so that they fled before them: but they went forward smiting the Moabites, even in their country.
25 And they beat down the cities, and on every good piece of land cast every man his stone, and filled it; and they stopped all the wells of water, and felled all the good trees: only in Kir-haraseth left they the stones thereof; howbeit the slingers went about it, and smote it.
26 [†] ¶ And when the king of Moab saw that the battle was too sore for him, he took with him seven hundred men that drew swords, to break through even unto the king of Edom: but they could not.
27 [†] Then he took his eldest son that should have reigned in his stead, and offered him for a burnt offering upon the wall. And there was great indignation against Israel: and they departed from him, and returned to their own land.

2 Kings 4 [†]

1 [†] Now there cried a certain woman of the wives of the sons of the prophets unto Elisha, saying, Thy servant my husband is dead; and thou knowest that thy servant did fear the Lord: and the creditor is come to take unto him my two sons to be bondmen.
2 [†] And Elisha said unto her, What shall I do for thee? tell me, what hast thou in the house? And she said, Thine handmaid hath not any thing in the house, save a pot of oil.
3 Then he said, Go, borrow thee vessels abroad of all thy neighbours, even empty vessels; borrow not a few.
4 And when thou art come in, thou shalt shut the door upon thee and upon thy sons, and shalt pour out into all those vessels, and thou shalt set aside that which is full.
5 So she went from him, and shut the door upon her and upon her sons, who brought the vessels to her; and she poured out.
6 [†] And it came to pass, when the vessels were full, that she said unto her son, Bring me yet a vessel. And he said unto her, There is not a vessel more. And the oil stayed.
7 [†] Then she came and told the man of God. And he said, Go, sell the oil, and pay thy debt, and live thou and thy children of the rest.
8 [†] ¶ And it fell on a day, that Elisha passed to Shunem, where was a great woman; and she constrained him to eat bread. And so it was, that as oft as he passed by, he turned in thither to eat bread.
9 And she said unto her husband, Behold now, I perceive that this is an holy man of God, which passeth by us continually.
10 Let us make a little chamber, I pray thee, on the wall; and let us set for him there a bed, and a table, and a stool, and a candlestick: and it shall be, when he cometh to us, that he shall turn in thither.
11 And it fell on a day, that he came thither, and he turned into the chamber, and lay there.
12 And he said to Gehazi his servant, Call this Shunammite. And when he had called her, she stood before him.
13 [†] And he said unto him, Say now unto her, Behold, thou hast been careful for us with all this care; what is to be done for thee? wouldest thou be spoken for to the king, or to the captain of the host? And she answered, I dwell among mine own people.
14 And he said, What then is to be done for her? And Gehazi answered, Verily she hath no child, and her husband is old.
15 And he said, Call her. And when he had called her, she stood in the door.
16 And he said, About this season, according to the time of life, thou shalt embrace a son. And she said, Nay, my lord, thou man of God, do not lie unto thine handmaid.
17 [†] And the woman conceived, and bare a son at that season that Elisha had said unto her, according to the time of life.
18 [†] ¶ And when the child was grown, it fell on a day, that he went out to his father to the reapers.
19 And he said unto his father, My head, my head. And he said to a lad, Carry him to his mother.
20 And when he had taken him, and brought him to his mother, he sat on her knees till noon, and then died.
21 And she went up, and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and shut the door upon him, and went out.
22 And she called unto her husband, and said, Send me, I pray thee, one of the young men, and one of the asses, that I may run to the man of God, and come again.
23 [†] And he said, Wherefore wilt thou go to him to day? it is neither new moon, nor sabbath. And she said, It shall be well.

24 [†] Then she saddled an ass, and said to her servant, Drive, and go forward; slack not thy riding for me, except I bid thee.
25 So she went and came unto the man of God to mount Carmel. And it came to pass, when the man of God saw her afar off, that he said to Gehazi his servant, Behold, yonder is that Shunammite:
26 [†] Run now, I pray thee, to meet her, and say unto her, Is it well with thee? is it well with thy husband? is it well with the child? And she answered, It is well.
27 [†] And when she came to the man of God to the hill, she caught him by the feet: but Gehazi came near to thrust her away. And the man of God said, Let her alone; for her soul is vexed within her: and the LORD hath hid it from me, and hath not told me.
28 Then she said, Did I desire a son of my lord? did I not say, Do not deceive me?
29 [†] Then he said to Gehazi, Gird up thy loins, and take my staff in thine hand, and go thy way: if thou meet any man, salute him not; and if any salute thee, answer him not again: and lay my staff upon the face of the child.
30 And the mother of the child said, As the LORD liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. And he arose, and followed her.
31 And Gehazi passed on before them, and laid the staff upon the face of the child; but there was neither voice, nor hearing. Wherefore he went again to meet him, and told him, saying, The child is not awaked.
32 And when Elisha was come into the house, behold, the child was dead, and laid upon his bed.
33 [†] He went in therefore, and shut the door upon them twain, and prayed unto the LORD.
34 [†] And he went up, and lay upon the child, and put his mouth upon his mouth, and his eyes upon his eyes, and his hands upon his hands: and he stretched himself upon the child; and the flesh of the child waxed warm.
35 [†] Then he returned, and walked in the house to and fro; and went up, and stretched himself upon him: and the child sneezed seven times, and the child opened his eyes.
36 And he called Gehazi, and said, Call this Shunammite. So he called her. And when she was come in unto him, he said, Take up thy son.
37 Then she went in, and fell at his feet, and bowed herself to the ground, and took up her son, and went out.
38 [†] ¶ And Elisha came again to Gilgal: and there was a dearth in the land; and the sons of the prophets were sitting before him: and he said unto his servant, Set on the great pot, and seethe pottage for the sons of the prophets.
39 And one went out into the field to gather herbs, and found a wild vine, and gathered thereof wild gourds his lap full, and came and shred them into the pot of pottage: for they knew them not.
40 [†] So they poured out for the men to eat. And it came to pass, as they were eating of the pottage, that they cried out, and said, O thou man of God, there is death in the pot. And they could not eat thereof.
41 [†] But he said, Then bring meal. And he cast it into the pot; and he said, Pour out for the people, that they may eat. And there was no harm in the pot.
42 ¶ And there came a man from Baal-shalisha, and brought the man of God bread of the firstfruits, twenty loaves of barley, and full ears of corn in the husk thereof. And he said, Give unto the people, that they may eat.
43 [†] And his servitor said, What, should I set this before an hundred men? He said again, Give the people, that they may eat: for thus saith the LORD, They shall eat, and shall leave thereof.
44 [†] So he set it before them, and they did eat, and left thereof, according to the word of the LORD.

2 Kings 5 [†]

1 [†] Now Naaman, captain of the host of the king of Syria, was a great man with his master, and honourable, because by him the Lord had given deliverance unto Syria: he was also a mighty man in valour, but he was a leper.
2 [†] And the Syrians had gone out by companies, and had brought away captive out of the land of Israel a little maid; and she waited on Naaman's wife.
3 [†] And she said unto her mistress, Would God my lord were with the prophet that is in Samaria! for he would recover him of his leprosy.
4 And one went in, and told his lord, saying, Thus and thus said the maid that is of the land of Israel.
5 [†] And the king of Syria said, Go to, go, and I will send a letter unto the king of Israel. And he departed, and took with him ten talents of silver, and six thousand pieces of gold, and ten changes of raiment.
6 And he brought the letter to the king of Israel, saying, Now when this letter is come unto thee, behold, I have therewith sent Naaman my servant to thee, that thou mayest recover him of his leprosy.
7 [†] And it came to pass, when the king of Israel had read the letter, that he rent his clothes, and said, Am I God, to kill and to make alive, that this man doth send unto me to recover a man of his leprosy? wherefore consider, I pray you, and see how he seeketh a quarrel against me.
8 [†] ¶ And it was so, when Elisha the man of God had heard that the king of Israel had rent his clothes, that he sent to the king, saying, Wherefore hast thou rent thy clothes? let him come now to me, and he shall know that there is a prophet in Israel.
9 So Naaman came with his horses and with his chariot, and stood at the door of the house of Elisha.
10 And Elisha sent a messenger unto him, saying, Go and wash in Jordan seven times, and thy flesh shall come again to thee, and thou shalt be clean.
11 [†] But Naaman was wroth, and went away, and said, Behold, I thought, He will surely come out to me, and stand, and call on the name of the Lord his God, and strike his hand over the place, and recover the leper.
12 Are not Abana and Pharpar, rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? may I not wash in them, and be clean? So he turned and went away in a rage.
13 And his servants came near, and spake unto him, and said, My father, if the prophet had bid thee do some great thing, wouldest thou not have done it? how much rather then, when he saith to thee, Wash, and be clean?
14 [†] Then went he down, and dipped himself seven times in Jordan, according to the saying of the man of God: and his flesh came again like unto the flesh of a little child, and he was clean.
15 [†] ¶ And he returned to the man of God, he and all his company, and came, and stood before him: and he said, Behold, now I know that there is no God in all the earth, but in Israel: now therefore, I pray thee, take a blessing of thy servant.
16 [†] But he said, As the Lord liveth, before whom I stand, I will receive none. And he urged him to take it; but he refused.
17 [†] And Naaman said, Shall there not then, I pray thee, be given to thy servant two mules' burden of earth? for thy servant will henceforth offer neither burnt offering nor sacrifice unto other gods, but unto the Lord.
18 [†] In this thing the Lord pardon thy servant, that when my master goeth into the house of Rimmon to worship there, and he leaneth on my hand, and I bow myself in the house of Rimmon: when I bow down myself in the house of Rimmon, the Lord pardon thy servant in this thing.
19 And he said unto him, Go in peace. So he departed from him a little way.

20 [†] ¶ But Gehazi, the servant of Elisha the man of God, said, Behold, my master hath spared Naaman this Syrian, in not receiving at his hands that which he brought: but, as the LORD liveth, I will run after him, and take somewhat of him.
21 [†] So Gehazi followed after Naaman. And when Naaman saw him running after him, he lighted down from the chariot to meet him, and said, Is all well?
22 And he said, All is well. My master hath sent me, saying, Behold, even now there be come to me from mount Ephraim two young men of the sons of the prophets: give them, I pray thee, a talent of silver, and two changes of garments.
23 And Naaman said, Be content, take two talents. And he urged him, and bound two talents of silver in two bags, with two changes of garments, and laid them upon two of his servants; and they bare them before him.
24 [†] And when he came to the tower, he took them from their hand, and bestowed them in the house: and he let the men go, and they departed.
25 [†] But he went in, and stood before his master. And Elisha said unto him, Whence comest thou, Gehazi? And he said, Thy servant went no whither.
26 [†] And he said unto him, Went not mine heart with thee, when the man turned again from his chariot to meet thee? Is it a time to receive money, and to receive garments, and oliveyards, and vineyards, and sheep, and oxen, and menservants, and maidservants?
27 The leprosy therefore of Naaman shall cleave unto thee, and unto thy seed for ever. And he went out from his presence a leper as white as snow.

2 Kings 6 [†]

1 [†] And the sons of the prophets said unto Elisha, Behold now, the place where we dwell with thee is too strait for us.
2 [†] Let us go, we pray thee, unto Jordan, and take thence every man a beam, and let us make us a place there, where we may dwell. And he answered, Go ye.
3 [†] And one said, Be content, I pray thee, and go with thy servants. And he answered, I will go.
4 So he went with them. And when they came to Jordan, they cut down wood.
5 [†] But as one was felling a beam, the axe head fell into the water: and he cried, and said, Alas, master! for it was borrowed.
6 [†] And the man of God said, Where fell it? And he shewed him the place. And he cut down a stick, and cast it in thither; and the iron did swim.
7 Therefore said he, Take it up to thee. And he put out his hand, and took it.
8 ¶ Then the king of Syria warred against Israel, and took counsel with his servants, saying, In such and such a place shall be my camp.
9 And the man of God sent unto the king of Israel, saying, Beware that thou pass not such a place; for thither the Syrians are come down.
10 [†] And the king of Israel sent to the place which the man of God told him and warned him of, and saved himself there, not once nor twice.
11 [†] Therefore the heart of the king of Syria was sore troubled for this thing; and he called his servants, and said unto them, Will ye not shew me which of us is for the king of Israel?
12 And one of his servants said, None, my lord, O king: but Elisha, the prophet that is in Israel, telleth the king of Israel the words that thou speakest in thy bedchamber.
13 [†] ¶ And he said, Go and spy where he is, that I may send and fetch him. And it was told him, saying, Behold, he is in Dothan.
14 [†] Therefore sent he thither horses, and chariots, and a great host: and they came by night, and compassed the city about.
15 [†] And when the servant of the man of God was risen early, and gone forth, behold, an host compassed the city both with horses and chariots. And his servant said unto him, Alas, my master! how shall we do?
16 And he answered, Fear not: for they that be with us are more than they that be with them.
17 [†] And Elisha prayed, and said, Lord, I pray thee, open his eyes, that he may see. And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw: and, behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha.
18 [†] And when they came down to him, Elisha prayed unto the Lord, and said, Smite this people, I pray thee, with blindness. And he smote them with blindness according to the word of Elisha.
19 ¶ And Elisha said unto them, This is not the way, neither is this the city: follow me, and I will bring you to the man whom ye seek. But he led them to Samaria.
20 And it came to pass, when they were come into Samaria, that Elisha said, Lord, open the eyes of these men, that they may see. And the Lord opened their eyes, and they saw; and, behold, they were in the midst of Samaria.
21 And the king of Israel said unto Elisha, when he saw them, My father, shall I smite them? shall I smite them?
22 And he answered, Thou shalt not smite them: wouldest thou smite those whom thou hast taken captive with thy sword and with thy bow? set bread and water before them, that they may eat and drink, and go to their master.

23 [†] And he prepared great provision for them: and when they had eaten and drunk, he sent them away, and they went to their master. So the bands of Syria came no more into the land of Israel.
24 ¶ And it came to pass after this, that Ben-hadad king of Syria gathered all his host, and went up, and besieged Samaria.
25 [†] And there was a great famine in Samaria: and, behold, they besieged it, until an ass's head was sold for fourscore pieces of silver, and the fourth part of a cab of dove's dung for five pieces of silver.
26 And as the king of Israel was passing by upon the wall, there cried a woman unto him, saying, Help, my lord, O king.
27 And he said, If the LORD do not help thee, whence shall I help thee? out of the barnfloor, or out of the winepress?
28 And the king said unto her, What aileth thee? And she answered, This woman said unto me, Give thy son, that we may eat him to day, and we will eat my son to morrow.
29 [†] So we boiled my son, and did eat him: and I said unto her on the next day, Give thy son, that we may eat him: and she hath hid her son.
30 [†] ¶ And it came to pass, when the king heard the words of the woman, that he rent his clothes; and he passed by upon the wall, and the people looked, and, behold, he had sackcloth within upon his flesh.
31 Then he said, God do so and more also to me, if the head of Elisha the son of Shaphat shall stand on him this day.
32 [†] But Elisha sat in his house, and the elders sat with him; and the king sent a man from before him: but ere the messenger came to him, he said to the elders, See ye how this son of a murderer hath sent to take away mine head? look, when the messenger cometh, shut the door, and hold him fast at the door: is not the sound of his master's feet behind him?
33 [†] And while he yet talked with them, behold, the messenger came down unto him: and he said, Behold, this evil is of the LORD; what should I wait for the LORD any longer?

2 Kings 7 [†]

1 [†] Then Elisha said, Hear ye the word of the Lord; Thus saith the Lord, To morrow about this time shall a measure of fine flour be sold for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel, in the gate of Samaria.
2 [†] Then a lord on whose hand the king leaned answered the man of God, and said, Behold, if the Lord would make windows in heaven, might this thing be? And he said, Behold, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but shalt not eat thereof.
3 [†] ¶ And there were four leprous men at the entering in of the gate: and they said one to another, Why sit we here until we die?
4 [†] If we say, We will enter into the city, then the famine is in the city, and we shall die there: and if we sit still here, we die also. Now therefore come, and let us fall unto the host of the Syrians: if they save us alive, we shall live; and if they kill us, we shall but die.
5 And they rose up in the twilight, to go unto the camp of the Syrians: and when they were come to the uttermost part of the camp of Syria, behold, there was no man there.
6 [†] For the Lord had made the host of the Syrians to hear a noise of chariots, and a noise of horses, even the noise of a great host: and they said one to another, Lo, the king of Israel hath hired against us the kings of the Hittites, and the kings of the Egyptians, to come upon us.
7 Wherefore they arose and fled in the twilight, and left their tents, and their horses, and their asses, even the camp as it was, and fled for their life.
8 And when these lepers came to the uttermost part of the camp, they went into one tent, and did eat and drink, and carried thence silver, and gold, and raiment, and went and hid it; and came again, and entered into another tent, and carried thence also, and went and hid it.
9 [†] Then they said one to another, We do not well: this day is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace: if we tarry till the morning light, some mischief will come upon us: now therefore come, that we may go and tell the king's household.
10 [†] So they came and called unto the porter of the city: and they told them, saying, We came to the camp of the Syrians, and, behold, there was no man there, neither voice of man, but horses tied, and asses tied, and the tents as they were.
11 And he called the porters; and they told it to the king's house within.
12 ¶ And the king arose in the night, and said unto his servants, I will now shew you what the Syrians have done to us. They know that we be hungry; therefore are they gone out of the camp to hide themselves in the field, saying, When they come out of the city, we shall catch them alive, and get into the city.
13 And one of his servants answered and said, Let some take, I pray thee, five of the horses that remain, which are left in the city, (behold, they are as all the multitude of Israel that are left in it: behold, I say, they are even as all the multitude of the Israelites that are consumed:) and let us send and see.
14 They took therefore two chariot horses; and the king sent after the host of the Syrians, saying, Go and see.
15 And they went after them unto Jordan: and, lo, all the way was full of garments and vessels, which the Syrians had cast away in their haste. And the messengers returned, and told the king.
16 [†] And the people went out, and spoiled the tents of the Syrians. So a measure of fine flour was sold for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel, according to the word of the Lord.
17 [†] ¶ And the king appointed the lord on whose hand he leaned to have the charge of the gate: and the people trode upon him in the gate, and he died, as the man of God had said, who spake when the king came down to him.

18 And it came to pass as the man of God had spoken to the king, saying, Two measures of barley for a shekel, and a measure of fine flour for a shekel, shall be to morrow about this time in the gate of Samaria:
19 And that lord answered the man of God, and said, Now, behold, if the LORD should make windows in heaven, might such a thing be? And he said, Behold, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but shalt not eat thereof.
20 And so it fell out unto him: for the people trode upon him in the gate, and he died.

2 Kings 8 [†]

1 [†] Then spake Elisha unto the woman, whose son he had restored to life, saying, Arise, and go thou and thine household, and sojourn wheresoever thou canst sojourn: for the Lord hath called for a famine; and it shall also come upon the land seven years.
2 And the woman arose, and did after the saying of the man of God: and she went with her household, and sojourned in the land of the Philistines seven years.
3 And it came to pass at the seven years' end, that the woman returned out of the land of the Philistines: and she went forth to cry unto the king for her house and for her land.
4 And the king talked with Gehazi the servant of the man of God, saying, Tell me, I pray thee, all the great things that Elisha hath done.
5 And it came to pass, as he was telling the king how he had restored a dead body to life, that, behold, the woman, whose son he had restored to life, cried to the king for her house and for her land. And Gehazi said, My lord, O king, this is the woman, and this is her son, whom Elisha restored to life.
6 And when the king asked the woman, she told him. So the king appointed unto her a certain officer, saying, Restore all that was hers, and all the fruits of the field since the day that she left the land, even until now.
7 [†] ¶ And Elisha came to Damascus; and Ben-hadad the king of Syria was sick; and it was told him, saying, The man of God is come hither.
8 And the king said unto Hazael, Take a present in thine hand, and go, meet the man of God, and enquire of the Lord by him, saying, Shall I recover of this disease?
9 So Hazael went to meet him, and took a present with him, even of every good thing of Damascus, forty camels' burden, and came and stood before him, and said, Thy son Ben-hadad king of Syria hath sent me to thee, saying, Shall I recover of this disease?
10 [†] And Elisha said unto him, Go, say unto him, Thou mayest certainly recover: howbeit the Lord hath shewed me that he shall surely die.
11 [†] And he settled his countenance stedfastly, until he was ashamed: and the man of God wept.
12 [†] And Hazael said, Why weepeth my lord? And he answered, Because I know the evil that thou wilt do unto the children of Israel: their strong holds wilt thou set on fire, and their young men wilt thou slay with the sword, and wilt dash their children, and rip up their women with child.
13 And Hazael said, But what, is thy servant a dog, that he should do this great thing? And Elisha answered, The Lord hath shewed me that thou shalt be king over Syria.
14 So he departed from Elisha, and came to his master; who said to him, What said Elisha to thee? And he answered, He told me that thou shouldest surely recover.
15 [†] And it came to pass on the morrow, that he took a thick cloth, and dipped it in water, and spread it on his face, so that he died: and Hazael reigned in his stead.
16 ¶ And in the fifth year of Joram the son of Ahab king of Israel, Jehoshaphat being then king of Judah, Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah began to reign.
17 Thirty and two years old was he when he began to reign; and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.
18 [†] And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, as did the house of Ahab: for the daughter of Ahab was his wife: and he did evil in the sight of the Lord.
19 [†] Yet the Lord would not destroy Judah for David his servant's sake, as he promised him to give him alway a light, and to his children.
20 ¶ In his days Edom revolted from under the hand of Judah, and made a king over themselves.
21 [†] So Joram went over to Zair, and all the chariots with him: and he rose by night, and smote the Edomites which compassed him about, and the captains of the chariots: and the people fled into their tents.

22 [†] Yet Edom revolted from under the hand of Judah unto this day. Then Libnah revolted at the same time.
23 [†] And the rest of the acts of Joram, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
24 And Joram slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David: and Ahaziah his son reigned in his stead.
25 ¶ In the twelfth year of Joram the son of Ahab king of Israel did Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah begin to reign.
26 [†] Two and twenty years old was Ahaziah when he began to reign; and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Athaliah, the daughter of Omri king of Israel.
27 [†] And he walked in the way of the house of Ahab, and did evil in the sight of the LORD, as did the house of Ahab: for he was the son in law of the house of Ahab.
28 ¶ And he went with Joram the son of Ahab to the war against Hazael king of Syria in Ramoth-gilead; and the Syrians wounded Joram.
29 And king Joram went back to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds which the Syrians had given him at Ramah, when he fought against Hazael king of Syria. And Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to see Joram the son of Ahab in Jezreel, because he was sick.

2 Kings 9 [†]

1 [†] And Elisha the prophet called one of the children of the prophets, and said unto him, Gird up thy loins, and take this box of oil in thine hand, and go to Ramoth-gilead:
2 [†] And when thou comest thither, look out there Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat the son of Nimshi, and go in, and make him arise up from among his brethren, and carry him to an inner chamber;
3 [†] Then take the box of oil, and pour it on his head, and say, Thus saith the Lord, I have anointed thee king over Israel. Then open the door, and flee, and tarry not.
4 ¶ So the young man, even the young man the prophet, went to Ramoth-gilead.
5 [†] And when he came, behold, the captains of the host were sitting; and he said, I have an errand to thee, O captain. And Jehu said, Unto which of all us? And he said, To thee, O captain.
6 And he arose, and went into the house; and he poured the oil on his head, and said unto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I have anointed thee king over the people of the Lord, even over Israel.
7 [†] And thou shalt smite the house of Ahab thy master, that I may avenge the blood of my servants the prophets, and the blood of all the servants of the Lord, at the hand of Jezebel.
8 For the whole house of Ahab shall perish: and I will cut off from Ahab him that pisseth against the wall, and him that is shut up and left in Israel:
9 And I will make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah:
10 And the dogs shall eat Jezebel in the portion of Jezreel, and there shall be none to bury her. And he opened the door, and fled.
11 [†] ¶ Then Jehu came forth to the servants of his lord: and one said unto him, Is all well? wherefore came this mad fellow to thee? And he said unto them, Ye know the man, and his communication.
12 And they said, It is false; tell us now. And he said, Thus and thus spake he to me, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I have anointed thee king over Israel.
13 [†] Then they hasted, and took every man his garment, and put it under him on the top of the stairs, and blew with trumpets, saying, Jehu is king.
14 So Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat the son of Nimshi conspired against Joram. (Now Joram had kept Ramoth-gilead, he and all Israel, because of Hazael king of Syria.
15 But king Joram was returned to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds which the Syrians had given him, when he fought with Hazael king of Syria.) And Jehu said, If it be your minds, then let none go forth nor escape out of the city to go to tell it in Jezreel.
16 So Jehu rode in a chariot, and went to Jezreel; for Joram lay there. And Ahaziah king of Judah was come down to see Joram.
17 [†] And there stood a watchman on the tower in Jezreel, and he spied the company of Jehu as he came, and said, I see a company. And Joram said, Take an horseman, and send to meet them, and let him say, Is it peace?
18 So there went one on horseback to meet him, and said, Thus saith the king, Is it peace? And Jehu said, What hast thou to do with peace? turn thee behind me. And the watchman told, saying, The messenger came to them, but he cometh not again.
19 Then he sent out a second on horseback, which came to them, and said, Thus saith the king, Is it peace? And Jehu answered, What hast thou to do with peace? turn thee behind me.
20 And the watchman told, saying, He came even unto them, and cometh not again: and the driving is like the driving of Jehu the son of Nimshi; for he driveth furiously.
21 And Joram said, Make ready. And his chariot was made ready. And Joram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Judah went out, each in his chariot, and they went out against Jehu, and met him in the portion of Naboth the Jezreelite.

22 And it came to pass, when Joram saw Jehu, that he said, Is it peace, Jehu? And he answered, What peace, so long as the whoredoms of thy mother Jezebel and her witchcrafts are so many?
23 [†] And Joram turned his hands, and fled, and said to Ahaziah, There is treachery, O Ahaziah.
24 And Jehu drew a bow with his full strength, and smote Jehoram between his arms, and the arrow went out at his heart, and he sunk down in his chariot.
25 [†] Then said Jehu to Bidkar his captain, Take up, and cast him in the portion of the field of Naboth the Jezreelite: for remember how that, when I and thou rode together after Ahab his father, the LORD laid this burden upon him;
26 [†] Surely I have seen yesterday the blood of Naboth, and the blood of his sons, saith the LORD; and I will requite thee in this plat, saith the LORD. Now therefore take and cast him into the plat of ground, according to the word of the LORD.
27 [†] ¶ But when Ahaziah the king of Judah saw this, he fled by the way of the garden house. And Jehu followed after him, and said, Smite him also in the chariot. And they did so at the going up to Gur, which is by Ibleam. And he fled to Megiddo, and died there.
28 [†] And his servants carried him in a chariot to Jerusalem, and buried him in his sepulchre with his fathers in the city of David.
29 And in the eleventh year of Joram the son of Ahab began Ahaziah to reign over Judah.
30 [†] ¶ And when Jehu was come to Jezreel, Jezebel heard of it; and she painted her face, and tired her head, and looked out at a window.
31 [†] And as Jehu entered in at the gate, she said, Had Zimri peace, who slew his master?
32 [†] And he lifted up his face to the window, and said, Who is on my side? who? And there looked out to him two or three eunuchs.
33 And he said, Throw her down. So they threw her down: and some of her blood was sprinkled on the wall, and on the horses: and he trode her under foot.
34 And when he was come in, he did eat and drink, and said, Go, see now this cursed woman, and bury her: for she is a king's daughter.
35 And they went to bury her: but they found no more of her than the skull, and the feet, and the palms of her hands.
36 [†] Wherefore they came again, and told him. And he said, This is the word of the LORD, which he spake by his servant Elijah the Tishbite, saying, In the portion of Jezreel shall dogs eat the flesh of Jezebel:
37 And the carcase of Jezebel shall be as dung upon the face of the field in the portion of Jezreel; so that they shall not say, This is Jezebel.

2 Kings 10 [†]

1 And Ahab had seventy sons in Samaria. And Jehu wrote letters, and sent to Samaria, unto the rulers of Jezreel, to the elders, and to them that brought up Ahab's children, saying,
2 Now as soon as this letter cometh to you, seeing your master's sons are with you, and there are with you chariots and horses, a fenced city also, and armour;
3 [†] Look even out the best and meetest of your master's sons, and set him on his father's throne, and fight for your master's house.
4 [†] But they were exceedingly afraid, and said, Behold, two kings stood not before him: how then shall we stand?
5 And he that was over the house, and he that was over the city, the elders also, and the bringers up of the children, sent to Jehu, saying, We are thy servants, and will do all that thou shalt bid us; we will not make any king: do thou that which is good in thine eyes.
6 [†] Then he wrote a letter the second time to them, saying, If ye be mine, and if ye will hearken unto my voice, take ye the heads of the men your master's sons, and come to me to Jezreel by to morrow this time. Now the king's sons, being seventy persons, were with the great men of the city, which brought them up.
7 And it came to pass, when the letter came to them, that they took the king's sons, and slew seventy persons, and put their heads in baskets, and sent him them to Jezreel.
8 ¶ And there came a messenger, and told him, saying, They have brought the heads of the king's sons. And he said, Lay ye them in two heaps at the entering in of the gate until the morning.
9 And it came to pass in the morning, that he went out, and stood, and said to all the people, Ye be righteous: behold, I conspired against my master, and slew him: but who slew all these?
10 [†] Know now that there shall fall unto the earth nothing of the word of the Lord, which the Lord spake concerning the house of Ahab: for the Lord hath done that which he spake by his servant Elijah.
11 [†] So Jehu slew all that remained of the house of Ahab in Jezreel, and all his great men, and his kinsfolks, and his priests, until he left him none remaining.
12 ¶ And he arose and departed, and came to Samaria. And as he was at the shearing house in the way,
13 [†] Jehu met with the brethren of Ahaziah king of Judah, and said, Who are ye? And they answered, We are the brethren of Ahaziah; and we go down to salute the children of the king and the children of the queen.
14 [†] And he said, Take them alive. And they took them alive, and slew them at the pit of the shearing house, even two and forty men; neither left he any of them.
15 [†] ¶ And when he was departed thence, he lighted on Jehonadab the son of Rechab coming to meet him: and he saluted him, and said to him, Is thine heart right, as my heart is with thy heart? And Jehonadab answered, It is. If it be, give me thine hand. And he gave him his hand; and he took him up to him into the chariot.
16 And he said, Come with me, and see my zeal for the Lord. So they made him ride in his chariot.
17 And when he came to Samaria, he slew all that remained unto Ahab in Samaria, till he had destroyed him, according to the saying of the Lord, which he spake to Elijah.
18 ¶ And Jehu gathered all the people together, and said unto them, Ahab served Baal a little; but Jehu shall serve him much.
19 [†] Now therefore call unto me all the prophets of Baal, all his servants, and all his priests; let none be wanting: for I have a great sacrifice to do to Baal; whosoever shall be wanting, he shall not live. But Jehu did it in subtilty, to the intent that he might destroy the worshippers of Baal.
20 And Jehu said, Proclaim a solemn assembly for Baal. And they proclaimed it.

21 And Jehu sent through all Israel: and all the worshippers of Baal came, so that there was not a man left that came not. And they came into the house of Baal; and the house of Baal was full from one end to another.
22 [†] And he said unto him that was over the vestry, Bring forth vestments for all the worshippers of Baal. And he brought them forth vestments.
23 And Jehu went, and Jehonadab the son of Rechab, into the house of Baal, and said unto the worshippers of Baal, Search, and look that there be here with you none of the servants of the LORD, but the worshippers of Baal only.
24 And when they went in to offer sacrifices and burnt offerings, Jehu appointed fourscore men without, and said, If any of the men whom I have brought into your hands escape, he that letteth him go, his life shall be for the life of him.
25 And it came to pass, as soon as he had made an end of offering the burnt offering, that Jehu said to the guard and to the captains, Go in, and slay them; let none come forth. And they smote them with the edge of the sword; and the guard and the captains cast them out, and went to the city of the house of Baal.
26 And they brought forth the images out of the house of Baal, and burned them.
27 [†] And they brake down the image of Baal, and brake down the house of Baal, and made it a draught house unto this day.
28 Thus Jehu destroyed Baal out of Israel.
29 [†] ¶ Howbeit from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin, Jehu departed not from after them, to wit, the golden calves that were in Beth-el, and that were in Dan.
30 [†] And the LORD said unto Jehu, Because thou hast done well in executing that which is right in mine eyes, and hast done unto the house of Ahab according to all that was in mine heart, thy children of the fourth generation shall sit on the throne of Israel.
31 But Jehu took no heed to walk in the law of the LORD God of Israel with all his heart: for he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam, which made Israel to sin.
32 [†] ¶ In those days the LORD began to cut Israel short: and Hazael smote them in all the coasts of Israel;
33 From Jordan eastward, all the land of Gilead, the Gadites, and the Reubenites, and the Manassites, from Aroer, which is by the river Arnon, even Gilead and Bashan.
34 [†] Now the rest of the acts of Jehu, and all that he did, and all his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
35 And Jehu slept with his fathers: and they buried him in Samaria. And Jehoahaz his son reigned in his stead.
36 And the time that Jehu reigned over Israel in Samaria was twenty and eight years.

2 Kings 11 [†]

1 [†] And when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she arose and destroyed all the seed royal.
2 [†] But Jehosheba, the daughter of king Joram, sister of Ahaziah, took Joash the son of Ahaziah, and stole him from among the king's sons which were slain; and they hid him, even him and his nurse, in the bedchamber from Athaliah, so that he was not slain.
3 And he was with her hid in the house of the LORD six years. And Athaliah did reign over the land.
4 ¶ And the seventh year Jehoiada sent and fetched the rulers over hundreds, with the captains and the guard, and brought them to him into the house of the LORD, and made a covenant with them, and took an oath of them in the house of the LORD, and shewed them the king's son.
5 And he commanded them, saying, This is the thing that ye shall do; A third part of you that enter in on the sabbath shall even be keepers of the watch of the king's house;
6 And a third part shall be at the gate of Sur; and a third part at the gate behind the guard: so shall ye keep the watch of the house, that it be not broken down.
7 And two parts of all you that go forth on the sabbath, even they shall keep the watch of the house of the LORD about the king.
8 [†] And ye shall compass the king round about, every man with his weapons in his hand: and he that cometh within the ranges, let him be slain: and be ye with the king as he goeth out and as he cometh in.
9 And the captains over the hundreds did according to all things that Jehoiada the priest commanded: and they took every man his men that were to come in on the sabbath, with them that should go out on the sabbath, and came to Jehoiada the priest.
10 [†] And to the captains over hundreds did the priest give king David's spears and shields, that were in the temple of the LORD.
11 And the guard stood, every man with his weapons in his hand, round about the king, from the right corner of the temple to the left corner of the temple, along by the altar and the temple.
12 [†] And he brought forth the king's son, and put the crown upon him, and gave him the testimony; and they made him king, and anointed him; and they clapped their hands, and said, God save the king.
13 ¶ And when Athaliah heard the noise of the guard and of the people, she came to the people into the temple of the LORD.
14 [†] And when she looked, behold, the king stood by a pillar, as the manner was, and the princes and the trumpeters by the king, and all the people of the land rejoiced, and blew with trumpets: and Athaliah rent her clothes, and cried, Treason, Treason.
15 [†] But Jehoiada the priest commanded the captains of the hundreds, the officers of the host, and said unto them, Have her forth without the ranges: and him that followeth her kill with the sword. For the priest had said, Let her not be slain in the house of the LORD.
16 And they laid hands on her; and she went by the way by the which the horses came into the king's house: and there was she slain.
17 [†] ¶ And Jehoiada made a covenant between the LORD and the king and the people, that they should be the LORD's people; between the king also and the people.
18 And all the people of the land went into the house of Baal, and brake it down; his altars and his images brake they in pieces thoroughly, and slew Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars. And the priest appointed officers over the house of the LORD.
19 And he took the rulers over hundreds, and the captains, and the guard, and all the people of the land; and they brought down the king from the house of the LORD, and came by the way of the gate of the guard to the king's house. And he sat on the throne of the kings.

20 [†] And all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was in quiet: and they slew Athaliah with the sword beside the king's house.
21 [†] Seven years old was Jehoash when he began to reign.

2 Kings 12 [†]

1 In the seventh year of Jehu Jehoash began to reign; and forty years reigned he in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Zibiah of Beer-sheba.
2 [†] And Jehoash did that which was right in the sight of the Lord all his days wherein Jehoiada the priest instructed him.
3 But the high places were not taken away: the people still sacrificed and burnt incense in the high places.
4 [†] ¶ And Jehoash said to the priests, All the money of the dedicated things that is brought into the house of the Lord, even the money of every one that passeth the account, the money that every man is set at, and all the money that cometh into any man's heart to bring into the house of the Lord,
5 [†] Let the priests take it to them, every man of his acquaintance: and let them repair the breaches of the house, wheresoever any breach shall be found.
6 But it was so, that in the three and twentieth year of king Jehoash the priests had not repaired the breaches of the house.
7 Then king Jehoash called for Jehoiada the priest, and the other priests, and said unto them, Why repair ye not the breaches of the house? now therefore receive no more money of your acquaintance, but deliver it for the breaches of the house.
8 And the priests consented to receive no more money of the people, neither to repair the breaches of the house.
9 But Jehoiada the priest took a chest, and bored a hole in the lid of it, and set it beside the altar, on the right side as one cometh into the house of the Lord: and the priests that kept the door put therein all the money that was brought into the house of the Lord.
10 [†] And it was so, when they saw that there was much money in the chest, that the king's scribe and the high priest came up, and they put up in bags, and told the money that was found in the house of the Lord.
11 [†] And they gave the money, being told, into the hands of them that did the work, that had the oversight of the house of the Lord: and they laid it out to the carpenters and builders, that wrought upon the house of the Lord,
12 [†] And to masons, and hewers of stone, and to buy timber and hewed stone to repair the breaches of the house of the Lord, and for all that was laid out for the house to repair it.
13 [†] Howbeit there were not made for the house of the Lord bowls of silver, snuffers, basons, trumpets, any vessels of gold, or vessels of silver, of the money that was brought into the house of the Lord:
14 But they gave that to the workmen, and repaired therewith the house of the Lord.
15 [†] Moreover they reckoned not with the men, into whose hand they delivered the money to be bestowed on workmen: for they dealt faithfully.
16 [†] The trespass money and sin money was not brought into the house of the Lord: it was the priests'.
17 [†] ¶ Then Hazael king of Syria went up, and fought against Gath, and took it: and Hazael set his face to go up to Jerusalem.
18 And Jehoash king of Judah took all the hallowed things that Jehoshaphat, and Jehoram, and Ahaziah, his fathers, kings of Judah, had dedicated, and his own hallowed things, and all the gold that was found in the treasures of the house of the Lord, and in the king's house, and sent it to Hazael king of Syria: and he went away from Jerusalem.
19 [†] ¶ And the rest of the acts of Joash, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

20 [†] And his servants arose, and made a conspiracy, and slew Joash in the house of Millo, which goeth down to Silla.
21 [†] For Jozachar the son of Shimeath, and Jehozabad the son of Shomer, his servants, smote him, and he died; and they buried him with his fathers in the city of David: and Amaziah his son reigned in his stead.

2 Kings 13 [†]

1 In the three and twentieth year of Joash the son of Ahaziah king of Judah Jehoahaz the son of Jehu began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and reigned seventeen years.
2 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord, and followed the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, which made Israel to sin; he departed not therefrom.
3 ¶ And the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel, and he delivered them into the hand of Hazael king of Syria, and into the hand of Ben-hadad the son of Hazael, all their days.
4 [†] And Jehoahaz besought the Lord, and the Lord hearkened unto him: for he saw the oppression of Israel, because the king of Syria oppressed them.
5 [†] (And the Lord gave Israel a saviour, so that they went out from under the hand of the Syrians: and the children of Israel dwelt in their tents, as beforetime.
6 [†] Nevertheless they departed not from the sins of the house of Jeroboam, who made Israel sin, but walked therein: and there remained the grove also in Samaria.)
7 Neither did he leave of the people to Jehoahaz but fifty horsemen, and ten chariots, and ten thousand footmen; for the king of Syria had destroyed them, and had made them like the dust by threshing.
8 [†] ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Jehoahaz, and all that he did, and his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
9 And Jehoahaz slept with his fathers; and they buried him in Samaria: and Joash his son reigned in his stead.
10 ¶ In the thirty and seventh year of Joash king of Judah began Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz to reign over Israel in Samaria, and reigned sixteen years.
11 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord; he departed not from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel sin: but he walked therein.
12 And the rest of the acts of Joash, and all that he did, and his might wherewith he fought against Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
13 And Joash slept with his fathers; and Jeroboam sat upon his throne: and Joash was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel.
14 [†] ¶ Now Elisha was fallen sick of his sickness whereof he died. And Joash the king of Israel came down unto him, and wept over his face, and said, O my father, my father, the chariot of Israel, and the horsemen thereof.
15 [†] And Elisha said unto him, Take bow and arrows. And he took unto him bow and arrows.
16 And he said to the king of Israel, Put thine hand upon the bow. And he put his hand upon it: and Elisha put his hands upon the king's hands.
17 And he said, Open the window eastward. And he opened it. Then Elisha said, Shoot. And he shot. And he said, The arrow of the Lord's deliverance, and the arrow of deliverance from Syria: for thou shalt smite the Syrians in Aphek, till thou have consumed them.
18 And he said, Take the arrows. And he took them. And he said unto the king of Israel, Smite upon the ground. And he smote thrice, and stayed.
19 [†] And the man of God was wroth with him, and said, Thou shouldest have smitten five or six times; then hadst thou smitten Syria till thou hadst consumed it: whereas now thou shalt smite Syria but thrice.
20 [†] ¶ And Elisha died, and they buried him. And the bands of the Moabites invaded the land at the coming in of the year.
21 [†] And it came to pass, as they were burying a man, that, behold, they spied a band of men; and they cast the man into the sepulchre of Elisha: and when the man was let down, and touched the bones of Elisha, he revived, and stood up on his feet.

22 ¶ But Hazael king of Syria oppressed Israel all the days of Jehoahaz.
23 [†] And the LORD was gracious unto them, and had compassion on them, and had respect unto them, because of his covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and would not destroy them, neither cast he them from his presence as yet.
24 So Hazael king of Syria died; and Ben-hadad his son reigned in his stead.
25 And Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz took again out of the hand of Ben-hadad the son of Hazael the cities, which he had taken out of the hand of Jehoahaz his father by war. Three times did Joash beat him, and recovered the cities of Israel.

2 Kings 14 [†]

1 In the second year of Joash son of Jehoahaz king of Israel reigned Amaziah the son of Joash king of Judah.
2 He was twenty and five years old when he began to reign, and reigned twenty and nine years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem.
3 And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, yet not like David his father: he did according to all things as Joash his father did.
4 Howbeit the high places were not taken away: as yet the people did sacrifice and burnt incense on the high places.
5 [†] ¶ And it came to pass, as soon as the kingdom was confirmed in his hand, that he slew his servants which had slain the king his father.
6 [†] But the children of the murderers he slew not: according unto that which is written in the book of the law of Moses, wherein the Lord commanded, saying, The fathers shall not be put to death for the children, nor the children be put to death for the fathers; but every man shall be put to death for his own sin.
7 [†] He slew of Edom in the valley of salt ten thousand, and took Selah by war, and called the name of it Joktheel unto this day.
8 ¶ Then Amaziah sent messengers to Jehoash, the son of Jehoahaz son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying, Come, let us look one another in the face.
9 [†] And Jehoash the king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, The thistle that was in Lebanon sent to the cedar that was in Lebanon, saying, Give thy daughter to my son to wife: and there passed by a wild beast that was in Lebanon, and trode down the thistle.
10 [†] Thou hast indeed smitten Edom, and thine heart hath lifted thee up: glory of this, and tarry at home: for why shouldest thou meddle to thy hurt, that thou shouldest fall, even thou, and Judah with thee?
11 But Amaziah would not hear. Therefore Jehoash king of Israel went up; and he and Amaziah king of Judah looked one another in the face at Beth-shemesh, which belongeth to Judah.
12 [†] And Judah was put to the worse before Israel; and they fled every man to their tents.
13 And Jehoash king of Israel took Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Jehoash the son of Ahaziah, at Beth-shemesh, and came to Jerusalem, and brake down the wall of Jerusalem from the gate of Ephraim unto the corner gate, four hundred cubits.
14 And he took all the gold and silver, and all the vessels that were found in the house of the Lord, and in the treasures of the king's house, and hostages, and returned to Samaria.
15 [†] ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Jehoash which he did, and his might, and how he fought with Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
16 And Jehoash slept with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel; and Jeroboam his son reigned in his stead.
17 ¶ And Amaziah the son of Joash king of Judah lived after the death of Jehoash son of Jehoahaz king of Israel fifteen years.
18 And the rest of the acts of Amaziah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
19 Now they made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem: and he fled to Lachish; but they sent after him to Lachish, and slew him there.
20 And they brought him on horses: and he was buried at Jerusalem with his fathers in the city of David.

21 ¶ And all the people of Judah took Azariah, which was sixteen years old, and made him king instead of his father Amaziah.
22 He built Elath, and restored it to Judah, after that the king slept with his fathers.
23 ¶ In the fifteenth year of Amaziah the son of Joash king of Judah Jeroboam the son of Joash king of Israel began to reign in Samaria, and reigned forty and one years.
24 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD: he departed not from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin.
25 [†] He restored the coast of Israel from the entering of Hamath unto the sea of the plain, according to the word of the LORD God of Israel, which he spake by the hand of his servant Jonah, the son of Amittai, the prophet, which was of Gath-hepher.
26 [†] For the LORD saw the affliction of Israel, that it was very bitter: for there was not any shut up, nor any left, nor any helper for Israel.
27 And the LORD said not that he would blot out the name of Israel from under heaven: but he saved them by the hand of Jeroboam the son of Joash.
28 [†] ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, and all that he did, and his might, how he warred, and how he recovered Damascus, and Hamath, which belonged to Judah, for Israel, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
29 And Jeroboam slept with his fathers, even with the kings of Israel; and Zachariah his son reigned in his stead.

2 Kings 15 [†]

1 [†] In the twenty and seventh year of Jeroboam king of Israel began Azariah son of Amaziah king of Judah to reign.
2 Sixteen years old was he when he began to reign, and he reigned two and fifty years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Jecholiah of Jerusalem.
3 And he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father Amaziah had done;
4 Save that the high places were not removed: the people sacrificed and burnt incense still on the high places.
5 [†] ¶ And the LORD smote the king, so that he was a leper unto the day of his death, and dwelt in a several house. And Jotham the king's son was over the house, judging the people of the land.
6 [†] And the rest of the acts of Azariah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
7 So Azariah slept with his fathers; and they buried him with his fathers in the city of David: and Jotham his son reigned in his stead.
8 ¶ In the thirty and eighth year of Azariah king of Judah did Zachariah the son of Jeroboam reign over Israel in Samaria six months.
9 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, as his fathers had done: he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin.
10 [†] And Shallum the son of Jabesh conspired against him, and smote him before the people, and slew him, and reigned in his stead.
11 And the rest of the acts of Zachariah, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.
12 [†] This was the word of the LORD which he spake unto Jehu, saying, Thy sons shall sit on the throne of Israel unto the fourth generation. And so it came to pass.
13 ¶ Shallum the son of Jabesh began to reign in the nine and thirtieth year of Uzziah king of Judah; and he reigned a full month in Samaria.
14 For Menahem the son of Gadi went up from Tirzah, and came to Samaria, and smote Shallum the son of Jabesh in Samaria, and slew him, and reigned in his stead.
15 And the rest of the acts of Shallum, and his conspiracy which he made, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.
16 [†] ¶ Then Menahem smote Tiphsah, and all that were therein, and the coasts thereof from Tirzah: because they opened not to him, therefore he smote it; and all the women therein that were with child he ripped up.
17 In the nine and thirtieth year of Azariah king of Judah began Menahem the son of Gadi to reign over Israel, and reigned ten years in Samaria.
18 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD: he departed not all his days from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin.
19 [†] And Pul the king of Assyria came against the land: and Menahem gave Pul a thousand talents of silver, that his hand might be with him to confirm the kingdom in his hand.
20 [†] And Menahem exacted the money of Israel, even of all the mighty men of wealth, of each man fifty shekels of silver, to give to the king of Assyria. So the king of Assyria turned back, and stayed not there in the land.
21 ¶ And the rest of the acts of Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

22 And Menahem slept with his fathers; and Pekahiah his son reigned in his stead.
23 ¶ In the fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah Pekahiah the son of Menahem began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and reigned two years.
24 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD: he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin.
25 [†] But Pekah the son of Remaliah, a captain of his, conspired against him, and smote him in Samaria, in the palace of the king's house, with Argob and Arieh, and with him fifty men of the Gileadites: and he killed him, and reigned in his room.
26 And the rest of the acts of Pekahiah, and all that he did, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.
27 ¶ In the two and fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah Pekah the son of Remaliah began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and reigned twenty years.
28 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD: he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin.
29 In the days of Pekah king of Israel came Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, and took Ijon, and Abel-beth-maachah, and Janoah, and Kedesh, and Hazor, and Gilead, and Galilee, all the land of Naphtali, and carried them captive to Assyria.
30 And Hoshea the son of Elah made a conspiracy against Pekah the son of Remaliah, and smote him, and slew him, and reigned in his stead, in the twentieth year of Jotham the son of Uzziah.
31 And the rest of the acts of Pekah, and all that he did, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.
32 ¶ In the second year of Pekah the son of Remaliah king of Israel began Jotham the son of Uzziah king of Judah to reign.
33 Five and twenty years old was he when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Jerusha, the daughter of Zadok.
34 And he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD: he did according to all that his father Uzziah had done.
35 ¶ Howbeit the high places were not removed: the people sacrificed and burned incense still in the high places. He built the higher gate of the house of the LORD.
36 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Jotham, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
37 [†] In those days the LORD began to send against Judah Rezin the king of Syria, and Pekah the son of Remaliah.
38 And Jotham slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father: and Ahaz his son reigned in his stead.

2 Kings 16 [†]

1 In the seventeenth year of Pekah the son of Remaliah Ahaz the son of Jotham king of Judah began to reign.
2 Twenty years old was Ahaz when he began to reign, and reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem, and did not that which was right in the sight of the Lord his God, like David his father.
3 [†] But he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, yea, and made his son to pass through the fire, according to the abominations of the heathen, whom the Lord cast out from before the children of Israel.
4 [†] And he sacrificed and burnt incense in the high places, and on the hills, and under every green tree.
5 ¶ Then Rezin king of Syria and Pekah son of Remaliah king of Israel came up to Jerusalem to war: and they besieged Ahaz, but could not overcome him.
6 [†] At that time Rezin king of Syria recovered Elath to Syria, and drave the Jews from Elath: and the Syrians came to Elath, and dwelt there unto this day.
7 So Ahaz sent messengers to Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, saying, I am thy servant and thy son: come up, and save me out of the hand of the king of Syria, and out of the hand of the king of Israel, which rise up against me.
8 And Ahaz took the silver and gold that was found in the house of the Lord, and in the treasures of the king's house, and sent it for a present to the king of Assyria.
9 [†] And the king of Assyria hearkened unto him: for the king of Assyria went up against Damascus, and took it, and carried the people of it captive to Kir, and slew Rezin.
10 [†] ¶ And king Ahaz went to Damascus to meet Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, and saw an altar that was at Damascus: and king Ahaz sent to Urijah the priest the fashion of the altar, and the pattern of it, according to all the workmanship thereof.
11 [†] And Urijah the priest built an altar according to all that king Ahaz had sent from Damascus: so Urijah the priest made it against king Ahaz came from Damascus.
12 And when the king was come from Damascus, the king saw the altar: and the king approached to the altar, and offered thereon.
13 And he burnt his burnt offering and his meat offering, and poured his drink offering, and sprinkled the blood of his peace offerings, upon the altar.
14 And he brought also the brasen altar, which was before the Lord, from the forefront of the house, from between the altar and the house of the Lord, and put it on the north side of the altar.
15 And king Ahaz commanded Urijah the priest, saying, Upon the great altar burn the morning burnt offering, and the evening meat offering, and the king's burnt sacrifice, and his meat offering, with the burnt offering of all the people of the land, and their meat offering, and their drink offerings; and sprinkle upon it all the blood of the burnt offering, and all the blood of the sacrifice: and the brasen altar shall be for me to enquire by.
16 [†] Thus did Urijah the priest, according to all that king Ahaz commanded.
17 [†] ¶ And king Ahaz cut off the borders of the bases, and removed the laver from off them; and took down the sea from off the brasen oxen that were under it, and put it upon a pavement of stones.
18 [†] And the covert for the sabbath that they had built in the house, and the king's entry without, turned he from the house of the Lord for the king of Assyria.
19 [†] ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Ahaz which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
20 [†] And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David: and Hezekiah his son reigned in his stead.

2 Kings 17 [†]

1 In the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah began Hoshea the son of Elah to reign in Samaria over Israel nine years.
2 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord, but not as the kings of Israel that were before him.
3 [†] ¶ Against him came up Shalmaneser king of Assyria; and Hoshea became his servant, and gave him presents.
4 And the king of Assyria found conspiracy in Hoshea: for he had sent messengers to So king of Egypt, and brought no present to the king of Assyria, as he had done year by year: therefore the king of Assyria shut him up, and bound him in prison.
5 ¶ Then the king of Assyria came up throughout all the land, and went up to Samaria, and besieged it three years.
6 [†] ¶ In the ninth year of Hoshea the king of Assyria took Samaria, and carried Israel away into Assyria, and placed them in Halah and in Habor by the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes.
7 [†] For so it was, that the children of Israel had sinned against the Lord their God, which had brought them up out of the land of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and had feared other gods,
8 And walked in the statutes of the heathen, whom the Lord cast out from before the children of Israel, and of the kings of Israel, which they had made.
9 [†] And the children of Israel did secretly those things that were not right against the Lord their God, and they built them high places in all their cities, from the tower of the watchmen to the fenced city.
10 [†] And they set them up images and groves in every high hill, and under every green tree:
11 And there they burnt incense in all the high places, as did the heathen whom the Lord carried away before them; and wrought wicked things to provoke the Lord to anger:
12 For they served idols, whereof the Lord had said unto them, Ye shall not do this thing.
13 [†] Yet the Lord testified against Israel, and against Judah, by all the prophets, and by all the seers, saying, Turn ye from your evil ways, and keep my commandments and my statutes, according to all the law which I commanded your fathers, and which I sent to you by my servants the prophets.
14 Notwithstanding they would not hear, but hardened their necks, like to the neck of their fathers, that did not believe in the Lord their God.
15 [†] And they rejected his statutes, and his covenant that he made with their fathers, and his testimonies which he testified against them; and they followed vanity, and became vain, and went after the heathen that were round about them, concerning whom the Lord had charged them, that they should not do like them.
16 [†] And they left all the commandments of the Lord their God, and made them molten images, even two calves, and made a grove, and worshipped all the host of heaven, and served Baal.
17 And they caused their sons and their daughters to pass through the fire, and used divination and enchantments, and sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the Lord, to provoke him to anger.
18 Therefore the Lord was very angry with Israel, and removed them out of his sight: there was none left but the tribe of Judah only.
19 Also Judah kept not the commandments of the Lord their God, but walked in the statutes of Israel which they made.
20 [†] And the Lord rejected all the seed of Israel, and afflicted them, and delivered them into the hand of spoilers, until he had cast them out of his sight.
21 For he rent Israel from the house of David; and they made Jeroboam the son of Nebat king: and Jeroboam drave Israel from following the LORD, and made them sin a great sin.

22 For the children of Israel walked in all the sins of Jeroboam which he did; they departed not from them;
23 [†] Until the LORD removed Israel out of his sight, as he had said by all his servants the prophets. So was Israel carried away out of their own land to Assyria unto this day.
24 [†] ¶ And the king of Assyria brought men from Babylon, and from Cuthah, and from Ava, and from Hamath, and from Sepharvaim, and placed them in the cities of Samaria instead of the children of Israel: and they possessed Samaria, and dwelt in the cities thereof.
25 [†] And so it was at the beginning of their dwelling there, that they feared not the LORD: therefore the LORD sent lions among them, which slew some of them.
26 [†] Wherefore they spake to the king of Assyria, saying, The nations which thou hast removed, and placed in the cities of Samaria, know not the manner of the God of the land: therefore he hath sent lions among them, and, behold, they slay them, because they know not the manner of the God of the land.
27 Then the king of Assyria commanded, saying, Carry thither one of the priests whom ye brought from thence; and let them go and dwell there, and let him teach them the manner of the God of the land.
28 [†] Then one of the priests whom they had carried away from Samaria came and dwelt in Beth-el, and taught them how they should fear the LORD.
29 Howbeit every nation made gods of their own, and put them in the houses of the high places which the Samaritans had made, every nation in their cities wherein they dwelt.
30 And the men of Babylon made Succoth-benoth, and the men of Cuth made Nergal, and the men of Hamath made Ashima,
31 And the Avites made Nibhaz and Tartak, and the Sepharvites burnt their children in fire to Adrammelech and Anammelech, the gods of Sepharvaim.
32 So they feared the LORD, and made unto themselves of the lowest of them priests of the high places, which sacrificed for them in the houses of the high places.
33 [†] They feared the LORD, and served their own gods, after the manner of the nations whom they carried away from thence.
34 Unto this day they do after the former manners: they fear not the LORD, neither do they after their statutes, or after their ordinances, or after the law and commandment which the LORD commanded the children of Jacob, whom he named Israel;
35 With whom the LORD had made a covenant, and charged them, saying, Ye shall not fear other gods, nor bow yourselves to them, nor serve them, nor sacrifice to them:
36 But the LORD, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt with great power and a stretched out arm, him shall ye fear, and him shall ye worship, and to him shall ye do sacrifice.
37 And the statutes, and the ordinances, and the law, and the commandment, which he wrote for you, ye shall observe to do for evermore; and ye shall not fear other gods.
38 And the covenant that I have made with you ye shall not forget; neither shall ye fear other gods.
39 But the LORD your God ye shall fear; and he shall deliver you out of the hand of all your enemies.
40 Howbeit they did not hearken, but they did after their former manner.
41 So these nations feared the LORD, and served their graven images, both their children, and their children's children: as did their fathers, so do they unto this day.

2 Kings 18 [†]

1 Now it came to pass in the third year of Hoshea son of Elah king of Israel, that Hezekiah the son of Ahaz king of Judah began to reign.
2 Twenty and five years old was he when he began to reign; and he reigned twenty and nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Abi, the daughter of Zachariah.
3 And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, according to all that David his father did.
4 [†] ¶ He removed the high places, and brake the images, and cut down the groves, and brake in pieces the brasen serpent that Moses had made: for unto those days the children of Israel did burn incense to it: and he called it Nehushtan.
5 He trusted in the Lord God of Israel; so that after him was none like him among all the kings of Judah, nor any that were before him.
6 [†] For he clave to the Lord, and departed not from following him, but kept his commandments, which the Lord commanded Moses.
7 [†] And the Lord was with him; and he prospered whithersoever he went forth: and he rebelled against the king of Assyria, and served him not.
8 He smote the Philistines, even unto Gaza, and the borders thereof, from the tower of the watchmen to the fenced city.
9 ¶ And it came to pass in the fourth year of king Hezekiah, which was the seventh year of Hoshea son of Elah king of Israel, that Shalmaneser king of Assyria came up against Samaria, and besieged it.
10 And at the end of three years they took it: even in the sixth year of Hezekiah, that is the ninth year of Hoshea king of Israel, Samaria was taken.
11 And the king of Assyria did carry away Israel unto Assyria, and put them in Halah and in Habor by the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes:
12 Because they obeyed not the voice of the Lord their God, but transgressed his covenant, and all that Moses the servant of the Lord commanded, and would not hear them, nor do them.
13 ¶ Now in the fourteenth year of king Hezekiah did Sennacherib king of Assyria come up against all the fenced cities of Judah, and took them.
14 [†] And Hezekiah king of Judah sent to the king of Assyria to Lachish, saying, I have offended; return from me: that which thou puttest on me will I bear. And the king of Assyria appointed unto Hezekiah king of Judah three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold.
15 And Hezekiah gave him all the silver that was found in the house of the Lord, and in the treasures of the king's house.
16 At that time did Hezekiah cut off the gold from the doors of the temple of the Lord, and from the pillars which Hezekiah king of Judah had overlaid, and gave it to the king of Assyria.
17 [†] ¶ And the king of Assyria sent Tartan and Rab-saris and Rab-shakeh from Lachish to king Hezekiah with a great host against Jerusalem. And they went up and came to Jerusalem. And when they were come up, they came and stood by the conduit of the upper pool, which is in the highway of the fuller's field.
18 And when they had called to the king, there came out to them Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, which was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph the recorder.
19 And Rab-shakeh said unto them, Speak ye now to Hezekiah, Thus saith the great king, the king of Assyria, What confidence is this wherein thou trustest?
20 [†] Thou sayest, (but they are but vain words,) I have counsel and strength for the war. Now on whom dost thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?
21 Now, behold, thou trustest upon the staff of this bruised reed, even upon Egypt, on which if a man lean, it will go into his hand, and pierce it: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt unto all that trust on him.

22 But if ye say unto me, We trust in the LORD our God: is not that he, whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah hath taken away, and hath said to Judah and Jerusalem, Ye shall worship before this altar in Jerusalem?
23 [†] Now therefore, I pray thee, give pledges to my lord the king of Assyria, and I will deliver thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders upon them.
24 How then wilt thou turn away the face of one captain of the least of my master's servants, and put thy trust on Egypt for chariots and for horsemen?
25 [†] Am I now come up without the LORD against this place to destroy it? The LORD said to me, Go up against this land, and destroy it.
26 [†] Then said Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, and Shebna, and Joah, unto Rab-shakeh, Speak, I pray thee, to thy servants in the Syrian language; for we understand it: and talk not with us in the Jews' language in the ears of the people that are on the wall.
27 [†] But Rab-shakeh said unto them, Hath my master sent me to thy master, and to thee, to speak these words? hath he not sent me to the men which sit on the wall, that they may eat their own dung, and drink their own piss with you?
28 Then Rab-shakeh stood and cried with a loud voice in the Jews' language, and spake, saying, Hear the word of the great king, the king of Assyria:
29 Thus saith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive you: for he shall not be able to deliver you out of his hand:
30 Neither let Hezekiah make you trust in the LORD, saying, The LORD will surely deliver us, and this city shall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Assyria.
31 [†] Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the king of Assyria, Make an agreement with me by a present, and come out to me, and then eat ye every man of his own vine, and every one of his fig tree, and drink ye every one the waters of his cistern:
32 [†] Until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of corn and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of oil olive and of honey, that ye may live, and not die: and hearken not unto Hezekiah, when he persuadeth you, saying, The LORD will deliver us.
33 Hath any of the gods of the nations delivered at all his land out of the hand of the king of Assyria?
34 [†] Where are the gods of Hamath, and of Arpad? where are the gods of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah? have they delivered Samaria out of mine hand?
35 Who are they among all the gods of the countries, that have delivered their country out of mine hand, that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem out of mine hand?
36 [†] But the people held their peace, and answered him not a word: for the king's commandment was, saying, Answer him not.
37 [†] Then came Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, which was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph the recorder, to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and told him the words of Rab-shakeh.

2 Kings 19 [†]

(see article: The Only True God)

1 [†] And it came to pass, when king Hezekiah heard it, that he rent his clothes, and covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the house of the Lord.
2 [†] And he sent Eliakim, which was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests, covered with sackcloth, to Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz.
3 [†] And they said unto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of trouble, and of rebuke, and blasphemy: for the children are come to the birth, and there is not strength to bring forth.
4 [†] It may be the Lord thy God will hear all the words of Rab-shakeh, whom the king of Assyria his master hath sent to reproach the living God; and will reprove the words which the Lord thy God hath heard: wherefore lift up thy prayer for the remnant that are left.
5 So the servants of king Hezekiah came to Isaiah.
6 ¶ And Isaiah said unto them, Thus shall ye say to your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraid of the words which thou hast heard, with which the servants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed me.
7 [†] Behold, I will send a blast upon him, and he shall hear a rumour, and shall return to his own land; and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land.
8 [†] ¶ So Rab-shakeh returned, and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.
9 And when he heard say of Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, Behold, he is come out to fight against thee: he sent messengers again unto Hezekiah, saying,
10 Thus shall ye speak to Hezekiah king of Judah, saying, Let not thy God in whom thou trustest deceive thee, saying, Jerusalem shall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Assyria.
11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all lands, by destroying them utterly: and shalt thou be delivered?
12 Have the gods of the nations delivered them which my fathers have destroyed; as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden which were in Thelasar?
13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, of Hena, and Ivah?
14 [†] ¶ And Hezekiah received the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went up into the house of the Lord, and spread it before the Lord.
15 [†] And Hezekiah prayed before the Lord, and said, O Lord God of Israel, which dwellest between the cherubims, thou art the God, even thou alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth; thou hast made heaven and earth.
16 Lord, bow down thine ear, and hear: open, Lord, thine eyes, and see: and hear the words of Sennacherib, which hath sent him to reproach the living God.
17 Of a truth, Lord, the kings of Assyria have destroyed the nations and their lands,
18 And have cast their gods into the fire: for they were no gods, but the work of men's hands, wood and stone: therefore they have destroyed them.
19 Now therefore, O Lord our God, I beseech thee, save thou us out of his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that thou art the Lord God, even thou only.
20 ¶ Then Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, That which thou hast prayed to me against Sennacherib king of Assyria I have heard.
21 [†] This is the word that the Lord hath spoken concerning him; The virgin the daughter of Zion hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorn; the daughter of Jerusalem hath shaken her head at thee.

22 [†] Whom hast thou reproached and blasphemed? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voice, and lifted up thine eyes on high? even against the Holy One of Israel.
23 By thy messengers thou hast reproached the Lord, and hast said, With the multitude of my chariots I am come up to the height of the mountains, to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut down the tall cedar trees thereof, and the choice fir trees thereof: and I will enter into the lodgings of his borders, and into the forest of his Carmel.
24 I have digged and drunk strange waters, and with the sole of my feet have I dried up all the rivers of besieged places.
25 [†] Hast thou not heard long ago how I have done it, and of ancient times that I have formed it? now have I brought it to pass, that thou shouldest be to lay waste fenced cities into ruinous heaps.
26 Therefore their inhabitants were of small power, they were dismayed and confounded; they were as the grass of the field, and as the green herb, as the grass on the housetops, and as corn blasted before it be grown up.
27 But I know thy abode, and thy going out, and thy coming in, and thy rage against me.
28 [†] Because thy rage against me and thy tumult is come up into mine ears, therefore I will put my hook in thy nose, and my bridle in thy lips, and I will turn thee back by the way by which thou camest.
29 And this shall be a sign unto thee, Ye shall eat this year such things as grow of themselves, and in the second year that which springeth of the same; and in the third year sow ye, and reap, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruits thereof.
30 And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Judah shall yet again take root downward, and bear fruit upward.
31 [†] For out of Jerusalem shall go forth a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeal of the LORD of hosts shall do this.
32 [†] Therefore thus saith the LORD concerning the king of Assyria, He shall not come into this city, nor shoot an arrow there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a bank against it.
33 By the way that he came, by the same shall he return, and shall not come into this city, saith the LORD.
34 For I will defend this city, to save it, for mine own sake, and for my servant David's sake.
35 [†] ¶ And it came to pass that night, that the angel of the LORD went out, and smote in the camp of the Assyrians an hundred fourscore and five thousand: and when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.
36 So Sennacherib king of Assyria departed, and went and returned, and dwelt at Nineveh.
37 [†] And it came to pass, as he was worshipping in the house of Nisroch his god, that Adrammelech and Sharezer his sons smote him with the sword: and they escaped into the land of Armenia. And Esar-haddon his son reigned in his stead.

2 Kings 20 [†]

1 [†] In those days was Hezekiah sick unto death. And the prophet Isaiah the son of Amoz came to him, and said unto him, Thus saith the Lord, Set thine house in order; for thou shalt die, and not live.
2 Then he turned his face to the wall, and prayed unto the Lord, saying,
3 [†] I beseech thee, O Lord, remember now how I have walked before thee in truth and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in thy sight. And Hezekiah wept sore.
4 [†] And it came to pass, afore Isaiah was gone out into the middle court, that the word of the Lord came to him, saying,
5 Turn again, and tell Hezekiah the captain of my people, Thus saith the Lord, the God of David thy father, I have heard thy prayer, I have seen thy tears: behold, I will heal thee: on the third day thou shalt go up unto the house of the Lord.
6 And I will add unto thy days fifteen years; and I will deliver thee and this city out of the hand of the king of Assyria; and I will defend this city for mine own sake, and for my servant David's sake.
7 [†] And Isaiah said, Take a lump of figs. And they took and laid it on the boil, and he recovered.
8 [†] ¶ And Hezekiah said unto Isaiah, What shall be the sign that the Lord will heal me, and that I shall go up into the house of the Lord the third day?
9 And Isaiah said, This sign shalt thou have of the Lord, that the Lord will do the thing that he hath spoken: shall the shadow go forward ten degrees, or go back ten degrees?
10 And Hezekiah answered, It is a light thing for the shadow to go down ten degrees: nay, but let the shadow return backward ten degrees.
11 [†] And Isaiah the prophet cried unto the Lord: and he brought the shadow ten degrees backward, by which it had gone down in the dial of Ahaz.
12 ¶ At that time Berodach-baladan, the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a present unto Hezekiah: for he had heard that Hezekiah had been sick.
13 [†] And Hezekiah hearkened unto them, and shewed them all the house of his precious things, the silver, and the gold, and the spices, and the precious ointment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his dominion, that Hezekiah shewed them not.
14 ¶ Then came Isaiah the prophet unto king Hezekiah, and said unto him, What said these men? and from whence came they unto thee? And Hezekiah said, They are come from a far country, even from Babylon.
15 And he said, What have they seen in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All the things that are in mine house have they seen: there is nothing among my treasures that I have not shewed them.
16 And Isaiah said unto Hezekiah, Hear the word of the Lord.
17 [†] Behold, the days come, that all that is in thine house, and that which thy fathers have laid up in store unto this day, shall be carried into Babylon: nothing shall be left, saith the Lord.
18 [†] And of thy sons that shall issue from thee, which thou shalt beget, shall they take away; and they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.
19 [†] Then said Hezekiah unto Isaiah, Good is the word of the Lord which thou hast spoken. And he said, Is it not good, if peace and truth be in my days?
20 [†] ¶ And the rest of the acts of Hezekiah, and all his might, and how he made a pool, and a conduit, and brought water into the city, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
21 And Hezekiah slept with his fathers: and Manasseh his son reigned in his stead.

2 Kings 21 [†]

1 [†] Manasseh was twelve years old when he began to reign, and reigned fifty and five years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Hephzi-bah.
2 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord, after the abominations of the heathen, whom the Lord cast out before the children of Israel.
3 [†] For he built up again the high places which Hezekiah his father had destroyed; and he reared up altars for Baal, and made a grove, as did Ahab king of Israel; and worshipped all the host of heaven, and served them.
4 And he built altars in the house of the Lord, of which the Lord said, In Jerusalem will I put my name.
5 And he built altars for all the host of heaven in the two courts of the house of the Lord.
6 [†] And he made his son pass through the fire, and observed times, and used enchantments, and dealt with familiar spirits and wizards: he wrought much wickedness in the sight of the Lord, to provoke him to anger.
7 And he set a graven image of the grove that he had made in the house, of which the Lord said to David, and to Solomon his son, In this house, and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all tribes of Israel, will I put my name for ever:
8 [†] Neither will I make the feet of Israel move any more out of the land which I gave their fathers; only if they will observe to do according to all that I have commanded them, and according to all the law that my servant Moses commanded them.
9 [†] But they hearkened not: and Manasseh seduced them to do more evil than did the nations whom the Lord destroyed before the children of Israel.
10 ¶ And the Lord spake by his servants the prophets, saying,
11 [†] Because Manasseh king of Judah hath done these abominations, and hath done wickedly above all that the Amorites did, which were before him, and hath made Judah also to sin with his idols:
12 [†] Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I am bringing such evil upon Jerusalem and Judah, that whosoever heareth of it, both his ears shall tingle.
13 [†] And I will stretch over Jerusalem the line of Samaria, and the plummet of the house of Ahab: and I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it, and turning it upside down.
14 And I will forsake the remnant of mine inheritance, and deliver them into the hand of their enemies; and they shall become a prey and a spoil to all their enemies;
15 Because they have done that which was evil in my sight, and have provoked me to anger, since the day their fathers came forth out of Egypt, even unto this day.
16 [†] Moreover Manasseh shed innocent blood very much, till he had filled Jerusalem from one end to another; beside his sin wherewith he made Judah to sin, in doing that which was evil in the sight of the Lord.
17 [†] ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Manasseh, and all that he did, and his sin that he sinned, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
18 [†] And Manasseh slept with his fathers, and was buried in the garden of his own house, in the garden of Uzza: and Amon his son reigned in his stead.
19 ¶ Amon was twenty and two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Meshullemeth, the daughter of Haruz of Jotbah.
20 [†] And he did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord, as his father Manasseh did.
21 And he walked in all the way that his father walked in, and served the idols that his father served, and worshipped them:
22 [†] And he forsook the Lord God of his fathers, and walked not in the way of the Lord.

23 ¶ And the servants of Amon conspired against him, and slew the king in his own house.
24 And the people of the land slew all them that had conspired against king Amon; and the people of the land made Josiah his son king in his stead.
25 Now the rest of the acts of Amon which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
26 And he was buried in his sepulchre in the garden of Uzza: and Josiah his son reigned in his stead.

2 Kings 22 [†]

1 Josiah was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned thirty and one years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Jedidah, the daughter of Adaiah of Boscath.
2 And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, and walked in all the way of David his father, and turned not aside to the right hand or to the left.
3 [†] ¶ And it came to pass in the eighteenth year of king Josiah, that the king sent Shaphan the son of Azaliah, the son of Meshullam, the scribe, to the house of the Lord, saying,
4 [†] Go up to Hilkiah the high priest, that he may sum the silver which is brought into the house of the Lord, which the keepers of the door have gathered of the people:
5 And let them deliver it into the hand of the doers of the work, that have the oversight of the house of the Lord: and let them give it to the doers of the work which is in the house of the Lord, to repair the breaches of the house,
6 Unto carpenters, and builders, and masons, and to buy timber and hewn stone to repair the house.
7 [†] Howbeit there was no reckoning made with them of the money that was delivered into their hand, because they dealt faithfully.
8 [†] ¶ And Hilkiah the high priest said unto Shaphan the scribe, I have found the book of the law in the house of the Lord. And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan, and he read it.
9 [†] And Shaphan the scribe came to the king, and brought the king word again, and said, Thy servants have gathered the money that was found in the house, and have delivered it into the hand of them that do the work, that have the oversight of the house of the Lord.
10 And Shaphan the scribe shewed the king, saying, Hilkiah the priest hath delivered me a book. And Shaphan read it before the king.
11 [†] And it came to pass, when the king had heard the words of the book of the law, that he rent his clothes.
12 And the king commanded Hilkiah the priest, and Ahikam the son of Shaphan, and Achbor the son of Michaiah, and Shaphan the scribe, and Asahiah a servant of the king's, saying,
13 Go ye, enquire of the Lord for me, and for the people, and for all Judah, concerning the words of this book that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is kindled against us, because our fathers have not hearkened unto the words of this book, to do according unto all that which is written concerning us.
14 [†] So Hilkiah the priest, and Ahikam, and Achbor, and Shaphan, and Asahiah, went unto Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum the son of Tikvah, the son of Harhas, keeper of the wardrobe; (now she dwelt in Jerusalem in the college;) and they communed with her.
15 ¶ And she said unto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Tell the man that sent you to me,
16 [†] Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring evil upon this place, and upon the inhabitants thereof, even all the words of the book which the king of Judah hath read:
17 Because they have forsaken me, and have burned incense unto other gods, that they might provoke me to anger with all the works of their hands; therefore my wrath shall be kindled against this place, and shall not be quenched.
18 But to the king of Judah which sent you to enquire of the Lord, thus shall ye say to him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, As touching the words which thou hast heard;
19 [†] Because thine heart was tender, and thou hast humbled thyself before the Lord, when thou heardest what I spake against this place, and against the inhabitants thereof, that they should become a desolation and a curse, and hast rent thy clothes, and wept before me; I also have heard thee, saith the Lord.
20 [†] Behold therefore, I will gather thee unto thy fathers, and thou shalt be gathered into thy grave in peace; and thine eyes shall not see all the evil which I will bring upon this place. And they brought the king word again.

2 Kings 23 [†]

1 And the king sent, and they gathered unto him all the elders of Judah and of Jerusalem.
2 [†] And the king went up into the house of the Lord, and all the men of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem with him, and the priests, and the prophets, and all the people, both small and great: and he read in their ears all the words of the book of the covenant which was found in the house of the Lord.
3 [†] ¶ And the king stood by a pillar, and made a covenant before the Lord, to walk after the Lord, and to keep his commandments and his testimonies and his statutes with all their heart and all their soul, to perform the words of this covenant that were written in this book. And all the people stood to the covenant.
4 [†] And the king commanded Hilkiah the high priest, and the priests of the second order, and the keepers of the door, to bring forth out of the temple of the Lord all the vessels that were made for Baal, and for the grove, and for all the host of heaven: and he burned them without Jerusalem in the fields of Kidron, and carried the ashes of them unto Beth-el.
5 And he put down the idolatrous priests, whom the kings of Judah had ordained to burn incense in the high places in the cities of Judah, and in the places round about Jerusalem; them also that burned incense unto Baal, to the sun, and to the moon, and to the planets, and to all the host of heaven.
6 [†] And he brought out the grove from the house of the Lord, without Jerusalem, unto the brook Kidron, and burned it at the brook Kidron, and stamped it small to powder, and cast the powder thereof upon the graves of the children of the people.
7 [†] And he brake down the houses of the sodomites, that were by the house of the Lord, where the women wove hangings for the grove.
8 [†] And he brought all the priests out of the cities of Judah, and defiled the high places where the priests had burned incense, from Geba to Beer-sheba, and brake down the high places of the gates that were in the entering in of the gate of Joshua the governor of the city, which were on a man's left hand at the gate of the city.
9 Nevertheless the priests of the high places came not up to the altar of the Lord in Jerusalem, but they did eat of the unleavened bread among their brethren.
10 [†] And he defiled Topheth, which is in the valley of the children of Hinnom, that no man might make his son or his daughter to pass through the fire to Molech.
11 [†] And he took away the horses that the kings of Judah had given to the sun, at the entering in of the house of the Lord, by the chamber of Nathan-melech the chamberlain, which was in the suburbs, and burned the chariots of the sun with fire.
12 And the altars that were on the top of the upper chamber of Ahaz, which the kings of Judah had made, and the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courts of the house of the Lord, did the king beat down, and brake them down from thence, and cast the dust of them into the brook Kidron.
13 [†] And the high places that were before Jerusalem, which were on the right hand of the mount of corruption, which Solomon the king of Israel had builded for Ashtoreth the abomination of the Zidonians, and for Chemosh the abomination of the Moabites, and for Milcom the abomination of the children of Ammon, did the king defile.
14 And he brake in pieces the images, and cut down the groves, and filled their places with the bones of men.
15 ¶ Moreover the altar that was at Beth-el, and the high place which Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin, had made, both that altar and the high place he brake down, and burned the high place, and stamped it small to powder, and burned the grove.
16 [†] And as Josiah turned himself, he spied the sepulchres that were there in the mount, and sent, and took the bones out of the sepulchres, and burned them upon the altar, and polluted it, according to the word of the LORD which the man of God proclaimed, who proclaimed these words.

17 Then he said, What title is that that I see? And the men of the city told him, It is the sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Judah, and proclaimed these things that thou hast done against the altar of Beth-el.
18 And he said, Let him alone; let no man move his bones. So they let his bones alone, with the bones of the prophet that came out of Samaria.
19 [†] And all the houses also of the high places that were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to provoke the LORD to anger, Josiah took away, and did to them according to all the acts that he had done in Beth-el.
20 [†] And he slew all the priests of the high places that were there upon the altars, and burned men's bones upon them, and returned to Jerusalem.
21 ¶ And the king commanded all the people, saying, Keep the passover unto the LORD your God, as it is written in the book of this covenant.
22 [†] Surely there was not holden such a passover from the days of the judges that judged Israel, nor in all the days of the kings of Israel, nor of the kings of Judah;
23 But in the eighteenth year of king Josiah, wherein this passover was holden to the LORD in Jerusalem.
24 ¶ Moreover the workers with familiar spirits, and the wizards, and the images, and the idols, and all the abominations that were spied in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, did Josiah put away, that he might perform the words of the law which were written in the book that Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the LORD.
25 And like unto him was there no king before him, that turned to the LORD with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his might, according to all the law of Moses; neither after him arose there any like him.
26 [†] ¶ Notwithstanding the LORD turned not from the fierceness of his great wrath, wherewith his anger was kindled against Judah, because of all the provocations that Manasseh had provoked him withal.
27 [†] And the LORD said, I will remove Judah also out of my sight, as I have removed Israel, and will cast off this city Jerusalem which I have chosen, and the house of which I said, My name shall be there.
28 [†] Now the rest of the acts of Josiah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
29 [†] ¶ In his days Pharaoh-nechoh king of Egypt went up against the king of Assyria to the river Euphrates: and king Josiah went against him; and he slew him at Megiddo, when he had seen him.
30 And his servants carried him in a chariot dead from Megiddo, and brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his own sepulchre. And the people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah, and anointed him, and made him king in his father's stead.
31 [†] ¶ Jehoahaz was twenty and three years old when he began to reign; and he reigned three months in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.
32 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his fathers had done.
33 [†] And Pharaoh-nechoh put him in bands at Riblah in the land of Hamath, that he might not reign in Jerusalem; and put the land to a tribute of an hundred talents of silver, and a talent of gold.
34 [†] And Pharaoh-nechoh made Eliakim the son of Josiah king in the room of Josiah his father, and turned his name to Jehoiakim, and took Jehoahaz away: and he came to Egypt, and died there.
35 And Jehoiakim gave the silver and the gold to Pharaoh; but he taxed the land to give the money according to the commandment of Pharaoh: he exacted the silver and the gold of the people of the land, of every one according to his taxation, to give it unto Pharaoh-nechoh.
36 ¶ Jehoiakim was twenty and five years old when he began to reign; and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Zebudah, the daughter of Pedaiah of Rumah.

37 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his fathers had done.

2 Kings 24 [†]

1 [†] In his days Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up, and Jehoiakim became his servant three years: then he turned and rebelled against him.
2 And the Lord sent against him bands of the Chaldees, and bands of the Syrians, and bands of the Moabites, and bands of the children of Ammon, and sent them against Judah to destroy it, according to the word of the Lord, which he spake by his servants the prophets.
3 [†] Surely at the commandment of the Lord came this upon Judah, to remove them out of his sight, for the sins of Manasseh, according to all that he did;
4 And also for the innocent blood that he shed: for he filled Jerusalem with innocent blood; which the Lord would not pardon.
5 [†] ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Jehoiakim, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
6 So Jehoiakim slept with his fathers: and Jehoiachin his son reigned in his stead.
7 And the king of Egypt came not again any more out of his land: for the king of Babylon had taken from the river of Egypt unto the river Euphrates all that pertained to the king of Egypt.
8 ¶ Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he began to reign, and he reigned in Jerusalem three months. And his mother's name was Nehushta, the daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem.
9 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father had done.
10 ¶ At that time the servants of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up against Jerusalem, and the city was besieged.
11 And Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came against the city, and his servants did besiege it.
12 [†] And Jehoiachin the king of Judah went out to the king of Babylon, he, and his mother, and his servants, and his princes, and his officers: and the king of Babylon took him in the eighth year of his reign.
13 And he carried out thence all the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king's house, and cut in pieces all the vessels of gold which Solomon king of Israel had made in the temple of the Lord, as the Lord had said.
14 And he carried away all Jerusalem, and all the princes, and all the mighty men of valour, even ten thousand captives, and all the craftsmen and smiths: none remained, save the poorest sort of the people of the land.
15 And he carried away Jehoiachin to Babylon, and the king's mother, and the king's wives, and his officers, and the mighty of the land, those carried he into captivity from Jerusalem to Babylon.
16 And all the men of might, even seven thousand, and craftsmen and smiths a thousand, all that were strong and apt for war, even them the king of Babylon brought captive to Babylon.
17 ¶ And the king of Babylon made Mattaniah his father's brother king in his stead, and changed his name to Zedekiah.
18 Zedekiah was twenty and one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.
19 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord, according to all that Jehoiakim had done.
20 For through the anger of the Lord it came to pass in Jerusalem and Judah, until he had cast them out from his presence, that Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

2 Kings 25 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came, he, and all his host, against Jerusalem, and pitched against it; and they built forts against it round about.
2 And the city was besieged unto the eleventh year of king Zedekiah.
3 And on the ninth day of the fourth month the famine prevailed in the city, and there was no bread for the people of the land.
4 ¶ And the city was broken up, and all the men of war fled by night by the way of the gate between two walls, which is by the king's garden: (now the Chaldees were against the city round about:) and the king went the way toward the plain.
5 And the army of the Chaldees pursued after the king, and overtook him in the plains of Jericho: and all his army were scattered from him.
6 [†] So they took the king, and brought him up to the king of Babylon to Riblah; and they gave judgment upon him.
7 [†] And they slew the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes, and put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and bound him with fetters of brass, and carried him to Babylon.
8 ¶ And in the fifth month, on the seventh day of the month, which is the nineteenth year of king Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, came Nebuzar-adan, captain of the guard, a servant of the king of Babylon, unto Jerusalem:
9 [†] And he burnt the house of the Lord, and the king's house, and all the houses of Jerusalem, and every great man's house burnt he with fire.
10 And all the army of the Chaldees, that were with the captain of the guard, brake down the walls of Jerusalem round about.
11 Now the rest of the people that were left in the city, and the fugitives that fell away to the king of Babylon, with the remnant of the multitude, did Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard carry away.
12 [†] But the captain of the guard left of the poor of the land to be vinedressers and husbandmen.
13 [†] And the pillars of brass that were in the house of the Lord, and the bases, and the brasen sea that was in the house of the Lord, did the Chaldees break in pieces, and carried the brass of them to Babylon.
14 And the pots, and the shovels, and the snuffers, and the spoons, and all the vessels of brass wherewith they ministered, took they away.
15 And the firepans, and the bowls, and such things as were of gold, in gold, and of silver, in silver, the captain of the guard took away.
16 [†] The two pillars, one sea, and the bases which Solomon had made for the house of the Lord; the brass of all these vessels was without weight.
17 [†] The height of the one pillar was eighteen cubits, and the chapiter upon it was brass: and the height of the chapiter three cubits; and the wreathen work, and pomegranates upon the chapiter round about, all of brass: and like unto these had the second pillar with wreathen work.
18 ¶ And the captain of the guard took Seraiah the chief priest, and Zephaniah the second priest, and the three keepers of the door:
19 [†] And out of the city he took an officer that was set over the men of war, and five men of them that were in the king's presence, which were found in the city, and the principal scribe of the host, which mustered the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land that were found in the city:
20 And Nebuzar-adan captain of the guard took these, and brought them to the king of Babylon to Riblah:

21 And the king of Babylon smote them, and slew them at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Judah was carried away out of their land.
22 [†] ¶ And as for the people that remained in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had left, even over them he made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, ruler.
23 And when all the captains of the armies, they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah governor, there came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, even Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and Johanan the son of Careah, and Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah the son of a Maachathite, they and their men.
24 [†] And Gedaliah sware to them, and to their men, and said unto them, Fear not to be the servants of the Chaldees: dwell in the land, and serve the king of Babylon; and it shall be well with you.
25 [†] But it came to pass in the seventh month, that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, of the seed royal, came, and ten men with him, and smote Gedaliah, that he died, and the Jews and the Chaldees that were with him at Mizpah.
26 And all the people, both small and great, and the captains of the armies, arose, and came to Egypt: for they were afraid of the Chaldees.
27 [†] ¶ And it came to pass in the seven and thirtieth year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the seven and twentieth day of the month, that Evil-merodach king of Babylon in the year that he began to reign did lift up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah out of prison;
28 And he spake kindly to him, and set his throne above the throne of the kings that were with him in Babylon;
29 And changed his prison garments: and he did eat bread continually before him all the days of his life.
30 And his allowance was a continual allowance given him of the king, a daily rate for every day, all the days of his life.

NOTES ON THE BOOK OF

2 KINGS

THE DISPUTE OF ELIJAH AND ELISHA FOR THE LORD (1 KINGS 16:29—2 KINGS 13:25)

The Ministry of Elijah against Ahab's House (1 Kings 16:29—2 Kings 1:18)

Chapter 1: Elijah finishes his ministry by announcing the certain death of Ahaziah, Ahab's son.

1:1 Moab rebelled against Israel. The Moabite Stone or Mesha inscription notes this rebellion (see note at 1 Kings 16:23).

1:2 lattice. Ornamental grating or railing. Baal-zebub. Literally, "the lord of flies," a contemptuous alteration of the Canaanite title Baal-zebul, meaning "the lord prince" (see note at 1 Kings 16:32). In New Testament times this became a designation for the Devil (Matt. 12:24; Mark 3:22).

1:8 hairy man. Literally, "a baal (owner) of hairiness." girt with a girdle. Waistcoat of skin or leather was wrapped around his hips.

1:9 man of God. Prophet.

1:10 let fire come down. Ironically, Elijah's call for fire, perhaps lightning, demonstrates Jehovah's superiority over Baal (see note at 1 Kings 18:38).

1:15 the angel of the LORD. An expression that usually refers to a Christophany, a pre-incarnate appearance of the second person of the Trinity, the messenger who is Jehovah (Gen. 16:7; Ex. 3:2; 23:20–23).

1:17 Jehoram. Ahaziah's brother, another son of Ahab (3:1).

1:18 chronicles. An uninspired record of the king's career that has not been preserved.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 1

1. Calling down fire from heaven was an unmistakable sign of divine power. But even beyond the immediate consequence, it was another demonstration of Jehovah's superiority over Baal. We know from Canaanite literature that fire, and particularly lightning, was considered to be Baal's domain. One common image of Baal depicts him as holding a bolt of lightning as his scepter. Ironically, those going to seek Baal met the real God, who controlled every force of nature as the Creator. They were seeking help in the wrong place. It is only in the one true and living God that we can find the help we need, regardless of the need. We should never follow the ways of the world and its perceived notions. Our dependence is on the Lord.
2. The Lord will punish with fire those who seek to destroy His servants. This is not a justification for taking personal vengeance, nor a promise of immediate judgment on the wicked—now is the time of enduring affliction for the sake of the gospel (Luke 9:54–56). However, the time will come when the fire will fall, and those who have conspired to destroy the church will face the wrath of Christ (Rev. 20:9). How can this give hope to persecuted believers?

Chapter 2: Elijah ascends into heaven, and Elisha begins his ministry.

The Glorification of Elijah and Empowerment of Elisha (2 Kings 2:1–25)

2:1 whirlwind. Gale or windstorm. Canaanite references to Baal depict him as riding the clouds. So, even in leaving this world Elijah demonstrates God's control over what was perceived to be Baal's domain.

2:3 the sons of the prophets. Those who occupied the prophetic office, not prophets-in-training (1 Kings 20:35). The Hebrew uses the word "son" to refer to a category or class of something.

2:3 from thy head. Elijah served as Elisha's mentor and held the predominant place.

2:8 mantle. Robe (v. 13). waters . . . were divided. Repetition of Joshua's crossing of the Jordan to lead Israel into the inheritance of Canaan (Josh. 3:15–17) and reminder of the salvation of Israel from the forces of Egypt at the Red Sea (Ex. 14:1–31). Even centuries later Israel could trust that their Redeemer remained the same.

2:9 double portion. Literally, "mouth of two," an idiom for two parts. Elisha recognized that without divine aid he could not conduct the ministry before him.

2:10–11 taken from thee. Same word used of God's taking Enoch to heaven (Gen. 5:24; cf. Heb. 11:5) and the psalmist's hope for God's receiving him into heavenly glory (Ps. 73:24). chariot of fire. Elijah was physically taken up into heaven by a heavenly chariot (2 Kings 6:17), evidence of the Old Testament hope of heaven. He and Enoch are the only two men mentioned in Scripture who ascended to heaven without seeing death. Heaven is a real place, where even people in physical bodies can exist.

2:12 chariot of Israel, and the horsemen thereof. Elijah symbolized the real strength of Israel, as his prayers and doctrine were more powerful than all its horses and chariots.

2:15 bowed themselves. A gesture of respect, not worship.

2:16 peradventure. Perhaps.

2:19 the situation . . . is pleasant. The location is good. naught. Bad. the ground barren. Literally, "the land is causing miscarriage," an idiom describing its failure to produce crops.

2:20 cruse. Bottle or jar.

2:23 Beth-el. Literally, "house of God," but referred to as Beth-aven, literally, "house of wickedness" (Hos. 4:15; 10:5). little children. The reference is not age specific but probably points to teens or young adults who were products of their environment, showing no respect for God or His prophet. go up. Perhaps a wish that he would leave the earth as his master had—an implicit threat (same verb as in 2 Kings 2:1,11). To mock the messenger is to mock the message along with the One who sent the messenger.

2:24 cursed them. Not from personal vindictiveness but because God's honor was at stake.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 2

1. Elijah's ascent to heaven without dying was a final act of humiliating Baal and glorifying Jehovah, since Baal was the rider of clouds who supposedly had power over death. This is one of the principal passages in the Old Testament dealing with life after death, showing that the Old Testament saints had essentially the same hope as the New Testament saints. Absence from the body is presence with the Lord (2 Cor. 5:8). God will take all who are His into His very presence.
2. The ascension of Elijah foreshadowed the ascension of Jesus Christ, who also physically went up into heaven attended by angels (Acts 1:9–11). His mantle of spiritual power has fallen upon the church, filled with the Spirit of Christ to continue His mission (2:1–47). Christ will return, calling His people up to meet Him in the sky so that they will be with the Lord forever (1 Thess. 4:13–18).
3. In all likelihood the young people who mocked the prophet echoed what they had learned at home.

Beth-el had earned the name Beth-aven, as God had been replaced with wickedness. Exposing children to vicious criticism of God's servants can have devastating effects. Christian parents should raise their children in the fear of the Lord, teaching them to honor God and those who preach the Word.

The Ministry of Elisha against Ahab's House (2 Kings 3:1—10:36)

Chapter 3: With the help of God, a coalition among Israel, Judah, and Edom put down the Moabite rebellion.

3:2 the image of Baal that his father had made. See 1 Kings 16:32.

3:3 cleaved unto the sins of Jeroboam. Maintained the state religion instituted by Jeroboam (1 Kings 12:28).

3:4 sheepmaster. A breeder of sheep, one of the chief industries of Moab. This provided part of the tribute demanded by the house of Omri.

3:5 Moab rebelled. Delineates the details of the rebellion mentioned in 1:1.

3:7 Jehoshaphat continued the alliance with Israel that had begun with Ahab.

3:9 king of Edom. A governor who ruled over Edom on behalf of the king of Judah (1 Kings 22:47). fetched a compass. Literally, "encircled a way," marched around. host. Camp, referring to the army.

3:11 Is there not here a prophet. Jehoshaphat's question is the same one as when he had fought with Ahab (1 Kings 22:5,7). poured water on the hands. A gesture expressing service to someone.

3:13 What have I to do with thee? Elisha declares that there was no point of contact with the king of Israel, nothing in common. This should have been Jehoshaphat's attitude as well.

3:14 regard the presence of Jehoshaphat. Recognize the legitimacy of the Southern Kingdom, established by the covenant with David (2 Sam. 7). The presence of the son of David brings blessing.

3:15 minstrel. Musician (1 Sam. 16:16–18,23). Music was associated with prophetic activity (2 Kings 10:5).

3:16 Make this valley full of ditches. Dig cisterns in the wadi or dry river bed.

3:19 fenced. Fortified.

3:20 there came water. Flashfloods coming from the mountains of Edom filled the valley or river beds, providing abundance of water for the men and their animals.

3:21 upward. At a high vantage point.

3:22 as red as blood. The rising sun shone on the water, reflecting the red sandstone of Edom, which the Moabites mistook for blood.

3:26 sore. Severe.

3:27 offered him for a burnt offering. Most likely to Chemosh, the national deity or Baal of Moab. Such was forbidden by God (Lev. 18:21; 20:2; Deut. 18:10). great indignation against Israel. The Moabites, stirred by their leader's horrible sacrifice, rallied against Israel and drove them back.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 3

1. Though Jehoshaphat's alliance with Israel was questionable, it was his presence that caused the prophet to seek the Lord on behalf of the coalition. God's children should be a blessing for those around them. There is a principle that the presence of the remnant is a preserving influence. Isaiah said that were it not for the remnant the nation would have been like Sodom (Isa. 1:9). The Lord Jesus expressed this in terms of being salt (Luke 14:34). Salt is a preserving agent, but it is also a source for irritation and aggravation to a sore spot. We are in the world but cannot be of the world or like the world. We should strive to be the kind of influence in society that reflects well on the Lord. Before Jehoshaphat sought the Lord, he too shared in confusion; blessing came when he asked for God's guidance through the Word of the Lord. So it is with us.

2. The Lord's instruction to "make this valley full of ditches" (2 Kings 3:16) is suggestive. God was going to do the miraculous in defeating the Moabites, but He wanted the people to prepare for the blessing of deliverance. Digging the ditches beforehand was an expression of their confidence that God would work. The spiritual application is significant: we should make due preparation of our hearts in anticipation of the Lord's blessing. There is a sense in which before every Sabbath worship we should "dig some ditches" in preparation for and anticipation of being filled with all that the Lord has in store for us. God says, "Open thy mouth wide, and I will fill it" (Ps. 81:10).

Chapter 4: Elisha performs miracles on behalf of two women and a group of fellow prophets.

4:1 woman of the wives of the sons of the prophets. Her husband was a prophet. sons to be bondmen. This was prohibited by the law, which said that debtors could become indentured servants but could not be enslaved (Lev. 25:39–41).

4:2 save. Except.

4:6 the oil stayed. Literally, "the oil stood," meaning that it stopped flowing. Oil is sometimes a symbol of the Holy Spirit (1 Sam. 10:1,6; 16:13; Isa. 61:1,3; Zech. 4), and God has an inexhaustible supply of the Spirit to pour out through Christ to meet the needs of His people (John 3:34; 7:37–39; Eph. 3:16–17).

4:7 man of God. Prophet (vv. 9,21–22).

4:8 Shunem. Sixteen miles southwest of the Sea of Galilee, a central location for someone traveling in Israel.

4:8 great woman. She was great in wealth, and reputation.

4:13 careful . . . this care. Literally, "you have trembled with all this trembling," expressing that she had gone to a lot of trouble and shown him great respect. I dwell among mine own people. An expression of contentment.

4:17 bare a son. The Lord often showed special mercy on barren women, such as Rebekah (Gen. 25:21), Hannah (1 Sam. 1:1–28), and the wife of Manoah (Judg. 13:1–25).

4:18 fell on a day. Happened one day.

4:23 neither new moon, nor sabbath. Expressing doubt that the prophet could be found, since it was not a religious day.

4:24 slack not thy riding. Do not check your riding; do not slow down on my account.

4:26 It is well. Showing astonishing submission in the midst of great need.

4:27 caught him by the feet. Detained him from a sense of urgency and need. vexed. Troubled.

4:29 Gird up thy loins. Put a belt around your waist to get ready for action. staff. A symbol of God's power; the Lord had worked many miracles through the staff of Moses (Ex. 4:2–4,17,20; 7:1—10:29; 14:16; 17:5,9; Num. 20:8–11). salute. To bless, a term of greeting.

4:33 them twain. The two of them.

4:34 lay upon the child. As did Elijah in a similar case (1 Kings 17:21). Corpses were unclean, and touching one would have excluded a person from public worship (Num. 19:11–13). waxed. Became. The connection of mouth, eyes, and hands suggests a union or bond, as if the prophet shared his breath, sight, and strength with the child. This is a shadow of union with Christ in His resurrection power (Eph. 2:5–6).

4:35 to and fro. Back and forth.

4:38 dearth. Famine. seethe pottage. Boil food, like lentil soup.

4:40 death. A figure of speech where the effect stands for the cause: there was something poisonous in the pot, causing death.

4:41 meal. Flour.

4:43 servitor. Attendant or waiter.

4:44 did eat, and left thereof, according to the word of the LORD. The Word of God has power to supply all our needs (Deut. 8:3). Christ also fed many with just a little food, and there were leftovers, showing that He is the all-sufficient Bread of Life (John 6:1–14,35).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 4

1. In His providence God takes His people through hard times, but always ultimately for their good. The widow suffered bereavement, debt, and potential bondage, but the Lord had not forsaken her. He had brought her to this low position to make her like the empty vessels in her home so that He could fill her with His grace. Similarly, the Lord uses trials to empty His children of their self-sufficiency so that He can lovingly fill them with His Spirit. How has God been doing this for you through your afflictions?
2. God is no man's debtor. The Lord Jesus said, "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you" (Matt. 6:33). The widow had been the wife of a preacher, and after his death God was more than a husband to her, meeting all her financial needs. For her part, the Shunammite went out of her way to provide for the prophet, and God repaid her kindness with a son. The prophets were servants of the Lord, and He provided their food even during the famine. In one way or another God takes care of His own.
3. Elisha's strange method of raising the boy from the dead is a wonderful picture of the saving work of Jesus Christ. Christ embraced His people when they were spiritual corpses, taking the uncleanness of their sins upon Himself and so closely uniting them to Himself that when He rose they too rose from the dead. Look to Christ, and He will be your life, your sight, and your strength each day.

Chapter 5: Elisha prescribes the way for Naaman to be healed of his leprosy.

5:1 captain of the host. Chief leader over the Syrian army. The LORD had given deliverance. The God of Israel gave Syria victory, a testimony to God's sovereignty and providence even over those who do not recognize Him as God. leper. Having a skin disease that in Israel would have excluded him from God's holy presence (Lev. 13:45–46; Num. 5:1–3). Leprosy was sometimes a sign of God's judgment (Num. 12:9–16; Deut. 24:8–9; 2 Sam. 3:29; 2 Kings 15:5; 2 Chron. 26:19–23).

5:2 companies. Marauding bands or raiders.

5:3 Would. Hebrew, "I wish," or "If only," an expression of desire.

5:5 talents. About 66 pounds (v. 22). Ten talents of silver is an enormous amount of money; King Omri had paid only two talents for the hill of Samaria (1 Kings 16:24).

5:7 rent his clothes. Gesture expressing grief or sorrow, here also anxiety. seeketh a quarrel against me. Literally, "is seeking an occasion or opportunity against me."

5:8 man of God. Prophet (vv. 15,20).

5:11 wroth. Furious. strike. Wave.

5:14 little child. Same phrase used of the "little maid" from Israel who had told Naaman of Elijah (2 Kings 5). A picture of conversion: proud Naaman had become a new, humble, childlike, clean man (Matt. 18:3; Titus 3:5–7).

5:15 blessing. Gift.

5:16 I will receive none. Elisha swears by the Lord that he may not receive any payment, lest he be under God's punishment. God's gifts are the result of free grace.

5:17 two mules' burden of earth. A load that can be carried by a pair of mules. Although not perfect, this appears to have been a genuine conversion, pointing to and anticipating the inclusion of Gentiles in Christ's kingdom. Most Gentile conversions in the Old Testament required submission to all the legal and ceremonial demands.

5:18–19 Rimmon. National deity of Syria. he leaneth on my hand. An expression for Naaman's position as an important official in the king's service, his right-hand man (7:2,17). Elisha recognizes Naaman's dilemma, as well as his heart's desire, so sends him away in peace, implying that all will be well (1 Sam. 1:17; 20:42).

5:20 this Syrian. Words of contempt. The Lord's healing of a Syrian confronted Israel with its racial pride (Luke 4:27–28).

5:21 lighted down. Literally, "fell from the chariot," indicating that he got down quickly. Is all well? Literally, "Peace?"

5:24 tower. Fortified mound or hill within a city.

5:25 no wither. Nowhere; Hebrew, "neither here nor there."

5:26 Went not mine heart with thee. The prophet's supernatural knowledge shows that the Lord knows all things and sees through all the lies of hypocrites.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 5

1. Leprosy is a picture of sin and the uncleanness that prevents any relationship with God. When Naaman first learned the prescribed manner of cleansing, he rejected it as being too demeaning and too simple. He was ready to do anything and pay any price (v. 13), but to humble himself by doing nothing other than obeying the prophet's word to wash in the Jordan repulsed him. That is so often the sinner's reaction to the gospel message. Sinners think they have to add something on their own. Indeed, they want to merit something. It is humbling to acknowledge that there is nothing one can add or contribute to salvation, which comes only from taking God at His word. But until a sinner so humbles himself he remains unchanged. Salvation is by grace, through faith, without works (Eph. 2:8–9).
2. Gehazi is a portrait of a hypocrite. Like Judas at the feet of Jesus, so Gehazi at the feet of Elisha did not take into his heart the benefits of the grace that surrounded him. Hypocrites are not what they appear to be. Gehazi lived in a good environment, knew the language of Zion, and had the respect of men. He fooled Naaman with his lies. However, a hypocrite cannot fool God. The eyes of the Lord see the evil and the good. God will judge hypocrites. In a great reversal, the outsider to Israel was healed, but the servant of the prophet was struck with leprosy. Remember that God knows us for what we really are; that ought to drive us to Christ as our only hope. There is hope for the hypocrite who repents and seeks the Lord with all his heart.

Chapter 6: Elisha miraculously intervenes on behalf of his fellow prophets and becomes involved in the conflicts between Syria and Israel.

6:1 sons of the prophets. Group of prophets. strait. Cramped or small.

6:2 we pray thee. The Hebrew is "please" or "now."

6:3 Be content, I pray thee. Literally, "be willing, please."

6:5 the axe head. Literally, "the iron," referring to the axe head. Iron was an expensive commodity, not easily replaced.

6:6 man of God. Prophet (vv. 9,15). the iron did swim. Literally, "he made the iron to float."

6:10 not once nor twice. Repeatedly on multiple occasions.

6:11 sore troubled. Enraged. which of us is for the king of Israel? He assumed that a traitor was among them.

6:13 spy. See. fetch. Take.

6:14 great host. Large army. compassed. Surrounded (v. 15).

6:15 how shall we do? What shall we do?—a question revealing his anxiety.

6:17 he saw. He was enabled to see the spiritual reality that had been present before he saw. horses and chariots. The angelic army assembled for their protection.

6:18 blindness. The Hebrew refers to "dazzling light," occurring only here and in Gen. 19:11. So bright was the light that they lost vision, resulting in confusion.

6:23 the bands. Specifically, marauding bands, not the Syrian army that would soon be mustered against Samaria (v. 24).

6:25 cab. Dry measure of about 3.5 pints.

6:29 we boiled my son. This gruesome cannibalism was predicted by the Lord as a punishment for forsaking His ways (Lev. 26:29; Deut. 28:53).

6:30 he rent his clothes . . . sackcloth. Expressions of grief and sorrow.

6:32 ere. Before.

6:32 hold him fast at the door. Elisha commands that they drive the messenger with force out of the door so that Elisha can continue his prophetic ministry. Elisha already heard the sound of his master's feet behind him, meaning that the king would soon follow this messenger and speak personally to Elisha.

6:33 evil. Calamity.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 6

1. Elisha's ministry was marked by miracles. Some were big; others were small and personal. But all demonstrated the absolute ability of God and His supremacy over all His creation. The floating of the iron axe head was personal yet instructive, apart from the surface warning it provides against borrowing (Prov. 22:7). The prophets were engaged in the work of the kingdom. Then something happened that stopped progress: they lost the axe head. Today that seems to be such a small problem, as a new axe could be attained quite easily. But that was not the case then. They were doing their best, and now a situation had occurred that was beyond their ability to remedy; there seemed to be no hope for going forward. Something extraordinary had to happen. The lesson is that God is not hindered by obstacles—sinking iron was no problem for Him. He caused the iron to float, and the work continued. There may be times when the church today seems to have lost its axe, the power and means to do its work. The answer is prayer. How should you be praying that God will "float the ax" for your church?

2. Elisha's prayer for God to open the eyes of his servant to see the angelic army surrounding the enemy that was surrounding them should encourage all of God's people. The servant's eyes being opened did not bring the angelic army but rather revealed what was already there. Before his eyes were opened he saw only the danger. Physical sight sees only what appears; spiritual sight (faith) sees what really is. The angel of the Lord encamps around about those that fear Him (Ps. 34:7). Our inability to see him with the physical eye does not negate the fact that he is there. We are to walk by faith and not by sight. This is the way to peace and joy.

Chapter 7: Elisha's prediction of the end of the famine caused by the Syrian siege is precisely fulfilled.

7:1 shekel. Weight just under one-half ounce. Most likely referring to a weight of silver. Food would be in such abundance that it would be sold for very low prices. Contrast this with the enormous prices for disgusting food (6:25).

7:2 lord. Adjutant or officer assisting the king. man of God. Prophet.

7:3 four leprous men. Legally ostracized from the community (Lev. 13:46).

7:4 let us fall unto the host of the Syrians. They resolved to desert to or surrender themselves to the camp of the Syrians, seeing this as their only hope of survival.

7:6–7 Without human instrument, the Lord confused and scattered the Syrians, the first step in fulfilling Elisha's prediction.

7:9 mischief. The Hebrew word is "punishment." Only after they had eaten their fill and taken abundant spoil for themselves did it register with them to share, the second step in fulfilling Elisha's prediction.

7:10–11 porter. Gatekeeper.

7:16 The first prediction was fulfilled (v. 1). This confirmed the legitimacy of Elisha's ministry (Deut. 18:22).

7:17–20 The second prediction was fulfilled precisely.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 7

1. This episode detailing the prophetic prediction, followed immediately by the details of the fulfillment, is instructive as to how we ought to understand those parts of God's Word that have yet to be fulfilled. A key purpose of predictive prophecy is to demonstrate the sovereignty of God over all time and circumstance. Declaring the end from the beginning is evidence of deity (Isa. 41:21–29). There can be no doubt from this chapter that every detail of the prophecy was specifically fulfilled. Yet Elisha did not reveal all the specific details in the prophecy as to how the fulfillment would take place. He made no reference to the Syrian retreat, the lepers' role, or the mocker's inability to control the crowd that led to his seeing the supply of cheap food without experiencing

it. Enough details are given to affirm the certainty, but not so much as to replace faith by sight. Prophecy is not to produce fatalism but faith. So as we consider the great things about the future that God has revealed in His Word, we should have the confident assurance that everything God says will happen is going to happen. Even if we can't sort out all of the details of prophecy, let us learn to trust God now.

2. The initial behavior of the lepers was tragic in their selfish thoughtlessness for others. They gorged themselves with food and stashed away as much spoil as they could gather. Thankfully, they came to their senses. Even more tragic is how their behavior mirrors that of many Christians who enjoy the benefits and blessings of salvation but never share the good news of the gospel with those who are starving for truth all around them. May the Lord bring every believer to recognize the obligation to share the gospel with a lost and dying world. For whose salvation are you praying? With whom are you seeking to share the gospel?

Chapter 8: Elisha intervenes on behalf of the woman whose son he has raised and then declares that Hazael will be king over Syria, after which attention is given to kings in Judah.

8:1 whose son he had restored to life. See 4:34. sojourn. Dwell as a resident alien (8:2). The famine ended before Gehazi (v. 4) became a leper (5:1–27). The events of these chapters are not in chronological order.

8:7 Elisha came to Damascus. To fulfill the mission the Lord had given to Elijah (1 Kings 19:15–17). man of God. Prophet. hither. Here.

8:10 The king's sickness was not fatal, but his death was certain.

8:11 settled his countenance stedfastly. Literally, "caused his face to stand and put (it in place)," having the idea that he stared straight ahead.

8:12 evil. The harm that Hazael would do (10:32–33).

8:15 Hazael took matters into his own hands by murdering his master, thus demonstrating the ruthlessness Elisha lamented.

8:18 he walked in the way of the kings of Israel. A tragic comparison for a king of Judah. His marriage to the daughter of Ahab was most likely a component of the alliance between his father and Ahab, a common practice in that ancient world. Jehoshaphat failed to see the far-reaching consequences of his association with Ahab. This daughter was Athaliah (v. 26), who not only influenced Jehoram for evil but was guilty of a treason that threatened to destroy the royal line (11:1–21).

8:19 alway a light. See note at 1 Kings 11:36.

8:21 compassed him about. Surrounded him.

8:22 Libnah. A Levitical city (Josh. 21:13).

8:23 chronicles. An uninspired record that has not been preserved.

8:26 daughter of Omri. In fact, the granddaughter of Omri. It is not uncommon in Hebrew statements of ancestry to skip a generation, here linking her to the founder of the dynasty (1 Kings 16:16–28).

8:27 The wickedness extended to yet another generation (see note at v. 18).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 8

1. Jeremiah declared that the "heart is . . . desperately wicked," beyond comprehension (Jer. 17:9). It is rare that sinners recognize the depths of their sin nature and what they are capable of doing.

When Elisha told Hazael the heinous things he was going to do, he immediately protested that he was incapable of such atrocities (2 Kings 8:12–13). Yet the very next day he committed coldblooded murder (v. 15). We must understand the wickedness of the human heart and admit that apart from the grace of God every man has within him the ability to commit the darkest of sins. Those who profess to have experienced God's grace must live daily in dependence on that grace, praying that the Lord will preserve them from evil.

2. Jehoshaphat in many ways was a good king, but his alliance with Ahab put in motion circumstances that threatened the continuation of the Davidic line. His son and grandson were so wicked that their careers were compared to that of Ahab, the worst of Israel's kings. Much of their sin is traced to the influence of Athaliah, the daughter of Ahab and Jezebel, the wife of Jehoram, and the mother of Ahaziah. This was a marriage fostered by Jehoshaphat's compromise with Ahab. Let us be warned, and let us be cautious regarding the unforeseen effects of sins. The best way to avoid the future consequences of sin is to resist the temptation to sin now.

Chapter 9: Jehu is anointed as king in Israel and is commissioned to execute God's judgment against the house of Ahab.

9:1 children of the prophets. Usually translated "sons of the prophets," referring to the order of prophets. This man is also designated simply as "the prophet" (v. 4). Gird up thy loins. Put a belt around your waist, an idiom for getting ready to do something. box. Small jug or flask (v. 3).

9:2 son of Jehoshaphat. Not the king of Judah.

9:3 anointed. This is the verbal root of the word "messiah," which means "one who has been anointed." Kings, prophets, and priests were anointed to their functions with oil, symbolizing empowerment by the Holy Spirit to fulfill their tasks (Ex. 28:41; 1 Sam. 16:13; 1 Kings 19:16). Every prophet, priest, and king was a lesser messiah who by virtue of their office pointed to the coming of the ideal Messiah, the One who in His single person was Prophet, Priest, and King.

9:5 captains of the host. Officers or leaders of the army.

9:7–10 The fulfillment of Elijah's earlier prophecy (1 Kings 21:17–24). him that pisseth against the wall. A reference to males, with no vulgar connotations. him that is shut up and left. Those who separated themselves from their relatives would still be killed. like the house of Jeroboam. The end of the dynasty. Significantly, the Northern Kingdom had few dynasties, none of which lasted long, in contrast to the Southern Kingdom with its continuing Davidic dynasty, in keeping with God's covenant promise (2 Sam. 7:1–29).

9:11 this mad fellow. A contemptuous designation for the prophet. It is not uncommon in any age for God's servants to be mocked by the world. communication. Literally, "gossip or prattle." Jehu attempted to conceal the message from his comrades by dismissing it as gibberish, but unconvincingly (v. 12).

9:13–14 they hasted. Such was the unrest in the kingdom that the army did not resist the coup, perhaps because of the ongoing conflict with Hazael. took every man his garment, and put it under him. Gesture expressing their submission (Luke 19:36).

9:17 spied the company. Saw a crowd or multitude.

9:23 turned his hands. Manipulated the reins on the horses to redirect the chariot and begin to retreat.

9:25 field of Naboth. This fulfills the oracle of the Lord (1 Kings 21:19). laid this burden upon him. Literally, "raised over him this pronouncement or utterance."

9:26 plat. Plot of ground.

9:27 garden house. Translation of the city name "Beth-Haggan," located south of Jezreel.

9:28 buried him . . . with his fathers. An honor given him because he was the son of the godly King Jehoshaphat (2 Chron. 22:9).

9:30 she painted her face, and tired her head. Literally, "she put her eyes in black eye paint and made good her head," perhaps assuming that her appearance would dissuade Jehu.

9:31 Had Zimri peace. Zimri revolted against Elah and subsequently died a horrible death by suicide in a burning palace (1 Kings 16:9,18). She intimates that Jehu will suffer a similar fate if he harms her.

9:32 eunuchs. High court officials.

9:36 shall dogs eat the flesh of Jezebel. For the prediction, see 1 Kings 21:19,23.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 9

1. Justice delayed is not justice denied. Perhaps as many as twenty years passed between the treachery of Ahab and Jezebel against Naboth and the execution of the judgment that Elijah had pronounced against them at that time. But God's justice is certain, and His timing is perfect, as Jehu is set apart to be the agent of God's wrath. Ruthlessly and relentlessly he executes the judgments of the Lord, precisely as Elijah had declared. From a purely human perspective, his actions seem to be harsh and without mercy, but to every detail the punishment fit the crime. So also the final judgment will come upon the world according to God's will and in His timing. That judgment will be terrifying, and yet heaven will ring in songs of praise because God is just and righteous in His judgments (Rev. 19:1–2). In view of that far greater judgment in which sinners will get what they deserve, there is a great urgency to be reconciled to God by the blood of Christ, the only way to escape judgment. Jezebel tried to escape Jehu by exhibiting her self-perceived beauty; it is the beauty of Christ's righteousness that will rescue His people.
2. Jezebel's horrific end is a vivid illustration of Ps. 49, which teaches that death is the great equalizer. She had used her wealth and power to get everything she had wanted during her life, but when it came to dying none of that availed. All she had possessed remained behind for others. The psalmist said concerning the rich and powerful that "when he dieth he shall carry nothing away: his glory shall not descend after him" (Ps. 49:17). So horrific was Jezebel's death that she did not even leave a body to take to the grave. Her life of luxury paled in comparison to the ignominy of her death and the terror of her eternal fate. Death indeed will come to all. Are you prepared for eternity? How can you live in such a way that you are prepared to die?

Chapter 10: Jehu executes judgment against the house of Ahab and destroys the worshipers of Baal but continues to follow in the sin of Jeroboam.

10:3 meetest. Most qualified. Jehu challenged the royal guardians to set one of Ahab's descendants on the throne.

10:4 two kings stood not. Referring to Jehu's slaying of Jehoram and Ahaziah (9:24,27).

10:6 If ye be mine. If you are for me or on my side.

10:10 there shall fall unto the earth nothing of the word of the LORD. God fulfilled Elijah's prophesy (1 Kings 21:21–29), proving that His Word cannot fail (1 Sam. 3:19). the LORD HATH DONE THAT WHICH HE SPAKE. What God has decreed He will cause to take place. He is the supreme and sovereign King.

10:11 his kinsfolks. Literally, "those who were acquainted with him." Jehu extends the judgment on Ahab's house beyond just relatives to include associates, going beyond the divine mandate.

10:13 to salute. Literally, “to peace.” They were going to see how they were.

10:14 shearing house. Translation of the city “Beth-eked,” located almost halfway between Samaria and Megiddo.

10:15 lighted on. Literally, “found.” Jehonadab the son of Rechab. From the descendants of Jethro, Moses’ father-in-law. Rechab was the founder of the Rechabites, a nomadic people noted for their abstinence (1 Chron. 2:55; Jer. 35:6). he saluted. Literally, “he blessed,” a term of greeting. Is thine heart right. Is your heart sincere? The issue is whether they were in agreement with each other.

10:19 in subtilty. With craftiness or cunning.

10:22 vestry. Wardrobe or closet. vestments. Garments.

10:27 draught house. Latrine or sewer.

10:29 to wit. That is.

10:30 thy children of the fourth generation. In commendation for executing justice on the house of Ahab, the Lord promised Jehu a dynasty of four generations (Jehoahaz, v. 35; Jehoash, 13:10; Jeroboam, 14:23; and Zachariah, 15:8). See also the note at Hos. 1:4.

10:32 to cut Israel short. Literally, “to break off piece by piece.” Hazael smote them. See 8:12. coasts. Regions or borders.

10:34 chronicles. Uninspired records of the king’s career that have not been preserved.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 10

> The Lord commended Jehu for doing right in His eyes, according to all that was in His heart (v. 30). Jehu was the effective instrument in the Lord’s hand to execute justice against the house of Ahab, precisely fulfilling Elijah’s prophecy. However, he did not follow the law of the Lord with all his heart, for he retained the worship of Jeroboam’s golden calves (v. 31). Even if keeping the official state religion was politically motivated to prevent any possible reunion with the south and not an expression of his own religious convictions, his actions were still offensive to God and contrary to His Word. Jehu was indeed “a double minded man” (James 1:8), who acted according to pragmatism rather than principle. How long would his dynasty have lasted had he devoted himself wholeheartedly to the Lord? Be sure to guard your own heart and keep your focus singularly on seeking to please the Lord in all that you do. In so doing, you follow Christ, who always rules His kingdom with righteousness (Isa. 9:7; Jer. 23:5).

The Deliverance of the Line of David in Judah (2 Kings 11:1—12:21)

Chapter 11: Athaliah usurps the royal throne and rules for six years before being overthrown and replaced by Joash, the legitimate heir to the throne.

11:1 Athaliah. The daughter of Ahab and Jezebel (see notes at 8:18,26). the seed royal. The seed of the kingdom, referring to the royal line.

11:2–3 Jehosheba. The wife of the high priest Jehoiada (2 Chron. 22:11), accounting for her residence in the house of the LORD. Joash. Also known as Jehoash (2 Kings 11:21). stole him. Took him by stealth. his nurse. This unnamed woman risked her life to save Joash and as a result was one of God’s instruments to preserve the line of Christ.

11:8 compass. Surround. within the ranges. To the guards or ranks of foot soldiers.

11:10 king David's spears and shields. Most likely those taken from his adversaries and dedicated to the sanctuary of the Lord, for instance Goliath's sword (1 Sam. 21:9) and the golden shields of Hadadezer (2 Sam. 8:7).

11:12 the testimony. The law of God. God save the king. Literally, "May the king live."

11:14 by a pillar. Most likely where the king would sit to worship in his official capacity as king (2 Chron. 6:13).

11:15 Have her forth without the ranges. Literally, "take her out from between the guards or ranks of foot soldiers."

11:17 made a covenant. Renewed the covenant, as delineated in Deuteronomy.

11:20 in quiet. At peace.

11:21 Seven years old. During the years of his minority Jehoash was under the direct tutelage of Jehoida, the high priest who orchestrated his ascension to the throne (12:2).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 11

1. Athaliah's renegade rule over Judah after slaying all but one of the royal line of David underscores two significant lessons. First, it warns against the far-reaching and unpredictable consequences of sin. She was in a position to execute her dastardly deeds because of the unwise compromise of Jehoshaphat with Ahab that had brought her into Judah's royal family. Her godless influence affected her husband, infected her son, and brought Baal worship openly into Judah, just as Jezebel, her mother, had done in Israel. Her godless heart caused innocent blood to be shed as she usurped the very throne of David. We should never take sin lightly or dismiss it as simply being a private matter. As devastating as the effects of sin are to the guilty sinner, the potential of its poison spreading in one way or another should serve as an additional deterrent. Let us pray that God will stop us short of sin, and let us think of the implications of our behavior beyond ourselves.
2. A second lesson from Athaliah's rule is that it encourages us to have confidence in God's unfailing purposes. Although Athaliah's treachery was experienced by the royal seed, it was directed ultimately against God and Christ. Had she succeeded in destroying the royal family, God's promise to David would have become null and void. There had to be a line of David through which the Christ would come. Athaliah was just one more expression of the hostility of the serpent's seed (Gen. 3:15) that is always doomed to failure. God's Word is certain. Christ came. We can be certain that every other component of God's purpose and plan are just as sure, both in terms of the big picture and of our individuals lives, for our times are in His hand. This should give us great courage to serve Him in the face of terrible danger, as did Jehosheba, Jehoida, and Joash's nurse.

Chapter 12: Jehoash provides for renovating the temple, avoids confrontation with Syria, and is assassinated by his servants.

12:2 all his days. Sadly, after the death of Jehoida, Joash turned to idolatry and injustice (2 Chron. 24:17–22).

12:4 dedicated. Holy. There were three sources of revenue: first, a levy on those coming of military age (every one that passeth, see Ex. 30:11–16); second, a levy on those making vows (every man is set at, literally, "the souls of his estimate value"; see Lev. 27:1–8); and third, free will offerings (cometh into any man's heart).

12:5 acquaintance. Most likely referring to the donors (v. 7).

12:10 told. Counted (v. 11).

12:11 wrought. Worked.

12:12 hewers. Cutters.

12:13 After all the renovations were finished they focused on the utensils (2 Chron. 24:14).

12:15 they reckoned not. They did not require an accounting because they were trustworthy.

12:16 trespass money. Paid to atone for violations against the holy things (Lev. 5:15).

12:17 Gath. A principal Philistine city, sometimes under the control of Judah (1 Chron. 18:1). set his face. An expression indicating determination. The Syrian invasion occurred after the death of Jehoida (2 Chron. 24:22–23).

12:19 chronicles. An uninspired record of the king's career that has not been preserved.

12:20 house of Millo. Probably a building or terrace-like structure constructed on the earthworks that Solomon had built in Jerusalem (1 Kings 9:15).

12:21 Because Joash had slain the sons of Jehoida, some of Joash's servants made a conspiracy and killed him. He was buried in the city of David but not in the royal cemetery (2 Chron. 24:25).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 12

> The career of Joash illustrates the truth of Eccl. 7:8 that "better is the end of a thing than the beginning thereof." His first days as the boy-king of only seven years old were his best. Without doubt, it was the godly influence of Jehoida that directed his behavior and determined his policy. But being instructed in the ways of the Lord is not enough. Such instruction needs to be appropriated by God's Spirit in the heart, and that apparently did not take place. When the external pressure to do right was gone, there was no internal impulse to holiness. Second Chronicles 24 gives greater detail regarding how quickly and dramatically things deteriorated. Ironically, at the beginning of Josiah's life he was spared from the hands of a wicked assassin, but his life ended at the hands of assassins who were avenging his wicked acts. This tragic story should be a warning to every young person under godly influence and direction in a Christian home. It is not enough just to hear and externally follow. There must be a personal appropriation by the Holy Spirit of all that is taught from the Scriptures. To rebel after a good beginning is tragic.

God's Patient Mercies toward Israel (2 Kings 13:1–25)

Chapter 13: Wicked kings continue to rule in Israel, and Elisha becomes sick and dies.

13:4 besought the LORD. The Hebrew has the idea of seeking to appease or mollify the Lord. This evidences his less than orthodox understanding of the Lord, his thinking that he could somehow soften Him up to provide deliverance. the LORD hearkened. Not because of the king's attempt to pacify Him but because of His mercy and compassion on the nation, and because of His promise to Jehoahaz's father, Jehu (10:30).

13:5 saviour. One who would deliver from the oppression (Judg. 2:16). tents. Homes.

13:6 grove. Asherah, the sacred pole typically erected near an altar.

13:8 chronicles. Uninspired records of the king's career that have not been preserved (v. 12).

13:14 the chariot of Israel. The same epitaph that Elisha ascribed to Elijah (2:12).

13:15–17 Elisha was going to give an object lesson, a common prophetic tactic to illustrate the message. This was the sign of victory over the Syrians.

13:19 wroth. Furious. smite Syria but thrice. The prophecy was exactly fulfilled (v. 25).

13:20 the bands of the Moabites. Marauding groups of men who conducted raids.

13:21 Baal claimed through his adherents to conquer death, but even a dead prophet of God had more power than all of the Baals around and in Israel. The miracle, of course, was the work of God. Just as the Lord had raised the dead to life by His prophet's embracing them (see notes at 1 Kings 17:21; 2 Kings 4:34), so the dead are raised to life by being buried with the prophet. This too is a shadow or representation of finding spiritual life by dying with Christ and being buried with Him (Rom. 6:1–4).

13:23 Though Israel had fallen far from keeping God's covenant, the Lord continued to remember his covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob (Lev. 26:42,44; Pss. 105:8; 106:45).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 13

1. Do not assume that you are in right relationship with God just because He has answered some of your prayers. God is merciful, but His mercies are not tokens by which we can presume to belong to Him. Jehoahaz appealed to the Lord when he was in trouble (v. 4), but he continued in the sins of Jeroboam and even some Baal worship as well (v. 6). He did not display a heart of true repentance, yet the Lord mercifully helped him and Israel to get free from their oppressors. Perhaps you have experienced an answer to your prayers for temporal help. Thank God for it. However, do not make that an excuse for remaining in half-hearted religion. How should God's kindnesses move us to serve Him with all our hearts?
2. God's mercies to Israel even as they worshiped idols and false gods vividly illustrates the truth that God answers prayer because of His grace alone. He is full of mercy and compassion, and He remembers His covenant (vv. 4,23). Therefore, let us not think like Jehoahaz that we can manipulate God into hearing us. Even our most sincere prayers God does not answer for our sakes or because of our merit. Let us turn to him in humility, confessing our transgressions and asking Him for His undeserved mercy. Any mercy received is mercy undeserved.

THE DISPERSION OF THE KINGDOM (2 KINGS 14:1—25:30)

The Downward Spiral of Israel and Judah (2 Kings 14:1—16:20)

Chapter 14: Israel dominates in conflicts with Judah during the reign of Jehoash and experiences expansion during the reign of Jeroboam II.

14:5 servants which had slain the king his father. See 12:20.

14:6 that which is written. Quoted from Deut. 24:16 (cf. Ezek. 18:4–20). This quotation from the book of the law of Moses is evidence that Deuteronomy was not written in the days of Josiah (2 Kings 22:1,8), as liberal scholars claim, but by Moses long before the monarchy (see Introduction to Deuteronomy).

14:7 On Amaziah's military exploits, see 2 Chron. 25:5–12.

14:9 The thistle . . . sent to the cedar. Jehoash used a parable to dissuade Amaziah from battle, insinuating that Amaziah did not stand a chance against him.

14:10 why shouldest thou meddle. Literally, "why should you engage in strife?"

14:12 put to the worse. Literally, "struck."

14:15 chronicles. Uninspired records of the king's career that have not been preserved (vv. 18,28).

14:25 coast. Border. Jonah, the son of Amittai. See Jonah 1:1. The prophets Hosea and Amos also ministered during the reign of Jeroboam II.

14:26 the LORD saw the affliction of ISRAEL. God had compassion on His suffering people.

14:28 In spite of the king's wickedness, the Lord still delivered Israel from its enemies and caused the reign of Jeroboam II to be very prosperous.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 14

1. "Pride goeth before destruction, and an haughty spirit before a fall" (Prov. 16:18). This describes Amaziah. His victory over Edom led to his bravado to Israel, which led to his fall before one stronger than himself. He was warned about the certain outcome, but thinking more highly of himself that he ought he rushed to the battle and defeat. We must assess ourselves realistically (Rom. 12:3). Humility should mark every Christian, for it is being like Christ (Phil. 2:5).
2. The mercy and loving kindness of the Lord are beyond understanding. He delivered Israel from their oppressors, even though the nation was deserving of immediate judgment. The Lord's patience was very great during the administration of Jeroboam II. Read the prophets Hosea and Amos to see how entrenched the nation was in sin while they enjoyed significant economic and political prosperity. In due course the judgment came, but not before God had extended His patient calling for their repentance over and again. Even when we are least deserving of receiving mercy of the Lord, let us not despair of His goodness. The Lord receives sinners who repent. He is willing to grant deliverance and grace to us.

Chapter 15: Judah enjoys the reign of good kings as Israel experiences one bad king after other, taking the nation ever closer to judgment.

15:1 Azariah. Also known as Uzziah (v. 13).

15:5 he was a leper. Because he burned incense in the temple, a ministry reserved for the priesthood (2 Chron. 26:16–20). It was imperative for the kingly and priestly functions to be distinct. Only in Jesus Christ, the ideal King and Priest, would the offices be united in a single person. several house. Literally, "the house of separation." Even a royal leper was unclean and had to be ostracized from the community (Lev. 13:46).

15:6 chronicles. Uninspired records of the king's career that have not been preserved (vv. 11,15,21,26,31,36).

15:10 before the people. Publicly.

15:12 fourth generation. Zachariah's death marked the end of Jehu's promised dynasty (see 10:30).

15:16 coasts. Regions.

15:19 talents. A talent is a weight of 66 pounds.

15:20 shekel. A weight of approximately one-half ounce.

15:25 in his room. In his place, instead of him.

15:37 In those days. These are the events that led to Isaiah's prophecy of the virgin birth of Christ (Isa. 7:1,9,14,21).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 15

No less than four times are the careers of Israel's final kings compared to that of Jeroboam I, who provoked Israel to sin (vv. 9,18,24,28). What started as a single step on a slippery slope snowballed into an avalanche of wickedness that ended in disaster. The only northern king who escaped this evaluation was Shallum, and that was only because his reign was cut so short (one month, v. 13). After the relative stability of Jehu's dynasty, the kingdom was in chaos, resulting ultimately in captivity under the Assyrians as God used this wicked people as the instrument of His judgment (Isa. 10:5). The history of the Northern Kingdom illustrates the uncontrollable power of unchecked sin and its certain and terrible consequences. The kings of Israel all committed evil in the sight of the Lord. Sooner or later judgment comes. Do not think you will escape it just because it has not come yet. The only way to escape punishment from evil is to bow to the Lord Jesus Christ, believing in the gospel.

Chapter 16: Ahaz seeks help from Assyria, erects a pagan altar, and desecrates parts of the temple.

16:3 made his son to pass through the fire. He engaged in child sacrifice more than once (2 Chron. 28:3), a crime strictly forbidden by God (Lev. 18:21; Ps. 106:37–38).

16:4 sacrificed . . . in the high places. See Deut. 12:2.

16:6 recovered Elath. A long way from Syria, but a strategic city at the north of the Gulf of Aqaba, under Judah's control since the days of Azariah (14:22).

16:9 Kir. The exact location is uncertain, most likely a region in Mesopotamia (Isa. 15:1; 22:6; Amos 1:5).

16:10 Ahaz's desire for an altar that obviously had no power to help its worshipers in the defeated nation of Syria reveals his spiritual blindness.

16:11 against king Ahaz came. Literally, "until or before king Ahaz came."

16:16 Thus did Urijah the priest. Contrast this with the priest who withstood Azariah (2 Chron. 26:17–18). It is a dark day when religious leaders bow to political pressures rather than defending the cause of true religion.

16:17 Ahaz closed the temple of the Lord and dismantled part of its furnishings (2 Chron. 28:24). So far had the son of David fallen that he had become an enemy of the very temple that his forefathers had built for God's name.

16:18 covert. Refers to some sort of a covered structure, perhaps for temple guards. for the king of Assyria. Literally, "because of the face of the king of Assyria," indicating that what he did was in order to appease the king of Assyria.

16:19 chronicles. Uninspired records of the king's career that have not been preserved.

16:20 buried with his fathers. But, like Joash, not buried in the royal tombs (2 Chron. 24:25; 28:27).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 16

1. "Like father, like son" is not always true. Sometimes that is a bad thing and sometimes good. Ahaz was the son of Jotham, one of Judah's kings who "did that which was right in the sight of the LORD" (15:34). But Ahaz was nothing like his father, and he became the most wicked king in Judah's history up to this point. He was so wicked that his career is evaluated in terms of Israel's kings and his religious practices in terms of the heathen (16:3). He refused to trust the Lord for help (Isa. 7:1–25). He erected a pagan altar to replace what God had designed and desecrated the temple. However, his son Hezekiah thankfully was nothing like him. Ironically, Judah's worst king gave birth to one of Judah's best. Such is the grace of God. This is a reminder that environment is not what makes a sinner or a saint. Ahaz was in a good home with all of its blessing and benefits, but he rejected his father's God. Hezekiah likewise rejected his father's gods and came to genuine faith in the one true and living God. This should be a warning to everyone raised in a Christian home that you must individually come to a personal knowledge of the Lord, believing and obeying the Word of the Lord.

2. Ahaz's replacing God's altar with a pagan altar illustrates a fundamental error of all false religion: the assumption that God can be approached in a way other than what He has commanded. The brazen altar was the place for all of the sacrifices that represented the sacrifice of Christ, the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world. Replacing God's ordained worship with man-made worship ("will worship") ultimately leads to rejecting the gospel of Jesus Christ (Col. 2:19,23).

The Destruction of Israel by Assyria (2 Kings 17:1–41)

Chapter 17: The Assyrians carry Israel captive and repopulate Samaria with those they have exiled from other nations.

17:3 presents. Tribute money (v. 4).

17:6 Israel was deported to the regions of northern Mesopotamia.

17:7–23 The theological justification for and explanation of Israel's deportation. Militarily, Israel was no match against the Assyrians, but their defeat was the consequence of their sin against God, not of their military weakness.

17:7 feared. Worshiped.

17:9 did secretly. The word occurs only here and may refer either to behavior they attempted to cover up or to false accusations they made against the Lord.

17:10 groves. Asherah, wooden poles erected near an altar used in pagan rituals (v. 16).

17:13 my servants the prophets. The central function of the prophets was to be the voice of the Lord testifying to Israel of His covenant promises, laws, and threats (v. 15; Judg. 6:8–10; 2 Chron. 24:19–20; Neh. 9:26,30).

17:15 vanity. Worthless idols, in reality nonexistent or nothing.

17:16 the host of heaven. The sun, planets, and stars. Such worship was forbidden by the Lord (Deut. 4:19).

17:20 spoilers. Those who plundered.

17:23 as he had said by all his servants the prophets. The warnings of God's covenant witnesses against lawbreakers (v. 13) all came true, according to the curses for disobedience declared by Moses (Lev. 26; Deut. 28).

17:24 the king of Assyria brought men from Babylon. The beginning of the Samaritans (v. 29; John 4:9).

17:25 feared not the LORD. Did not worship the Lord according to the Mosaic laws.

17:26 know not the manner of the God of the land. Typical of pagans, they thought that different regions were governed by different deities (1 Kings 20:23), each requiring their own particular form of worship.

17:28 how they should fear the LORD. Here referring only to the rituals of worship.

17:33–34 They feared the LORD, AND SERVED THEIR OWN GODS. The new inhabitants were syncretistic, thinking they could serve the Lord as well as their own false gods. But in reality they fear[ed] not the LORD, for the true fear of the Lord consists not merely of some outward forms of worship but in supreme and exclusive love, adoration, hope, and obedience in response to His Word (vv. 35–39; Deut. 6:13–14; 10:12).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 17

1. Had there been newspapers or news blogs back when Israel fell to the Assyrians (722 BC), the reports would have been much the same as news reports today about the affairs of the state. There would have been headlines regarding Assyria's ruthless military machine and commentaries on their newly devised scheme of deportation and reassignment of populations in order to maintain control over their annexed territories. Although there were indeed military and political explanations for what happened to Israel, those were not the real story. The Scripture makes it clear that all of this happened because of Israel's sin and that godless and fierce Assyria was the weapon God used to accomplish His purpose of judgment (Isa. 8:7). God is still on His throne, governing all the events of this world with a view to His unfailing purpose. Let us place our trust in the Lord and not in men or governments.
2. The worship of the Samaritans resembles far too much of modern worship. They had a problem (lions), so they learned how to give to God what they thought He wanted in order to alleviate the trouble. Worship was not about God but about making life better. So today, many think that Jesus is a quick fix to their problems, whether financial, physical, relational, or whatever. Going to church or praying is just a means of giving to God what they think He wants in order to gain what they want. We must learn that God will not be manipulated or used as a means to an end.

The Spiritual Revival of Judah under Hezekiah (2 Kings 18:1—20:21)

Chapter 18: Hezekiah restores true worship and is threatened by the Assyrians.

18:4 groves. See note at 17:10. brake . . . the brasen serpent. Israel had turned a wonderful symbol of God's grace into an object of idolatry. Nehushtan. Literally, "the bronze thing," indicating that it was just a piece of metal.

18:6 clave. Clung to. This is what God required (Deut. 10:20).

18:7 rebelled against the king of Assyria. Breaking the vassal agreement of his father, Ahaz (16:7).

18:14 talents. A talent is a weight of about 66 pounds.

18:17 Tartan, Rab-saris, Rab-shakeh. Not names but titles referring to military positions: "field-marshal," "high official," and "chief spokesman" or "chief of the officers," respectively. host. Army. conduit. Man-made aqueduct. fuller. One who washes garments.

18:20 vain words. Literally, "a word of lips," an expression indicating empty talk.

18:23 give pledges. Literally, "make a wager," the terms of which follow. The bet was that Hezekiah could not find enough men to mount the horses if Sennacherib supplied them.

18:25 The LORD said to me. A common ploy in ancient warfare; for instance, Cyrus would later claim that Marduk, the chief Babylonian god, had commissioned him to conquer Babylon (recorded on the Cyrus Cylinder).

18:26 the Syrian language. Aramaic, which would become the language of international communication. Jews' language. Hebrew, then the native language of Judah.

18:27 their own piss. Literally, "the water of their feet." The disgusting diet describes what would happen if the city were sieged, a most intimating and mocking threat.

18:31 Make an agreement with me by a present. Literally, "make with me a blessing," referring here to a surrender of capitulation.

18:32 persuadeth. Hebrew, "misleads."

18:34 Where are the gods of. We have here a list of the cities the Assyrians had recently conquered. They boasted that the gods of these cities were unable to deliver their people and concluded that God would not be able to deliver Jerusalem either.

18:36 the people held their peace. The Assyrian attempt to instigate an uprising against Hezekiah was a complete failure. The people remained silent.

18:37 with their clothes rent. A gesture of great anxiety and sorrow.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 18

1. God's people, even those who live exemplary lives, are not exempt from trouble. Hezekiah was a man who depended completely on the Lord. He trusted God, clung to Him, opposed false worship, and obeyed His commands (vv. 4–6). He demonstrated his dependence on the Lord by his boldness against enemies (vv. 7–8). Yet after fourteen years of consistently doing what was right, trouble came in the person of Sennacherib. A proper relationship with God does not eliminate threats and troubles. In fact, the closer to God one is, the greater the potential for hostility from the world, for it hates Christ (John 15:18; 1 John 3:13). So trouble is not necessarily God's chastening; it can be a means of testing and strengthening faith and dependence. Submit to God's tests, that they may do their good work.
2. Rab-shakeh represents the tactics Satan often uses to intimidate God's people, and we are not to be ignorant of his devices (2 Cor. 2:11). First, he accused Hezekiah of narrow-mindedness (2 Kings 18:22), deception (v. 29), and misguidance (v. 30), all attempts to get the people to turn against their king. Second, he tried to make surrendering to the enemy attractive, with the prospect of a stronger army (v. 23) and prosperity (vv. 31–32). Third, he cast doubt on God's goodness (v. 25) and power (vv. 32–35), a tactic that dates to the garden of Eden (Gen. 3:1–6). Similarly, Satan attempts to turn us against King Jesus, to woo our hearts with the supposed joys of sin, and to weaken our faith in God. How can Christians resist each one of these temptations?

Chapter 19: Hezekiah sends for Isaiah and then prays for deliverance, which God gives in a miraculous way.

19:1 rent his clothes . . . sackcloth. Gestures of mourning and sorrow.

19:2 Isaiah. Hezekiah's calling for the prophet expressed his dependence on God's Word. The prophet would be to Hezekiah as the Bible is for us.

19:3 blasphemy. Hebrew, "humiliation or contempt."

19:4 It may be the LORD thy GOD will hear. An expression of faith without presumption as Hezekiah bows before the sovereignty of God. the living God. The God who works powerfully for those who call upon Him, in contrast to dead idols (vv. 16–18; Jer. 10:1–16; cf. Ps. 115).

19:7 blast. Wind or spirit. rumour. Report or news. fall . . . in his own land. He was killed by his sons in the temple of his own god (v. 37).

19:8 Libnah. A city of Judah located at the Philistine border.

19:14 spread it before the LORD. A gesture symbolic of casting all care upon the Lord.

19:15 thou alone. Hezekiah rejected the polytheism and pluralism of the nations and asserted the unique sovereignty of the Creator over all that He had made (v. 19; Deut. 4:35,39; Neh. 9:8).

19:21 despised . . . laughed . . . shaken. Showed the greatest disdain, disregard, and contempt.

19:22 the Holy One of Israel. One of Isaiah's common designations of the Lord in his prophecy, expressing God's supreme glory (Isa. 1:4; 6:1–4; 57:15) and yet His bond with and nearness to His people (12:6; 41:14).

19:25 how I have done it. The Lord proclaims that He has given the king of Assyria these victories of which he has boasted (vv. 23–24), for the Lord used Assyria to punish the nations (Isa. 10:5).

19:28 hook . . . bridle. God would turn upon the Assyrians the technique they commonly used in leading their captives.

19:31 the zeal of the LORD. The burning love of the Lord, combined with His power, shall work this deliverance of Jerusalem.

19:32 cast a bank. Construct a ramp to scale the city wall.

19:35 the angel of the LORD. Often a designation of a Christophany, a pre-incarnate appearance of Christ, "the messenger who is Jehovah" (Gen. 16:7–14; Ex. 3:1–4). smote. Struck. an hundred fourscore and five thousand. 185,000. An extant Assyrian record called the Taylor Prism details Sennacherib's campaigns in Judah, saying that he caged up Hezekiah like a bird. In keeping with ancient Near Eastern chronicles, it makes no mention of the slaughter that caused him to retreat.

19:37 his sons smote him with the sword. Sennacherib's campaigns against Judah occurred in 701 BC, and his death in 680 BC. Twenty years passed, but God's word was precisely fulfilled (v. 7). The delay did not alter the certainty.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 19

1. Hezekiah provides a wonderful example of how we are to bring all our needs before the Lord. Hezekiah was a man of prayer, and both his prayer and his preparations for prayer set a pattern to follow. Consider first his preparations. He recognized his need (v. 3). He was in deep distress, without any ability or power to find remedy without divine intervention. Prayer is always a mark of our sense of dependence upon God. He was contrite (v. 1). With humility and reverence and without presumption he entered the Lord's house. His attire spoke of his confession and repentance. He depended on the Word of God (v. 2). His calling for Isaiah was not just to gain a prayer partner but to get a fresh word from the Lord to take to prayer to plead before the Lord. He received the word of promise (vv. 6–7). Linking prayer to God's Word is a principle found throughout Scripture (Dan. 9:1–27). We should learn to go to the Lord with our Bibles open as we pray for His will to be done.
2. Consider the prayer itself (vv. 14–19). Spreading the letter symbolized what it is for us to cast all our cares and concerns before the throne of grace. First, note the Person addressed (v. 15). He appeals to Jehovah, the covenant-making and keeping God, who has entered into a living relationship with His people. Second, note the praise. He focuses on God's unique position as sovereign and His unique work as Creator. All power and authority are His. Third, note the petitions. He uses five imperatives, pleading with God to take note of his problem and be moved to act on his behalf. Prayer should be specific. Fourth, note the purpose of the prayer. Ultimately nothing matters but the glory of God (v. 19). He argues that God's name is at stake (v. 16). We can be certain that whatever God does to get glory to Himself will benefit His people.

Chapter 20: Hezekiah recovers from a fatal sickness and unwisely displays the riches of the kingdom to emissaries from Babylon.

20:1 Set thine house in order. Literally, "command regarding your house," an expression referring to final preparations. See 2 Chron. 32:24; Isa. 38:1–8.

20:3 perfect heart. Whole-hearted consecration. wept sore. Literally, "wept a great weeping."

20:4 afore. Before.

20:7 lump of figs. Apparently there was medicinal strength in figs, yet the healing was of the Lord. God often uses secondary causes to accomplish His will. Taking medicine and trusting God are both wise. boil. Ulcer or inflamed spot of some sort.

20:8 What shall be the sign? The sign was a divine confirmation of the truth of the word, designed to strengthen faith. Although not always or necessarily, these signs were often supernatural.

20:11 the dial. Literally, "the steps or staircase." degrees. Steps (vv. 9–10). Sundials of this era were often designed as staircases, so constructed that the shadow would go up or down the steps. Reversing the direction required supernatural intervention.

20:13 Hezekiah did this in pride (2 Chron. 32:25–31; cf. Isa. 39:2). Note how often the word his appears here (and "mine" or "my" in 2 Kings 20:15) as he claimed the riches and glory of the kingdom, temporarily forgetting that it was all of God's grace (1 Cor. 4:7).

20:17 shall be carried into Babylon. This prophecy would be fulfilled in about 115 years.

20:18 eunuchs. Males employed as officers or high officials to the ruler.

20:19 Good is the word of the LORD. Hezekiah bowed to God's will. Is it not good, if peace. Rather, "will there surely be peace?" The question does not imply selfishness or personal relief but expresses gratitude and amazement for God's mercy in delaying the judgment.

20:20 conduit. A channel for carrying water. Hezekiah's water tunnel hewn in the rock underneath Jerusalem was a major accomplishment of engineering. This was especially important in days of war when the city was besieged. The famous Siloam inscription inside the tunnel marks the spot where the two teams of excavators, working in different directions, met to complete the project.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 20

1. Hezekiah's sickness unto death became a most personal test of his faith. His first response was not panic but prayer. When the nation was confronted with certain defeat, he took the matter to the Lord. He did the same when the problem was uniquely his. He is an example of consistency. The fact that he had already demonstrated himself to be a man of prayer gives more credence to his behavior now. This was not desperation; it was normal procedure. We see God's mercy and goodness shining forth in the fact that He heard Hezekiah's cries. Let this be a major encouragement for us to pour out all our needs and cares before the Lord and to do so consistently. God loves to hear and answer prayer.
2. Even the best of men are only men and thus are subject to flaws. Hezekiah had demonstrated a humble spirit before God when seeking Him for deliverance. But it appears that some pride rose up within him after receiving that divine help. This is evidenced in the private tour he gave to the emissaries from Babylon, showing off "his precious things," "his armour," "his treasures," "his house," and "his dominion" (v. 13, emphasis added). In reality, all these things had come from God's goodness and grace to him. It is tragic when tokens of grace become objects of pride and boasting. It is good to remember that we have nothing apart from what God has given to us; we own nothing but owe Him all our thanks and praise. Being the recipients of God's goodness is never reason for arrogance.

Chapter 21: Manasseh's wicked reign earns the sentence of divine judgment, and Amon follows in his ways.

The Spiritual Ruin of Judah by Manasseh and Amon (2 Kings 21:1–26)

21:1 reigned fifty and five years in Jerusalem. See 2 Chron. 33 for the parallel account. The most wicked of Judah's kings has the longest reign.

21:3 Whereas Hezekiah had reversed the evil done by his father, his own son reversed the good that he had done. grove. An Asherah, a wooden pole erected near an altar, a key component in the Baal rituals (v. 7). host of heaven. Army of heaven, referring to the heavenly bodies (v. 5).

21:6 observed times. Interpreted signs to predict the future. used enchantments. Sought or gave omens, practicing divination.

21:8 Neither will I make the feet of Israel move any more out of the land. Literally, "I will not make them homeless again or cause them to wander." only if. Remaining in the land was conditioned upon their faithfulness (Deut. 4:25–28; 28:64).

21:9 seduced. Misled, caused to err, or tempted.

21:11 Because Manasseh king of Judah hath done these abominations. Manasseh's sin, both in its offense against God and its influence on the people, became the ruin of Judah and ultimately the end of the national monarchy (23:26; 24:3–4). Amorites. The term applies to the whole of the Canaanite nations.

21:12 evil. Calamity or disaster, referring to the judgment to come. both his ears shall tingle. What is heard is astonishing.

21:13 the line of Samaria, and the plummet of the house of Ahab. Masons use a plummet, a weight on a string to ensure that walls are built vertically straight. Now the Lord measures Judah and Jerusalem in the same way he did Israel and Samaria. This implies that Judah and Jerusalem would be struck with the same judgment and destruction (Isa. 28:17). I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish. The Lord will bring destruction and emptiness to the city for its uncleanness.

21:16 his sin wherewith he made Judah to sin. Idolatry.

21:17 all that he did. Later the Lord humbled Manasseh, and he turned away from his idolatry (2 Chron. 33:11–19). chronicles. Uninspired records of the king's career that have not been preserved (2 Kings 21:25).

21:18 in his stead. In place of him.

21:20–21 his father. Manasseh's son sadly imitated his father's sins, but not his repentance (2 Chron. 33:23).

21:22 forsook the LORD. To abandon the Lord as one's only God was to break His covenant and bring down its curses (Deut. 28:20; 29:25–27; 31:16).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 21

After the godly reign of Hezekiah, Manasseh departed from the ways of the Lord. The heart of man is inclined to all wickedness. Godliness is not automatically inherited. Every man must receive heart-renewing grace. This is a personal matter. Every generation must discover the blessing of fearing the Lord. By nature we all have a wicked heart. Therefore the Lord Jesus teaches us that we must be born again (John 3:3). Let us emphasize this necessity and pray for this grace, that our eyes may be opened, our hearts circumcised, and our lives renewed. Children, do not take for granted that because your parents are Christians you are a Christian. Conversion is personal.

Another Revival of Judah under Josiah (1 Kings 22:1—23:30)

Chapter 22: The book of the Law is discovered during temple renovations, and its reading convicts Josiah, leading him to seek the Lord.

22:3 in the eighteenth year. By this time Josiah had already begun significant religious reforms to reverse the policies of his father and grandfather (2 Chron. 34:3–8).

22:4–5 sum. Count. The Hebrew has the idea of "doing something with the silver." Rather than hoarding the silver, he ordered that it be put to use in repairing the temple.

22:7 dealt faithfully. Worked in honesty, were trustworthy.

22:8 the book of the law. Perhaps the first five books of Moses, but most likely the book of Deuteronomy (quoted in 14:6; cf. 1 Kings 9:8–9), in which the Lord announces specific judgments upon transgressing His covenant (Deut. 4; 28).

22:9 gathered the money. Literally, "melted the silver," expressing the spending of the money.

22:11 rent his clothes. A gesture of mourning and sorrow, expressing his sense of conviction (v. 19).

22:14 keeper of the wardrobe. The one supervising the garments. The Hebrew is clear that this was Shallum's occupation, not Huldah's. the college. The second quarter or district.

22:16 evil. Calamity or disaster, referring to the divine judgment (v. 20).

22:19 heart was tender. Softened and made penitent.

22:20 grave in peace. Josiah was killed in battle against the Egyptians (23:29) but was preserved from the horrors of the impending divine judgment against Judah.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 22

As soon as Josiah heard the law of God, he became a doer of the Word and not just a hearer (James 1:22). During his days the inspired Scriptures were still in the process of being revealed, and actual copies of Scripture were rare. It was a wonderful providence of God that led to the discovery of a portion of Scripture that had been hidden somewhere in the temple. Josiah heard it read only once, and it immediately changed him. Most of us have multiple copies of the whole Bible that we can access so easily. Tragically, many homes have Bibles that are hidden in plain sight, never being read. Some people read the Bible on a regular basis without being affected by its message. We should acknowledge the wonderful privilege that is ours in having ready access to the Scriptures and remember that increased privilege increases responsibility. How can we train ourselves to consciously approach the reading or preaching of the Bible with an eye on immediate obedience?

Chapter 23: Josiah enforces religious reforms throughout the land, but too late to avert ultimate judgment.

23:2 book of the covenant. Most likely Deuteronomy (see note at 22:8).

23:3 stood by a pillar. See note at 11:14. all the people stood to the covenant. The people pledged to live according to the covenant of the Lord.

23:4 grove. The wooden pole erected near an altar that was integral to pagan rituals (vv. 6,14). host of heaven. The army of heaven, referring to the heavenly bodies that had become objects of worship (see vv. 5,11).

23:6 children of the people. Literally, "the sons of the people," not young children but a reference to the common people (Jer. 17:19; 26:23). In particular, it was the graves of those who had worshiped the idols (2 Chron. 34:4).

23:7 sodomites. Homosexual male prostitutes, strictly forbidden by the Lord (Deut. 23:17). wove hangings. Literally, "wove houses," referring to some sort of drapery for the grove or the wooden pole.

23:8 from Geba to Beersheba. Refers to the whole land, from north to south. left hand. Refers to the north, since ancient maps were oriented with east on top.

23:10 Topheth. A location in the vicinity of Jerusalem, a place associated with child sacrifice. valley of . . . Hinnom. See note at Jer. 19:6.

23:11 chamberlain. Officer. suburbs. Annexes on the western side of the temple.

23:13 mount of corruption. The Mount of Olives, where the Jews corrupted themselves because of the idolatry facilitated by Solomon (1 Kings 11:5,7).

23:16 burned them upon the altar. The Lord's prophet had declared this around 300 years earlier (1 Kings 13:2). The passing of time does not nullify the certainty of fulfillment.

23:19 Samaria. The capital city designates the entire country.

23:20 he slew all the priests of the high places. Josiah killed the priests who were still engaged in idolatry and in the worship of the golden calf. He slaughtered them upon their own altars. He burned human bones on these altars, rendering them permanently unusable for worship.

23:22 there was not holden. There was not done or kept a Passover like this one.

23:26 the LORD turned not from the fierceness of his great wrath. Although Manasseh was converted and forgiven by God (2 Chron. 33:12–13), his idolatry had so dishonored the Lord and corrupted Judah that the Lord had resolved to severely judge Jerusalem and the temple (v. 27; 21:11–16). Even Josiah's reforms did not change this, and the people continued down the path of idolatry (Jer. 3:1–2; 6:7–8; 7:8–10; 8:5–6; Ezek. 22).

23:27 My name shall be there. His glory was revealed in the temple (1 Kings 8:10–11,16–19,29; 9:3), and therefore to introduce idolatry there was a horrible offense (Ezek. 8).

23:28 chronicles. Uninspired records of the king's career that have not been preserved.

23:29 king Josiah went against him. Josiah unwisely interfered in the power struggle taking place with the Assyrians and the Egyptians against the Babylonians. This struggle ultimately climaxed at the Battle of Carchemish on the Euphrates (2 Chron. 35:20). Babylon's victory marked the beginning of the Neo-Babylonian Empire.

The End of the Kingdom of Judah (2 Kings 23:31—25:30)

23:31 Jehoahaz. Also known as Shallum (Jer. 22:11).

23:33 put the land to a tribute. Imposed a fine or penalty on the land. talent. Approximately 66 pounds.

23:34 in the room of. In the place of.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 23

1. Civil authority is a blessing when it has the courage and convictions to address moral issues with wisdom from God (Prov. 8:12–16; Rom. 13:1–5). We should pray that our leaders will use their authority such that the godly may live in peace and the gospel may be freely proclaimed (1 Tim. 2:1–2) and not give legal sanction to immorality and injustice (Dan. 4:27). Righteousness brings honor to a nation, but sin brings disgrace to a society (Prov. 14:34). Do you regularly pray for the leaders in your national and local governments?
2. Josiah's life also demonstrated the inherent powerlessness of legislation to change the hearts of people. He was able to force outward conformity but unable to effect inward obedience. As soon as he died all of the pent-up wickedness had free reign once again. It is certainly better to legislate morality than immorality, but we must never lose sight of the real issue: the need for a new heart (Deut. 30:6; Ezek. 36:26). The principle is the same in our homes. We set and enforce rules for our children, but we cannot assume that outward obedience equates to inward conversion. As parents we must always press upon our children the necessity of a personal and inward relationship with Christ that will demonstrate itself in outward behavior as well. God desires "truth in the inward parts" (Ps. 51:6).

Chapter 24: Babylon's domination of Judah begins.

24:1 Nebuchadnezzar . . . came up. Nebuchadnezzar was God's servant to accomplish His purpose of chastising Judah because of their sins (v. 2). The Babylonian exile occurred in three stages: first, in 605 BC, the beginning of the Neo-Babylonian Empire after the victory at Carchemish, when Nebuchadnezzar took various trophies and exiles back to Babylon, including Daniel (Dan. 1:1–2); second, in 598/597 BC, the exile of Jehoaichin and 10,000 others, including Ezekiel (2 Kings 24:14–15; Ezek. 1:1–2); and third, in 586 BC, the final destruction of the city (2 Kings 25:1–30).

24:3 at the commandment of the LORD. Not in God's revealed Word but in His sovereign decree (Lam. 3:37–38; see note at 1 Kings 17:9). for the sins of Manasseh. His idolatry and injustice, degrading Judah even lower than the Canaanites (2 Kings 21:9–16; 23:26–27).

24:5 chronicles. Uninspired records of the king's career that have not been preserved.

24:12 Jehoiachin . . . went out to the king of Babylon. Perhaps at the instruction of Jeremiah (Jer. 27:17). Surrendering was his only hope of survival.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 24

The sins of Judah had finally ripened, and the judgment began. God had warned of this day as far back as Moses (Deut. 28:1–68), and He had sent prophet after prophet to them, encouraging repentance so that this day could have been averted. But they persisted in their sins, rejected the prophets' preaching, and now had crossed the line. The exile was inevitable and inescapable. The nation's history testifies to both God's patience and His inflexible justice. But Judah's judgment pales before the final judgment to come. Throughout Scripture God has warned of its coming and has through His Word and servants offered hope and deliverance for all those who will repent and believe the gospel. That judgment finally came on Judah testifies that delay of judgment does not alter its certainty. It appears that, while life goes on with generations going and coming, the end remains certain. Interpret the delay as evidence of God's patience, and flee to Him through Christ, the only way to escape the otherwise inescapable.

Chapter 25: Judah suffers its final devastating and destructive defeat by the Babylonians.

25:1 host. Army. forts. Bulwarks or siege walls.

25:6 Riblah. A city in the north Lebanon Valley that functioned as the headquarters for Nebuchadnezzar during his siege against Jerusalem.

25:7 fetters. Shackles.

25:9 In addition to destroying the temple, Babylon especially targeted the houses of the royalty and the wealthy. The poor were left in the land (v. 12).

25:12 husbandmen. Farmers.

25:13–17 The list of items taken from the temple emphasizes its complete destruction—a stunning horror to the Jews as God's glory disappeared from the Promised Land.

25:16 without weight. There was so much copper used in the temple of Solomon that it was not even weighed (1 Kings 7:47).

25:17 chapiter. Top of a column, usually with some ornamentation. wreathen work. Some sort of trellis or lattice work.

25:19 host. Army. mustered the people. Conscripted them for military service.

25:22 Gedaliah. See Jer. 40:5–7.

25:24 Submission to the Babylonians was not treason but obedience to the Lord's message through Jeremiah (Jer. 27:12,17; 38:17,20; 40:9).

25:25–26 On the rebellion of Ishmael and the flight of the Jews to Egypt, see Jer. 40:13—43:7.

25:27–30 Evil-merodach. Translated, "the man of Marduk," indicating his devotion to Marduk, the patron deity of Babylon. The honoring of Jehoiachin was a hopeful sign that even in His wrath against Judah the Lord was remembering His covenant with David (see note at Jer. 52:32–33).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 25

The book of 2 Kings seems to end in dismal darkness and gloom. But in His wrath God remembers mercy (Hab. 3:2). Where sin abounds, grace super-abounds. The last verses point to the beginning of a new future. Although the royal throne of David had been cast down, God's promise that David would always have one of his sons on the throne remained true (2 Sam. 7:16). God used the pagan king to ensure the continuation of His promise. Jehoiachin received royal treatment and bore sons (1 Chron. 3:17). One of these sons was Salathiel, who in turn bore Zerubbabel, who became governor of Judah when the exile ended. Although he did not sit on the throne, he was of the royal line and designated as God's signet, guaranteeing the Messiah to come (Hag. 2:23). Christ is the true and ideal son of David, and His kingdom shall never end (Luke 1:33). He is now enthroned at the right hand of God in glory (Acts 2:34), and unto Him is given all power in heaven and on earth (Matt. 28:18). The Lord still continues His plans, even if everything seems to fall apart. God's Word endures and will certainly be fulfilled.

The Only True God

Within the borders of the universe that humanity inhabits, there are two types of beings. There are those beings that are dependent on another. This category encompasses everything from elephants to snails, from angels to demons, from human beings to viruses. Then there is that one being upon whom all of this depends. He alone is self-existent—the great Yahweh (Jehovah), who told Moses that His name is "I AM THAT I AM" (Ex. 3:14; see also Rev. 1:4). All other beings draw their sustenance and existence from Him. He is utterly unique in that He has no need of anything outside Himself. He alone possesses what students of theology call aseity, the attribute of self-existence (John 1:4; 5:26). Because He gives life to all of creation, from the greatest object to the smallest particle, He is to be confessed as the one and only Creator and God (1 Cor. 8:6).

The Bible's confession of God's uniqueness is also found in the statement that He is holy (Isa. 6:3; Rev. 4:8). The holiness of God means first that He is completely different from His creation. He is the Creator, unique and in total control of all that He has made. Human beings are limited in what we can do. Our knowledge is finite, never exhaustive. And our lives on this earth are relatively short in duration and often dogged by painful experiences—"nasty, brutish, and short," as the philosopher Thomas Hobbes once described them. Not so God. He is immortal, can do all that His good pleasure decides, and has absolutely no limitations. To say that God is holy, then, is to speak of His uniqueness, His otherness from His creation.

Men and women worship many gods. Being made in the image of the true God, human beings have an unquenchable desire to worship. But being fallen, they inevitably worship gods of their own making. John Calvin, the French Reformer, accurately pointed out that the human mind is "a perpetual factory of idols" (Institutes of the Christian Religion, 1.11.8; cf. Rom. 1:18–25). The sole remedy is God's gift of spiritual sight, by which, when it is given like a ray of light from heaven, people are awakened to know the true God and know themselves as His creatures.

God is thus sovereign over His creation. He gives life and takes it away, raises up nations and mountains and casts them down, and brings suns to light and extinguishes them. And none can hinder Him. What He has decided will surely come to pass, and in this exercise of sovereignty is His glory.

Human beings have the privilege and responsibility of acknowledging this sovereignty of God. However, they can do so only when God so inclines their hearts. By nature they are rebels, despising His authority, with some going against what they instinctively know and claiming that God does not exist.

But He does exist! Of that fact the Christian is more certain than of anything else he or she knows. And it is the Christian's "sweet delight"—to borrow a phrase from Jonathan Edwards, the eighteenth-century gospel preacher—to submit to this great God, to acknowledge his utter dependence upon Him, and to live for Him and His glory. As such, Christian talk about God is far more than a philosophical discussion about His existence. It is joy itself, for the Christian has come to know the one and only true God, and in knowing Him has found meaning for life and, yes, also life eternal (1 John 5:20)—in which he will forever enjoy knowing, loving, and communing with the triune God, basking in His smile and feasting in His presence.

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOKS OF

1 AND 2 CHRONICLES

Authorship

First and Second Chronicles are one book. It is uncertain who authored Chronicles. The traditional belief of rabbinical Judaism and medieval Christianity has been that Chronicles through Nehemiah were a single work written by Ezra the scribe. It is clear that the four books share many linguistic and theological concepts. Others have maintained that while Chronicles and Ezra/Nehemiah were written by one author, that author was not Ezra but another scribe. Still others maintain that Chronicles and Ezra/Nehemiah derived from different authors. Proponents of this position highlight the differences rather than similarities of literary and theological concepts. This view has become increasingly popular since the late nineteenth century among modern biblical scholars.

In favor of seeing one author behind these four books, whether Ezra or not, are the following arguments. First, the ending of Chronicles (2 Chron. 36:22–23) overlaps with the beginning of Ezra (Ezra 1:1–4), which was standard practice for books that were intended to build on each other. Second, despite some variety in literary and theological elements between Chronicles and Ezra/Nehemiah, there appears to be more continuity than discontinuity. Third, Chronicles and Ezra/Nehemiah both include many scriptural and historical documents and sources and they both quote from these often. The author frequently makes use of the historical, prophetic, and wisdom books of the Old Testament Scriptures. Certainly as a scribe, Ezra was well versed in such documents and writings and would be a likely candidate in utilizing them in his writings. Fourth, given Ezra's influence and the spiritual revival among those returning from exile, Ezra would have had a good incentive as a leader in the new community to produce these two combined works for the edification of the Jews.

In a final analysis, however, absolute certainty regarding who wrote Chronicles and/or Ezra/Nehemiah is not possible. Neither Scripture nor reason allows us to solve this tension beyond all dispute. And in reality, the importance of these works does not depend on identifying the human author but what they contain and communicate about God, His plan, and His purpose.

Date

Chronicles was written shortly before or during the ministry of Ezra in Judah. In 586 BC the Babylonian army conquered the land of Judah and sent the remaining tribes of Israel into exile (the northern tribes were exiled around 721 BC). The exile was God's judgment against His people for their failure to repent. God sent many prophets like Jeremiah and Ezekiel to condemn the people for their sins and call them to repentance. But Judah failed to listen to God's message and continued her path to ruin. The end result was complete and utter destruction. Jerusalem was destroyed. The temple was torn down. The people were cast into exile.

The exile of Judah continued for about seventy years. But Persia rose to power over Babylon in 539 BC. Around 538 BC Cyrus, king of Persia, issued a decree that the exiled people could return to their land to rebuild the temple and the walls of Jerusalem. There they waited for the final fulfillment of God's promises.

It is into this frame of reference that 1 and 2 Chronicles was written. The chronicler's view of history was meant to enliven, strengthen, and encourage the Lord's people—reminding them that God was not through working with them.

Considering the prophecy of Cyrus's edict at the end of 2 Chronicles, the earliest date Chronicles could have been composed would be about 538 BC. But given the internal evidence from the genealogies, Chronicles was most likely composed sometime between 450 and 425 BC.

Theme

God’s acts in history from Adam through the son of David to build a kingdom of true worship from the heart.

Purpose

To call people to turn from idols and seek the Lord in holy worship, motivated by hope in God’s covenant faithfulness to the son of David.

Synopsis

The Contribution of Chronicles to Redemptive Revelation

Chronicles records a worship-centered history of God's kingdom going back to the creation of the world. This focus has not always been properly recognized. The Septuagint (the Greek translation of the Old Testament) titles Chronicles, "things left out concerning the kings of Judah" (paralipomena ton basileon Iouda), which gives the impression that this volume is nothing more than historical leftovers concerning the history of Joshua through Kings. But those who see Chronicles as nothing more than historical leftovers miss the true significance of these books.

The Hebrew title of the work is "the matters of the days" (dibre hayyamim). Jerome titled these books "First and Second Chronicles" from the fourth century AD. This would carry the connotation that Chronicles was nothing more than short annals of the kings of Israel and Judah. However, Chronicles tends to give more extensive biographical information regarding kings, rulers, and individuals than typically found in extrabiblical chronicles.

In addition, Chronicles is selective when compared to the material in the books of Samuel and Kings. For example, it passes over Saul's kingship, David's adultery with Bath-sheba, and Absalom's rebellion against his father. It views Israel's history through the lens of a kingdom of priests (Ex. 19:6), giving particular attention to the tribe and kingdom of Judah, and the construction and use of the temple. Chronicles focuses upon the gift of God's presence.

This emphasis upon the presence of God with His people appears in the frequent references to seeking the Lord. To seek the Lord (sometimes translated "enquire" of Him) means to draw near to God in worship and prayer with desire for His presence ("face"), reliance upon Him for salvation, repentance of sins against Him, and submission to His laws (1 Chron. 13:3; 15:13; 21:30; 22:19; 28:8–9; 2 Chron. 7:14; 12:14; 14:4,7; 15:2,4,12–13,15; 16:12; 17:3–4; 18:4–7; 19:3; 20:3–4; 22:9; 25:15,20; 26:5; 30:19; 31:21; 34:3,21,26).

Though Chronicles centers its plot upon the temple in Jerusalem, it emphasizes the "heart" as the key to true godliness. Seeking God must engage the heart (1 Chron. 16:10; 22:19), for He sees the heart and desires righteousness in it (28:9; 29:17; 2 Chron. 6:30). People must serve the Lord with a "perfect" heart, that is, one that is not divided among many gods but entirely (though not sinlessly) devoted to Him (1 Chron. 28:9; 29:9,19; 2 Chron. 15:17; 16:9; 19:9; 25:2). They must seek Him with "all" their heart (6:14,38; 15:12,15; 22:9; 31:21; 34:31). Their hearts must be "tender" and humble, easily broken by God's words to sinners, and not "hardened" and stubborn (34:27; 36:13). Otherwise their hearts will be "lifted up" with pride (25:19; 26:16; 32:25–26). Therefore people of God must "prepare" their hearts, that is, intentionally direct their thoughts and affections toward the Lord as their only God (12:14; 19:3; 20:33; 30:19). This all must come of God's grace, who alone can give people a heart to keep His commandments (1 Chron. 29:18–19; 2 Chron. 30:11–12).

Seeking God results in experiencing His "rest" (2 Chron. 15:15). This term is linked to the golden years of Solomon's reign. It denotes both the peace of His salvation from their enemies and the joy of His presence with them in the temple (1 Chron. 22:8–10,17–19; 23:25; 28:2; 2 Chron. 14:6–7; 15:15; 20:30; cf. Pss. 95:11; 132:8,14; Heb. 3:7—4:13). Having set their hearts by His grace to seek Him, they will enjoy access to God's own heart in His temple (2 Chron. 7:16).

The concern for a godly heart in Chronicles comes to particular focus in its more than a dozen references to the spiritual condition of the heart of the king. God's blessing upon His people and temple depends upon the heart of the son of David toward God. David's preparations for the temple climax in his prayer, "And give unto Solomon my son a perfect heart, to keep thy commandments, thy testimonies, and thy statutes, and to do all these things, and to build the palace, for the which I have made provision" (1 Chron. 29:19).

Chronicles intertwines the Davidic monarchy with God's dwelling among His worshipers. Its plot rises to a peak in the covenant God made with David (1 Chron. 17), where He promised that David's seed or offspring would build God's house and would reign forever. God gloriously (though only partially) fulfilled that covenant when Solomon constructed the temple (2 Chron. 2–7). However, Chronicles concludes with the tragic history of how the sinful and hardened hearts of the seed of David provoked the Lord to end the monarchy and destroy the temple (2 Chron. 36). Yet hope remained, for the Lord restored His people from exile to rebuild God's house (v. 23). Therefore, Chronicles encouraged the postexilic remnant to hope in the coming, righteous son of David who would establish God's presence with them in a far more glorious and permanent manner.

Looking ahead and looking back in time, Chronicles indicates that the son of David is the climax of human history. That is the implicit point of the long section of genealogies on which the author spends almost a third of his first book. Beginning with Adam, these genealogies trace the development of God's purpose for mankind to the line of David. They testify to God's faithfulness in preserving the line of the promised Seed through whom God would restore His blessing to fallen man (Gen. 3:15; 22:18). The exile of Israel could not overthrow God's purposes of salvation any more than previous judgments such as the flood of Noah. Chronicles contributes to the redemptive message by showing that the progression toward the fullness of time was right on track. God's presence, lost in the garden, will be restored through the coming King. The temple, decorated with trees, fruit, gold, gems, and cherubim (2 Chron. 3) was a type of the return to dwell with God in paradise (Gen. 2; Rev. 22).

Chronicles is thus a bridge from creation to new creation and from the old covenant to the new. It is the last book in the order of the Hebrew Old Testament. The gospel of Matthew picks up where Chronicles stopped with another genealogy leading to Jesus, and the revelation that Christ is Immanuel, God dwelling with His people through the son of David. He is the hope of God's people.

32 And the sons of Jada the brother of Shammai; Jether, and Jonathan: and Jether died without children.
33 And the sons of Jonathan; Peleth, and Zaza. These were the sons of Jerahmeel.
34 [†] ¶ Now Sheshan had no sons, but daughters. And Sheshan had a servant, an Egyptian, whose name was Jarha.
35 And Sheshan gave his daughter to Jarha his servant to wife; and she bare him Attai.
36 And Attai begat Nathan, and Nathan begat Zabad,

37 And Zabad begat Ephlal, and Ephlal begat Obed,
38 And Obed begat Jehu, and Jehu begat Azariah,
39 And Azariah begat Helez, and Helez begat Eleasah,
40 And Eleasah begat Sisamai, and Sisamai begat Shallum,
41 And Shallum begat Jekamiah, and Jekamiah begat Elishama.
42 ¶ Now the sons of Caleb the brother of Jerahmeel were, Mesha his firstborn, which was the father of Ziph; and the sons of Mareshah the father of Hebron.
43 And the sons of Hebron; Korah, and Tappuah, and Rekem, and Shema.
44 And Shema begat Raham, the father of Jorkoam: and Rekem begat Shammai.
45 And the son of Shammai was Maon: and Maon was the father of Beth-zur.
46 And Ephah, Caleb's concubine, bare Haran, and Moza, and Gazez: and Haran begat Gazez.
47 And the sons of Jahdai; Regem, and Jotham, and Geshan, and Pelet, and Ephah, and Shaaph.
48 Maachah, Caleb's concubine, bare Sheber, and Tirhanah.
49 She bare also Shaaph the father of Madmannah, Sheva the father of Machbenah, and the father of Gibea: and the daughter of Caleb was Achsah.
50 ¶ These were the sons of Caleb the son of Hur, the firstborn of Ephratah; Shobal the father of Kirjath-jearim,
51 Salma the father of Beth-lehem, Hareph the father of Beth-gader.
52 And Shobal the father of Kirjath-jearim had sons; Haroeh, and half of the Manahethites.
53 And the families of Kirjath-jearim; the Ithrites, and the Puhites, and the Shumathites, and the Mishraites; of them came the Zareathites, and the Eshtaulites.
54 The sons of Salma; Beth-lehem, and the Netophathites, Ataroth, the house of Joab, and half of the Manahethites, the Zorites.
55 And the families of the scribes which dwelt at Jabez; the Tirathites, the Shimeathites, and Suchathites. These are the Kenites that came of Hemath, the father of the house of Rechab.

8 And Coz begat Anub, and Zobebah, and the families of Aharhel the son of Harum.
9 [†] ¶ And Jabez was more honourable than his brethren: and his mother called his name Jabez, saying, Because I bare him with sorrow.
10 And Jabez called on the God of Israel, saying, Oh that thou wouldest bless me indeed, and enlarge my coast, and that thine hand might be with me, and that thou wouldest keep me from evil, that it may not grieve me! And God granted him that which he requested.
11 ¶ And Chelub the brother of Shuah begat Mehir, which was the father of Eshton.
12 And Eshton begat Beth-rapha, and Paseah, and Tehinnah the father of Ir-nahash. These are the men of Rechah.
13 [†] And the sons of Kenaz; Othniel, and Seraiah: and the sons of Othniel; Hathath.
14 And Meonothai begat Ophrah: and Seraiah begat Joab, the father of the valley of Charashim; for they were craftsmen.
15 And the sons of Caleb the son of Jephunneh; Iru, Elah, and Naam: and the sons of Elah, even Kenaz.
16 And the sons of Jehaleleel; Ziph, and Ziphah, Tiria, and Asareel.
17 And the sons of Ezra were, Jether, and Mered, and Epher, and Jalon: and she bare Miriam, and Shammai, and Ishbah the father of Eshtemoa.
18 And his wife Jehudijah bare Jered the father of Gedor, and Heber the father of Socho, and Jekuthiel the father of Zanoah. And these are the sons of Bithiah the daughter of Pharaoh, which Mered took.
19 And the sons of his wife Hodiah the sister of Naham, the father of Keilah the Garmite, and Eshtemoa the Maachathite.
20 And the sons of Shimon were, Amnon, and Rinnah, Ben-hanan, and Tilon. And the sons of Ishi were, Zoheth, and Ben-zoheth.
21 ¶ The sons of Shelah the son of Judah were, Er the father of Lecah, and Laadah the father of Mareshah, and the families of the house of them that wrought fine linen, of the house of Ashbea,
22 And Jokim, and the men of Chozeba, and Joash, and Saraph, who had the dominion in Moab, and Jashubi-lehem. And these are ancient things.
23 These were the potters, and those that dwelt among plants and hedges: there they dwelt with the king for his work.
24 [†] ¶ The sons of Simeon were, Nemuel, and Jamin, Jarib, Zerah, and Shaul:
25 Shallum his son, Mibsam his son, Mishma his son.
26 And the sons of Mishma; Hamuel his son, Zacchur his son, Shimei his son.
27 And Shimei had sixteen sons and six daughters; but his brethren had not many children, neither did all their family multiply, like to the children of Judah.

28 And they dwelt at Beer-sheba, and Moladah, and Hazar-shual,
29 And at Bilhah, and at Ezem, and at Tolad,
30 And at Bethuel, and at Hormah, and at Ziklag,
31 And at Beth-marcaboth, and Hazar-susim, and at Beth-birei, and at Shaaraim. These were their cities unto the reign of David.
32 And their villages were, Etam, and Ain, Rimmon, and Tochen, and Ashan, five cities:
33 And all their villages that were round about the same cities, unto Baal. These were their habitations, and their genealogy.
34 And Meshobab, and Jamlech, and Joshah the son of Amaziah,
35 And Joel, and Jehu the son of Josibiah, the son of Seraiah, the son of Asiel,
36 And Elioenai, and Jaakobah, and Jeshohaiah, and Asaiah, and Adiel, and Jesimiel, and Benaiah,
37 And Ziza the son of Shiphi, the son of Allon, the son of Jedaiah, the son of Shimri, the son of Shemaiah;
38 These mentioned by their names were princes in their families: and the house of their fathers increased greatly.
39 ¶ And they went to the entrance of Gedor, even unto the east side of the valley, to seek pasture for their flocks.
40 And they found fat pasture and good, and the land was wide, and quiet, and peaceable; for they of Ham had dwelt there of old.
41 [†] And these written by name came in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and smote their tents, and the habitations that were found there, and destroyed them utterly unto this day, and dwelt in their rooms: because there was pasture there for their flocks.
42 And some of them, even of the sons of Simeon, five hundred men, went to mount Seir, having for their captains Pelatiah, and Neariah, and Rephaiah, and Uzziel, the sons of Ishi.
43 And they smote the rest of the Amalekites that were escaped, and dwelt there unto this day.

1 Chronicles 5 [†]

1 [†] Now the sons of Reuben the firstborn of Israel, (for he was the firstborn; but, forasmuch as he defiled his father's bed, his birthright was given unto the sons of Joseph the son of Israel: and the genealogy is not to be reckoned after the birthright.
2 [†] For Judah prevailed above his brethren, and of him came the chief ruler; but the birthright was Joseph's:)
3 The sons, I say, of Reuben the firstborn of Israel were, Hanoch, and Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi.
4 The sons of Joel; Shemaiah his son, Gog his son, Shimei his son,
5 Micah his son, Reaia his son, Baal his son,
6 [†] Beerah his son, whom Tilgath-pilneser king of Assyria carried away captive: he was prince of the Reubenites.
7 And his brethren by their families, when the genealogy of their generations was reckoned, were the chief, Jeiel, and Zechariah,
8 And Bela the son of Azaz, the son of Shema, the son of Joel, who dwelt in Aroer, even unto Nebo and Baal-meon:
9 And eastward he inhabited unto the entering in of the wilderness from the river Euphrates: because their cattle were multiplied in the land of Gilead.
10 And in the days of Saul they made war with the Hagarites, who fell by their hand: and they dwelt in their tents throughout all the east land of Gilead.
11 [†] ¶ And the children of Gad dwelt over against them, in the land of Bashan unto Salchah:
12 Joel the chief, and Shapham the next, and Jaanai, and Shaphat in Bashan.
13 And their brethren of the house of their fathers were, Michael, and Meshullam, and Sheba, and Jorai, and Jachan, and Zia, and Heber, seven.
14 These are the children of Abihail the son of Huri, the son of Jaroah, the son of Gilead, the son of Michael, the son of Jeshishai, the son of Jahdo, the son of Buz;
15 Ahi the son of Abdiel, the son of Guni, chief of the house of their fathers.
16 And they dwelt in Gilead in Bashan, and in her towns, and in all the suburbs of Sharon, upon their borders.
17 All these were reckoned by genealogies in the days of Jotham king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam king of Israel.
18 [†] ¶ The sons of Reuben, and the Gadites, and half the tribe of Manasseh, of valiant men, men able to bear buckler and sword, and to shoot with bow, and skilful in war, were four and forty thousand seven hundred and threescore, that went out to the war.
19 And they made war with the Hagarites, with Jetur, and Nephish, and Nodab.
20 And they were helped against them, and the Hagarites were delivered into their hand, and all that were with them: for they cried to God in the battle, and he was intreated of them; because they put their trust in him.
21 And they took away their cattle; of their camels fifty thousand, and of sheep two hundred and fifty thousand, and of asses two thousand, and of men an hundred thousand.
22 [†] For there fell down many slain, because the war was of God. And they dwelt in their steads until the captivity.
23 ¶ And the children of the half tribe of Manasseh dwelt in the land: they increased from Bashan unto Baal-hermon and Senir, and unto mount Hermon.
24 And these were the heads of the house of their fathers, even Epher, and Ishi, and Eliel, and Azriel, and Jeremiah, and Hodaviah, and Jahdiel, mighty men of valour, famous men, and heads of the house of their fathers.

25 [†] ¶ And they transgressed against the God of their fathers, and went a whoring after the gods of the people of the land, whom God destroyed before them.
26 [†] And the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of Pul king of Assyria, and the spirit of Tilgath-pilneser king of Assyria, and he carried them away, even the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh, and brought them unto Halah, and Habor, and Hara, and to the river Gozan, unto this day.

1 Chronicles 6 [†]

1 [†] The sons of Levi; Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.
2 And the sons of Kohath; Amram, Izhar, and Hebron, and Uzziel.
3 And the children of Amram; Aaron, and Moses, and Miriam. The sons also of Aaron; Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.
4 ¶ Eleazar begat Phinehas, Phinehas begat Abishua,
5 And Abishua begat Bukki, and Bukki begat Uzzi,
6 And Uzzi begat Zerahiah, and Zerahiah begat Meraioth,
7 Meraioth begat Amariah, and Amariah begat Ahitub,
8 And Ahitub begat Zadok, and Zadok begat Ahimaaz,
9 And Ahimaaz begat Azariah, and Azariah begat Johanan,
10 [†] And Johanan begat Azariah, (he it is that executed the priest's office in the temple that Solomon built in Jerusalem:)
11 And Azariah begat Amariah, and Amariah begat Ahitub,
12 And Ahitub begat Zadok, and Zadok begat Shallum,
13 And Shallum begat Hilkiah, and Hilkiah begat Azariah,
14 And Azariah begat Seraiah, and Seraiah begat Jehozadak,
15 And Jehozadak went into captivity, when the Lord carried away Judah and Jerusalem by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar.
16 [†] ¶ The sons of Levi; Gershom, Kohath, and Merari.
17 And these be the names of the sons of Gershom; Libni, and Shimei.
18 And the sons of Kohath were, Amram, and Izhar, and Hebron, and Uzziel.
19 The sons of Merari; Mahli, and Mushi. And these are the families of the Levites according to their fathers.
20 Of Gershom; Libni his son, Jahath his son, Zimmah his son,
21 Joah his son, Iddo his son, Zerah his son, Jeaterai his son.
22 The sons of Kohath; Amminadab his son, Korah his son, Assir his son,
23 Elkanah his son, and Ebiasaph his son, and Assir his son,
24 Tahath his son, Uriel his son, Uzziah his son, and Shaul his son.
25 And the sons of Elkanah; Amasai, and Ahimoth.
26 As for Elkanah: the sons of Elkanah; Zophai his son, and Nahath his son,
27 Eliab his son, Jeroham his son, Elkanah his son.
28 [†] And the sons of Samuel; the firstborn Vashni, and Abiah.
29 The sons of Merari; Mahli, Libni his son, Shimei his son, Uzza his son,
30 Shimea his son, Haggiah his son, Asaiah his son.
31 [†] And these are they whom David set over the service of song in the house of the Lord, after that the ark had rest.
32 And they ministered before the dwelling place of the tabernacle of the congregation with singing, until Solomon had built the house of the Lord in Jerusalem: and then they waited on their office according to their order.
33 [†] And these are they that waited with their children. Of the sons of the Kohathites: Heman a singer, the son of Joel, the son of Shemuel,
34 The son of Elkanah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Eliel, the son of Toah,
35 The son of Zuph, the son of Elkanah, the son of Mahath, the son of Amasai,
36 The son of Elkanah, the son of Joel, the son of Azariah, the son of Zephaniah,

37 The son of Tahath, the son of Assir, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah,
38 The son of Izhar, the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, the son of Israel.
39 And his brother Asaph, who stood on his right hand, even Asaph the son of Berachiah, the son of Shimea,
40 The son of Michael, the son of Baaseiah, the son of Malchiah,
41 The son of Ethni, the son of Zerah, the son of Adaiah,
42 The son of Ethan, the son of Zimmah, the son of Shimei,
43 The son of Jahath, the son of Gershom, the son of Levi.
44 And their brethren the sons of Merari stood on the left hand: Ethan the son of Kishi, the son of Abdi, the son of Malluch,
45 The son of Hashabiah, the son of Amaziah, the son of Hilkiah,
46 The son of Amzi, the son of Bani, the son of Shamer,
47 The son of Mahli, the son of Mushi, the son of Merari, the son of Levi.
48 [†] Their brethren also the Levites were appointed unto all manner of service of the tabernacle of the house of God.
49 [†] ¶ But Aaron and his sons offered upon the altar of the burnt offering, and on the altar of incense, and were appointed for all the work of the place most holy, and to make an atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the servant of God had commanded.
50 And these are the sons of Aaron; Eleazar his son, Phinehas his son, Abishua his son,
51 Bukki his son, Uzzi his son, Zerahiah his son,
52 Meraioth his son, Amariah his son, Ahitub his son,
53 Zadok his son, Ahimaaz his son.
54 [†] ¶ Now these are their dwelling places throughout their castles in their coasts, of the sons of Aaron, of the families of the Kohathites: for theirs was the lot.
55 And they gave them Hebron in the land of Judah, and the suburbs thereof round about it.
56 But the fields of the city, and the villages thereof, they gave to Caleb the son of Jephunneh.
57 [†] And to the sons of Aaron they gave the cities of Judah, namely, Hebron, the city of refuge, and Libnah with her suburbs, and Jattir, and Eshtemoa, with their suburbs,
58 And Hilen with her suburbs, Debir with her suburbs,
59 And Ashan with her suburbs, and Beth-shemesh with her suburbs:
60 And out of the tribe of Benjamin; Geba with her suburbs, and Alemeth with her suburbs, and Anathoth with her suburbs. All their cities throughout their families were thirteen cities.
61 And unto the sons of Kohath, which were left of the family of that tribe, were cities given out of the half tribe, namely, out of the half tribe of Manasseh, by lot, ten cities.
62 And to the sons of Gershom throughout their families out of the tribe of Issachar, and out of the tribe of Asher, and out of the tribe of Naphtali, and out of the tribe of Manasseh in Bashan, thirteen cities.
63 Unto the sons of Merari were given by lot, throughout their families, out of the tribe of Reuben, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulun, twelve cities.
64 And the children of Israel gave to the Levites these cities with their suburbs.
65 And they gave by lot out of the tribe of the children of Judah, and out of the tribe of the children of Simeon, and out of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, these cities, which are called by their names.
66 And the residue of the families of the sons of Kohath had cities of their coasts out of the tribe of Ephraim.
67 And they gave unto them, of the cities of refuge, Shechem in mount Ephraim with her suburbs; they gave also Gezer with her suburbs,
68 And Jokmeam with her suburbs, and Beth-horon with her suburbs,
69 And Aijalon with her suburbs, and Gath-rimmon with her suburbs:

70 And out of the half tribe of Manasseh; Aner with her suburbs, and Bileam with her suburbs, for the family of the remnant of the sons of Kohath.
71 Unto the sons of Gershom were given out of the family of the half tribe of Manasseh, Golan in Bashan with her suburbs, and Ashtaroth with her suburbs:
72 And out of the tribe of Issachar; Kedesh with her suburbs, Daberath with her suburbs,
73 And Ramoth with her suburbs, and Anem with her suburbs:
74 And out of the tribe of Asher; Mashal with her suburbs, and Abdon with her suburbs,
75 And Hukok with her suburbs, and Rehob with her suburbs:
76 And out of the tribe of Naphtali; Kedesh in Galilee with her suburbs, and Hammon with her suburbs, and Kirjathaim with her suburbs.
77 Unto the rest of the children of Merari were given out of the tribe of Zebulun, Rimmon with her suburbs, Tabor with her suburbs:
78 And on the other side Jordan by Jericho, on the east side of Jordan, were given them out of the tribe of Reuben, Bezer in the wilderness with her suburbs, and Jahzah with her suburbs,
79 Kedemoth also with her suburbs, and Mephaath with her suburbs:
80 And out of the tribe of Gad; Ramoth in Gilead with her suburbs, and Mahanaim with her suburbs,
81 And Heshbon with her suburbs, and Jazer with her suburbs.

1 Chronicles 7 [†]

1 [†] Now the sons of Issachar were, Tola, and Puah, Jashub, and Shimron, four.
2 [†] And the sons of Tola; Uzzi, and Rephaiah, and Jeriel, and Jahmai, and Jibsam, and Shemuel, heads of their father's house, to wit, of Tola: they were valiant men of might in their generations; whose number was in the days of David two and twenty thousand and six hundred.
3 And the sons of Uzzi; Izrahiah: and the sons of Izrahiah; Michael, and Obadiah, and Joel, Ishiah, five: all of them chief men.
4 And with them, by their generations, after the house of their fathers, were bands of soldiers for war, six and thirty thousand men: for they had many wives and sons.
5 And their brethren among all the families of Issachar were valiant men of might, reckoned in all by their genealogies fourscore and seven thousand.
6 [†] ¶ The sons of Benjamin; Bela, and Becher, and Jediael, three.
7 And the sons of Bela; Ezbon, and Uzzi, and Uzziel, and Jerimoth, and Iri, five; heads of the house of their fathers, mighty men of valour; and were reckoned by their genealogies twenty and two thousand and thirty and four.
8 And the sons of Becher; Zemira, and Joash, and Eliezer, and Elioenai, and Omri, and Jerimoth, and Abiah, and Anathoth, and Alameth. All these are the sons of Becher.
9 And the number of them, after their genealogy by their generations, heads of the house of their fathers, mighty men of valour, was twenty thousand and two hundred.
10 The sons also of Jediael; Bilhan: and the sons of Bilhan; Jeush, and Benjamin, and Ehud, and Chenaanah, and Zethan, and Tharshish, and Ahishahar.
11 All these the sons of Jediael, by the heads of their fathers, mighty men of valour, were seventeen thousand and two hundred soldiers, fit to go out for war and battle.
12 Shuppim also, and Huppim, the children of Ir, and Hushim, the sons of Aher.
13 [†] ¶ The sons of Naphtali; Jahziel, and Guni, and Jezer, and Shallum, the sons of Bilhah.
14 [†] ¶ The sons of Manasseh; Ashriel, whom she bare: (but his concubine the Aramitess bare Machir the father of Gilead:
15 [†] And Machir took to wife the sister of Huppim and Shuppim, whose sister's name was Maachah;) and the name of the second was Zelophehad: and Zelophehad had daughters.
16 And Maachah the wife of Machir bare a son, and she called his name Peresh; and the name of his brother was Sheresh; and his sons were Ulam and Rakem.
17 And the sons of Ulam; Bedan. These were the sons of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh.
18 And his sister Hammoleketh bare Ishod, and Abi-ezer, and Mahalah.
19 And the sons of Shemida were, Ahian, and Shechem, and Likhi, and Aniam.
20 [†] ¶ And the sons of Ephraim; Shuthelah, and Bered his son, and Tahath his son, and Eladah his son, and Tahath his son,
21 [†] ¶ And Zabad his son, and Shuthelah his son, and Ezer, and Elead, whom the men of Gath that were born in that land slew, because they came down to take away their cattle.
22 [†] And Ephraim their father mourned many days, and his brethren came to comfort him.
23 [†] ¶ And when he went in to his wife, she conceived, and bare a son, and he called his name Beriah, because it went evil with his house.
24 [†] (And his daughter was Sherah, who built Beth-horon the nether, and the upper, and Uzzen-sherah.)
25 And Rephah was his son, also Resheph, and Telah his son, and Tahan his son,

26 Laadan his son, Ammihud his son, Elishama his son,
27 [†] Non his son, Jehoshua his son.
28 ¶ And their possessions and habitations were, Beth-el and the towns thereof, and eastward Naaran, and westward Gezer, with the towns thereof; Shechem also and the towns thereof, unto Gaza and the towns thereof:
29 And by the borders of the children of Manasseh, Beth-shean and her towns, Taanach and her towns, Megiddo and her towns, Dor and her towns. In these dwelt the children of Joseph the son of Israel.
30 [†] ¶ The sons of Asher; Imnah, and Isuah, and Ishuai, and Beriah, and Serah their sister.
31 And the sons of Beriah; Heber, and Malchiel, who is the father of Birzavith.
32 And Heber begat Japhlet, and Shomer, and Hotham, and Shua their sister.
33 And the sons of Japhlet; Pasach, and Bimhal, and Ashvath. These are the children of Japhlet.
34 And the sons of Shamer; Ahi, and Rohgah, Jehubbah, and Aram.
35 And the sons of his brother Helem; Zophah, and Imna, and Shelesh, and Amal.
36 The sons of Zophah; Suah, and Harnepher, and Shual, and Beri, and Imrah,
37 Bezer, and Hod, and Shamma, and Shilshah, and Ithran, and Beera.
38 And the sons of Jether; Jephunneh, and Pispah, and Ara.
39 And the sons of Ulla; Arah, and Haniel, and Rezia.
40 All these were the children of Asher, heads of their father's house, choice and mighty men of valour, chief of the princes. And the number throughout the genealogy of them that were apt to the war and to battle was twenty and six thousand men.

1 Chronicles 8 [†]

1 [†] Now Benjamin begat Bela his firstborn, Ashbel the second, and Aharah the third,
2 Nohah the fourth, and Rapha the fifth.
3 And the sons of Bela were, Addar, and Gera, and Abihud,
4 And Abishua, and Naaman, and Ahoah,
5 And Gera, and Shephuphan, and Huram.
6 [†] And these are the sons of Ehud: these are the heads of the fathers of the inhabitants of Geba, and they removed them to Manahath:
7 And Naaman, and Ahiah, and Gera, he removed them, and begat Uzza, and Ahihud.
8 And Shaharaim begat children in the country of Moab, after he had sent them away; Hushim and Baara were his wives.
9 And he begat of Hodesh his wife, Jobab, and Zibia, and Mesha, and Malcham,
10 And Jeuz, and Shachia, and Mirma. These were his sons, heads of the fathers.
11 And of Hushim he begat Abitub, and Elpaal.
12 The sons of Elpaal; Eber, and Misham, and Shamed, who built Ono, and Lod, with the towns thereof:
13 Beriah also, and Shema, who were heads of the fathers of the inhabitants of Aijalon, who drove away the inhabitants of Gath:
14 And Ahio, Shashak, and Jeremoth,
15 And Zebadiah, and Arad, and Ader,
16 And Michael, and Ispah, and Joha, the sons of Beriah;
17 And Zebadiah, and Meshullam, and Hezeki, and Heber,
18 Ishmerai also, and Jezliah, and Jobab, the sons of Elpaal;
19 And Jakim, and Zichri, and Zabdi,
20 And Elienai, and Zilthai, and Eliel,
21 And Adaiah, and Beraiah, and Shimrath, the sons of Shimhi;
22 And Ishpan, and Heber, and Eliel,
23 And Abdon, and Zichri, and Hanan,
24 And Hananiah, and Elam, and Antothijah,
25 And Iphedeiah, and Penuel, the sons of Shashak;
26 And Shamsherai, and Shehariah, and Athaliah,
27 And Jaresiah, and Eliah, and Zichri, the sons of Jeroham.
28 [†] These were heads of the fathers, by their generations, chief men. These dwelt in Jerusalem.
29 [†] And at Gibeon dwelt the father of Gibeon; whose wife's name was Maachah:
30 And his firstborn son Abdon, and Zur, and Kish, and Baal, and Nadab,
31 And Gedor, and Ahio, and Zacher.
32 And Mikloth begat Shimeah. And these also dwelt with their brethren in Jerusalem, over against them.
33 [†] ¶ And Ner begat Kish, and Kish begat Saul, and Saul begat Jonathan, and Malchi-shua, and Abinadab, and Esh-baal.
34 [†] And the son of Jonathan was Merib-baal; and Merib-baal begat Micah.
35 And the sons of Micah were, Pithon, and Melech, and Tarea, and Ahaz.
36 And Ahaz begat Jehoadah; and Jehoadah begat Alemeth, and Azmaveth, and Zimri; and Zimri begat Moza,
37 And Moza begat Binea: Rapha was his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son:

38 And Azel had six sons, whose names are these, Azrikam, Bocheru, and Ishmael, and Sheariah, and Obadiah, and Hanan. All these were the sons of Azel.
39 And the sons of Eshek his brother were, Ulam his firstborn, Jehush the second, and Eliphelet the third.
40 And the sons of Ulam were mighty men of valour, archers, and had many sons, and sons' sons, an hundred and fifty. All these are of the sons of Benjamin.

1 Chronicles 9 [†]

1 [†] So all Israel were reckoned by genealogies; and, behold, they were written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah, who were carried away to Babylon for their transgression.
2 [†] ¶ Now the first inhabitants that dwelt in their possessions in their cities were, the Israelites, the priests, Levites, and the Nethinims.
3 And in Jerusalem dwelt of the children of Judah, and of the children of Benjamin, and of the children of Ephraim, and Manasseh;
4 Uthai the son of Ammihud, the son of Omri, the son of Imri, the son of Bani, of the children of Pharez the son of Judah.
5 And of the Shilonites; Asaiah the firstborn, and his sons.
6 And of the sons of Zerah; Jeuel, and their brethren, six hundred and ninety.
7 And of the sons of Benjamin; Sallu the son of Meshullam, the son of Hodaviah, the son of Hasenuah,
8 And Ibneiah the son of Jeroham, and Elah the son of Uzzi, the son of Michri, and Meshullam the son of Shephathiah, the son of Reuel, the son of Ibnijah;
9 And their brethren, according to their generations, nine hundred and fifty and six. All these men were chief of the fathers in the house of their fathers.
10 ¶ And of the priests; Jedaiah, and Jehoiarib, and Jachin,
11 And Azariah the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, the ruler of the house of God;
12 And Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pashur, the son of Malchijah, and Maasiai the son of Adiel, the son of Jahzerah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Meshillemith, the son of Immer;
13 And their brethren, heads of the house of their fathers, a thousand and seven hundred and threescore; very able men for the work of the service of the house of God.
14 And of the Levites; Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, of the sons of Merari;
15 And Bakbakkar, Heresh, and Galal, and Mattaniah the son of Micah, the son of Zichri, the son of Asaph;
16 And Obadiah the son of Shemaiah, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun, and Berechiah the son of Asa, the son of Elkanah, that dwelt in the villages of the Netophathites.
17 [†] And the porters were, Shallum, and Akkub, and Talmon, and Ahiman, and their brethren: Shallum was the chief;
18 [†] Who hitherto waited in the king's gate eastward: they were porters in the companies of the children of Levi.
19 And Shallum the son of Kore, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, and his brethren, of the house of his father, the Korahites, were over the work of the service, keepers of the gates of the tabernacle: and their fathers, being over the host of the LORD, were keepers of the entry.
20 And Phinehas the son of Eleazar was the ruler over them in time past, and the LORD was with him.
21 And Zechariah the son of Meshelemiah was porter of the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.
22 All these which were chosen to be porters in the gates were two hundred and twelve. These were reckoned by their genealogy in their villages, whom David and Samuel the seer did ordain in their set office.
23 So they and their children had the oversight of the gates of the house of the LORD, namely, the house of the tabernacle, by wards.
24 In four quarters were the porters, toward the east, west, north, and south.
25 And their brethren, which were in their villages, were to come after seven days from time to time with them.

26 For these Levites, the four chief porters, were in their set office, and were over the chambers and treasuries of the house of God.
27 ¶ And they lodged round about the house of God, because the charge was upon them, and the opening thereof every morning pertained to them.
28 [†] And certain of them had the charge of the ministering vessels, that they should bring them in and out by tale.
29 [†] Some of them also were appointed to oversee the vessels, and all the instruments of the sanctuary, and the fine flour, and the wine, and the oil, and the frankincense, and the spices.
30 And some of the sons of the priests made the ointment of the spices.
31 And Mattithiah, one of the Levites, who was the firstborn of Shallum the Korahite, had the set office over the things that were made in the pans.
32 And other of their brethren, of the sons of the Kohathites, were over the shewbread, to prepare it every sabbath.
33 And these are the singers, chief of the fathers of the Levites, who remaining in the chambers were free: for they were employed in that work day and night.
34 These chief fathers of the Levites were chief throughout their generations; these dwelt at Jerusalem.
35 [†] ¶ And in Gibeon dwelt the father of Gibeon, Jehiel, whose wife's name was Maachah:
36 And his firstborn son Abdon, then Zur, and Kish, and Baal, and Ner, and Nadab,
37 And Gedor, and Ahio, and Zechariah, and Mikloth.
38 And Mikloth begat Shimeam. And they also dwelt with their brethren at Jerusalem, over against their brethren.
39 And Ner begat Kish; and Kish begat Saul; and Saul begat Jonathan, and Malchi-shua, and Abinadab, and Esh-baal.
40 And the son of Jonathan was Merib-baal: and Merib-baal begat Micah.
41 And the sons of Micah were, Pithon, and Melech, and Tahrea, and Ahaz.
42 And Ahaz begat Jarah; and Jarah begat Alemeth, and Azmaveth, and Zimri; and Zimri begat Moza;
43 And Moza begat Binea; and Rephaiah his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son.
44 And Azel had six sons, whose names are these, Azrikam, Bocheru, and Ishmael, and Sheariah, and Obadiah, and Hanan: these were the sons of Azel.

1 Chronicles 10 [†]

1 [†] Now the Philistines fought against Israel; and the men of Israel fled from before the Philistines, and fell down slain in mount Gilboa.
2 [†] And the Philistines followed hard after Saul, and after his sons; and the Philistines slew Jonathan, and Abinadab, and Malchi-shua, the sons of Saul.
3 And the battle went sore against Saul, and the archers hit him, and he was wounded of the archers.
4 [†] Then said Saul to his armourbearer, Draw thy sword, and thrust me through therewith; lest these uncircumcised come and abuse me. But his armourbearer would not; for he was sore afraid. So Saul took a sword, and fell upon it.
5 And when his armourbearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell likewise on the sword, and died.
6 [†] So Saul died, and his three sons, and all his house died together.
7 [†] And when all the men of Israel that were in the valley saw that they fled, and that Saul and his sons were dead, then they forsook their cities, and fled: and the Philistines came and dwelt in them.
8 [†] ¶ And it came to pass on the morrow, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, that they found Saul and his sons fallen in mount Gilboa.
9 [†] And when they had stripped him, they took his head, and his armour, and sent into the land of the Philistines round about, to carry tidings unto their idols, and to the people.
10 And they put his armour in the house of their gods, and fastened his head in the temple of Dagon.
11 [†] ¶ And when all Jabesh-gilead heard all that the Philistines had done to Saul,
12 They arose, all the valiant men, and took away the body of Saul, and the bodies of his sons, and brought them to Jabesh, and buried their bones under the oak in Jabesh, and fasted seven days.
13 [†] ¶ So Saul died for his transgression which he committed against the Lord, even against the word of the Lord, which he kept not, and also for asking counsel of one that had a familiar spirit, to enquire of it;
14 And enquired not of the Lord: therefore he slew him, and turned the kingdom unto David the son of Jesse.

1 Chronicles 11 [†]

1 [†] Then all Israel gathered themselves to David unto Hebron, saying, Behold, we are thy bone and thy flesh.
2 [†] And moreover in time past, even when Saul was king, thou wast he that leddest out and broughtest in Israel: and the Lord thy God said unto thee, Thou shalt feed my people Israel, and thou shalt be ruler over my people Israel.
3 [†] Therefore came all the elders of Israel to the king to Hebron; and David made a covenant with them in Hebron before the Lord; and they anointed David king over Israel, according to the word of the Lord by Samuel.
4 [†] ¶ And David and all Israel went to Jerusalem, which is Jebus; where the Jebusites were, the inhabitants of the land.
5 [†] And the inhabitants of Jebus said to David, Thou shalt not come hither. Nevertheless David took the castle of Zion, which is the city of David.
6 And David said, Whosoever smiteth the Jebusites first shall be chief and captain. So Joab the son of Zeruiah went first up, and was chief.
7 And David dwelt in the castle; therefore they called it the city of David.
8 And he built the city round about, even from Millo round about: and Joab repaired the rest of the city.
9 [†] So David waxed greater and greater: for the Lord of hosts was with him.
10 ¶ These also are the chief of the mighty men whom David had, who strengthened themselves with him in his kingdom, and with all Israel, to make him king, according to the word of the Lord concerning Israel.
11 [†] And this is the number of the mighty men whom David had; Jashobeam, an Hachmonite, the chief of the captains: he lifted up his spear against three hundred slain by him at one time.
12 And after him was Eleazar the son of Dodo, the Ahohite, who was one of the three mighties.
13 [†] He was with David at Pas-dammim, and there the Philistines were gathered together to battle, where was a parcel of ground full of barley; and the people fled from before the Philistines.
14 [†] And they set themselves in the midst of that parcel, and delivered it, and slew the Philistines; and the Lord saved them by a great deliverance.
15 ¶ Now three of the thirty captains went down to the rock to David, into the cave of Adullam; and the host of the Philistines encamped in the valley of Rephaim.
16 And David was then in the hold, and the Philistines' garrison was then at Beth-lehem.
17 [†] And David longed, and said, Oh that one would give me drink of the water of the well of Beth-lehem, that is at the gate!
18 And the three brake through the host of the Philistines, and drew water out of the well of Beth-lehem, that was by the gate, and took it, and brought it to David: but David would not drink of it, but poured it out to the Lord,
19 And said, My God forbid it me, that I should do this thing: shall I drink the blood of these men that have put their lives in jeopardy? for with the jeopardy of their lives they brought it. Therefore he would not drink it. These things did these three mightiest.
20 [†] ¶ And Abishai the brother of Joab, he was chief of the three: for lifting up his spear against three hundred, he slew them, and had a name among the three.
21 Of the three, he was more honourable than the two; for he was their captain: howbeit he attained not to the first three.
22 Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, the son of a valiant man of Kabzeel, who had done many acts; he slew two lionlike men of Moab: also he went down and slew a lion in a pit in a snowy day.

23 [†] And he slew an Egyptian, a man of great stature, five cubits high; and in the Egyptian's hand was a spear like a weaver's beam; and he went down to him with a staff, and plucked the spear out of the Egyptian's hand, and slew him with his own spear.
24 These things did Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and had the name among the three mighties.
25 Behold, he was honourable among the thirty, but attained not to the first three: and David set him over his guard.
26 [†] ¶ Also the valiant men of the armies were, Asahel the brother of Joab, Elhanan the son of Dodo of Beth-lehem,
27 Shammoth the Harorite, Helez the Pelonite,
28 Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite, Abi-ezer the Antothite,
29 Sibbecai the Hushathite, Ilai the Ahohite,
30 Maharai the Netophathite, Heled the son of Baanah the Netophathite,
31 Ithai the son of Ribai of Gibeah, that pertained to the children of Benjamin, Benaiah the Pirathonite,
32 Hurai of the brooks of Gaash, Abiel the Arbathite,
33 Azmaveth the Baharumite, Eliahba the Shaalbonite,
34 The sons of Hashem the Gizonite, Jonathan the son of Shage the Hararite,
35 Ahiam the son of Sacar the Hararite, Eliphal the son of Ur,
36 Hepher the Mecherathite, Ahijah the Pelonite,
37 Hezro the Carmelite, Naarai the son of Ezbai,
38 Joel the brother of Nathan, Mibhar the son of Haggeri,
39 Zelek the Ammonite, Naharai the Berothite, the armourbearer of Joab the son of Zeruiah,
40 Ira the Ithrite, Gareb the Ithrite,
41 [†] Uriah the Hittite, Zabad the son of Ahlai,
42 Adina the son of Shiza the Reubenite, a captain of the Reubenites, and thirty with him,
43 Hanan the son of Maachah, and Joshaphat the Mithnite,
44 Uzzia the Ashterathite, Shama and Jehiel the sons of Hothan the Aroerite,
45 Jediael the son of Shimri, and Joha his brother, the Tizite,
46 Eliel the Mahavite, and Jeribai, and Joshaviah, the sons of Elnaam, and Ithmah the Moabite,
47 Eliel, and Obed, and Jasiel the Mesobaite.

1 Chronicles 12 [†]

1 [†] Now these are they that came to David to Ziklag, while he yet kept himself close because of Saul the son of Kish: and they were among the mighty men, helpers of the war.
2 [†] They were armed with bows, and could use both the right hand and the left in hurling stones and shooting arrows out of a bow, even of Saul's brethren of Benjamin.
3 The chief was Ahiezer, then Joash, the sons of Shemaah the Gibeathite; and Jeziel, and Pelet, the sons of Azmaveth; and Berachah, and Jehu the Antothite,
4 And Ismaiah the Gibeonite, a mighty man among the thirty, and over the thirty; and Jeremiah, and Jahaziel, and Johanan, and Josabad the Gederathite,
5 Eluzai, and Jerimoth, and Bealiah, and Shemariah, and Shephatiah the Haruphite,
6 Elkanah, and Jesiah, and Azareel, and Joezer, and Jashobeam, the Korhites,
7 And Joelah, and Zebadiah, the sons of Jeroham of Gedor.
8 [†] And of the Gadites there separated themselves unto David into the hold to the wilderness men of might, and men of war fit for the battle, that could handle shield and buckler, whose faces were like the faces of lions, and were as swift as the roes upon the mountains;
9 Ezer the first, Obadiah the second, Eliab the third,
10 Mishmannah the fourth, Jeremiah the fifth,
11 Attai the sixth, Eliel the seventh,
12 Johanan the eighth, Elzabad the ninth,
13 Jeremiah the tenth, Machbanai the eleventh.
14 These were of the sons of Gad, captains of the host: one of the least was over an hundred, and the greatest over a thousand.
15 [†] These are they that went over Jordan in the first month, when it had overflown all his banks; and they put to flight all them of the valleys, both toward the east, and toward the west.
16 And there came of the children of Benjamin and Judah to the hold unto David.
17 [†] And David went out to meet them, and answered and said unto them, If ye be come peaceably unto me to help me, mine heart shall be knit unto you: but if ye be come to betray me to mine enemies, seeing there is no wrong in mine hands, the God of our fathers look thereon, and rebuke it.
18 [†] Then the spirit came upon Amasai, who was chief of the captains, and he said, Thine are we, David, and on thy side, thou son of Jesse: peace, peace be unto thee, and peace be to thine helpers; for thy God helpeth thee. Then David received them, and made them captains of the band.
19 [†] And there fell some of Manasseh to David, when he came with the Philistines against Saul to battle: but they helped them not: for the lords of the Philistines upon advisement sent him away, saying, He will fall to his master Saul to the jeopardy of our heads.
20 As he went to Ziklag, there fell to him of Manasseh, Adnah, and Jozabad, and Jediael, and Michael, and Jozabad, and Elihu, and Zilthai, captains of the thousands that were of Manasseh.
21 And they helped David against the band of the rovers: for they were all mighty men of valour, and were captains in the host.
22 [†] For at that time day by day there came to David to help him, until it was a great host, like the host of God.
23 [†] ¶ And these are the numbers of the bands that were ready armed to the war, and came to David to Hebron, to turn the kingdom of Saul to him, according to the word of the Lord.
24 The children of Judah that bare shield and spear were six thousand and eight hundred, ready armed to the war.
25 Of the children of Simeon, mighty men of valour for the war, seven thousand and one hundred.

26 Of the children of Levi four thousand and six hundred.
27 And Jehoiada was the leader of the Aaronites, and with him were three thousand and seven hundred;
28 And Zadok, a young man mighty of valour, and of his father’s house twenty and two captains.
29 [†] And of the children of Benjamin, the kindred of Saul, three thousand: for hitherto the greatest part of them had kept the ward of the house of Saul.
30 And of the children of Ephraim twenty thousand and eight hundred, mighty men of valour, famous throughout the house of their fathers.
31 And of the half tribe of Manasseh eighteen thousand, which were expressed by name, to come and make David king.
32 And of the children of Issachar, which were men that had understanding of the times, to know what Israel ought to do; the heads of them were two hundred; and all their brethren were at their commandment.
33 [†] Of Zebulun, such as went forth to battle, expert in war, with all instruments of war, fifty thousand, which could keep rank: they were not of double heart.
34 And of Naphtali a thousand captains, and with them with shield and spear thirty and seven thousand.
35 And of the Danites expert in war twenty and eight thousand and six hundred.
36 And of Asher, such as went forth to battle, expert in war, forty thousand.
37 [†] And on the other side of Jordan, of the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and of the half tribe of Manasseh, with all manner of instruments of war for the battle, an hundred and twenty thousand.
38 [†] All these men of war, that could keep rank, came with a perfect heart to Hebron, to make David king over all Israel: and all the rest also of Israel were of one heart to make David king.
39 And there they were with David three days, eating and drinking: for their brethren had prepared for them.
40 [†] Moreover they that were nigh them, even unto Issachar and Zebulun and Naphtali, brought bread on asses, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen, and meat, meal, cakes of figs, and bunches of raisins, and wine, and oil, and oxen, and sheep abundantly: for there was joy in Israel.

1 Chronicles 13 [†]

1 And David consulted with the captains of thousands and hundreds, and with every leader.
2 And David said unto all the congregation of Israel, If it seem good unto you, and that it be of the Lord our God, let us send abroad unto our brethren every where, that are left in all the land of Israel, and with them also to the priests and Levites which are in their cities and suburbs, that they may gather themselves unto us:
3 [†] And let us bring again the ark of our God to us: for we enquired not at it in the days of Saul.
4 And all the congregation said that they would do so: for the thing was right in the eyes of all the people.
5 [†] So David gathered all Israel together, from Shihor of Egypt even unto the entering of Hemath, to bring the ark of God from Kirjath-jearim.
6 And David went up, and all Israel, to Baalah, that is, to Kirjath-jearim, which belonged to Judah, to bring up thence the ark of God the Lord, that dwelleth between the cherubims, whose name is called on it.
7 [†] And they carried the ark of God in a new cart out of the house of Abinadab: and Uzza and Ahio drave the cart.
8 [†] And David and all Israel played before God with all their might, and with singing, and with harps, and with psalteries, and with timbrels, and with cymbals, and with trumpets.
9 [†] ¶ And when they came unto the threshingfloor of Chidon, Uzza put forth his hand to hold the ark; for the oxen stumbled.
10 And the anger of the Lord was kindled against Uzza, and he smote him, because he put his hand to the ark: and there he died before God.
11 [†] And David was displeased, because the Lord had made a breach upon Uzza: wherefore that place is called Perez-uzza to this day.
12 [†] And David was afraid of God that day, saying, How shall I bring the ark of God home to me?
13 So David brought not the ark home to himself to the city of David, but carried it aside into the house of Obed-edom the Gittite.
14 And the ark of God remained with the family of Obed-edom in his house three months. And the Lord blessed the house of Obed-edom, and all that he had.

1 Chronicles 14 [†]

1 [†] Now Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and timber of cedars, with masons and carpenters, to build him an house.
2 [†] And David perceived that the Lord had confirmed him king over Israel, for his kingdom was lifted up on high, because of his people Israel.
3 ¶ And David took more wives at Jerusalem: and David begat more sons and daughters.
4 Now these are the names of his children which he had in Jerusalem; Shammua, and Shobab, Nathan, and Solomon,
5 And Ibhar, and Elishua, and Elpalet,
6 And Nogah, and Nepheg, and Japhia,
7 And Elishama, and Beeliada, and Eliphalet.
8 [†] ¶ And when the Philistines heard that David was anointed king over all Israel, all the Philistines went up to seek David. And David heard of it, and went out against them.
9 And the Philistines came and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim.
10 [†] And David enquired of God, saying, Shall I go up against the Philistines? and wilt thou deliver them into mine hand? And the Lord said unto him, Go up; for I will deliver them into thine hand.
11 [†] So they came up to Baal-perazim; and David smote them there. Then David said, God hath broken in upon mine enemies by mine hand like the breaking forth of waters: therefore they called the name of that place Baal-perazim.
12 [†] And when they had left their gods there, David gave a commandment, and they were burned with fire.
13 [†] And the Philistines yet again spread themselves abroad in the valley.
14 [†] Therefore David enquired again of God; and God said unto him, Go not up after them; turn away from them, and come upon them over against the mulberry trees.
15 [†] And it shall be, when thou shalt hear a sound of going in the tops of the mulberry trees, that then thou shalt go out to battle: for God is gone forth before thee to smite the host of the Philistines.
16 David therefore did as God commanded him: and they smote the host of the Philistines from Gibeon even to Gazer.
17 [†] And the fame of David went out into all lands; and the Lord brought the fear of him upon all nations.

1 Chronicles 15 [†]

(see article: Worship by the Word)

1 [†] And David made him houses in the city of David, and prepared a place for the ark of God, and pitched for it a tent.
2 [†] Then David said, None ought to carry the ark of God but the Levites: for them hath the Lord chosen to carry the ark of God, and to minister unto him for ever.
3 [†] And David gathered all Israel together to Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the Lord unto his place, which he had prepared for it.
4 And David assembled the children of Aaron, and the Levites:
5 [†] Of the sons of Kohath; Uriel the chief, and his brethren an hundred and twenty:
6 Of the sons of Merari; Asaiah the chief, and his brethren two hundred and twenty:
7 Of the sons of Gershom; Joel the chief, and his brethren an hundred and thirty:
8 Of the sons of Elizaphan; Shemaiah the chief, and his brethren two hundred:
9 Of the sons of Hebron; Eliel the chief, and his brethren fourscore:
10 Of the sons of Uzziel; Amminadab the chief, and his brethren an hundred and twelve.
11 And David called for Zadok and Abiathar the priests, and for the Levites, for Uriel, Asaiah, and Joel, Shemaiah, and Eliel, and Amminadab,
12 [†] And said unto them, Ye are the chief of the fathers of the Levites: sanctify yourselves, both ye and your brethren, that ye may bring up the ark of the Lord God of Israel unto the place that I have prepared for it.
13 [†] For because ye did it not at the first, the Lord our God made a breach upon us, for that we sought him not after the due order.
14 [†] So the priests and the Levites sanctified themselves to bring up the ark of the Lord God of Israel.
15 And the children of the Levites bare the ark of God upon their shoulders with the staves thereon, as Moses commanded according to the word of the Lord.
16 [†] And David spake to the chief of the Levites to appoint their brethren to be the singers with instruments of musick, psalteries and harps and cymbals, sounding, by lifting up the voice with joy.
17 So the Levites appointed Heman the son of Joel; and of his brethren, Asaph the son of Berechiah; and of the sons of Merari their brethren, Ethan the son of Kushaiah;
18 And with them their brethren of the second degree, Zechariah, Ben, and Jaaziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, Eliab, and Benaiah, and Maaseiah, and Mattithiah, and Elipheleh, and Mikneiah, and Obed-edom, and Jeiel, the porters.
19 So the singers, Heman, Asaph, and Ethan, were appointed to sound with cymbals of brass;
20 And Zechariah, and Aziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, and Eliab, and Maaseiah, and Benaiah, with psalteries on Alamoth;
21 And Mattithiah, and Elipheleh, and Mikneiah, and Obed-edom, and Jeiel, and Azaziah, with harps on the Sheminith to excel.
22 [†] And Chenaniah, chief of the Levites, was for song: he instructed about the song, because he was skilful.
23 And Berechiah and Elkanah were doorkeepers for the ark.
24 [†] And Shebaniah, and Jehoshaphat, and Nethaneel, and Amasai, and Zechariah, and Benaiah, and Eliezer, the priests, did blow with the trumpets before the ark of God: and Obed-edom and Jehiah were doorkeepers for the ark.
25 ¶ So David, and the elders of Israel, and the captains over thousands, went to bring up the ark of the covenant of the Lord out of the house of Obed-edom with joy.
26 [†] And it came to pass, when God helped the Levites that bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord, that they offered seven bullocks and seven rams.

27 [†] And David was clothed with a robe of fine linen, and all the Levites that bare the ark, and the singers, and Chenaniah the master of the song with the singers: David also had upon him an ephod of linen.
28 Thus all Israel brought up the ark of the covenant of the LORD with shouting, and with sound of the cornet, and with trumpets, and with cymbals, making a noise with psalteries and harps.
29 [†] ¶ And it came to pass, as the ark of the covenant of the LORD came to the city of David, that Michal the daughter of Saul looking out at a window saw king David dancing and playing: and she despised him in her heart.

1 Chronicles 16 [†]

1 [†] So they brought the ark of God, and set it in the midst of the tent that David had pitched for it: and they offered burnt sacrifices and peace offerings before God.
2 And when David had made an end of offering the burnt offerings and the peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the Lord.
3 And he dealt to every one of Israel, both man and woman, to every one a loaf of bread, and a good piece of flesh, and a flagon of wine.
4 [†] ¶ And he appointed certain of the Levites to minister before the ark of the Lord, and to record, and to thank and praise the Lord God of Israel:
5 Asaph the chief, and next to him Zechariah, Jeiel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Mattithiah, and Eliab, and Benaiah, and Obed-edom: and Jeiel with psalteries and with harps; but Asaph made a sound with cymbals;
6 Benaiah also and Jahaziel the priests with trumpets continually before the ark of the covenant of God.
7 [†] ¶ Then on that day David delivered first this psalm to thank the Lord into the hand of Asaph and his brethren.
8 Give thanks unto the Lord, call upon his name, make known his deeds among the people.
9 [†] Sing unto him, sing psalms unto him, talk ye of all his wondrous works.
10 [†] Glory ye in his holy name: let the heart of them rejoice that seek the Lord.
11 Seek the Lord and his strength, seek his face continually.
12 Remember his marvellous works that he hath done, his wonders, and the judgments of his mouth;
13 O ye seed of Israel his servant, ye children of Jacob, his chosen ones.
14 [†] He is the Lord our God; his judgments are in all the earth.
15 Be ye mindful always of his covenant; the word which he commanded to a thousand generations;
16 Even of the covenant which he made with Abraham, and of his oath unto Isaac;
17 And hath confirmed the same to Jacob for a law, and to Israel for an everlasting covenant,
18 [†] Saying, Unto thee will I give the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance;
19 When ye were but few, even a few, and strangers in it.
20 And when they went from nation to nation, and from one kingdom to another people;
21 [†] He suffered no man to do them wrong: yea, he reproved kings for their sakes,
22 Saying, Touch not mine anointed, and do my prophets no harm.
23 Sing unto the Lord, all the earth; shew forth from day to day his salvation.
24 Declare his glory among the heathen; his marvellous works among all nations.
25 For great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised: he also is to be feared above all gods.
26 For all the gods of the people are idols: but the Lord made the heavens.
27 Glory and honour are in his presence; strength and gladness are in his place.
28 Give unto the Lord, ye kindreds of the people, give unto the Lord glory and strength.
29 Give unto the Lord the glory due unto his name: bring an offering, and come before him: worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness.
30 Fear before him, all the earth: the world also shall be stable, that it be not moved.
31 Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice: and let men say among the nations, The Lord reigneth.
32 Let the sea roar, and the fulness thereof: let the fields rejoice, and all that is therein.
33 Then shall the trees of the wood sing out at the presence of the Lord, because he cometh to judge the earth.
34 O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good; for his mercy endureth for ever.

35 And say ye, Save us, O God of our salvation, and gather us together, and deliver us from the heathen, that we may give thanks to thy holy name, and glory in thy praise.
36 [†] Blessed be the LORD God of Israel for ever and ever. And all the people said, Amen, and praised the LORD.
37 ¶ So he left there before the ark of the covenant of the LORD Asaph and his brethren, to minister before the ark continually, as every day's work required:
38 And Obed-edom with their brethren, threescore and eight; Obed-edom also the son of Jeduthun and Hosah to be porters:
39 [†] And Zadok the priest, and his brethren the priests, before the tabernacle of the LORD in the high place that was at Gibeon,
40 To offer burnt offerings unto the LORD upon the altar of the burnt offering continually morning and evening, and to do according to all that is written in the law of the LORD, which he commanded Israel;
41 And with them Heman and Jeduthun, and the rest that were chosen, who were expressed by name, to give thanks to the LORD, because his mercy endureth for ever;
42 And with them Heman and Jeduthun with trumpets and cymbals for those that should make a sound, and with musical instruments of God. And the sons of Jeduthun were porters.
43 And all the people departed every man to his house: and David returned to bless his house.

1 Chronicles 17 [†]

1 [†] Now it came to pass, as David sat in his house, that David said to Nathan the prophet, Lo, I dwell in an house of cedars, but the ark of the covenant of the Lord remaineth under curtains.
2 Then Nathan said unto David, Do all that is in thine heart; for God is with thee.
3 ¶ And it came to pass the same night, that the word of God came to Nathan, saying,
4 Go and tell David my servant, Thus saith the Lord, Thou shalt not build me an house to dwell in:
5 [†] For I have not dwelt in an house since the day that I brought up Israel unto this day; but have gone from tent to tent, and from one tabernacle to another.
6 [†] Wheresoever I have walked with all Israel, spake I a word to any of the judges of Israel, whom I commanded to feed my people, saying, Why have ye not built me an house of cedars?
7 [†] Now therefore thus shalt thou say unto my servant David, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, I took thee from the sheepcote, even from following the sheep, that thou shouldest be ruler over my people Israel:
8 And I have been with thee whithersoever thou hast walked, and have cut off all thine enemies from before thee, and have made thee a name like the name of the great men that are in the earth.
9 Also I will ordain a place for my people Israel, and will plant them, and they shall dwell in their place, and shall be moved no more; neither shall the children of wickedness waste them any more, as at the beginning,
10 [†] And since the time that I commanded judges to be over my people Israel. Moreover I will subdue all thine enemies. Furthermore I tell thee that the Lord will build thee an house.
11 [†] ¶ And it shall come to pass, when thy days be expired that thou must go to be with thy fathers, that I will raise up thy seed after thee, which shall be of thy sons; and I will establish his kingdom.
12 He shall build me an house, and I will stablish his throne for ever.
13 [†] I will be his father, and he shall be my son: and I will not take my mercy away from him, as I took it from him that was before thee:
14 But I will settle him in mine house and in my kingdom for ever: and his throne shall be established for evermore.
15 According to all these words, and according to all this vision, so did Nathan speak unto David.
16 [†] ¶ And David the king came and sat before the Lord, and said, Who am I, O Lord God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought me hitherto?
17 [†] And yet this was a small thing in thine eyes, O God; for thou hast also spoken of thy servant's house for a great while to come, and hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of high degree, O Lord God.
18 What can David speak more to thee for the honour of thy servant? for thou knowest thy servant.
19 O Lord, for thy servant's sake, and according to thine own heart, hast thou done all this greatness, in making known all these great things.
20 O Lord, there is none like thee, neither is there any God beside thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears.
21 [†] And what one nation in the earth is like thy people Israel, whom God went to redeem to be his own people, to make thee a name of greatness and terribleness, by driving out nations from before thy people, whom thou hast redeemed out of Egypt?
22 For thy people Israel didst thou make thine own people for ever; and thou, Lord, becamest their God.
23 [†] Therefore now, Lord, let the thing that thou hast spoken concerning thy servant and concerning his house be established for ever, and do as thou hast said.
24 Let it even be established, that thy name may be magnified for ever, saying, The Lord of hosts is the God of Israel, even a God to Israel: and let the house of David thy servant be established before thee.

25 For thou, O my God, hast told thy servant that thou wilt build him an house: therefore thy servant hath found in his heart to pray before thee.
26 And now, LORD, thou art God, and hast promised this goodness unto thy servant:
27 Now therefore let it please thee to bless the house of thy servant, that it may be before thee for ever: for thou blessest, O LORD, and it shall be blessed for ever.

1 Chronicles 18 [†]

1 [†] Now after this it came to pass, that David smote the Philistines, and subdued them, and took Gath and her towns out of the hand of the Philistines.
2 And he smote Moab; and the Moabites became David's servants, and brought gifts.
3 ¶ And David smote Hadarezer king of Zobah unto Hamath, as he went to stablish his dominion by the river Euphrates.
4 [†] And David took from him a thousand chariots, and seven thousand horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen: David also houghed all the chariot horses, but reserved of them an hundred chariots.
5 And when the Syrians of Damascus came to help Hadarezer king of Zobah, David slew of the Syrians two and twenty thousand men.
6 [†] Then David put garrisons in Syria-damascus; and the Syrians became David's servants, and brought gifts. Thus the Lord preserved David whithersoever he went.
7 [†] And David took the shields of gold that were on the servants of Hadarezer, and brought them to Jerusalem.
8 Likewise from Tibhath, and from Chun, cities of Hadarezer, brought David very much brass, wherewith Solomon made the brasen sea, and the pillars, and the vessels of brass.
9 [†] ¶ Now when Tou king of Hamath heard how David had smitten all the host of Hadarezer king of Zobah;
10 He sent Hadoram his son to king David, to enquire of his welfare, and to congratulate him, because he had fought against Hadarezer, and smitten him; (for Hadarezer had war with Tou;) and with him all manner of vessels of gold and silver and brass.
11 ¶ Them also king David dedicated unto the Lord, with the silver and the gold that he brought from all these nations; from Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistines, and from Amalek.
12 [†] Moreover Abishai the son of Zeruiah slew of the Edomites in the valley of salt eighteen thousand.
13 ¶ And he put garrisons in Edom; and all the Edomites became David's servants. Thus the Lord preserved David whithersoever he went.
14 [†] ¶ So David reigned over all Israel, and executed judgment and justice among all his people.
15 [†] And Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the host; and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud, recorder.
16 And Zadok the son of Ahitub, and Abimelech the son of Abiathar, were the priests; and Shavsha was scribe;
17 And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites; and the sons of David were chief about the king.

1 Chronicles 19 [†]

1 [†] Now it came to pass after this, that Nahash the king of the children of Ammon died, and his son reigned in his stead.
2 [†] And David said, I will shew kindness unto Hanun the son of Nahash, because his father shewed kindness to me. And David sent messengers to comfort him concerning his father. So the servants of David came into the land of the children of Ammon to Hanun, to comfort him.
3 But the princes of the children of Ammon said to Hanun, Thinkest thou that David doth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters unto thee? are not his servants come unto thee for to search, and to overthrow, and to spy out the land?
4 [†] Wherefore Hanun took David's servants, and shaved them, and cut off their garments in the midst hard by their buttocks, and sent them away.
5 [†] Then there went certain, and told David how the men were served. And he sent to meet them: for the men were greatly ashamed. And the king said, Tarry at Jericho until your beards be grown, and then return.
6 [†] ¶ And when the children of Ammon saw that they had made themselves odious to David, Hanun and the children of Ammon sent a thousand talents of silver to hire them chariots and horsemen out of Mesopotamia, and out of Syria-maachah, and out of Zobah.
7 So they hired thirty and two thousand chariots, and the king of Maachah and his people; who came and pitched before Medeba. And the children of Ammon gathered themselves together from their cities, and came to battle.
8 And when David heard of it, he sent Joab, and all the host of the mighty men.
9 And the children of Ammon came out, and put the battle in array before the gate of the city: and the kings that were come were by themselves in the field.
10 [†] Now when Joab saw that the battle was set against him before and behind, he chose out of all the choice of Israel, and put them in array against the Syrians.
11 And the rest of the people he delivered unto the hand of Abishai his brother, and they set themselves in array against the children of Ammon.
12 And he said, If the Syrians be too strong for me, then thou shalt help me: but if the children of Ammon be too strong for thee, then I will help thee.
13 [†] Be of good courage, and let us behave ourselves valiantly for our people, and for the cities of our God: and let the Lord do that which is good in his sight.
14 So Joab and the people that were with him drew nigh before the Syrians unto the battle; and they fled before him.
15 And when the children of Ammon saw that the Syrians were fled, they likewise fled before Abishai his brother, and entered into the city. Then Joab came to Jerusalem.
16 [†] ¶ And when the Syrians saw that they were put to the worse before Israel, they sent messengers, and drew forth the Syrians that were beyond the river: and Shophach the captain of the host of Hadarezer went before them.
17 And it was told David; and he gathered all Israel, and passed over Jordan, and came upon them, and set the battle in array against them. So when David had put the battle in array against the Syrians, they fought with him.
18 But the Syrians fled before Israel; and David slew of the Syrians seven thousand men which fought in chariots, and forty thousand footmen, and killed Shophach the captain of the host.
19 [†] And when the servants of Hadarezer saw that they were put to the worse before Israel, they made peace with David, and became his servants: neither would the Syrians help the children of Ammon any more.

1 Chronicles 20 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass, that after the year was expired, at the time that kings go out to battle, Joab led forth the power of the army, and wasted the country of the children of Ammon, and came and besieged Rabbah. But David tarried at Jerusalem. And Joab smote Rabbah, and destroyed it.
2 [†] And David took the crown of their king from off his head, and found it to weigh a talent of gold, and there were precious stones in it; and it was set upon David's head: and he brought also exceeding much spoil out of the city.
3 [†] And he brought out the people that were in it, and cut them with saws, and with harrows of iron, and with axes. Even so dealt David with all the cities of the children of Ammon. And David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.
4 [†] ¶ And it came to pass after this, that there arose war at Gezer with the Philistines; at which time Sibbechai the Hushathite slew Sippai, that was of the children of the giant: and they were subdued.
5 [†] And there was war again with the Philistines; and Elhanan the son of Jair slew Lahmi the brother of Goliath the Gittite, whose spear staff was like a weaver's beam.
6 And yet again there was war at Gath, where was a man of great stature, whose fingers and toes were four and twenty, six on each hand, and six on each foot: and he also was the son of the giant.
7 But when he defied Israel, Jonathan the son of Shimea David's brother slew him.
8 These were born unto the giant in Gath; and they fell by the hand of David, and by the hand of his servants.

1 Chronicles 21 [†]

1 [†] And Satan stood up against Israel, and provoked David to number Israel.
2 And David said to Joab and to the rulers of the people, Go, number Israel from Beer-sheba even to Dan; and bring the number of them to me, that I may know it.
3 [†] And Joab answered, The LORD make his people an hundred times so many more as they be: but, my lord the king, are they not all my lord's servants? why then doth my lord require this thing? why will he be a cause of trespass to Israel?
4 Nevertheless the king's word prevailed against Joab. Wherefore Joab departed, and went throughout all Israel, and came to Jerusalem.
5 [†] ¶ And Joab gave the sum of the number of the people unto David. And all they of Israel were a thousand thousand and an hundred thousand men that drew sword: and Judah was four hundred threescore and ten thousand men that drew sword.
6 But Levi and Benjamin counted he not among them: for the king's word was abominable to Joab.
7 And God was displeased with this thing; therefore he smote Israel.
8 And David said unto God, I have sinned greatly, because I have done this thing: but now, I beseech thee, do away the iniquity of thy servant; for I have done very foolishly.
9 [†] ¶ And the LORD spake unto Gad, David's seer, saying,
10 Go and tell David, saying, Thus saith the LORD, I offer thee three things: choose thee one of them, that I may do it unto thee.
11 So Gad came to David, and said unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Choose thee
12 [†] Either three years' famine; or three months to be destroyed before thy foes, while that the sword of thine enemies overtaketh thee; or else three days the sword of the LORD, even the pestilence, in the land, and the angel of the LORD destroying throughout all the coasts of Israel. Now therefore advise thyself what word I shall bring again to him that sent me.
13 [†] And David said unto Gad, I am in a great strait: let me fall now into the hand of the LORD; for very great are his mercies: but let me not fall into the hand of man.
14 [†] ¶ So the LORD sent pestilence upon Israel: and there fell of Israel seventy thousand men.
15 [†] And God sent an angel unto Jerusalem to destroy it: and as he was destroying, the LORD beheld, and he repented him of the evil, and said to the angel that destroyed, It is enough, stay now thine hand. And the angel of the LORD stood by the threshingfloor of Ornan the Jebusite.
16 [†] And David lifted up his eyes, and saw the angel of the LORD stand between the earth and the heaven, having a drawn sword in his hand stretched out over Jerusalem. Then David and the elders of Israel, who were clothed in sackcloth, fell upon their faces.
17 [†] And David said unto God, Is it not I that commanded the people to be numbered? even I it is that have sinned and done evil indeed; but as for these sheep, what have they done? let thine hand, I pray thee, O LORD my God, be on me, and on my father's house; but not on thy people, that they should be plagued.
18 [†] ¶ Then the angel of the LORD commanded Gad to say to David, that David should go up, and set up an altar unto the LORD in the threshingfloor of Ornan the Jebusite.
19 And David went up at the saying of Gad, which he spake in the name of the LORD.
20 And Ornan turned back, and saw the angel; and his four sons with him hid themselves. Now Ornan was threshing wheat.
21 And as David came to Ornan, Ornan looked and saw David, and went out of the threshingfloor, and bowed himself to David with his face to the ground.
22 Then David said to Ornan, Grant me the place of this threshingfloor, that I may build an altar therein unto the LORD: thou shalt grant it me for the full price: that the plague may be stayed from the people.

23 And Ornan said unto David, Take it to thee, and let my lord the king do that which is good in his eyes: lo, I give thee the oxen also for burnt offerings, and the threshing instruments for wood, and the wheat for the meat offering; I give it all.
24 [†] And king David said to Ornan, Nay; but I will verily buy it for the full price: for I will not take that which is thine for the LORD, nor offer burnt offerings without cost.
25 [†] So David gave to Ornan for the place six hundred shekels of gold by weight.
26 [†] And David built there an altar unto the LORD, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings, and called upon the LORD; and he answered him from heaven by fire upon the altar of burnt offering.
27 And the LORD commanded the angel; and he put up his sword again into the sheath thereof.
28 [†] ¶ At that time when David saw that the LORD had answered him in the threshingfloor of Ornan the Jebusite, then he sacrificed there.
29 [†] For the tabernacle of the LORD, which Moses made in the wilderness, and the altar of the burnt offering, were at that season in the high place at Gibeon.
30 But David could not go before it to enquire of God: for he was afraid because of the sword of the angel of the LORD.

1 Chronicles 22 [†]

1 [†] Then David said, This is the house of the Lord God, and this is the altar of the burnt offering for Israel.
2 [†] And David commanded to gather together the strangers that were in the land of Israel; and he set masons to hew wrought stones to build the house of God.
3 [†] And David prepared iron in abundance for the nails for the doors of the gates, and for the joinings; and brass in abundance without weight;
4 Also cedar trees in abundance: for the Zidonians and they of Tyre brought much cedar wood to David.
5 [†] And David said, Solomon my son is young and tender, and the house that is to be builded for the Lord must be exceeding magnifical, of fame and of glory throughout all countries: I will therefore now make preparation for it. So David prepared abundantly before his death.
6 [†] ¶ Then he called for Solomon his son, and charged him to build an house for the Lord God of Israel.
7 And David said to Solomon, My son, as for me, it was in my mind to build an house unto the name of the Lord my God:
8 [†] But the word of the Lord came to me, saying, Thou hast shed blood abundantly, and hast made great wars: thou shalt not build an house unto my name, because thou hast shed much blood upon the earth in my sight.
9 Behold, a son shall be born to thee, who shall be a man of rest; and I will give him rest from all his enemies round about: for his name shall be Solomon, and I will give peace and quietness unto Israel in his days.
10 [†] He shall build an house for my name; and he shall be my son, and I will be his father; and I will establish the throne of his kingdom over Israel for ever.
11 Now, my son, the Lord be with thee; and prosper thou, and build the house of the Lord thy God, as he hath said of thee.
12 [†] Only the Lord give thee wisdom and understanding, and give thee charge concerning Israel, that thou mayest keep the law of the Lord thy God.
13 [†] Then shalt thou prosper, if thou takest heed to fulfil the statutes and judgments which the Lord charged Moses with concerning Israel: be strong, and of good courage; dread not, nor be dismayed.
14 Now, behold, in my trouble I have prepared for the house of the Lord an hundred thousand talents of gold, and a thousand thousand talents of silver; and of brass and iron without weight; for it is in abundance: timber also and stone have I prepared; and thou mayest add thereto.
15 [†] Moreover there are workmen with thee in abundance, hewers and workers of stone and timber, and all manner of cunning men for every manner of work.
16 [†] Of the gold, the silver, and the brass, and the iron, there is no number. Arise therefore, and be doing, and the Lord be with thee.
17 [†] ¶ David also commanded all the princes of Israel to help Solomon his son, saying,
18 Is not the Lord your God with you? and hath he not given you rest on every side? for he hath given the inhabitants of the land into mine hand; and the land is subdued before the Lord, and before his people.
19 Now set your heart and your soul to seek the Lord your God; arise therefore, and build ye the sanctuary of the Lord God, to bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and the holy vessels of God, into the house that is to be built to the name of the Lord.

1 Chronicles 23 [†]

1 [†] So when David was old and full of days, he made Solomon his son king over Israel.
2 ¶ And he gathered together all the princes of Israel, with the priests and the Levites.
3 [†] Now the Levites were numbered from the age of thirty years and upward: and their number by their polls, man by man, was thirty and eight thousand.
4 [†] Of which, twenty and four thousand were to set forward the work of the house of the Lord; and six thousand were officers and judges:
5 Moreover four thousand were porters; and four thousand praised the Lord with the instruments which I made, said David, to praise therewith.
6 [†] And David divided them into courses among the sons of Levi, namely, Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.
7 ¶ Of the Gershonites were, Laadan, and Shimei.
8 The sons of Laadan; the chief was Jehiel, and Zetham, and Joel, three.
9 The sons of Shimei; Shelomith, and Haziel, and Haran, three. These were the chief of the fathers of Laadan.
10 And the sons of Shimei were, Jahath, Zina, and Jeush, and Beriah. These four were the sons of Shimei.
11 And Jahath was the chief, and Zizah the second: but Jeush and Beriah had not many sons; therefore they were in one reckoning, according to their father's house.
12 ¶ The sons of Kohath; Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel, four.
13 [†] The sons of Amram; Aaron and Moses: and Aaron was separated, that he should sanctify the most holy things, he and his sons for ever, to burn incense before the Lord, to minister unto him, and to bless in his name for ever.
14 Now concerning Moses the man of God, his sons were named of the tribe of Levi.
15 [†] The sons of Moses were, Gershom, and Eliezer.
16 Of the sons of Gershom, Shebuel was the chief.
17 And the sons of Eliezer were, Rehabiah the chief. And Eliezer had none other sons; but the sons of Rehabiah were very many.
18 Of the sons of Izhar; Shelomith the chief.
19 Of the sons of Hebron; Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekameam the fourth.
20 Of the sons of Uzziel; Michah the first, and Jesiah the second.
21 ¶ The sons of Merari; Mahli, and Mushi. The sons of Mahli; Eleazar, and Kish.
22 And Eleazar died, and had no sons, but daughters: and their brethren the sons of Kish took them.
23 The sons of Mushi; Mahli, and Eder, and Jeremoth, three.
24 ¶ These were the sons of Levi after the house of their fathers; even the chief of the fathers, as they were counted by number of names by their polls, that did the work for the service of the house of the Lord, from the age of twenty years and upward.
25 For David said, The Lord God of Israel hath given rest unto his people, that they may dwell in Jerusalem for ever:
26 [†] And also unto the Levites; they shall no more carry the tabernacle, nor any vessels of it for the service thereof.
27 [†] For by the last words of David the Levites were numbered from twenty years old and above:
28 Because their office was to wait on the sons of Aaron for the service of the house of the Lord, in the courts, and in the chambers, and in the purifying of all holy things, and the work of the service of the house of God;

29 [†] Both for the shewbread, and for the fine flour for meat offering, and for the unleavened cakes, and for that which is baked in the pan, and for that which is fried, and for all manner of measure and size;
30 And to stand every morning to thank and praise the LORD, and likewise at even;
31 And to offer all burnt sacrifices unto the LORD in the sabbaths, in the new moons, and on the set feasts, by number, according to the order commanded unto them, continually before the LORD:
32 [†] And that they should keep the charge of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the charge of the holy place, and the charge of the sons of Aaron their brethren, in the service of the house of the LORD.

1 Chronicles 24 [†]

1 Now these are the divisions of the sons of Aaron. The sons of Aaron; Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.
2 [†] But Nadab and Abihu died before their father, and had no children: therefore Eleazar and Ithamar executed the priest's office.
3 And David distributed them, both Zadok of the sons of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of the sons of Ithamar, according to their offices in their service.
4 [†] And there were more chief men found of the sons of Eleazar than of the sons of Ithamar; and thus were they divided. Among the sons of Eleazar there were sixteen chief men of the house of their fathers, and eight among the sons of Ithamar according to the house of their fathers.
5 [†] Thus were they divided by lot, one sort with another; for the governors of the sanctuary, and governors of the house of God, were of the sons of Eleazar, and of the sons of Ithamar.
6 And Shemaiah the son of Nethaneel the scribe, one of the Levites, wrote them before the king, and the princes, and Zadok the priest, and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar, and before the chief of the fathers of the priests and Levites: one principal household being taken for Eleazar, and one taken for Ithamar.
7 [†] Now the first lot came forth to Jehoiarib, the second to Jedaiah,
8 The third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim,
9 The fifth to Malchijah, the sixth to Mijamin,
10 The seventh to Hakkoz, the eighth to Abijah,
11 The ninth to Jeshua, the tenth to Shecaniah,
12 The eleventh to Eliashib, the twelfth to Jakim,
13 The thirteenth to Huppah, the fourteenth to Jeshebeab,
14 The fifteenth to Bilgah, the sixteenth to Immer,
15 The seventeenth to Hezir, the eighteenth to Aphses,
16 The nineteenth to Pethahiah, the twentieth to Jehezekel,
17 The one and twentieth to Jachin, the two and twentieth to Gamul,
18 The three and twentieth to Delaiah, the four and twentieth to Maaziah.
19 [†] These were the orderings of them in their service to come into the house of the Lord, according to their manner, under Aaron their father, as the Lord God of Israel had commanded him.
20 [†] ¶ And the rest of the sons of Levi were these: Of the sons of Amram; Shubael: of the sons of Shubael; Jehdeiah.
21 Concerning Rehabiah: of the sons of Rehabiah, the first was Isshiah.
22 Of the Izharites; Shelomoth: of the sons of Shelomoth; Jahath.
23 And the sons of Hebron; Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, Jekameam the fourth.
24 Of the sons of Uzziel; Michah: of the sons of Michah; Shamir.
25 The brother of Michah was Isshiah: of the sons of Isshiah; Zechariah.
26 The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi: the sons of Jaaziah; Beno.
27 ¶ The sons of Merari by Jaaziah; Beno, and Shoham, and Zaccur, and Ibri.
28 Of Mahli came Eleazar, who had no sons.
29 Concerning Kish: the son of Kish was Jerahmeel.
30 The sons also of Mushi; Mahli, and Eder, and Jerimoth. These were the sons of the Levites after the house of their fathers.
31 [†] These likewise cast lots over against their brethren the sons of Aaron in the presence of David the king, and Zadok, and Ahimelech, and the chief of the fathers of the priests and Levites, even the principal fathers over against their younger brethren.

1 Chronicles 25 [†]

1 [†] Moreover David and the captains of the host separated to the service of the sons of Asaph, and of Heman, and of Jeduthun, who should prophesy with harps, with psalteries, and with cymbals: and the number of the workmen according to their service was:
2 [†] Of the sons of Asaph; Zaccur, and Joseph, and Nethaniah, and Asarelah, the sons of Asaph under the hands of Asaph, which prophesied according to the order of the king.
3 Of Jeduthun: the sons of Jeduthun; Gedaliah, and Zeri, and Jeshaiah, Hashabiah, and Mattithiah, six, under the hands of their father Jeduthun, who prophesied with a harp, to give thanks and to praise the Lord.
4 Of Heman: the sons of Heman; Bukkiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shebuel, and Jerimoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, and Romamti-ezer, Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir, and Mahazioth:
5 [†] All these were the sons of Heman the king's seer in the words of God, to lift up the horn. And God gave to Heman fourteen sons and three daughters.
6 All these were under the hands of their father for song in the house of the Lord, with cymbals, psalteries, and harps, for the service of the house of God, according to the king's order to Asaph, Jeduthun, and Heman.
7 [†] So the number of them, with their brethren that were instructed in the songs of the Lord, even all that were cunning, was two hundred fourscore and eight.
8 [†] ¶ And they cast lots, ward against ward, as well the small as the great, the teacher as the scholar.
9 Now the first lot came forth for Asaph to Joseph: the second to Gedaliah, who with his brethren and sons were twelve:
10 The third to Zaccur, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
11 The fourth to Izri, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
12 The fifth to Nethaniah, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
13 The sixth to Bukkiah, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
14 The seventh to Jesharelah, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
15 The eighth to Jeshaiah, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
16 The ninth to Mattaniah, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
17 The tenth to Shimei, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
18 The eleventh to Azareel, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
19 The twelfth to Hashabiah, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
20 The thirteenth to Shubael, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
21 The fourteenth to Mattithiah, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
22 The fifteenth to Jeremoth, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
23 The sixteenth to Hananiah, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
24 The seventeenth to Joshbekashah, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
25 The eighteenth to Hanani, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
26 The nineteenth to Mallothi, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
27 The twentieth to Eliathah, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
28 The one and twentieth to Hothir, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
29 The two and twentieth to Giddalti, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
30 The three and twentieth to Mahazioth, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve:
31 The four and twentieth to Romamti-ezer, he, his sons, and his brethren, were twelve.

1 Chronicles 26 [†]

1 [†] Concerning the divisions of the porters: Of the Korhites was Meshelemiah the son of Kore, of the sons of Asaph.
2 And the sons of Meshelemiah were, Zechariah the firstborn, Jediael the second, Zebadiah the third, Jathniel the fourth,
3 Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the sixth, Elioenai the seventh.
4 Moreover the sons of Obed-edom were, Shemaiah the firstborn, Jehozabad the second, Joah the third, and Sacar the fourth, and Nethaneel the fifth,
5 Ammiel the sixth, Issachar the seventh, Peulthai the eighth: for God blessed him.
6 [†] Also unto Shemaiah his son were sons born, that ruled throughout the house of their father: for they were mighty men of valour.
7 The sons of Shemaiah; Othni, and Rephael, and Obed, Elzabad, whose brethren were strong men, Elihu, and Semachiah.
8 All these of the sons of Obed-edom: they and their sons and their brethren, able men for strength for the service, were threescore and two of Obed-edom.
9 And Meshelemiah had sons and brethren, strong men, eighteen.
10 [†] Also Hosah, of the children of Merari, had sons; Simri the chief, (for though he was not the firstborn, yet his father made him the chief;)
11 Hilkiah the second, Tebaliah the third, Zechariah the fourth: all the sons and brethren of Hosah were thirteen.
12 Among these were the divisions of the porters, even among the chief men, having wards one against another, to minister in the house of the Lord.
13 [†] ¶ And they cast lots, as well the small as the great, according to the house of their fathers, for every gate.
14 [†] And the lot eastward fell to Shelemiah. Then for Zechariah his son, a wise counsellor, they cast lots; and his lot came out northward.
15 To Obed-edom southward; and to his sons the house of Asuppim.
16 [†] To Shuppim and Hosah the lot came forth westward, with the gate Shallecheth, by the causeway of the going up, ward against ward.
17 Eastward were six Levites, northward four a day, southward four a day, and toward Asuppim two and two.
18 At Parbar westward, four at the causeway, and two at Parbar.
19 These are the divisions of the porters among the sons of Kore, and among the sons of Merari.
20 [†] ¶ And of the Levites, Ahijah was over the treasures of the house of God, and over the treasures of the dedicated things.
21 As concerning the sons of Laadan; the sons of the Gershonite Laadan, chief fathers, even of Laadan the Gershonite, were Jehieli.
22 The sons of Jehieli; Zetham, and Joel his brother, which were over the treasures of the house of the Lord.
23 Of the Amramites, and the Izharites, the Hebronites, and the Uzzielites:
24 And Shebuel the son of Gershom, the son of Moses, was ruler of the treasures.
25 And his brethren by Eliezer; Rehabiah his son, and Jeshaiah his son, and Joram his son, and Zichri his son, and Shelomith his son.
26 Which Shelomith and his brethren were over all the treasures of the dedicated things, which David the king, and the chief fathers, the captains over thousands and hundreds, and the captains of the host, had dedicated.

27 Out of the spoils won in battles did they dedicate to maintain the house of the LORD.
28 And all that Samuel the seer, and Saul the son of Kish, and Abner the son of Ner, and Joab the son of Zeruiah, had dedicated; and whosoever had dedicated any thing, it was under the hand of Shelomith, and of his brethren.
29 ¶ Of the Izharites, Chenaniah and his sons were for the outward business over Israel, for officers and judges.
30 And of the Hebronites, Hashabiah and his brethren, men of valour, a thousand and seven hundred, were officers among them of Israel on this side Jordan westward in all the business of the LORD, and in the service of the king.
31 Among the Hebronites was Jerijah the chief, even among the Hebronites, according to the generations of his fathers. In the fortieth year of the reign of David they were sought for, and there were found among them mighty men of valour at Jazer of Gilead.
32 And his brethren, men of valour, were two thousand and seven hundred chief fathers, whom king David made rulers over the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh, for every matter pertaining to God, and affairs of the king.

1 Chronicles 27 [†]

1 [†] Now the children of Israel after their number, to wit, the chief fathers and captains of thousands and hundreds, and their officers that served the king in any matter of the courses, which came in and went out month by month throughout all the months of the year, of every course were twenty and four thousand.
2 Over the first course for the first month was Jashobeam the son of Zabdiel: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.
3 Of the children of Perez was the chief of all the captains of the host for the first month.
4 And over the course of the second month was Dodai an Ahohite, and of his course was Mikloth also the ruler: in his course likewise were twenty and four thousand.
5 The third captain of the host for the third month was Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, a chief priest: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.
6 This is that Benaiah, who was mighty among the thirty, and above the thirty: and in his course was Ammizabad his son.
7 The fourth captain for the fourth month was Asahel the brother of Joab, and Zebadiah his son after him: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.
8 The fifth captain for the fifth month was Shamhuth the Izrahite: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.
9 The sixth captain for the sixth month was Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.
10 The seventh captain for the seventh month was Helez the Pelonite, of the children of Ephraim: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.
11 The eighth captain for the eighth month was Sibbecai the Hushathite, of the Zarhites: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.
12 The ninth captain for the ninth month was Abi-ezer the Anetothite, of the Benjamites: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.
13 The tenth captain for the tenth month was Maharai the Netophathite, of the Zarhites: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.
14 The eleventh captain for the eleventh month was Benaiah the Pirathonite, of the children of Ephraim: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.
15 The twelfth captain for the twelfth month was Heldai the Netophathite, of Othniel: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.
16 [†] ¶ Furthermore over the tribes of Israel: the ruler of the Reubenites was Eliezer the son of Zichri: of the Simeonites, Shephatiah the son of Maachah:
17 Of the Levites, Hashabiah the son of Kemuel: of the Aaronites, Zadok:
18 Of Judah, Elihu, one of the brethren of David: of Issachar, Omri the son of Michael:
19 Of Zebulun, Ishmaiah the son of Obadiah: of Naphtali, Jerimoth the son of Azriel:
20 Of the children of Ephraim, Hoshea the son of Azaziah: of the half tribe of Manasseh, Joel the son of Pedaiah:
21 Of the half tribe of Manasseh in Gilead, Iddo the son of Zechariah: of Benjamin, Jaasiel the son of Abner:
22 Of Dan, Azareel the son of Jeroham. These were the princes of the tribes of Israel.
23 [†] ¶ But David took not the number of them from twenty years old and under: because the Lord had said he would increase Israel like to the stars of the heavens.
24 [†] Joab the son of Zeruiah began to number, but he finished not, because there fell wrath for it against Israel; neither was the number put in the account of the chronicles of king David.

25 [†] ¶ And over the king's treasures was Azmaveth the son of Adiel: and over the storehouses in the fields, in the cities, and in the villages, and in the castles, was Jehonathan the son of Uzziah:
26 [†] And over them that did the work of the field for tillage of the ground was Ezri the son of Chelub:
27 And over the vineyards was Shimei the Ramathite: over the increase of the vineyards for the wine cellars was Zabdi the Shiphmite:
28 And over the olive trees and the sycomore trees that were in the low plains was Baal-hanan the Gederite: and over the cellars of oil was Joash:
29 And over the herds that fed in Sharon was Shitrai the Sharonite: and over the herds that were in the valleys was Shaphat the son of Adlai:
30 Over the camels also was Obil the Ishmaelite: and over the asses was Jehdeiah the Meronothite:
31 And over the flocks was Jaziz the Hagerite. All these were the rulers of the substance which was king David's.
32 [†] Also Jonathan David's uncle was a counsellor, a wise man, and a scribe: and Jehiel the son of Hachmoni was with the king's sons:
33 And Ahithophel was the king's counsellor: and Hushai the Archite was the king's companion:
34 And after Ahithophel was Jehoiada the son of Benaiah, and Abiathar: and the general of the king's army was Joab.

1 Chronicles 28 [†]

1 [†] And David assembled all the princes of Israel, the princes of the tribes, and the captains of the companies that ministered to the king by course, and the captains over the thousands, and captains over the hundreds, and the stewards over all the substance and possession of the king, and of his sons, with the officers, and with the mighty men, and with all the valiant men, unto Jerusalem.
2 [†] Then David the king stood up upon his feet, and said, Hear me, my brethren, and my people: As for me, I had in mine heart to build an house of rest for the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and for the footstool of our God, and had made ready for the building:
3 But God said unto me, Thou shalt not build an house for my name, because thou hast been a man of war, and hast shed blood.
4 [†] Howbeit the Lord God of Israel chose me before all the house of my father to be king over Israel for ever: for he hath chosen Judah to be the ruler; and of the house of Judah, the house of my father; and among the sons of my father he liked me to make me king over all Israel:
5 And of all my sons, (for the Lord hath given me many sons,) he hath chosen Solomon my son to sit upon the throne of the kingdom of the Lord over Israel.
6 [†] And he said unto me, Solomon thy son, he shall build my house and my courts: for I have chosen him to be my son, and I will be his father.
7 Moreover I will establish his kingdom for ever, if he be constant to do my commandments and my judgments, as at this day.
8 Now therefore in the sight of all Israel the congregation of the Lord, and in the audience of our God, keep and seek for all the commandments of the Lord your God: that ye may possess this good land, and leave it for an inheritance for your children after you for ever.
9 ¶ And thou, Solomon my son, know thou the God of thy father, and serve him with a perfect heart and with a willing mind: for the Lord searcheth all hearts, and understandeth all the imaginations of the thoughts: if thou seek him, he will be found of thee; but if thou forsake him, he will cast thee off for ever.
10 Take heed now; for the Lord hath chosen thee to build an house for the sanctuary: be strong, and do it.
11 [†] ¶ Then David gave to Solomon his son the pattern of the porch, and of the houses thereof, and of the treasuries thereof, and of the upper chambers thereof, and of the inner parlours thereof, and of the place of the mercy seat,
12 And the pattern of all that he had by the spirit, of the courts of the house of the Lord, and of all the chambers round about, of the treasuries of the house of God, and of the treasuries of the dedicated things:
13 Also for the courses of the priests and the Levites, and for all the work of the service of the house of the Lord, and for all the vessels of service in the house of the Lord.
14 [†] He gave of gold by weight for things of gold, for all instruments of all manner of service; silver also for all instruments of silver by weight, for all instruments of every kind of service:
15 Even the weight for the candlesticks of gold, and for their lamps of gold, by weight for every candlestick, and for the lamps thereof: and for the candlesticks of silver by weight, both for the candlestick, and also for the lamps thereof, according to the use of every candlestick.
16 And by weight he gave gold for the tables of shewbread, for every table; and likewise silver for the tables of silver:
17 Also pure gold for the fleshhooks, and the bowls, and the cups: and for the golden basons he gave gold by weight for every bason; and likewise silver by weight for every bason of silver:

18 [†] And for the altar of incense refined gold by weight; and gold for the pattern of the chariot of the cherubims, that spread out their wings, and covered the ark of the covenant of the LORD.
19 All this, said David, the LORD made me understand in writing by his hand upon me, even all the works of this pattern.
20 [†] And David said to Solomon his son, Be strong and of good courage, and do it: fear not, nor be dismayed: for the LORD God, even my God, will be with thee; he will not fail thee, nor forsake thee, until thou hast finished all the work for the service of the house of the LORD.
21 And, behold, the courses of the priests and the Levites, even they shall be with thee for all the service of the house of God: and there shall be with thee for all manner of workmanship every willing skilful man, for any manner of service: also the princes and all the people will be wholly at thy commandment.

1 Chronicles 29 [†]

1 [†] Furthermore David the king said unto all the congregation, Solomon my son, whom alone God hath chosen, is yet young and tender, and the work is great: for the palace is not for man, but for the Lord God.
2 [†] Now I have prepared with all my might for the house of my God the gold for things to be made of gold, and the silver for things of silver, and the brass for things of brass, the iron for things of iron, and wood for things of wood; onyx stones, and stones to be set, glistering stones, and of divers colours, and all manner of precious stones, and marble stones in abundance.
3 [†] Moreover, because I have set my affection to the house of my God, I have of mine own proper good, of gold and silver, which I have given to the house of my God, over and above all that I have prepared for the holy house,
4 [†] Even three thousand talents of gold, of the gold of Ophir, and seven thousand talents of refined silver, to overlay the walls of the houses withal:
5 [†] The gold for things of gold, and the silver for things of silver, and for all manner of work to be made by the hands of artificers. And who then is willing to consecrate his service this day unto the Lord?
6 ¶ Then the chief of the fathers and princes of the tribes of Israel, and the captains of thousands and of hundreds, with the rulers of the king's work, offered willingly,
7 [†] And gave for the service of the house of God of gold five thousand talents and ten thousand drams, and of silver ten thousand talents, and of brass eighteen thousand talents, and one hundred thousand talents of iron.
8 And they with whom precious stones were found gave them to the treasure of the house of the Lord, by the hand of Jehiel the Gershonite.
9 [†] Then the people rejoiced, for that they offered willingly, because with perfect heart they offered willingly to the Lord: and David the king also rejoiced with great joy.
10 ¶ Wherefore David blessed the Lord before all the congregation: and David said, Blessed be thou, Lord God of Israel our father, for ever and ever.
11 [†] Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all.
12 Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest over all; and in thine hand is power and might; and in thine hand it is to make great, and to give strength unto all.
13 Now therefore, our God, we thank thee, and praise thy glorious name.
14 [†] But who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to offer so willingly after this sort? for all things come of thee, and of thine own have we given thee.
15 For we are strangers before thee, and sojourners, as were all our fathers: our days on the earth are as a shadow, and there is none abiding.
16 O Lord our God, all this store that we have prepared to build thee an house for thine holy name cometh of thine hand, and is all thine own.
17 [†] I know also, my God, that thou triest the heart, and hast pleasure in uprightness. As for me, in the uprightness of mine heart I have willingly offered all these things: and now have I seen with joy thy people, which are present here, to offer willingly unto thee.
18 [†] O Lord God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Israel, our fathers, keep this for ever in the imagination of the thoughts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their heart unto thee:
19 [†] And give unto Solomon my son a perfect heart, to keep thy commandments, thy testimonies, and thy statutes, and to do all these things, and to build the palace, for the which I have made provision.

20 ¶ And David said to all the congregation, Now bless the LORD your God. And all the congregation blessed the LORD God of their fathers, and bowed down their heads, and worshipped the LORD, and the king.
21 [†] And they sacrificed sacrifices unto the LORD, and offered burnt offerings unto the LORD, on the morrow after that day, even a thousand bullocks, a thousand rams, and a thousand lambs, with their drink offerings, and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel:
22 [†] And did eat and drink before the LORD on that day with great gladness. And they made Solomon the son of David king the second time, and anointed him unto the LORD to be the chief governor, and Zadok to be priest.
23 [†] Then Solomon sat on the throne of the LORD as king instead of David his father, and prospered; and all Israel obeyed him.
24 [†] And all the princes, and the mighty men, and all the sons likewise of king David, submitted themselves unto Solomon the king.
25 [†] And the LORD magnified Solomon exceedingly in the sight of all Israel, and bestowed upon him such royal majesty as had not been on any king before him in Israel.
26 ¶ Thus David the son of Jesse reigned over all Israel.
27 And the time that he reigned over Israel was forty years; seven years reigned he in Hebron, and thirty and three years reigned he in Jerusalem.
28 [†] And he died in a good old age, full of days, riches, and honour: and Solomon his son reigned in his stead.
29 Now the acts of David the king, first and last, behold, they are written in the book of Samuel the seer, and in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the book of Gad the seer,
30 With all his reign and his might, and the times that went over him, and over Israel, and over all the kingdoms of the countries.

NOTES ON THE BOOK OF

1 CHRONICLES

KINGDOM PROMISED (1 CHRON. 1:1—9:44)

Chapter 1: This chapter opens the genealogical record of Israel from Adam to Jacob, with a section on Esau's descendants.

Adam to Abraham (1 Chron. 1:1–27)

1:1 The genealogy of Chronicles starts at the beginning of mankind with Adam, Sheth, Enosh (Gen. 5:1–11). Chronicles has a universal scope, emphasizing God's sovereign choice of Jacob among all nations, and grounding His purposes for Israel in creation. Adam was the first king in the world (Gen. 1:26–28), but like Saul he fell by disobedience to God (Gen. 3), so that God promised to raise up another, more righteous king—the seed of the woman (Gen. 3:15).

1:4 Shem, Ham, and Japheth. The sons of Noah. Shem was the line from which the promised seed of the woman would ultimately spring (Gen. 9:26–27; 11:10–26).

1:10 Nimrod. A powerful leader with a Mesopotamian kingdom (Gen. 10:8–12).

1:19 Peleg; because in his days the earth was divided. A reference to the nations being divided after the tower of Babel (Gen. 10:25; 11:1–9). Chronicles affirms the historical reality of Gen. 1–11.

1:27 Abram . . . Abraham. In the context of changing Abram's name, the Lord also revealed that kings would arise from his offspring (Gen. 17:5–6; cf. Gen. 17:16; 35:11).

Esau (1 Chron. 1:28–54)

1:28–34 The genealogy is also given in Gen. 25:1–4.

1:32 Keturah. A concubine of Abraham (Gen. 25:1,6).

1:34 Israel. The author goes straight to Jacob's new name, Israel.

1:35 The sons of Esau. Listed in Gen. 36:10–43. These sons were later known as the Edomites, frequently enemies of the people of Israel.

1:44 stead. Place.

1:51 dukes. Chiefs.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 1

> We have all descended from one man: Adam. The existence of Adam was as much history as the existence of David. In Adam, we were all made in God's image and likeness. God's purpose for His people therefore remains to fill the earth with His living image. In Adam, we all sinned and have fallen into spiritual corruption and enduring misery. We all share the same fallen nature as the Canaanites. We all die and face judgment, and human life is so transient that from God's perspective all the generations from Adam to Israel fit on a single page of history. God's people consequently must be redeemed by the Lord's grace if they will ever achieve their high calling and eternal life. Mankind needs a new Adam. How has God met that need in Christ?

Chapter 2: This chapter contains the genealogy from the time of Jacob to David.

Jacob to David (1 Chron. 2:1–55)

2:1 sons of Israel. Listed according to their mothers with the exception of Dan (Gen. 35:22–26). Israel. Chronicles is clearly concerned about showing the unity of the people, and hence he uses Jacob's second name, Israel, to include both the northern and southern kingdoms.

2:3—4:23 Judah appears first because to him was promised the scepter or rule over his brothers (Gen. 49:10). The lineage of David, founded in Judah, is of particular importance to Israel's history and the redemption of God.

2:3–4 The history of the tribe of Judah, on which Chronicles concentrates, begins in a rather sordid way (Gen. 38). This serves to glorify the sovereign grace of God, who included Tamar in the line of Jesus Christ (Matt. 1:3).

2:7 troubler of Israel. Achan (Achar) took things devoted to destruction and hid them, bringing God's judgment on the people (Josh. 7). Judah's lineage included the names of infamous sinners.

2:10 Nahshon. Brother of Aaron's wife, Elisheba (Ex. 6:23; Ruth 4:19–22).

2:12 The reference to Boaz reminds us of the story of Ruth. The lead-up to David has a number of turns that illustrate the grace and providence of God.

2:15 David the seventh. David is recorded as the eighth son of Jesse (1 Sam. 17:12). Perhaps one of the others died young or did not have any sons, and therefore is not counted here.

2:18 Caleb. Not the same man who spied out the land with Joshua (4:15).

2:20 Bezaleel. The one known for building the tabernacle (Ex. 31:2).

2:25–33 These verses include the genealogy of the Jerahmeelites. Little is known of the men listed here other than they lived in the Negev, south of Judah (1 Sam. 27:10; 30:29).

2:34–35 Nothing more is known of Sheshan other than what is noted here.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 2

> The history of God's people is full of examples of sin, such as sexual lust and selfishness (Judah, Onan, and Tamar, vv. 3–4), and greed and disobedience (Achan, v. 7). The Old Testament warns us not to follow in their footsteps, lest we suffer God's judgment. However, it also teaches us to trust in God's grace, for from such sinful families God brought the Savior. How do the examples of such people lead us to faith and repentance?

Chapter 3: Following the ancestors of David, this chapter focuses on the descendants of David including after the exile.

David (1 Chron. 3:1–24)

3:1–3 The line of Judah picks back up here from 2:15–17. The following lists six children from six different wives, probably the firstborn son of each, to note the line of kingly succession.

3:4–5 Hebron . . . Jerusalem. David's kingship was marked by two distinctive time eras. He ruled over Judah from Hebron for seven years and then over all Israel from Jerusalem (2 Sam. 2:11; 5:4–5).

3:9 all the sons of David. All of David's legitimate sons are named where only the king's successors are mentioned in the remainder of the royal line.

3:16 Zedekiah. The temple and Jerusalem were destroyed in his days. He was a wicked king who did not heed the Lord's commands (2 Chron. 36:11–21).

3:17–24 The Davidic throne as a political force ended with the exile but the line of David continued through the duration of the exile. Though they did not occupy a throne, they continued David's line until Christ was born from the root of Jesse (Isa. 11:1).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 3

> God's plan for a new Adam to undo the effects of the fall and restore man to His divine purpose focuses upon Israel (ch. 1), zooms in from all Israel to Judah (ch. 2), and comes to rest on David (ch. 3). David plays a very central role in the book of Chronicles. In a sense, all of Old Testament history leads up to David, and then follows upon David. The Savior declared to Adam (Gen. 3:15) would be a king of the line of David. Christ was born from the seed of David (Matt. 1:1; Rom. 1:3), and He is the promised Savior-King (Luke 1:31–33,69; 2:11). In turn, Christ has made all his people "kings," spiritually speaking (Rev. 1:6). They will sit with Him on His throne (Rev. 3:21). How can you know if you are part of His kingdom?

Twelve Tribes (1 Chron. 4:1—8:40)

This section of genealogies highlights Judah at the beginning (ch. 4), Levi at the center (ch. 6), and Benjamin at the end (ch. 8), as these were the sources of Israel's kings and priests, and the most prominent tribes after the exile.

Chapter 4: This chapter traces the genealogies of the tribes completing Judah and then Simeon.

4:1 The sons of Judah. Having traced the tribe of Judah through the line of Ram (chs. 2–3), Chronicles now completes his record of Judah with other Judahite families.

4:9–10 Jabez. Means "sorrowful." He was born in sorrow and yet prayed for God to bless him, reversing his sorrow to prosperity. coast. Region. This prayer was not motivated by selfish greed, but faith in God's covenant promises of an inheritance (Ex. 34:24; Deut. 12:20; 19:8).

4:13 Othniel. A Spirit-empowered judge over Israel whose father was the nephew of Caleb (Josh. 15:17; Judg. 1:13; 3:9–11).

4:24–43 Simeon. By David's time much of this tribe had been absorbed into Judah as the land allotment originally given it was encapsulated in Judah (Gen. 49:5–7; Josh. 19:1).

4:41 smote their tents. Some from Simeon had made inroads among the Amalekites during the time of king Hezekiah (cf. 2 Chron. 29–32). rooms. Places.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 4

> Jabez's prayer (vv. 9–10) should not simply be taken as a request for earthly or temporal blessings. He prayed by faith to the God of the covenant to prosper him in the promised inheritance. God's people today should plead God's promises, looking past their painful circumstances to the riches of Jesus Christ (Eph. 1:3). Presently this means praying for a deeper experience of the work of the Holy Spirit, who is the down payment of our inheritance (Eph. 1:13–14). Ultimately this is prayer driven by hope in Christ's coming with glory (Eph. 1:17–18). How does Jabez's example encourage you to pray today?

Chapter 5: Chronicles continues the genealogical record of Israel with Reuben, Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh, the tribes that settled east of the Jordan River.

5:1–2 forasmuch. Because. The parenthetic statement shows why the birthright was taken from Reuben (Gen. 35:22; 49:3–4).

5:2 Judah prevailed. Before Jacob died, he blessed his sons, saying that Judah would be king among his brothers (Gen. 49:10). Though Judah received the right to rule, Joseph('s) inheritance was the double portion of a firstborn son's birthright from his father's fortune (Gen. 48:5).

5:6 Tilgath-pilneser. Otherwise known as Tiglath-Pileser III, or "Pul" (v. 26; also see 2 Kings 15:29; 16:7). The Assyrian Empire destroyed Samaria in 722/21 BC.

5:11–17 The genealogy of Gad.

5:18–22 A recounting of the war against the Hagarites, descendants of Hagar, Ishmaelites. The trust of these men in the Lord is underscored by their crying out to God in the battle (v. 20).

5:18 buckler. Small shield.

5:22 captivity. The exile.

5:25 they transgressed. The climax here is the exile of the tribes Chronicles has just recorded. There was faithfulness among the tribes, but they were largely marked by gross immorality and sin. whoring. Worshiping false gods through idols, often pictured as spiritual adultery (Ezek. 16; 23).

5:26 God of Israel stirred up. Though bound by covenant only to Israel, God's sovereignty is not limited, for He controls all people, even pagan kings (Prov. 21:1; Isa. 10:5–19). Pul . . . Tilgath-pilneser. See note at v. 6.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 5

> As Reuben's adultery with his father's concubine cost him the right of the firstborn (vv. 1–2), so Israel's spiritual adultery with idols cost them their inheritance in the land (vv. 25–26). God is a jealous God. He rules as the Sovereign over all people and all events (v. 26). He demands our complete allegiance, and will bless those who seek Him as their only Lord, but will punish those who cherish idols in their hearts or worship them with their lives. What idols are popular in your nation? What idols tempt your own heart?

Chapter 6: This chapter details the genealogy of Levi, the priests of Israel and their assistants chosen by God to serve in the tabernacle and temple.

6:1–15 Kohath. The line of Eleazar, the son of Aaron through the line of Kohath who was in the line of the high priest (Ex. 6:16–25). Again, Chronicles is selective, omitting several high priests from its genealogical record.

6:10 Azariah. First priest of the temple Solomon built, and so a prominent and well-remembered priest (1 Kings 4:2).

6:16–30 This section follows the three Levitical lines of Gershom, Kohath, and Merari.

6:28 Samuel. The prophet who would later anoint both Saul and David as kings over Israel. There is some confusion over Samuel being named as a Levite because his father was a descendant of an Ephrathite (1 Sam. 1:1). But the latter refers to his homeland, not his tribal identity, since the Levites were scattered throughout the country.

6:31 Chronicles introduces the functions of the Levitical singers. They were designated to orchestrate the worship of the tabernacle and later the temple.

6:33–47 Chronicles traces the lines of three prominent singers, Heman (v. 33), Asaph (v. 39), and Ethan (v. 44), back to their father Levi (15:17,19).

6:48 manner. Kind.

6:49 The main ministry of the Aaronic priests was to make an atonement for Israel by blood sacrifice, a type of Christ's priestly work (Heb. 9:6–14).

6:54–56 The high priestly line from Aaron dwelt in Hebron in the inheritance of Caleb, the man who with Joshua followed the Lord fully (Num. 13–14; 32:12; Josh. 14:6–15; 21:10–12).

6:54 their dwelling places. The cities that the tribe of Levi received from the people for their residence. coasts. Regions (v. 66).

6:57–81 The remaining sons of Aaron and other Levites received cities among the other tribes (cf. Josh. 21).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 6

> The prominence of the Levites in the genealogies reminds us that God's purpose required not just a king but also a priest. The primary function of the priesthood was to "make an atonement for Israel" (v. 49). Only by the forgiveness of sins could God dwell among His people as He once dwelt with Adam without violating His holiness. The sons of Aaron could only cleanse the flesh with outward rituals, but Christ alone cleanses the conscience with forgiveness (Heb. 9:13–14), for He "put away sin by the sacrifice of himself" (v. 26). It was a great consolation to Israel that they had the high priest appointed by God living among them. To whom do you look to make atonement for your sins? Anyone besides Christ who claims to be a priest and offers you absolution for your sins is a pretender and an offense to God, for He said to His Son, "Thou art a priest for ever" (Ps. 110:4; Heb. 5:5–6).

Chapter 7: Chronicles continues tracing the genealogies of the sons of Jacob, focusing on Issachar, Benjamin, Naphtali, Manasseh, Ephraim, and Asher, but omitting Dan and Zebulun.

7:1–5 The genealogical record now traces the line of Issachar (Gen. 46:13; Num. 26:23–25).

7:2 to wit. That is to say. valiant men of might. These men are remembered for their strength and bravery in the days of David.

7:6–12 The tribe of Benjamin (Gen. 46:21; Num. 26:38–39) will receive fuller treatment in the section leading up to its most famous member, King Saul (ch. 8). Perhaps one of the reasons Benjamin is partly treated here is because it fits the theme on mighty men of valour, military men (vv. 2,4–5,7,9,40).

7:13–19 The tribes of Naphtali and Manasseh (Gen. 46:24; Num. 26:29–33,48–49; Josh. 17:1–3). The author had already covered the half tribe of Manasseh east of the Jordan (5:23–24).

7:14 she bare. This must be the first wife, the nonconcubine. Aramitess. Aramean.

7:15 Zelophehad had daughters. See Num. 26:33; 27:1–11, which details this narrative.

7:20–29 The tribe of Ephraim was counted as one of the tribes of Israel because of the double portion Joseph received in his birthright (see note at 5:2).

7:21 the men of Gath. Philistines who caused trouble for the tribe of Ephraim, killing some of them.

7:22 This Ephraim cannot be the original father of the tribe, the son of Joseph, for he would have died in Egypt. It must be some descendant who took his name, not an unusual custom.

7:23 Beriah means "trouble," and is linguistically related to went evil, or "badly."

7:24 Sherah. This is an unusual note as it records a woman who built a town. nether. Lower.

7:27 Jehoshua. Joshua, the son of Nun (Num. 13:8).

7:30–40 The tribe of Asher (Gen. 46:17; Num. 26:44–46).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 7

> This chapter contains a lot of disparate information. However, a common thread through it all is the bravery and strength of military men (vv. 2,4–5,7,9,40). It also speaks of those who died violently at the hands of enemies to the grief of their surviving family (vv. 21–23). It is very fitting that the most famous person in this chapter is Joshua, who led Israel to successful war in order to receive its inheritance in the land (v. 27). Far from being ashamed of military service, the Bible teaches us that God's people are a spiritual army (Eph. 6:10–18), and Jesus, our greater Joshua, is the Captain of our salvation (Heb. 2:10). How do we fight for Him?

Chapter 8: Chronicles gives a fuller genealogy of Benjamin, leading up to the record of Saul, the first king of Israel.

8:1 This genealogy of the tribe of Benjamin is more detailed than the one that preceded (7:6–12) and closes the genealogies.

8:6 Ehud. The famous left-handed judge who killed the king of Moab (Judg. 3:12–30). removed them to Manahath. Not the Babylonian exile but a tribal exile (cf. 2 Sam. 4:2–3).

8:28 dwelt in Jerusalem. Jerusalem was originally allotted to the tribe of Benjamin, right on the border with Judah (Josh. 15:8; 18:28). David later defeated the Jebusites, giving the city to the people of Judah (2 Sam. 5:6–10).

8:29–40 These verses record the most famous lineage in Benjamin, the house of Saul. This prepares the way for the narrative of Saul's death (ch. 10) and the kingdom of David (chs. 11–29).

8:33 Esh-baal. Also known as Ish-bosheth (see note at 2 Sam. 2:8).

8:34 Merib-baal. Also known as Mephibosheth (2 Sam. 4:4; 9:6–13).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 8

> Though Benjamin was the youngest of the sons of Jacob, his tribe was by no means the least significant. Jacob had prophesied that Benjamin would be like a wolf: "In the morning he shall devour the prey, and at night he shall divide the spoil" (Gen. 49:27). From Benjamin would come the important judge Ehud (1 Chron. 8:6), a clan of skillful archers (v. 40), and the first king of Israel, Saul (v. 33). The apostle Paul, known for his zealous work for the gospel, hailed from the tribe of Benjamin (Rom. 11:1; Phil. 3:5). This reminds us that God's purposes for His people are not reserved for the greatest leaders or those from the most prominent families. However, the reference to King Saul also reminds us that the crucial factor in a person's service to God is obedience (1 Chron. 10:13–14; 1 Sam. 15:13–23). Why is obedience to God so much more important than skill or family pedigree?

Chapter 9: Chronicles now segues into a genealogical record of those individuals who returned from the Babylonian exile under Cyrus's decree before repeating Saul's genealogy another time.

Returning Exiles (1 Chron. 9:1–34)

9:1 carried away to Babylon. The narrative leaps forward in history to the exile (2 Chron. 36).

9:2 first inhabitants that dwelt. First people to return after the exile and dwell in their ancestral cities. Nethinims. See Ezra 2:43–58.

9:17–32 The vocation of porters had importance for Judah after the exile. They literally served as gatekeepers for the worship of the Lord, opening the doors of the temple every morning, shutting them every night, and guarding it from anyone who was ceremonially unclean (Ps. 84:10; Neh. 12:25,45).

9:18 hitherto. Before, prior to this time.

9:28 tale. Number.

9:29 frankincense. Fragrant incense.

Saul (1 Chron. 9:35–44)

9:35–44 The genealogy of Saul (v. 39) is traced out again (cf. 8:29–40) before Chronicles addresses his death (10:13) and how God handed the kingdom over to David (11:1–3). The genealogical section of Chronicles begins with Adam (1:1) and ends with Saul, both men to whom God gave dominion, both charged to obey His commandments, and both judged for their disobedience.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 9

> Rather than just a boring list of names, Chronicles has thus far outlined the story of the whole Bible. These genealogies begin in the garden of Eden (1:1) and end with people worshiping God in His city, Jerusalem, after the exile (9:33–34). In between there is much sin and sorrow, but also God's grace in the raising up of kings and priests. Chronicles taught the returning exiles that they should hope in the Lord because, although man's sin abounds, God's grace will abound much more through His chosen and coming King. The gospel of Jesus Christ reveals this King, who is both Priest and sacrifice for His people, so that they will worship God in the new Jerusalem coming down from heaven (Rev. 21:2). How can this vision give us hope?

KINGDOM ESTABLISHED (1 CHRON. 10:1—2 CHRON. 9:31)

Chapter 10: God delivers the kingdom to David after Saul's death.

Saul's Death (1 Chron. 10:1–14)

10:1 Philistines fought against Israel. Chronicles opens by noting the defeat of the Israelites by the Philistines (1 Sam. 31). For the purposes of focusing on David, the author portrays Saul very briefly and negatively.

10:2 slew . . . the sons of Saul. The royal heirs to the throne are killed first. Saul's house and lineage are coming to an end—just as was prophesied by the prophet Samuel (1 Sam. 15:23).

10:4 Saul was afraid that the Philistines would capture him and abuse him. To avoid this, Saul impaled himself with his own sword.

10:6 all his house died together. In line with his purpose, the author passes over the slow or gradual decline of Saul's house under his son, Ish-bosheth (2 Sam. 2:8; 3:1; 4:8).

10:7 and fled: and the Philistines came and dwelt in them. At this point in the narrative, Israel was without a king, scattered like a scared flock from their cities and towns. The Philistines took possession of these towns as their own.

10:8 morrow. Next morning.

10:9 carry tidings unto their idols. The Philistines marked the defeat of Saul as a victory of their gods (cf. 1 Sam. 5:1–2). It is telling that the idols need to hear news (tidings), for they have no divine knowledge (Ps. 115:5). There is no victory here for the other gods, for God had punished Saul (v. 13).

10:11–12 The people of Jabesh-gilead show their allegiance to Saul by claiming his body, just as Saul had formerly rescued the people of Jabesh-gilead (1 Sam. 11:1–11).

10:13–14 The LORD took Saul's life because he did not obey God's Word and consulted a demonic spirit (1 Sam. 13:13–14; 15:13–23; 28:7). Disobedience and false worship prove fatal for Israel's kings and people.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 10

> Saul's tragic rebellion and death stands as a solemn reminder that Israel's hope did not merely rest in restoring a king to its throne. The returned exiles must learn from history that kings are curses if they do not obey the Lord and give Him their undivided allegiance. Too often the kings reigning in Jerusalem had failed at precisely this point, and thus came the exile. In the same way, we all deserve eternal punishment from God because we have broken God's laws and given our hearts to false gods. The need of Israel and of all mankind is not just a king, but a king who is the obedient servant of the Lord. How does Jesus Christ perfectly meet this need?

David's Rise to Power (1 Chron. 11:1—12:40)

Chapter 11: David becomes king, captures Jerusalem, and gathers all Israel around him, including many mighty men.

11:1 all Israel. Just as all Israel fled from the Philistines (10:7), so now all Israel gathered together under David. thy bone and thy flesh. An idiomatic phrase relating the strong allegiance the people of Israel had to David, like husband and wife or close relatives (Gen. 2:23; 29:14; Judg. 9:2; 2 Sam. 19:12–13).

11:2 thou wast he that leddest out and broughtest in. Like a shepherd with his flock, David had led them into pastures by day and brought them into safety by night (cf. Ps. 78:71; Ezek. 37:24–28). The people of Israel confessed their allegiance to David, noting that he had been, in effect, their acting king since he defeated Goliath.

11:3 David made a covenant with them. The king and representatives of the people entered into a mutually binding promise to be loyal to each other (2 Sam. 3:21; 2 Chron. 16:3; 23:3), defining their responsibilities by God's Word (according to the word of the LORD by SAMUEL).

11:4 all Israel. Unity marked the initial days of the kingdom under David.

11:5 hither. Here, to this place. castle of Zion. Fortress built on a hill of Jerusalem, conquered by David's men (2 Sam. 5:6–9). Jerusalem plays a vital role in the message of Chronicles.

11:9 waxed greater and greater. Grew in his honor and power. the LORD OF HOSTS. This title is used to denote the Lord as the defender of His people by the armies (hosts) of beings He created and controls in heaven and earth (Isa. 45:12–13; Amos 4:13). He is the supreme King and Commander of all things (Isa. 6:1–3), including the armies of His angels (2 Chron. 18:18) and the armies of His people (12:22; Ex. 12:41; Josh. 5:14; cf. 1 Sam. 17:26,36; 2 Chron. 14:13). Before narrating David's mighty men, Chronicles shows us that the Lord is the power and salvation of His people (v. 14).

11:11–47 Chronicles records the names of David's mighty men at the outset of David's history. In the history of 1 and 2 Samuel, the account of David's mighty men is placed toward the end of David's ministry (2 Sam. 23).

11:11–12 three mighties. Three powerful men, apparently David's closest companions and best warriors: Jashobeam, Eleazar, and "Shammah," not mentioned here (2 Sam. 23:8–12). The author did not intend to have a complete listing, but more of a sampling.

11:13 parcel. Piece, portion.

11:14 the LORD saved them. Unlike the ungodly king Saul, in Chronicle's account, David is given victory over the Philistines by the power of the Lord.

11:17–19 There is a twofold significance to David pouring out the water gathered by his men at great risk to their lives. First, David shows a godward focus as was shown in sacrifice (Deut. 12:16). This water was as precious as blood since it had been in essence gathered at the risk of blood. Second, David realizes that what he is longing for deep down is much more than just water (Ps. 63:1–2).

11:20–47 After having dealt with the three most notable warriors of David, the author now turns to a sampling of the thirty in a second tier of David's warriors, headed by Abishai and Benaiah.

11:23 slew an Egyptian. There is a great similarity between this account and the account of David and Goliath, implying that no man wins victory by his own strength, but by the Lord (Ps. 33:16–18).

11:26—12:22 Chronicles briefly records the names of many of David's mighty men. It is worth noting that many of these individuals were not Israelites but come from different nations. David's kingship is not simply one for Israel alone, but is meant to extend as far as the whole world (Gen. 22:18; Ps. 2:8).

11:41 Uriah the Hittite. The husband of Bath-sheba was one of David's mighty men. Thus David betrayed and murdered one of his most trusted and valuable aids.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 11

1. Israel submitted to David's reign because they recognized their close bond with him ("thy bone and thy flesh") and his loving leadership of them like a shepherd (v. 1). How much more then should the church submit to Jesus Christ (Eph. 5:23)! He has taken on our flesh (John 1:14; Heb. 2:14). He loved the church supremely as its Shepherd by laying down His life for His sheep (John 10:14–15; Eph. 5:25). He has united us to Himself as His own body, His flesh and bone (Eph. 5:30). What would it look like for you to humbly give your allegiance and submission to King Jesus?
2. David's mighty men had developed their strength and skills to a high degree, and performed remarkable feats out of love for their king. Yet, every victory was from the Lord (v. 14). This teaches us to give all our heart and all our strength to perform our callings with excellence, and simultaneously to do all things in dependent prayer and give all the glory to the Lord. How can Christians strive to be mighty men and women for the Lord, and yet remain humble before Him?

Chapter 12: This chapter backs up to before David's coronation as king over all Israel to when people came to him in Ziklag and Hebron.

12:1 Ziklag. David was still wandering in the wilderness and Saul was persecuting him (1 Sam. 27:1–6).

12:2 Saul's brethren of Benjamin. The author underlines David's attractiveness by showing first how many Benjamites, Saul's own kin, deserted Saul, and came over to David. Others, however, stuck with Saul, as the author later notes (v. 29). The Benjamites were known for their ability with the bow (8:40).

12:8 buckler. Small shield.

12:15 overflown all his banks. This would have been a difficult water to ford (Josh. 3:15). David's mighty men are known for acts that require great strength.

12:17 mine heart shall be knit unto you. There is a strong sense of love and devotion between David and the house of Israel (11:1).

12:18 the spirit came. The Holy Spirit clothed him, equipping him to speak prophetically (2 Chron. 24:20). It is uncertain if this Amasai is the Amasa who joined Absalom in his revolt against David, then briefly served David (2 Sam. 17:25; 19:13; 20:4–13; cf. 2:17; 1 Kings 2:5,32).

12:19 advisement. Consideration, taking advice.

12:22 until it was a great host, like the host of God. The description of David's kingdom opened by speaking of the Lord of hosts (11:9), and now this unit closes by speaking of the army as the host of God. David was doing more than raising a physical army, he was raising an army for the Lord to fight by faith in the promises of God (1 Sam. 17:45).

12:23–40 Chronicles records the men of Israel from the twelve tribes who supported and fought for David. Representatives from all Israel had come to the defense of David to rise up against the ungodly kingdom of Saul.

12:29 hitherto. Until now.

12:33 not of double heart. Not divided in allegiance (James 1:8), but steadfastly determined to keep rank and file in the fight against the house of Saul.

12:37 manner. Sort, kind.

12:38 with a perfect heart to Hebron. With immense devotion to David. These armies and men were of one mind with their king and sought his exaltation in everything they did and fought for.

12:40 brought bread . . . sheep. The people provided abundantly for the needs of David and his men. joy in Israel. The Lord was with David and the people of Israel.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 12

> If the Spirit moved Amasai to declare Israel's allegiance to David and God's peace upon him (v. 18), then how much more does the Holy Spirit move people to declare the son of David, Jesus Christ, as Lord (1 Cor. 12:3)? The Lord's presence with David attracted many people from all walks of life to serve David, and in the same way the Spirit's anointing of Christ draws many different kinds of people to serve Him (Luke 15:1; 1 Cor. 1:27). Have you felt that spiritual attraction to Christ? Has the Spirit drawn you to serve Him as your King?

David's Pursuit of God's Presence (1 Chron. 13:1—17:27)

David's Attempts to Bring the Ark to Jerusalem (1 Chron. 13:1—16:43)

Chapter 13: David attempts to bring the ark of the Lord to Jerusalem, but Uzzah reaches out to touch it and is killed.

13:3 let us bring again the ark. The ark represented God's presence with His people and David desired to see the true worship of God settled in Jerusalem (Ps. 132:1–5). we enquired not at it in the days of Saul. They did not seek God in public worship. Saul's kingship was marked by rebellion against the will of God (10:13–14).

13:5 gathered all Israel together. David succeeded in unifying all Israel. Shihor of Egypt . . . Hemath. David summoned the people of Israel together within these two geographical landmarks. This is Israel considered as broadly as possible.

13:7 new cart. David thought to provide a sturdy transportation for the ark. This, however, was not in obedience to God's law (15:2,13), which required that the priests cover the ark and the Levites carry it on its poles. No one other than the priests should see it or touch it lest they die (Ex. 25:12–15; Num. 3:31; 4:4–6,15,20; Deut. 10:8; 31:9,25; Josh. 3–4). drave. Drove.

13:8 psalteries. Stringed instruments perhaps like a lyre or guitar. timbrels. Tambourines.

13:9–10 anger of the LORD. God is to be worshiped as He has commanded, not after man's imagination or invention (Lev. 10:1–3; Deut. 12:30–32), no matter how sincere or noble (v. 8).

13:11 David was displeased. David was deeply troubled, which reflects well on how greatly he desired the sign of God's presence in Jerusalem (Ps. 27:4). made a breach. Burst out to destroy.

13:12 David was afraid. This is proper. God is to be feared among the assembly of His saints (Ps. 89:7).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 13

1. Uzzah may have thought he had good motives in grasping the ark. However, he refused to recognize the holiness of God and his own sinfulness. He assumed his hand was cleaner than the dirt on which the ark would have fallen, if God did not sovereignly prevent it. The root of inventing our own worship instead of following God's Word is a disregard for God's holiness (Lev. 10:1–3; 1 Sam. 6:19–20). We should not presume to be able to approach or worship God according to our own imagination. How can we worship in the fear of the Lord and bow under the revelation of His will for worship?
2. We know that it was a great disappointment to David that the ark did not arrive in Jerusalem after this first attempt. We see how deeply David desired communion with God. "How shall I bring the ark of God home to me?" (v. 12). Do you desire communion with God? Do disappointments strengthen your desire for communion with God?

Chapter 14: David's kingdom grows and is established.

14:1 to build him an house. For the construction of a palace for David, Hiram king of Tyre sent materials.

14:2 David perceived. The favorable providence working for David confirmed his calling and the establishment of his kingdom. because of his people Israel. God's purposes went beyond David; the king is God's servant for the good of His people (2 Chron. 9:8).

14:8 the Philistines went up to seek David. This was a declaration of war.

14:10 enquired of God. Asked God for wisdom. David learned his dependence on God for everything, including defeating the Philistines.

14:11 Baal-perazim. Literally, "the Lord of breaking forth." God hath broken in upon mine enemies. God fought for Israel. This is the same Hebrew root used of God breaking in on Uzza (13:11; 15:13).

14:12 left their gods there. The idols were incompetent to save the Philistines. As a sign of their uselessness, they were burned with fire by David's armies (Deut. 7:5).

14:13 yet again spread themselves abroad. The Philistines sought again to destroy the Israelites.

14:14 David enquired. David approached God a second time, not assuming that the first victory guaranteed a second victory.

14:15 sound of going. A noise as if an army marched in the air above the tops of the trees. The Lord had commissioned His angelic army to fight for David (2 Kings 6:16–17).

14:17 the LORD brought the fear of him upon all nations. While Israel's heart was knit to David, the nations stood in fear of David because the Lord was with him (2 Chron. 14:14; 17:10; 20:29).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 14

> Though God established a human king over His people, that king was not to reign by human power or wisdom. The Lord confirmed the kingdom (v. 2). The king sought and found his wisdom in God (vv. 10,14). God broke out to destroy the enemies of the king (v. 11). God's invisible armies fought for him (v. 15). The king obeyed God's Word (v. 16). The Lord caused the nations to fear the king (v. 17). In these ways David foreshadows Christ and His kingdom. Jesus was truly human, but He did not build His kingdom on human strength. His kingdom comes in the Holy Spirit. He sought His Father regularly in prayer. The angels gave Christ strength in His darkest moments. He obeyed God to the death, even death on the cross. And now, risen from the dead, Christ has received authority from the Father to make disciples among all nations. If this is true of Christ, who is both God and man, how much more is it true of Christians? What lessons can we learn from this chapter about how we should seek the kingdom of God?

Chapter 15: This time, with the Levites carrying the ark, David successfully brings the ark to Jerusalem.

15:1 houses . . . tent. David built multiple houses for himself and yet God's ark only dwelt in a tent.

15:2 God only authorized the Levites to carry the ark, and only the priests to have direct contact with it (v. 15; see note at 13:7).

15:3 all Israel. The author stresses the involvement of the whole nation.

15:5–10 David divided the sons of Aaron by their clans. The priests took a prominent role in the bringing up of the ark.

15:12 I have prepared for it. This shows David's longing and zeal for the glory of the Lord with His people (Ps. 132:1–5).

15:13 made a breach. Broke out in judgment (13:11). after the due order. Literally, "according to the judgment" or "decree of God" (Ex. 26:30). The Lord desires men to seek and worship Him in the manner in which He has declared and has not left them to worship Him according to their imagination (cf. Ex. 20:4–6).

15:14 sanctified themselves. Set themselves apart for sacred ministry, per David's request.

15:16 psalteries. See note at 13:8. with joy. Worship is not a mere formality, but a celebration of God's glory and grace with great happiness (v. 25).

15:22 skilful. Levites were appointed to serve according to their ability.

15:24 doorkeepers. Same word as "porters" (see note at 9:17–32).

15:26 God helped. There was a clear sense of God's blessing over the occasion.

15:27 ephod of linen. Linen cape or sleeveless garment used by those officiating in the temple (1 Sam. 2:18).

15:29 Michal . . . despised him. She thought his joy and humble clothing in worship was unfitting for a king and suffered for her arrogance (2 Sam. 6:16,20–23).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 15

1. When King David took care that the people follow God's commands in worship (vv. 13–15), God assisted their worship with His grace (v. 26) and the people worshiped with great humility and joy (vv. 27–28). In the same way, the Lord Jesus, the King of the church, has directed the church in the right way of worship. Why is it crucial that the church worship God according to the Word of Christ? What does this mean, practically speaking?
2. Ironically, precisely when King David worshiped God in obedience to His Word, his wife Michal despised him for rejoicing in great humility (v. 29). How should we respond when worldly people likewise despise Christ and us if we are following Him in biblical worship?

Chapter 16: David celebrates the arrival of the ark with thanksgiving and praise.

16:1–3 Chronicles records the conclusion of the transfer of the ark and the celebration in Jerusalem.

16:4–6 David arranged the musical instruments for the service before the ark. The king appointed Levites to new functions because he was a prophet of the Lord, declaring God's will (28:12,19; 2 Chron. 8:14).

16:7 this psalm. With minor variations, vv. 8–22 correspond to Ps. 105:1–15, vv. 23–33 to Ps. 96:1–13, and vv. 34–36 to Ps. 106:1,47–48.

16:9 Sing . . . talk. Worship is a vocal act as much as it is an act of the heart.

16:10–11 Glory ye in his holy name. Boast in the qualities of the Lord that make Him and Him alone to be God. This psalm repeatedly celebrates God's greatness and calls men to fear and honor Him (vv. 24,27–29,35). seek the LORD. Pursue His special presence by submission to His Word; a major theme of Chronicles (see Introduction: Synopsis). David had sought God wrongly the first time he brought the ark up (15:13), but he now commanded Israel to seek the Lord according to His Word.

16:14 The covenant Lord of Israel (our God) is the Lord of all the earth.

16:18 Canaan. The Promised Land was Israel's by divine right.

16:21 World history is ultimately the history of God's redeeming work for His people. In this sense, David writes that God reproved the nations for their sakes (cf. Gen. 12:17).

16:36 Amen. A similar response was given when Moses renewed the covenant with the people of Israel before they entered the Promised Land (Deut. 27:15–26).

16:39 Gibeon. The altar of burnt offering was not yet moved to Jerusalem at this time (21:29).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 16

1. At the heart of worship is seeking God (vv. 10–11). By nature we have lost God and have turned our backs to Him. Nevertheless, it is only in His presence that there is light and life. It is only through Jesus Christ that we can have fellowship with Him and taste of His goodness and grace. Through Christ, we can have access to the Father in the Holy Spirit. This was David's one passion:

to seek God and enjoy His glory (Ps. 27:4,8). How can you kindle the same passion in your own heart?

2. Thanksgiving (v. 34) is the overflow in the heart of what God has done in His grace for undeserving sinners. It is the response of human love to the love of the Lord. It shows itself in our thoughts, words, and actions. David was overwhelmed that God would draw so near to him and his nation. He spent a lot of time and energy praising Him. How thankful are we? Why do we lack a thankful attitude many times?

Chapter 17: God makes many great promises to David regarding His throne and seed—the pinnacle of Chronicles—to which David responds in worship.

God's Promise to David: Covenant Made (1 Chron. 17:1–27)

17:1 house of cedars . . . curtains. David saw the paradox of his own honor and the lowliness of God's dwelling.

17:5 one tabernacle to another. One dwelling to another.

17:6 Why have ye not built me an house. Without condemning David's motives, the Lord reminded him that God is Lord of His worship, and the temple must come from His will, not man's.

17:7–9 I took . . . I have been . . . cut off . . . made thee a name . . . I will ordain. God recounted His covenant faithfulness to His people Israel, again emphasizing the sovereign initiative of His grace.

17:10 build thee an house. David sought to build God a physical house, but God promised to first build David a lasting household or lineage.

17:11 thy seed. David's offspring. The language of seed reaches through the covenants back to the first declaration of the Savior from sin (Gen. 3:15; 9:9; 17:7). Here God revealed the coming Savior in the everlasting kingdom of the son of David (Isa. 9:6–7; Luke 1:32–33).

17:13 his father . . . my son. The adoption given to Israel (Ex. 4:22) was focused on the line of David (Ps. 89:26–27) in a covenant of unbreakable mercy (Ps. 89:28–37). God fulfilled this covenant in His only begotten Son, in whom believers are also adopted by God (John 1:12,14,18; Gal. 4:4–7).

17:16–27 David's prayer is divided into three sections: a prayer for himself (vv. 16–20), a prayer for the nation (vv. 21–22), and a prayer for God to remember His covenant faithfulness (vv. 23–27). David repeatedly called himself thy servant, echoing God's own designation for him (vv. 4,7).

17:17 a small thing in thine eyes. Easy for God and not troublesome (Luke 1:46–55).

17:21–22 God's deliverance of Israel through their history was both to exalt Himself as God and to redeem a people in covenant with Himself.

17:23 do as thou hast said. David prayed God's promises back to God.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 17

1. God promised that through David He would provide a king to rule His people in His presence forever. The good news of the New Testament is that this king has come, the very Son of God who has risen from the dead (Rom. 1:1–4). Jesus Christ presently reigns from heaven by His Spirit. If God kept His promise to David by bringing His Son to earth, how much more now that Christ has come can we trust God to keep His promise that His Son will return? How is the kingdom of Christ (both present and future) the hope and joy of His people?
2. David was overwhelmed by God's tender mercies not only in the present but also regarding the future. He was deeply humbled and exclaimed in amazement and wonder, “Who am I, O Lord God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought me hitherto?” (v. 16). Whenever God manifests His grace, He brings an abiding sense of wonder, for we could never fathom any reason from our perspective that God would deal with us in such grace. Spend some time praising God for His mercy and grace.

David’s Military Victories (1 Chron. 18:1—20:8)

Chronicles now details the battles of David, skipping over many events in David’s life and showing him to be the warrior-king of Israel. David’s battles against the enemies of Israel will prepare for the peace of Israel, which will be followed by Solomon’s construction of the temple.

Chapter 18: David’s kingdom expands beyond his existing territory.

David’s Wars with His Enemies (1 Chron. 18:1–13)

18:1–6 David has great military success over the Philistines, the Moabites, the Zobahites, and the Syrians. As far as his kingdom extended, David saw victory on every side.

18:1 after this. This phrase does not necessarily signify a chronological sequence following the events of ch. 17. It appears that Gath was later returned to the Philistines by the time Solomon came to power (1 Kings 2:39).

18:4 houghed. Cut the hamstring or hock.

18:6 the Lord preserved David. Literally, He “saved” him (v. 13; cf. 11:14; 16:35).

18:7–8 David used the plunder of his enemies for the worship of the Lord (v. 11; cf. Ex. 12:35–36; 25:1–3).

18:9–10 David did not engage in open battle with all surrounding nations. But as these verses indicate, Hamath, as it were, joined herself to Israel by bringing peace offerings to David. manner. Kind.

18:12–13 Joab saw success as he fought. His subjugation of the Edomites was a startling fulfillment of Gen. 25:23.

David’s Rule (1 Chron. 18:14–17)

18:14 David’s reign was marked by judgment and justice among all his people, the mark of a good and righteous king.

18:15–17 Scripture shows a very structured and organized chain of command under David’s monarchy.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 18

1. God prospered David so that the surrounding nations were either conquered by David or they came to serve him with gifts. Concerning Christ, the great son of David, the Bible says, “Be wise now therefore, O ye kings: be instructed, ye judges of the earth. Serve the Lord with fear, and rejoice with trembling. Kiss the Son, lest he be angry, and ye perish from the way” (Ps. 2:10–12). To kiss the Son is to give Him your sincere submission. How do you show your respect to our King?
2. David understood the need for structure and order in his administration, appointing qualified men to specific offices. Christ, the great son of David, has established a spiritual order for His kingdom with church officers with specified qualifications (1 Tim. 3). All the gatherings of the church should be well ordered, since God is not a God of confusion, but of peace (1 Cor. 14:33). Why are order and officers important for justice and righteousness?

Chapter 19: When Ammon seeks help from Syria, David's armies defeat the Syrians until they become David's servants.

David and the Ammonites (1 Chron. 19:1–19)

19:1 after this. See note at 18:1. stead. Place.

19:2 kindness. Loyalty and faithfulness, sometimes in the context of a covenant or treaty (Gen. 21:22–23,32).

19:4 shaved them, and cut off their garments. This was an act of great humiliation.

19:5 Tarry at Jericho. Wait there until their hair had grown back.

19:6 odious. Offensive.

19:10 the choice of Israel. The best soldiers in the army.

19:13 Be of good courage. Reminiscent of Joshua's admonition to the people of Israel before taking the land of Canaan in their initial conquest (Josh. 1:6,9). cities of our God. This was more than a political conflict, but a battle for the land God had promised. Therefore, they could fight with all their might, trusting in the providence of God (let the LORD do that which is good in his sight).

19:16 Hadarezer. King of Zobah (18:3).

19:19 put to the worse. Defeated.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 19

1. Like the servants of King David, the servants of Jesus Christ may experience times of humiliation (v. 4) and face overwhelming forces of opposition (vv. 6–7). Yet they should take heart, be courageous, and fight for the people of God, trusting that the Lord will do what is good (v. 13). In what ways do you need courage today? How can you find it in the Lord?
2. Just as the Ammonites distrusted David's heart of mercy and thus insulted him and his servants, so the wicked view Christ with unbelieving, suspicious eyes and greatly dishonor Him. How foolish it is to distrust and dishonor the Lord of love and kindness, especially in His gospel invitations. They greatly provoke His wrath. It was wise for the servants of Hadarezer to make peace with David when they saw his victory (v. 19); it is even wiser for sinners to find peace with God through repentance and faith in the gospel, for Jesus is Lord. Which group do you belong to? Who can you be praying for?

Chapter 20: David's territory increases further as he conquers his foes.

David's Other Battles (1 Chron. 20:1–8)

20:1–3 the time that kings go out to battle. In ancient times, spring was the most practical and advantageous time to fight wars. David's men had victory over the people of Ammon and Rabbah. tarried. Stayed in the city, the sad occasion of his adultery (2 Sam. 11:1–5).

20:2 crown . . . talent of gold. This was no ordinary crown, weighing over sixty pounds.

20:3 cut them with saws. The word them is not in the Hebrew text, and thus should most likely be understood as "caused them to cut" or put them to work as forced laborers using these tools (22:2; Judg. 1:28; 2 Sam. 12:31; 1 Kings 9:20–21). harrows. Plow shears.

20:4–8 David's subjection of the Philistines came in three steps. These are the last recorded battles with the Philistines in Chronicles. children of the giant. Descendants of the Rephaim, a people known for their great height (Deut. 2:10–11,20–21; 3:11).

20:5 Lahmi the brother of Goliath the Gittite. See 2 Sam. 21:19.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 20

David's victory over Goliath by faith in the Lord (1 Sam. 17) evidently inspired his servants to take on similarly gigantic enemies and defeat them. The bravery and victory of one's king can strongly motivate his servants to attempt great feats as well. In the same way, Christ's victory over sin and Satan makes believers strong and courageous to fight their own personal spiritual battles and anticipate victory by faith in Him (John 16:33; Eph. 6:10; Col. 2:15; 1 John 5:4–5). What spiritual enemies seem gigantic to you right now? How can you look to Christ's victory?

David's Preparations for the Temple (1 Chron. 21:1—26:32)

David's Sinful Census and the Temple Site (1 Chron. 21:1—22:1)

Chapter 21: David sinfully numbers Israel, and when the nation is punished by a plague, David makes atonement on the future site of the temple.

21:1 Satan. Literally, "an adversary," sometimes a name for the Devil (Zech. 3:1–2). The Lord incited David to take the census (2 Sam. 24:1), using an adversary (whether a man or the Devil). Even the enemies of God's people are subject to God's sovereign will (1 Kings 11:14,23,25; Job 1:6–12; 2:1–7). number Israel. Take a census of the people.

21:3 cause of trespass. God sometimes commanded a census of the men of Israel (Num. 1:1–3), but David's census offended God (vv. 7–8), perhaps because it violated the law of Moses (Ex. 30:11–16), or was not divinely commanded, or was motivated by pride and trusting in man (Jer. 9:23; 17:5–6). First Chronicles later implies that censuses should be restrained by faith in God's promises (27:23–24).

21:5 a thousand thousand and an hundred thousand. 1,100,000. four hundred threescore and ten thousand. 470,000. The figures in 2 Sam. 24:9 are 800,000 and 500,000. The difference between these numbers should not be seen as contradictory, for Samuel might be leaving out some class of people, which Chronicles is including, such as the rotating military regiments from each tribe (27:1–15). drew sword. Were able to fight.

21:9 seer. Prophet.

21:12 sword of the LORD. In contrast to David's census of the men who could draw the "sword" (v. 5; cf. vv. 16,27,30). God reminded him not to trust in man's strength, but to fear the power of the Lord. coasts. Regions.

21:13 in a great strait. In severe distress. hand of the LORD. David chose to fall into the hand of the Lord, because he hoped that despite his sin and punishment, he might still find some mercy in the presence of God.

21:14 pestilence upon Israel. The king of Israel was especially responsible to obey God's laws as God's servant and representative (22:12–13; 28:9; 29:19; 2 Chron. 7:17; cf. Deut. 17:19–20). The king's obedience brought lasting blessing to Israel (1 Kings 15:3–5), but his sins brought terrible consequences upon the nation (2 Kings 24:3).

21:15 he repented him of the evil. He mercifully relented of the destruction He might have done. stay. Stop, hold back. Ornan. Same as Araunah (2 Sam. 24:16).

21:16 stand between the earth and the heaven. The angel stood in the sky as the agent of God's judgment (Ezek. 8:3; Zech. 5:9; cf. Rev. 10:1–7). drawn sword in his hand. As when the angel was sent against Balaam (Num. 22:23). fell upon their faces. David and the elders interceded for the people of Jerusalem.

21:17 be on me. David pled with God to take out His vindictive justice against him.

21:18 threshingfloor of Ornan the Jebusite. Located on Mt. Moriah, the same site as Abraham's near sacrifice of Isaac (Gen. 22:2; 2 Chron. 3:1).

21:24 Nay; but I will verily buy it for the full price. David refuses to accept the threshingfloor and the oxen without paying for it. David knew his responsibility in the plague and as the head of Israel and refused to bypass the personal cost that the sacrifice would cost him.

21:25 six hundred shekels. The price of the whole piece of property (see note at 2 Sam. 24:24).

21:26 burnt offerings and peace offerings. The same offerings made by Moses and Aaron at the dedication of the tabernacle (Num. 7:84–88), and later by Solomon at the dedication of the temple (2 Chron. 7:7), of which on both occasions the Lord showed His approval of the sacrifices by heavenly fire (Ex. 40:38; Lev. 9:24; 2 Chron. 7:1–3; cf. 1 Kings 18:38).

21:28 sacrificed there. David follows up his previous sacrifices with additional sacrifices to God.

21:29 were at that season in the high place at Gibeon. It should seem strange that David made a sacrifice when he was not at the tabernacle. But God had commanded, through Gad, for this to be the place of the altar (v. 18).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 21

1. Even godly David fell into sin, a warning to us that the best of men is but a man. His sin brought deadly consequences upon the people because he was their king. The plague that came from David's sin is a small reminder of the death that has consumed billions of people because of Adam's sin (Rom. 5:12). How does God view sin, that it causes Him to pronounce such terrible judgments?
2. David took full, personal responsibility for this calamity, offering to bear the punishment himself (v. 17) and insisting on paying the price for atonement at his own expense (vv. 24–25). As a result, he obtained a lasting place for the temple where the people would find forgiveness of their sins (2 Chron. 6:21–39). Here we have a beautiful picture of Jesus Christ. Although He never sinned, He took full responsibility for the sins of His people, personally paying the price for atonement by His own obedience and death, so that they may enjoy God's forgiveness forever. What does this teach us about the character of God?

Chapter 22: David prepares for and gives the command to build the temple.

22:1 the house of the LORD GOD. God's temple, where He would dwell. By the word of the prophet (21:18), David understood that this would be the location where God's temple should be built. The house belongs to God for His dwelling but the altar is for the people's sacrifices and worship.

David's Preparation for the Construction of the Temple (1 Chron. 22:2–19)

22:2 strangers. Foreigners. hew. Chop.

22:3 joinings. Clamps.

22:5 tender. Weak, inexperienced. magnifical. Magnificent. David made plans for the building of a large and beautiful temple, for God's glory throughout the whole earth (2 Chron. 6:32–33).

22:6–16 David commissioned Solomon to carry on the work of the temple, using language that echoed the covenant of the Lord (17:11–15).

22:8–9 Thou hast shed blood. God was not rebuking David for his wars, for God strongly supported him in his battles (14:8–17; 18:6,13; Ps. 18:34). David's wars subdued the nations around Israel, so that the nation enjoyed rest from its enemies (v. 18), a condition which God had decreed for the building of a place for His name (Deut. 12:9–11). Solomon's name (Hebrew, Shelōmōh) is from the same root as peace (shalōm). Solomon was God's man of peace, a type of Christ (Isa. 9:6).

22:10 for ever. As this book was written after the exile, this promise would have been an assurance and comfort to believers waiting for the Christ.

22:12 wisdom and understanding. The very things Solomon later asked of God (2 Chron. 1:10).

22:13 takest heed to fulfil the statutes. Pay careful attention to obey the laws. David's call for Solomon to obey God's law and to be strong and courageous because of God's presence with him (vv. 11,16) echoes the Lord's charge to Joshua after the death of Moses (Josh. 1:7–9).

22:15 hewers. Choppers. manner. Kind, sort. cunning. Skillful.

22:16 Arise therefore, and be doing. David solemnly charges Solomon to build the temple of God with the abundance of materials David has provided for the house.

22:17–19 David charged his administration to help Solomon.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 22

1. David was a type of Christ, who also went through a bloody conflict, but not in the killing of others. Christ's kingdom was not of this world (John 18:36), and He conquered not by killing but by submitting to a violent death (Rev. 5:5,9). Yet by His death on the cross He conquered the powers of hell (Col. 2:15). Solomon also was a type of Christ, but of Christ reigning in the peace He won by His blood (Eph. 2:14–17). Christ is building a new temple, not of stones and gold (Eph. 2:18–22). Of what is His new temple being built and with what and whom will it be filled?
2. David challenged Solomon not to take his privileges for granted. Faith, courage, and obedience must propel him to his work (vv. 11–13). He needed to be busy and active fulfilling the calling with which he had been charged, using the resources prepared by his father (vv. 14–16). What resources and calling has God entrusted to you? How are you busily serving the Lord?

David's Organization of the Levites for the Temple (1 Chron. 23:1—26:32)

Chapter 23: David organizes the Levites into their several duties.

23:1 made Solomon his son king. Perhaps a declaration of royal succession in view of David's old age, possibly linked to Adonijah's rebellion (1 Kings 1:1,32–40); the more formal coronation came later (1 Chron. 29:22–23). What follows in chs. 23–27 records the highly structured administration of worship and the kingdom.

23:3–5 polls. Heads. Of the 38,000 Levites eligible to serve, 24,000 helped to administer the work of the temple, 6,000 served as officers and judges, 4,000 were porters, and 4,000 were musicians.

23:3 age of thirty years. The Old Testament records the age necessary to serve as priesthood variously, at thirty (Num. 4:3,23,30), twenty-five (Num. 8:24), and twenty (v. 27; Ezra 3:8). The difference in accounting may be due to the number of available Levites to fulfill the ministry, or it might reflect a period of apprenticeship.

23:4 set forward. Oversee.

23:6 courses. Divisions, namely, the Gershonites (vv. 7–11), the Kohathites (vv. 12–20), and the Merarites (vv. 21–23).

23:13 Aaron was separated. The Lord set apart Aaron and his sons to serve as priests (Ex. 28:1). holy things. Objects dedicated to the Lord (Num. 4:4,19), including offerings (Num. 18:8–9; Deut. 12:26; 2 Chron. 31:14). burn incense. Literally, just "burn, cause to smoke" (incense is not in the Hebrew). The verb is used of burning both offerings and incense (Ex. 30:7–8; Lev. 1:9). minister. Serve. bless in his name. See Num. 6:22–27. Chronicles outlines three responsibilities of the Aaronic priests: to bring offerings and incense to the Lord, to serve Him in worship, and to declare His blessing on Israel.

23:15 Gershom, and Eliezer. See Ex. 18:3–4.

23:26 As David was ushering the ark into its rest in the coming temple, the service of the Levites was changing from their previous responsibility to carry the tabernacle (Num. 3–4). They are given three principal duties: guarding the temple, assisting the priests, and singing (vv. 28–32).

23:27 twenty years old and above. Perhaps the Levites were counted when twenty but not put into service until thirty (v. 3).

23:29 manner. Kind, sort.

23:32 keep the charge. Guard, watch over, in the sense of protecting God's holiness from any dishonor (Num. 1:53; 3:7).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 23

> David said, "The LORD God of Israel hath given rest unto his people, that they may dwell in Jerusalem for ever" (v. 25). Thus the Levites ceased to carry the tabernacle in its travels, but instead served God in the permanent home for His presence. In this way, the earthly Jerusalem foreshadowed the heavenly Jerusalem, which was to come. The heavenly Jerusalem will usher in the eternal rest for God's redeemed people forever. Presently, we travel as on a pilgrimage, and God assigns every Christian duties necessary for our pilgrim state. However, when Christ returns with His kingdom of glory and peace we will enter into our eternal worship and the permanent enjoyment of His glory. All God's people will serve as priests and reign as kings in His presence (Rev. 5:10; 22:4–5). How does that promise comfort you?

Chapter 24: David specifies the orders and duties of the Levites.

24:2 Nadab and Abihu died. God punished them for dishonoring His holiness by bringing worship He had not commanded (Lev. 10:1–3).

24:4 sixteen . . . and eight. David divided the priests into a rotation of twenty-four groups (Luke 1:5,8).

24:5 Two primary offices are distinguished for the divisions, that of the governors of the sanctuary (literally, "officers of holiness") and the governors of the house of God (literally, "officers of God").

24:7–19 Twenty four lots in all.

24:19 manner. Custom, habit.

24:20–30 Chronicles records the remainder of the sons of Levi who were not priests.

24:31 By using lots, it was ensured that there would be no favoritism or nepotism (26:14). They looked to God to guide the lot (Prov. 16:33).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 24

The service of God's worship requires plans, organization, and structure. Many people may be involved, and they need to have a clear knowledge of their responsibilities. It is often helpful to set up schedules of rotating duties among those qualified to perform them. Just as King David determined the distribution of the offices of the Levites (v. 3), so King Jesus determines the structure and officers of the church by the directions of His Word and gifts of His Spirit (1 Cor. 12:4–7; Eph. 4:7–8,11). However, some practical details about the church and its worship are not specified by the Scriptures, and therefore must be determined by other means. Why is it so important to the church to have well-organized structures and plans governed by the Word and Spirit of Christ?

Chapter 25: David organizes the Levites who were to serve as musicians for the temple.

25:1–7 David established the singers for the house of the Lord. Asaph . . . Heman. See note at 6:33–47. Jeduthun. A music leader among the Levites (vv. 3,6; 16:41–43; Pss. 39; 62; 77 titles). psalteries. Musical instruments (see note at 13:8).

25:1 prophesy with harps. Lest we think that the temple music was merely music, David made clear that it had a function in relationship to the revealed truths of the Word.

25:2 under the hands. Under the authority and direction (also vv. 3,6). according to the order of the king. Literally, "by the hands of the king." Both the music and prophesying of public worship were done in submission to God's anointed king and his appointed officials.

25:5 Heman had fourteen of the listed twenty four divisions. to lift up the horn. To play the horn.

25:7 cunning. Skillful.

25:8–31 Lots were cast for the divisions of the singers into a rotation of twenty-four groups (24:4,18).

25:8 ward against ward. Or, "for their duties." teacher. Instructor (v. 7). scholar. Pupil, student (v. 3).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 25

David separated the musicians for the service of the temple and these men were to "prophesy with harps, with psalteries, and with cymbals" (v. 1). It is no accident that David was known as the sweet psalmist of Israel (2 Sam. 23:1). He loved music and loved singing to the Lord (Ps. 89:1; Ps. 101:1). He knew the power of music as it relates to shaping one's worldview. Above all, David realized that God inhabited the praises of His people (Ps. 22:3). Why is song so important and helpful for the worship of the church? Why must church music be done in submission to Christ and the officers He appoints in the church?

Chapter 26: This chapter records the divisions of the gatekeepers, treasurers, and other officials that served the temple.

26:1–19 The first section of this chapter relates to the porters or gatekeepers and their organizations according to lots. This follows a similar pattern as noted in the previous chapters.

26:1–11 The families set charge over the gates were the families of Meshelemiah (vv. 1–3,9), Obed-edom (vv. 4–8), and Hosah (vv. 10–11).

26:1 Meshelemiah. Also known as Shallum (Ezra 2:42) and Meshullam (Neh. 12:25).

26:6 mighty men of valour. Men of great ability. The same Hebrew word as valour (vv. 30–32) is also translated “strong” (vv. 7,9) and “able” (v. 8).

26:10 not the firstborn. We do not know why Hosah made his second born son the chief; it is likely that the firstborn somehow forfeited his right for this position.

26:13–18 These verses record the specific work of each division in relation to the temple.

26:14 wise counsellor. Someone able to give insightful direction and advice. By using lots, it was ensured that there would be no favoritism or nepotism (see also 24:31).

26:16 causeway. Paved road.

26:20–32 The second division of this chapters deals with the treasurers, officers, and judges.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 26

> God gives people different callings. We should not envy what God has asked others to do in His kingdom. In order for God’s kingdom to function, we need people, all in their own stations of life, to do what God has called and gifted them to do. Hence, the Bible says: “Ye are the body of Christ, and members in particular” (1 Cor. 12:27). How precious it is to have people of ability and wisdom (1 Chron. 26:6–9,14,30–32)! Each member should realistically evaluate his abilities, strive to develop them, and seek to serve in the church accordingly (Rom. 12:3–8). What are some things that by God’s grace you can do well? How are you using them in the church?

Chapter 27: The military divisions and leaders of the twelve tribes are assigned.

David’s Administration of the Nation (1 Chron. 27:1–34)

27:1–15 A record of the captains and military divisions of the people of Israel. Each division would serve for one month out of the year and offer 24,000 men for service. This was not David’s permanent army but rather his civilian militia. The men of Israel were expected to serve.

27:1 to wit. That is.

27:16–22 A record of the officers overseeing each of the twelve tribes of Israel. Gad and Asher are missing from the accounting for some unknown reason.

27:23 stars of the heavens. See God’s promises in Gen. 15:5; 22:17.

27:24 he finished not. It seems likely that the numbers in vv. 1–23 were not part of the fateful census taken earlier (ch. 21; 2 Sam. 24), but now that he has covered another census, he alludes back to the census that brought the plague.

27:25–31 A record of David’s stewards who took care of the king’s treasures or private property.

27:26 tillage. Cultivation.

27:32–34 A record of David’s counselors. Ahithophel joined with Absalom in rebellion against David (2 Sam. 15:31).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 27

1. By having a rotating force from the twelve tribes, David not only made the tribes share the burden of Israel’s defense, but he trained the men so that they could be leaders in their own areas of labor and leadership. God’s people have to stand ready for spiritual battle at any time (Eph. 6:10–18). If we are skilled in this battle this will help us greatly to be strong wherever God has placed us. How can we train for the battles we face?

1. Instead of constantly counting people and their resources to assess our strength, believers should be counting on the promises of God (v. 23). Why is it a trap for churches to measure themselves by attendance or finances? How can we cultivate gospel optimism by learning to focus on the promises of the riches of glory in Christ?

David's Assembly for the Future Temple (1 Chron. 28:1—29:22)

Chapter 28: David gives several final charges, both to Israel and to Solomon focused on the building of the temple.

28:1 David assembled together all the prominent people of Israel in order to address them one last time before handing the kingdom over to his son Solomon.

28:2–7 God said unto me. David's last speech is cast within the mold of the covenant, restating God's promises to him (17:3–15) and applying them to Solomon as God had directed him (22:8–10).

28:2–3 my brethren, and my people. The king related to the people of God as his family, bound to him by covenant (11:1,3). house of rest. The home for God's glory when His people enjoyed their victory and peace in the Promised Land (Deut. 12:9–11). ark of the covenant. The symbol of the presence of the King of glory with Israel. footstool. The ark was like an extension of God's heavenly throne into the lower, earthly world (Pss. 99:5; 132:7; cf. Isa. 66:1). shed blood. Not a sin by David, but a stage in God's plan as He brought His people to rest in the Promised Land through the conflicts of their king (see note at 22:8–9).

28:4–5 chose me . . . hath chosen Solomon. Just as Israel was God's elect or chosen people (Deut. 7:6; 1 Chron. 16:13; Isa. 41:8–9), so the king of Israel was particularly God's elect man (Deut. 17:15; 1 Sam. 16:8–10; 2 Sam. 6:21; 1 Chron. 29:1; 2 Chron. 6:6; Pss. 78:70; 89:3). Thus Christ is especially God's chosen one (Isa. 42:1; 1 Peter 1:20; 2:4,6) and the King of His elect (Rev. 17:14).

28:6 chosen him to be my son. Election of sinners is unto adoption by God (Deut. 14:1–2; Eph. 1:4–5).

28:11–19 David gave the plans for the temple to Solomon so that he would build it. candlesticks . . . tables of shewbread . . . altar of incense . . . ark. On the spiritual significance of these holy objects, see notes at Ex. 25:10–40; 30:1–10.

28:11–12 parlours. Rooms. by the spirit. These plans were not of human invention, but revealed by God's Spirit to David (v. 19), just as God revealed the pattern for the tabernacle (same word as in Ex. 25:9,40).

28:14 manner. Kind, sort.

28:18 chariot of the cherubims. The ark, a symbolic, mobile throne for the Lord (v. 2), was like a chariot on which God traveled with His people and fought for them while accompanied by His heavenly servants (Ps. 18:10; Ezek. 1).

28:20 fear not, nor be dismayed. Similar commission given to Joshua and Israel at the time of conquest (see notes at 19:13; 22:13). The king's work in building the temple fulfilled the purpose for which Joshua brought Israel into Canaan: to serve in the presence of the Lord as His covenant worshipers (Josh. 24:14–15).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 28

David's words at the close of his life reveal that the building of the temple was more than constructing an attractive building for worship. It was the culmination of God's purposes in old covenant history, and a type of Christ's work. Through God's chosen and Spirit-led King, the Lord is establishing His presence with His people. God will live among them as their King as He promised in His covenant. He will receive their obedient worship while they enjoy the peace He gives them. How does it affect your view of public worship to see it as drawing near to the King? How does it affect your view of heaven to see it as dwelling in God's presence?

Chapter 29: David and Israel make offerings for the building of the temple, whereupon David dies and Solomon takes the throne.

29:1 tender. Weak, inexperienced in ruling (1 Kings 3:7). palace. God's house is like the castle of a great king (Neh. 1:1; Est. 1:2).

29:2 glistering. Shining. divers. Diverse, various. manner. Kind, sort.

29:3 set my affection to the house of my God. The great desire and delight of the godly is to glorify and enjoy God (Pss. 42:2; 43:4–5; 63:1–2; 84:2). proper good. Personal wealth.

29:4 withal. With.

29:5–6 consecrate. Set apart for the service of the LORD. David gave all Israel and Judah the opportunity to join in building the temple. The response of the people was that they offered willingly.

29:5 artificers. Skilled craftsmen. consecrate his service. Literally, "fill his hand," an expression used of setting a person aside for ministry (see note at Ex. 29:9). David called the people to dedicate themselves and their possessions to serving the Lord.

29:7 drams. Measurement of bullion or the weight of precious metal.

29:9 perfect heart they offered willingly. Their generosity was marked by wholehearted sincerity.

29:11–12 Thine, O LORD. These verses contain a marvelous declaration of God's sovereignty and sufficiency. Even while leading Israel to bring an enormous offering to God, David was not impressed with the gifts so much as with the infinite glory of God, who possesses all glory and power in Himself and gives to His creation any good that it has (Dan. 2:20–21; Acts 17:24–25; Rom. 11:33–36).

29:14 who am I. Since all things come from God, it is an undeserved privilege to bring Him our gifts with a willing heart. All our giving comes from His grace, and should humble us (17:16). sort. Manner.

29:17 thou triest the heart. God tests the inner thoughts and motives (28:9; 2 Chron. 6:30; Jer. 17:10), and delights not in outward things, no matter how impressive, but in righteousness, reverence, and love (1 Sam. 16:6–7; Ps. 147:10–11).

29:18 imagination. Purpose, design. prepare their heart. Direct or establish their souls in willing obedience. Inward righteousness is a gift of God's grace (Deut. 30:6; Ezek. 36:26–27).

29:19 give unto Solomon . . . a perfect heart. God did not fully answer this prayer in Solomon (1 Kings 11:4), but He did in David's greater son, the holy Son of God, Jesus Christ (Luke 1:32–35).

29:21 morrow. Morning.

David's Death and Solomon's Glory (1 Chron. 29:23—2 Chron. 1:17)

29:22 the second time. See 23:1. chief governor. Ruler.

29:23 Solomon sat on the throne of the LORD. The kingdom of David and Solomon was the kingdom of God (28:5), for the Lord reigned through His servant and the king established the temple of his God.

29:24 submitted themselves. The people acknowledged Solomon's reign much as they acknowledged David's reign.

29:25 magnified . . . exceedingly. Made him very great (2 Chron. 1:1).

29:28 good old age. Like Abraham (Gen. 15:15; 25:8). stead. Place.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 29

1. In all our giving to build the church, whether with our abilities, time, or money, we must recognize that God does not need us. He is all-sufficient in Himself to accomplish all His will. In fact, our ability to give, willingness to give, and actual giving are the gifts of His grace to us (2 Cor. 8:1–5; Phil. 2:12–13). The sovereignty of God's grace releases us to be cheerful givers, rejoicing in the infinite depths of God's indescribable grace even as we pour out our resources for Him (2 Cor. 9:7–8,15). Who can ever outgive a God like this?
2. Solomon's reign opened with unprecedented splendor and universal obedience among the people. Yet by its end it had fallen into the darkness of pride and idolatry. The kingdom of Solomon was but a small and passing shadow of Christ's eternal kingdom. Truly, Christ sits on the throne of the Lord, for He is the all-sufficient Lord. He has a perfect heart toward His Father. All of His redeemed people willingly submit to Him and serve Him. How should it affect our lives knowing that the son of David reigns now on the throne of heaven?

Worship by the Word

What is worship? The earliest mention of public worship is found in Genesis 4:26, in the days of Seth and Enos: "Then began men to call upon the name of the Lord." Psalm 100:2 exhorts us to "serve the Lord with gladness, and come into his presence with thanksgiving." James urges us to "draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you" (James 4:8). The apostle Paul also speaks of drawing near to God, by the "new and living way" consecrated for us in the person of Christ crucified, risen, and ascended into heaven as our High Priest (Heb. 10:19–22). Christ Himself said, "No man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (John 14:6).

What kind of worship is acceptable to God? This question lives throughout Scripture, beginning with the sacrifices of Cain and Abel (Gen. 4). One man's offering was accepted, while the other's was not. Why? Like all good works, true worship must proceed from faith and be performed according to God's law and to His glory. God is worshiped whenever and wherever His Word is believed, His commands are obeyed, and His glory is exalted by intelligent creatures in heaven and on earth.

The Old Testament church existed in a world rife with polytheism, idolatry, and manmade forms of worship that were abominations in God's sight. The first and second commandments (Ex. 20:3–6) address all three sins. They bind God's people to worship Him in no other way than as He commands in His Word, proclaiming the jealousy of God for His worship and His determination to punish all who depart from it, while showing mercy to those who love and obey Him. God inflicted fiery death on Nadab and Abihu for offering "strange fire before the Lord, which he commanded them not" (Lev. 10:1–2); Hophni and Phinehas were slain in battle (1 Sam. 5:11) after they corrupted the worship of God, exploiting it for their own purposes (1 Sam. 2:17); and later the Lord struck Uzzah dead for his error in touching the ark of the covenant (2 Sam. 6:7).

The last chapter of the Bible addresses the same concern. In Revelation 22 John records how, in a moment of carelessness, he fell down to worship at the feet of an angel. He was instantly rebuked: "See thou do it not: for I am thy fellow servant, and of thy brethren the prophets, and of them which keep the sayings of this book: worship God" (Rev. 22:9).

These examples have much to teach Christians today. Worship is not a matter of indifference, human tradition, or popular taste. Christ summarizes and confirms the teaching of the Old Testament, declaring that "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth" (John 4:24). We are still bound by the law of God to follow the acceptable way of worship He has instituted in His Word and regulated by His commandments.

Under the new covenant the ceremonies of the law have ceased and a simpler form of worship has been introduced by Christ and the apostles. Prayer with thanksgiving, the reading of Scripture, sound preaching and the faithful hearing of the Word, the singing of the Psalms, and the administration of the sacraments according to the command and example of Christ are all parts of the worship of God under the gospel.

History shows that the church under both testaments has been prone to corrupt the true worship of God with human innovations, to offer formal worship to God while withholding the love of the heart, or else to neglect true worship, turning aside to gods that are no gods or taking up practices that have no warrant in Scripture. Recent decades have seen the eruption of "worship wars" in many churches, pitting traditionalists against innovators. Many people feel free to do as they please. Errors and abuses will abound until we all agree to test all things by the Word of God (1 Thess. 5:21).

THE SECOND BOOK OF THE

CHRONICLES

2 Chronicles 1 [†]

1 [†] And Solomon the son of David was strengthened in his kingdom, and the Lord his God was with him, and magnified him exceedingly.
2 [†] Then Solomon spake unto all Israel, to the captains of thousands and of hundreds, and to the judges, and to every governor in all Israel, the chief of the fathers.
3 [†] So Solomon, and all the congregation with him, went to the high place that was at Gibeon; for there was the tabernacle of the congregation of God, which Moses the servant of the Lord had made in the wilderness.
4 [†] But the ark of God had David brought up from Kirjath-jearim to the place which David had prepared for it: for he had pitched a tent for it at Jerusalem.
5 [†] Moreover the brasen altar, that Bezaleel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, had made, he put before the tabernacle of the Lord: and Solomon and the congregation sought unto it.
6 And Solomon went up thither to the brasen altar before the Lord, which was at the tabernacle of the congregation, and offered a thousand burnt offerings upon it.
7 ¶ In that night did God appear unto Solomon, and said unto him, Ask what I shall give thee.
8 [†] And Solomon said unto God, Thou hast shewed great mercy unto David my father, and hast made me to reign in his stead.
9 [†] Now, O Lord God, let thy promise unto David my father be established: for thou hast made me king over a people like the dust of the earth in multitude.
10 [†] Give me now wisdom and knowledge, that I may go out and come in before this people: for who can judge this thy people, that is so great?
11 And God said to Solomon, Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, wealth, or honour, nor the life of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life; but hast asked wisdom and knowledge for thyself, that thou mayest judge my people, over whom I have made thee king:
12 Wisdom and knowledge is granted unto thee; and I will give thee riches, and wealth, and honour, such as none of the kings have had that have been before thee, neither shall there any after thee have the like.
13 [†] ¶ Then Solomon came from his journey to the high place that was at Gibeon to Jerusalem, from before the tabernacle of the congregation, and reigned over Israel.
14 And Solomon gathered chariots and horsemen: and he had a thousand and four hundred chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen, which he placed in the chariot cities, and with the king at Jerusalem.
15 And the king made silver and gold at Jerusalem as plenteous as stones, and cedar trees made he as the sycomore trees that are in the vale for abundance.
16 And Solomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and linen yarn: the king's merchants received the linen yarn at a price.
17 And they fetched up, and brought forth out of Egypt a chariot for six hundred shekels of silver, and an horse for an hundred and fifty: and so brought they out horses for all the kings of the Hittites, and for the kings of Syria, by their means.

2 Chronicles 2 [†]

1 [†] And Solomon determined to build an house for the name of the Lord, and an house for his kingdom.
2 [†] And Solomon told out threescore and ten thousand men to bear burdens, and fourscore thousand to hew in the mountain, and three thousand and six hundred to oversee them.
3 [†] ¶ And Solomon sent to Huram the king of Tyre, saying, As thou didst deal with David my father, and didst send him cedars to build him an house to dwell therein, even so deal with me.
4 [†] Behold, I build an house to the name of the Lord my God, to dedicate it to him, and to burn before him sweet incense, and for the continual shewbread, and for the burnt offerings morning and evening, on the sabbaths, and on the new moons, and on the solemn feasts of the Lord our God. This is an ordinance for ever to Israel.
5 [†] And the house which I build is great: for great is our God above all gods.
6 [†] But who is able to build him an house, seeing the heaven and heaven of heavens cannot contain him? who am I then, that I should build him an house, save only to burn sacrifice before him?
7 [†] Send me now therefore a man cunning to work in gold, and in silver, and in brass, and in iron, and in purple, and crimson, and blue, and that can skill to grave with the cunning men that are with me in Judah and in Jerusalem, whom David my father did provide.
8 [†] Send me also cedar trees, fir trees, and algum trees, out of Lebanon: for I know that thy servants can skill to cut timber in Lebanon; and, behold, my servants shall be with thy servants,
9 Even to prepare me timber in abundance: for the house which I am about to build shall be wonderful great.
10 [†] And, behold, I will give to thy servants, the hewers that cut timber, twenty thousand measures of beaten wheat, and twenty thousand measures of barley, and twenty thousand baths of wine, and twenty thousand baths of oil.
11 [†] ¶ Then Huram the king of Tyre answered in writing, which he sent to Solomon, Because the Lord hath loved his people, he hath made thee king over them.
12 [†] Huram said moreover, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, that made heaven and earth, who hath given to David the king a wise son, endued with prudence and understanding, that might build an house for the Lord, and an house for his kingdom.
13 [†] And now I have sent a cunning man, endued with understanding, of Huram my father's,
14 [†] The son of a woman of the daughters of Dan, and his father was a man of Tyre, skilful to work in gold, and in silver, in brass, in iron, in stone, and in timber, in purple, in blue, and in fine linen, and in crimson; also to grave any manner of graving, and to find out every device which shall be put to him, with thy cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord David thy father.
15 Now therefore the wheat, and the barley, the oil, and the wine, which my lord hath spoken of, let him send unto his servants:
16 [†] And we will cut wood out of Lebanon, as much as thou shalt need: and we will bring it to thee in floats by sea to Joppa; and thou shalt carry it up to Jerusalem.
17 ¶ And Solomon numbered all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the numbering wherewith David his father had numbered them; and they were found an hundred and fifty thousand and three thousand and six hundred.
18 [†] And he set threescore and ten thousand of them to be bearers of burdens, and fourscore thousand to be hewers in the mountain, and three thousand and six hundred overseers to set the people a work.

2 Chronicles 3 [†]

1 [†] Then Solomon began to build the house of the Lord at Jerusalem in mount Moriah, where the Lord appeared unto David his father, in the place that David had prepared in the threshingfloor of Ornan the Jebusite.
2 And he began to build in the second day of the second month, in the fourth year of his reign.
3 [†] ¶ Now these are the things wherein Solomon was instructed for the building of the house of God. The length by cubits after the first measure was threescore cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits.
4 [†] And the porch that was in the front of the house, the length of it was according to the breadth of the house, twenty cubits, and the height was an hundred and twenty: and he overlaid it within with pure gold.
5 [†] And the greater house he cieled with fir tree, which he overlaid with fine gold, and set thereon palm trees and chains.
6 [†] And he garnished the house with precious stones for beauty: and the gold was gold of Parvaim.
7 He overlaid also the house, the beams, the posts, and the walls thereof, and the doors thereof, with gold; and graved cherubims on the walls.
8 [†] And he made the most holy house, the length whereof was according to the breadth of the house, twenty cubits, and the breadth thereof twenty cubits: and he overlaid it with fine gold, amounting to six hundred talents.
9 And the weight of the nails was fifty shekels of gold. And he overlaid the upper chambers with gold.
10 [†] And in the most holy house he made two cherubims of image work, and overlaid them with gold.
11 ¶ And the wings of the cherubims were twenty cubits long: one wing of the one cherub was five cubits, reaching to the wall of the house: and the other wing was likewise five cubits, reaching to the wing of the other cherub.
12 And one wing of the other cherub was five cubits, reaching to the wall of the house: and the other wing was five cubits also, joining to the wing of the other cherub.
13 The wings of these cherubims spread themselves forth twenty cubits: and they stood on their feet, and their faces were inward.
14 [†] ¶ And he made the vail of blue, and purple, and crimson, and fine linen, and wrought cherubims thereon.
15 [†] Also he made before the house two pillars of thirty and five cubits high, and the chapiter that was on the top of each of them was five cubits.
16 [†] And he made chains, as in the oracle, and put them on the heads of the pillars; and made an hundred pomegranates, and put them on the chains.
17 [†] And he reared up the pillars before the temple, one on the right hand, and the other on the left; and called the name of that on the right hand Jachin, and the name of that on the left Boaz.

2 Chronicles 4 [†]

1 [†] Moreover he made an altar of brass, twenty cubits the length thereof, and twenty cubits the breadth thereof, and ten cubits the height thereof.
2 [†] ¶ Also he made a molten sea of ten cubits from brim to brim, round in compass, and five cubits the height thereof; and a line of thirty cubits did compass it round about.
3 And under it was the similitude of oxen, which did compass it round about: ten in a cubit, compassing the sea round about. Two rows of oxen were cast, when it was cast.
4 [†] It stood upon twelve oxen, three looking toward the north, and three looking toward the west, and three looking toward the south, and three looking toward the east: and the sea was set above upon them, and all their hinder parts were inward.
5 [†] And the thickness of it was an handbreadth, and the brim of it like the work of the brim of a cup, with flowers of lilies; and it received and held three thousand baths.
6 [†] ¶ He made also ten lavers, and put five on the right hand, and five on the left, to wash in them: such things as they offered for the burnt offering they washed in them; but the sea was for the priests to wash in.
7 [†] And he made ten candlesticks of gold according to their form, and set them in the temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left.
8 [†] He made also ten tables, and placed them in the temple, five on the right side, and five on the left. And he made an hundred basons of gold.
9 [†] ¶ Furthermore he made the court of the priests, and the great court, and doors for the court, and overlaid the doors of them with brass.
10 And he set the sea on the right side of the east end, over against the south.
11 [†] And Huram made the pots, and the shovels, and the basons. And Huram finished the work that he was to make for king Solomon for the house of God;
12 [†] To wit, the two pillars, and the pommels, and the chapiters which were on the top of the two pillars, and the two wreaths to cover the two pommels of the chapiters which were on the top of the pillars;
13 And four hundred pomegranates on the two wreaths; two rows of pomegranates on each wreath, to cover the two pommels of the chapiters which were upon the pillars.
14 [†] He made also bases, and lavers made he upon the bases;
15 One sea, and twelve oxen under it.
16 The pots also, and the shovels, and the fleshhooks, and all their instruments, did Huram his father make to king Solomon for the house of the Lord of bright brass.
17 [†] In the plain of Jordan did the king cast them, in the clay ground between Succoth and Zeredathah.
18 Thus Solomon made all these vessels in great abundance: for the weight of the brass could not be found out.
19 ¶ And Solomon made all the vessels that were for the house of God, the golden altar also, and the tables whereon the shewbread was set;
20 [†] Moreover the candlesticks with their lamps, that they should burn after the manner before the oracle, of pure gold;
21 And the flowers, and the lamps, and the tongs, made he of gold, and that perfect gold;
22 And the snuffers, and the basons, and the spoons, and the censers, of pure gold: and the entry of the house, the inner doors thereof for the most holy place, and the doors of the house of the temple, were of gold.

2 Chronicles 5 [†]

1 [†] Thus all the work that Solomon made for the house of the Lord was finished: and Solomon brought in all the things that David his father had dedicated; and the silver, and the gold, and all the instruments, put he among the treasures of the house of God.
2 [†] ¶ Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel, and all the heads of the tribes, the chief of the fathers of the children of Israel, unto Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the covenant of the Lord out of the city of David, which is Zion.
3 [†] Wherefore all the men of Israel assembled themselves unto the king in the feast which was in the seventh month.
4 [†] And all the elders of Israel came; and the Levites took up the ark.
5 And they brought up the ark, and the tabernacle of the congregation, and all the holy vessels that were in the tabernacle, these did the priests and the Levites bring up.
6 Also king Solomon, and all the congregation of Israel that were assembled unto him before the ark, sacrificed sheep and oxen, which could not be told nor numbered for multitude.
7 And the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the Lord unto his place, to the oracle of the house, into the most holy place, even under the wings of the cherubims:
8 [†] For the cherubims spread forth their wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubims covered the ark and the staves thereof above.
9 [†] And they drew out the staves of the ark, that the ends of the staves were seen from the ark before the oracle; but they were not seen without. And there it is unto this day.
10 [†] There was nothing in the ark save the two tables which Moses put therein at Horeb, when the Lord made a covenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of Egypt.
11 ¶ And it came to pass, when the priests were come out of the holy place: (for all the priests that were present were sanctified, and did not then wait by course:
12 Also the Levites which were the singers, all of them of Asaph, of Heman, of Jeduthun, with their sons and their brethren, being arrayed in white linen, having cymbals and psalteries and harps, stood at the east end of the altar, and with them an hundred and twenty priests sounding with trumpets:)
13 [†] It came even to pass, as the trumpeters and singers were as one, to make one sound to be heard in praising and thanking the Lord; and when they lifted up their voice with the trumpets and cymbals and instruments of musick, and praised the Lord, saying, For he is good; for his mercy endureth for ever: that then the house was filled with a cloud, even the house of the Lord;
14 [†] So that the priests could not stand to minister by reason of the cloud: for the glory of the Lord had filled the house of God.

2 Chronicles 6 [†]

1 [†] Then said Solomon, The Lord hath said that he would dwell in the thick darkness.
2 But I have built an house of habitation for thee, and a place for thy dwelling for ever.
3 [†] And the king turned his face, and blessed the whole congregation of Israel: and all the congregation of Israel stood.
4 [†] And he said, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who hath with his hands fulfilled that which he spake with his mouth to my father David, saying,
5 Since the day that I brought forth my people out of the land of Egypt I chose no city among all the tribes of Israel to build an house in, that my name might be there; neither chose I any man to be a ruler over my people Israel:
6 But I have chosen Jerusalem, that my name might be there; and have chosen David to be over my people Israel.
7 Now it was in the heart of David my father to build an house for the name of the Lord God of Israel.
8 But the Lord said to David my father, Forasmuch as it was in thine heart to build an house for my name, thou didst well in that it was in thine heart:
9 Notwithstanding thou shalt not build the house; but thy son which shall come forth out of thy loins, he shall build the house for my name.
10 [†] The Lord therefore hath performed his word that he hath spoken: for I am risen up in the room of David my father, and am set on the throne of Israel, as the Lord promised, and have built the house for the name of the Lord God of Israel.
11 [†] And in it have I put the ark, wherein is the covenant of the Lord, that he made with the children of Israel.
12 ¶ And he stood before the altar of the Lord in the presence of all the congregation of Israel, and spread forth his hands:
13 [†] For Solomon had made a brasen scaffold, of five cubits long, and five cubits broad, and three cubits high, and had set it in the midst of the court: and upon it he stood, and kneeled down upon his knees before all the congregation of Israel, and spread forth his hands toward heaven,
14 And said, O Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee in the heaven, nor in the earth; which keepest covenant, and shewest mercy unto thy servants, that walk before thee with all their hearts:
15 Thou which hast kept with thy servant David my father that which thou hast promised him; and spakest with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine hand, as it is this day.
16 [†] Now therefore, O Lord God of Israel, keep with thy servant David my father that which thou hast promised him, saying, There shall not fail thee a man in my sight to sit upon the throne of Israel; yet so that thy children take heed to their way to walk in my law, as thou hast walked before me.
17 Now then, O Lord God of Israel, let thy word be verified, which thou hast spoken unto thy servant David.
18 [†] But will God in very deed dwell with men on the earth? behold, heaven and the heaven of heavens cannot contain thee; how much less this house which I have built!
19 [†] Have respect therefore to the prayer of thy servant, and to his supplication, O Lord my God, to hearken unto the cry and the prayer which thy servant prayeth before thee:
20 That thine eyes may be open upon this house day and night, upon the place whereof thou hast said that thou wouldest put thy name there; to hearken unto the prayer which thy servant prayeth toward this place.
21 Hearken therefore unto the supplications of thy servant, and of thy people Israel, which they shall make toward this place: hear thou from thy dwelling place, even from heaven; and when thou hearest, forgive.

22 [†] ¶ If a man sin against his neighbour, and an oath be laid upon him to make him swear, and the oath come before thine altar in this house;
23 Then hear thou from heaven, and do, and judge thy servants, by requiting the wicked, by recompensing his way upon his own head; and by justifying the righteous, by giving him according to his righteousness.
24 [†] ¶ And if thy people Israel be put to the worse before the enemy, because they have sinned against thee; and shall return and confess thy name, and pray and make supplication before thee in this house;
25 Then hear thou from the heavens, and forgive the sin of thy people Israel, and bring them again unto the land which thou gavest to them and to their fathers.
26 ¶ When the heaven is shut up, and there is no rain, because they have sinned against thee; yet if they pray toward this place, and confess thy name, and turn from their sin, when thou dost afflict them;
27 Then hear thou from heaven, and forgive the sin of thy servants, and of thy people Israel, when thou hast taught them the good way, wherein they should walk; and send rain upon thy land, which thou hast given unto thy people for an inheritance.
28 [†] ¶ If there be dearth in the land, if there be pestilence, if there be blasting, or mildew, locusts, or caterpillers; if their enemies besiege them in the cities of their land; whatsoever sore or whatsoever sickness there be:
29 Then what prayer or what supplication soever shall be made of any man, or of all thy people Israel, when every one shall know his own sore and his own grief, and shall spread forth his hands in this house:
30 Then hear thou from heaven thy dwelling place, and forgive, and render unto every man according unto all his ways, whose heart thou knowest; (for thou only knowest the hearts of the children of men:)
31 That they may fear thee, to walk in thy ways, so long as they live in the land which thou gavest unto our fathers.
32 [†] ¶ Moreover concerning the stranger, which is not of thy people Israel, but is come from a far country for thy great name's sake, and thy mighty hand, and thy stretched out arm; if they come and pray in this house;
33 Then hear thou from the heavens, even from thy dwelling place, and do according to all that the stranger calleth to thee for; that all people of the earth may know thy name, and fear thee, as doth thy people Israel, and may know that this house which I have built is called by thy name.
34 [†] If thy people go out to war against their enemies by the way that thou shalt send them, and they pray unto thee toward this city which thou hast chosen, and the house which I have built for thy name;
35 Then hear thou from the heavens their prayer and their supplication, and maintain their cause.
36 [†] If they sin against thee, (for there is no man which sinneth not,) and thou be angry with them, and deliver them over before their enemies, and they carry them away captives unto a land far off or near;
37 [†] Yet if they bethink themselves in the land whither they are carried captive, and turn and pray unto thee in the land of their captivity, saying, We have sinned, we have done amiss, and have dealt wickedly;
38 [†] If they return to thee with all their heart and with all their soul in the land of their captivity, whither they have carried them captives, and pray toward their land, which thou gavest unto their fathers, and toward the city which thou hast chosen, and toward the house which I have built for thy name:
39 Then hear thou from the heavens, even from thy dwelling place, their prayer and their supplications, and maintain their cause, and forgive thy people which have sinned against thee.
40 [†] Now, my God, let, I beseech thee, thine eyes be open, and let thine ears be attent unto the prayer that is made in this place.

41 [†] Now therefore arise, O LORD God, into thy resting place, thou, and the ark of thy strength: let thy priests, O LORD God, be clothed with salvation, and let thy saints rejoice in goodness.
42 O LORD God, turn not away the face of thine anointed: remember the mercies of David thy servant.

2 Chronicles 7 [†]

1 [†] Now when Solomon had made an end of praying, the fire came down from heaven, and consumed the burnt offering and the sacrifices; and the glory of the Lord filled the house.
2 [†] And the priests could not enter into the house of the Lord, because the glory of the Lord had filled the Lord's house.
3 [†] And when all the children of Israel saw how the fire came down, and the glory of the Lord upon the house, they bowed themselves with their faces to the ground upon the pavement, and worshipped, and praised the Lord, saying, For he is good; for his mercy endureth for ever.
4 ¶ Then the king and all the people offered sacrifices before the Lord.
5 And king Solomon offered a sacrifice of twenty and two thousand oxen, and an hundred and twenty thousand sheep: so the king and all the people dedicated the house of God.
6 [†] And the priests waited on their offices: the Levites also with instruments of musick of the Lord, which David the king had made to praise the Lord, because his mercy endureth for ever, when David praised by their ministry; and the priests sounded trumpets before them, and all Israel stood.
7 [†] Moreover Solomon hallowed the middle of the court that was before the house of the Lord: for there he offered burnt offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, because the brasen altar which Solomon had made was not able to receive the burnt offerings, and the meat offerings, and the fat.
8 [†] ¶ Also at the same time Solomon kept the feast seven days, and all Israel with him, a very great congregation, from the entering in of Hamath unto the river of Egypt.
9 [†] And in the eighth day they made a solemn assembly: for they kept the dedication of the altar seven days, and the feast seven days.
10 [†] And on the three and twentieth day of the seventh month he sent the people away into their tents, glad and merry in heart for the goodness that the Lord had shewed unto David, and to Solomon, and to Israel his people.
11 [†] Thus Solomon finished the house of the Lord, and the king's house: and all that came into Solomon's heart to make in the house of the Lord, and in his own house, he prosperously effected.
12 [†] ¶ And the Lord appeared to Solomon by night, and said unto him, I have heard thy prayer, and have chosen this place to myself for an house of sacrifice.
13 If I shut up heaven that there be no rain, or if I command the locusts to devour the land, or if I send pestilence among my people;
14 [†] If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land.
15 [†] Now mine eyes shall be open, and mine ears attent unto the prayer that is made in this place.
16 For now have I chosen and sanctified this house, that my name may be there for ever: and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually.
17 [†] And as for thee, if thou wilt walk before me, as David thy father walked, and do according to all that I have commanded thee, and shalt observe my statutes and my judgments;
18 Then will I stablish the throne of thy kingdom, according as I have covenanted with David thy father, saying, There shall not fail thee a man to be ruler in Israel.
19 But if ye turn away, and forsake my statutes and my commandments, which I have set before you, and shall go and serve other gods, and worship them;
20 Then will I pluck them up by the roots out of my land which I have given them; and this house, which I have sanctified for my name, will I cast out of my sight, and will make it to be a proverb and a byword among all nations.

21 And this house, which is high, shall be an astonishment to every one that passeth by it; so that he shall say, Why hath the LORD done thus unto this land, and unto this house?
22 And it shall be answered, Because they forsook the LORD God of their fathers, which brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, and laid hold on other gods, and worshipped them, and served them: therefore hath he brought all this evil upon them.

2 Chronicles 8 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass at the end of twenty years, wherein Solomon had built the house of the Lord, and his own house,
2 [†] That the cities which Huram had restored to Solomon, Solomon built them, and caused the children of Israel to dwell there.
3 [†] And Solomon went to Hamath-zobah, and prevailed against it.
4 And he built Tadmor in the wilderness, and all the store cities, which he built in Hamath.
5 [†] Also he built Beth-horon the upper, and Beth-horon the nether, fenced cities, with walls, gates, and bars;
6 And Baalath, and all the store cities that Solomon had, and all the chariot cities, and the cities of the horsemen, and all that Solomon desired to build in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and throughout all the land of his dominion.
7 [†] ¶ As for all the people that were left of the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, which were not of Israel,
8 But of their children, who were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel consumed not, them did Solomon make to pay tribute until this day.
9 But of the children of Israel did Solomon make no servants for his work; but they were men of war, and chief of his captains, and captains of his chariots and horsemen.
10 And these were the chief of king Solomon's officers, even two hundred and fifty, that bare rule over the people.
11 ¶ And Solomon brought up the daughter of Pharaoh out of the city of David unto the house that he had built for her: for he said, My wife shall not dwell in the house of David king of Israel, because the places are holy, whereunto the ark of the Lord hath come.
12 ¶ Then Solomon offered burnt offerings unto the Lord on the altar of the Lord, which he had built before the porch,
13 [†] Even after a certain rate every day, offering according to the commandment of Moses, on the sabbaths, and on the new moons, and on the solemn feasts, three times in the year, even in the feast of unleavened bread, and in the feast of weeks, and in the feast of tabernacles.
14 [†] ¶ And he appointed, according to the order of David his father, the courses of the priests to their service, and the Levites to their charges, to praise and minister before the priests, as the duty of every day required: the porters also by their courses at every gate: for so had David the man of God commanded.
15 And they departed not from the commandment of the king unto the priests and Levites concerning any matter, or concerning the treasures.
16 [†] Now all the work of Solomon was prepared unto the day of the foundation of the house of the Lord, and until it was finished. So the house of the Lord was perfected.
17 ¶ Then went Solomon to Ezion-geber, and to Eloth, at the sea side in the land of Edom.
18 [†] And Huram sent him by the hands of his servants ships, and servants that had knowledge of the sea; and they went with the servants of Solomon to Ophir, and took thence four hundred and fifty talents of gold, and brought them to king Solomon.

2 Chronicles 9 [†]

1 [†] And when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon, she came to prove Solomon with hard questions at Jerusalem, with a very great company, and camels that bare spices, and gold in abundance, and precious stones: and when she was come to Solomon, she communed with him of all that was in her heart.
2 And Solomon told her all her questions: and there was nothing hid from Solomon which he told her not.
3 And when the queen of Sheba had seen the wisdom of Solomon, and the house that he had built,
4 [†] And the meat of his table, and the sitting of his servants, and the attendance of his ministers, and their apparel; his cupbearers also, and their apparel; and his ascent by which he went up into the house of the LORD; there was no more spirit in her.
5 And she said to the king, It was a true report which I heard in mine own land of thine acts, and of thy wisdom:
6 Howbeit I believed not their words, until I came, and mine eyes had seen it: and, behold, the one half of the greatness of thy wisdom was not told me: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.
7 [†] Happy are thy men, and happy are these thy servants, which stand continually before thee, and hear thy wisdom.
8 [†] Blessed be the LORD thy God, which delighted in thee to set thee on his throne, to be king for the LORD thy God: because thy God loved Israel, to establish them for ever, therefore made he thee king over them, to do judgment and justice.
9 [†] And she gave the king an hundred and twenty talents of gold, and of spices great abundance, and precious stones: neither was there any such spice as the queen of Sheba gave king Solomon.
10 And the servants also of Huram, and the servants of Solomon, which brought gold from Ophir, brought algum trees and precious stones.
11 And the king made of the algum trees terraces to the house of the LORD, and to the king's palace, and harps and psalteries for singers: and there were none such seen before in the land of Judah.
12 And king Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all her desire, whatsoever she asked, beside that which she had brought unto the king. So she turned, and went away to her own land, she and her servants.
13 [†] ¶ Now the weight of gold that came to Solomon in one year was six hundred and threescore and six talents of gold;
14 [†] Beside that which chapmen and merchants brought. And all the kings of Arabia and governors of the country brought gold and silver to Solomon.
15 [†] ¶ And king Solomon made two hundred targets of beaten gold: six hundred shekels of beaten gold went to one target.
16 And three hundred shields made he of beaten gold: three hundred shekels of gold went to one shield. And the king put them in the house of the forest of Lebanon.
17 Moreover the king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with pure gold.
18 [†] And there were six steps to the throne, with a footstool of gold, which were fastened to the throne, and stays on each side of the sitting place, and two lions standing by the stays:
19 And twelve lions stood there on the one side and on the other upon the six steps. There was not the like made in any kingdom.
20 ¶ And all the drinking vessels of king Solomon were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the forest of Lebanon were of pure gold: none were of silver; it was not any thing accounted of in the days of Solomon.

21 For the king’s ships went to Tarshish with the servants of Huram: every three years once came the ships of Tarshish bringing gold, and silver, ivory, and apes, and peacocks.
22 [†] And king Solomon passed all the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom.
23 [†] ¶ And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Solomon, to hear his wisdom, that God had put in his heart.
24 [†] And they brought every man his present, vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and raiment, harness, and spices, horses, and mules, a rate year by year.
25 [†] ¶ And Solomon had four thousand stalls for horses and chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen; whom he bestowed in the chariot cities, and with the king at Jerusalem.
26 ¶ And he reigned over all the kings from the river even unto the land of the Philistines, and to the border of Egypt.
27 And the king made silver in Jerusalem as stones, and cedar trees made he as the sycomore trees that are in the low plains in abundance.
28 And they brought unto Solomon horses out of Egypt, and out of all lands.
29 [†] ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Solomon, first and last, are they not written in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the visions of Iddo the seer against Jeroboam the son of Nebat?
30 And Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years.
31 And Solomon slept with his fathers, and he was buried in the city of David his father: and Rehoboam his son reigned in his stead.

2 Chronicles 10 [†]

1 [†] And Rehoboam went to Shechem: for to Shechem were all Israel come to make him king.
2 [†] And it came to pass, when Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who was in Egypt, whither he had fled from the presence of Solomon the king, heard it, that Jeroboam returned out of Egypt.
3 [†] And they sent and called him. So Jeroboam and all Israel came and spake to Rehoboam, saying,
4 [†] Thy father made our yoke grievous: now therefore ease thou somewhat the grievous servitude of thy father, and his heavy yoke that he put upon us, and we will serve thee.
5 And he said unto them, Come again unto me after three days. And the people departed.
6 [†] ¶ And king Rehoboam took counsel with the old men that had stood before Solomon his father while he yet lived, saying, What counsel give ye me to return answer to this people?
7 And they spake unto him, saying, If thou be kind to this people, and please them, and speak good words to them, they will be thy servants for ever.
8 [†] But he forsook the counsel which the old men gave him, and took counsel with the young men that were brought up with him, that stood before him.
9 And he said unto them, What advice give ye that we may return answer to this people, which have spoken to me, saying, Ease somewhat the yoke that thy father did put upon us?
10 And the young men that were brought up with him spake unto him, saying, Thus shalt thou answer the people that spake unto thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heavy, but make thou it somewhat lighter for us; thus shalt thou say unto them, My little finger shall be thicker than my father's loins.
11 For whereas my father put a heavy yoke upon you, I will put more to your yoke: my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.
12 [†] So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day, as the king bade, saying, Come again to me on the third day.
13 And the king answered them roughly; and king Rehoboam forsook the counsel of the old men,
14 And answered them after the advice of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add thereto: my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.
15 [†] So the king hearkened not unto the people: for the cause was of God, that the Lord might perform his word, which he spake by the hand of Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.
16 [†] ¶ And when all Israel saw that the king would not hearken unto them, the people answered the king, saying, What portion have we in David? and we have none inheritance in the son of Jesse: every man to your tents, O Israel: and now, David, see to thine own house. So all Israel went to their tents.
17 But as for the children of Israel that dwelt in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.
18 [†] Then king Rehoboam sent Hadoram that was over the tribute; and the children of Israel stoned him with stones, that he died. But king Rehoboam made speed to get him up to his chariot, to flee to Jerusalem.
19 [†] And Israel rebelled against the house of David unto this day.

2 Chronicles 11 [†]

1 [†] And when Rehoboam was come to Jerusalem, he gathered of the house of Judah and Benjamin an hundred and fourscore thousand chosen men, which were warriors, to fight against Israel, that he might bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam.
2 But the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying,
3 Speak unto Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all Israel in Judah and Benjamin, saying,
4 [†] Thus saith the Lord, Ye shall not go up, nor fight against your brethren: return every man to his house: for this thing is done of me. And they obeyed the words of the Lord, and returned from going against Jeroboam.
5 [†] ¶ And Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem, and built cities for defence in Judah.
6 He built even Beth-lehem, and Etam, and Tekoa,
7 And Beth-zur, and Shoco, and Adullam,
8 And Gath, and Mareshah, and Ziph,
9 And Adoraim, and Lachish, and Azekah,
10 [†] And Zorah, and Aijalon, and Hebron, which are in Judah and in Benjamin fenced cities.
11 [†] And he fortified the strong holds, and put captains in them, and store of victual, and of oil and wine.
12 And in every several city he put shields and spears, and made them exceeding strong, having Judah and Benjamin on his side.
13 [†] ¶ And the priests and the Levites that were in all Israel resorted to him out of all their coasts.
14 For the Levites left their suburbs and their possession, and came to Judah and Jerusalem: for Jeroboam and his sons had cast them off from executing the priest's office unto the Lord:
15 [†] And he ordained him priests for the high places, and for the devils, and for the calves which he had made.
16 [†] And after them out of all the tribes of Israel such as set their hearts to seek the Lord God of Israel came to Jerusalem, to sacrifice unto the Lord God of their fathers.
17 So they strengthened the kingdom of Judah, and made Rehoboam the son of Solomon strong, three years: for three years they walked in the way of David and Solomon.
18 ¶ And Rehoboam took him Mahalath the daughter of Jerimoth the son of David to wife, and Abihail the daughter of Eliab the son of Jesse;
19 Which bare him children; Jeush, and Shamariah, and Zaham.
20 And after her he took Maachah the daughter of Absalom; which bare him Abijah, and Attai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.
21 And Rehoboam loved Maachah the daughter of Absalom above all his wives and his concubines: (for he took eighteen wives, and threescore concubines; and begat twenty and eight sons, and threescore daughters.)
22 And Rehoboam made Abijah the son of Maachah the chief, to be ruler among his brethren: for he thought to make him king.
23 [†] And he dealt wisely, and dispersed of all his children throughout all the countries of Judah and Benjamin, unto every fenced city: and he gave them victual in abundance. And he desired many wives.

2 Chronicles 12 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass, when Rehoboam had established the kingdom, and had strengthened himself, he forsook the law of the Lord, and all Israel with him.
2 [†] And it came to pass, that in the fifth year of king Rehoboam Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, because they had transgressed against the Lord,
3 [†] With twelve hundred chariots, and threescore thousand horsemen: and the people were without number that came with him out of Egypt; the Lubims, the Sukkiims, and the Ethiopians.
4 [†] And he took the fenced cities which pertained to Judah, and came to Jerusalem.
5 ¶ Then came Shemaiah the prophet to Rehoboam, and to the princes of Judah, that were gathered together to Jerusalem because of Shishak, and said unto them, Thus saith the Lord, Ye have forsaken me, and therefore have I also left you in the hand of Shishak.
6 [†] Whereupon the princes of Israel and the king humbled themselves; and they said, The Lord is righteous.
7 And when the Lord saw that they humbled themselves, the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah, saying, They have humbled themselves; therefore I will not destroy them, but I will grant them some deliverance; and my wrath shall not be poured out upon Jerusalem by the hand of Shishak.
8 Nevertheless they shall be his servants; that they may know my service, and the service of the kingdoms of the countries.
9 [†] So Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, and took away the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king's house; he took all: he carried away also the shields of gold which Solomon had made.
10 Instead of which king Rehoboam made shields of brass, and committed them to the hands of the chief of the guard, that kept the entrance of the king's house.
11 And when the king entered into the house of the Lord, the guard came and fetched them, and brought them again into the guard chamber.
12 And when he humbled himself, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that he would not destroy him altogether: and also in Judah things went well.
13 [†] ¶ So king Rehoboam strengthened himself in Jerusalem, and reigned: for Rehoboam was one and forty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the Lord had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, to put his name there. And his mother's name was Naamah an Ammonitess.
14 [†] And he did evil, because he prepared not his heart to seek the Lord.
15 Now the acts of Rehoboam, first and last, are they not written in the book of Shemaiah the prophet, and of Iddo the seer concerning genealogies? And there were wars between Rehoboam and Jeroboam continually.
16 [†] And Rehoboam slept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David: and Abijah his son reigned in his stead.

2 Chronicles 13 [†]

1 Now in the eighteenth year of king Jeroboam began Abijah to reign over Judah.
2 He reigned three years in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Michaiah the daughter of Uriel of Gibeah. And there was war between Abijah and Jeroboam.
3 [†] And Abijah set the battle in array with an army of valiant men of war, even four hundred thousand chosen men: Jeroboam also set the battle in array against him with eight hundred thousand chosen men, being mighty men of valour.
4 ¶ And Abijah stood up upon mount Zemaraim, which is in mount Ephraim, and said, Hear me, thou Jeroboam, and all Israel;
5 [†] Ought ye not to know that the Lord God of Israel gave the kingdom over Israel to David for ever, even to him and to his sons by a covenant of salt?
6 Yet Jeroboam the son of Nebat, the servant of Solomon the son of David, is risen up, and hath rebelled against his lord.
7 [†] And there are gathered unto him vain men, the children of Belial, and have strengthened themselves against Rehoboam the son of Solomon, when Rehoboam was young and tenderhearted, and could not withstand them.
8 [†] And now ye think to withstand the kingdom of the Lord in the hand of the sons of David; and ye be a great multitude, and there are with you golden calves, which Jeroboam made you for gods.
9 [†] Have ye not cast out the priests of the Lord, the sons of Aaron, and the Levites, and have made you priests after the manner of the nations of other lands? so that whosoever cometh to consecrate himself with a young bullock and seven rams, the same may be a priest of them that are no gods.
10 [†] But as for us, the Lord is our God, and we have not forsaken him; and the priests, which minister unto the Lord, are the sons of Aaron, and the Levites wait upon their business:
11 And they burn unto the Lord every morning and every evening burnt sacrifices and sweet incense: the shewbread also set they in order upon the pure table; and the candlestick of gold with the lamps thereof, to burn every evening: for we keep the charge of the Lord our God; but ye have forsaken him.
12 And, behold, God himself is with us for our captain, and his priests with sounding trumpets to cry alarm against you. O children of Israel, fight ye not against the Lord God of your fathers; for ye shall not prosper.
13 [†] ¶ But Jeroboam caused an ambushment to come about behind them: so they were before Judah, and the ambushment was behind them.
14 [†] And when Judah looked back, behold, the battle was before and behind: and they cried unto the Lord, and the priests sounded with the trumpets.
15 Then the men of Judah gave a shout: and as the men of Judah shouted, it came to pass, that God smote Jeroboam and all Israel before Abijah and Judah.
16 And the children of Israel fled before Judah: and God delivered them into their hand.
17 And Abijah and his people slew them with a great slaughter: so there fell down slain of Israel five hundred thousand chosen men.
18 [†] Thus the children of Israel were brought under at that time, and the children of Judah prevailed, because they relied upon the Lord God of their fathers.
19 And Abijah pursued after Jeroboam, and took cities from him, Beth-el with the towns thereof, and Jeshanah with the towns thereof, and Ephrain with the towns thereof.
20 Neither did Jeroboam recover strength again in the days of Abijah: and the Lord struck him, and he died.
21 ¶ But Abijah waxed mighty, and married fourteen wives, and begat twenty and two sons, and sixteen daughters.

22 And the rest of the acts of Abijah, and his ways, and his sayings, are written in the story of the prophet Iddo.

2 Chronicles 14 [†]

1 [†] So Abijah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David: and Asa his son reigned in his stead. In his days the land was quiet ten years.
2 And Asa did that which was good and right in the eyes of the Lord his God:
3 [†] For he took away the altars of the strange gods, and the high places, and brake down the images, and cut down the groves:
4 And commanded Judah to seek the Lord God of their fathers, and to do the law and the commandment.
5 Also he took away out of all the cities of Judah the high places and the images: and the kingdom was quiet before him.
6 ¶ And he built fenced cities in Judah: for the land had rest, and he had no war in those years; because the Lord had given him rest.
7 [†] Therefore he said unto Judah, Let us build these cities, and make about them walls, and towers, gates, and bars, while the land is yet before us; because we have sought the Lord our God, we have sought him, and he hath given us rest on every side. So they built and prospered.
8 And Asa had an army of men that bare targets and spears, out of Judah three hundred thousand; and out of Benjamin, that bare shields and drew bows, two hundred and fourscore thousand: all these were mighty men of valour.
9 [†] ¶ And there came out against them Zerah the Ethiopian with an host of a thousand thousand, and three hundred chariots; and came unto Mareshah.
10 Then Asa went out against him, and they set the battle in array in the valley of Zephathah at Mareshah.
11 [†] And Asa cried unto the Lord his God, and said, Lord, it is nothing with thee to help, whether with many, or with them that have no power: help us, O Lord our God; for we rest on thee, and in thy name we go against this multitude. O Lord, thou art our God; let not man prevail against thee.
12 So the Lord smote the Ethiopians before Asa, and before Judah; and the Ethiopians fled.
13 [†] And Asa and the people that were with him pursued them unto Gerar: and the Ethiopians were overthrown, that they could not recover themselves; for they were destroyed before the Lord, and before his host; and they carried away very much spoil.
14 [†] And they smote all the cities round about Gerar; for the fear of the Lord came upon them: and they spoiled all the cities; for there was exceeding much spoil in them.
15 They smote also the tents of cattle, and carried away sheep and camels in abundance, and returned to Jerusalem.

2 Chronicles 15 [†]

1 [†] And the Spirit of God came upon Azariah the son of Oded:
2 [†] And he went out to meet Asa, and said unto him, Hear ye me, Asa, and all Judah and Benjamin; The Lord is with you, while ye be with him; and if ye seek him, he will be found of you; but if ye forsake him, he will forsake you.
3 [†] Now for a long season Israel hath been without the true God, and without a teaching priest, and without law.
4 But when they in their trouble did turn unto the Lord God of Israel, and sought him, he was found of them.
5 [†] And in those times there was no peace to him that went out, nor to him that came in, but great vexations were upon all the inhabitants of the countries.
6 [†] And nation was destroyed of nation, and city of city: for God did vex them with all adversity.
7 [†] Be ye strong therefore, and let not your hands be weak: for your work shall be rewarded.
8 And when Asa heard these words, and the prophecy of Oded the prophet, he took courage, and put away the abominable idols out of all the land of Judah and Benjamin, and out of the cities which he had taken from mount Ephraim, and renewed the altar of the Lord, that was before the porch of the Lord.
9 [†] And he gathered all Judah and Benjamin, and the strangers with them out of Ephraim and Manasseh, and out of Simeon: for they fell to him out of Israel in abundance, when they saw that the Lord his God was with him.
10 So they gathered themselves together at Jerusalem in the third month, in the fifteenth year of the reign of Asa.
11 And they offered unto the Lord the same time, of the spoil which they had brought, seven hundred oxen and seven thousand sheep.
12 [†] And they entered into a covenant to seek the Lord God of their fathers with all their heart and with all their soul;
13 That whosoever would not seek the Lord God of Israel should be put to death, whether small or great, whether man or woman.
14 And they sware unto the Lord with a loud voice, and with shouting, and with trumpets, and with cornets.
15 [†] And all Judah rejoiced at the oath: for they had sworn with all their heart, and sought him with their whole desire; and he was found of them: and the Lord gave them rest round about.
16 [†] ¶ And also concerning Maachah the mother of Asa the king, he removed her from being queen, because she had made an idol in a grove: and Asa cut down her idol, and stamped it, and burnt it at the brook Kidron.
17 [†] But the high places were not taken away out of Israel: nevertheless the heart of Asa was perfect all his days.
18 ¶ And he brought into the house of God the things that his father had dedicated, and that he himself had dedicated, silver, and gold, and vessels.
19 And there was no more war unto the five and thirtieth year of the reign of Asa.

2 Chronicles 16 [†]

1 In the six and thirtieth year of the reign of Asa Baasha king of Israel came up against Judah, and built Ramah, to the intent that he might let none go out or come in to Asa king of Judah.
2 [†] Then Asa brought out silver and gold out of the treasures of the house of the Lord and of the king's house, and sent to Ben-hadad king of Syria, that dwelt at Damascus, saying,
3 [†] There is a league between me and thee, as there was between my father and thy father: behold, I have sent thee silver and gold; go, break thy league with Baasha king of Israel, that he may depart from me.
4 And Ben-hadad hearkened unto king Asa, and sent the captains of his armies against the cities of Israel; and they smote Ijon, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the store cities of Naphtali.
5 And it came to pass, when Baasha heard it, that he left off building of Ramah, and let his work cease.
6 Then Asa the king took all Judah; and they carried away the stones of Ramah, and the timber thereof, wherewith Baasha was building; and he built therewith Geba and Mizpah.
7 [†] ¶ And at that time Hanani the seer came to Asa king of Judah, and said unto him, Because thou hast relied on the king of Syria, and not relied on the Lord thy God, therefore is the host of the king of Syria escaped out of thine hand.
8 Were not the Ethiopians and the Lubims a huge host, with very many chariots and horsemen? yet, because thou didst rely on the Lord, he delivered them into thine hand.
9 [†] For the eyes of the Lord run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to shew himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward him. Herein thou hast done foolishly: therefore from henceforth thou shalt have wars.
10 [†] Then Asa was wroth with the seer, and put him in a prison house; for he was in a rage with him because of this thing. And Asa oppressed some of the people the same time.
11 ¶ And, behold, the acts of Asa, first and last, lo, they are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.
12 And Asa in the thirty and ninth year of his reign was diseased in his feet, until his disease was exceeding great: yet in his disease he sought not to the Lord, but to the physicians.
13 ¶ And Asa slept with his fathers, and died in the one and fortieth year of his reign.
14 [†] And they buried him in his own sepulchres, which he had made for himself in the city of David, and laid him in the bed which was filled with sweet odours and divers kinds of spices prepared by the apothecaries' art: and they made a very great burning for him.

2 Chronicles 17 [†]

1 And Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his stead, and strengthened himself against Israel.
2 And he placed forces in all the fenced cities of Judah, and set garrisons in the land of Judah, and in the cities of Ephraim, which Asa his father had taken.
3 [†] And the Lord was with Jehoshaphat, because he walked in the first ways of his father David, and sought not unto Baalim;
4 But sought to the Lord God of his father, and walked in his commandments, and not after the doings of Israel.
5 Therefore the Lord stablished the kingdom in his hand; and all Judah brought to Jehoshaphat presents; and he had riches and honour in abundance.
6 [†] And his heart was lifted up in the ways of the Lord: moreover he took away the high places and groves out of Judah.
7 [†] ¶ Also in the third year of his reign he sent to his princes, even to Ben-hail, and to Obadiah, and to Zechariah, and to Nethaneel, and to Michaiah, to teach in the cities of Judah.
8 And with them he sent Levites, even Shemaiah, and Nethaniah, and Zebadiah, and Asahel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehonathan, and Adonijah, and Tobijah, and Tob-adonijah, Levites; and with them Elishama and Jehoram, priests.
9 And they taught in Judah, and had the book of the law of the Lord with them, and went about throughout all the cities of Judah, and taught the people.
10 [†] ¶ And the fear of the Lord fell upon all the kingdoms of the lands that were round about Judah, so that they made no war against Jehoshaphat.
11 Also some of the Philistines brought Jehoshaphat presents, and tribute silver; and the Arabians brought him flocks, seven thousand and seven hundred rams, and seven thousand and seven hundred he goats.
12 [†] ¶ And Jehoshaphat waxed great exceedingly; and he built in Judah castles, and cities of store.
13 [†] And he had much business in the cities of Judah: and the men of war, mighty men of valour, were in Jerusalem.
14 And these are the numbers of them according to the house of their fathers: Of Judah, the captains of thousands; Adnah the chief, and with him mighty men of valour three hundred thousand.
15 [†] And next to him was Jehohanan the captain, and with him two hundred and fourscore thousand.
16 And next him was Amasiah the son of Zichri, who willingly offered himself unto the Lord; and with him two hundred thousand mighty men of valour.
17 And of Benjamin; Eliada a mighty man of valour, and with him armed men with bow and shield two hundred thousand.
18 And next him was Jehozabad, and with him an hundred and fourscore thousand ready prepared for the war.
19 [†] These waited on the king, beside those whom the king put in the fenced cities throughout all Judah.

2 Chronicles 18 [†]

1 [†] Now Jehoshaphat had riches and honour in abundance, and joined affinity with Ahab.
2 [†] And after certain years he went down to Ahab to Samaria. And Ahab killed sheep and oxen for him in abundance, and for the people that he had with him, and persuaded him to go up with him to Ramoth-gilead.
3 [†] And Ahab king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat king of Judah, Wilt thou go with me to Ramoth-gilead? And he answered him, I am as thou art, and my people as thy people; and we will be with thee in the war.
4 [†] ¶ And Jehoshaphat said unto the king of Israel, Enquire, I pray thee, at the word of the Lord to day.
5 [†] Therefore the king of Israel gathered together of prophets four hundred men, and said unto them, Shall we go to Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall I forbear? And they said, Go up; for God will deliver it into the king's hand.
6 [†] But Jehoshaphat said, Is there not here a prophet of the Lord besides, that we might enquire of him?
7 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, There is yet one man, by whom we may enquire of the Lord: but I hate him; for he never prophesied good unto me, but always evil: the same is Micaiah the son of Imla. And Jehoshaphat said, Let not the king say so.
8 And the king of Israel called for one of his officers, and said, Fetch quickly Micaiah the son of Imla.
9 [†] And the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah sat either of them on his throne, clothed in their robes, and they sat in a void place at the entering in of the gate of Samaria; and all the prophets prophesied before them.
10 [†] And Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah had made him horns of iron, and said, Thus saith the Lord, With these thou shalt push Syria until they be consumed.
11 And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, Go up to Ramoth-gilead, and prosper: for the Lord shall deliver it into the hand of the king.
12 And the messenger that went to call Micaiah spake to him, saying, Behold, the words of the prophets declare good to the king with one assent; let thy word therefore, I pray thee, be like one of theirs, and speak thou good.
13 [†] And Micaiah said, As the Lord liveth, even what my God saith, that will I speak.
14 [†] And when he was come to the king, the king said unto him, Micaiah, shall we go to Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall I forbear? And he said, Go ye up, and prosper, and they shall be delivered into your hand.
15 And the king said to him, How many times shall I adjure thee that thou say nothing but the truth to me in the name of the Lord?
16 [†] Then he said, I did see all Israel scattered upon the mountains, as sheep that have no shepherd: and the Lord said, These have no master; let them return therefore every man to his house in peace.
17 And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee that he would not prophesy good unto me, but evil?
18 [†] Again he said, Therefore hear the word of the Lord; I saw the Lord sitting upon his throne, and all the host of heaven standing on his right hand and on his left.
19 And the Lord said, Who shall entice Ahab king of Israel, that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead? And one spake saying after this manner, and another saying after that manner.
20 [†] Then there came out a spirit, and stood before the Lord, and said, I will entice him. And the Lord said unto him, Wherewith?
21 And he said, I will go out, and be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets. And the Lord said,

Thou shalt entice him, and thou shalt also prevail: go out, and do even so.
22 Now therefore, behold, the LORD hath put a lying spirit in the mouth of these thy prophets, and the LORD hath spoken evil against thee.
23 [†] Then Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah came near, and smote Micaiah upon the cheek, and said, Which way went the Spirit of the LORD from me to speak unto thee?
24 And Micaiah said, Behold, thou shalt see on that day when thou shalt go into an inner chamber to hide thyself.
25 Then the king of Israel said, Take ye Micaiah, and carry him back to Amon the governor of the city, and to Joash the king's son;
26 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this fellow in the prison, and feed him with bread of affliction and with water of affliction, until I return in peace.
27 [†] And Micaiah said, If thou certainly return in peace, then hath not the LORD spoken by me. And he said, Hearken, all ye people.
28 So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth-gilead.
29 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, I will disguise myself, and will go to the battle; but put thou on thy robes. So the king of Israel disguised himself; and they went to the battle.
30 [†] Now the king of Syria had commanded the captains of the chariots that were with him, saying, Fight ye not with small or great, save only with the king of Israel.
31 [†] And it came to pass, when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, that they said, It is the king of Israel. Therefore they compassed about him to fight: but Jehoshaphat cried out, and the LORD helped him; and God moved them to depart from him.
32 For it came to pass, that, when the captains of the chariots perceived that it was not the king of Israel, they turned back again from pursuing him.
33 [†] And a certain man drew a bow at a venture, and smote the king of Israel between the joints of the harness: therefore he said to his chariot man, Turn thine hand, that thou mayest carry me out of the host; for I am wounded.
34 And the battle increased that day: howbeit the king of Israel stayed himself up in his chariot against the Syrians until the even: and about the time of the sun going down he died.

2 Chronicles 19 [†]

1 And Jehoshaphat the king of Judah returned to his house in peace to Jerusalem.
2 [†] And Jehu the son of Hanani the seer went out to meet him, and said to king Jehoshaphat, Shouldest thou help the ungodly, and love them that hate the Lord? therefore is wrath upon thee from before the Lord.
3 [†] Nevertheless there are good things found in thee, in that thou hast taken away the groves out of the land, and hast prepared thine heart to seek God.
4 [†] And Jehoshaphat dwelt at Jerusalem: and he went out again through the people from Beer-sheba to mount Ephraim, and brought them back unto the Lord God of their fathers.
5 [†] ¶ And he set judges in the land throughout all the fenced cities of Judah, city by city,
6 And said to the judges, Take heed what ye do: for ye judge not for man, but for the Lord, who is with you in the judgment.
7 Wherefore now let the fear of the Lord be upon you; take heed and do it: for there is no iniquity with the Lord our God, nor respect of persons, nor taking of gifts.
8 ¶ Moreover in Jerusalem did Jehoshaphat set of the Levites, and of the priests, and of the chief of the fathers of Israel, for the judgment of the Lord, and for controversies, when they returned to Jerusalem.
9 [†] And he charged them, saying, Thus shall ye do in the fear of the Lord, faithfully, and with a perfect heart.
10 [†] And what cause soever shall come to you of your brethren that dwell in their cities, between blood and blood, between law and commandment, statutes and judgments, ye shall even warn them that they trespass not against the Lord, and so wrath come upon you, and upon your brethren: this do, and ye shall not trespass.
11 And, behold, Amariah the chief priest is over you in all matters of the Lord; and Zebadiah the son of Ishmael, the ruler of the house of Judah, for all the king's matters: also the Levites shall be officers before you. Deal courageously, and the Lord shall be with the good.

2 Chronicles 20 [†]

1 [†] It came to pass after this also, that the children of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and with them other beside the Ammonites, came against Jehoshaphat to battle.
2 Then there came some that told Jehoshaphat, saying, There cometh a great multitude against thee from beyond the sea on this side Syria; and, behold, they be in Hazazon-tamar, which is En-gedi.
3 And Jehoshaphat feared, and set himself to seek the Lord, and proclaimed a fast throughout all Judah.
4 [†] And Judah gathered themselves together, to ask help of the Lord: even out of all the cities of Judah they came to seek the Lord.
5 ¶ And Jehoshaphat stood in the congregation of Judah and Jerusalem, in the house of the Lord, before the new court,
6 [†] And said, O Lord God of our fathers, art not thou God in heaven? and rulest not thou over all the kingdoms of the heathen? and in thine hand is there not power and might, so that none is able to withstand thee?
7 [†] Art not thou our God, who didst drive out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, and gavest it to the seed of Abraham thy friend for ever?
8 And they dwelt therein, and have built thee a sanctuary therein for thy name, saying,
9 [†] If, when evil cometh upon us, as the sword, judgment, or pestilence, or famine, we stand before this house, and in thy presence, (for thy name is in this house,) and cry unto thee in our affliction, then thou wilt hear and help.
10 [†] And now, behold, the children of Ammon and Moab and mount Seir, whom thou wouldest not let Israel invade, when they came out of the land of Egypt, but they turned from them, and destroyed them not;
11 [†] Behold, I say, how they reward us, to come to cast us out of thy possession, which thou hast given us to inherit.
12 O our God, wilt thou not judge them? for we have no might against this great company that cometh against us; neither know we what to do: but our eyes are upon thee.
13 And all Judah stood before the Lord, with their little ones, their wives, and their children.
14 [†] ¶ Then upon Jahaziel the son of Zechariah, the son of Benaiah, the son of Jeiel, the son of Mattaniah, a Levite of the sons of Asaph, came the Spirit of the Lord in the midst of the congregation;
15 [†] And he said, Hearken ye, all Judah, and ye inhabitants of Jerusalem, and thou king Jehoshaphat, Thus saith the Lord unto you, Be not afraid nor dismayed by reason of this great multitude; for the battle is not yours, but God's.
16 To morrow go ye down against them: behold, they come up by the cliff of Ziz; and ye shall find them at the end of the brook, before the wilderness of Jeruel.
17 Ye shall not need to fight in this battle: set yourselves, stand ye still, and see the salvation of the Lord with you, O Judah and Jerusalem: fear not, nor be dismayed; to morrow go out against them: for the Lord will be with you.
18 And Jehoshaphat bowed his head with his face to the ground: and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell before the Lord, worshipping the Lord.
19 And the Levites, of the children of the Kohathites, and of the children of the Korhites, stood up to praise the Lord God of Israel with a loud voice on high.
20 [†] ¶ And they rose early in the morning, and went forth into the wilderness of Tekoa: and as they went forth, Jehoshaphat stood and said, Hear me, O Judah, and ye inhabitants of Jerusalem; Believe in the Lord your God, so shall ye be established; believe his prophets, so shall ye prosper.
21 [†] And when he had consulted with the people, he appointed singers unto the Lord, and that should praise the beauty of holiness, as they went out before the army, and to say, Praise the LORD; for his mercy endureth for ever.

22 ¶ And when they began to sing and to praise, the LORD set ambushments against the children of Ammon, Moab, and mount Seir, which were come against Judah; and they were smitten.
23 For the children of Ammon and Moab stood up against the inhabitants of mount Seir, utterly to slay and destroy them: and when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, every one helped to destroy another.
24 And when Judah came toward the watch tower in the wilderness, they looked unto the multitude, and, behold, they were dead bodies fallen to the earth, and none escaped.
25 And when Jehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoil of them, they found among them in abundance both riches with the dead bodies, and precious jewels, which they stripped off for themselves, more than they could carry away: and they were three days in gathering of the spoil, it was so much.
26 ¶ And on the fourth day they assembled themselves in the valley of Berachah; for there they blessed the LORD: therefore the name of the same place was called, The valley of Berachah, unto this day.
27 Then they returned, every man of Judah and Jerusalem, and Jehoshaphat in the forefront of them, to go again to Jerusalem with joy; for the LORD had made them to rejoice over their enemies.
28 And they came to Jerusalem with psalteries and harps and trumpets unto the house of the LORD.
29 And the fear of God was on all the kingdoms of those countries, when they had heard that the LORD fought against the enemies of Israel.
30 [†] So the realm of Jehoshaphat was quiet: for his God gave him rest round about.
31 ¶ And Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah: he was thirty and five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty and five years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.
32 And he walked in the way of Asa his father, and departed not from it, doing that which was right in the sight of the LORD.
33 Howbeit the high places were not taken away: for as yet the people had not prepared their hearts unto the God of their fathers.
34 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, first and last, behold, they are written in the book of Jehu the son of Hanani, who is mentioned in the book of the kings of Israel.
35 [†] ¶ And after this did Jehoshaphat king of Judah join himself with Ahaziah king of Israel, who did very wickedly:
36 And he joined himself with him to make ships to go to Tarshish: and they made the ships in Ezion-geber.
37 Then Eliezer the son of Dodavah of Mareshah prophesied against Jehoshaphat, saying, Because thou hast joined thyself with Ahaziah, the LORD hath broken thy works. And the ships were broken, that they were not able to go to Tarshish.

2 Chronicles 21 [†]

1 [†] Now Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David. And Jehoram his son reigned in his stead.
2 And he had brethren the sons of Jehoshaphat, Azariah, and Jehiel, and Zechariah, and Azariah, and Michael, and Shephatiah: all these were the sons of Jehoshaphat king of Israel.
3 And their father gave them great gifts of silver, and of gold, and of precious things, with fenced cities in Judah: but the kingdom gave he to Jehoram; because he was the firstborn.
4 [†] Now when Jehoram was risen up to the kingdom of his father, he strengthened himself, and slew all his brethren with the sword, and divers also of the princes of Israel.
5 ¶ Jehoram was thirty and two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.
6 [†] And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, like as did the house of Ahab: for he had the daughter of Ahab to wife: and he wrought that which was evil in the eyes of the Lord.
7 [†] Howbeit the Lord would not destroy the house of David, because of the covenant that he had made with David, and as he promised to give a light to him and to his sons for ever.
8 ¶ In his days the Edomites revolted from under the dominion of Judah, and made themselves a king.
9 [†] Then Jehoram went forth with his princes, and all his chariots with him: and he rose up by night, and smote the Edomites which compassed him in, and the captains of the chariots.
10 [†] So the Edomites revolted from under the hand of Judah unto this day. The same time also did Libnah revolt from under his hand; because he had forsaken the Lord God of his fathers.
11 [†] Moreover he made high places in the mountains of Judah, and caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem to commit fornication, and compelled Judah thereto.
12 [†] ¶ And there came a writing to him from Elijah the prophet, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of David thy father, Because thou hast not walked in the ways of Jehoshaphat thy father, nor in the ways of Asa king of Judah,
13 [†] But hast walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and hast made Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to go a whoring, like to the whoredoms of the house of Ahab, and also hast slain thy brethren of thy father's house, which were better than thyself:
14 Behold, with a great plague will the Lord smite thy people, and thy children, and thy wives, and all thy goods:
15 [†] And thou shalt have great sickness by disease of thy bowels, until thy bowels fall out by reason of the sickness day by day.
16 [†] ¶ Moreover the Lord stirred up against Jehoram the spirit of the Philistines, and of the Arabians, that were near the Ethiopians:
17 [†] And they came up into Judah, and brake into it, and carried away all the substance that was found in the king's house, and his sons also, and his wives; so that there was never a son left him, save Jehoahaz, the youngest of his sons.
18 ¶ And after all this the Lord smote him in his bowels with an incurable disease.
19 [†] And it came to pass, that in process of time, after the end of two years, his bowels fell out by reason of his sickness: so he died of sore diseases. And his people made no burning for him, like the burning of his fathers.
20 [†] Thirty and two years old was he when he began to reign, and he reigned in Jerusalem eight years, and departed without being desired. Howbeit they buried him in the city of David, but not in the sepulchres of the kings.

2 Chronicles 22 [†]

1 [†] And the inhabitants of Jerusalem made Ahaziah his youngest son king in his stead: for the band of men that came with the Arabians to the camp had slain all the eldest. So Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah reigned.
2 [†] Forty and two years old was Ahaziah when he began to reign, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Athaliah the daughter of Omri.
3 He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab: for his mother was his counsellor to do wickedly.
4 Wherefore he did evil in the sight of the Lord like the house of Ahab: for they were his counsellors after the death of his father to his destruction.
5 [†] ¶ He walked also after their counsel, and went with Jehoram the son of Ahab king of Israel to war against Hazael king of Syria at Ramoth-gilead: and the Syrians smote Joram.
6 And he returned to be healed in Jezreel because of the wounds which were given him at Ramah, when he fought with Hazael king of Syria. And Azariah the son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to see Jehoram the son of Ahab at Jezreel, because he was sick.
7 [†] And the destruction of Ahaziah was of God by coming to Joram: for when he was come, he went out with Jehoram against Jehu the son of Nimshi, whom the Lord had anointed to cut off the house of Ahab.
8 [†] And it came to pass, that, when Jehu was executing judgment upon the house of Ahab, and found the princes of Judah, and the sons of the brethren of Ahaziah, that ministered to Ahaziah, he slew them.
9 [†] And he sought Ahaziah: and they caught him, (for he was hid in Samaria,) and brought him to Jehu: and when they had slain him, they buried him: Because, said they, he is the son of Jehoshaphat, who sought the Lord with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziah had no power to keep still the kingdom.
10 [†] ¶ But when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she arose and destroyed all the seed royal of the house of Judah.
11 [†] But Jehoshabeath, the daughter of the king, took Joash the son of Ahaziah, and stole him from among the king's sons that were slain, and put him and his nurse in a bedchamber. So Jehoshabeath, the daughter of king Jehoram, the wife of Jehoiada the priest, (for she was the sister of Ahaziah,) hid him from Athaliah, so that she slew him not.
12 And he was with them hid in the house of God six years: and Athaliah reigned over the land.

2 Chronicles 23 [†]

1 [†] And in the seventh year Jehoiada strengthened himself, and took the captains of hundreds, Azariah the son of Jeroham, and Ishmael the son of Jehohanan, and Azariah the son of Obed, and Maaseiah the son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat the son of Zichri, into covenant with him.
2 And they went about in Judah, and gathered the Levites out of all the cities of Judah, and the chief of the fathers of Israel, and they came to Jerusalem.
3 [†] And all the congregation made a covenant with the king in the house of God. And he said unto them, Behold, the king's son shall reign, as the Lord hath said of the sons of David.
4 This is the thing that ye shall do; A third part of you entering on the sabbath, of the priests and of the Levites, shall be porters of the doors;
5 And a third part shall be at the king's house; and a third part at the gate of the foundation: and all the people shall be in the courts of the house of the Lord.
6 [†] But let none come into the house of the Lord, save the priests, and they that minister of the Levites; they shall go in, for they are holy: but all the people shall keep the watch of the Lord.
7 [†] And the Levites shall compass the king round about, every man with his weapons in his hand; and whosoever else cometh into the house, he shall be put to death: but be ye with the king when he cometh in, and when he goeth out.
8 [†] So the Levites and all Judah did according to all things that Jehoiada the priest had commanded, and took every man his men that were to come in on the sabbath, with them that were to go out on the sabbath: for Jehoiada the priest dismissed not the courses.
9 [†] Moreover Jehoiada the priest delivered to the captains of hundreds spears, and bucklers, and shields, that had been king David's, which were in the house of God.
10 And he set all the people, every man having his weapon in his hand, from the right side of the temple to the left side of the temple, along by the altar and the temple, by the king round about.
11 [†] Then they brought out the king's son, and put upon him the crown, and gave him the testimony, and made him king. And Jehoiada and his sons anointed him, and said, God save the king.
12 ¶ Now when Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and praising the king, she came to the people into the house of the Lord:
13 [†] And she looked, and, behold, the king stood at his pillar at the entering in, and the princes and the trumpets by the king: and all the people of the land rejoiced, and sounded with trumpets, also the singers with instruments of musick, and such as taught to sing praise. Then Athaliah rent her clothes, and said, Treason, Treason.
14 [†] Then Jehoiada the priest brought out the captains of hundreds that were set over the host, and said unto them, Have her forth of the ranges: and whoso followeth her, let him be slain with the sword. For the priest said, Slay her not in the house of the Lord.
15 So they laid hands on her; and when she was come to the entering of the horse gate by the king's house, they slew her there.
16 [†] ¶ And Jehoiada made a covenant between him, and between all the people, and between the king, that they should be the Lord's people.
17 Then all the people went to the house of Baal, and brake it down, and brake his altars and his images in pieces, and slew Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars.
18 Also Jehoiada appointed the offices of the house of the Lord by the hand of the priests the Levites, whom David had distributed in the house of the Lord, to offer the burnt offerings of the Lord, as it is written in the law of Moses, with rejoicing and with singing, as it was ordained by David.
19 [†] And he set the porters at the gates of the house of the Lord, that none which was unclean in any thing should enter in.

20 And he took the captains of hundreds, and the nobles, and the governors of the people, and all the people of the land, and brought down the king from the house of the LORD: and they came through the high gate into the king's house, and set the king upon the throne of the kingdom.
21 [†] And all the people of the land rejoiced: and the city was quiet, after that they had slain Athaliah with the sword.

2 Chronicles 24 [†]

1 [†] Joash was seven years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Zibiah of Beer-sheba.
2 [†] And Joash did that which was right in the sight of the Lord all the days of Jehoiada the priest.
3 And Jehoiada took for him two wives; and he begat sons and daughters.
4 [†] ¶ And it came to pass after this, that Joash was minded to repair the house of the Lord.
5 [†] And he gathered together the priests and the Levites, and said to them, Go out unto the cities of Judah, and gather of all Israel money to repair the house of your God from year to year, and see that ye hasten the matter. Howbeit the Levites hastened it not.
6 [†] And the king called for Jehoiada the chief, and said unto him, Why hast thou not required of the Levites to bring in out of Judah and out of Jerusalem the collection, according to the commandment of Moses the servant of the Lord, and of the congregation of Israel, for the tabernacle of witness?
7 For the sons of Athaliah, that wicked woman, had broken up the house of God; and also all the dedicated things of the house of the Lord did they bestow upon Baalim.
8 [†] And at the king's commandment they made a chest, and set it without at the gate of the house of the Lord.
9 And they made a proclamation through Judah and Jerusalem, to bring in to the Lord the collection that Moses the servant of God laid upon Israel in the wilderness.
10 [†] And all the princes and all the people rejoiced, and brought in, and cast into the chest, until they had made an end.
11 Now it came to pass, that at what time the chest was brought unto the king's office by the hand of the Levites, and when they saw that there was much money, the king's scribe and the high priest's officer came and emptied the chest, and took it, and carried it to his place again. Thus they did day by day, and gathered money in abundance.
12 And the king and Jehoiada gave it to such as did the work of the service of the house of the Lord, and hired masons and carpenters to repair the house of the Lord, and also such as wrought iron and brass to mend the house of the Lord.
13 So the workmen wrought, and the work was perfected by them, and they set the house of God in his state, and strengthened it.
14 [†] And when they had finished it, they brought the rest of the money before the king and Jehoiada, whereof were made vessels for the house of the Lord, even vessels to minister, and to offer withal, and spoons, and vessels of gold and silver. And they offered burnt offerings in the house of the Lord continually all the days of Jehoiada.
15 [†] ¶ But Jehoiada waxed old, and was full of days when he died; an hundred and thirty years old was he when he died.
16 And they buried him in the city of David among the kings, because he had done good in Israel, both toward God, and toward his house.
17 [†] Now after the death of Jehoiada came the princes of Judah, and made obeisance to the king. Then the king hearkened unto them.
18 [†] And they left the house of the Lord God of their fathers, and served groves and idols: and wrath came upon Judah and Jerusalem for this their trespass.
19 Yet he sent prophets to them, to bring them again unto the Lord; and they testified against them: but they would not give ear.
20 [†] And the Spirit of God came upon Zechariah the son of Jehoiada the priest, which stood above the people, and said unto them, Thus saith God, Why transgress ye the commandments of the Lord, that ye cannot prosper? because ye have forsaken the LORD, he hath also forsaken you.

21 And they conspired against him, and stoned him with stones at the commandment of the king in the court of the house of the LORD.
22 [†] Thus Joash the king remembered not the kindness which Jehoiada his father had done to him, but slew his son. And when he died, he said, The LORD look upon it, and require it.
23 [†] ¶ And it came to pass at the end of the year, that the host of Syria came up against him: and they came to Judah and Jerusalem, and destroyed all the princes of the people from among the people, and sent all the spoil of them unto the king of Damascus.
24 For the army of the Syrians came with a small company of men, and the LORD delivered a very great host into their hand, because they had forsaken the LORD God of their fathers. So they executed judgment against Joash.
25 [†] And when they were departed from him, (for they left him in great diseases,) his own servants conspired against him for the blood of the sons of Jehoiada the priest, and slew him on his bed, and he died: and they buried him in the city of David, but they buried him not in the sepulchres of the kings.
26 [†] And these are they that conspired against him; Zabad the son of Shimeath an Ammonitess, and Jehozabad the son of Shimrith a Moabitess.
27 [†] ¶ Now concerning his sons, and the greatness of the burdens laid upon him, and the repairing of the house of God, behold, they are written in the story of the book of the kings. And Amaziah his son reigned in his stead.

2 Chronicles 25 [†]

1 [†] Amaziah was twenty and five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty and nine years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem.
2 [†] And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, but not with a perfect heart.
3 ¶ Now it came to pass, when the kingdom was established to him, that he slew his servants that had killed the king his father.
4 [†] But he slew not their children, but did as it is written in the law in the book of Moses, where the Lord commanded, saying, The fathers shall not die for the children, neither shall the children die for the fathers, but every man shall die for his own sin.
5 [†] ¶ Moreover Amaziah gathered Judah together, and made them captains over thousands, and captains over hundreds, according to the houses of their fathers, throughout all Judah and Benjamin: and he numbered them from twenty years old and above, and found them three hundred thousand choice men, able to go forth to war, that could handle spear and shield.
6 He hired also an hundred thousand mighty men of valour out of Israel for an hundred talents of silver.
7 [†] But there came a man of God to him, saying, O king, let not the army of Israel go with thee; for the Lord is not with Israel, to wit, with all the children of Ephraim.
8 [†] But if thou wilt go, do it, be strong for the battle: God shall make thee fall before the enemy: for God hath power to help, and to cast down.
9 [†] And Amaziah said to the man of God, But what shall we do for the hundred talents which I have given to the army of Israel? And the man of God answered, The Lord is able to give thee much more than this.
10 [†] Then Amaziah separated them, to wit, the army that was come to him out of Ephraim, to go home again: wherefore their anger was greatly kindled against Judah, and they returned home in great anger.
11 [†] ¶ And Amaziah strengthened himself, and led forth his people, and went to the valley of salt, and smote of the children of Seir ten thousand.
12 And other ten thousand left alive did the children of Judah carry away captive, and brought them unto the top of the rock, and cast them down from the top of the rock, that they all were broken in pieces.
13 [†] ¶ But the soldiers of the army which Amaziah sent back, that they should not go with him to battle, fell upon the cities of Judah, from Samaria even unto Beth-horon, and smote three thousand of them, and took much spoil.
14 ¶ Now it came to pass, after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, that he brought the gods of the children of Seir, and set them up to be his gods, and bowed down himself before them, and burned incense unto them.
15 [†] Wherefore the anger of the Lord was kindled against Amaziah, and he sent unto him a prophet, which said unto him, Why hast thou sought after the gods of the people, which could not deliver their own people out of thine hand?
16 [†] And it came to pass, as he talked with him, that the king said unto him, Art thou made of the king's counsel? forbear; why shouldest thou be smitten? Then the prophet forbare, and said, I know that God hath determined to destroy thee, because thou hast done this, and hast not hearkened unto my counsel.
17 [†] ¶ Then Amaziah king of Judah took advice, and sent to Joash, the son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying, Come, let us see one another in the face.
18 [†] And Joash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, The thistle that was in Lebanon sent to the cedar that was in Lebanon, saying, Give thy daughter to my son to wife: and there passed by a wild beast that was in Lebanon, and trode down the thistle.

19 [†] Thou sayest, Lo, thou hast smitten the Edomites; and thine heart lifteth thee up to boast: abide now at home; why shouldest thou meddle to thine hurt, that thou shouldest fall, even thou, and Judah with thee?
20 [†] But Amaziah would not hear; for it came of God, that he might deliver them into the hand of their enemies, because they sought after the gods of Edom.
21 So Joash the king of Israel went up; and they saw one another in the face, both he and Amaziah king of Judah, at Beth-shemesh, which belongeth to Judah.
22 [†] And Judah was put to the worse before Israel, and they fled every man to his tent.
23 And Joash the king of Israel took Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Joash, the son of Jehoahaz, at Beth-shemesh, and brought him to Jerusalem, and brake down the wall of Jerusalem from the gate of Ephraim to the corner gate, four hundred cubits.
24 [†] And he took all the gold and the silver, and all the vessels that were found in the house of God with Obed-edom, and the treasures of the king's house, the hostages also, and returned to Samaria.
25 ¶ And Amaziah the son of Joash king of Judah lived after the death of Joash son of Jehoahaz king of Israel fifteen years.
26 Now the rest of the acts of Amaziah, first and last, behold, are they not written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel?
27 ¶ Now after the time that Amaziah did turn away from following the LORD they made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem; and he fled to Lachish: but they sent to Lachish after him, and slew him there.
28 And they brought him upon horses, and buried him with his fathers in the city of Judah.

2 Chronicles 26 [†]

1 [†] Then all the people of Judah took Uzziah, who was sixteen years old, and made him king in the room of his father Amaziah.
2 [†] He built Eloth, and restored it to Judah, after that the king slept with his fathers.
3 Sixteen years old was Uzziah when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty and two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Jecoliah of Jerusalem.
4 And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father Amaziah did.
5 [†] And he sought God in the days of Zechariah, who had understanding in the visions of God: and as long as he sought the Lord, God made him to prosper.
6 [†] And he went forth and warred against the Philistines, and brake down the wall of Gath, and the wall of Jabneh, and the wall of Ashdod, and built cities about Ashdod, and among the Philistines.
7 And God helped him against the Philistines, and against the Arabians that dwelt in Gur-baal, and the Mehunims.
8 And the Ammonites gave gifts to Uzziah: and his name spread abroad even to the entering in of Egypt; for he strengthened himself exceedingly.
9 Moreover Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem at the corner gate, and at the valley gate, and at the turning of the wall, and fortified them.
10 Also he built towers in the desert, and digged many wells: for he had much cattle, both in the low country, and in the plains: husbandmen also, and vine dressers in the mountains, and in Carmel: for he loved husbandry.
11 Moreover Uzziah had an host of fighting men, that went out to war by bands, according to the number of their account by the hand of Jeiel the scribe and Maaseiah the ruler, under the hand of Hananiah, one of the king's captains.
12 [†] The whole number of the chief of the fathers of the mighty men of valour were two thousand and six hundred.
13 And under their hand was an army, three hundred thousand and seven thousand and five hundred, that made war with mighty power, to help the king against the enemy.
14 [†] And Uzziah prepared for them throughout all the host shields, and spears, and helmets, and habergeons, and bows, and slings to cast stones.
15 [†] And he made in Jerusalem engines, invented by cunning men, to be on the towers and upon the bulwarks, to shoot arrows and great stones withal. And his name spread far abroad; for he was marvellously helped, till he was strong.
16 [†] ¶ But when he was strong, his heart was lifted up to his destruction: for he transgressed against the Lord his God, and went into the temple of the Lord to burn incense upon the altar of incense.
17 [†] And Azariah the priest went in after him, and with him fourscore priests of the Lord, that were valiant men:
18 And they withstood Uzziah the king, and said unto him, It appertaineth not unto thee, Uzziah, to burn incense unto the Lord, but to the priests the sons of Aaron, that are consecrated to burn incense: go out of the sanctuary; for thou hast trespassed; neither shall it be for thine honour from the Lord God.
19 [†] Then Uzziah was wroth, and had a censer in his hand to burn incense: and while he was wroth with the priests, the leprosy even rose up in his forehead before the priests in the house of the Lord, from beside the incense altar.
20 [†] And Azariah the chief priest, and all the priests, looked upon him, and, behold, he was leprous in his forehead, and they thrust him out from thence; yea, himself hasted also to go out, because the Lord had smitten him.

21 [†] And Uzziah the king was a leper unto the day of his death, and dwelt in a several house, being a leper; for he was cut off from the house of the LORD: and Jotham his son was over the king's house, judging the people of the land.
22 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Uzziah, first and last, did Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, write.
23 [†] So Uzziah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the field of the burial which belonged to the kings; for they said, He is a leper: and Jotham his son reigned in his stead.

2 Chronicles 27 [†]

1 Jotham was twenty and five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Jerushah, the daughter of Zadok.
2 [†] And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father Uzziah did: howbeit he entered not into the temple of the Lord. And the people did yet corruptly.
3 He built the high gate of the house of the Lord, and on the wall of Ophel he built much.
4 Moreover he built cities in the mountains of Judah, and in the forests he built castles and towers.
5 ¶ He fought also with the king of the Ammonites, and prevailed against them. And the children of Ammon gave him the same year an hundred talents of silver, and ten thousand measures of wheat, and ten thousand of barley. So much did the children of Ammon pay unto him, both the second year, and the third.
6 [†] So Jotham became mighty, because he prepared his ways before the Lord his God.
7 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Jotham, and all his wars, and his ways, lo, they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.
8 He was five and twenty years old when he began to reign, and reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem.
9 [†] ¶ And Jotham slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David: and Ahaz his son reigned in his stead.

2 Chronicles 28 [†]

1 [†] Ahaz was twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem: but he did not that which was right in the sight of the Lord, like David his father:
2 For he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, and made also molten images for Baalim.
3 [†] Moreover he burnt incense in the valley of the son of Hinnom, and burnt his children in the fire, after the abominations of the heathen whom the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.
4 [†] He sacrificed also and burnt incense in the high places, and on the hills, and under every green tree.
5 [†] Wherefore the Lord his God delivered him into the hand of the king of Syria; and they smote him, and carried away a great multitude of them captives, and brought them to Damascus. And he was also delivered into the hand of the king of Israel, who smote him with a great slaughter.
6 [†] ¶ For Pekah the son of Remaliah slew in Judah an hundred and twenty thousand in one day, which were all valiant men; because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers.
7 And Zichri, a mighty man of Ephraim, slew Maaseiah the king's son, and Azrikam the governor of the house, and Elkanah that was next to the king.
8 And the children of Israel carried away captive of their brethren two hundred thousand, women, sons, and daughters, and took also away much spoil from them, and brought the spoil to Samaria.
9 [†] But a prophet of the Lord was there, whose name was Oded: and he went out before the host that came to Samaria, and said unto them, Behold, because the Lord God of your fathers was wroth with Judah, he hath delivered them into your hand, and ye have slain them in a rage that reacheth up unto heaven.
10 [†] And now ye purpose to keep under the children of Judah and Jerusalem for bondmen and bondwomen unto you: but are there not with you, even with you, sins against the Lord your God?
11 [†] Now hear me therefore, and deliver the captives again, which ye have taken captive of your brethren: for the fierce wrath of the Lord is upon you.
12 Then certain of the heads of the children of Ephraim, Azariah the son of Johanan, Berechiah the son of Meshillemoth, and Jehizkiah the son of Shallum, and Amasa the son of Hadlai, stood up against them that came from the war,
13 And said unto them, Ye shall not bring in the captives hither: for whereas we have offended against the Lord already, ye intend to add more to our sins and to our trespass: for our trespass is great, and there is fierce wrath against Israel.
14 So the armed men left the captives and the spoil before the princes and all the congregation.
15 [†] And the men which were expressed by name rose up, and took the captives, and with the spoil clothed all that were naked among them, and arrayed them, and shod them, and gave them to eat and to drink, and anointed them, and carried all the feeble of them upon asses, and brought them to Jericho, the city of palm trees, to their brethren: then they returned to Samaria.
16 [†] ¶ At that time did king Ahaz send unto the kings of Assyria to help him.
17 For again the Edomites had come and smitten Judah, and carried away captives.
18 The Philistines also had invaded the cities of the low country, and of the south of Judah, and had taken Beth-shemesh, and Ajalon, and Gederoth, and Shocho with the villages thereof, and Timnah with the villages thereof, Gimzo also and the villages thereof: and they dwelt there.
19 [†] For the Lord brought Judah low because of Ahaz king of Israel; for he made Judah naked, and transgressed sore against the Lord.
20 [†] And Tilgath-pilneser king of Assyria came unto him, and distressed him, but strengthened him not.

21 For Ahaz took away a portion out of the house of the LORD, and out of the house of the king, and of the princes, and gave it unto the king of Assyria: but he helped him not.
22 ¶ And in the time of his distress did he trespass yet more against the LORD: this is that king Ahaz.
23 [†] For he sacrificed unto the gods of Damascus, which smote him: and he said, Because the gods of the kings of Syria help them, therefore will I sacrifice to them, that they may help me. But they were the ruin of him, and of all Israel.
24 [†] And Ahaz gathered together the vessels of the house of God, and cut in pieces the vessels of the house of God, and shut up the doors of the house of the LORD, and he made him altars in every corner of Jerusalem.
25 And in every several city of Judah he made high places to burn incense unto other gods, and provoked to anger the LORD God of his fathers.
26 ¶ Now the rest of his acts and of all his ways, first and last, behold, they are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.
27 [†] And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city, even in Jerusalem: but they brought him not into the sepulchres of the kings of Israel: and Hezekiah his son reigned in his stead.

2 Chronicles 29 [†]

1 [†] Hezekiah began to reign when he was five and twenty years old, and he reigned nine and twenty years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Abijah, the daughter of Zechariah.
2 And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, according to all that David his father had done.
3 [†] ¶ He in the first year of his reign, in the first month, opened the doors of the house of the Lord, and repaired them.
4 [†] And he brought in the priests and the Levites, and gathered them together into the east street,
5 And said unto them, Hear me, ye Levites, sanctify now yourselves, and sanctify the house of the Lord God of your fathers, and carry forth the filthiness out of the holy place.
6 For our fathers have trespassed, and done that which was evil in the eyes of the Lord our God, and have forsaken him, and have turned away their faces from the habitation of the Lord, and turned their backs.
7 Also they have shut up the doors of the porch, and put out the lamps, and have not burned incense nor offered burnt offerings in the holy place unto the God of Israel.
8 Wherefore the wrath of the Lord was upon Judah and Jerusalem, and he hath delivered them to trouble, to astonishment, and to hissing, as ye see with your eyes.
9 For, lo, our fathers have fallen by the sword, and our sons and our daughters and our wives are in captivity for this.
10 [†] Now it is in mine heart to make a covenant with the Lord God of Israel, that his fierce wrath may turn away from us.
11 [†] My sons, be not now negligent: for the Lord hath chosen you to stand before him, to serve him, and that ye should minister unto him, and burn incense.
12 ¶ Then the Levites arose, Mahath the son of Amasai, and Joel the son of Azariah, of the sons of the Kohathites: and of the sons of Merari, Kish the son of Abdi, and Azariah the son of Jehalelel: and of the Gershonites; Joah the son of Zimmah, and Eden the son of Joah:
13 And of the sons of Elizaphan; Shimri, and Jeiel: and of the sons of Asaph; Zechariah, and Mattaniah:
14 And of the sons of Heman; Jehiel, and Shimei: and of the sons of Jeduthun; Shemaiah, and Uzziel.
15 And they gathered their brethren, and sanctified themselves, and came, according to the commandment of the king, by the words of the Lord, to cleanse the house of the Lord.
16 [†] And the priests went into the inner part of the house of the Lord, to cleanse it, and brought out all the uncleanness that they found in the temple of the Lord into the court of the house of the Lord. And the Levites took it, to carry it out abroad into the brook Kidron.
17 Now they began on the first day of the first month to sanctify, and on the eighth day of the month came they to the porch of the Lord: so they sanctified the house of the Lord in eight days; and in the sixteenth day of the first month they made an end.
18 [†] Then they went in to Hezekiah the king, and said, We have cleansed all the house of the Lord, and the altar of burnt offering, with all the vessels thereof, and the shewbread table, with all the vessels thereof.
19 Moreover all the vessels, which king Ahaz in his reign did cast away in his transgression, have we prepared and sanctified, and, behold, they are before the altar of the Lord.
20 ¶ Then Hezekiah the king rose early, and gathered the rulers of the city, and went up to the house of the Lord.
21 [†] And they brought seven bullocks, and seven rams, and seven lambs, and seven he goats, for a sin offering for the kingdom, and for the sanctuary, and for Judah. And he commanded the priests the sons of Aaron to offer them on the altar of the LORD.

22 So they killed the bullocks, and the priests received the blood, and sprinkled it on the altar: likewise, when they had killed the rams, they sprinkled the blood upon the altar: they killed also the lambs, and they sprinkled the blood upon the altar.
23 And they brought forth the he goats for the sin offering before the king and the congregation; and they laid their hands upon them:
24 [†] And the priests killed them, and they made reconciliation with their blood upon the altar, to make an atonement for all Israel: for the king commanded that the burnt offering and the sin offering should be made for all Israel.
25 [†] And he set the Levites in the house of the LORD with cymbals, with psalteries, and with harps, according to the commandment of David, and of Gad the king's seer, and Nathan the prophet: for so was the commandment of the LORD by his prophets.
26 And the Levites stood with the instruments of David, and the priests with the trumpets.
27 [†] And Hezekiah commanded to offer the burnt offering upon the altar. And when the burnt offering began, the song of the LORD began also with the trumpets, and with the instruments ordained by David king of Israel.
28 And all the congregation worshipped, and the singers sang, and the trumpeters sounded: and all this continued until the burnt offering was finished.
29 And when they had made an end of offering, the king and all that were present with him bowed themselves, and worshipped.
30 [†] Moreover Hezekiah the king and the princes commanded the Levites to sing praise unto the LORD with the words of David, and of Asaph the seer. And they sang praises with gladness, and they bowed their heads and worshipped.
31 [†] Then Hezekiah answered and said, Now ye have consecrated yourselves unto the LORD, come near and bring sacrifices and thank offerings into the house of the LORD. And the congregation brought in sacrifices and thank offerings; and as many as were of a free heart burnt offerings.
32 And the number of the burnt offerings, which the congregation brought, was threescore and ten bullocks, an hundred rams, and two hundred lambs: all these were for a burnt offering to the LORD.
33 And the consecrated things were six hundred oxen and three thousand sheep.
34 [†] But the priests were too few, so that they could not flay all the burnt offerings: wherefore their brethren the Levites did help them, till the work was ended, and until the other priests had sanctified themselves: for the Levites were more upright in heart to sanctify themselves than the priests.
35 And also the burnt offerings were in abundance, with the fat of the peace offerings, and the drink offerings for every burnt offering. So the service of the house of the LORD was set in order.
36 [†] And Hezekiah rejoiced, and all the people, that God had prepared the people: for the thing was done suddenly.

2 Chronicles 30 [†]

1 [†] And Hezekiah sent to all Israel and Judah, and wrote letters also to Ephraim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, to keep the passover unto the Lord God of Israel.
2 [†] For the king had taken counsel, and his princes, and all the congregation in Jerusalem, to keep the passover in the second month.
3 For they could not keep it at that time, because the priests had not sanctified themselves sufficiently, neither had the people gathered themselves together to Jerusalem.
4 And the thing pleased the king and all the congregation.
5 [†] So they established a decree to make proclamation throughout all Israel, from Beer-sheba even to Dan, that they should come to keep the passover unto the Lord God of Israel at Jerusalem: for they had not done it of a long time in such sort as it was written.
6 [†] So the posts went with the letters from the king and his princes throughout all Israel and Judah, and according to the commandment of the king, saying, Ye children of Israel, turn again unto the Lord God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, and he will return to the remnant of you, that are escaped out of the hand of the kings of Assyria.
7 And be not ye like your fathers, and like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers, who therefore gave them up to desolation, as ye see.
8 Now be ye not stiffnecked, as your fathers were, but yield yourselves unto the Lord, and enter into his sanctuary, which he hath sanctified for ever: and serve the Lord your God, that the fierceness of his wrath may turn away from you.
9 [†] For if ye turn again unto the Lord, your brethren and your children shall find compassion before them that lead them captive, so that they shall come again into this land: for the Lord your God is gracious and merciful, and will not turn away his face from you, if ye return unto him.
10 [†] So the posts passed from city to city through the country of Ephraim and Manasseh even unto Zebulun: but they laughed them to scorn, and mocked them.
11 [†] Nevertheless divers of Asher and Manasseh and of Zebulun humbled themselves, and came to Jerusalem.
12 Also in Judah the hand of God was to give them one heart to do the commandment of the king and of the princes, by the word of the Lord.
13 ¶ And there assembled at Jerusalem much people to keep the feast of unleavened bread in the second month, a very great congregation.
14 And they arose and took away the altars that were in Jerusalem, and all the altars for incense took they away, and cast them into the brook Kidron.
15 [†] Then they killed the passover on the fourteenth day of the second month: and the priests and the Levites were ashamed, and sanctified themselves, and brought in the burnt offerings into the house of the Lord.
16 And they stood in their place after their manner, according to the law of Moses the man of God: the priests sprinkled the blood, which they received of the hand of the Levites.
17 [†] For there were many in the congregation that were not sanctified: therefore the Levites had the charge of the killing of the passovers for every one that was not clean, to sanctify them unto the Lord.
18 For a multitude of the people, even many of Ephraim, and Manasseh, Issachar, and Zebulun, had not cleansed themselves, yet did they eat the passover otherwise than it was written. But Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, The good Lord pardon every one
19 That prepareth his heart to seek God, the Lord God of his fathers, though he be not cleansed according to the purification of the sanctuary.

20 And the LORD hearkened to Hezekiah, and healed the people.
21 And the children of Israel that were present at Jerusalem kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days with great gladness: and the Levites and the priests praised the LORD day by day, singing with loud instruments unto the LORD.
22 [†] And Hezekiah spake comfortably unto all the Levites that taught the good knowledge of the LORD: and they did eat throughout the feast seven days, offering peace offerings, and making confession to the LORD God of their fathers.
23 And the whole assembly took counsel to keep other seven days: and they kept other seven days with gladness.
24 For Hezekiah king of Judah did give to the congregation a thousand bullocks and seven thousand sheep; and the princes gave to the congregation a thousand bullocks and ten thousand sheep: and a great number of priests sanctified themselves.
25 And all the congregation of Judah, with the priests and the Levites, and all the congregation that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of the land of Israel, and that dwelt in Judah, rejoiced.
26 So there was great joy in Jerusalem: for since the time of Solomon the son of David king of Israel there was not the like in Jerusalem.
27 [†] ¶ Then the priests the Levites arose and blessed the people: and their voice was heard, and their prayer came up to his holy dwelling place, even unto heaven.

2 Chronicles 31 [†]

1 [†] Now when all this was finished, all Israel that were present went out to the cities of Judah, and brake the images in pieces, and cut down the groves, and threw down the high places and the altars out of all Judah and Benjamin, in Ephraim also and Manasseh, until they had utterly destroyed them all. Then all the children of Israel returned, every man to his possession, into their own cities.
2 [†] ¶ And Hezekiah appointed the courses of the priests and the Levites after their courses, every man according to his service, the priests and Levites for burnt offerings and for peace offerings, to minister, and to give thanks, and to praise in the gates of the tents of the Lord.
3 [†] He appointed also the king's portion of his substance for the burnt offerings, to wit, for the morning and evening burnt offerings, and the burnt offerings for the sabbaths, and for the new moons, and for the set feasts, as it is written in the law of the Lord.
4 [†] Moreover he commanded the people that dwelt in Jerusalem to give the portion of the priests and the Levites, that they might be encouraged in the law of the Lord.
5 [†] ¶ And as soon as the commandment came abroad, the children of Israel brought in abundance the firstfruits of corn, wine, and oil, and honey, and of all the increase of the field; and the tithe of all things brought they in abundantly.
6 And concerning the children of Israel and Judah, that dwelt in the cities of Judah, they also brought in the tithe of oxen and sheep, and the tithe of holy things which were consecrated unto the Lord their God, and laid them by heaps.
7 In the third month they began to lay the foundation of the heaps, and finished them in the seventh month.
8 And when Hezekiah and the princes came and saw the heaps, they blessed the Lord, and his people Israel.
9 Then Hezekiah questioned with the priests and the Levites concerning the heaps.
10 And Azariah the chief priest of the house of Zadok answered him, and said, Since the people began to bring the offerings into the house of the Lord, we have had enough to eat, and have left plenty: for the Lord hath blessed his people; and that which is left is this great store.
11 [†] ¶ Then Hezekiah commanded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lord; and they prepared them,
12 And brought in the offerings and the tithes and the dedicated things faithfully: over which Cononiah the Levite was ruler, and Shimei his brother was the next.
13 And Jehiel, and Azaziah, and Nahath, and Asahel, and Jerimoth, and Jozabad, and Eliel, and Ismachiah, and Mahath, and Benaiah, were overseers under the hand of Cononiah and Shimei his brother, at the commandment of Hezekiah the king, and Azariah the ruler of the house of God.
14 And Kore the son of Imnah the Levite, the porter toward the east, was over the freewill offerings of God, to distribute the oblations of the Lord, and the most holy things.
15 And next him were Eden, and Miniamin, and Jeshua, and Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shecaniah, in the cities of the priests, in their set office, to give to their brethren by courses, as well to the great as to the small:
16 Beside their genealogy of males, from three years old and upward, even unto every one that entereth into the house of the Lord, his daily portion for their service in their charges according to their courses;
17 Both to the genealogy of the priests by the house of their fathers, and the Levites from twenty years old and upward, in their charges by their courses;
18 And to the genealogy of all their little ones, their wives, and their sons, and their daughters, through all the congregation: for in their set office they sanctified themselves in holiness:

19 Also of the sons of Aaron the priests, which were in the fields of the suburbs of their cities, in every several city, the men that were expressed by name, to give portions to all the males among the priests, and to all that were reckoned by genealogies among the Levites.
20 [†] ¶ And thus did Hezekiah throughout all Judah, and wrought that which was good and right and truth before the LORD his God.
21 [†] And in every work that he began in the service of the house of God, and in the law, and in the commandments, to seek his God, he did it with all his heart, and prospered.

2 Chronicles 32 [†]

1 [†] After these things, and the establishment thereof, Sennacherib king of Assyria came, and entered into Judah, and encamped against the fenced cities, and thought to win them for himself.
2 And when Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib was come, and that he was purposed to fight against Jerusalem,
3 [†] He took counsel with his princes and his mighty men to stop the waters of the fountains which were without the city: and they did help him.
4 So there was gathered much people together, who stopped all the fountains, and the brook that ran through the midst of the land, saying, Why should the kings of Assyria come, and find much water?
5 Also he strengthened himself, and built up all the wall that was broken, and raised it up to the towers, and another wall without, and repaired Millo in the city of David, and made darts and shields in abundance.
6 And he set captains of war over the people, and gathered them together to him in the street of the gate of the city, and spake comfortably to them, saying,
7 [†] Be strong and courageous, be not afraid nor dismayed for the king of Assyria, nor for all the multitude that is with him: for there be more with us than with him:
8 [†] With him is an arm of flesh; but with us is the Lord our God to help us, and to fight our battles. And the people rested themselves upon the words of Hezekiah king of Judah.
9 [†] ¶ After this did Sennacherib king of Assyria send his servants to Jerusalem, (but he himself laid siege against Lachish, and all his power with him,) unto Hezekiah king of Judah, and unto all Judah that were at Jerusalem, saying,
10 Thus saith Sennacherib king of Assyria, Whereon do ye trust, that ye abide in the siege in Jerusalem?
11 Doth not Hezekiah persuade you to give over yourselves to die by famine and by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shall deliver us out of the hand of the king of Assyria?
12 Hath not the same Hezekiah taken away his high places and his altars, and commanded Judah and Jerusalem, saying, Ye shall worship before one altar, and burn incense upon it?
13 Know ye not what I and my fathers have done unto all the people of other lands? were the gods of the nations of those lands any ways able to deliver their lands out of mine hand?
14 Who was there among all the gods of those nations that my fathers utterly destroyed, that could deliver his people out of mine hand, that your God should be able to deliver you out of mine hand?
15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceive you, nor persuade you on this manner, neither yet believe him: for no god of any nation or kingdom was able to deliver his people out of mine hand, and out of the hand of my fathers: how much less shall your God deliver you out of mine hand?
16 And his servants spake yet more against the Lord God, and against his servant Hezekiah.
17 [†] He wrote also letters to rail on the Lord God of Israel, and to speak against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other lands have not delivered their people out of mine hand, so shall not the God of Hezekiah deliver his people out of mine hand.
18 [†] Then they cried with a loud voice in the Jews' speech unto the people of Jerusalem that were on the wall, to affright them, and to trouble them; that they might take the city.
19 [†] And they spake against the God of Jerusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, which were the work of the hands of man.
20 [†] And for this cause Hezekiah the king, and the prophet Isaiah the son of Amoz, prayed and cried to heaven.
21 [†] ¶ And the Lord sent an angel, which cut off all the mighty men of valour, and the leaders and captains in the camp of the king of Assyria. So he returned with shame of face to his own land. And when he was come into the house of his god, they that came forth of his own bowels slew him there with the sword.

22 Thus the LORD saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib the king of Assyria, and from the hand of all other, and guided them on every side.
23 [†] And many brought gifts unto the LORD to Jerusalem, and presents to Hezekiah king of Judah: so that he was magnified in the sight of all nations from thenceforth.
24 ¶ In those days Hezekiah was sick to the death, and prayed unto the LORD: and he spake unto him, and he gave him a sign.
25 [†] But Hezekiah rendered not again according to the benefit done unto him; for his heart was lifted up: therefore there was wrath upon him, and upon Judah and Jerusalem.
26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled himself for the pride of his heart, both he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that the wrath of the LORD came not upon them in the days of Hezekiah.
27 [†] ¶ And Hezekiah had exceeding much riches and honour: and he made himself treasuries for silver, and for gold, and for precious stones, and for spices, and for shields, and for all manner of pleasant jewels;
28 [†] Storehouses also for the increase of corn, and wine, and oil; and stalls for all manner of beasts, and cotes for flocks.
29 Moreover he provided him cities, and possessions of flocks and herds in abundance: for God had given him substance very much.
30 This same Hezekiah also stopped the upper watercourse of Gihon, and brought it straight down to the west side of the city of David. And Hezekiah prospered in all his works.
31 [†] ¶ Howbeit in the business of the ambassadors of the princes of Babylon, who sent unto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the land, God left him, to try him, that he might know all that was in his heart.
32 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Hezekiah, and his goodness, behold, they are written in the vision of Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, and in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.
33 [†] And Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the chiefest of the sepulchres of the sons of David: and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem did him honour at his death. And Manasseh his son reigned in his stead.

2 Chronicles 33 [†]

(see article: Repentance)

1 [†] Manasseh was twelve years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty and five years in Jerusalem:
2 But did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord, like unto the abominations of the heathen, whom the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.
3 ¶ For he built again the high places which Hezekiah his father had broken down, and he reared up altars for Baalim, and made groves, and worshipped all the host of heaven, and served them.
4 Also he built altars in the house of the Lord, whereof the Lord had said, In Jerusalem shall my name be for ever.
5 And he built altars for all the host of heaven in the two courts of the house of the Lord.
6 [†] And he caused his children to pass through the fire in the valley of the son of Hinnom: also he observed times, and used enchantments, and used witchcraft, and dealt with a familiar spirit, and with wizards: he wrought much evil in the sight of the Lord, to provoke him to anger.
7 And he set a carved image, the idol which he had made, in the house of God, of which God had said to David and to Solomon his son, In this house, and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen before all the tribes of Israel, will I put my name for ever:
8 Neither will I any more remove the foot of Israel from out of the land which I have appointed for your fathers; so that they will take heed to do all that I have commanded them, according to the whole law and the statutes and the ordinances by the hand of Moses.
9 [†] So Manasseh made Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to err, and to do worse than the heathen, whom the Lord had destroyed before the children of Israel.
10 [†] And the Lord spake to Manasseh, and to his people: but they would not hearken.
11 [†] ¶ Wherefore the Lord brought upon them the captains of the host of the king of Assyria, which took Manasseh among the thorns, and bound him with fetters, and carried him to Babylon.
12 [†] And when he was in affliction, he besought the Lord his God, and humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers,
13 [†] And prayed unto him: and he was intreated of him, and heard his supplication, and brought him again to Jerusalem into his kingdom. Then Manasseh knew that the Lord he was God.
14 [†] Now after this he built a wall without the city of David, on the west side of Gihon, in the valley, even to the entering in at the fish gate, and compassed about Ophel, and raised it up a very great height, and put captains of war in all the fenced cities of Judah.
15 [†] And he took away the strange gods, and the idol out of the house of the Lord, and all the altars that he had built in the mount of the house of the Lord, and in Jerusalem, and cast them out of the city.
16 And he repaired the altar of the Lord, and sacrificed thereon peace offerings and thank offerings, and commanded Judah to serve the Lord God of Israel.
17 Nevertheless the people did sacrifice still in the high places, yet unto the Lord their God only.
18 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Manasseh, and his prayer unto his God, and the words of the seers that spake to him in the name of the Lord God of Israel, behold, they are written in the book of the kings of Israel.
19 His prayer also, and how God was intreated of him, and all his sin, and his trespass, and the places wherein he built high places, and set up groves and graven images, before he was humbled: behold, they are written among the sayings of the seers.
20 [†] ¶ So Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his own house: and Amon his son reigned in his stead.

21 [†] ¶ Amon was two and twenty years old when he began to reign, and reigned two years in Jerusalem.
22 [†] But he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, as did Manasseh his father: for Amon sacrificed unto all the carved images which Manasseh his father had made, and served them;
23 And humbled not himself before the LORD, as Manasseh his father had humbled himself; but Amon trespassed more and more.
24 [†] And his servants conspired against him, and slew him in his own house.
25 [†] ¶ But the people of the land slew all them that had conspired against king Amon; and the people of the land made Josiah his son king in his stead.

2 Chronicles 34 [†]

1 Josiah was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned in Jerusalem one and thirty years.
2 [†] And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the ways of David his father, and declined neither to the right hand, nor to the left.
3 [†] ¶ For in the eighth year of his reign, while he was yet young, he began to seek after the God of David his father: and in the twelfth year he began to purge Judah and Jerusalem from the high places, and the groves, and the carved images, and the molten images.
4 [†] And they brake down the altars of Baalim in his presence; and the images, that were on high above them, he cut down; and the groves, and the carved images, and the molten images, he brake in pieces, and made dust of them, and strowed it upon the graves of them that had sacrificed unto them.
5 And he burnt the bones of the priests upon their altars, and cleansed Judah and Jerusalem.
6 [†] And so did he in the cities of Manasseh, and Ephraim, and Simeon, even unto Naphtali, with their mattocks round about.
7 And when he had broken down the altars and the groves, and had beaten the graven images into powder, and cut down all the idols throughout all the land of Israel, he returned to Jerusalem.
8 ¶ Now in the eighteenth year of his reign, when he had purged the land, and the house, he sent Shaphan the son of Azaliah, and Maaseiah the governor of the city, and Joah the son of Joahaz the recorder, to repair the house of the Lord his God.
9 And when they came to Hilkiah the high priest, they delivered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Levites that kept the doors had gathered of the hand of Manasseh and Ephraim, and of all the remnant of Israel, and of all Judah and Benjamin; and they returned to Jerusalem.
10 And they put it in the hand of the workmen that had the oversight of the house of the Lord, and they gave it to the workmen that wrought in the house of the Lord, to repair and amend the house:
11 [†] Even to the artificers and builders gave they it, to buy hewn stone, and timber for couplings, and to floor the houses which the kings of Judah had destroyed.
12 [†] And the men did the work faithfully: and the overseers of them were Jahath and Obadiah, the Levites, of the sons of Merari; and Zechariah and Meshullam, of the sons of the Kohathites, to set it forward; and other of the Levites, all that could skill of instruments of musick.
13 Also they were over the bearers of burdens, and were overseers of all that wrought the work in any manner of service: and of the Levites there were scribes, and officers, and porters.
14 ¶ And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lord, Hilkiah the priest found a book of the law of the Lord given by Moses.
15 And Hilkiah answered and said to Shaphan the scribe, I have found the book of the law in the house of the Lord. And Hilkiah delivered the book to Shaphan.
16 And Shaphan carried the book to the king, and brought the king word back again, saying, All that was committed to thy servants, they do it.
17 And they have gathered together the money that was found in the house of the Lord, and have delivered it into the hand of the overseers, and to the hand of the workmen.
18 Then Shaphan the scribe told the king, saying, Hilkiah the priest hath given me a book. And Shaphan read it before the king.
19 [†] And it came to pass, when the king had heard the words of the law, that he rent his clothes.
20 And the king commanded Hilkiah, and Ahikam the son of Shaphan, and Abdon the son of Micah, and Shaphan the scribe, and Asaiah a servant of the king's, saying,
21 [†] Go, enquire of the Lord for me, and for them that are left in Israel and in Judah, concerning the words of the book that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is poured out upon us, because our fathers have not kept the word of the LORD, to do after all that is written in this book.

22 [†] And Hilkiah, and they that the king had appointed, went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum the son of Tikvath, the son of Hasrah, keeper of the wardrobe; (now she dwelt in Jerusalem in the college:) and they spake to her to that effect.
23 [†] ¶ And she answered them, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, Tell ye the man that sent you to me,
24 Thus saith the LORD, Behold, I will bring evil upon this place, and upon the inhabitants thereof, even all the curses that are written in the book which they have read before the king of Judah:
25 Because they have forsaken me, and have burned incense unto other gods, that they might provoke me to anger with all the works of their hands; therefore my wrath shall be poured out upon this place, and shall not be quenched.
26 [†] And as for the king of Judah, who sent you to enquire of the LORD, so shall ye say unto him, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel concerning the words which thou hast heard;
27 Because thine heart was tender, and thou didst humble thyself before God, when thou heardest his words against this place, and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thyself before me, and didst rend thy clothes, and weep before me; I have even heard thee also, saith the LORD.
28 Behold, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be gathered to thy grave in peace, neither shall thine eyes see all the evil that I will bring upon this place, and upon the inhabitants of the same. So they brought the king word again.
29 ¶ Then the king sent and gathered together all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem.
30 [†] And the king went up into the house of the LORD, and all the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the priests, and the Levites, and all the people, great and small: and he read in their ears all the words of the book of the covenant that was found in the house of the LORD.
31 And the king stood in his place, and made a covenant before the LORD, to walk after the LORD, and to keep his commandments, and his testimonies, and his statutes, with all his heart, and with all his soul, to perform the words of the covenant which are written in this book.
32 [†] And he caused all that were present in Jerusalem and Benjamin to stand to it. And the inhabitants of Jerusalem did according to the covenant of God, the God of their fathers.
33 [†] And Josiah took away all the abominations out of all the countries that pertained to the children of Israel, and made all that were present in Israel to serve, even to serve the LORD their God. And all his days they departed not from following the LORD, the God of their fathers.

2 Chronicles 35 [†]

1 [†] Moreover Josiah kept a passover unto the Lord in Jerusalem: and they killed the passover on the fourteenth day of the first month.
2 [†] And he set the priests in their charges, and encouraged them to the service of the house of the Lord,
3 [†] And said unto the Levites that taught all Israel, which were holy unto the Lord, Put the holy ark in the house which Solomon the son of David king of Israel did build; it shall not be a burden upon your shoulders: serve now the Lord your God, and his people Israel,
4 [†] And prepare yourselves by the houses of your fathers, after your courses, according to the writing of David king of Israel, and according to the writing of Solomon his son.
5 And stand in the holy place according to the divisions of the families of the fathers of your brethren the people, and after the division of the families of the Levites.
6 So kill the passover, and sanctify yourselves, and prepare your brethren, that they may do according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moses.
7 And Josiah gave to the people, of the flock, lambs and kids, all for the passover offerings, for all that were present, to the number of thirty thousand, and three thousand bullocks: these were of the king's substance.
8 [†] And his princes gave willingly unto the people, to the priests, and to the Levites: Hilkiah and Zechariah and Jehiel, rulers of the house of God, gave unto the priests for the passover offerings two thousand and six hundred small cattle, and three hundred oxen.
9 Conaniah also, and Shemaiah and Nethaneel, his brethren, and Hashabiah and Jeiel and Jozabad, chief of the Levites, gave unto the Levites for passover offerings five thousand small cattle, and five hundred oxen.
10 So the service was prepared, and the priests stood in their place, and the Levites in their courses, according to the king's commandment.
11 [†] And they killed the passover, and the priests sprinkled the blood from their hands, and the Levites flayed them.
12 And they removed the burnt offerings, that they might give according to the divisions of the families of the people, to offer unto the Lord, as it is written in the book of Moses. And so did they with the oxen.
13 [†] And they roasted the passover with fire according to the ordinance: but the other holy offerings sod they in pots, and in caldrons, and in pans, and divided them speedily among all the people.
14 And afterward they made ready for themselves, and for the priests: because the priests the sons of Aaron were busied in offering of burnt offerings and the fat until night; therefore the Levites prepared for themselves, and for the priests the sons of Aaron.
15 And the singers the sons of Asaph were in their place, according to the commandment of David, and Asaph, and Heman, and Jeduthun the king's seer; and the porters waited at every gate; they might not depart from their service; for their brethren the Levites prepared for them.
16 So all the service of the Lord was prepared the same day, to keep the passover, and to offer burnt offerings upon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandment of king Josiah.
17 And the children of Israel that were present kept the passover at that time, and the feast of unleavened bread seven days.
18 And there was no passover like to that kept in Israel from the days of Samuel the prophet; neither did all the kings of Israel keep such a passover as Josiah kept, and the priests, and the Levites, and all Judah and Israel that were present, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

19 In the eighteenth year of the reign of Josiah was this passover kept.
20 [†] ¶ After all this, when Josiah had prepared the temple, Necho king of Egypt came up to fight against Carchemish by Euphrates: and Josiah went out against him.
21 But he sent ambassadors to him, saying, What have I to do with thee, thou king of Judah? I come not against thee this day, but against the house wherewith I have war: for God commanded me to make haste: forbear thee from meddling with God, who is with me, that he destroy thee not.
22 [†] Nevertheless Josiah would not turn his face from him, but disguised himself, that he might fight with him, and hearkened not unto the words of Necho from the mouth of God, and came to fight in the valley of Megiddo.
23 [†] And the archers shot at king Josiah; and the king said to his servants, Have me away; for I am sore wounded.
24 [†] His servants therefore took him out of that chariot, and put him in the second chariot that he had; and they brought him to Jerusalem, and he died, and was buried in one of the sepulchres of his fathers. And all Judah and Jerusalem mourned for Josiah.
25 [†] ¶ And Jeremiah lamented for Josiah: and all the singing men and the singing women spake of Josiah in their lamentations to this day, and made them an ordinance in Israel: and, behold, they are written in the lamentations.
26 [†] Now the rest of the acts of Josiah, and his goodness, according to that which was written in the law of the LORD,
27 And his deeds, first and last, behold, they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

2 Chronicles 36 [†]

1 [†] Then the people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah, and made him king in his father's stead in Jerusalem.
2 Jehoahaz was twenty and three years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem.
3 [†] And the king of Egypt put him down at Jerusalem, and condemned the land in an hundred talents of silver and a talent of gold.
4 [†] And the king of Egypt made Eliakim his brother king over Judah and Jerusalem, and turned his name to Jehoiakim. And Necho took Jehoahaz his brother, and carried him to Egypt.
5 ¶ Jehoiakim was twenty and five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem: and he did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord his God.
6 [†] Against him came up Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and bound him in fetters, to carry him to Babylon.
7 [†] Nebuchadnezzar also carried of the vessels of the house of the Lord to Babylon, and put them in his temple at Babylon.
8 [†] Now the rest of the acts of Jehoiakim, and his abominations which he did, and that which was found in him, behold, they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah: and Jehoiachin his son reigned in his stead.
9 ¶ Jehoiachin was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months and ten days in Jerusalem: and he did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord.
10 [†] And when the year was expired, king Nebuchadnezzar sent, and brought him to Babylon, with the goodly vessels of the house of the Lord, and made Zedekiah his brother king over Judah and Jerusalem.
11 ¶ Zedekiah was one and twenty years old when he began to reign, and reigned eleven years in Jerusalem.
12 [†] And he did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord his God, and humbled not himself before Jeremiah the prophet speaking from the mouth of the Lord.
13 [†] And he also rebelled against king Nebuchadnezzar, who had made him swear by God: but he stiffened his neck, and hardened his heart from turning unto the Lord God of Israel.
14 ¶ Moreover all the chief of the priests, and the people, transgressed very much after all the abominations of the heathen; and polluted the house of the Lord which he had hallowed in Jerusalem.
15 [†] And the Lord God of their fathers sent to them by his messengers, rising up betimes, and sending; because he had compassion on his people, and on his dwelling place:
16 [†] But they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his words, and misused his prophets, until the wrath of the Lord arose against his people, till there was no remedy.
17 [†] Therefore he brought upon them the king of the Chaldees, who slew their young men with the sword in the house of their sanctuary, and had no compassion upon young man or maiden, old man, or him that stooped for age: he gave them all into his hand.
18 And all the vessels of the house of God, great and small, and the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king, and of his princes; all these he brought to Babylon.
19 And they burnt the house of God, and brake down the wall of Jerusalem, and burnt all the palaces thereof with fire, and destroyed all the goodly vessels thereof.
20 And them that had escaped from the sword carried he away to Babylon; where they were servants to him and his sons until the reign of the kingdom of Persia:
21 [†] To fulfil the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremiah, until the land had enjoyed her sabbaths:

for as long as she lay desolate she kept sabbath, to fulfil threescore and ten years.
22 [†] ¶ Now in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, that the word of the LORD spoken by the mouth of Jeremiah might be accomplished, the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and put it also in writing, saying,
23 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, All the kingdoms of the earth hath the LORD God of heaven given me; and he hath charged me to build him an house in Jerusalem, which is in Judah. Who is there among you of all his people? The LORD his God be with him, and let him go up.

NOTES ON THE BOOK OF

2 CHRONICLES

KINGDOM ESTABLISHED (1 CHRON. 10:1—2 CHRON. 9:31)

David's Death and Solomon's Glory (1 Chron. 29:23—2 Chron. 1:17)

Chapter 1: Solomon is established as king over Israel.

1:1 Solomon. Means "peace," fitting the character of his reign (see note at 1 Chron. 22:8–9). magnified . . . exceedingly. Made very great. This verse continues the narrative of Solomon's reign begun in 1 Chron. 29:23.

1:2 all Israel. The kingdom was unified.

1:3 Solomon's first recorded act was to worship God at the high place that was at Gibeon. This was a legitimate place of worship (1 Chron. 16:39).

1:4 ark . . . David brought up. See 1 Chron. 15.

1:5 brasen. Bronze. altar . . . the tabernacle. See 1 Chron. 21:29.

1:8 great mercy. The covenant love of God shown to David and desired by Solomon. stead. Place.

1:9 thy promise. The covenant with David (1 Chron. 17). like the dust of the earth in multitude. As promised in the Abrahamic covenant (Gen. 13:16).

1:10–11 go out and come in. Lead them like a shepherd (1 Chron. 11:2). thy people . . . my people. Israel remained God's covenant possession, and the king was God's servant and steward.

1:13–17 Solomon's military and economic strength is depicted here (1 Kings 10:27–29). horses brought out of Egypt. In the law of Moses, the Lord specifically forbade the king from multiplying horses from Egypt (Deut. 17:16). This sets an ominous note early in Solomon's reign.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 1

> Solomon's famous prayer for wisdom is a model for our prayers. He acknowledged God's faithful love and sovereignty over his life (v. 8). He took hold of God's promises and turned them into petitions, asking God to do what He had said (v. 9). He prayed for the ability and gifts to do what God had called him to do (v. 10). He did not pray out of worldly lusts for riches, honor, or revenge (v. 11). God answered his prayer by doing more than he asked (v. 12). Think of some concern weighing upon your heart. How does Solomon's example guide you in how to lift that concern up to the Lord in prayer?

Solomon's Construction of the Temple: Covenant Partially Fulfilled (2 Chron. 2:1—7:22)

Chapter 2: Solomon makes preparations to begin building the temple.

Solomon's Arrangements for Materials and Workers (2 Chron. 2:1–18)

2:1 house for the name of the LORD. A place where God would reveal the glory of His attributes through the sacrificial ministry of the priests (Deut. 12:5–28). The temple is central to Chronicles. house for his kingdom. Palace for the king (7:11; 8:1).

2:2 threescore . . . fourscore. Sixty . . . eighty (v. 18). A score is twenty. hew. Cut out or cleave.

2:3 Huram. Or Hiram (1 Chron. 14:1).

2:4 In the theocracy of Israel, the king actively supported religious worship.

2:5 God above all gods. Not that the Lord is the best among many gods, for there is only one God (Gen. 1:1; Deut. 4:35,39; 6:4), but that the Lord is sovereign over all things and other religions worship idols (1 Chron. 16:25–26).

2:6 who is able to build him an house. Unlike pagan worshipers, Israel must remember that its God is not limited to any place (1 Kings 20:23,28), but is infinite and everywhere present with His creation (6:18; Isa. 66:1–2; Acts 7:47–50; 17:24). who am I. Humility before God (1 Chron. 17:16; 29:14). save. Except. The temple served man's needs to draw near to God through sacrifice.

2:7 cunning. Skillful.

2:8 algum. Almug or sandlewood.

2:10 hewers. Choppers, cutters.

2:11–12 The Lord raised up a wise king to do good to Israel because He loved his people, moving people from other nations to praise Him (9:8).

2:12 endued. Endowed.

2:13 cunning. Skillful. of Huram my father's. It may mean something closer to "Master Huram," or be a compound name "Huram-abi."

2:14 daughters of Dan. This is reminiscent of the craftsman for the tabernacle, Aholiab, from the tribe of Dan (Ex. 31:6). grave. Engrave. manner. Kind, sort. graving. Engraving.

2:16 floats. Rafts to carry logs.

2:18 bearers of burdens. Heavy laborers. Indentured servitude was common. hewers. Choppers, cutters.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 2

> The temple was "an house for the name of the LORD" (v. 1). God designed it so that people would know His glorious attributes. Yet it could not contain His glory, for God is infinite. Indeed, God's purposes could not be contained by Israel, for His temple would bring Him glory among the nations as the only true God. In the new covenant the Lord no longer links His presence to a special building, but Christ and His people are God's house (1 Peter 2:4–5). Yet God's nature and purposes remain the same. What then does this teach us about the church?

Solomon's Construction of the Building and Furnishings (2 Chron. 3:1—4:22)

Chapter 3: Solomon begins the building of the temple.

3:1 began to build the house of the LORD. Chronicles records the building of the temple beginning with the total dimensions of the building and then going from the holy place to the most holy place. Solomon's other projects are mentioned elsewhere (8:1–6). mount Moriah. Location where Abraham was to sacrifice Isaac (Gen. 22:2). threshingfloor of Ornan. Where David built an altar to turn away God's wrath by sacrifice (1 Chron. 21:18).

3:3 A cubit was about eighteen inches, so the house of God measured ninety feet long (threescore or sixty cubits) and thirty feet wide.

3:4 porch. Entrance to the holy place. an hundred and twenty. One hundred eighty feet.

3:5 greater house. The holy place where priests ministered. cieled. Covered, paneled. palm trees. Symbols of flourishing life in God's presence (Ps. 92:12–13; cf. Ex. 15:27), and perhaps an allusion to the garden of Eden (Gen. 2:8–9).

3:6–7 garnished. Decorated. Parvaim. A country perhaps located in Arabia. cherubim. Reminiscent of the entrance to the garden of Eden (Gen. 3:24), which was also associated with gold and precious stones (Gen. 2:11–12).

3:8 most holy house. Holy of Holies, where the ark rested. The most holy place was a cube, which signified perfection, and overlaid with the finest metal, fine gold.

3:10 cherubims. Freestanding statues of angelic beings in the holy house. God dwelt in the circle made by their arching wings.

3:14 vail. Curtain, which kept the priests from entering into full communion with God. This veil was torn in two at Christ's death (Matt. 27:51). wrought cherubims. Representations of cherubim were woven into it, to symbolize that sin's curse still kept man out of God's presence (Gen. 3:24).

3:15 chapiter. A piece that was placed at the top of the pillar, a capital.

3:16 pomegranates. Round, edible fruit found in the land of Canaan (Num. 13:23; Deut. 8:8).

3:17 Jachin. Literally, "he establishes." Boaz. Literally, "in him is strength." These pillars served to remind the people of the strength that God is for His people in His covenant.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 3

> The gold and precious stones in God's holy house communicated the precious value of His holiness. The emblems of palm trees and pomegranates and the names of the pillars invited Israel to find abundant life and strength in God's presence, but the cherubim stood as a warning that man was still excluded from paradise for his sins. How can sinners be brought back to God and find life in Him? It was no accident that the temple was built on the very spot where a millennium earlier Isaac's life was spared through the sacrifice of the substitute ram (Gen. 22:13). Abraham prophesied that on that mountain the Lord would provide a lamb for sacrifice in the future (Gen. 22:8; cf. 22:14). The type of that sacrifice appeared in the sacrifices of the priests at Solomon's temple, and the reality appeared when the Lamb of God took away the sin of the world by dying upon the cross just outside the city. How can a sinner draw near to God through the blood of Christ?

Chapter 4: The temple is furnished with furniture and utensils.

4:1 altar of brass. For making sacrifices, thus of special significance (see notes at Ex. 27:1—28:8). Exact placement is not known (Ex. 40:6).

4:2 molten sea. Fifteen-foot diameter, metal bowl for ritual cleansing before priests entered the temple, located in the southeast corner (cf. Ex. 30:18–20; 38:8). compass. Circumference. did compass. Surrounded.

4:4 twelve oxen. Representative of the twelve tribes. They faced outward in every direction.

4:5 three thousand baths. Chronicles and Kings give different numbers (1 Kings 7:26). Chronicles may be including the water held in reserve in smaller basins (vv. 6,14).

4:6 lavers. Basins.

4:7 candlesticks. Lampstands. The tabernacle had only one lampstand (Ex. 25:31–36). Each one had seven lamps, for a total of seventy.

4:8 ten tables. Reserved for the shewbread (v. 19; Ex. 25:30; Lev. 24:5–9), symbolizing God's provision for His people and their holy fellowship with Him.

4:9 court of the priests. Only priests were permitted in this court (Ex. 27:9–19).

4:11–22 The outer courts had bronze (brass) utensils, but as one progressed further into the temple, the utensils were made of gold, reflecting the heightened value of being nearer to the holy presence of God (see comments in the Worship Section for Ex. 37).

4:12 pommels. Bowls. chapiters. Capitals.

4:14 lavers. Basins.

4:17 Zeredathah. Zarthan (1 Kings 7:46).

4:20 manner. Custom, habit. the oracle. The Holy of Holies.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 4

> The temple had many of the things that we would have in our homes: wash basins, lights, tables, and so on, communicating that God really dwelt with His people. The brazen altar at the entrance was a visible message that blood needed to be shed for there to be communion between the holy God and unholy sinners. Notice that, unlike our homes, there were no chairs in the temple. The priests who labored in the temple never sat down. They only stood as servants ministering before their Master. The closest thing was a footstool, the ark (5:7). God alone could sit down, so to speak, between the cherubim (Ps. 80:1), as on His throne. Christ now sits on the throne of heaven (Heb. 1:3). How should it affect us to know that God really dwells with His people through the Christ, our Prophet, Priest, and King?

Solomon's Assembly to Dedicate the Temple (2 Chron. 5:1—7:22)

Chapter 5: The ark of the covenant, the most important piece of furniture in the temple, is brought into the temple, marking the completion of the temple building.

5:1 was finished. A similar phrase is used of the tabernacle in Ex. 40:33. brought in. The instruments were built outside of the temple.

5:2 elders. Representatives and leaders of the people of Israel.

5:3 This was the feast of booths (Lev. 23:33–43). People lived in tents commemorating God's faithfulness during the wilderness wandering. seventh month. It took seven years to complete the temple (1 Kings 6:38).

5:4 took up the ark. The priests were consecrated to carry the ark.

5:8 staves. Poles to carry the ark.

5:9 without. Outside. unto this day. The author obviously was using an ancient source from before the exile.

5:10 two tables. Two tablets bearing the Ten Commandments, placed inside the ark (Ex. 25:16). In earlier days, Aaron's rod and a jar of manna were also kept with the ark (Ex. 16:33–34; Num. 17:10–11; Heb. 9:4).

5:13 cloud. God's glory filled the temple, a sign that God's presence had taken up residence with Israel in His house (6:1–2). The temple was not just a building but a home for God's glory cloud, which had followed the people of Israel from the land of Egypt (Ex. 13:21–22), traveled with them in the tabernacle (40:34–38), and now came to rest in the temple.

5:14 priests could not stand. The result of the overwhelming glory of God (Ex. 40:35).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 5

1. The event of the ark coming to rest in this splendid sanctuary is given a good amount of space, showing its importance (vv. 1–10). The stability of rest that God had promised to give the Israelites when they departed from Egypt was finally realized (Ex. 15:17). With this event, God visibly took up His residence with His people in the temple, showing His permanence in the land and His abiding peace with His people. Today God dwells in His people by the Holy Spirit. How can you celebrate this important blessing God has given us today?
2. After the dedication of the temple and the praises of the people, the temple was filled with God's glory (v. 13). In Jewish history this would later be known as the Shekinah glory, based on the Hebrew word "dwell" (shakan, 6:1). In the fullness of time, God's glory would dwell among His people through His Son Jesus Christ, of whom John writes that He "dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory)" (John 1:14). Through the Word and the Spirit of Christ, the glory of God shines in the heart of every believer (2 Cor. 3:17–18; 4:6). Why is it better for us to have the glory of God dwelling in us by the Spirit than to have it outside us in a visible cloud?

Chapter 6: As king over Israel, Solomon now blesses the people and gives a prayer of dedication for the temple.

6:1 dwell in the thick darkness. God reveals His glory in ways that hide His full glory (Lev. 16:2; Deut. 4:11; Pss. 18:11; 97:2; 104:3), for if He did not we would all perish in His brightness (5:14; 7:2; 1 Tim. 6:16).

6:3 blessed the whole congregation. The king called upon God to give grace and peace to the people after the nation had obediently built the temple, as Moses did earlier regarding the tabernacle (Ex. 39:43). Ordinarily, declaring God's blessing over Israel was the work of priests (Lev. 9:22–23; Num. 6:22–27; Deut. 10:8; 1 Chron. 23:13), but it could be done by others (Josh. 22:6–7; 1 Chron. 16:2).

6:4–11 Solomon recounted how the Lord made a covenant with his father, David (1 Chron. 17:3–15), giving God praise for doing as the LORD promised. The temple revealed the Lord's unique glory as the God who faithfully keeps His covenant (vv. 14–15).

6:10 room. Place.

6:11 the covenant of the LORD. The tablets of the Ten Commandments (5:10; Ex. 34:28). God's covenant engages people to obey His unchanging moral law, which would later stand as a testimony against the people of Israel when they were cast into exile because of their sin (cf. Deut. 31:19–27).

6:13 Solomon interceded for the spiritual functions of the temple, a shadow of Christ interceding for the spiritual activity of His church (John 17; Rom. 8:34; Heb. 7:25).

6:16 keep . . . that which thou hast promised. Solomon prayed the promises of God.

6:18 will God . . . dwell with men. The immanence of God does not detract from His transcendence, and His special presence must not distract from His infinite presence throughout and beyond all places, for He remains the Holy One who inhabits heaven, earth, and eternity (Isa. 57:15; see note at 2:6). Men must not think they have captured God in the temple, but marvel at His grace to meet thus with them.

6:19–21 hearken. Listen. It is grace, not a debt, for God to answer prayers, even to the covenant people.

toward this place. By faith in the promise of His presence. Christ, the fulfillment of the temple, commanded his disciples to make their prayers in His name (John 14:13).

6:22–39 Solomon recounted different scenarios where the people of Israel would pray to God, often in repentance of sins that bring down the curses of the old covenant (Lev. 26; Deut. 28). The repeated prayer for God to forgive (vv. 21,25,27,30,39) would give great hope to the people after the exile.

6:22–23 This section pertains to individuals. requiting. Returning the consequences of sin upon the sinner in justice. recompensing. Giving. justifying. Declaring innocent. his righteousness. Innocence of the particular crimes with which they had been charged (Ps. 43:1).

6:24–31 This section pertains to national repentance.

6:24 put to the worse. Defeated.

6:28 dearth. Hunger, famine.

6:32 stranger. Foreigner. Mercy is not restricted to the Israelites only. God's house was meant to be a house of prayer for all nations (Isa. 56:7). for thy great name's sake, and thy mighty hand. They heard of God's great acts, such as the exodus (Ex. 3:19–20; 9:16).

6:34–39 This section pertains to those at war. Many times prayer was a means of defeating one's enemies (13:14–15; 14:11; 32:20–22).

6:36 no man which sinneth not. Solomon understood the doctrine of the universal sinfulness of man (Prov. 20:9; Eccl. 7:20,29), and how it provokes the anger of God (Gen. 6:5–7; Ps. 5:4–6).

6:37 bethink. Come to think about and recognize their sin (Luke 15:17), a special encouragement after the exile (carried captive).

6:38 land . . . city . . . house. All three represent God's gracious presence and love for His people.

6:40 attent. Attentive.

6:41–42 Language similar to Ps. 132:8–10.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 6

1. God's purposes for the temple revolved around five things highlighted here: humility in the presence of the infinite God, repentance of sin, prayer for forgiveness and restoration, confidence in God's faithfulness to keep His promises, and drawing the nations to seek God. In the new covenant there is no particular nation in covenant with God, and Christ has sent His people out to make disciples of all the nations. However, these remain His purposes for the church. Consider each of these five purposes. How does your church seek to fulfill them?
2. Solomon envisioned the temple as a place where sinners would come repenting and praying for grace. How do you come into God's presence? Does your church encourage turning from sin to God and praying for His forgiveness and restoration? Why or why not?

Chapter 7: God hears the prayer of Solomon, whereupon more sacrifices are made, and God appears to Solomon to set forth His covenant again.

7:1 fire came down from heaven. A sign of divine presence and approval (see note at 1 Chron. 21:26).

7:2 priests could not enter . . . glory of the LORD. See notes at 5:13 and 14.

7:3 The people responded in humble worship with a common refrain from the Psalter (5:13; Ps. 136), celebrating God's loyal and endless love (mercy).

7:6 waited on their offices. Stood at their posts or assignments.

7:7 hallowed. Set apart as holy, consecrated for sacred use.

7:8 Hamath unto the river of Egypt. The extent of Solomon's kingdom.

7:9 solemn assembly. Religious gathering.

7:10 merry in heart. Great joy and gladness accompanied the dedication of the temple.

7:11 he prosperously effected. Solomon prospered in his work.

7:12 appeared. By deed and word, God confirmed the acceptance of Solomon and Israel. It is probable that this vision occurred thirteen years after the temple was dedicated (1 Kings 7:1; 9:1–2). house of sacrifice. This expression is only used here in the Bible and ties temple and sacrifice together.

7:14 my people. Israel was God's treasured, particular, and covenantal people among all nations. heal their land. Remove the curses and give the blessings according to the old covenant (Lev. 26; Deut. 28). Restoration can only come in the way of humiliation before God and putting sin to death.

7:15 eyes . . . ears. God takes notice (attent) of His people and their affairs.

7:17–22 as for thee. The singular (thee, thou, thy) refers to the king, and the plural (ye, you, them, they) to the nation. There is a close connection between the king and the nation, both in their obedience or disobedience, and in their blessing or curse from God. As goes the king, so goes the nation. Therefore, the future of God's house and Israel's inheritance in the land hinged upon the righteousness of the king.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 7

1. Three great themes should direct our worship: adoration of God's glory, praise of God's faithful love, and repentance of our wicked ways (vv. 1–3,6,10,14). We should always come to worship with a sense that God is so glorious that we belong on our faces before Him. We should never approach the Lord without an inward brokenness and hatred of our sin against Him. Yet humility and contrition of sin should never take away our sense of joy in His goodness in Jesus Christ, the son of David (v. 10). Our constant refrain should be, "He is good; for his mercy endureth for ever (v. 3). How can we cultivate in our worship a rich experience of God's love?
2. Israel's enjoyment of the temple and the land depended upon the obedience of their king, upon whom the Lord had focused the demands of His holy law. As the rest of Chronicles makes plain, no mere man could bear this burden; all sinned and sinned greatly. However, long after the covenant curses fell upon Israel, another Son of David came to the remnant. God sent His Son, born of a woman, born under the law, who fulfilled all righteousness. If we are in union with Him by a Spirit-worked faith, then we will enjoy God's presence forever in a better land than Canaan. Praise God for His faithfulness, that He has done it all in His Son.

Solomon's Works, Wisdom, and Death (2 Chron. 8:1—9:31)

Chapter 8: Solomon's other accomplishments are recorded after the completion of the temple and his own house. Solomon is greatly prospered by the hand of the Lord.

8:1–6 Solomon worked to develop the cities of Israel.

8:2 cities which Huram had restored to Solomon. Solomon gave cities to Huram which did not please him (1 Kings 9:11–13). This might refer to another exchange of land, or to the return of those cities.

8:3–4 Hamath-zobah. A city about 120 miles north of Damascus. Tadmor. About 125 miles northeast of Damascus. These two cities formed the furthest boundaries of Solomon's kingdom and manifest the extent of Solomon's civil and economic rule over all Israel.

8:5 Beth-horon the upper, and . . . the nether. Upper and lower Beth-horon were northwest of Jerusalem above the Valley of Aijalon. The importance of these cities was their proximity to the international highway.

8:7–10 Solomon made the enemies of Israel into his forced laborers (tribute) to build and organize the cities of Israel.

8:13 rate. The number of offerings that the law of Moses prescribed for sacred times of worship.

8:14 man of God. Prophet (11:2; 25:7). David established a new order for the Levites based upon direct revelation from God (1 Chron. 28:12,19; Neh. 12:24). Solomon loved God and was careful in his early years to worship according to God's Word (1 Kings 3:3).

8:16 perfected. Completed.

8:18 four hundred and fifty talents of gold. With Solomon's kingdom established, Chronicles now begins to show the exceeding wealth of Solomon's kingdom.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 8

1. Solomon's kingdom extended far to the north and south. Christ's kingdom is, however, all over this world. Since a sovereign's authority is limited to his borders, Christ's authority is absolute and universal. His kingdom has no borders. This gives Christians the right to preach the gospel and make disciples of Christ in all nations, regardless of whether the governments of those lands approve, for Christ is King of kings. How can you become involved in God's mission?
2. From the Bible we know that Moses, David, and Solomon, all mentioned in this chapter, were preoccupied with the worship of God. Our lives will only be worthwhile to the extent that we are properly and biblically focused on the glory of God in all we say, do, or think. Let us not assume that we are living for God's glory, but search the Scriptures and worship by the Word. How can we bring more glory to God in our worship and in our lives?

Chapter 9: These last recorded events of Solomon's life show his influence over the nations and his material prosperity.

9:1 Sheba. Likely a place in Ethiopia. For this queen to come to Solomon shows that Solomon's fame had spread across the world. communed. Spoke.

9:4 no more spirit. We would say that it "took her breath away."

9:7–8 Solomon's wisdom was a gift of God's love for His people to establish His righteous kingdom (judgment and justice) among them—a type of Christ (Isa. 11:1–5).

9:8 to be king for the LORD thy GOD. God's kingdom comes to earth through David's throne.

9:9–12 An exchange of commodities was not uncommon, though Solomon used the gifts for the house of the Lord. algum trees. Sandalwood trees or junipers.

9:13–28 This is a record of the immense wealth and prosperity of Israel's golden years.

9:13 six hundred and threescore and six. 666.

9:14 chapmen. Explorers, those who traveled.

9:15 targets. Shields; larger than those of v. 16.

9:18 stays. Handrests.

9:22 passed all the kings of the earth. In fulfillment of God's promise to David and Solomon (1:12).

9:23 all the kings of the earth sought . . . Solomon. Just as the temple served to draw the nations to pray to the Lord (6:32–33), so the wisdom of the king of Israel attracted the nations to praise God who gave it to him (v. 8).

9:24 raiment. Clothing, attire.

9:25 The multiplication of horses was forbidden to the king, especially horses from Egypt (v. 28, see note at 1:13–17).

9:29–30 seer. A designation for a prophet. The identity of Iddo is not known with certainty.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 9

> The queen of Sheba marveled at the wisdom and wealth Solomon had from God. His wisdom attracted the attention of the world. Yet Solomon's kingdom pales in comparison to the kingdom of Christ, and it quickly faded after his death. How much more then should we marvel at the wisdom of Jesus Christ (Matt. 12:42; 13:54), who is anointed with the Spirit of wisdom (Isa. 11:2). In Christ are all the treasures of wisdom, and He is our wisdom if God has united us to Him (1 Cor. 1:30–31; Col. 2:3). Therefore, let us boast in Christ alone. The beauty of His wisdom will attract all nations to seek Him, so let us walk in His light, and make it shine to all the world (Isa. 2:1–5). Why is Christ's wisdom one of the greatest treasures of His kingdom? How can we showcase His wisdom in our families and church to win lost sinners?

KINGDOM DIVIDED (2 CHRON. 10:1—28:27)

King Rehoboam (2 Chron. 10:1—12:16)

Chapter 10: Rehoboam follows the advice of his young counselors and as a result, the united kingdom of Israel becomes divided.

10:1 Shechem. Rehoboam was crowned in Shechem, but David had been crowned in Hebron (1 Chron. 11:1). all Israel. Rehoboam's reign began on a positive note of unity, which shows all the more the seriousness of the division under his reign.

10:2 fled from the presence of Solomon. Chronicles has passed over Solomon's idolatry, the Lord's appointment of Jeroboam to take part of the kingdom, and Solomon's attempt to kill Jeroboam (1 Kings 11).

10:3 all Israel. The contrast to v. 1 is striking: for the most part, Israel united behind Jeroboam.

10:4 made our yoke grievous. Solomon placed heavy demands on the people to maintain his administration and projects. Israel was bartering the terms of kingship with Rehoboam.

10:6–7 be kind. Literally, "be for good." The old counselors advised the king to show his intent to lead the people for their good. Though rulers commonly use people for their own profit (1 Sam. 8:10–18), God intended that the rulers over His people be a blessing to them (2:11; 9:8; Mark 10:42–45).

10:8–11 young men. Rehoboam listened to his less mature counselors and boasted that his power would far exceed his father's kingdom (little finger shall be thicker).

10:12 bade. Invited.

10:15 hearkened. Listened. the cause was of God. Though Rehoboam was responsible for his folly, God's sovereign hand directed it. Thus Scripture explains the division of Israel on two levels: the political cause from men, and the divine cause ruling over men.

10:16 What portion have we in David? The rejection of David's line was a sign of unbelief in the promise (13:5). all Israel went to their tents. Israel remained divided from Judah until the exile of the northern tribes (722 BC).

10:18 tribute. The forced laborers. Rehoboam appears not to understand the crisis until the death of his taskmaster.

10:19 rebelled against the house of David. The division was not merely political, but it was rebellion against the covenant God made with David, "The LORD will build thee an house" (1 Chron. 17:10).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 10

1. It is remarkable that Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, threw away his father's wisdom: "A soft answer turneth away wrath: but grievous words stir up anger" (Prov. 15:1). We often confuse meekness with weakness. Moses was a great leader, but the meekest man on earth (Num. 12:3). It is far wiser for leaders to exercise their authority with love and humility, listening to legitimate complaints from people, than to try to rule by sheer force. On the other hand, the people took Rehoboam's pride as an occasion to throw away their inheritance in Christ. Beware of a spirit of rebellion against authority, for it often hides wicked unbelief toward God. Can you think of examples of both kinds of leadership in the people around you?
2. The Bible teaches us to view history and contemporary events through a double perspective. On the one hand, we see the human causes, and acknowledge the responsibility of each person for his own attitude and actions. On the other hand, the believer sees the divine cause ruling over all, using even sin to accomplish His righteous purposes. How does this teach us both to fear the Lord and to hope in His mercy?

Chapter 11: Rehoboam solidifies his kingdom and builds up Judah militarily, while the Levites resort to Judah as the religious center of Israel.

11:1 an hundred and fourscore thousand. 180,000 (a score is twenty).

11:4 this thing is done of me. The Lord stopped Rehoboam's plan to reunite Judah and Israel by declaring His sovereign control over the division.

11:5–12 Rehoboam fortified and strengthened the cities for war, showing that Solomon's peace was shattered and Israel no longer enjoyed the promised rest (1 Chron. 22:8–9,18; 23:25).

11:10 fenced cities. Fortified cities or fortresses.

11:11 store of victual. Supplies of food.

11:13–17 The Levites' godliness contrasts with Jeroboam's idolatry and apostasy. The Levites strengthened the nation of Judah by joining themselves to them and carrying out the worship and temple service required of the faithful people.

11:13 resorted to him. Presented themselves to him. coasts. Regions.

11:15 ordained him priests . . . for the calves. Jeroboam enticed Israel to follow humanly invented worship and idols (1 Kings 12:26–33). This sin became the standard by which future kings of Israel would be evaluated. devils. Literally, "goats," perhaps a reference to idols or demons.

11:16 such as set their hearts to seek the LORD. Not all Israel followed in the idol worship, but some remained faithful to pursue God's presence through His priesthood and temple.

11:23 he desired many wives. Rehoboam was following in his father's tragic footsteps.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 11

> Shortly after renouncing the house of David, the northern tribes turned to false worship and idolatry from which they never recovered. The path of apostasy is a dreadful slide to hell. Faithfulness to Christ as the king of the church is inseparable from faithfulness in worship to God. If we begin to replace the authority of the Word of Christ with human ideas, then we will soon replace God-glorifying worship with idols. Why is this so? How can we guard against it?

Chapter 12: The rest and peace under Solomon further unravels as Rehoboam forsakes the Lord and finds Egypt plundering Jerusalem.

12:1 established . . . strengthened . . . forsook the law of the LORD. Pride and self-sufficiency leads to disobedience to God (25:16; 26:16), including idolatry and sexual perversion (1 Kings 14:21–24).

12:2 transgressed. The Hebrew literally means "committed a breach of faith," the same word used for Saul's treachery against God (1 Chron. 10:13).

12:3 without number. So many, they could not be counted. This had been the promise to Abraham regarding his seed (Gen. 13:16); however, this reality now applied to the enemy.

12:4 took the fenced cities. Rehoboam's defensive measures (11:5–12) meant nothing when God brought judgment through Shishak.

12:6–7 The LORD IS RIGHTEOUS. A fundamental part of humble confession and repentance, so that God turned back His wrath, an answer to Solomon's earlier intercession (6:24–31).

12:9–10 made shields of brass. The degradation of the kingdom vividly appears in the replacement of Solomon's shields of gold (9:16) with Rehoboam's shields of brass or bronze. Since gold is closely associated with God's holiness in the temple (chs. 3–4), this also suggests a religious decline.

12:13 his mother's name was Naamah an Ammonitess. A reminder of how Solomon's marriages to wicked women harmed the kingdom for generations.

12:14 he did evil. Despite his repentance, Rehoboam's reign was summarized as one of wickedness. prepared not his heart to seek the LORD. He lacked the grace for which David prayed (1 Chron. 29:18).

12:16 Abijah. Or Abijam; not Rehoboam's firstborn, but his son by Maachah (11:18–20). stead. Place.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 12

> God blesses those who humble themselves and repent of their sins, confessing that God is right in all the hardships He sent upon them. Whatever your sins may be, repentance is the only path of escape from God's wrath. Do not cling to your pride. When Rehoboam proudly turned away from serving the Lord, he found himself serving the wicked king of Egypt. We all serve someone, and rebellion against God only puts us under a far worse master. Do not trade your gold for bronze. The service of the Lord is the best service we could ever be in, for Christ's yoke is easy and his burden is light (Matt. 11:30). How does this chapter encourage you to repentance?

Chapter 13: Under Abijah, the south wins a major victory against the north, as the Lord hears the prayer of Judah for help.

King Abijah (2 Chron. 13:1–22)

13:3 war. See 1 Kings 14:30; 15:6. Judah was outnumbered two to one.

13:5 covenant of salt. Likely meaning "an enduring covenant" (Num. 18:19), clearly a reference to God's promise to David and his sons (1 Chron. 17). War against the house of David was rebellion against God.

13:7 The author records the fight in terms of righteousness and wickedness. Though there was sin on both sides, God remembered His covenant with David. children of Belial. Wicked or worthless people. tenderhearted. Weak, inexperienced.

13:8 kingdom of the LORD in the hand of the sons of DAVID. Judah's kingdom was God's kingdom, which He ruled through the Davidic king as His representative.

13:9 manner. Custom, habit. The people of Israel had desecrated the priestly office instituted by the Lord and created their own priesthood, but the idols set up by Jeroboam were no gods (1 Cor. 8:4–6).

13:10 we have not forsaken him. Judah still lived under the divinely instituted worship of God with His priests, marks of the true people of God. However, Abijah overlooked the sins of Solomon and Rehoboam, not to mention himself (1 Kings 15:3).

13:13 ambushment. A cunning strategy of surrounding Judah's army by surprise.

13:14 priests sounded with the trumpets. A form of priestly intercession before the Lord so that He would save His people from their enemies (Num. 10:8–9). Holding to God's priests (v. 10) brought God's help.

13:18 they relied upon the LORD God. Literally, they "rested" or "leaned" on Him (14:11)—the essence of faith (Prov. 3:5). They did so by looking to God's covenant (v. 5) and crying out to God in earnest prayer (v. 14), and God saved them against the odds.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 13

1. If we would count ourselves God's people and look for His help, we must hold to God's appointed king, the son of David, and cling to God's commanded form of worship through His appointed priest. The true church is defined by its submission to Jesus Christ as its head and by its worship of the true God through His righteousness (Eph. 5:23–24; Phil. 3:3; Heb. 13:15). Spend some time giving your "sacrifice of praise to God."
2. The key to experiencing God's salvation is relying upon the Lord (v. 18) through heartfelt prayer (v. 14). When we rely on God, no matter how weak we are, we are strong (2 Cor. 12:10). Therefore, the greatest danger we face is our own pride, for its leads to self-sufficiency. How can we develop a heart of humble reliance upon the Lord?

King Asa (2 Chron. 14:1—16:14)

Chapter 14: Asa reigns and wins a surprising victory over the Ethiopians.

14:1 stead. Place.

14:3 strange gods. Foreign gods. groves. The Hebrew is sometimes translated as "Asherim," wooden poles that represented Asherah, the Canaanite goddess associated with fertility. The people of Israel and Judah were often led astray worshiping these poles (15:16; 17:6; 19:3; 24:18).

14:7 land is yet before us. The Lord had not taken away the land because they sought Him in repentance from idolatry and obedience to His laws (vv. 3–4). given us rest. War had marred Judah's history since Rehoboam, but under Asa's reforms, the Lord had restored peace (see note at 11:5–12).

14:9 Zerah the Ethiopian. Otherwise unknown in biblical records. thousand thousand. One million troops. To put it mildly, this was an overwhelming force.

14:11 it is nothing with thee to help. With God's salvation it does not matter whether one has many resources or few (1 Sam. 14:6), for He is the all-sufficient God, and His enemies are mere man (Isa. 31:3). we rest on thee. Same verb as "relied" (13:18; 16:7).

14:13 the LORD, AND . . . HIS HOST. The armies of the faithful son of David are the armies of God (see note at 1 Chron. 11:9), and God's terror and destroying power fall upon their enemies (vv. 12,14).

14:14 the fear of the LORD. Not the word typically used of godly reverence; here it refers to the dread and terror God places upon His enemies (Gen. 35:5; Ex. 15:16; Deut. 28:67; 1 Chron. 14:17; 2 Chron. 17:10; 19:7; 20:29). The Lord had promised to send this terror with Israel to ensure their victory over the nations (Deut. 2:25; 11:25; cf. Est. 8:17; 9:2–3; Pss. 14:5; 105:38).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 14

1. Asa's religion was not just positive in the sense that he sought the Lord and encouraged others to seek the Lord. He also tore down institutions of false worship. This would have made some unhappy, but Asa had a comprehensive and thoroughgoing view of what God demands of us. Faithful service to the Lord requires us to oppose what is evil. How can we be this proactive in our culture? What obstacles do we face?
2. What seemed to be a terrifying threat turned into a remarkable blessing through the Lord's delivering hand. Powerless in himself, Asa entrusted himself to the powerful God. When our troubles stir anxiety in our hearts, let us bring our concerns to God with believing, thankful prayer, and His peace will guard us (Phil. 4:6–7). What concerns can you bring before the Lord today?

Chapter 15: Asa also made many religious reforms.

15:1 Spirit of God came upon. The Holy Spirit empowered Azariah to speak God's Word as a prophet, not in predicting the future, but in pressing the claims and promises of God's covenant.

15:2 if ye seek him. The idea of seeking God appears throughout this chapter (vv. 4,12–13,15). To seek God is to draw near to Him in worship and prayer with desire, reliance, repentance, and submission (see Introduction to 1 and 2 Chronicles: Synopsis).

15:3 a long season Israel hath been without . . . a teaching priest. The days of the judges after Joshua and before Samuel, a period of spiritual ignorance and decline.

15:5 vexations. Troubles, afflictions.

15:6 vex. Trouble.

15:7–8 Be ye strong . . . took courage. Both translate the same Hebrew verb. This echoes David's charge to Solomon (1 Chron. 22:13; 28:10,20).

15:9 they fell to him out of Israel in abundance. God's presence with the godly king motivated many from the northern kingdom of Israel to defect to the Lord's kingdom in the south.

15:12 entered into a covenant. Not a new or man-made covenant, but a renewed and public commitment to keep the covenant the Lord already had made with their fathers (23:16; 29:10; 34:21).

15:15 rest. Salvation from enemies and enjoyment of God's presence, an allusion to the peace of Solomon (1 Chron. 22:8–10) and a shadow of the peace of Christ's kingdom.

15:16 Maachah. As queen mother, Maachah would normally have had significant influence. brook

Kidron. The brook was outside Jerusalem and a common place for dumping refuse.

15:17 heart of Asa was perfect. His love and loyalty was not divided between the Lord and idols.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 15

1. This chapter gives us a vivid picture of a major theme in Chronicles: seeking God. All people pursue something, and ours is meant to be the pursuit of God in Christ (Phil. 3:12–14). What does it mean to seek God? Asa's example shows that we seek God by finding strength and courage in God's promises, by removing idols from our lives and circles of influence, and by worshiping God with all our hearts in the ways He commands in His covenant. What would it mean in your life to seek the Lord with all your soul?
2. Asa showed remarkable consistency, removing his own mother from her royal position because she promoted idolatry (v. 16). Reformation must begin in the home before it can take root in the church or nation. This can be extremely costly, but Christ taught us that His disciples must hate their parents and families in comparison to their love for Him (Luke 14:26).

Chapter 16: The events of the latter part of Asa's reign show a number of his faults.

16:2 brought out . . . of the treasures of the house of the LORD. Asa will be reprimanded for failing to trust in God to deliver them (vv. 7–8). Ben-hadad. This name, meaning "son of Hadad," was likely a title for the king of Syria. Hadad was the Baal of the area.

16:3 league. Covenant, treaty.

16:7 relied on the king of Syria. Asa had wandered from his earlier trust in the Lord (14:11) and had esteemed the help of Syria to be of greater value than the help of God.

16:9 run to and fro throughout the whole earth. God's knowledge (eyes) reaches all His creation, like travelers visiting every place in the whole earth to see what happens there (Zech. 4:10; Rev. 5:6), even the thoughts and motives of the heart (Jer. 17:10). perfect. Not sinless (6:36), but trusting in the Lord alone, and not men or their works. thou shalt have wars. God removed His gift of "rest" (15:15).

16:10 wroth. Angry. He added sin to his sin by condemning the seer, or prophet, to prison for his truthful words, and persecuting some of the people as well.

16:14 divers. Diverse, various. apothecaries. Embalmers, perfumers. very great burning. Perhaps a bonfire with fragrant spices to honor him and lament his death (21:19; Jer. 34:5).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 16

1. Asa was not constant in his faithfulness. The backsliding of a godly man into inconsistency is perplexing to all who know him. Pride and unrepentance can turn a good leader into a stubborn oppressor. The end of a matter is more important than the beginning. We need God's grace to finish well. In particular, Asa's sins sprang from weakness of faith in God's promises, and resting his hope in man. How can we stay alert against such misplaced trust?
2. We have here a magnificent promise: "For the eyes of the LORD run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to shew himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward him" (v. 9). God engages His knowledge of all things and His infinite power to strongly support every man, woman, or child who trusts in Him alone. How does this promise show the foolishness and wickedness of trusting in man? How does it encourage us to look to the Lord?

King Jehoshaphat (2 Chron. 17:1—20:37)

Chapter 17: Jehoshaphat walks in the steps of his father David.

17:3–17 This section outlines the religious, civil, economic, and militaristic prosperity of Jehoshaphat.

17:3–9 Jehoshaphat was a model king like David who sought the Lord and removed idols. Baalim. Plural of Baal, meaning lord or master, the chief god worshiped in a particular location.

17:6 heart was lifted up. An expression usually of pride (25:19; 26:16; 32:25), but here of courageous obedience to the Lord. groves. Asherah poles (see note at 14:3).

17:7–9 third year. Most agree that Jehoshaphat was a co-regent with his father, Asa, for about three years. It is likely that while Asa was plagued with his foot disease (16:12), Jehoshaphat unofficially ruled in his place. Jehoshaphat sent both princes and priests to teach the people the law of God.

17:10 fear of the LORD. The dread of His power with His people (see note at 14:14).

17:12 waxed. Became.

17:13–18 Jehoshaphat had a group of great warriors (mighty men of valour) as David did (1 Chron. 11:10–47).

17:15 two hundred and fourscore thousand. 280,000. A score is twenty.

17:19 waited. Served. The total number of men the king had at his disposal was almost 1.2 million men. This is the largest army on record that Judah ever maintained.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 17

1. Chronicles draws parallels between Jehoshaphat and David. Both sought the Lord in wholehearted devotion. Both kept God's commandments. Both enlisted the services of mighty men. Through these comparisons, Chronicles fostered hope in the people after the exile that God would raise up a new king, of whom David was only a shadow. How does this foster hope for us?
2. Jehoshaphat's reformation of the people of God had two sides: he destroyed the idols of Judah, and he sent out teachers to instruct Judah in God's Word. The reformation of the church always requires both. We saw this in the sixteenth century, when God used the Reformers to root out idolatry from the church's worship and to train men to teach the Bible to the people. Why does reformation require opposing idolatry? Why does it involve teaching the Word?

Chapter 18: Jehoshaphat allies himself with Ahab, who is killed in accordance with the word of the prophet Micaiah.

18:1 joined affinity. Made a marriage alliance by joining his son, Jehoram, to Ahab's daughter, Athaliah (21:6; 22:2). As expected, this would prove to be a disastrous union (22:10).

18:2 persuaded. Incited to do someone's wishes. Ahab was an aggressive agitator slyly leading Jehoshaphat into battle.

18:3 Ramoth-gilead. Southeast of the Sea of Galilee. I am as thou art, and my people as thy people. Jehoshaphat expresses loyalty to his covenant with Ahab (Ruth 1:16).

18:4 Enquire. Literally, "seek."

18:5 prophets. False prophets.

18:6 prophet of the LORD. True prophets were not yes-men who sought to please kings, but messengers sent from God to rebuke sin and call men to faithfulness (2 Kings 17:13–15; Neh. 9:26; Jer. 25:4).

18:9 void place. Open area, threshingfloor.

18:10 horns of iron. Symbols of great strength and endurance, illustrating a prophecy of Ahab's glorious victory.

18:13 As the LORD liveth. An oath. what my God saith, that will I speak. Micaiah remained firm and declared that he could not prophesy anything God does not put into his mouth, a sign of a true prophet.

18:14–15 Micaiah's prophecy was likely expressed in an obviously sarcastic tone, spurring Ahab ironically to put him under oath (adjure) to speak the truth of God.

18:16 shepherd. Common metaphor for a king (1 Chron. 11:2; cf. Matt. 9:36).

18:18 the LORD sitting upon his throne. The real King, in contrast to merely human kings on their thrones (v. 9). host of heaven. Angelic armies. Ahab stood indicted by the heavenly court, and though he oppressed the faithful, God would hold him accountable.

18:20–21 Wherewith? By what means? lying spirit. Though God cannot lie (Num. 23:19), He controls all things, including deceitful demons and men (Job 12:16; 2 Thess. 2:11).

18:23 The false prophet Zedekiah claimed that he had the Spirit of the LORD but that Micaiah did not. smote . . . upon the cheek. Struck on the side of the face, a public insult (Job 16:10; Matt. 5:39).

18:27 then hath not the LORD spoken by me. A mark of true prophecy is that God's Word always proves true (Deut. 18:22). Hearken. Listen.

18:30 save. Except.

18:31 compassed about. Surrounded. God moved them. God's providence rescued Jehoshaphat.

18:33 at a venture. Literally, "in his simplicity" (2 Sam. 15:11), meaning that the man did not aim at Ahab. harness. The king's armor. The arrow struck precisely in a weak point in Ahab's armor. Turn thine hand. Turn around.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 18

1. Beware of binding yourself in agreements with the wicked as Jehoshaphat did with Ahab. Perhaps Jehoshaphat cherished hopes that Judah and Israel and Ahab would enter a new phase of cooperation; however, he barely escaped alive. While we are to love all people, we must separate ourselves from sin and therefore not yoke ourselves with unbelievers (2 Cor. 6:14). Do not say, "I am as thou art, and my people as thy people" (v. 3), unless you are one in Christ. Where do you see unhealthy alliances happening in our day?
2. Treasure the Word of God in the fear of God. One man speaking God's truth is worth more than 400 men telling us what we want to hear. Thank God for faithful ministers who refuse to speak anything except God's Word. The Word of the Lord proves true because it is backed by the providence of God. When God threatens death on an unrepentant sinner, be sure it will come, even if by a random shot by an archer. How then should we respond when God's Word says hard things against us and our sin?

Chapter 19: A prophet reproves Jehoshaphat, who enacts further religious reforms.

19:2 Jehu the son of Hanani. A prophet who also served in the time of Baasha, king of Israel some years before Ahab (1 Kings 16:1–3). love them that hate the LORD. See 18:1–3.

19:3 good things found in thee. Jehoshaphat was not altogether wicked. prepared thine heart to seek

God. Directed his thoughts and affections to pursue God (12:14; Col. 3:1–2), the gift of God's grace (30:12) for which David had prayed (1 Chron. 29:18–19).

19:4 brought them back. Chronicles again returns to the religious integrity of Jehoshaphat as he guided Judah in repentance, turning them from sin back to the Lord.

19:5–7 the LORD . . . is with you. God not only oversees religious ministers, but also the civil rulers such as judges, who must use their authority in the fear of the LORD (Deut. 1:16–17; 16:18–19; Ps. 82:1–8).

19:9 perfect heart. Fearing God far above all others and not with divided allegiance.

19:10 cause. Legal case or lawsuit. As experts in the law of God (Mal. 2:7), priests and Levites assisted the judges in making judgments (Deut. 17:8–9).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 19

1. While we should love the wicked in the sense of having mercy on them even when they harm us (Matt. 5:45; Acts 7:60), we must not love them in the sense of joining ourselves to them or sharing in their wicked deeds (Eph. 5:7–14). Though we must live in the world, we must be wise not to compromise ourselves with the world. What can we do to pursue this wisdom that begins with the fear of the Lord in the heart, hates sin, and turns from it in disgust?
2. Spiritual reformation is not confined to the worship services of the church, any more than God's sovereignty is limited to the church building. Repentance must reach the people in their day-to-day lives (v. 4). The dread of God's judgment must penetrate into the halls of power and courts of justice (vv. 5–7). The fear of God must control the decisions of church elders (vv. 8–11). Just as King Jehoshaphat labored to bring reformation to every part of society, so the greater son of David works to save and sanctify all kinds of people, including kings (1 Tim. 2:1–7). Why does the fear of the Lord transform everything and not just part of human life?

Chapter 20: Jehoshaphat seeks God in prayer, and God delivers the people of Judah again, this time against the Moabites and Ammonites.

20:1 It came to pass after this. A chronological note that this occurred after Jehoshaphat's reforms. He was given a second opportunity to rely on the hand of God and not the arm of flesh.

20:4 ask help of the LORD. Literally, "seek from the Lord," the same verb as in seek the LORD in this verse (though not the same as "seek" in v. 3).

20:6–9 Jehoshaphat's prayer echoes elements of Solomon's prayer at the dedication of the temple (ch. 6), showing Jehoshaphat to be a faithful son of David fulfilling God's purposes.

20:6 God of our fathers. The faithful God of the covenant (6:14–15; Ex. 3:15). rulest . . . over all the kingdoms. Unlike the limited domains of pagan gods, the sovereignty of the Lord extended over all things (6:14,18; 1 Chron. 16:14,31; 29:11).

20:7 Abraham thy friend. A statement of God's remarkable grace and covenant with Israel (1 Chron. 16:16; Isa. 41:8).

20:9 when evil cometh upon us. Judgments for breaking the covenant (6:28–29). for thy name. Where His glory would dwell (6:20). hear and help. Literally, "hear and save" (Pss. 34:6; 145:19).

20:10 And now. Jehoshaphat's prayer turned from God's past faithfulness to the present. Ammon . . . Moab . . . Seir. The Lord did not allow Israel to invade these lands and destroy their peoples (Num. 20:14–21; Deut. 2:4–6,9,18–19).

20:11 thy possession, which thou hast given us. Jehoshaphat pleaded the promises of God.

20:14 upon Jahaziel . . . came the Spirit of the LORD. See note at 15:1.

20:15–17 Hearken. Listen. There are many similarities between this prophecy and Moses' charge as Israel faced the Egyptian army at the Red Sea (Ex. 14:13–14). the battle is not yours, but God's. The Lord determines the victor, not human ability (1 Sam. 17:47).

20:20 Believe in the LORD . . . BELIEVE HIS PROPHETS. Trusting in God's Word is equivalent to trusting in God. established. The same verb as believe; the Hebrew root means "to make sure or firm." Trusting God's Word as something solid and established will make you solid and established (Isa. 7:9).

20:21–23 Jehoshaphat appointed Levitical singers and musicians to go ahead of the army. To praise the LORD before the battle was an act of faith in His promise. The Lord inhabits the praises of His people (Ps. 22:3). ambushments. Ambushes, hidden attackers (13:13). The Lord turned the Ammonites and Moabites against the Edomites so that they betrayed and slaughtered each other.

20:30 rest. A common trait for the faithful reigns of the kings of Judah (14:6–7; 15:15).

20:35–37 Another cooperative alliance between Jehoshaphat and a wicked king of Israel, resulting in discipline from God (the LORD HATH BROKEN THY WORKS).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 20

God gave Jehoshaphat another opportunity to either trust in man's strength or God's infinite power, and this time the king sought the Lord (vv. 3–4). This time Jehoshaphat relied on divine omnipotence and sought the favor of the Lord. It must have been intensely difficult to wait upon God in such frightening circumstances, but the battle belongs to the Lord (v. 15). We need to trust in the Lord at all times, pouring out the concerns of our hearts in prayer (Ps. 62:8). With God is everlasting strength (Isa. 26:4), and if we will wait quietly upon Him then in His time the Lord alone will be exalted (Ps. 46:10). Then, like Jehoshaphat and Judah, we can bow down and worship the Lord (2 Chron. 20:18). It is good, however, to begin praising Him before His salvation comes (v. 21), so that by faith we may find strength (v. 20). How is your faith being tested even now?

Chapter 21: Jehoram leads the people into all sorts of idolatry, harvesting sad political results and a dreadful death.

King Jehoram (2 Chron. 21:1–20)

21:1 stead. Place.

21:4 slew all his brethren. Jehoram strengthened his hand by killing potential rivals for the throne. divers. Diverse, various.

21:6 walked in the way of the kings of Israel . . . house of Ahab. Judah had descended into the same depths of sin as the northern kingdom, because its king had married the daughter of Ahab (18:1).

21:7 the covenant . . . with David. Even when Judah became as wicked as Israel, the Lord did not destroy it immediately because of His faithful love to David, having promised to preserve his line (1 Kings 11:13). light. Lamp (see note at 2 Sam. 21:17).

21:9 compassed. Surrounded.

21:10 Edomites . . . Libnah. Edom was located to the east and Libnah to the west.

21:11 commit fornication. Fertility prostitution in Canaanite worship. compelled Judah thereto. Not only permitted it but enforced it.

21:12 Elijah the prophet (1 Kings 17:1) sent a letter to Jehoram rebuking him for his sins. God of David thy father. A reminder of God's covenant with David (1 Chron. 17).

21:13 whoredoms. Acts of idolatry, like spiritual adultery against God. Ahab. The most wicked king in the land of Israel, a fearful point of comparison (1 Kings 16:30,33; 21:25).

21:15 bowels. Organs of the abdomen. Jehoram would die a slow, painful, and humiliating death for his disobedience (vv. 18–19).

21:16 the LORD STIRRED UP. God in His sovereignty used men, even wicked men, to discipline the sons of David, as He said in the covenant (2 Sam. 7:14).

21:17 save. Except.

21:19 sore. Severe. burning. An honor in memory of the dead (see note at 16:14).

21:20 without being desired. Without being mourned.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 21

> A godly father can still leave a bitter legacy if he does not separate himself from the wicked world, for his children may very well fully embrace the world. A horrible example of this principle appears in Lot's daughters (Gen. 19), and we see it again with Jehoram, son of Jehoshaphat. He not only sinned himself in dreadful ways, but he forced others to sin and died under God's judgment. Sin is like a cancer that spreads unless it is mortified by God's grace of repentance. Do not play with sin or with alliances with the world. If you continue in sin, you do so warned of the dreadful consequences. Heb. 12:1 says that sin can "easily beset us." What example did Christ leave us for resisting sin in our lives?

Chapter 22: Ahaziah's reign continues the wickedness of Jehoram and ends with Athaliah destroying all the royal seed except for Joash, who is hidden in God's house.

King Ahaziah (2 Chron. 22:1–9)

22:1 stead. Place.

22:2 Athaliah. The granddaughter of Israel's wicked king Omri (1 Kings 16:16–28). The word daughter in Scripture can mean female descendant. She married Jehoram (21:6). Her reign was the only time in Judah's history that a descendant of David did not reign.

22:5 This military alliance is strongly condemned by Chronicles. Jehoram . . . Joram. The same person. He is not the same Jehoram as the son of Jehosphat (ch. 21), but a son of Ahab who reigned over Israel (2 Kings 1:17; 3:1).

22:7 destruction . . . was of God. God put Ahaziah to death in fulfillment of the prophecy spoken against the house of Ahab and fulfilled through Jehu (1 Kings 19:16–17; 21:21–22; 2 Kings 9).

22:8 Jehu defeated even the relatives (sons of the brethren) of Ahaziah.

22:9 no power to keep still the kingdom. Ahaziah's descendants were not able to retain the throne.

Queen Athaliah (2 Chron. 22:10–12)

22:10 Athaliah sought to destroy the house of David forever by mercilessly slaughtering any who might ascend to the throne (all the seed royal).

22:11 Jehoshabeath. She had connections with both the monarchy and the priesthood, as the daughter of king Jehoram and the wife of Jehoiada the priest.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 22

1. Jehoshaphat's foolish alliance with the house of Ahab (18:1) reaped such a bitter harvest that it nearly destroyed the line of David. The promise of God's covenant seemed to hang by a thread (1 Chron. 17:11–12). Satan certainly would have been happy with Athaliah's design to kill "all the seed royal of the house of Judah" (2 Chron. 22:10). He has been set against the seed of the woman from the first promise of God (Gen. 3:15). Sometimes Satan works by drawing the church into compromise and entanglement with the world. Sometimes Satan uses violence, as when he killed all the children of Bethlehem. Whether he entices us to sin or threaten us with persecution, how can we be prepared to stand against him?
2. The bravery of two women saved the line of Christ from extinction. One was a daughter of a king, but the other an ordinary (and unnamed) servant. They risked their lives to preserve the house of David, and proved to be instruments in God's hand to fulfill His covenant. Never underestimate the significance of ordinary men and women who trust the Lord and do His will. God's sovereignty often works through human means, and the godly are His servants. How does the courage of Jehoshabeath and the nurse motivate you to serve God courageously?

King Joash (2 Chron. 23:1—24:27)

Chapter 23: Joash is crowned king at age seven by Jehoiada, the priest, and Athaliah is killed.

23:1–7 Jehoiada the priest (22:11) carefully prepared for the coup.

23:3 made a covenant with the king. Rulers and people mutually bound themselves to each other in mutual loyalty based upon God's covenant (1 Chron. 11:3). as the LORD hath said of the sons of DAVID. Jehoiada acted on the belief that God would keep His covenant with David (1 Chron. 17).

23:6 save. Except.

23:7 compass. The people were to surround the king for protection.

23:8 courses. A divided group of priests and Levites.

23:9 bucklers. Small shields.

23:11 God save the king. Literally, "May the king live" (1 Sam. 10:24; 2 Sam. 16:16; 1 Kings 1:25,31,34,39; Neh. 2:3).

23:13 rent. Tearing of the garments, a sign of mourning. Treason, Treason. An ironic cry, since she had murdered the sons of the king.

23:14 ranges. Ranks of soldiers. Slay her not in the house of the LORD. Despite the importance of the coup for preserving the monarchy, the sanctity of the temple must be preserved.

23:16 Jehoiada was not content simply to have Joash in the kingship, but urged the people to renew their commitment to the covenant as the LORD'S PEOPLE (see note at 15:12).

23:19 porters. Gatekeepers.

23:21 Athaliah's reign was conceived in violence (22:10) and ended in a violent death (v. 15). Her burial is not recounted. Chronicles does not consider her to be a true ruler but one who had usurped the throne of David. Thus her death was a cause of joy and peace.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 23

1. Just as the courage of Jehoshabeath had saved the line of David from total destruction (22:11), so the patient and careful planning of her husband, Jehoiada, restored the son of David to the throne of Judah. The house of David appeared to be in ruin for over seven years, a terrible test for those who believed God's promise but knew nothing of Joash's preservation. However, by faith in that promise (23:3), the priest and Levites took their lives into their hands to crown the boy-king Joash. God had not abandoned His people. The gates of hell cannot prevail against His church. God will ever preserve His kingdom in this world through the living faith of His people. How is your faith producing patience in seemingly hopeless days, as well as wise and bold actions?
2. The monarchy was lost because they abandoned God's covenant (22:4), and so the restoration of the kingdom must engage the people to keep covenant with the Lord as faithful worshipers. We cannot cry out to God, "Thy kingdom come" (Matt. 6:10), with true hearts unless we also turn from our disobedience and idolatry and renew our commitment to obedience and faithful worship. How then should we pray for revival in the church?

Chapter 24: Joash walked in the ways of God under the supervision of Jehoiada, but wandered from them after Jehoiada's death.

24:1 Joash. Also called "Jehoash" (2 Kings 11:21; 12:1), not to be confused with a king of Israel of the same name (25:17; 2 Kings 13:10).

24:2 all the days of Jehoiada. The author hints at the coming unfaithfulness even before speaking of the good things Joash did. The priest took charge of Joash beyond the initial coronation.

24:4 repair the house of the LORD. Chronicles does not record the details of the damage to the temple due to Athaliah (v. 7), but it was extensive and required much wealth and time to repair.

24:5 Levites hastened it not. The Levites withstood Joash's command for twenty-three years (2 Kings 12:6).

24:6 required. Asked. commandment of Moses. This was a temple tax (Ex. 30:11–16). tabernacle of witness. The tabernacle built in the day of Moses.

24:8 chest. This was a compromise where the people could offer their finances and yet the Levites were not burdened to collect the finances year by year. without. Outside.

24:10 rejoiced. The collection was more than a dutiful tax, rather a heartfelt act of worship (1 Chron. 29:9).

24:14 withal. With them. all the days of Jehoiada. See note at v. 2.

24:15–16 an hundred and thirty years old. God gave Jehoiada long life and great influence over the people of Judah and the Davidic king. buried him . . . among the kings. He was given a respectful burial among the royal tombs, an honor later denied to Joash (v. 25).

24:17 obeisance. Bowing to show respect. hearkened. Listened. The text suggests that their flattery of the king swayed him to follow them in sin.

24:18 left the house. Abandoned the worship of the Lord at the temple. wrath. God's anger for their sin.

24:20 Spirit of God came upon. Literally, the Spirit "clothed" him, a metaphor for equipping him with supernatural ability (Judg. 6:34; 1 Chron. 12:18), as the Spirit does all the prophets (v. 19).

24:22 his father. Not his biological father, but his spiritual father, emphasizing the evil of his sin against Jehoiada's son. require it. Avenge it. He committed his cause to God, and God heard him.

24:23 end of the year. Zechariah's vindication came, though it was delayed for a time.

24:25 great diseases. Serious wounds. sons of Jehoiada. Evidently he killed more than Zechariah. buried him not. Joash was not given a royal burial, but died in disgrace.

24:26 Ammonitess . . . Moabitess. Those who killed Joash were descendants of Lot's daughters (Gen. 19:34–38); a scathing rebuke and judgment against Joash.

24:27 stead. Place.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 24

1. Joash was faithful as long as Jehoiada was alive (v. 2). The prayers, counsel, and presence of godly people make an incalculable difference for good. This is what Christ means when He speaks about His people as the salt of the earth and the light of the world (Matt. 5:13–14). When faithful Christians are gone, much often goes with them. Thank God for spiritual fathers and mothers who have influenced you. Yet ask yourself, if they were to die, would you continue to walk with God as faithfully as you do when they are here?
2. Zechariah was faithful unto death. Empowered by the Holy Spirit, he courageously stood against the king, princes, and people. He rebuked them of their sin and warned them of God's anger, but they would not hear God's message and killed the messenger. As Zechariah died, broken by the stones of the wicked, he entrusted his case to the righteous Judge. Pray for God to give to the church preachers like Zechariah, filled with the Spirit's boldness and humility.

Chapter 25: Though the reign of Amaziah begins well, he ends his reign in idolatry and hardheartedness, and he dies as a result of a conspiracy.

King Amaziah (2 Chron. 25:1–28)

25:1 twenty and nine years in Jerusalem. It may be that Amaziah's reign was a coregency with Uzziah for twenty-four years (2 Kings 14:2,23; 15:1).

25:2 not with a perfect heart. Not with wholehearted dedication and submission to God's Word, as the rest of this chapter shows.

25:4 written in the law . . . of Moses. In punishing the servants who killed his father, Amaziah followed the principles of justice in God's law (Deut. 24:16). own sin. Though God used the sin of the men who killed Joash (24:25), they were still held accountable for their actions.

25:5 The military census was likely in preparation for the attack against Seir or Edom (v. 11).

25:7 man of God. Prophet (11:2). the LORD is not with ISRAEL. A remarkable statement about some of the descendants of Jacob. The northern kingdom had abandoned the Lord (13:8–11), indeed Israel hated God (19:2), so He had abandoned them (15:2). to wit. That is (v. 10).

25:8 God hath power to help, and to cast down. God controls every victory and every defeat (20:15), and therefore His servants must not rely on the power of mere men (16:7).

25:9 The LORD is able to give thee much more. We never ultimately lose out when we obey God (Matt. 19:29).

25:10 great anger. Either at being dishonored or at the loss of plunder of war they anticipated getting.

25:11–12 Amaziah's victory demonstrates that he did not need the assistance of wicked Israel, but the Lord alone gave salvation.

25:11 Seir. Edom.

25:13 fell upon the cities of Judah. Israel proved to be no ally to Judah, but treacherous, violent, and greedy, showing the foolishness of Amaziah's alliance (v. 6).

25:15 which could not deliver their own people. The stupidity of man's impulse to idolatry is well illustrated in Amaziah's embrace of the gods of the people he had just defeated in battle.

25:16 Art thou made of the king's counsel? Have you been asked to be the counselor of the king? forbear. Stop and be silent. God hath determined. Literally, "God has counseled," using the same Hebrew root as counsel. The king's refusal to hear the counsel or wise advice of God's Word shows that God had decreed his destruction in God's eternal counsel or wise plan.

25:17 Joash. The son of Jehoahaz, a king of the northern tribes. see one another in the face. Amaziah's request is not one of peace and friendship, but it is a challenge to Joash to come and fight him.

25:18 thistle. Judah. cedar. Edom. wild beast. Israel.

25:19 thine heart lifteth thee up to boast. A common expression for pride, an attitude which God hates and punishes (1 Sam. 2:3; Prov. 8:13; 16:5; Zeph. 2:10).

25:20 would not hear . . . it came of God. As in his response to the prophet (v. 16), Amaziah's stubborn refusal to listen to good advice was itself a judgment from God for his idolatry with the gods of Edom (v. 14). God gives the proud and idolatrous over to blindness (Rom. 1:21–23,28; 11:8–10).

25:22 put to the worse. Defeated.

25:24 the gold and the silver . . . in the house of God. God judged Judah's temple because Judah had turned to idols.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 25

> It is extremely dangerous to remain in a condition of halfhearted religion (v. 2). Though we may do some good things, like Amaziah we may also waste our resources pursuing the favor of the world (v. 6), make ourselves vulnerable to the wicked by our alliances with them (v. 13), be attracted to imitate the world in its corrupt forms of worship (v. 14), proudly take on projects beyond our means to our defeat and disgrace (v. 19), and alienate those around us (v. 27). It is far wiser to humble ourselves before the Lord, give Him our total devotion, and submit to all that His Word counsels us to do. What are the benefits of wholehearted religion?

Chapter 26: Uzziah is noted as a king of great military prowess, who eventually presumed to act as a priest and who was punished with leprosy.

King Uzziah (2 Chron. 26:1–23)

26:1 Uzziah. Also known as Azariah (2 Kings 15:1). room. Place.

26:2 Eloth. An important city in Edom, conquered by Solomon but later lost by Jehoram (21:8–10).

26:5 sought God. A summary statement of his godliness (see note at 15:2). Zechariah. The identity of this prophet is not known with certainty; he is not the author of the biblical book by that name, for it was written after the exile.

26:6–15 Uzziah had considerable military, civil, and economic success throughout his long, fifty-two-year reign.

26:12 mighty men of valour. Strong and capable soldiers.

26:14 habergeons. Armor.

26:15 engines. Machines to throw military projectiles. cunning. Skillful. bulwarks. Defensive walls. withal. With them. marvellously helped. God gave the king supernatural assistance (v. 7) that amazed people.

26:16 his heart was lifted up. He became proud. burn incense upon the altar of incense. Unlawful for anyone but a priest (Ex. 30:7; Num. 16:35; 18:7). Only Christ could unite the offices of priest and king in Israel (Heb. 7:1,17).

26:17 fourscore. Eighty.

26:19 wroth. Angry. leprosy. A disease that made a person severely unclean and required him to separate himself from the sacred congregation of worshipers (Lev. 13:45–46).

26:20 thrust him out from thence. Hurried him out of there. hasted . . . to go out. Quickly removed himself from the temple, recognizing God's judgment.

26:21 several house. Separate house.

26:23 stead. Place.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 26

1. The Lord prospered Uzziah for much of the five decades that he reigned. Prosperity, however, is dangerous when we do not guard our hearts. We read, "But when he was strong, his heart was lifted up to his destruction" (v. 16). It is sad but far too common that when the Lord prospers us, we seize His gifts as an occasion for pride. How has the Lord blessed you? How can you make that an occasion for humility instead of pride?
2. Uzziah's pride particularly showed itself when he presumed to intrude into the worship God had reserved for the priests. He made himself spiritually unclean, and so God made him physically unclean with leprosy. Pride is often at the root of presumption in worship, whereas humility leads us to worship God in exactly the way He has commanded it. Christ alone is the Mediator between God and man, our great High Priest. Are you trusting in yourself or anyone or anything else to gain access to God?

Chapter 27: Jotham's reign is briefly recounted without major incidents.

King Jotham (2 Chron. 27:1–9)

27:2 howbeit. However, except. did yet corruptly. Continued to act sinfully. Though we may lament the lack of Jotham's influence, his refusal to follow in his father's sins or to go with the crowd is exemplary.

27:6 became mighty. Jotham's reign is marked by building up the military prowess of Judah and Jerusalem and the tribute that Ammon paid to Judah. prepared his ways before the LORD his GOD. He lived as one in the presence of God, ordering his conduct according to the covenant (Gen. 17:1; Ps. 119:5).

27:9 stead. Place.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 27

Jotham reigned successfully and admirably because "he prepared his ways before the LORD his God" (v. 6). This is a summary of true religion. First, it means that a godly person lives in the presence of God. He does not limit his religion to sacred places or times, but constantly walks with a sense that God is here to keep His promises. Second, it means that a godly person directs his life according to God's covenant. His authority is not mere tradition, for he knows that his fathers erred in some things. His guide is not popularity, for the majority can be wicked. He does not simply follow his impulses. He orders his ways before his covenant Lord according to His Word. What would that look like in your own life?

Chapter 28: Under Ahaz, Judah suffers military defeat by Syria, and he leads the people into idolatry.

King Ahaz (2 Chron. 28:1–27)

28:1 Ahaz. Ahaz experienced the curse of military defeat time and again.

28:3 burnt his children in the fire. Child sacrifice was a pagan notion of attempting to appease the gods and forbidden in Israel (Lev. 18:21; 20:2–4; Deut. 12:31).

28:4 under every green tree. Ahaz's idolatry was prolific and public.

28:5 Syria . . . Israel. At this time in Judah's history, both its northern neighbors were formidable forces. Syria took many from Judah into an exile to Damascus, their capital city.

28:6 Pekah became king over Israel in the last year of king Azariah's reign.

28:9 Oded. Nothing more is recorded of him. wroth. Angry. rage. Though Judah's defeat was predetermined by God, Israel committed the sin of killing the people of Judah with vengeance and rage.

28:10 bondmen and bondwomen. Slaves.

28:11 fierce wrath. During Ahaz's reign, Assyria would conquer and exile Israel (722 BC) as God's judgment for their persistent idolatry (2 Kings 17:5–23). Chronicles does not recount the history of Assyria's invasion, but assumes it (29:9; 30:6).

28:15 The Israelites show great kindness to the men of Judah in a manner that anticipates elements of the parable of the Good Samaritan (Luke 10:30–35).

28:16–21 Ahaz's fault was that he sought military aid from the pagan empire of Assyria. Assyria would exile Israel and would pose a formidable threat to Judah until the days of Hezekiah.

28:19 naked. Exposed and humiliated. sore. Exceedingly.

28:20 Though Ahaz turned to receive help from Tilgath-pilneser king of Assyria, they did not help but instead distressed Judah.

28:23 which smote him. Ahaz failed to understand the judgment of God, assuming that the gods of Damascus had defeated him, and therefore he worshiped them instead of repenting.

28:24 shut up the doors of the house of the LORD. Though idols may initially creep in alongside the worship of God, ultimately they will displace God altogether unless removed.

28:27 kings of Israel. A reference to the kings of Judah. stead. Place.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 28

1. In a way that seems insane, Ahaz threw himself and his nation into the worship of idols, even at the cost of sacrificing some of his children. When the Lord gave him over to the forces of Damascus as punishment, Ahaz added the idols of Damascus to his worship instead of turning back to the Lord. His mind was so ruled by idolatry that he assumed he was defeated by the power of a superior idol. People today run from idol to idol in their trials, but apart from God's grace, they will not turn to the Lord. How do you see this around you today?

2. After so many years of apostasy in the northern kingdom, it seemed like a hopeless case for the prophet Oded to call Israel to show mercy on the captives of Judah. However, when he faithful preached God's Word, some leaders in Israel responded with a touching display of kindness to their defeated brothers. Let us never assume that it is worthless to speak God's Word to a group of sinners, no matter what their reputation. They may put us to shame with how they respond. Where are you tempted to think that it is not worth sharing God's Word?

KINGDOM REFORMED AND RUINED (2 CHRON. 29:1—35:27)

Hezekiah's Righteous Reign (2 Chron. 29:1—32:33)

Chapter 29: The reign of Hezekiah is marked by religious reforms that cleansed the temple and restored worship.

29:1–2 Hezekiah was a bright spot in Judah's fading history, a brief return to the godly ways of David his father (11:17; 17:3; 28:1).

29:3 first year . . . in the first month. He quickly reinstituted the worship of God. opened the doors. The doors by which the priests would enter the holy place from the outer court (v. 7). Ahaz had shut the doors and essentially forbidden the worship of God (28:24).

29:4 priests and the Levites. The following monologue was addressed to those responsible to lead Judah in the worship of the Lord.

29:10 make a covenant. See note at 15:12.

29:11 My sons. The king spoke to the priests and Levites as an affectionate father. burn incense. The word incense is not in the original Hebrew, and the verb burn can be used of either incense or offerings (1 Chron. 23:13).

29:16 uncleanness. Likely the idols in the temple. abroad. Away from the place. brook Kidron. A burial site outside Jerusalem that was used to dispose of such things.

29:18–19 cleansed. Removed all ceremonial uncleanness according to the law of Moses. sanctified. Made holy and thus ready for the worship of God.

29:21 bullocks. Bulls.

29:24 all Israel (repeated). Probably both kingdoms. Later, Hezekiah invited the northern tribes to come and celebrate the Passover with the tribes of Judah (30:1,5–6; 31:1).

29:25 commandment of the LORD by his prophets. Worship must be structured by the Word.

29:27 when the burnt offering began, the song of the LORD began. Musical worship in Israel was closely connected to temple sacrifice.

29:30 with the words of David. They sang the Psalms. The content of worship must come from the Word.

29:31 free heart. Those who were generous.

29:34 flay. Remove the skin of the offering.

29:36 God had prepared the people. Their readiness to return to biblical worship was a gift of grace and an answer to David's prayer (1 Chron. 29:18). suddenly. Promptly.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 29

1. Reformation centers upon worship, and nothing is more urgent than to begin to restore biblical worship after it has been corrupted or lost. Central to this work is the calling of the ministers who lead worship back to their holy duties. They must lead the church to cleanse away all that offends the Lord and to sanctify God's temple, which in Christ is the people themselves. They must take both the structure and content of worship from the Word of God. How can you pray for your leaders? And how can you use God's Word in your own private worship?
2. The only way that leaders can bring the people to willingly and gladly embrace reformation, especially in worship, is if God prepares the people. Apart from divine grace, people will resist godly leadership and reject godly example (27:2). However, when the Lord works in their hearts, they embrace reformation willingly and eagerly, to the joy of all involved (29:36). How should this motivate us to pray?

Chapter 30: The Passover is memorably observed under the reign of Hezekiah.

30:1 all Israel. Hezekiah sought to bring in all the tribes to keep the feast. Israel had already been exiled by Assyria; the invitation went only to the remnant still living in the north (v. 6). passover. A feast instituted by God to commemorate Israel's deliverance from Egypt (Ex. 12:1–28).

30:2 second month. Passover was to be held in the first month, but the temple was not prepared (v. 3). The law of Moses allowed, under certain instances, for the people to celebrate it on the second month (Num. 9:10–11).

30:5 as it was written. As the law of God required. The king is God's servant to promote obedience to God's will.

30:6 posts. Runners (v. 10). turn again . . . and he will return. God promises that He will be with those who repent of sin and come back to Him (James 4:8), because He is compassionate (v. 9; Luke 15:11–32). God of . . . Israel. The God who is faithful to His covenant promises.

30:9 gracious and merciful. God's character that He revealed to Moses (Ex. 34:6).

30:10 laughed them to scorn, and mocked. Even after the horrific judgment of their exile by Assyria, the majority of the people met the call to repentance with proud contempt.

30:11–12 divers. Various. Humility, desire to worship God, and submission to His Word produced spiritual unity (one heart) between Judah and some of the people from three of the northern tribes. They responded differently than the proud mockers only because of the power of God's sovereign grace (the hand of God was to give them, cf. Acts 11:18,21).

30:15 passover. The lamb killed in the feast. were ashamed . . . sanctified themselves. Probably a reference to those who did not prepare themselves earlier (29:34).

30:17–19 Levites had the charge. The people were supposed to slaughter the Passover lambs (Ex. 12:3–7; Deut. 16:5–6), but could not because they were not prepared according to the ceremonial law, which required that all participants in the feast be purified of uncleanness (Num. 9:6). Hezekiah understood that the purification of the heart, not merely ceremonial cleansing, is the root of true worship. Therefore, he prayed for God to pardon the transgression of the ceremonial law.

30:22 comfortably. Literally, "from the heart."

30:27 At the conclusion of the feast, the priests called upon God to bless the people, and God heard their prayer from heaven (his holy dwelling place), as Solomon had asked long before (6:21).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 30

1. Just as King Hezekiah sent messengers throughout all Israel to call people to turn back to God, so the Lord Jesus, King of heaven and earth, sent messengers into all nations to call people to repent and become His disciples (Matt. 28:18–20; Luke 24:44–49). Hezekiah called them to celebrate the Passover, but Christ is our Passover, the Lamb of God whose blood saves sinners from the wrath to come (John 1:29; 1 Cor. 5:7). Missions and evangelism is a matter of obedience to our King. Let us therefore not be lacking in this great effort, nor let us be discouraged because many mock and scorn the message. Who can you be in fervent prayer for, that the hand of the Lord would be with them, and that by His grace many will turn to the Lord?
2. Just as Hezekiah asked God to overlook the ceremonial uncleanness of some of the people eating the Passover, so Christ intercedes for His people that God will pardon the sins that mar their sincere worship. Breaking the ceremonial law required God's forgiveness (v. 18), so how much more do we need His forgiveness for our violations of the moral law. However, the Lord is pleased to forgive such faults by the intercession of His Son if our hearts sincerely seek Him. How does this encourage the repentant sinner? How does it warn the hypocrite?

Chapter 31: Hezekiah organizes the priests for religious worship in the temple.

31:1 all Israel. Again emphasizing how Hezekiah's leadership reached beyond Judah (30:1,6). groves. Asherah poles (see note at 14:3). The renewal of worship in the Passover led to reformation throughout the land.

31:2 courses. Appointed times. Hezekiah was concerned with establishing a permanent pattern of temple worship, not just celebrating the Passover feast.

31:3 king's portion. The Mosaic law did not command kings to give of their own wealth, but Hezekiah was following in the steps of both David and Solomon who committed their wealth to the house of the Lord (1 Chron. 29:2–5). to wit. That is. written in the law. Obedience is crucial for God-pleasing worship.

31:4 encouraged in the law. The people were to give to help provide for the Levites, so that they might be freed to fulfill their calling to study the Law and teach it to the people (Mal. 2:7; 1 Cor. 9:13–14; Gal. 6:6).

31:5 firstfruits. As commanded in Num. 18:12–13. tithe. As commanded in Num. 18:21.

31:11–16 Hezekiah appointed priests to care for the continual offering of the sacrifices.

31:20 wrought. Worked.

31:21 to seek his God, he did it with all his heart, and prospered. The wholehearted pursuit of God is the only path to blessing (Matt. 6:33).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 31

1. The renewal of worship that God worked through Hezekiah was not just one big event, but a transformation that overthrew idolatry in the ordinary lives of the people and made them zealous to support true worship, to the joy of their leaders. Real revival is not just a big meeting with a lot of excitement, but a Spirit-worked transformation that touches the home life and finances. Pray for such revival in your nation and in every nation.

2. Hezekiah gave much attention to making sure the ministers of the temple were provided for and organized. Christ also has given instructions for the ministers of His church, so that they can be freed from the necessity of providing for their families to focus their time and energy on the work of the ministry. Why is it important for churches to care for the physical and financial needs of their pastors?

Chapter 32: Sennacherib attacks Judah and blasphemes God, but God delivers Judah.

32:1 Sennacherib. King of Assyria, known for great conquests of surrounding nations. win them for himself. The northern tribes were already exiled and there was an imminent threat to Judah as well.

32:3 without. Outside.

32:7 Be strong and courageous. Common charge to God's people (Josh. 1:6,9; 1 Chron. 19:13; 28:10,20).

32:8 rested themselves. Relied or leaned, an expression for faith in God's promises (for the same idea using a different Hebrew word, see 13:18; 14:11; 16:7–8).

32:9 Lachish. Important city of military strength (Mic. 1:13). A blow to Judah's confidence.

32:17 wrote also letters. This was a mounting verbal attack against God and an attempt to prevent Judah from relying on God. rail. Insult.

32:18 Jews' speech. Spoken in their language, the terms of surrender were not directed to the leaders only but meant to terrify (affright) the whole city.

32:19 work of the hands of man. Assyrians said that God is nothing more than a man-made idol.

32:20 Hezekiah . . . Isaiah. The king and prophet are joined together in crying out to the Lord for deliverance. Trusting in the Lord (vv. 7–8) leads people to earnestly pray to God.

32:21–22 sent an angel. One mighty act of God laid waste to the Assyrians (2 Kings 19:35). they . . . of his own bowels slew him. His sons killed him (2 Kings 19:37). Sennacherib had insulted the Lord (vv. 16–17), but it was Sennacherib who was put to shame (Isa. 37:21–23). His murder in the temple of his god proves how powerless idols are to save their worshipers, but the LORD saved His people, for victory belongs to Him alone. on every side. From all their enemies.

32:23 magnified. God exalted His anointed king before all the peoples. Through humiliation comes exaltation.

32:25–26 rendered not again according to the benefit. He did not respond to God's mercy with humble gratitude (Ps. 116:12). his heart was lifted up. Prosperity led to Hezekiah's pride. the wrath of the LORD. The exile was imminent, but because of Hezekiah's repentance, it would not happen in his life.

32:27–30 The latter part of Hezekiah's reign was marked by prosperity, pride, and chastisement.

32:27 manner. Kind, sort.

32:28 cotes. Small shelters for birds or livestock.

32:31 God left him, to try him. God withdrew some of His grace from Hezekiah to test his heart. Left to himself, Hezekiah proudly boasted of his treasures to the ambassadors from Babylon, and the Lord revealed that his treasures and sons would be taken away to Babylon (2 Kings 20:12–18).

32:33 stead. Place.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 32

1. The people “rested” upon the words of Hezekiah (v. 8). They leaned the weight of their fears and futures in the promises of God. What strength God’s promises prove to be to those who lean the weight of their lives on them! Apart from His grace, we will quickly slip into pride and destruction (vv. 25,31). We must therefore earnestly seek His grace for everything and give Him thanks for every good gift, because apart from Christ we can do nothing, but in Him we can do many good things (John 15:5).
2. Sennacherib sent his servants to Judah to mock the God of Judah, but God will not be mocked (Gal. 6:7). God struck the king down by the hand of his own sons in the house of his own idol (2 Chron. 32:21), showing His sovereignty over everyone everywhere. How is this a warning to all who mock God and trust in the resources and idols of man?

Chapter 33: Manasseh’s reign is divided into a time of wicked idolatry and a time of auspicious repentance.

Manasseh’s Idolatry and Repentance (2 Chron. 33:1–20)

33:1–5 Manasseh desecrated the worship of God and therefore did evil in the sight of the LORD.

33:6 pass through the fire. Child sacrifice was forbidden in the Mosaic law (see 28:3). familiar spirit. A medium, someone who consults a demonic spirit.

33:9 made Judah . . . to err. Manasseh’s sin is the sin of the people and his apostasy the apostasy of the people. worse than the heathen. The king actually led Judah into greater depths of idolatry and depravity than the Canaanites whom God obliterated for their sins (Gen. 15:16; Deut. 9:5). The nation was ripe for judgment (Lev. 18:24–28; 20:22–23).

33:10 hearken. Listen.

33:11 among the thorns. With hooks, as captives were cruelly led (cf. Isa. 37:29). fetters. Chains.

33:12 besought. Prayed for mercy (2 Kings 13:4).

33:13 knew that the LORD he was GOD. The Lord’s discipline and salvation of Manasseh brought him to an experiential knowledge of God’s unique sovereignty.

33:14 without. Outside. compassed about. Surrounded.

33:15–17 took away . . . cast them out . . . repaired . . . sacrificed . . . commanded. Manasseh’s repentance of mind was evidenced in a thorough change of action (Acts 26:20). strange. Foreign.

33:20 stead. Place.

Amon’s Idolatry (2 Chron. 33:21–25)

33:21–25 A short summary of Amon’s wicked reign.

33:22–23 Sadly, Amon followed his father’s former idolatry but not his later humility. The sins of parents may have great consequences upon their family even after the parents repent, as the life of David shows.

33:24 his servants conspired against him. His assassination revealed the disloyalty and disunity that often characterizes an unjust regime (24:25; 25:27; 32:21).

33:25 stead. Place.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 33

Manasseh gives us a model of a sinner's repentance. Affliction often serves God's providence to bring down the proud (v. 11). The proper response to outward humiliation is inward humiliation with earnest prayer to God based upon His covenant promises (v. 12). God is amazingly patient and kind and willingly saves sinners who turn to Him in repentance, so that they know by experience that He is the Lord (v. 13). True repentance results in putting old patterns of sin to death (v. 15) and establishing new habits of obedience (v. 16), especially with regard to what one worships and serves. Reflect upon this model. How has God used affliction to bring you to an end of yourself? How have you responded to affliction and conviction of sin? Have you experienced the salvation and lordship of God? How has your lifestyle changed as a result?

Josiah's Righteous Reign (2 Chron. 34:1—35:27)

Chapter 34: Josiah's reign is marked by a recovery of the law of Moses, a reading of the Law to the people, and a renewal of the covenant.

34:2 declined. Turned aside, an idiomatic phrase showing Josiah's devotion to the Lord (Deut. 17:20; 28:14; Josh. 1:7).

34:3 groves. Asherah poles (see 14:3).

34:4–5 Josiah burnt the images to symbolize the absolute destruction of idolaters under God's wrath and burnt the bones of the priests upon their altars to make the places of pagan worship unclean. strowed. Sprinkled.

34:6 mattocks. Implements like axes or plough shears.

34:11 artificers. Craftsmen. hewn. Shaped by cutting.

34:12 set it forward. Oversee it. all that could skill. Everyone who had understanding or skill.

34:19 rent his clothes. Tore his clothes, a sign of mourning.

34:21 Israel and Judah were suffering the wrath of the LORD because they failed to keep the word of the LORD.

34:22 Huldah the prophetess. Nothing more is known of her other than what is written here. college. Literally, "second," probably the second quarter of Jerusalem.

34:23–25 The first oracle was one of judgment: the curses . . . written in the book (Deut. 28:15–68).

34:26–28 The second oracle was one of salvation. Josiah would die in peace before the judgment came because his heart was not hard (36:13) but soft (tender) to the Word of God and he humbled himself with grief over sin (Isa. 66:2; Ezek. 9:4).

34:30–31 made a covenant. Publically renewed his commitment to keep the covenant that the Lord had made and written in His book (see note at 15:12). with all his heart, and with all his soul. In complete love for the Lord, as His law commands (Deut. 4:29; 6:5; 10:12; 11:13; 26:16; 30:2,6,10).

34:32 caused all . . . to stand to it. Josiah led the people to commit themselves to the covenant.

34:33 present. Found.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 34

1. Josiah did these things when he was very young (vv.1,3,8). God does not care whether you are young or old; the Lord looks at the heart. Do you have a heart like Josiah? His heart was soft to God's Word, so that he grieved deeply and humbled himself over his sins and the sins of his people

(v. 27). His heart was also fully engaged to pursue the Lord and keep His commandments (v. 31). You may not be a king, but if you follow God with your whole heart, who can tell how God will use you for His glory?

2. Josiah had a burden that the whole nation would hear God's Word and walk in God's ways. It is a mark of God's work in our hearts when we want others to know God's truth and experience the grace He has shown to us. How big is your heart for others? How are you using the calling and influence God has given to you to engage other people for the kingdom of God?

Chapter 35: Like Hezekiah, Josiah keeps the Passover, after which he dies an untimely death in a battle at Megiddo.

35:1 Again, the keeping of the passover marked the devotion of a godly king (ch. 30).

35:2 charges. Priestly duties and responsibilities.

35:3 Put the holy ark in the house. There is no record that the ark was ever removed from the temple, but it is possible it was removed during the time of Manasseh or Amon (33:7). not be a burden. The priests no longer needed to carry the ark, for it rested in the temple (1 Chron. 28:2).

35:4 courses. Divisions. The priests were divided into different groups according to their ministries.

35:8 willingly. Not under compulsion.

35:11–19 Details on how the people kept the Passover.

35:11 flayed. Skinned.

35:13 sod. Boiled.

35:20 The Egyptian forces of Necho were going up to fight against Babylon at Carchemish by the river Euphrates (2 Kings 23:29).

35:22 disguised himself. A similar tactic to that of Ahab, with similar results (18:29,33–34). from the mouth of God. Surprisingly, God spoke through the pagan king, but Josiah would not listen (hearkened not). Like Amaziah, he proudly engaged an enemy too great for him without due cause (25:17–24).

35:23 sore. Severely.

35:24 he died. Josiah was cut off in his prime, not yet being forty years old (34:1).

35:25 Jeremiah. The prophet (36:12; Jer. 1:2; 25:2–3).

35:26 his goodness. Literally, "his acts of faithful love."

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 35

1. Josiah led Judah to celebrate the Passover in a grand manner. It was a glorious remembrance of how God redeemed Israel through the blood of the lamb. Josiah directed them to keep it in accordance with the law of Moses (vv. 6,11) and the writings of David, Solomon, and the prophets (vv. 4,15). In a similar though far greater way, the Lord Jesus leads His people to remember His body and blood by which He redeemed them and to worship God according to the commands of the new covenant. Worshiping God and celebrating the Lord's Supper according to the principles of Scripture is obedience to our King. Why does Christ, as the king of His church, care so much about its worship?
2. Josiah came to a very untimely end. The godly among Judah were crushed to see this good king slain at an early age (vv. 24–25). After his death, the kingdom rapidly declined (ch. 36). How could this happen? On the divine level, God had ordained his death. However, on a human level, he died because he thrust himself into a battle that did not belong to him. Scripture warns that meddling in strife that does not belong to us can have tragic results (Prov. 26:17). How did Josiah make this mistake? How can we avoid it?

Chapter 36: The final kings of Judah follow in rapid succession, giving way to the threatened exile, but God later restores the people to the land and temple through Cyrus.

KINGDOM DESTROYED (2 CHRON. 36:1–23)

King Jehoahaz (2 Chron. 36:1–3)

36:1 stead. Place.

36:3 condemned the land. Egypt imposed a tribute on Judah which would later foster a rebellion.

King Jehoiakim (2 Chron. 36:4–8)

36:4 Eliakim. A vassal king under the command of the king of Egypt. Jehoahaz was taken into exile, perhaps for not submitting to Egypt's wishes.

36:6 Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. First mention of the man who took Judah into exile in stages. fetters. Chains.

36:7 vessels. Treasures of the temple.

36:8 stead. Place.

King Jehoiachin (2 Chron. 36:9–10)

36:10 Zedekiah his brother. Another vassal king set up under Babylon's domain.

King Zedekiah (2 Chron. 36:11–16)

36:12 Jeremiah. The prophet (35:25) whose words to Zedekiah are written in the book named after him (Jer. 27:1–15).

36:13 rebelled. Perhaps for economic or political reasons, though God's sovereignty was at work to bring about Judah's exile. Babylon had no tolerance for unfaithful vassal kings. stiffened his neck. The king of Judah became stubborn and refused to listen; his hard heart contrasts with Josiah (34:27).

36:15 betimes. Literally, "early," an idiom for urgency and determination.

36:16 no remedy. No cure but exile. God in His compassion sent the exile in increments to allow for the preaching of repentance, but the people would not turn.

Jerusalem Conquered (2 Chron. 36:17–21)

36:17–20 Chronicles records the destruction of Jerusalem, the burning of the temple, and the exile of the people (586 BC). Those who were not killed by the assault were taken away as captives.

36:21 by the mouth of Jeremiah. The prophet had announced the length of exile beforehand (Jer. 25:11–12; 29:10). kept sabbath. The exile gave the land its neglected sabbatical rests that Israel should have observed every seven years (Lev. 25:1–7; 26:34–35). threescore and ten. Seventy.

Cyrus's Proclamation (2 Chron. 36:22–23)

36:22–23 Cyrus king of Persia conquered the Babylonian Empire and issued a decree to allow the people to return to the Promised Land. build him an house. The purpose of the return from exile focused on the rebuilding of the temple in Jerusalem. These two verses are repeated in Ezra 1:1–2, which takes up the history of the postexilic period.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 36

1. The words, "they burnt the house of God" (v. 19) must have been like a flaming brand pressed into the hearts of God's people. It must have felt like God's promise to David was revoked forever (1 Chron. 17:12). However, God was keeping His Word, for He had told Solomon that if the king and the people turned away from the Lord to other gods, He would make His people into exiles and His house into a horror (2 Chron. 7:19–22). God's judgments prove His faithfulness and call us to hope in His promises of restoration, which He will fulfill in His timing by His sovereignty over all nations (36:21–23). Do you wholeheartedly believe in both God's promises of grace and His threats of wrath? How can you order your life accordingly?
2. The end of the monarchy must have raised questions in the minds of believers. How would God fulfill His covenant with David? Chronicles encourages us to hope in a righteous son of David. How could God keep His promises if the people were so guilty and hardened in sin? The Lord must provide satisfaction for sin and a transformed heart. How would the kingdom come if Israel lived under foreign domination? It must come first as a spiritual kingdom, not like the kingdoms of this world but composed of true worshipers. All these questions and answers point to Jesus Christ and His life, death, resurrection, ascension, and pouring out of the Spirit. Worship our Lord for His faithfulness to His promises!
3. The last verse of Chronicles must have greatly encouraged Israel after it returned from exile: "Who is there among you of all his people? The LORD his God be with him, and let him go up" (v. 23). God's people are not to brood passively over the sorrows of the past, but to press on in the building of God's temple for His glory. This is a call that rings down through the ages. God's judgments fall upon the nations, but the church continues its mission to build a living temple where God dwells by the Spirit, and Christ is with us to the end of the age. How can this encourage you as you seek to build the kingdom today? (See Phil. 3:13–14.)

Repentance

Repentance is a grace of God's Spirit whereby a sinner is inwardly humbled and visibly reformed. In Adam all suffered shipwreck; repentance is the only plank by which we may swim to heaven. It is a grace required under the gospel. The first sermon Christ preached—indeed, the very first word of His sermon—was "Repent" (Matt. 4:17). This was also His farewell message, which He commanded to be proclaimed in all the earth (Luke 24:47). Repentance was what the apostles went out to preach (Mark 6:12). God Himself commands all men everywhere to repent (Matt. 3:2; Acts 3:19; 8:22; 17:30; cf. Heb. 6:1).

Though faith is wrought first in the heart, doubtless repentance shows itself first in the Christian's life. Repentance is not a legal terror, for there may be terror of punishment without a change of heart. Further, repentance is not only resolution against sin (Jer. 2:20; cf. Rev. 6:8). True repentance for sin is present when the acts of sin cease because of the infusion of a principle of grace by the Spirit, just as the air ceases to be dark because of the infusion of light.

Repentance is a spiritual medicine composed of six ingredients. First, repentance involves a sight of sin, wherein a man comes to himself (Luke 15:17), recognizing what his sin is and what he himself is before a holy God. This causes him to cry with the prophet, "Woe is me! for I am undone" (Isa. 6:5).

Second, repentance consists of sorrow for sin. This is the embittering of the soul to the extent that it is crucified in sorrow (cf. Zech. 12:10; Luke 7:38). Such sorrow of the heart runs out of the eyes with bitter tears of holy agony (Ezra 9:3; Ps. 51:17; Isa. 22:12; Jer. 31:19; Joel 2:13; Luke 18:13). In such tears sin must drown or the soul will burn. Those who mourn after a godly manner are then comforted (Matt. 5:4; 2 Cor. 7:9).

Third, repentance includes confession of sin (Neh. 9:2; Hos. 5:15). This confession is self-accusing (2 Sam. 24:17; cf. Neh. 9:33), voluntary (Luke 15:18), with compunction (Ps. 38:4), and sincere (Luke 18:10–14) and includes a resolution not to act in sin again (Prov. 28:13; Isa. 1:16; Ezek. 18:21). This confession purges out sin and endears Christ to the soul (Rom. 7:25). Thereby is the way made clear for pardon (2 Sam. 12:13; 1 John 1:9).

Fourth, repentance includes shame for sin (Ezek. 43:10). When the heart has been made black by sin, grace makes the face red from blushing (Ezra 9:6; cf. Luke 15:21). This holy embarrassment is due to the recognition of sin's many distresses, among them its guiltiness, its abuse of Christ, and its corrupting power, its folly, and its extent.

Fifth, repentance necessitates a hatred of sin (Ezek. 36:31). A true penitent is a sin-loather (Zech. 3:4–5). Further, he hates not just one sin but all sin (Ps. 119:104); indeed, he spurns sin in any form. He hates sin not only for hell but as hell.

Sixth, repentance works a turning from sin. This turning is from all sin (Isa. 55:7) fully unto God (Acts 26:20). As a ship going east is turned west by the wind, a man who was bent hellward before the contrary wind of the Spirit began to blow on him turns his course in repentance and is caused to sail heavenward. This turning is called a forsaking of sin (Isa. 55:7), a putting of sin far away (Job 11:14), and a dying to sin (Rom. 6:2). This is a whole-souled turning: the eye turns from impure glances, the ear from hearing slanders, the tongue from abusive speech, the hands from all evil, the feet from the path of the prostitute, and the soul from the love of wickedness.

There is no rowing to paradise except upon this stream of repentant tears. How earnestly does God call upon men to turn to Him? He swears, "As I live . . . I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked . . . turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways" (Ezek. 33:11). God would rather have our repenting tears than our blood. If we turn to God, He will turn to us (Zech. 1:3); He will turn His anger from us and His face toward us. Then all things, both mercies and afflictions, will turn to our good; we will taste honey at the end of the rod.

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOK OF

EZRA

Authorship

When considering the authorship of Ezra, it is necessary to examine the unity between Ezra, Nehemiah, and Chronicles. Ezra and Nehemiah cover an overlapping time frame, and Ezra, Nehemiah, and Chronicles have many similar themes. Understanding their relationship to each other helps to determine the original author or compiler of the books.

The closest relationship exists between Ezra and Nehemiah. Throughout much of history, these books were taken together and appear in some manuscripts as a single composition. Clearly, both books include memoirs of Ezra and Nehemiah respectively. However, at some early point, the books appeared together, and this continued into the early centuries when, for instance, Jerome made a formal distinction between them in his Latin translation of the Bible, the Vulgate. The first Hebrew manuscript to divide them is from AD 1448. What seems most likely is that Ezra and Nehemiah composed their own accounts of what they witnessed during their ministries. One of them or perhaps a third person put their records together filling out the history of the events after the exile.

Further, the authorship of Ezra/Nehemiah has been long attributed to the author of Chronicles. One notes that there is a strong historical continuity as Chronicles ends where Ezra begins. There are also strong linguistic and theological similarities between these books. The Talmud and the popular academic consensus is that Ezra was the author of 1 and 2 Chronicles and Ezra/Nehemiah. Other scholars argue that there is not necessarily a common author, but a common editor or compiler of the books, while some believe they were written and edited by different people.

It is worth observing that much of Ezra and Nehemiah are written in the first person. This means, by first glance, that it would appear likely that large sections of these books were written by the men whose names they bear. This does not exclude the idea of a common compiler, however, who may have had access to these personal memoirs.

Thus, we cannot discern whether the books had a single author despite all the connections. The best solution is that Ezra, one of his close affiliates, or a group of editors and compilers associated with Ezra and Nehemiah put these books together, organizing their material into a unified whole. There are certainly strong connections between Ezra/Nehemiah and Chronicles, but nothing substantial can be definitively ascertained.

Ezra's name likely means "God helps," and he was a priest and scribe (7:11). He was esteemed by Artaxerxes I and sent back to Jerusalem. Ezra, being a priest, and according to some Jewish sources a high priest, reintroduced the Torah to the postexilic people and sought to reform the religious worship of the Jews. Ezra "prepared his heart to seek the law of the LORD, and to do it, and to teach in Israel statutes and judgments" (v. 10).

Date

The books of Ezra and Nehemiah cover the years from 538 to 433 BC, and the material in them was written likely during this time or shortly afterward (538–400 BC). The broader historical setting of Ezra/Nehemiah is important. Cyrus II of Persia, commonly known as Cyrus the Great, founded the so-called Achaemenid Empire. After defeating the Median and Lydian Empires, Cyrus moved to take the neo-Babylonian Empire, which he did (539 BC). Persia reigned supreme for the next two centuries until Alexander the Great (356–323 BC) overthrew them after a series of battles—most notably the Battle of Issus (333 BC) and the Battle of Gaugamela (331 BC).

Theme

God’s faithfulness to His Word as shown in returning His people—physically to His land, ceremonially to His worship, and spiritually to His laws.

Purpose

The purpose of Ezra and Nehemiah is to exalt God over the nations as He providentially and sovereignly brings His people back from exile. As such, Ezra and Nehemiah show how God brings His people back to His covenant, gathers them around a rebuilt temple, and effects a heartfelt rededication to Him. Simultaneously, however, this book shows that the mere physical return was not sufficient as the people still needed the work of someone greater than Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah, namely, Jesus Christ.

Synopsis

The Contribution of Ezra to Redemptive Revelation

The book of Ezra traces the rebuilding of the temple (chs. 1–6) and the initial ministry of Ezra (chs. 7–10). The book opens where 2 Chronicles ended with the decree of Cyrus, king of Persia, allowing Jewish exiles to return to Jerusalem after many decades of being in exile (1:1). The book moves through two main time periods. The first period is the time of Sheshbazzar and Zerubbabel when a small band of exiles returned from Babylon with them (chs. 1–2). These exiles returned to Judea living in their own towns (2:70).

When Zerubbabel and the exiles returned to Jerusalem, their first order of business was to construct the sacrificial altar (3:2) and to commence with the sacrifices that had been neglected after the destruction of the temple by the Babylonians. Following the building of the altar, there is a large building project undertaken by the Jews to rebuild the temple, starting first with laying down the foundation (v. 10).

After the building of the foundation, however, the people experience opposition from their adversaries who desired to prevent the building of the temple (4:4–6). Due to fallacious reports and scandalous reports by the adversaries, king Artaxerxes ordered that the building of the temple be ceased (v. 21). This law was in effect for nearly twenty years until the second year of king Darius of Persia, who permitted the exiles to finish building the temple (6:12).

Fast-forward to the second main time period about sixty years later when Ezra the son of Seraiah left Babylon with a large group of exiles for Jerusalem (7:1–6). As Ezra and the Jews made their way to Jerusalem, they were given the riches and wealth of the temple to bring back to Jerusalem. After some initial genealogies and lists, we find Ezra leading the people in repentance for the intermarriages. We see the people repenting of their sins and confessing their sins before the Lord (ch. 10).

Ezra 1 [†]

1 [†] Now in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, that the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled, the Lord stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and put it also in writing, saying,
2 [†] Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, The Lord God of heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the earth; and he hath charged me to build him an house at Jerusalem, which is in Judah.
3 Who is there among you of all his people? his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem, which is in Judah, and build the house of the Lord God of Israel, (he is the God,) which is in Jerusalem.
4 And whosoever remaineth in any place where he sojourneth, let the men of his place help him with silver, and with gold, and with goods, and with beasts, beside the freewill offering for the house of God that is in Jerusalem.
5 [†] ¶ Then rose up the chief of the fathers of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests, and the Levites, with all them whose spirit God had raised, to go up to build the house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem.
6 [†] And all they that were about them strengthened their hands with vessels of silver, with gold, with goods, and with beasts, and with precious things, beside all that was willingly offered.
7 ¶ Also Cyrus the king brought forth the vessels of the house of the Lord, which Nebuchadnezzar had brought forth out of Jerusalem, and had put them in the house of his gods;
8 [†] Even those did Cyrus king of Persia bring forth by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and numbered them unto Sheshbazzar, the prince of Judah.
9 [†] And this is the number of them: thirty chargers of gold, a thousand chargers of silver, nine and twenty knives,
10 Thirty basons of gold, silver basons of a second sort four hundred and ten, and other vessels a thousand.
11 All the vessels of gold and of silver were five thousand and four hundred. All these did Sheshbazzar bring up with them of the captivity that were brought up from Babylon unto Jerusalem.

Ezra 2 [†]

1 [†] Now these are the children of the province that went up out of the captivity, of those which had been carried away, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away unto Babylon, and came again unto Jerusalem and Judah, every one unto his city;
2 Which came with Zerubbabel: Jeshua, Nehemiah, Seraiah, Reelaiah, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispar, Bigvai, Rehum, Baanah. The number of the men of the people of Israel:
3 [†] The children of Parosh, two thousand an hundred seventy and two.
4 The children of Shephatiah, three hundred seventy and two.
5 The children of Arah, seven hundred seventy and five.
6 The children of Pahath-moab, of the children of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand eight hundred and twelve.
7 The children of Elam, a thousand two hundred fifty and four.
8 The children of Zattu, nine hundred forty and five.
9 The children of Zaccai, seven hundred and threescore.
10 The children of Bani, six hundred forty and two.
11 The children of Bebai, six hundred twenty and three.
12 The children of Azgad, a thousand two hundred twenty and two.
13 The children of Adonikam, six hundred sixty and six.
14 The children of Bigvai, two thousand fifty and six.
15 The children of Adin, four hundred fifty and four.
16 The children of Ater of Hezekiah, ninety and eight.
17 The children of Bezai, three hundred twenty and three.
18 The children of Jorah, an hundred and twelve.
19 The children of Hashum, two hundred twenty and three.
20 The children of Gibbar, ninety and five.
21 [†] The children of Beth-lehem, an hundred twenty and three.
22 The men of Netophah, fifty and six.
23 The men of Anathoth, an hundred twenty and eight.
24 The children of Azmaveth, forty and two.
25 The children of Kirjath-arim, Chephirah, and Beeroth, seven hundred and forty and three.
26 The children of Ramah and Gaba, six hundred twenty and one.
27 The men of Michmas, an hundred twenty and two.
28 The men of Beth-el and Ai, two hundred twenty and three.
29 The children of Nebo, fifty and two.
30 The children of Magbish, an hundred fifty and six.
31 The children of the other Elam, a thousand two hundred fifty and four.
32 The children of Harim, three hundred and twenty.
33 The children of Lod, Hadid, and Ono, seven hundred twenty and five.
34 The children of Jericho, three hundred forty and five.
35 The children of Senaah, three thousand and six hundred and thirty.
36 [†] ¶ The priests: the children of Jedaiah, of the house of Jeshua, nine hundred seventy and three.
37 The children of Immer, a thousand fifty and two.
38 The children of Pashur, a thousand two hundred forty and seven.
39 The children of Harim, a thousand and seventeen.
40 [†] ¶ The Levites: the children of Jeshua and Kadmiel, of the children of Hodaviah, seventy and four.

41 ¶ The singers: the children of Asaph, an hundred twenty and eight.
42 ¶ The children of the porters: the children of Shallum, the children of Ater, the children of Talmon, the children of Akkub, the children of Hatita, the children of Shobai, in all an hundred thirty and nine.
43 [†] ¶ The Nethinims: the children of Ziha, the children of Hasupha, the children of Tabbaoth,
44 The children of Keros, the children of Siaha, the children of Padon,
45 The children of Lebanah, the children of Hagabah, the children of Akkub,
46 The children of Hagab, the children of Shalmai, the children of Hanan,
47 The children of Giddel, the children of Gahar, the children of Reaiah,
48 The children of Rezin, the children of Nekoda, the children of Gazzam,
49 The children of Uzza, the children of Paseah, the children of Besai,
50 The children of Asnah, the children of Mehunim, the children of Nephusim,
51 The children of Bakbuk, the children of Hakupha, the children of Harhur,
52 The children of Bazluth, the children of Mehida, the children of Harsha,
53 The children of Barkos, the children of Sisera, the children of Thamah,
54 The children of Neziah, the children of Hatipha.
55 [†] ¶ The children of Solomon's servants: the children of Sotai, the children of Sophereth, the children of Peruda,
56 The children of Jaalah, the children of Darkon, the children of Giddel,
57 The children of Shephatiah, the children of Hattil, the children of Pochereth of Zebaim, the children of Ami.
58 All the Nethinims, and the children of Solomon's servants, were three hundred ninety and two.
59 [†] And these were they which went up from Tel-melah, Tel-harsa, Cherub, Addan, and Immer: but they could not shew their father's house, and their seed, whether they were of Israel:
60 The children of Delaiah, the children of Tobiah, the children of Nekoda, six hundred fifty and two.
61 ¶ And of the children of the priests: the children of Habaiah, the children of Koz, the children of Barzillai; which took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite, and was called after their name:
62 These sought their register among those that were reckoned by genealogy, but they were not found: therefore were they, as polluted, put from the priesthood.
63 [†] And the Tirshatha said unto them, that they should not eat of the most holy things, till there stood up a priest with Urim and with Thummim.
64 ¶ The whole congregation together was forty and two thousand three hundred and threescore,
65 [†] Beside their servants and their maids, of whom there were seven thousand three hundred thirty and seven: and there were among them two hundred singing men and singing women.
66 Their horses were seven hundred thirty and six; their mules, two hundred forty and five;
67 Their camels, four hundred thirty and five; their asses, six thousand seven hundred and twenty.
68 ¶ And some of the chief of the fathers, when they came to the house of the LORD which is at Jerusalem, offered freely for the house of God to set it up in his place:
69 [†] They gave after their ability unto the treasure of the work threescore and one thousand drams of gold, and five thousand pound of silver, and one hundred priests' garments.
70 So the priests, and the Levites, and some of the people, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims, dwelt in their cities, and all Israel in their cities.

Ezra 3 [†]

1 [†] And when the seventh month was come, and the children of Israel were in the cities, the people gathered themselves together as one man to Jerusalem.
2 [†] Then stood up Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and his brethren the priests, and Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and his brethren, and builded the altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings thereon, as it is written in the law of Moses the man of God.
3 [†] And they set the altar upon his bases; for fear was upon them because of the people of those countries: and they offered burnt offerings thereon unto the Lord, even burnt offerings morning and evening.
4 [†] They kept also the feast of tabernacles, as it is written, and offered the daily burnt offerings by number, according to the custom, as the duty of every day required;
5 And afterward offered the continual burnt offering, both of the new moons, and of all the set feasts of the Lord that were consecrated, and of every one that willingly offered a freewill offering unto the Lord.
6 From the first day of the seventh month began they to offer burnt offerings unto the Lord. But the foundation of the temple of the Lord was not yet laid.
7 [†] They gave money also unto the masons, and to the carpenters; and meat, and drink, and oil, unto them of Zidon, and to them of Tyre, to bring cedar trees from Lebanon to the sea of Joppa, according to the grant that they had of Cyrus king of Persia.
8 [†] ¶ Now in the second year of their coming unto the house of God at Jerusalem, in the second month, began Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and the remnant of their brethren the priests and the Levites, and all they that were come out of the captivity unto Jerusalem; and appointed the Levites, from twenty years old and upward, to set forward the work of the house of the Lord.
9 [†] Then stood Jeshua with his sons and his brethren, Kadmiel and his sons, the sons of Judah, together, to set forward the workmen in the house of God: the sons of Henadad, with their sons and their brethren the Levites.
10 [†] And when the builders laid the foundation of the temple of the Lord, they set the priests in their apparel with trumpets, and the Levites the sons of Asaph with cymbals, to praise the Lord, after the ordinance of David king of Israel.
11 [†] And they sang together by course in praising and giving thanks unto the Lord; because he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever toward Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shout, when they praised the Lord, because the foundation of the house of the Lord was laid.
12 [†] But many of the priests and Levites and chief of the fathers, who were ancient men, that had seen the first house, when the foundation of this house was laid before their eyes, wept with a loud voice; and many shouted aloud for joy:
13 [†] So that the people could not discern the noise of the shout of joy from the noise of the weeping of the people: for the people shouted with a loud shout, and the noise was heard afar off.

Ezra 4 [†]

1 [†] Now when the adversaries of Judah and Benjamin heard that the children of the captivity builded the temple unto the Lord God of Israel;
2 Then they came to Zerubbabel, and to the chief of the fathers, and said unto them, Let us build with you: for we seek your God, as ye do; and we do sacrifice unto him since the days of Esarhaddon king of Assur, which brought us up hither.
3 [†] But Zerubbabel, and Jeshua, and the rest of the chief of the fathers of Israel, said unto them, Ye have nothing to do with us to build an house unto our God; but we ourselves together will build unto the Lord God of Israel, as king Cyrus the king of Persia hath commanded us.
4 Then the people of the land weakened the hands of the people of Judah, and troubled them in building,
5 And hired counsellors against them, to frustrate their purpose, all the days of Cyrus king of Persia, even until the reign of Darius king of Persia.
6 [†] And in the reign of Ahasuerus, in the beginning of his reign, wrote they unto him an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.
7 [†] ¶ And in the days of Artaxerxes wrote Bishlam, Mithredath, Tabeel, and the rest of their companions, unto Artaxerxes king of Persia; and the writing of the letter was written in the Syrian tongue, and interpreted in the Syrian tongue.
8 [†] Rehum the chancellor and Shimshai the scribe wrote a letter against Jerusalem to Artaxerxes the king in this sort:
9 Then wrote Rehum the chancellor, and Shimshai the scribe, and the rest of their companions; the Dinaites, the Apharsathchites, the Tarpelites, the Apharsites, the Archevites, the Babylonians, the Susanchites, the Dehavites, and the Elamites,
10 [†] And the rest of the nations whom the great and noble Asnappar brought over, and set in the cities of Samaria, and the rest that are on this side the river, and at such a time.
11 ¶ This is the copy of the letter that they sent unto him, even unto Artaxerxes the king; Thy servants the men on this side the river, and at such a time.
12 Be it known unto the king, that the Jews which came up from thee to us are come unto Jerusalem, building the rebellious and the bad city, and have set up the walls thereof, and joined the foundations.
13 [†] Be it known now unto the king, that, if this city be builded, and the walls set up again, then will they not pay toll, tribute, and custom, and so thou shalt endamage the revenue of the kings.
14 Now because we have maintenance from the king's palace, and it was not meet for us to see the king's dishonour, therefore have we sent and certified the king;
15 That search may be made in the book of the records of thy fathers: so shalt thou find in the book of the records, and know that this city is a rebellious city, and hurtful unto kings and provinces, and that they have moved sedition within the same of old time: for which cause was this city destroyed.
16 We certify the king that, if this city be builded again, and the walls thereof set up, by this means thou shalt have no portion on this side the river.
17 [†] ¶ Then sent the king an answer unto Rehum the chancellor, and to Shimshai the scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwell in Samaria, and unto the rest beyond the river, Peace, and at such a time.
18 The letter which ye sent unto us hath been plainly read before me.
19 And I commanded, and search hath been made, and it is found that this city of old time hath made insurrection against kings, and that rebellion and sedition have been made therein.
20 There have been mighty kings also over Jerusalem, which have ruled over all countries beyond the river; and toll, tribute, and custom, was paid unto them.

21 [†] Give ye now commandment to cause these men to cease, and that this city be not builded, until another commandment shall be given from me.
22 Take heed now that ye fail not to do this: why should damage grow to the hurt of the kings?
23 ¶ Now when the copy of king Artaxerxes' letter was read before Rehum, and Shimshai the scribe, and their companions, they went up in haste to Jerusalem unto the Jews, and made them to cease by force and power.
24 [†] Then ceased the work of the house of God which is at Jerusalem. So it ceased unto the second year of the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Ezra 5 [†]

1 [†] THEN the prophets, Haggai the prophet, and Zechariah the son of Iddo, prophesied unto the Jews that were in Judah and Jerusalem in the name of the God of Israel, even unto them.
2 [†] Then rose up Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and began to build the house of God which is at Jerusalem: and with them were the prophets of God helping them.
3 ¶ At the same time came to them Tatnai, governor on this side the river, and Shethar-boznai, and their companions, and said thus unto them, Who hath commanded you to build this house, and to make up this wall?
4 [†] Then said we unto them after this manner, What are the names of the men that make this building?
5 [†] But the eye of their God was upon the elders of the Jews, that they could not cause them to cease, till the matter came to Darius: and then they returned answer by letter concerning this matter.
6 ¶ The copy of the letter that Tatnai, governor on this side the river, and Shethar-boznai, and his companions the Apharsachites, which were on this side the river, sent unto Darius the king:
7 They sent a letter unto him, wherein was written thus; Unto Darius the king, all peace.
8 Be it known unto the king, that we went into the province of Judea, to the house of the great God, which is builded with great stones, and timber is laid in the walls, and this work goeth fast on, and prospereth in their hands.
9 Then asked we those elders, and said unto them thus, Who commanded you to build this house, and to make up these walls?
10 We asked their names also, to certify thee, that we might write the names of the men that were the chief of them.
11 And thus they returned us answer, saying, We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and build the house that was builded these many years ago, which a great king of Israel builded and set up.
12 But after that our fathers had provoked the God of heaven unto wrath, he gave them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, the Chaldean, who destroyed this house, and carried the people away into Babylon.
13 [†] But in the first year of Cyrus the king of Babylon the same king Cyrus made a decree to build this house of God.
14 And the vessels also of gold and silver of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took out of the temple that was in Jerusalem, and brought them into the temple of Babylon, those did Cyrus the king take out of the temple of Babylon, and they were delivered unto one, whose name was Sheshbazzar, whom he had made governor;
15 And said unto him, Take these vessels, go, carry them into the temple that is in Jerusalem, and let the house of God be builded in his place.
16 Then came the same Sheshbazzar, and laid the foundation of the house of God which is in Jerusalem: and since that time even until now hath it been in building, and yet it is not finished.
17 Now therefore, if it seem good to the king, let there be search made in the king's treasure house, which is there at Babylon, whether it be so, that a decree was made of Cyrus the king to build this house of God at Jerusalem, and let the king send his pleasure to us concerning this matter.

Ezra 6 [†]

1 [†] Then Darius the king made a decree, and search was made in the house of the rolls, where the treasures were laid up in Babylon.
2 [†] And there was found at Achmetha, in the palace that is in the province of the Medes, a roll, and therein was a record thus written:
3 In the first year of Cyrus the king the same Cyrus the king made a decree concerning the house of God at Jerusalem, Let the house be builded, the place where they offered sacrifices, and let the foundations thereof be strongly laid; the height thereof threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof threescore cubits;
4 With three rows of great stones, and a row of new timber: and let the expenses be given out of the king's house:
5 And also let the golden and silver vessels of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took forth out of the temple which is at Jerusalem, and brought unto Babylon, be restored, and brought again unto the temple which is at Jerusalem, every one to his place, and place them in the house of God.
6 Now therefore, Tatnai, governor beyond the river, Shethar-boznai, and your companions the Apharsachites, which are beyond the river, be ye far from thence:
7 Let the work of this house of God alone; let the governor of the Jews and the elders of the Jews build this house of God in his place.
8 Moreover I make a decree what ye shall do to the elders of these Jews for the building of this house of God: that of the king's goods, even of the tribute beyond the river, forthwith expenses be given unto these men, that they be not hindered.
9 And that which they have need of, both young bullocks, and rams, and lambs, for the burnt offerings of the God of heaven, wheat, salt, wine, and oil, according to the appointment of the priests which are at Jerusalem, let it be given them day by day without fail:
10 That they may offer sacrifices of sweet savours unto the God of heaven, and pray for the life of the king, and of his sons.
11 Also I have made a decree, that whosoever shall alter this word, let timber be pulled down from his house, and being set up, let him be hanged thereon; and let his house be made a dunghill for this.
12 And the God that hath caused his name to dwell there destroy all kings and people, that shall put to their hand to alter and to destroy this house of God which is at Jerusalem. I Darius have made a decree; let it be done with speed.
13 ¶ Then Tatnai, governor on this side the river, Shethar-boznai, and their companions, according to that which Darius the king had sent, so they did speedily.
14 [†] And the elders of the Jews builded, and they prospered through the prophesying of Haggai the prophet and Zechariah the son of Iddo. And they builded, and finished it, according to the commandment of the God of Israel, and according to the commandment of Cyrus, and Darius, and Artaxerxes king of Persia.
15 [†] And this house was finished on the third day of the month Adar, which was in the sixth year of the reign of Darius the king.
16 ¶ And the children of Israel, the priests, and the Levites, and the rest of the children of the captivity, kept the dedication of this house of God with joy,
17 [†] And offered at the dedication of this house of God an hundred bullocks, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs; and for a sin offering for all Israel, twelve he goats, according to the number of the tribes of Israel.
18 [†] And they set the priests in their divisions, and the Levites in their courses, for the service of God, which is at Jerusalem; as it is written in the book of Moses.

19 And the children of the captivity kept the passover upon the fourteenth day of the first month.
20 For the priests and the Levites were purified together, all of them were pure, and killed the passover for all the children of the captivity, and for their brethren the priests, and for themselves.
21 [†] And the children of Israel, which were come again out of captivity, and all such as had separated themselves unto them from the filthiness of the heathen of the land, to seek the LORD God of Israel, did eat,
22 [†] And kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days with joy: for the LORD had made them joyful, and turned the heart of the king of Assyria unto them, to strengthen their hands in the work of the house of God, the God of Israel.

Ezra 7 [†]

1 [†] Now after these things, in the reign of Artaxerxes king of Persia, Ezra the son of Seraiah, the son of Azariah, the son of Hilkiah,
2 The son of Shallum, the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub,
3 The son of Amariah, the son of Azariah, the son of Meraioth,
4 The son of Zerahiah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Bukki,
5 The son of Abishua, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the chief priest:
6 [†] This Ezra went up from Babylon; and he was a ready scribe in the law of Moses, which the Lord God of Israel had given: and the king granted him all his request, according to the hand of the Lord his God upon him.
7 [†] And there went up some of the children of Israel, and of the priests, and the Levites, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims, unto Jerusalem, in the seventh year of Artaxerxes the king.
8 And he came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, which was in the seventh year of the king.
9 For upon the first day of the first month began he to go up from Babylon, and on the first day of the fifth month came he to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of his God upon him.
10 [†] For Ezra had prepared his heart to seek the law of the Lord, and to do it, and to teach in Israel statutes and judgments.
11 ¶ Now this is the copy of the letter that the king Artaxerxes gave unto Ezra the priest, the scribe, even a scribe of the words of the commandments of the Lord, and of his statutes to Israel.
12 [†] Artaxerxes, king of kings, unto Ezra the priest, a scribe of the law of the God of heaven, perfect peace, and at such a time.
13 I make a decree, that all they of the people of Israel, and of his priests and Levites, in my realm, which are minded of their own freewill to go up to Jerusalem, go with thee.
14 [†] Forasmuch as thou art sent of the king, and of his seven counsellors, to enquire concerning Judah and Jerusalem, according to the law of thy God which is in thine hand;
15 And to carry the silver and gold, which the king and his counsellors have freely offered unto the God of Israel, whose habitation is in Jerusalem,
16 And all the silver and gold that thou canst find in all the province of Babylon, with the freewill offering of the people, and of the priests, offering willingly for the house of their God which is in Jerusalem:
17 That thou mayest buy speedily with this money bullocks, rams, lambs, with their meat offerings and their drink offerings, and offer them upon the altar of the house of your God which is in Jerusalem.
18 And whatsoever shall seem good to thee, and to thy brethren, to do with the rest of the silver and the gold, that do after the will of your God.
19 The vessels also that are given thee for the service of the house of thy God, those deliver thou before the God of Jerusalem.
20 And whatsoever more shall be needful for the house of thy God, which thou shalt have occasion to bestow, bestow it out of the king's treasure house.
21 And I, even I Artaxerxes the king, do make a decree to all the treasurers which are beyond the river, that whatsoever Ezra the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of heaven, shall require of you, it be done speedily,
22 [†] Unto an hundred talents of silver, and to an hundred measures of wheat, and to an hundred baths of wine, and to an hundred baths of oil, and salt without prescribing how much.
23 Whatsoever is commanded by the God of heaven, let it be diligently done for the house of the God of heaven: for why should there be wrath against the realm of the king and his sons?

24 [†] Also we certify you, that touching any of the priests and Levites, singers, porters, Nethinims, or ministers of this house of God, it shall not be lawful to impose toll, tribute, or custom, upon them.
25 [†] And thou, Ezra, after the wisdom of thy God, that is in thine hand, set magistrates and judges, which may judge all the people that are beyond the river, all such as know the laws of thy God; and teach ye them that know them not.
26 And whosoever will not do the law of thy God, and the law of the king, let judgment be executed speedily upon him, whether it be unto death, or to banishment, or to confiscation of goods, or to imprisonment.
27 [†] ¶ Blessed be the LORD God of our fathers, which hath put such a thing as this in the king's heart, to beautify the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem:
28 And hath extended mercy unto me before the king, and his counsellors, and before all the king's mighty princes. And I was strengthened as the hand of the LORD my God was upon me, and I gathered together out of Israel chief men to go up with me.

Ezra 8 [†]

1 [†] These are now the chief of their fathers, and this is the genealogy of them that went up with me from Babylon, in the reign of Artaxerxes the king.
2 [†] Of the sons of Phinehas; Gershom: of the sons of Ithamar; Daniel: of the sons of David; Hattush.
3 Of the sons of Shechaniah, of the sons of Pharosh; Zechariah: and with him were reckoned by genealogy of the males an hundred and fifty.
4 Of the sons of Pahath-moab; Elihoenai the son of Zerahiah, and with him two hundred males.
5 Of the sons of Shechaniah; the son of Jahaziel, and with him three hundred males.
6 Of the sons also of Adin; Ebed the son of Jonathan, and with him fifty males.
7 And of the sons of Elam; Jeshaiah the son of Athaliah, and with him seventy males.
8 And of the sons of Shephatiah; Zebadiah the son of Michael, and with him fourscore males.
9 Of the sons of Joab; Obadiah the son of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and eighteen males.
10 And of the sons of Shelomith; the son of Josiphiah, and with him an hundred and threescore males.
11 And of the sons of Bebai; Zechariah the son of Bebai, and with him twenty and eight males.
12 And of the sons of Azgad; Johanan the son of Hakkatan, and with him an hundred and ten males.
13 And of the last sons of Adonikam, whose names are these, Eliphelet, Jeiel, and Shemaiah, and with them threescore males.
14 Of the sons also of Bigvai; Uthai, and Zabbud, and with them seventy males.
15 [†] ¶ And I gathered them together to the river that runneth to Ahava; and there abode we in tents three days: and I viewed the people, and the priests, and found there none of the sons of Levi.
16 Then sent I for Eliezer, for Ariel, for Shemaiah, and for Elnathan, and for Jarib, and for Elnathan, and for Nathan, and for Zechariah, and for Meshullam, chief men; also for Joiarib, and for Elnathan, men of understanding.
17 And I sent them with commandment unto Iddo the chief at the place Casiphia, and I told them what they should say unto Iddo, and to his brethren the Nethinims, at the place Casiphia, that they should bring unto us ministers for the house of our God.
18 And by the good hand of our God upon us they brought us a man of understanding, of the sons of Mahli, the son of Levi, the son of Israel; and Sherebiah, with his sons and his brethren, eighteen;
19 And Hashabiah, and with him Jeshaiah of the sons of Merari, his brethren and their sons, twenty;
20 Also of the Nethinims, whom David and the princes had appointed for the service of the Levites, two hundred and twenty Nethinims: all of them were expressed by name.
21 [†] ¶ Then I proclaimed a fast there, at the river of Ahava, that we might afflict ourselves before our God, to seek of him a right way for us, and for our little ones, and for all our substance.
22 [†] For I was ashamed to require of the king a band of soldiers and horsemen to help us against the enemy in the way: because we had spoken unto the king, saying, The hand of our God is upon all them for good that seek him; but his power and his wrath is against all them that forsake him.
23 [†] So we fasted and besought our God for this: and he was intreated of us.
24 ¶ Then I separated twelve of the chief of the priests, Sherebiah, Hashabiah, and ten of their brethren with them,
25 And weighed unto them the silver, and the gold, and the vessels, even the offering of the house of our God, which the king, and his counsellors, and his lords, and all Israel there present, had offered:
26 I even weighed unto their hand six hundred and fifty talents of silver, and silver vessels an hundred talents, and of gold an hundred talents;
27 [†] Also twenty basons of gold, of a thousand drams; and two vessels of fine copper, precious as gold.

28 And I said unto them, Ye are holy unto the LORD; the vessels are holy also; and the silver and the gold are a freewill offering unto the LORD God of your fathers.
29 Watch ye, and keep them, until ye weigh them before the chief of the priests and the Levites, and chief of the fathers of Israel, at Jerusalem, in the chambers of the house of the LORD.
30 So took the priests and the Levites the weight of the silver, and the gold, and the vessels, to bring them to Jerusalem unto the house of our God.
31 [†] ¶ Then we departed from the river of Ahava on the twelfth day of the first month, to go unto Jerusalem: and the hand of our God was upon us, and he delivered us from the hand of the enemy, and of such as lay in wait by the way.
32 And we came to Jerusalem, and abode there three days.
33 [†] ¶ Now on the fourth day was the silver and the gold and the vessels weighed in the house of our God by the hand of Meremoth the son of Uriah the priest; and with him was Eleazar the son of Phinehas; and with them was Jozabad the son of Jeshua, and Noadiah the son of Binnui, Levites;
34 By number and by weight of every one: and all the weight was written at that time.
35 Also the children of those that had been carried away, which were come out of the captivity, offered burnt offerings unto the God of Israel, twelve bullocks for all Israel, ninety and six rams, seventy and seven lambs, twelve he goats for a sin offering: all this was a burnt offering unto the LORD.
36 ¶ And they delivered the king's commissions unto the king's lieutenants, and to the governors on this side the river: and they furthered the people, and the house of God.

Ezra 9 [†]

1 [†] Now when these things were done, the princes came to me, saying, The people of Israel, and the priests, and the Levites, have not separated themselves from the people of the lands, doing according to their abominations, even of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites.
2 [†] For they have taken of their daughters for themselves, and for their sons: so that the holy seed have mingled themselves with the people of those lands: yea, the hand of the princes and rulers hath been chief in this trespass.
3 And when I heard this thing, I rent my garment and my mantle, and plucked off the hair of my head and of my beard, and sat down astonied.
4 [†] Then were assembled unto me every one that trembled at the words of the God of Israel, because of the transgression of those that had been carried away; and I sat astonied until the evening sacrifice.
5 ¶ And at the evening sacrifice I arose up from my heaviness; and having rent my garment and my mantle, I fell upon my knees, and spread out my hands unto the Lord my God,
6 [†] And said, O my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift up my face to thee, my God: for our iniquities are increased over our head, and our trespass is grown up unto the heavens.
7 [†] Since the days of our fathers have we been in a great trespass unto this day; and for our iniquities have we, our kings, and our priests, been delivered into the hand of the kings of the lands, to the sword, to captivity, and to a spoil, and to confusion of face, as it is this day.
8 And now for a little space grace hath been shewed from the Lord our God, to leave us a remnant to escape, and to give us a nail in his holy place, that our God may lighten our eyes, and give us a little reviving in our bondage.
9 [†] For we were bondmen; yet our God hath not forsaken us in our bondage, but hath extended mercy unto us in the sight of the kings of Persia, to give us a reviving, to set up the house of our God, and to repair the desolations thereof, and to give us a wall in Judah and in Jerusalem.
10 And now, O our God, what shall we say after this? for we have forsaken thy commandments,
11 Which thou hast commanded by thy servants the prophets, saying, The land, unto which ye go to possess it, is an unclean land with the filthiness of the people of the lands, with their abominations, which have filled it from one end to another with their uncleanness.
12 Now therefore give not your daughters unto their sons, neither take their daughters unto your sons, nor seek their peace or their wealth for ever: that ye may be strong, and eat the good of the land, and leave it for an inheritance to your children for ever.
13 And after all that is come upon us for our evil deeds, and for our great trespass, seeing that thou our God hast punished us less than our iniquities deserve, and hast given us such deliverance as this;
14 [†] Should we again break thy commandments, and join in affinity with the people of these abominations? wouldest not thou be angry with us till thou hadst consumed us, so that there should be no remnant nor escaping?
15 O Lord God of Israel, thou art righteous: for we remain yet escaped, as it is this day: behold, we are before thee in our trespasses: for we cannot stand before thee because of this.

Ezra 10 [†]

1 [†] Now when Ezra had prayed, and when he had confessed, weeping and casting himself down before the house of God, there assembled unto him out of Israel a very great congregation of men and women and children: for the people wept very sore.
2 [†] And Shechaniah the son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Elam, answered and said unto Ezra, We have trespassed against our God, and have taken strange wives of the people of the land: yet now there is hope in Israel concerning this thing.
3 [†] Now therefore let us make a covenant with our God to put away all the wives, and such as are born of them, according to the counsel of my lord, and of those that tremble at the commandment of our God; and let it be done according to the law.
4 [†] Arise; for this matter belongeth unto thee: we also will be with thee: be of good courage, and do it.
5 Then arose Ezra, and made the chief priests, the Levites, and all Israel, to swear that they should do according to this word. And they sware.
6 ¶ Then Ezra rose up from before the house of God, and went into the chamber of Johanan the son of Eliashib: and when he came thither, he did eat no bread, nor drink water: for he mourned because of the transgression of them that had been carried away.
7 And they made proclamation throughout Judah and Jerusalem unto all the children of the captivity, that they should gather themselves together unto Jerusalem;
8 And that whosoever would not come within three days, according to the counsel of the princes and the elders, all his substance should be forfeited, and himself separated from the congregation of those that had been carried away.
9 ¶ Then all the men of Judah and Benjamin gathered themselves together unto Jerusalem within three days. It was the ninth month, on the twentieth day of the month; and all the people sat in the street of the house of God, trembling because of this matter, and for the great rain.
10 And Ezra the priest stood up, and said unto them, Ye have transgressed, and have taken strange wives, to increase the trespass of Israel.
11 Now therefore make confession unto the LORD God of your fathers, and do his pleasure: and separate yourselves from the people of the land, and from the strange wives.
12 [†] Then all the congregation answered and said with a loud voice, As thou hast said, so must we do.
13 [†] But the people are many, and it is a time of much rain, and we are not able to stand without, neither is this a work of one day or two: for we are many that have transgressed in this thing.
14 [†] Let now our rulers of all the congregation stand, and let all them which have taken strange wives in our cities come at appointed times, and with them the elders of every city, and the judges thereof, until the fierce wrath of our God for this matter be turned from us.
15 ¶ Only Jonathan the son of Asahel and Jahaziah the son of Tikvah were employed about this matter: and Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite helped them.
16 And the children of the captivity did so. And Ezra the priest, with certain chief of the fathers, after the house of their fathers, and all of them by their names, were separated, and sat down in the first day of the tenth month to examine the matter.
17 [†] And they made an end with all the men that had taken strange wives by the first day of the first month.
18 ¶ And among the sons of the priests there were found that had taken strange wives: namely, of the sons of Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and his brethren; Maaseiah, and Eliezer, and Jarib, and Gedaliah.
19 [†] And they gave their hands that they would put away their wives; and being guilty, they offered a ram of the flock for their trespass.

20 And of the sons of Immer; Hanani, and Zebadiah.
21 And of the sons of Harim; Maaseiah, and Elijah, and Shemaiah, and Jehiel, and Uzziah.
22 And of the sons of Pashur; Elioenai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethaneel, Jozabad, and Elasah.
23 Also of the Levites; Jozabad, and Shimei, and Kelaiah, (the same is Kelita,) Pethahiah, Judah, and Eliezer.
24 Of the singers also; Eliashib: and of the porters; Shallum, and Telem, and Uri.
25 Moreover of Israel: of the sons of Parosh; Ramiah, and Jeziah, and Malchiah, and Miamin, and Eleazar, and Malchijah, and Benaiah.
26 And of the sons of Elam; Mattaniah, Zechariah, and Jehiel, and Abdi, and Jeremoth, and Eliah.
27 And of the sons of Zattu; Elioenai, Eliashib, Mattaniah, and Jeremoth, and Zabad, and Aziza.
28 Of the sons also of Bebai; Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai, and Athlai.
29 And of the sons of Bani; Meshullam, Malluch, and Adaiah, Jashub, and Sheal, and Ramoth.
30 And of the sons of Pahath-moab; Adna, and Chelal, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezaleel, and Binnui, and Manasseh.
31 And of the sons of Harim; Eliezer, Ishijah, Malchiah, Shemaiah, Shimeon, 32 Benjamin, Malluch, and Shemariah.
33 Of the sons of Hashum; Mattenai, Mattathah, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasseh, and Shimei.
34 Of the sons of Bani; Maadai, Amram, and Uel,
35 Benaiah, Bedeiah, Chelluh,
36 Vaniah, Meremoth, Eliashib,
37 Mattaniah, Mattenai, and Jaasau,
38 And Bani, and Binnui, Shimei,
39 And Shelemiah, and Nathan, and Adaiah,
40 Machnadebai, Shashai, Sharai,
41 Azareel, and Shelemiah, Shemariah,
42 Shallum, Amariah, and Joseph.
43 Of the sons of Nebo; Jeiel, Mattithiah, Zabad, Zebina, Jadau, and Joel, Benaiah.
44 All these had taken strange wives: and some of them had wives by whom they had children.

NOTES ON THE BOOK OF

EZRA

THE DECREE OF CYRUS (1:1—2:70)

Chapter 1: Cyrus issues a decree for the exiles of Judah to return to their land, and the first wave returns under the leadership of Sheshbazzar.

The People Return to Jerusalem to Rebuild the Temple (1:1–11)

1:1 first year of Cyrus king of Persia. Cyrus conquered Babylon in October of 539 BC. His edict to allow exiles of Judah to return, from Cyrus's own standpoint, fits his foreign policy as we know from sources outside the Bible. But behind Cyrus's decisions was the providential hand of the Lord. by the mouth of Jeremiah. Years before Cyrus's birth, Jeremiah prophesied this event (29:10; cf. Jer. 51:1,11; Isa. 41:2,25; 44:28; 45:1,13; Jer. 25:11–12).

1:2 The LORD GOD OF HEAVEN HATH GIVEN ME ALL THE KINGDOMS OF THE EARTH. This is not so much a testimony of Cyrus's faith, for in other writings outside of the Bible he gave allegiance to other gods. Nevertheless, from a biblical point of view, what Cyrus writes is truer than he intended it.

1:5 all them whose spirit God had raised. Again we see the sovereignty of God. He not only stirred up the spirit of Cyrus, but he also stirred up the heart of those who would return.

1:6 The exiles returning to Jerusalem brought many riches from the land of Babylon. In many ways, the return from exile was like a new exodus from captivity (Ex. 12:36).

1:8 Sheshbazzar was most likely a Jew with a Persian name. He led the first group of exiles back into Judah as the prince or chief of the returning men.

1:9–11 chargers. Dishes, large plates. Ezra records that all of the articles brought back were 5,400. This is not a discrepancy from the tally of the items mentioned, which is 2,499. It is likely that he lists only the more notable articles.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 1

1. God never forgets His Word to fulfill it. This is true of what He threatens as well as promises. Though we forget God's Word, He does not, but He is faithful to it. Bring His own Word back to Him in prayer and plead that He would fulfill it in your life.
2. God is sovereign. He works on the level of nations and the heads of nations (v. 1). However, He also stirs up individual people to walk in His ways and seek His promised inheritance (v. 5). How does this encourage you to pray for nations? For individuals?
3. Cyrus had a unique role in God's plan and purpose (Isa. 44:28; 45:1). God used him to set His people free. Christ, however, would set His people free in ways that Cyrus never could. He would enter into death and pay the penalty they deserved. Praise God for delivering us from the kingdom of darkness and translating us into the kingdom of light (Col. 1:13).

Chapter 2: A list of those who returned to Judah after Cyrus gave his decree is recorded. Just over 40,000 individuals return to inhabit the territory of Judah.

List of Returnees (2:1–70)

2:1–70 This list of people who returned from exile is repeated in large part in Neh. 7. Every name is proof that God was faithful to His promise, bringing back a remnant (Isa. 6:13).

2:1–2 The first group mentioned here are the leaders of Judah. Zerubbabel, a descendant of King David (see note at Jer. 52:32–33), and Jeshua (or Joshua), a priest, were prominent leaders of the returning exiles (Hag. 1:1).

2:3–20 The second named group are the names of different clans.

2:21–35 The third group is comprised of geographical names.

2:36–39 The fourth group concerns the priests.

2:40–42 The fifth group names the Levites, those descended from Levi but not Aaron.

2:43–54 The sixth group names the temple servants, the Nethinims. They are thought to be servants who helped the Levites, probably with menial tasks.

2:55–58 The seventh group numbered are the servants of Solomon, another group of priestly servants.

2:59–63 The final and eighth group is a miscellaneous group, some of whom lacked proper ancestral documentation.

2:63 Tirshatha. Persian title for governor, probably a reference to Sheshbazzar (1:8). Urim and . . . Thummim. Lots cast by the high priest to determine God's will (Num. 27:21; 1 Sam. 14:36–37). The priests who could not prove their lineage were restricted from eating the holy things. As the nation struggled to purify itself, the leaders took great care to follow the Lord's law (Num. 16:40).

2:65 The number of slaves indicates that those who were returning were prosperous.

2:69 drams. Here a measurement of precious metals.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 2

1. Though Zerubbabel was not a king, he descended from the kingly line and was in the genealogy of the Lord Jesus (Matt. 1:12–13, "Zorobabel"). The exile would not prevent the coming of the Christ. The Lord saw to it that priests, prophets (5:1), and the line of David resettled the land. Christ would combine the three offices in Himself, as the Prophet, Priest, and King of His people. In that office, He draws people from darkness to light, and makes them citizens in His kingdom (Eph. 2:19). Despite the sins of man, encourage one another that Christ's kingdom will be established and prevail.
2. The Urim and Thummim (v. 63) refer to stones kept in the breastplate of judgment worn on Aaron's heart (Ex. 28:30). We know very little about how the Urim and Thummim functioned, but as they appear in Israel's history, we learn that they were used in discerning the will of God (Num. 27:21; Deut. 33:8; 1 Sam. 23:6–12; 28:6). Regardless of how they functioned, we know that they communicated to the Israelite community what God's will was for them. What has God given to His people today to lead us in the ways of truth (John 16:13)?
3. What a disappointment it must have been to those who could not show their proper credentials to work in the temple service (v. 59)! Do you have assurance to rejoice that your name is written in heaven (Luke 10:20)?
4. Note how the people gave to the work of the Lord. We are told that they "gave after their ability unto the treasure of the work" (v. 69). How beautiful it is to see many giving cheerfully to the work of the Lord (2 Cor. 9:7)! How are you offering yourself and your money to His work?

Chapter 3: The people begin to restore the temple and reconstitute the worship God had prescribed; the reconstruction, however, is greeted with jubilant shouts on the one hand and dreadful mourning on the other.

RESTORATION OF THE TEMPLE BEGINS (3:1–13)

Preparations (3:1–7)

3:1 seventh month. The month of Tishri (September/October), the great month of feasts, including the Feast of Trumpets, the Day of Atonement, and the Feast of Tabernacles (Lev. 23:24–44; Num. 29).

3:2 Jeshua. Same as Joshua the high priest (Zech. 3:1; 6:11). the law of Moses the man of God. The returning exiles show their dedication to following the law of God from the start.

3:3 burnt offerings. The burnt offering declared total dedication (Num. 28:2,4).

3:4 The feasts and sacrifices of the Lord were also reinstated once the altar was set up (Lev. 23).

3:7 meat. Food of any kind.

The Work (3:8–13)

3:8 They restarted the work seven months after they had erected the altar (see v. 1). The second month is also the beginning of the dry season for Israel and thus serves as a good time to begin building.

3:9 set forward. Oversee.

3:10 apparel. Clothing.

3:11 they sang together by course. The content of their song was from Ps. 100:5. Jeremiah prophesied that this song would be sung with gladness after Jerusalem had been destroyed (Jer. 33:11).

3:12 Many of the older generation wept when they saw the foundation of this new temple, remembering the grandeur and beauty of Solomon's temple and comparing it with the smallness of their present efforts (Zech. 4:10).

3:13 The mixture of sorrow and joy serves as a reminder that there are greater things in store. As wonderful as it was that they had returned from exile, this would not be the climax of God's saving deeds.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 3

1. The people quickly worked to reinstitute the sacrifices. It is a good sign when we sense that we need to have our sins blotted out and we need to know God's favor through His appointed sacrifice, Christ Jesus, to whom all the sacrifices pointed (Heb. 7:27). How eager is your heart to run to Christ's sacrifice for forgiveness? How long do you linger in guilt before confessing your sin? Why?
2. The joy of those who witnessed the foundation rising was mixed with weeping. Is it not true that often the Christian's joy is mixed with weeping? As long as believers dwell in flesh, we carry this tension of rejoicing and weeping with us (2 Cor. 6:10), until the day when every tear shall be wiped from our eyes (Rev. 21:4). Then joy will be unmixed, but, incidentally, there will be no temple (Rev. 21:22). Why is that? What do we know about that day?

Chapter 4: Adversaries oppose the rebuilding efforts.

RESISTANCE AGAINST THE TEMPLE (4:1–24)

Adversaries Challenge the Builders (4:1–5)

4:1 adversaries. At first, they did not present themselves as adversaries, but they will prove to be adversaries.

4:3 Ye have nothing to do with us. This appears to be a harsh statement against those who appeared to want to help. However, we know that they were accustomed to worshiping other gods (2 Kings 17:33).

Letters to Ahasuerus and Artaxerxes I (4:6–16)

4:6–23 There is a break in the chronology of this book with this section. The letters that are copied here for us come from the respective reigns of Xerxes (Ahasuerus) (486–465 BC) and Artaxerxes I (465–424 BC). These letters reflect the recurring opposition the people of Judah faced from those around them.

4:7 in the Syrian tongue. What follows in 4:8—6:18 is in Aramaic, reflecting the language of official correspondence during these times.

4:8 chancellor. Chief governor or commander.

4:10 Asnappar, or Ashurbanipal, was an Assyrian king (669–663 BC). The Assyrians would have relocated exiled people groups into different regions, thus creating what was viewed as a mixed race and culture.

4:13 custom. Tribute, tax. endamage. Cause damage.

The Command to Cease the Work (4:17–22)

4:17 chancellor. Chief governor.

4:21 Artaxerxes said that the building should stop until another commandment shall be given, indicating that it was not a closed case.

The Work of the Temple Ceases (4:23–24)

4:24 After the documents of vv. 8–23, the narrative picks up again. Darius king of Persia (522–486 BC) took over the Persian Empire after the death of Cambyses.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 4

1. We might be tempted to shrink back from what seems to be a harsh response of Zerubbabel and Joshua and the other leaders (v. 3). But this is not just an Old Testament emphasis as can be seen from Heb. 13:10: “We have an altar, whereof they have no right to eat which serve the tabernacle.” Spiritual fellowship and partnership can only be had with those who share the same Spirit, worship the same God, and glory only in Christ (Phil. 3:3). Pray for discernment, so as not to compromise.
2. Christ told His disciples that they should expect persecution (John 16:33). Some victories are not achieved within one generation, as the fight continues beyond our generation. We need to arm ourselves for a drawn-out battle against those who take aim at the cause of Christ (Eph. 6:10–13). What battles face the church today? How can the church prepare herself to fight these with endurance over the long term?

THE TEMPLE IS COMPLETED (5:1—6:22)

Chapter 5: Haggai and Zechariah stir up the people to begin rebuilding the temple.

Rebuilding Is Resumed (Second Year of Darius) (5:1–5)

5:1 Haggai ministered between August and December of 520 BC. Zechariah['s] ministry began in October of 520 BC and lasted until February 519 BC. The temple construction was restarted in September of 520 BC. Both prophets commanded the people to continue to restore the temple. Apparently they had left off the building out of fear of their adversaries (3:3; 4:4–5). Whenever God begins a spiritual movement, He begins it by His Word.

5:2 Again there is a partnership between the descendant of David, Zerubbabel, and the high priest, Jeshua (3:2,8; 4:3).

5:4 The governing authorities appear to still be talking in this verse (cf. v. 10).

5:5 eye of their God. God's sovereignty over the affairs of His people (2 Chron. 6:40; 16:9).

Letter Sent to Darius (5:6–17)

5:13 The fact that Cyrus had issued a decree gave the people of Judah a legal backing.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 5

1. God uses His Word to give life to His people. After twenty years, the preaching of Haggai and Zechariah was the catalyst for encouraging the Jews to finish building the temple. God used His Word to move His people to action. Therefore, let us strongly support the preaching of God's Word. How can we be doers of the Word, and not hearers only (James 1:22–27)?
2. This section is proof of the following truth: "The king's heart is in the hand of the LORD, as the rivers of water: he turneth it whithersoever he will" (Prov. 21:1). Behind the actions of princes and rulers, the hand of divine providence brings about His purposes for His people. How can this encourage Christians when government leaders seem to frustrate God's purposes?
3. Why did Judah face so much opposition? Could God not have made things much easier for them? Through trials, God strengthens His people. He teaches them patience. God is not just working around His people, but within them (Phil. 2:13).

Chapter 6: Darius gives the decree for the temple to be finished, which takes place in the sixth year of his reign, and the people of Judah dedicate the temple and celebrate the Passover.

Darius's Decree (6:1–12)

6:1 the house of the rolls. The archives.

6:2 Achmetha, also known as Ecbatana, was Cyrus's summer home located to the northwest of Babylon and north of Shushan, in present day Iran. roll. Scroll.

The Temple Is Completed (Sixth Year of Darius) (6:13–18)

6:14 First Haggai and Zechariah prophesied to the people to rebuild the temple. Then they helped them through their prophesying. Now the people prosper through the prophesying of the prophets. God's Word accompanied the people through every stage.

6:15 After beginning the rebuilding for a second time in 520 BC, the people of Judah finished the temple on March 12, 515 BC. This was 72 years after the temple had been destroyed by the Babylonians and corresponds closely to Jeremiah's rounded number of 70 years of captivity (Jer. 25:12–14; 29:10; Zech. 1:12–17).

6:17 according to the number of the tribes of Israel. Though most of the people at the dedication of the temple were from the tribes of Judah, Benjamin, or Levi, those in charge ensured that the dedication of the temple had all twelve tribes in view.

6:18 This is the last verse of the text written in Aramaic (4:8—6:18). The next verse begins again in Hebrew.

Passover Is Celebrated (6:19–22)

6:21 all such as had separated. There is more than simply an ethnic focus or allegiance. People understood their ceremonial uncleanness and separated themselves according to the dictates that God stipulated.

6:22 This is a summary statement of the book thus far. the LORD had made them joyful. The faithful God had exercised His sovereignty over men (turned the heart) so as to bring praise to His name. king of Assyria. Here the equivalent of Babylon, which inherited the kingdom of Assyria (Neh. 9:32).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 6

1. The books of Moses continued to be the guide for these people (v. 18). Whenever there is a heaven-sent awakening or revival, people will go back to the Word of God (Neh. 8:1). There may be great emotional excitement, large crowds of people, or impressive acts of religious devotion, but if they are not driven by faith and love toward the Holy Scriptures, they are not of the Spirit of the Lord. Do you need to renew your commitment to God's Word?
2. Our chapter commemorates and celebrates a milestone. When God's people go through difficult or disciplinary times they must always remember that the end is better than the beginning (Eccl. 7:8) and that all things work together for their good (Rom. 8:28). Have you experienced seasons of celebration after times of great trials?
3. The Lord alone can work true joy in His people's hearts (v. 22). As the psalmist sings, "His anger endureth but a moment; in his favour is life: weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning" (Ps. 30:5). If you are in a season of weeping, how can you find the strength to endure with hope?

EXILES RETURN WITH EZRA (7:1—8:36)

Chapter 7: Ezra returns to Judah to teach the people the law, and being ensured of provisions by Artaxerxes, he thanks God for His mercy.

Ezra Returns to Jerusalem (7:1–10)

7:1–5 This genealogy follows 1 Chron. 6:3–14 very closely. Ezra is a descendant of Aaron, and thus of priestly lineage.

7:1 The year is 458 BC. There is a 56-year span of time passed over in relative obscurity.

7:6 Many of the exiles lived around Babylon and had not journeyed back to Jerusalem in 538 BC. a ready scribe in the law of Moses. Clearly, the law of Moses has not only great antiquity but also great authority. Ezra was likely appointed by the king to maintain a high office, a secretary of sorts, in Jerusalem. Ezra prospered in the presence of the king because the Lord's hand was upon him (vv. 9,28; 8:18,22,31).

7:7 the children of Israel. Most of those returning are from Judah and Benjamin. However, they see themselves as continuing the legacy of the nation of Israel. Nethinims. See note at 2:43–54.

7:10 This is a description of Ezra's focus as a scribe: study, practice, and teaching.

Artaxerxes I Writes to Ezra and Supplies Treasures for the Temple (7:11–28)

7:12–26 This section is again in Aramaic (as was 4:8—6:18; see note at 4:7).

7:14 Forasmuch. Since, because.

7:22 baths. Measurement for liquids. One bath was about 9 gallons or 34 liters.

7:24 custom. Tax.

7:25 The law of God is referred to as the wisdom of thy God (Deut. 4:5–6).

7:27 The Hebrew begins again here. beautify. Adorn, make lovely.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 7

1. Every Christian can learn from Ezra. He prepared his heart to study God's Word, practice its teaching, and pass its teaching on to others (v. 10). This is the duty of everyone charged to teach the Word, whether heads of household in the family or pastors and teachers in the church. Even if we do not have official responsibilities to teach, we can still share the Word of God with others. Pray for parents, teachers, leaders in your church and yourself that all would have the heart of Ezra.
2. Artaxerxes helped Ezra and thus also the cause of God. We can be thankful for how God used him. Nevertheless, Artaxerxes never had a heartfelt attachment to the Lord. Is it enough to simply advance the cause of God? Or like Ezra, have you learned to love God and His commandments more than gold (Ps. 119:127; Matt. 6:24; 22:37)?
3. Ezra recognized God's hand of mercy in his circumstances (v. 28). If we are the Lord's, our life is filled with tokens of God's mercy. Like Ezra, do you trace them and thank the Lord for them? How has God's hand of mercy appeared in your life recently?

Chapter 8: Ezra lists those who returned with him, refuses a military consort, and relies on the strength of the Lord to protect the people on the four-month journey.

List of Returnees (8:1–14)

8:1 chief of their fathers. The structure of family leadership was in place, with fathers leading their children, and children following the guidance of their fathers.

8:2–14 There are differences between this list and that in ch. 2 and Neh. 7. Here the priestly families are mentioned first (v. 2), whereas in ch. 2 and Neh. 7, they are mentioned last.

8:2 Hattush. A descendant of Zerubbabel and thus from the royal family of David (1 Chron. 3:21–22).

Exiles Reenter Jerusalem (8:15–36)

8:15–20 Ezra notices that there are no Levites and so he sends a request to Casiphia, where Levitical families must have been known to live. Sherebiah, his brothers, and sons, are found willing to come along.

8:21 fast. Ezra prepared the people spiritually before entering Jerusalem.

8:22 Ezra was ashamed because if he had asked for military support, it would have reflected little trust in God. This is not a normative principle that we must all live by. Nehemiah accepted a military escort (Neh. 2:7–9) and Paul clearly relied on his Roman citizenship to avoid being unjustly flogged (Acts 22). require. Request.

8:23 Despite Ezra's confidence that God would protect his people on their journey, Ezra and the people sought the Lord's favor through prayer. God's sovereignty is not an excuse to neglect spiritual duties, but it should cause us to seek the Lord's favor.

8:27 drams. Measurement of precious metals.

8:31 The journey from Babylon to Jerusalem took four months and was over 900 miles. The road was not safe, especially in light of the 5,000 unarmed men and the massive amounts of riches. Ezra praised the Lord for His protection.

8:33–34 Babylonian and Persian law required careful documentation of transactions and funds. It is likely that Ezra had to report back to Artaxerxes the amount of treasures received. Ezra modeled good stewardship.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 8

1. God's will was Ezra's chief concern (v. 21). Even to a man like Ezra, who relied on God, discerning God's will was not always easy. He went to great lengths to discern God's will, fasting and seeking the Lord. We too must invest time and energy into seeking God and His will when we face significant decisions. The very process honors Him. What major decisions do you face as an individual, family, church, or society? How are you seeking the Lord?
2. Ezra knew the power of seeking God. He also knew that those who forsake God are under His wrath (v. 22). Paul writes something similar: "Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God: on them which fell, severity; but toward thee, goodness, if thou continue in his goodness: otherwise thou also shalt be cut off" (Rom. 11:22).

INTERMARRIAGE AMONG THE EXILES (9:1—10:44)

Chapter 9: Ezra mourns over the compromises of the people who joined in marriage with the surrounding people, and he confesses this sin.

The Problem of Intermarriage (9:1–2)

9:1 Four months had passed since the end of ch. 8. Though there are instances of marriage with people from other nations in former times in Israel (Gen. 16:3; 41:45; Ex. 2:21; Num. 12:1; 2 Sam. 3:3), what is happening here involved widespread participation in abominations, idolatrous and immoral practices (Ex. 34:11–16).

9:2 holy seed. Offspring or descendants of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob whom God set apart for His sacred purposes (Gen. 17:7,19; 28:4; Deut. 7:6–8; Isa. 6:13; Rom. 11:16,28). By virtue of God's covenant, those who descend from believing parents are considered set apart (1 Cor. 7:14). This does not refer to an internal holiness. The princes and rulers were leading the way in this sinful intermixing.

Ezra's Prayer of Repentance (9:3–15)

9:4 trembled at the words of the God of Israel. Feared God and desired to keep His commands (Isa. 66:2).

9:6 our. Ezra shows corporate solidarity in the guilt of the people (Dan. 9:5).

9:7–8 a little space grace hath been shewed. He is referring to God's grace in these initial returns from exile. nail. Peg, in the sense of security, stability.

9:9 wall. Literally, "a protective wall," as about a vineyard, used figuratively of the protection God had given those who had returned.

9:14 affinity. Relationship by marriage. no remnant nor escaping. Ezra knew that the Lord could wipe out everyone in Israel for their sins and still remain faithful in drawing back a second group of exiles. Ezra did not depend on Israel's status as the covenantal people, but on the mercy of God.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 9

1. The inhabitants of Judah were at risk of being swallowed up by the nations around them and their idolatries. Still today, we are called to a life of separation from worldliness. Paul challenged the Corinthians, "For what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?" (2 Cor. 6:14). Why might a romantic relationship with an unbeliever attract a Christian? How can he or she resist this temptation?
2. Ezra readily confessed sin as sin. He knew that God had punished the nation far less than it had deserved (v. 13). If we know anything of our wicked hearts, we will find it difficult to complain that our circumstances are unfair. When we are tempted to question God's goodness, let us give consideration to our sinfulness, and what we deserve.
3. We can only fight sin by the grace of God. Ezra shows the right way by running to the Lord in prayer. How does God say He will help us in the midst of temptation (1 Cor. 10:13)?

Chapter 10: The people confess their sin and deal with the issue of intermarriage.

The People's Repentance and a Solemn Assembly (10:1–8)

10:1 there assembled . . . a very great congregation. Ezra's repentance is contagious. sore. Greatly.

10:2 Shechaniah. He spoke for many others. strange. Foreign.

10:3 tremble at the commandment. See note at 9:4.

10:4 Shechaniah agreed to support Ezra, but he knew that this matter belongeth to Ezra, that is to say: the Lord raised Ezra up to lead this.

The People of Israel Are Purified (10:9–44)

10:12 All the people of Israel agreed to the oath Ezra laid before them.

10:13 without. Outside.

10:14–15 employed about this matter. The Hebrew carries the idea that these men opposed the suggestion of Ezra. What exactly they were opposing is not clear, whether it was their separation from the strange wives, or whether it was the delay of the inspection for those who had married foreigners.

10:17 strange. Foreign (v. 44). The text indicates by the following list that 111 persons were found guilty. Though this was a small number compared to the 30,000 who dwelt in the area, throughout the history of Israel the sins of one person or a few had a dramatic effect on the whole community.

10:19 put away their wives. Literally, “sent out their wives from among them.” The Old Testament law regulated divorce but did not encourage it (Gen. 2:24; Deut. 24:1–4; Matt. 19:3–9). In considering Ezra’s authorization of divorce, it is important to note that, first, these marriages were illegal, being contracted contrary to the law of Moses (Deut. 7:1–3); second, these men may have divorced their original Jewish wives in favor of a more cosmopolitan marriage (Mal. 2:11,15).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 10

1. If leaders in church, state, and family could, like Ezra, lead in repentance, who can tell what would happen? Of what major sins does your nation need to repent? Are there ways that your church or denomination needs to repent? Begin praying for God to give hearty repentance through Jesus Christ, beginning with the leadership—and with you.
2. Though true repentance begins with the mind, its essence is a change of heart that produces action, as we see with the people in this chapter. Paul gives us a picture of such repentance in 2 Cor. 7:10–11. Of what sins have you repented recently? How does your repentance match up with these biblical models? Where do you need to implement a more thorough repentance?

NEHEMIAH

Authorship and Date

See the Introduction to Ezra.

Theme

God’s faithfulness in protecting and providing for His people through godly, prayerful, and proactive leadership.

Purpose

To encourage righteous leaders and those who follow them that God can restore His people against all human expectations, if His servants will faithfully keep His commands.

Synopsis

The Contribution of Nehemiah to Redemptive Revelation

Nehemiah stands in close relation to Ezra, tracing God's act behind the rebuilding of Jerusalem as well as spiritual reforms. Nehemiah received reports of the remnant of exiles who had returned to Jerusalem (1:2) and he heard of the affliction and reproach they were suffering because of the broken-down wall of Jerusalem (v. 3). Nehemiah was struck to the heart (v. 4) and prayed that God would provide a way to rebuild the walls and so take away the reproach of His covenantal people.

As the king's cupbearer, Nehemiah was given a providential opening to ask for permission to go and rebuild the walls of Jerusalem. Once in Jerusalem, Nehemiah made a night journey to survey the situation (ch. 2). The next chapters recount the efforts of the Jews in rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem, despite external opposition and internal strife (chs. 3–7). The second part of the book narrates the consecration to the Lord of the people along with the city (chs. 8–12), and some continued reforms that proved necessary (ch. 13).

Despite being known mostly as the builder of the wall, Nehemiah realized that Judah's biggest need was not physical walls, but spiritual dedication to God. A zeal for God's house and name motivated Nehemiah to do what he did. He pointed forward to the greater Rebuilder who will come and save His people from their sin and deliver them from their spiritual bondage and exile once and for all.

Nehemiah made a significant contribution to the advancement of the fullness of time when Christ would come. For Christ to fulfill all righteousness, certain things had to be in place. The Messiah was to be born into a Jewish community that observed the ceremonial laws (cf. Luke 2:21–22,27), for the Lord would appear suddenly in His temple (Mal. 3:1). There had to be a clear distinction between the Gentiles and Jews for a proper and unmistakable identification of the Messiah, for salvation comes from the Jews (John 4:22) in the person of the Seed of Abraham and David (Matt. 1:1; Rom. 1:2–3; Gal. 3:16). For that to happen there had to be a strong Jewish community with the mechanisms in place to exclude Gentile influence. To sum it up simply, there had to be an Israel if there was going to be a Christ. Nehemiah's work in building that city and his demand for purity of worship was a key component toward the coming of Christ.

THE BOOK OF

NEHEMIAH

Nehemiah 1 [†]

1 [†] The words of Nehemiah the son of Hachaliah. And it came to pass in the month Chisleu, in the twentieth year, as I was in Shushan the palace,
2 [†] That Hanani, one of my brethren, came, he and certain men of Judah; and I asked them concerning the Jews that had escaped, which were left of the captivity, and concerning Jerusalem.
3 [†] And they said unto me, The remnant that are left of the captivity there in the province are in great affliction and reproach: the wall of Jerusalem also is broken down, and the gates thereof are burned with fire.
4 [†] ¶ And it came to pass, when I heard these words, that I sat down and wept, and mourned certain days, and fasted, and prayed before the God of heaven,
5 [†] And said, I beseech thee, O Lord God of heaven, the great and terrible God, that keepeth covenant and mercy for them that love him and observe his commandments:
6 Let thine ear now be attentive, and thine eyes open, that thou mayest hear the prayer of thy servant, which I pray before thee now, day and night, for the children of Israel thy servants, and confess the sins of the children of Israel, which we have sinned against thee: both I and my father's house have sinned.
7 We have dealt very corruptly against thee, and have not kept the commandments, nor the statutes, nor the judgments, which thou commandedst thy servant Moses.
8 [†] Remember, I beseech thee, the word that thou commandedst thy servant Moses, saying, If ye transgress, I will scatter you abroad among the nations:
9 [†] But if ye turn unto me, and keep my commandments, and do them; though there were of you cast out unto the uttermost part of the heaven, yet will I gather them from thence, and will bring them unto the place that I have chosen to set my name there.
10 [†] Now these are thy servants and thy people, whom thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy strong hand.
11 [†] O Lord, I beseech thee, let now thine ear be attentive to the prayer of thy servant, and to the prayer of thy servants, who desire to fear thy name: and prosper, I pray thee, thy servant this day, and grant him mercy in the sight of this man. For I was the king's cupbearer.

Nehemiah 2 [†]

1 [†] And it came to pass in the month Nisan, in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes the king, that wine was before him: and I took up the wine, and gave it unto the king. Now I had not been beforetime sad in his presence.
2 [†] Wherefore the king said unto me, Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou art not sick? this is nothing else but sorrow of heart. Then I was very sore afraid,
3 [†] And said unto the king, Let the king live for ever: why should not my countenance be sad, when the city, the place of my fathers' sepulchres, lieth waste, and the gates thereof are consumed with fire?
4 [†] Then the king said unto me, For what dost thou make request? So I prayed to the God of heaven.
5 And I said unto the king, If it please the king, and if thy servant have found favour in thy sight, that thou wouldest send me unto Judah, unto the city of my fathers' sepulchres, that I may build it.
6 [†] And the king said unto me, (the queen also sitting by him,) For how long shall thy journey be? and when wilt thou return? So it pleased the king to send me; and I set him a time.
7 [†] Moreover I said unto the king, If it please the king, let letters be given me to the governors beyond the river, that they may convey me over till I come into Judah;
8 [†] And a letter unto Asaph the keeper of the king's forest, that he may give me timber to make beams for the gates of the palace which appertained to the house, and for the wall of the city, and for the house that I shall enter into. And the king granted me, according to the good hand of my God upon me.
9 [†] ¶ Then I came to the governors beyond the river, and gave them the king's letters. Now the king had sent captains of the army and horsemen with me.
10 [†] When Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the servant, the Ammonite, heard of it, it grieved them exceedingly that there was come a man to seek the welfare of the children of Israel.
11 So I came to Jerusalem, and was there three days.
12 [†] ¶ And I arose in the night, I and some few men with me; neither told I any man what my God had put in my heart to do at Jerusalem: neither was there any beast with me, save the beast that I rode upon.
13 [†] And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, even before the dragon well, and to the dung port, and viewed the walls of Jerusalem, which were broken down, and the gates thereof were consumed with fire.
14 Then I went on to the gate of the fountain, and to the king's pool: but there was no place for the beast that was under me to pass.
15 [†] Then went I up in the night by the brook, and viewed the wall, and turned back, and entered by the gate of the valley, and so returned.
16 [†] And the rulers knew not whither I went, or what I did; neither had I as yet told it to the Jews, nor to the priests, nor to the nobles, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that did the work.
17 [†] ¶ Then said I unto them, Ye see the distress that we are in, how Jerusalem lieth waste, and the gates thereof are burned with fire: come, and let us build up the wall of Jerusalem, that we be no more a reproach.
18 [†] Then I told them of the hand of my God which was good upon me; as also the king's words that he had spoken unto me. And they said, Let us rise up and build. So they strengthened their hands for this good work.
19 [†] But when Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the servant, the Ammonite, and Geshem the Arabian, heard it, they laughed us to scorn, and despised us, and said, What is this thing that ye do? will ye rebel against the king?
20 [†] Then answered I them, and said unto them, The God of heaven, he will prosper us; therefore we his servants will arise and build: but ye have no portion, nor right, nor memorial, in Jerusalem.

Nehemiah 3 [†]

1 [†] Then Eliashib the high priest rose up with his brethren the priests, and they builded the sheep gate; they sanctified it, and set up the doors of it; even unto the tower of Meah they sanctified it, unto the tower of Hananeel.
2 And next unto him builded the men of Jericho. And next to them builded Zaccur the son of Imri.
3 [†] But the fish gate did the sons of Hassenaah build, who also laid the beams thereof, and set up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof.
4 And next unto them repaired Meremoth the son of Urijah, the son of Koz. And next unto them repaired Meshullam the son of Berechiah, the son of Meshezabeel. And next unto them repaired Zadok the son of Baana.
5 [†] And next unto them the Tekoites repaired; but their nobles put not their necks to the work of their Lord.
6 [†] Moreover the old gate repaired Jehoiada the son of Paseah, and Meshullam the son of Besodeiah; they laid the beams thereof, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks thereof, and the bars thereof.
7 And next unto them repaired Melatiah the Gibeonite, and Jadon the Meronothite, the men of Gibeon, and of Mizpah, unto the throne of the governor on this side the river.
8 [†] Next unto him repaired Uzziel the son of Harhaiah, of the goldsmiths. Next unto him also repaired Hananiah the son of one of the apothecaries, and they fortified Jerusalem unto the broad wall.
9 [†] And next unto them repaired Rephaiah the son of Hur, the ruler of the half part of Jerusalem.
10 [†] And next unto them repaired Jedaiah the son of Harumaph, even over against his house. And next unto him repaired Hattush the son of Hashabniah.
11 Malchijah the son of Harim, and Hashub the son of Pahath-moab, repaired the other piece, and the tower of the furnaces.
12 [†] And next unto him repaired Shallum the son of Halohesh, the ruler of the half part of Jerusalem, he and his daughters.
13 [†] The valley gate repaired Hanun, and the inhabitants of Zanoah; they built it, and set up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof, and a thousand cubits on the wall unto the dung gate.
14 But the dung gate repaired Malchiah the son of Rechab, the ruler of part of Beth-haccerem; he built it, and set up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof.
15 But the gate of the fountain repaired Shallun the son of Col-hozeh, the ruler of part of Mizpah; he built it, and covered it, and set up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof, and the wall of the pool of Siloah by the king's garden, and unto the stairs that go down from the city of David.
16 [†] After him repaired Nehemiah the son of Azbuk, the ruler of the half part of Beth-zur, unto the place over against the sepulchres of David, and to the pool that was made, and unto the house of the mighty.
17 After him repaired the Levites, Rehum the son of Bani. Next unto him repaired Hashabiah, the ruler of the half part of Keilah, in his part.
18 After him repaired their brethren, Bavai the son of Henadad, the ruler of the half part of Keilah.
19 And next to him repaired Ezer the son of Jeshua, the ruler of Mizpah, another piece over against the going up to the armoury at the turning of the wall.
20 After him Baruch the son of Zabbai earnestly repaired the other piece, from the turning of the wall unto the door of the house of Eliashib the high priest.
21 After him repaired Meremoth the son of Urijah the son of Koz another piece, from the door of the house of Eliashib even to the end of the house of Eliashib.
22 [†] And after him repaired the priests, the men of the plain.

23 After him repaired Benjamin and Hashub over against their house. After him repaired Azariah the son of Maaseiah the son of Ananiah by his house.
24 After him repaired Binnui the son of Henadad another piece, from the house of Azariah unto the turning of the wall, even unto the corner.
25 Palal the son of Uzai, over against the turning of the wall, and the tower which lieth out from the king's high house, that was by the court of the prison. After him Pedaiah the son of Parosh.
26 [†] Moreover the Nethinims dwelt in Ophel, unto the place over against the water gate toward the east, and the tower that lieth out.
27 After them the Tekoites repaired another piece, over against the great tower that lieth out, even unto the wall of Ophel.
28 From above the horse gate repaired the priests, every one over against his house.
29 After them repaired Zadok the son of Immer over against his house. After him repaired also Shemaiah the son of Shechaniah, the keeper of the east gate.
30 After him repaired Hananiah the son of Shelemiah, and Hanun the sixth son of Zalaph, another piece. After him repaired Meshullam the son of Berechiah over against his chamber.
31 After him repaired Malchiah the goldsmith's son unto the place of the Nethinims, and of the merchants, over against the gate Miphkad, and to the going up of the corner.
32 And between the going up of the corner unto the sheep gate repaired the goldsmiths and the merchants.

Nehemiah 4 [†]

(see article: This Evil World)

1 [†] But it came to pass, that when Sanballat heard that we builded the wall, he was wroth, and took great indignation, and mocked the Jews.
2 And he spake before his brethren and the army of Samaria, and said, What do these feeble Jews? will they fortify themselves? will they sacrifice? will they make an end in a day? will they revive the stones out of the heaps of the rubbish which are burned?
3 [†] Now Tobiah the Ammonite was by him, and he said, Even that which they build, if a fox go up, he shall even break down their stone wall.
4 [†] Hear, O our God; for we are despised: and turn their reproach upon their own head, and give them for a prey in the land of captivity:
5 And cover not their iniquity, and let not their sin be blotted out from before thee: for they have provoked thee to anger before the builders.
6 [†] So built we the wall; and all the wall was joined together unto the half thereof: for the people had a mind to work.
7 [†] ¶ But it came to pass, that when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Ashdodites, heard that the walls of Jerusalem were made up, and that the breaches began to be stopped, then they were very wroth,
8 [†] And conspired all of them together to come and to fight against Jerusalem, and to hinder it.
9 [†] Nevertheless we made our prayer unto our God, and set a watch against them day and night, because of them.
10 [†] And Judah said, The strength of the bearers of burdens is decayed, and there is much rubbish; so that we are not able to build the wall.
11 [†] And our adversaries said, They shall not know, neither see, till we come in the midst among them, and slay them, and cause the work to cease.
12 [†] And it came to pass, that when the Jews which dwelt by them came, they said unto us ten times, From all places whence ye shall return unto us they will be upon you.
13 [†] ¶ Therefore set I in the lower places behind the wall, and on the higher places, I even set the people after their families with their swords, their spears, and their bows.
14 And I looked, and rose up, and said unto the nobles, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, Be not ye afraid of them: remember the Lord, which is great and terrible, and fight for your brethren, your sons, and your daughters, your wives, and your houses.
15 [†] And it came to pass, when our enemies heard that it was known unto us, and God had brought their counsel to nought, that we returned all of us to the wall, every one unto his work.
16 [†] And it came to pass from that time forth, that the half of my servants wrought in the work, and the other half of them held both the spears, the shields, and the bows, and the habergeons; and the rulers were behind all the house of Judah.
17 [†] They which builded on the wall, and they that bare burdens, with those that laded, every one with one of his hands wrought in the work, and with the other hand held a weapon.
18 [†] For the builders, every one had his sword girded by his side, and so builded. And he that sounded the trumpet was by me.
19 [†] ¶ And I said unto the nobles, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The work is great and large, and we are separated upon the wall, one far from another.
20 [†] In what place therefore ye hear the sound of the trumpet, resort ye thither unto us: our God shall fight for us.

21 So we laboured in the work: and half of them held the spears from the rising of the morning till the stars appeared.
22 [†] Likewise at the same time said I unto the people, Let every one with his servant lodge within Jerusalem, that in the night they may be a guard to us, and labour on the day.
23 [†] So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my servants, nor the men of the guard which followed me, none of us put off our clothes, saving that every one put them off for washing.

Nehemiah 5 [†]

1 [†] And there was a great cry of the people and of their wives against their brethren the Jews.
2 For there were that said, We, our sons, and our daughters, are many: therefore we take up corn for them, that we may eat, and live.
3 [†] Some also there were that said, We have mortgaged our lands, vineyards, and houses, that we might buy corn, because of the dearth.
4 There were also that said, We have borrowed money for the king's tribute, and that upon our lands and vineyards.
5 [†] Yet now our flesh is as the flesh of our brethren, our children as their children: and, lo, we bring into bondage our sons and our daughters to be servants, and some of our daughters are brought unto bondage already: neither is it in our power to redeem them; for other men have our lands and vineyards.
6 ¶ And I was very angry when I heard their cry and these words.
7 [†] Then I consulted with myself, and I rebuked the nobles, and the rulers, and said unto them, Ye exact usury, every one of his brother. And I set a great assembly against them.
8 [†] And I said unto them, We after our ability have redeemed our brethren the Jews, which were sold unto the heathen; and will ye even sell your brethren? or shall they be sold unto us? Then held they their peace, and found nothing to answer.
9 Also I said, It is not good that ye do: ought ye not to walk in the fear of our God because of the reproach of the heathen our enemies?
10 [†] I likewise, and my brethren, and my servants, might exact of them money and corn: I pray you, let us leave off this usury.
11 [†] Restore, I pray you, to them, even this day, their lands, their vineyards, their oliveyards, and their houses, also the hundredth part of the money, and of the corn, the wine, and the oil, that ye exact of them.
12 [†] Then said they, We will restore them, and will require nothing of them; so will we do as thou sayest. Then I called the priests, and took an oath of them, that they should do according to this promise.
13 [†] Also I shook my lap, and said, So God shake out every man from his house, and from his labour, that performeth not this promise, even thus be he shaken out, and emptied. And all the congregation said, Amen, and praised the Lord. And the people did according to this promise.
14 [†] ¶ Moreover from the time that I was appointed to be their governor in the land of Judah, from the twentieth year even unto the two and thirtieth year of Artaxerxes the king, that is, twelve years, I and my brethren have not eaten the bread of the governor.
15 [†] But the former governors that had been before me were chargeable unto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, beside forty shekels of silver; yea, even their servants bare rule over the people: but so did not I, because of the fear of God.
16 [†] Yea, also I continued in the work of this wall, neither bought we any land: and all my servants were gathered thither unto the work.
17 [†] Moreover there were at my table an hundred and fifty of the Jews and rulers, beside those that came unto us from among the heathen that are about us.
18 Now that which was prepared for me daily was one ox and six choice sheep; also fowls were prepared for me, and once in ten days store of all sorts of wine: yet for all this required not I the bread of the governor, because the bondage was heavy upon this people.
19 [†] Think upon me, my God, for good, according to all that I have done for this people.

Nehemiah 6 [†]

1 [†] Now it came to pass, when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies, heard that I had builded the wall, and that there was no breach left therein; (though at that time I had not set up the doors upon the gates;)
2 [†] That Sanballat and Geshem sent unto me, saying, Come, let us meet together in some one of the villages in the plain of Ono. But they thought to do me mischief.
3 And I sent messengers unto them, saying, I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down: why should the work cease, whilst I leave it, and come down to you?
4 [†] Yet they sent unto me four times after this sort; and I answered them after the same manner.
5 Then sent Sanballat his servant unto me in like manner the fifth time with an open letter in his hand;
6 [†] Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, and Gashmu saith it, that thou and the Jews think to rebel: for which cause thou buildest the wall, that thou mayest be their king, according to these words.
7 [†] And thou hast also appointed prophets to preach of thee at Jerusalem, saying, There is a king in Judah: and now shall it be reported to the king according to these words. Come now therefore, and let us take counsel together.
8 [†] Then I sent unto him, saying, There are no such things done as thou sayest, but thou feignest them out of thine own heart.
9 For they all made us afraid, saying, Their hands shall be weakened from the work, that it be not done. Now therefore, O God, strengthen my hands.
10 [†] Afterward I came unto the house of Shemaiah the son of Delaiah the son of Mehetabeel, who was shut up; and he said, Let us meet together in the house of God, within the temple, and let us shut the doors of the temple: for they will come to slay thee; yea, in the night will they come to slay thee.
11 [†] And I said, Should such a man as I flee? and who is there, that, being as I am, would go into the temple to save his life? I will not go in.
12 And, lo, I perceived that God had not sent him; but that he pronounced this prophecy against me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.
13 Therefore was he hired, that I should be afraid, and do so, and sin, and that they might have matter for an evil report, that they might reproach me.
14 [†] My God, think thou upon Tobiah and Sanballat according to these their works, and on the prophetess Noadiah, and the rest of the prophets, that would have put me in fear.
15 [†] ¶ So the wall was finished in the twenty and fifth day of the month Elul, in fifty and two days.
16 [†] And it came to pass, that when all our enemies heard thereof, and all the heathen that were about us saw these things, they were much cast down in their own eyes: for they perceived that this work was wrought of our God.
17 [†] ¶ Moreover in those days the nobles of Judah sent many letters unto Tobiah, and the letters of Tobiah came unto them.
18 For there were many in Judah sworn unto him, because he was the son in law of Shechaniah the son of Arah; and his son Johanan had taken the daughter of Meshullam the son of Berechiah.
19 Also they reported his good deeds before me, and uttered my words to him. And Tobiah sent letters to put me in fear.

Nehemiah 7 [†]

1 [†] Now it came to pass, when the wall was built, and I had set up the doors, and the porters and the singers and the Levites were appointed,
2 That I gave my brother Hanani, and Hananiah the ruler of the palace, charge over Jerusalem: for he was a faithful man, and feared God above many.
3 [†] And I said unto them, Let not the gates of Jerusalem be opened until the sun be hot; and while they stand by, let them shut the doors, and bar them: and appoint watches of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, every one in his watch, and every one to be over against his house.
4 [†] Now the city was large and great: but the people were few therein, and the houses were not builded.
5 [†] ¶ And my God put into mine heart to gather together the nobles, and the rulers, and the people, that they might be reckoned by genealogy. And I found a register of the genealogy of them which came up at the first, and found written therein,
6 [†] These are the children of the province, that went up out of the captivity, of those that had been carried away, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away, and came again to Jerusalem and to Judah, every one unto his city;
7 [†] Who came with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispereth, Bigvai, Nehum, Baanah. The number, I say, of the men of the people of Israel was this;
8 The children of Parosh, two thousand an hundred seventy and two.
9 The children of Shephatiah, three hundred seventy and two.
10 The children of Arah, six hundred fifty and two.
11 The children of Pahath-moab, of the children of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand and eight hundred and eighteen.
12 The children of Elam, a thousand two hundred fifty and four.
13 The children of Zattu, eight hundred forty and five.
14 The children of Zaccai, seven hundred and threescore.
15 The children of Binnui, six hundred forty and eight.
16 The children of Bebai, six hundred twenty and eight.
17 The children of Azgad, two thousand three hundred twenty and two.
18 The children of Adonikam, six hundred threescore and seven.
19 The children of Bigvai, two thousand threescore and seven.
20 The children of Adin, six hundred fifty and five.
21 The children of Ater of Hezekiah, ninety and eight.
22 The children of Hashum, three hundred twenty and eight.
23 The children of Bezai, three hundred twenty and four.
24 The children of Hariph, an hundred and twelve.
25 The children of Gibeon, ninety and five.
26 The men of Beth-lehem and Netophah, an hundred fourscore and eight.
27 The men of Anathoth, an hundred twenty and eight.
28 The men of Beth-azmaveth, forty and two.
29 The men of Kirjath-jearim, Chephirah, and Beeroth, seven hundred forty and three.
30 The men of Ramah and Geba, six hundred twenty and one.
31 The men of Michmas, an hundred and twenty and two.
32 The men of Beth-el and Ai, an hundred twenty and three.

33 The men of the other Nebo, fifty and two.
34 The children of the other Elam, a thousand two hundred fifty and four.
35 The children of Harim, three hundred and twenty.
36 The children of Jericho, three hundred forty and five.
37 The children of Lod, Hadid, and Ono, seven hundred twenty and one.
38 The children of Senaah, three thousand nine hundred and thirty.
39 ¶ The priests: the children of Jedaiah, of the house of Jeshua, nine hundred seventy and three.
40 The children of Immer, a thousand fifty and two.
41 The children of Pashur, a thousand two hundred forty and seven.
42 The children of Harim, a thousand and seventeen.
43 ¶ The Levites: the children of Jeshua, of Kadmiel, and of the children of Hodevah, seventy and four.
44 ¶ The singers: the children of Asaph, an hundred forty and eight.
45 ¶ The porters: the children of Shallum, the children of Ater, the children of Talmon, the children of Akkub, the children of Hatita, the children of Shobai, an hundred thirty and eight.
46 ¶ The Nethinims: the children of Ziha, the children of Hashupha, the children of Tabbaoth,
47 The children of Keros, the children of Sia, the children of Padon,
48 The children of Lebana, the children of Hagaba, the children of Shalmai,
49 The children of Hanan, the children of Giddel, the children of Gahar,
50 The children of Reaiah, the children of Rezin, the children of Nekoda,
51 The children of Gazzam, the children of Uzza, the children of Phaseah,
52 The children of Besai, the children of Meunim, the children of Nephishesim,
53 The children of Bakbuk, the children of Hakupha, the children of Harhur,
54 The children of Bazlith, the children of Mehida, the children of Harsha,
55 The children of Barkos, the children of Sisera, the children of Tamah,
56 The children of Neziah, the children of Hatipha.
57 ¶ The children of Solomon’s servants: the children of Sotai, the children of Sophereth, the children of Perida,
58 The children of Jaala, the children of Darkon, the children of Giddel,
59 The children of Shephatiah, the children of Hattil, the children of Pochereth of Zebaim, the children of Amon.
60 All the Nethinims, and the children of Solomon’s servants, were three hundred ninety and two.
61 And these were they which went up also from Tel-melah, Tel-haresha, Cherub, Addon, and Immer: but they could not shew their father’s house, nor their seed, whether they were of Israel.
62 The children of Delaiah, the children of Tobiah, the children of Nekoda, six hundred forty and two.
63 ¶ And of the priests: the children of Habaiah, the children of Koz, the children of Barzillai, which took one of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite to wife, and was called after their name.
64 These sought their register among those that were reckoned by genealogy, but it was not found: therefore were they, as polluted, put from the priesthood.
65 And the Tirshatha said unto them, that they should not eat of the most holy things, till there stood up a priest with Urim and Thummim.
66 ¶ The whole congregation together was forty and two thousand three hundred and threescore,
67 Beside their manservants and their maidservants, of whom there were seven thousand three hundred thirty and seven: and they had two hundred forty and five singing men and singing women.
68 Their horses, seven hundred thirty and six: their mules, two hundred forty and five:
69 Their camels, four hundred thirty and five: six thousand seven hundred and twenty asses.
70 [†] ¶ And some of the chief of the fathers gave unto the work. The Tirshatha gave to the treasure a thousand drams of gold, fifty basons, five hundred and thirty priests’ garments.

71 And some of the chief of the fathers gave to the treasure of the work twenty thousand drams of gold, and two thousand and two hundred pound of silver.
72 And that which the rest of the people gave was twenty thousand drams of gold, and two thousand pound of silver, and threescore and seven priests' garments.
73 [†] So the priests, and the Levites, and the porters, and the singers, and some of the people, and the Nethinims, and all Israel, dwelt in their cities; and when the seventh month came, the children of Israel were in their cities.

Nehemiah 8 [†]

1 [†] And all the people gathered themselves together as one man into the street that was before the water gate; and they spake unto Ezra the scribe to bring the book of the law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel.
2 [†] And Ezra the priest brought the law before the congregation both of men and women, and all that could hear with understanding, upon the first day of the seventh month.
3 [†] And he read therein before the street that was before the water gate from the morning until midday, before the men and the women, and those that could understand; and the ears of all the people were attentive unto the book of the law.
4 And Ezra the scribe stood upon a pulpit of wood, which they had made for the purpose; and beside him stood Mattithiah, and Shema, and Anaiah, and Urijah, and Hilkiah, and Maaseiah, on his right hand; and on his left hand, Pedaiah, and Mishael, and Malchiah, and Hashum, and Hashbadana, Zechariah, and Meshullam.
5 [†] And Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people; (for he was above all the people;) and when he opened it, all the people stood up:
6 [†] And Ezra blessed the Lord, the great God. And all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting up their hands: and they bowed their heads, and worshipped the Lord with their faces to the ground.
7 [†] Also Jeshua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodijah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Levites, caused the people to understand the law: and the people stood in their place.
8 [†] So they read in the book in the law of God distinctly, and gave the sense, and caused them to understand the reading.
9 [†] ¶ And Nehemiah, which is the Tirshatha, and Ezra the priest the scribe, and the Levites that taught the people, said unto all the people, This day is holy unto the Lord your God; mourn not, nor weep. For all the people wept, when they heard the words of the law.
10 [†] Then he said unto them, Go your way, eat the fat, and drink the sweet, and send portions unto them for whom nothing is prepared: for this day is holy unto our Lord: neither be ye sorry; for the joy of the Lord is your strength.
11 [†] So the Levites stilled all the people, saying, Hold your peace, for the day is holy; neither be ye grieved.
12 [†] And all the people went their way to eat, and to drink, and to send portions, and to make great mirth, because they had understood the words that were declared unto them.
13 ¶ And on the second day were gathered together the chief of the fathers of all the people, the priests, and the Levites, unto Ezra the scribe, even to understand the words of the law.
14 [†] And they found written in the law which the Lord had commanded by Moses, that the children of Israel should dwell in booths in the feast of the seventh month:
15 [†] And that they should publish and proclaim in all their cities, and in Jerusalem, saying, Go forth unto the mount, and fetch olive branches, and pine branches, and myrtle branches, and palm branches, and branches of thick trees, to make booths, as it is written.
16 [†] ¶ So the people went forth, and brought them, and made themselves booths, every one upon the roof of his house, and in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, and in the street of the water gate, and in the street of the gate of Ephraim.
17 [†] And all the congregation of them that were come again out of the captivity made booths, and sat under the booths: for since the days of Jeshua the son of Nun unto that day had not the children of Israel done so. And there was very great gladness.

18 Also day by day, from the first day unto the last day, he read in the book of the law of God. And they kept the feast seven days; and on the eighth day was a solemn assembly, according unto the manner.

Nehemiah 9 [†]

1 [†] Now in the twenty and fourth day of this month the children of Israel were assembled with fasting, and with sackclothes, and earth upon them.
2 [†] And the seed of Israel separated themselves from all strangers, and stood and confessed their sins, and the iniquities of their fathers.
3 [†] And they stood up in their place, and read in the book of the law of the Lord their God one fourth part of the day; and another fourth part they confessed, and worshipped the Lord their God.
4 ¶ Then stood up upon the stairs, of the Levites, Jeshua, and Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani, and cried with a loud voice unto the Lord their God.
5 Then the Levites, Jeshua, and Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabniah, Sherebiah, Hodijah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah, said, Stand up and bless the Lord your God for ever and ever: and blessed be thy glorious name, which is exalted above all blessing and praise.
6 [†] Thou, even thou, art Lord alone; thou hast made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their host, the earth, and all things that are therein, the seas, and all that is therein, and thou preservest them all; and the host of heaven worshippeth thee.
7 [†] Thou art the Lord the God, who didst choose Abram, and broughtest him forth out of Ur of the Chaldees, and gavest him the name of Abraham;
8 And foundest his heart faithful before thee, and madest a covenant with him to give the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Jebusites, and the Girgashites, to give it, I say, to his seed, and hast performed thy words; for thou art righteous:
9 [†] And didst see the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and heardest their cry by the Red sea;
10 [†] And shewedst signs and wonders upon Pharaoh, and on all his servants, and on all the people of his land: for thou knewest that they dealt proudly against them. So didst thou get thee a name, as it is this day.
11 [†] And thou didst divide the sea before them, so that they went through the midst of the sea on the dry land; and their persecutors thou threwest into the deeps, as a stone into the mighty waters.
12 [†] Moreover thou leddest them in the day by a cloudy pillar; and in the night by a pillar of fire, to give them light in the way wherein they should go.
13 [†] Thou camest down also upon mount Sinai, and spakest with them from heaven, and gavest them right judgments, and true laws, good statutes and commandments:
14 And madest known unto them thy holy sabbath, and commandedst them precepts, statutes, and laws, by the hand of Moses thy servant:
15 [†] And gavest them bread from heaven for their hunger, and broughtest forth water for them out of the rock for their thirst, and promisedst them that they should go in to possess the land which thou hadst sworn to give them.
16 [†] But they and our fathers dealt proudly, and hardened their necks, and hearkened not to thy commandments,
17 [†] And refused to obey, neither were mindful of thy wonders that thou didst among them; but hardened their necks, and in their rebellion appointed a captain to return to their bondage: but thou art a God ready to pardon, gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and forsookest them not.
18 [†] Yea, when they had made them a molten calf, and said, This is thy God that brought thee up out of Egypt, and had wrought great provocations;
19 Yet thou in thy manifold mercies forsookest them not in the wilderness: the pillar of the cloud departed not from them by day, to lead them in the way; neither the pillar of fire by night, to shew them light, and the way wherein they should go.

20 [†] Thou gavest also thy good spirit to instruct them, and withheldest not thy manna from their mouth, and gavest them water for their thirst.
21 [†] Yea, forty years didst thou sustain them in the wilderness, so that they lacked nothing; their clothes waxed not old, and their feet swelled not.
22 [†] Moreover thou gavest them kingdoms and nations, and didst divide them into corners: so they possessed the land of Sihon, and the land of the king of Heshbon, and the land of Og king of Bashan.
23 [†] Their children also multipliedst thou as the stars of heaven, and broughtest them into the land, concerning which thou hadst promised to their fathers, that they should go in to possess it.
24 [†] So the children went in and possessed the land, and thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, and gavest them into their hands, with their kings, and the people of the land, that they might do with them as they would.
25 And they took strong cities, and a fat land, and possessed houses full of all goods, wells digged, vineyards, and oliveyards, and fruit trees in abundance: so they did eat, and were filled, and became fat, and delighted themselves in thy great goodness.
26 [†] Nevertheless they were disobedient, and rebelled against thee, and cast thy law behind their backs, and slew thy prophets which testified against them to turn them to thee, and they wrought great provocations.
27 [†] Therefore thou deliveredst them into the hand of their enemies, who vexed them: and in the time of their trouble, when they cried unto thee, thou heardest them from heaven; and according to thy manifold mercies thou gavest them saviours, who saved them out of the hand of their enemies.
28 [†] But after they had rest, they did evil again before thee: therefore leftest thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that they had the dominion over them: yet when they returned, and cried unto thee, thou heardest them from heaven; and many times didst thou deliver them according to thy mercies;
29 [†] And testifiedst against them, that thou mightest bring them again unto thy law: yet they dealt proudly, and hearkened not unto thy commandments, but sinned against thy judgments, (which if a man do, he shall live in them;) and withdrew the shoulder, and hardened their neck, and would not hear.
30 [†] Yet many years didst thou forbear them, and testifiedst against them by thy spirit in thy prophets: yet would they not give ear: therefore gavest thou them into the hand of the people of the lands.
31 [†] Nevertheless for thy great mercies' sake thou didst not utterly consume them, nor forsake them; for thou art a gracious and merciful God.
32 [†] Now therefore, our God, the great, the mighty, and the terrible God, who keepest covenant and mercy, let not all the trouble seem little before thee, that hath come upon us, on our kings, on our princes, and on our priests, and on our prophets, and on our fathers, and on all thy people, since the time of the kings of Assyria unto this day.
33 [†] Howbeit thou art just in all that is brought upon us; for thou hast done right, but we have done wickedly:
34 Neither have our kings, our princes, our priests, nor our fathers, kept thy law, nor hearkened unto thy commandments and thy testimonies, wherewith thou didst testify against them.
35 [†] For they have not served thee in their kingdom, and in thy great goodness that thou gavest them, and in the large and fat land which thou gavest before them, neither turned they from their wicked works.
36 Behold, we are servants this day, and for the land that thou gavest unto our fathers to eat the fruit thereof and the good thereof, behold, we are servants in it:
37 [†] And it yieldeth much increase unto the kings whom thou hast set over us because of our sins: also they have dominion over our bodies, and over our cattle, at their pleasure, and we are in great distress.
38 [†] And because of all this we make a sure covenant, and write it; and our princes, Levites, and priests, seal unto it.

Nehemiah 10 [†]

1 [†] Now those that sealed were, Nehemiah, the Tirshatha, the son of Hachaliah, and Zidkijah,
2 Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah,
3 Pashur, Amariah, Malchijah,
4 Hattush, Shebaniah, Malluch,
5 Harim, Meremoth, Obadiah,
6 Daniel, Ginnethon, Baruch,
7 Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin,
8 Maaziah, Bilgai, Shemaiah: these were the priests.
9 And the Levites: both Jeshua the son of Azaniah, Binnui of the sons of Henadad, Kadmiel;
10 And their brethren, Shebaniah, Hodijah, Kelita, Pelaiah, Hanan,
11 Micha, Rehob, Hashabiah,
12 Zaccur, Sherebiah, Shebaniah,
13 Hodijah, Bani, Beninu.
14 The chief of the people; Parosh, Pahath-moab, Elam, Zatthu, Bani,
15 Bunni, Azgad, Bebai,
16 Adonijah, Bigvai, Adin,
17 Ater, Hizkijah, Azzur,
18 Hodijah, Hashum, Bezai,
19 Hariph, Anathoth, Nebai,
20 Magpiash, Meshullam, Hezir,
21 Meshezabeel, Zadok, Jaddua,
22 Pelatiah, Hanan, Anaiah,
23 Hoshea, Hananiah, Hashub,
24 Hallohesh, Pileha, Shobek,
25 Rehum, Hashabnah, Maaseiah,
26 And Ahijah, Hanan, Anan,
27 Malluch, Harim, Baanah.
28 [†] ¶ And the rest of the people, the priests, the Levites, the porters, the singers, the Nethinims, and all they that had separated themselves from the people of the lands unto the law of God, their wives, their sons, and their daughters, every one having knowledge, and having understanding;
29 [†] They clave to their brethren, their nobles, and entered into a curse, and into an oath, to walk in God's law, which was given by Moses the servant of God, and to observe and do all the commandments of the Lord our Lord, and his judgments and his statutes;
30 [†] And that we would not give our daughters unto the people of the land, nor take their daughters for our sons:
31 [†] And if the people of the land bring ware or any victuals on the sabbath day to sell, that we would not buy it of them on the sabbath, or on the holy day: and that we would leave the seventh year, and the exaction of every debt.
32 [†] Also we made ordinances for us, to charge ourselves yearly with the third part of a shekel for the service of the house of our God;
33 [†] For the shewbread, and for the continual meat offering, and for the continual burnt offering, of the sabbaths, of the new moons, for the set feasts, and for the holy things, and for the sin offerings to make an atonement for Israel, and for all the work of the house of our God.
34 [†] And we cast the lots among the priests, the Levites, and the people, for the wood offering, to bring it into the house of our God, after the houses of our fathers, at times appointed year by year, to burn upon the altar of the LORD our God, as it is written in the law:

35 [†] And to bring the firstfruits of our ground, and the firstfruits of all fruit of all trees, year by year, unto the house of the LORD:
36 Also the firstborn of our sons, and of our cattle, as it is written in the law, and the firstlings of our herds and of our flocks, to bring to the house of our God, unto the priests that minister in the house of our God:
37 And that we should bring the firstfruits of our dough, and our offerings, and the fruit of all manner of trees, of wine and of oil, unto the priests, to the chambers of the house of our God; and the tithes of our ground unto the Levites, that the same Levites might have the tithes in all the cities of our tillage.
38 And the priest the son of Aaron shall be with the Levites, when the Levites take tithes: and the Levites shall bring up the tithe of the tithes unto the house of our God, to the chambers, into the treasure house.
39 For the children of Israel and the children of Levi shall bring the offering of the corn, of the new wine, and the oil, unto the chambers, where are the vessels of the sanctuary, and the priests that minister, and the porters, and the singers: and we will not forsake the house of our God.

Nehemiah 11 [†]

1 [†] And the rulers of the people dwelt at Jerusalem: the rest of the people also cast lots, to bring one of ten to dwell in Jerusalem the holy city, and nine parts to dwell in other cities.
2 And the people blessed all the men, that willingly offered themselves to dwell at Jerusalem.
3 [†] ¶ Now these are the chief of the province that dwelt in Jerusalem: but in the cities of Judah dwelt every one in his possession in their cities, to wit, Israel, the priests, and the Levites, and the Nethinims, and the children of Solomon's servants.
4 [†] And at Jerusalem dwelt certain of the children of Judah, and of the children of Benjamin. Of the children of Judah; Athaiah the son of Uzziah, the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalaleel, of the children of Perez;
5 And Maaseiah the son of Baruch, the son of Col-hozeh, the son of Hazaiah, the son of Adaiah, the son of Joiarib, the son of Zechariah, the son of Shiloni.
6 All the sons of Perez that dwelt at Jerusalem were four hundred threescore and eight valiant men.
7 And these are the sons of Benjamin; Sallu the son of Meshullam, the son of Joed, the son of Pedaiah, the son of Kolaiah, the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ithiel, the son of Jesaiah.
8 And after him Gabbai, Sallai, nine hundred twenty and eight.
9 And Joel the son of Zichri was their overseer: and Judah the son of Senuah was second over the city.
10 [†] Of the priests: Jedaiah the son of Joiarib, Jachin.
11 Seraiah the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, was the ruler of the house of God.
12 And their brethren that did the work of the house were eight hundred twenty and two: and Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pelaliah, the son of Amzi, the son of Zechariah, the son of Pashur, the son of Malchiah,
13 And his brethren, chief of the fathers, two hundred forty and two: and Amashai the son of Azareel, the son of Ahasai, the son of Meshillemoth, the son of Immer,
14 And their brethren, mighty men of valour, an hundred twenty and eight: and their overseer was Zabdiel, the son of one of the great men.
15 [†] Also of the Levites: Shemaiah the son of Hashub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Bunni;
16 [†] And Shabbethai and Jozabad, of the chief of the Levites, had the oversight of the outward business of the house of God.
17 And Mattaniah the son of Micha, the son of Zabdi, the son of Asaph, was the principal to begin the thanksgiving in prayer: and Bakbukiah the second among his brethren, and Abda the son of Shammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun.
18 All the Levites in the holy city were two hundred fourscore and four.
19 Moreover the porters, Akkub, Talmon, and their brethren that kept the gates, were an hundred seventy and two.
20 [†] ¶ And the residue of Israel, of the priests, and the Levites, were in all the cities of Judah, every one in his inheritance.
21 But the Nethinims dwelt in Ophel: and Ziha and Gispa were over the Nethinims.
22 The overseer also of the Levites at Jerusalem was Uzzi the son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Micha. Of the sons of Asaph, the singers were over the business of the house of God.
23 [†] For it was the king's commandment concerning them, that a certain portion should be for the singers, due for every day.

24 And Pethahiah the son of Meshezabeel, of the children of Zerah the son of Judah, was at the king's hand in all matters concerning the people.
25 And for the villages, with their fields, some of the children of Judah dwelt at Kirjath-arba, and in the villages thereof, and at Dibon, and in the villages thereof, and at Jekabzeel, and in the villages thereof,
26 And at Jeshua, and at Moladah, and at Beth-phelet,
27 And at Hazar-shual, and at Beer-sheba, and in the villages thereof,
28 And at Ziklag, and at Mekonah, and in the villages thereof,
29 And at En-rimmon, and at Zareah, and at Jarmuth,
30 Zanoah, Adullam, and in their villages, at Lachish, and the fields thereof, at Azekah, and in the villages thereof. And they dwelt from Beer-sheba unto the valley of Hinnom.
31 [†] The children also of Benjamin from Geba dwelt at Michmash, and Aija, and Beth-el, and in their villages,
32 And at Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah,
33 Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim,
34 Hadid, Zeboim, Neballat,
35 Lod, and Ono, the valley of craftsmen.
36 And of the Levites were divisions in Judah, and in Benjamin.

Nehemiah 12 [†]

1 Now these are the priests and the Levites that went up with Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua: Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra,
2 Amariah, Malluch, Hattush,
3 Shechaniah, Rehum, Meremoth,
4 Iddo, Ginnetho, Abijah,
5 Miamin, Maadiah, Bilgah,
6 Shemaiah, and Joiarib, Jedaiah,
7 Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, Jedaiah. These were the chief of the priests and of their brethren in the days of Jeshua.
8 Moreover the Levites: Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, and Mattaniah, which was over the thanksgiving, he and his brethren.
9 Also Bakbukiah and Unni, their brethren, were over against them in the watches.
10 [†] ¶ And Jeshua begat Joiakim, Joiakim also begat Eliashib, and Eliashib begat Joiada,
11 And Joiada begat Jonathan, and Jonathan begat Jaddua.
12 And in the days of Joiakim were priests, the chief of the fathers: of Seraiah, Meraiah; of Jeremiah, Hananiah;
13 Of Ezra, Meshullam; of Amariah, Jehohanan;
14 Of Melicu, Jonathan; of Shebaniah, Joseph;
15 Of Harim, Adna; of Meraioth, Helkai;
16 Of Iddo, Zechariah; of Ginnethon, Meshullam;
17 Of Abijah, Zichri; of Miniamin, of Moadiah, Piltai;
18 Of Bilgah, Shammua; of Shemaiah, Jehonathan;
19 And of Joiarib, Mattenai; of Jedaiah, Uzzi;
20 Of Sallai, Kallai; of Amok, Eber;
21 Of Hilkiah, Hashabiah; of Jedaiah, Nethaneel.
22 [†] ¶ The Levites in the days of Eliashib, Joiada, and Johanan, and Jaddua, were recorded chief of the fathers: also the priests, to the reign of Darius the Persian.
23 [†] The sons of Levi, the chief of the fathers, were written in the book of the chronicles, even until the days of Johanan the son of Eliashib.
24 [†] And the chief of the Levites: Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Jeshua the son of Kadmiel, with their brethren over against them, to praise and to give thanks, according to the commandment of David the man of God, ward over against ward.
25 Mattaniah, and Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, Akkub, were porters keeping the ward at the thresholds of the gates.
26 These were in the days of Joiakim the son of Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, and in the days of Nehemiah the governor, and of Ezra the priest, the scribe.
27 ¶ And at the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem they sought the Levites out of all their places, to bring them to Jerusalem, to keep the dedication with gladness, both with thanksgivings, and with singing, with cymbals, psalteries, and with harps.
28 And the sons of the singers gathered themselves together, both out of the plain country round about Jerusalem, and from the villages of Netophathi;
29 Also from the house of Gilgal, and out of the fields of Geba and Azmaveth: for the singers had builded them villages round about Jerusalem.
30 [†] And the priests and the Levites purified themselves, and purified the people, and the gates, and the wall.

31 [†] Then I brought up the princes of Judah upon the wall, and appointed two great companies of them that gave thanks, whereof one went on the right hand upon the wall toward the dung gate:
32 And after them went Hoshaiah, and half of the princes of Judah,
33 [†] And Azariah, Ezra, and Meshullam,
34 Judah, and Benjamin, and Shemaiah, and Jeremiah,
35 And certain of the priests' sons with trumpets; namely, Zechariah the son of Jonathan, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Michaiah, the son of Zaccur, the son of Asaph:
36 [†] And his brethren, Shemaiah, and Azarael, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethaneel, and Judah, Hanani, with the musical instruments of David the man of God, and Ezra the scribe before them.
37 And at the fountain gate, which was over against them, they went up by the stairs of the city of David, at the going up of the wall, above the house of David, even unto the water gate eastward.
38 And the other company of them that gave thanks went over against them, and I after them, and the half of the people upon the wall, from beyond the tower of the furnaces even unto the broad wall;
39 And from above the gate of Ephraim, and above the old gate, and above the fish gate, and the tower of Hananeel, and the tower of Meah, even unto the sheep gate: and they stood still in the prison gate.
40 So stood the two companies of them that gave thanks in the house of God, and I, and the half of the rulers with me:
41 And the priests; Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Michaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, and Hananiah, with trumpets;
42 And Maaseiah, and Shemaiah, and Eleazar, and Uzzi, and Jehohanan, and Malchijah, and Elam, and Ezer. And the singers sang loud, with Jezrahiah their overseer.
43 Also that day they offered great sacrifices, and rejoiced: for God had made them rejoice with great joy: the wives also and the children rejoiced: so that the joy of Jerusalem was heard even afar off.
44 ¶ And at that time were some appointed over the chambers for the treasures, for the offerings, for the firstfruits, and for the tithes, to gather into them out of the fields of the cities the portions of the law for the priests and Levites: for Judah rejoiced for the priests and for the Levites that waited.
45 And both the singers and the porters kept the ward of their God, and the ward of the purification, according to the commandment of David, and of Solomon his son.
46 For in the days of David and Asaph of old there were chief of the singers, and songs of praise and thanksgiving unto God.
47 And all Israel in the days of Zerubbabel, and in the days of Nehemiah, gave the portions of the singers and the porters, every day his portion: and they sanctified holy things unto the Levites; and the Levites sanctified them unto the children of Aaron.

Nehemiah 13 [†]

1 [†] On that day they read in the book of Moses in the audience of the people; and therein was found written, that the Ammonite and the Moabite should not come into the congregation of God for ever;
2 [†] Because they met not the children of Israel with bread and with water, but hired Balaam against them, that he should curse them: howbeit our God turned the curse into a blessing.
3 [†] Now it came to pass, when they had heard the law, that they separated from Israel all the mixed multitude.
4 ¶ And before this, Eliashib the priest, having the oversight of the chamber of the house of our God, was allied unto Tobiah:
5 [†] And he had prepared for him a great chamber, where aforetime they laid the meat offerings, the frankincense, and the vessels, and the tithes of the corn, the new wine, and the oil, which was commanded to be given to the Levites, and the singers, and the porters; and the offerings of the priests.
6 [†] But in all this time was not I at Jerusalem: for in the two and thirtieth year of Artaxerxes king of Babylon came I unto the king, and after certain days obtained I leave of the king:
7 And I came to Jerusalem, and understood of the evil that Eliashib did for Tobiah, in preparing him a chamber in the courts of the house of God.
8 And it grieved me sore: therefore I cast forth all the household stuff of Tobiah out of the chamber.
9 [†] Then I commanded, and they cleansed the chambers: and thither brought I again the vessels of the house of God, with the meat offering and the frankincense.
10 [†] ¶ And I perceived that the portions of the Levites had not been given them: for the Levites and the singers, that did the work, were fled every one to his field.
11 Then contended I with the rulers, and said, Why is the house of God forsaken? And I gathered them together, and set them in their place.
12 Then brought all Judah the tithe of the corn and the new wine and the oil unto the treasuries.
13 And I made treasurers over the treasuries, Shelemiah the priest, and Zadok the scribe, and of the Levites, Pedaiah: and next to them was Hanan the son of Zaccur, the son of Mattaniah: for they were counted faithful, and their office was to distribute unto their brethren.
14 [†] Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and wipe not out my good deeds that I have done for the house of my God, and for the offices thereof.
15 [†] ¶ In those days saw I in Judah some treading wine presses on the sabbath, and bringing in sheaves, and lading asses; as also wine, grapes, and figs, and all manner of burdens, which they brought into Jerusalem on the sabbath day: and I testified against them in the day wherein they sold victuals.
16 There dwelt men of Tyre also therein, which brought fish, and all manner of ware, and sold on the sabbath unto the children of Judah, and in Jerusalem.
17 Then I contended with the nobles of Judah, and said unto them, What evil thing is this that ye do, and profane the sabbath day?
18 Did not your fathers thus, and did not our God bring all this evil upon us, and upon this city? yet ye bring more wrath upon Israel by profaning the sabbath.
19 And it came to pass, that when the gates of Jerusalem began to be dark before the sabbath, I commanded that the gates should be shut, and charged that they should not be opened till after the sabbath: and some of my servants set I at the gates, that there should no burden be brought in on the sabbath day.
20 [†] So the merchants and sellers of all kind of ware lodged without Jerusalem once or twice.
21 [†] Then I testified against them, and said unto them, Why lodge ye about the wall? if ye do so again, I will lay hands on you. From that time forth came they no more on the sabbath.

22 And I commanded the Levites that they should cleanse themselves, and that they should come and keep the gates, to sanctify the sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this also, and spare me according to the greatness of thy mercy.
23 [†] ¶ In those days also saw I Jews that had married wives of Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab:
24 [†] And their children spake half in the speech of Ashdod, and could not speak in the Jews' language, but according to the language of each people.
25 [†] And I contended with them, and cursed them, and smote certain of them, and plucked off their hair, and made them swear by God, saying, Ye shall not give your daughters unto their sons, nor take their daughters unto your sons, or for yourselves.
26 Did not Solomon king of Israel sin by these things? yet among many nations was there no king like him, who was beloved of his God, and God made him king over all Israel: nevertheless even him did outlandish women cause to sin.
27 Shall we then hearken unto you to do all this great evil, to transgress against our God in marrying strange wives?
28 [†] And one of the sons of Joiada, the son of Eliashib the high priest, was son in law to Sanballat the Horonite: therefore I chased him from me.
29 Remember them, O my God, because they have defiled the priesthood, and the covenant of the priesthood, and of the Levites.
30 Thus cleansed I them from all strangers, and appointed the wards of the priests and the Levites, every one in his business;
31 [†] And for the wood offering, at times appointed, and for the firstfruits. Remember me, O my God, for good.

NOTES ON THE BOOK OF

NEHEMIAH

Chapter 1: Nehemiah, hearing the report of Jerusalem's condition, repents before God and seeks for the pardon of his and the people's iniquities.

REPORT FROM JERUSALEM AND NEHEMIAH'S PRAYER (1:1–11)

Report Concerning the Condition of Jerusalem (1:1–3)

1:1 Nehemiah means "The LORD comforts." In many ways, God comforts Nehemiah and His people throughout this book. Chisleu. Commonly reckoned as mid-November or December. the twentieth year. Thirteen years after Ezra traveled to Jerusalem, around 445 BC. Shushan. Also called Susa, the winter home of the Persian king (Est. 1:2; Dan. 8:2).

1:2 Hanani. Close kin of Nehemiah, perhaps his very brother (7:2). Knowing of the plots of the adversaries and the suffering of his people, Nehemiah was eager to hear a report of those left of the captivity, that is those who had returned to Judah.

1:3 affliction and reproach. Trouble and disgrace; not specifically identified, but likely the oppression detailed in Ezra 4:6–23. broken down. Likely the attempts by adversaries to break down their rebuild of the walls.

Nehemiah's Prayer of Repentance (1:4–11)

1:4 prayed. There are nine recorded prayers in Nehemiah. Here, he demonstrates a knowledge of God, Scripture, and what it means to be broken on account of sin. Some of Nehemiah's prayers are lengthy and others are spontaneous and short. God of heaven. Supreme Lord over all creation (Gen. 24:3,7; Ps. 136:1–2,26), a title frequently used of the Lord in communications from or to Gentiles (v. 5; 2:4,20; Ezra 1:2; 5:11–12; 6:9–10; 7:12,21–23; Dan. 2:37,44).

1:5 Nehemiah made his prayer on the basis of God's promises. beseech. To plead with. terrible. Not a negative description but one that evokes godly fear and respect. keepeth covenant and mercy. God is faithful to keep His promises and love His people (Deut. 7:9,12; 2 Chron. 6:14; Dan. 9:4).

1:8–9 The exile was a curse for turning away from the Lord. Nehemiah knew this from reading the Scriptures (Deut. 4:25–31; 28:36–58). Meanwhile, his hope of forgiveness rested on God's goodness and love. Remember. An appeal for God to act on His promises (Ex. 32:13; Deut. 9:27).

1:9 uttermost. Outermost. unto the place I have chosen to set my name. Jerusalem, home of God's glory in the temple (Deut. 12:5–6,11; 2 Chron. 6:5–6,34,38; 7:16; 12:13; 33:7).

1:10 Almost an exact quotation of Deut. 9:29, where Israel was threatened with extinction if it had not been for Moses' intercession. Similarly, Nehemiah interceded with God's promises.

1:11 desire to fear thy name. Delight to honor, worship, and obey God because of love for His glory (Deut. 10:12; Pss. 2:11; 112:1). The fear of God is a key motive in Nehemiah's leadership (5:9,15; 7:2). prosper. Cause to succeed in his endeavors. this man. King Artaxerxes. Nehemiah likely knew of the king's command (Ezra 4:21). cupbearer. A prestigious vocation in Persia, responsible to ensure that the king's cup was not poisoned. The Lord had sovereignly placed Nehemiah in this high position (Est. 4:14).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 1

1. This affluent servant of the king was touched with the suffering and anguish of his fellow Jews. Far greater is Christ's love for His people. Though He dwelt in the greatest places of honor and glory (John 17:5), He came down to die for them (Matt. 1:20–21; 20:28), and being raised for their justification (Rom. 4:25), He now intercedes in heaven for them (Rom. 8:34). Just as it was a great comfort to the Jews that they had a Nehemiah, so it is an infinite comfort to Christians that they have a sympathetic Savior at God's right hand. Praise God for His love and intercession on our behalf!
2. As is clear from his prayer, Nehemiah knew and believed the truth of Scripture. How does knowing and believing God's Word help in prayer? Using Nehemiah as an example, how can we use God's attributes (v. 5) in prayer? How can we use His laws (v. 7)? His promises (vv. 8–9)? His great works of salvation (v. 10)?

Chapter 2: Nehemiah receives permission from the king to go and rebuild the walls of Jerusalem and, upon his arrival, inspects the fallen walls of Jerusalem under the cover of dark.

NEHEMIAH PETITIONS THE KING AND RETURNS TO JERUSALEM (2:1–16)

Nehemiah Petitions the King (2:1–10)

2:1 Nisan. March/April. Four months had passed since the initial report.

2:2 sore afraid. Greatly afraid. Nehemiah greatly feared presenting his request to the king. Under Persian law an individual could be killed at the whim of the king.

2:3 sepulchres. Graves or tombs. consumed with fire. Lie in ruins and destruction.

2:4 prayed. A brief, spontaneous prayer.

2:6 queen. We do not know if her presence helped influence the king, or if this denoted a less formal, more private occasion. set him a time. The time frame is not mentioned.

2:7 letters. Official notices from the king for safe conduct and proof of the authoritative mission (Ezra 4:7–9). Nehemiah anticipated difficulty. convey. Let him pass.

2:8 timber. It was common in the Ancient Near East to build city walls of wood. according to the good hand of my God. Nehemiah saw God's providential power and wisdom orchestrating the lavish kindness of Artaxerxes.

2:9 captains . . . horsemen. Nehemiah had a military escort whereas Ezra had refused one.

2:10 Sanballat the Horonite. Governor of Samaria. Tobiah the servant, the Ammonite. The chief official of Ammon, an enemy of Israel (2 Sam. 10). Both these men proved to be antagonists to the work of Nehemiah. grieved them exceedingly. The governors relished their efforts of opposing the Jews.

Nehemiah Investigates the Walls (2:11–16)

2:12 in the night. Nehemiah kept his mission secret from his enemies and the Jews (v. 16).

2:13–14 gate of the valley. Chief gate overlooking the Tyropoeon Valley on the southwestern side of the city. dragon well. Likely on the southwest side. dung port. Southern end of the city where the Tyropoeon and Hinnom Valleys meet. Sometimes referred to as the Potsherd Gate (Jer. 19:2), it opened to the city waste pile. gate of the fountain. East side near the south end of the city. kings's pool. Outside the wall; it served as an overflow pool for the Pool of Siloam. Nehemiah eventually built the city walls near the crest of the hill due to the large amount of debris from the destruction of the earlier walls. This resulted in a smaller city than before the exile.

2:15 brook. The Kidron Valley, which ran along the eastern side of the city.

2:16 whither. Where.

THE GATES OF THE CITY ARE REBUILT DESPITE OPPOSITION (2:17—7:4)

Nehemiah Encourages the Jews to Rebuild the Walls (2:17–20)

2:17 reproach. Disgrace, plainly visible in the dilapidated state of the city, which reflected the reality of exile and God's curse. Nehemiah sought a reversal of the reproach.

2:18 hand of my God which was good upon. God's power had worked favorably for Nehemiah and the Jews. strengthened their hands. They prepared themselves for the work.

2:19 Geshem. Powerful leader of Qedar, a collection of Arab tribes that included Edom and the southern part of Judah. rebel. Rebellion against the Persian kingdom was cause for death.

2:20 ye have no . . . memorial. Like Ezra, Nehemiah rejected the help of these wicked men because they had no inheritance from the Lord in the land (Ezra 4:3).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 2

1. Nehemiah was a man of prayer. Again and again we read of him praying before he does something (vv. 4,20; 1:11; etc.). Some prayers were long times of devotion; others very short but heartfelt cries to heaven. A man who realizes his dependence on God will be frequently directing prayer heavenward. How would you describe your prayer life?
2. Nehemiah did not rush into a plan without surveying the rubble firsthand. Once he was intimately acquainted with what was needed, he called others to rise up and build with him. He is a model of wisdom, especially wise leadership. Why is it important to carefully investigate and understand a situation before proposing action? See Prov. 18:17; 29:20; Luke 14:28–30.
3. The cause of God will be opposed by the world, yet the gates of hell cannot prevail against it (Matt. 16:18). God's servants should expect both opposition and victory, suffering and success, if they seek God's kingdom and righteousness. Reading through Heb. 11–12, what should be our sources of encouragement, endurance, and optimism?

Chapter 3: The people begin the rebuilding of the walls of Jerusalem.

The Gates of the City Are Repaired (3:1–32)

3:1 The rebuilding began at the northern part of the city and worked counterclockwise around the city. Many of these places are either unknown or uncertain. Some archaeological finds show that the wall was more than eight feet thick. sheep gate. Gate that led to the temple and through which the sheep for the sacrifices passed. sanctified. Consecrated or set apart.

3:3 fish gate. Near the northwest corner and likely known as the Ephraim Gate and the Middle Gate.

3:5 Tekoa was in southeast Bethlehem, about twelve miles from Jerusalem, and was the city of the prophet Amos. nobles. Not everyone agreed with Nehemiah, and because of it missed out on doing the work of their Lord. their necks. The place of the yoke and thus a figure of speech for service and labor

(Gen. 27:40; Deut. 28:48; Isa. 10:27; Jer. 27:8).

3:6 Jehoiada. Opens into the second district of Jerusalem on the western side of the city.

3:8 apothecaries. Ointment mixers.

3:9 half part of Jerusalem. Jerusalem was divided into several districts, even as the province was divided into six districts.

3:10 over against his house. Opposite his house. Assigning men to repair the wall by their own homes (vv. 23,28–30) no doubt motivated them to work hard to protect their families (4:14).

3:12 The mention that daughters helped to rebuild the wall, shows the great influence that Nehemiah had on the people and the unity and cooperation of many in Jerusalem.

3:13 Zanoah. Thirteen miles southwest of Jerusalem in the Shephelah.

3:16 Beth-zur. Thirteen miles south of Jerusalem. It marked the southern border of Judah.

3:22 men of the plain. A subdivision of priests likely from the surrounding area; perhaps the Jordan Valley around Jericho.

3:26,31 Nethinims. Temple assistants.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 3

1. It is sad to see some who have no heart for the work of the Lord (v. 5). What a blessing they missed through failing to put their shoulders under the work! God has made sure their stubborn and selfish spirit was recorded for succeeding generations. Let this be a warning to us. How do you want to be remembered by generations to come?
2. It is stirring to see small and great doing their part to help protect the city of God. Though each built only a portion, God noticed the labors of everyone and honored them in Scripture. The church is a body and none can say he or she does not need another member (1 Cor. 12:21). Every Christian has a part to play in building the church. Let us not be lazy, nor envy the gifts and position of another, but let each of us work hard to serve according to his gifts and calling. God will reward us. How are you helping to build the city of God?

Chapter 4: Because of opposition to the building of the wall, Nehemiah prays, arms the builders, and sets a watch.

Opposition to Rebuilding the Walls (4:1–23)

4:1 wroth. Greatly angered.

4:3 if a fox go up. Tobiah exaggerated. Archaeological remains have shown the wall was more than eight feet thick.

4:4–5 Nehemiah did not retaliate but he prayed fervently against his enemies (Rom. 12:19). we. The first person plural indicates Nehemiah's solidarity with God's people in their tribulations.

4:4 prey in the land of captivity. Nehemiah prayed that they would be judged according to what they sought for the Jews.

4:6 half. The wall's height was now half complete, and it was joined together all the way around.

4:7–8 Bare verbal attacks were insufficient to deter the Jews, so their enemies resorted to planning military violence against them.

4:7 Geographically, Jerusalem is surrounded by enemies.

4:8 hinder. Stop the rebuilding of the walls, which were not yet complete.

4:9 prayer unto our God. Nehemiah again showed his unswerving dedication to God. a watch. The people were prudent to protect themselves.

4:10 decayed. Their strength had left them.

4:11 They shall not know. The enemies were boasting of their sly stratagems.

4:12 Jews. Jews who heard these plans warned the people of the evil intentions.

4:13–15 Nehemiah's response was unhindered by the rumors. God showed Himself more powerful than the plans of man, though Nehemiah again took precautionary measures.

4:15 nought. Nothing. God's overriding sovereignty worked through means to deliver His people.

4:16 wrought. Worked, did, or made. habergeons. Armor.

4:17 bare burdens. Those who labored. laded. Loaded. The people worked holding their swords.

4:18 girded. Strapped onto or alongside.

4:19 separated. The people were divided because they were on different parts of the wall.

4:20 trumpet. To give a warning to the people should the need arise. for us. Before us or with us.

4:22 within Jerusalem. Jerusalem offered protection in the night.

4:23 put them off for washing. Clearly, the builders were militarily on high alert.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 4

1. The adversaries of the Jews looked at their work and mocked it as feeble (v. 3). Often when the world looks at the church, it sees the imperfection, the faults, the sins, and its "rubble," but fails to see and understand that it is a work in progress (Phil. 1:6). One day, however, the church will be a pure and spotless bride to our heavenly Bridegroom (Eph. 5:25–27; Jude 24–25). How can this hope help you be diligent with the work at hand?
2. Nehemiah prayed and worked. Prayer should not be a substitute for exercising our responsibility. It is true that builders build in vain without the Lord's blessing (Ps. 127:1); however, having His blessing does not mean we do not have to build. God's servants must mix intense labor with devotion to prayer as they seek the kingdom of God. How might someone use prayer as an excuse not to work? How might he use work as an excuse not to pray? How do we exercise both prayer and work together?

Chapter 5: The Jews face internal challenges, and Nehemiah puts an end to the oppression and sets a good example as governor.

Usury Condemned and Nehemiah Appointed Governor (5:1–19)

5:1 great cry. We do not know to what extent this problem had been going on before Nehemiah arrived in Judah. Likely, the desperate plight of the people was exacerbated during the wall-rebuilding efforts.

5:3–4 The Persian Empire made it difficult to keep property due to high taxes with high interest rates, especially during times with little yields. This led people to borrow against their possessions. Debt is a form of slavery (Prov. 22:7).

5:3 dearth. Hunger, perhaps because of a famine or a shortage of food.

5:5 Indentured servitude was not prohibited in the Mosaic law but it was to be carefully regulated (Ex.

21:1–11). neither is it in our power to redeem. Literally, “there is not power in our hand.” The people were powerless to buy back their sons and daughters because their finances were not available.

5:7 usury. Lending money at exorbitant rates. Nehemiah condemns this because it is a means of exploitation. God’s law requires the covenant community to live in unity and harmony with one another. great assembly. Nehemiah calls for a public assembly.

5:8 held they their peace. They were silent.

5:10 Nehemiah knew his privileged position, but relinquished this liberty for the good of his brothers and the fear of God (vv. 9,14–15). He not only led with words, but by example.

5:11 Restore. Property and proceeds are to be returned to their original owners, though the extent of this giving back is ambiguous. Nehemiah calls the people to have mercy and grace toward their brothers at great personal sacrifice.

5:12 require. Seek.

5:13 shook my lap. Symbolic for the curse upon any who broke the agreement.

5:14 governor. When he was appointed is unknown though likely after the events of ch. 2. Nehemiah probably returned to Shushan after building the wall and was then appointed. bread of the governor. The governor was allowed by the Persians to receive taxes from the people to finance his own household (v. 10).

5:15 shekels. A standard of monetary measurement, at this time not a coin but a weight of precious metal. bare rule. Servants of officials ruled over and exacted income from the people as well. fear of God. Nehemiah’s motivation was his faith in God, reverence for His majesty, and desire to please Him.

5:16 thither. To or toward a place.

5:17 at my table. Nehemiah helped many of the Jews, including those who were migrating back into Judah from surrounding Gentile nations (the heathen).

5:19 Think upon me . . . all that I have done. Nehemiah was not motivated by a works-righteousness mindset as if he could merit God’s blessing (Ps. 143:2), but did have faith in the God of grace who rewards those who seek Him (13:14,22,29,31; Heb. 11:6).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 5

1. As the Jewish community faced problems from without as well as within, so believers face a war with multiple fronts. Never be surprised when the church must face sin in its midst, but be prepared to deal with it with love and justice (Gal. 6:1–2). Our own hearts are our worst enemy in the spiritual battle, so beware first of the log in your own eye before criticizing another (Matt. 7:3). How can we stand for justice among Christians without becoming cynical or bitter?
2. Nehemiah led both by what he said and what he did. Leaders in home, church, and society have much they can learn from Nehemiah. Even then, Nehemiah was imperfect, like we all are. Only Christ led in a way that never had any stain. Take time to pray for those in leadership in your life.

Nehemiah Opposed and Walls Finished (6:1—7:4)

Chapter 6: Nehemiah’s adversaries plot against him, but despite all the opposition the walls are finished.

6:1 breach. A break or means of entering into the city.

6:2 Geshem. The same as Gashmu (v. 6). These are two different ways of transliterating the Hebrew. Little is known as to his exact identification or nationality. Ono. Extreme northwestern area of Judah. Likely a strategic move to remove Nehemiah from the help he would have needed. mischief. Nehemiah understood their intentions to lure him away from God's work.

6:4 sort. Manner.

6:6 heathen. Literally, "the nations." rebel. This accusation was serious and if believed would result in death.

6:7 Sanballat's false accusations were meant to stir up trouble with the possibility of King Artaxerxes finding out. There are no records of the prophecies pointed to here, or the supposed prophets who proclaimed them.

6:8–9 Nehemiah dismissed the charges as false (thou feignest them), but the slanderous reports were still enough to cause the people to be afraid. Nehemiah's peace rested with God and he prayed that God would give him the courage and ability (strengthen my hands) to finish the project (Isa. 35:3–4).

6:10 house of Shemaiah the son of Delaiah. Shemaiah may have been a priest with special access to the temple (1 Chron. 24:18). It would not have been lawful for Nehemiah to enter the temple, and this may have been used as a ground to eliminate him. shut up. Confined or restricted (Jer. 36:5). There is ambiguity as to the exact meaning. Clearly, this is another attempt to get Nehemiah into a compromising situation, at a minimum, to besmirch his name.

6:11–13 into the temple to save his life. Nehemiah shows a good understanding of the law as he was likely forbidden from entering into the temple, and if he should so sin, his enemies would have justification for killing him. Shemaiah's words were weighed against the law of God.

6:14 think thou upon Tobiah and Sanballat. This prayer uses the same words as Nehemiah's prayer concerning himself (5:19), but with the opposite meaning. rest of the prophets. Shemaiah was not a lone prophetic voice in conjuring up this plan.

6:15 Despite the continual opposition, the walls of Jerusalem were finished. It took the Jews fifty-two days to complete. This shows the speed by which they worked. Elul. Sixth month, August/September.

6:16 cast down in their own eyes. Idiomatic phrase highlighting how the adversaries had been frustrated and humiliated. wrought of our God. Even the nations around them recognized the hand of the Lord in helping the Jews finish the wall.

6:17–18 in those days. Around this same time. Meshullam. He gave his daughter to Tobiah, but also helped to build the wall (3:4,30). Meshullam shows that people within the Jewish community were working against Nehemiah.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 6

1. Though the Lord had called Nehemiah, He did not remove the challenges and make everything easy as we would like it. Often difficulties come to the situations and people that God is using for great good. We should not be discouraged when difficulty arises, but trust in God's providence and press on with great courage. Courage may be found by faith and prayer (v. 9). Pray that God would help you to continue steadfast through temptation and intimidation, to cry to God, rely on Him, and view your situation and challenges with much spiritual discernment (v. 12).
2. "This work was wrought of our God" (v. 16). God's cause is not in doubt. He is never without resources. He says, "My counsel shall stand, and I will do all my pleasure" (Isa. 46:10). He will keep His covenant (1:5). This is the foundation of our courage and the bedrock of our prayers.

How can you build on this foundation and shore up your walls of defense?

Chapter 7: Nehemiah puts Hanani in charge of the city and registers the people by their genealogy.

7:1–2 Nehemiah's desire was to do more than rebuild the wall. The community needed to be well organized and suitable leaders needed to be put in places of responsibility. porters. Gatekeepers. Likely a type of guard or security. singers and the Levites. Mentioned here with porters because of the religious significance that the porters carried (12:25,45). feared God above many. He had an unusual reverence for God as Lord over all (1 Chron. 16:25; see note at 1:11) that made him trustworthy and reliable (faithful), an important quality in a public officer in state or church (Ex. 18:21; 2 Chron. 19:6–9).

7:3 sun be hot. The gates should not be opened in the early morning but later. watches of the inhabitants. Residents were responsible for keeping the watch of the walls.

7:4 large and great. Relatively speaking, compared to the people in it. houses were not builded. A massive building project was necessary.

LIST OF EXILES LIVING IN JERUSALEM (7:5–73)

7:5 God put into mine heart. Not a prophecy or direct revelation, but God's gifts of wisdom and holy resolution by the Spirit (2:12). reckoned by genealogy. A census to be taken.

7:6–73 This list of names is almost identical to that of Ezra 2.

7:6 Now the people have been reconstituted as the people of God coming out of the captivity to continue the heritage of their fathers.

7:7 A list of twelve priests.

7:70–72 drams. A measurement of precious metals. pound. Literally, "minas," another measurement of precious metals.

7:73 A new narrative to the story is introduced, to be taken with the following narrative (ch. 8). seventh month. An important month on the Jewish calendar. The first of the month was the Feast of Trumpets. The tenth day was the Day of Atonement. The fifteenth was the Feast of Tabernacles. During the Feast of Tabernacles the law was to be read to every man, woman, and child.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 7

1. The fear of God is a necessary element of any good leader (v. 2). For that matter, it is a basic mark of true believers (Jer. 32:40). They fear God more than they fear people. To fear God means to reverence His majesty, love His glory, obey His will as revealed in the Bible, be afraid to sin, and seek His grace and mercy. It directs both worship and behavior. What are signs in a person's life that he does or does not fear the Lord? Why is the fear of God so important in leadership?
2. "And my God put into mine heart" (v. 5). Nehemiah traced his good ideas and godly actions back to God (Phil. 2:13). Apart from God's grace, our good intentions, attitudes, and inventions will mean nothing. We need to be led by the Spirit of God (Rom. 8:14). How quick are you to give glory to God for any good in you, both with your lips and your heart? Do you secretly boast in yourself?

EZRA READS THE LAW AND THE COVENANT IS RENEWED (8:1—10:39)

Chapter 8: The people gather to hear the reading and receive the teaching of the law, after which they keep the Feast of Tabernacles.

Ezra Reads the Law and the Feast of Booths Is Kept (8:1–18)

8:1 The first day of the seventh month was the Feast of Trumpets (Lev. 23:24), a Jewish festival involving a holy convocation. From Ezra's podium, God's Word certainly had the effect of a trumpet, as it rallied the people. book of the law of Moses. The reading of the law was in the street before the water gate, on the eastern side of the city, not in the temple court (Ezra 3).

8:2 The whole covenant community was present (Deut. 31:10–13; 2 Chron. 20:13). first day. A day of rest in the Jewish calendar.

8:3 street. The law is read in the center of city life (Prov. 1:20–21). morning until midday. A span of six hours.

8:5 stood up. Common show of respect in hearing God's law.

8:6 Amen, Amen. An expression of their agreement. There was unified worship among the Jews.

8:7 These men, unlike the men of v. 4, probably walked amongst the crowds teaching the people what the law meant and helping them to understand the Hebrew language (Deut. 33:10).

8:8 the sense, and caused them to understand the reading. An ambiguous clause in the Hebrew. It may mean they exposited the texts for the people to understand. But it can also mean they translated the text into Aramaic for those who were not familiar with the Hebrew language. According to rabbinic tradition, the first Targum (Aramaic paraphrase of the Old Testament) is presented here.

8:9 Tirshatha. A transliteration of the original word that means "governor." mourn not, nor weep. It was the Feast of Trumpets, a day of rejoicing (Lev. 23:23–25). Chapter 9 will show the proper place of contrition and mourning.

8:10 sweet. Something that tasted sweet. the joy of the LORD is your strength. The people are commanded to keep a festal worship of God (Num. 29:2–6; see also Deut. 12:12; 14:26; 2 Chron. 29:36). He is their strength and salvation, and therefore they sing His praises (Ex. 15:2; Ps. 28:7–9; Isa. 12:2–3). The word joy used here is uncommon in the Old Testament (1 Chron. 16:27).

8:11 stilled. They quieted the people.

8:12 mirth. Joy, different word than v. 10.

8:14 booths. Tents or tabernacles, commemorating God's faithfulness during the wilderness wandering (Lev. 23:42–43).

8:15 Different branches likely used in the construction of the booths.

8:16 upon the roof. Houses in Israel during this time had flat roofs where the people would build their booths to honor the day they came out of Egypt.

8:17 There are passages indicating that the Feast of Booths was observed in the days of Solomon, Hezekiah, and Josiah. Most scholars believe that it is significant that the people neglected to observe this feast for many years. The Feast of Booths was both to recognize the wilderness wandering after the exile, but it was also to commemorate the harvest. It is suspected that this latter recognition is what the people focused on since the days of Jeshua, that is Joshua, the son of Nun. great gladness. A day of celebration and joy (Deut. 16:15).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 8

1. Just like the walls of Jerusalem provided physical protection (chs. 1–6), so the precepts of God provide spiritual safety (Ps. 119:165). Rebuilding the walls without returning to the Word of God would be foolish. Why would this be foolish and how would it provoke the Lord to jealousy?

2. Ezra did not merely read the law in the presence of the people, but the Levites were assigned to teach and instruct the people in the will of God. Give thanks for godly ministers from the past as well as the present whom God has sent to explain and apply the truth of God in your life.
3. Has God's truth ever broken your heart so that you wept like these people here in v. 9? When God's Word takes hold of us, we can weep over our sins, which God's Word unmasks. We can weep because we long for (more) communion with God.
4. There is a time for mourning; but the other side of godly emotions should not be forgotten. Here, the Levites direct the people so that their sadness is turned to gladness (v. 10). Indeed, the joy of the Lord is a great defense, or shield, against undue sadness. How can the Christian learn to rejoice in the Lord always?

Chapter 9: The people keep a solemn day of fasting and prayer, confessing their national sins in light of God's faithfulness.

The Law Read in the Presence of the People (9:1–3)

9:1 twenty and fourth day. The people had listened to the Word on the twenty-first day. The chiefs of the families came to hear the law, again, on the twenty-second day. There was a day between the festivities and the solemn assembly recorded here in ch. 9. fasting . . . sackclothes . . . earth. All signs of contrition and humility.

9:2 seed of Israel. Israel, the seed or offspring of Abraham, was chosen as a holy nation unto the Lord (vv. 7–8; Ezra 9:2). strangers. Those who were not rightfully part of the Jewish community.

9:3 Half of the day, the people either listened to the Word or confessed their sins in light of the Word.

God's Faithfulness to Israel Recounted (9:4–31)

9:6 thou hast made . . . and thou preservest them all. God has universal claims over all things, not just over Israel, because He created all things and sustains them by His providence (Gen. 1; Ps. 104). The doctrine of creation is an important part of the faith, for it reveals God's absolute claim on our lives, and thus the horrible evil of our rebellion against His Lordship (Thou . . . art LORD alone).

9:7–31 They praised God for His covenant faithfulness throughout the history of Israel from the calling of Abram, and they confess their faithlessness.

9:7 didst choose Abram . . . out of Ur. God's calling of Abram out of an idolatrous nation (Gen. 11:31; 12:1; 15:7; Josh. 24:2–3; Acts 7:2–3) was an act of free and sovereign grace according to His election or choice (Deut. 4:37; 7:6–8; 10:14–15; 14:2; Pss. 33:12; 105:6; 135:4; Isa. 41:8–9). gavest him the name of Abraham. Meaning father of many/multitudes (Gen. 17:5). The path that Abram took in leaving Ur was the same path taken by the exiles returning from Babylon.

9:9 In the time of Moses and the exodus (Ex. 2:24; 3:7).

9:10 signs and wonders. The ten plagues that God worked through Moses' hand. get thee a name. God made Himself known among the Israelites and Egyptians (see the first key theme in the Introduction to Exodus: Synopsis).

9:11 The crossing of the Red Sea (Ex. 14–15).

9:12 leddest. Led.

9:13 These Jews understood that the law was graciously given to them by God. They confess the law to not be burdensome but right and true and good (Rom. 7:12).

9:15 bread from heaven. The manna (Ex. 16). water . . . out of the rock. The waters of Meribah (Ex. 17; Num. 20).

9:16 proudly. Same Hebrew word as in v. 10, referring to the Egyptians. The Israelites in the wilderness showed that they had the same heart as the Egyptians. hearkened. Listened.

9:17 mindful. Remembered. God ready to pardon. Literally, "God of forgivenesses," abundantly forgiving sinners. gracious and merciful . . . kindness. God's character revealed to Moses after Israel made the golden calf (Ex. 34:6)—the only hope of Israel (v. 31). forsookest them not. Did not abandon them (vv. 19,31; Deut. 31:6).

9:18 molten calf. The golden calf in the wilderness. provocations. Literally, "blasphemies." The people credited the golden calf with delivering them from Israel.

9:20 good spirit. The Holy Spirit (Isa. 63:10–14), who throughout the Old Testament, taught the people through various individuals, including the teaching offices of prophet, priest, and kings.

9:21 waxed. Grew or became.

9:22 corners. The division of the land. Nehemiah transitioned into conquering the land.

9:23 multipliedst . . . as the stars. An allusion to the Abrahamic covenant (Gen. 15:5; 22:17; 26:4).

9:24 thou subduedst. God was the One fighting for His people.

9:26 rebelled. Same word used in the false accusations stating that Nehemiah was planning on rebelling against the king. Israel's problem did not lie in their rebellion against an earthly king, but against their heavenly King. slew thy prophets. Killed them (Matt. 23:34–36).

9:27 vexed. Literally, "bound" or "restricted." trouble. The time of the judges. saviours. Leaders who delivered Israel from its enemies (Judg. 2:16,18; 3:9,15). The Hebrew word is the root of the name "Joshua." The saviors of the Old Testament were shadows of Christ, the true Savior of God's people (Matt. 1:20–21).

9:28 returned. Repentance, turning to God and turning away from sin.

9:29 testifiedst. Bore witness against. proudly. See vv. 10,16. withdrew the shoulder. An idiom for being stubborn toward someone or something.

9:30 forbear. The idea of continuing or prolonging something. God bore with the sins of His people. give ear. Listen (Deut. 6:4).

9:31 for thy great mercies' sake. God's mercy is shown for His glory. consume. Destroy or eat up.

The Covenant Is Renewed (9:32—10:39)

9:32 our God. The people profess that God is their God and they are His people. keepest covenant and mercy. In spite of all their sin and corruption, they rest on the sure mercies of God (see note at 1:5). terrible. Not a negative connotation but one that evokes respect or reverent fear. let not all the trouble seem little before thee. Have compassion on us for our great troubles. Assyria. Israel was first exiled by the Assyrians before Judah was exiled by Babylon.

9:33 right. Acted in truth. No wrong can be charged against God.

9:35 fat land. Land rich or plentiful in good things.

9:37 yieldeth. Produces. The people lament that they are still in bondage. Their prayer of confession culminates in seeking deliverance from their oppressors.

9:38 make a sure covenant. Literally, “we are cutting an agreement,” which carries the idea of covenant making.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 9

1. For centuries, it was quite customary for governments and churches to call for days of fasting, humiliation, and prayer, especially during times of calamity, trouble, war, and so on. We ought to read God’s providence with an eye to God’s righteousness. Times of humbling ourselves, whether personal or public, are important to any close walk with God. How could you incorporate these habits into your walk with the Lord?
2. The memories of most of us are poor. For this reason, it is necessary that we continually hold before our mind’s eye the great acts of redemption and salvation that God has wrought. Our children, grandchildren, and all around us need to hear of the great works that God has worked in and for us (Pss. 78:4; 96:3). Share with someone close to you how God has worked and is working in your life.
3. Reviewing the history of Israel from Abraham to the exile, one can sum up its lesson in these words: God is righteous and keeps His promises, but man is wicked and breaks God’s laws. How then should we live? We must humble ourselves very low, recognizing that we and our families would have rebelled against God’s laws as bad or worse than the Israelites, and rest our hope in the grace of God alone. Cry out for the grace of Jesus Christ even as we have seen in this chapter.

Chapter 10: The people sign an agreement, binding themselves to God’s precepts in general with a number of particular precepts emphasized.

10:1–27 The men who entered into the covenant include Nehemiah and Zidkijah (Zedekiah), followed by twenty-one priests, seventeen Levites, and another forty-four others. A total of eighty-four signers are listed here.

10:1 sealed. Shows a firmness or resolve in making the covenant. The Hebrew word may be used to distinguish it from the covenant God made with His people.

10:28 separated themselves. The verb is used of distinguishing between the clean and the unclean, the holy and the common (Lev. 10:10; 11:47). God chose Israel to be a distinctly clean and holy people, separated from the pagan world (9:2; Lev. 20:24–26; 1 Kings 8:53; Ezra 6:21; 9:1–2) through their obedience to the law of God. Not only the wall bound these people together and shut out the intruder, but also the will of God as revealed in His law.

10:29 clave. Joined with their brothers. curse. A common part of covenant making. Covenant breakers justly endure the curse (Deut. 28:15).

10:30 The law against intermarriage is not about racial boundaries but religious ones. Those whom God had marked as the “holy seed” could not be contaminated with the “unholy seed.”

10:31 ware. Goods such as agricultural produce. victuals. Harvest or grains. exaction. Literally, “usury,” or interest payments.

10:32 charge ourselves yearly. This temple tax was not necessarily commanded in the law, though there was precedence for a similar tax (Ex. 30:11–16; 38:25–26).

10:33 atonement. To cover over.

10:34 lots. A way of deciding the Lord’s will. wood offering. Not an offering specifically commanded in the law, but provision of fuel so that the fire on the altar would remain burning (Lev. 6:12–13). written in the law. They were dedicated to obeying the law.

10:35–39 The people provided for the needs of the Levites.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 10

1. These people are not reenacting what God had done through Moses at Sinai in making a covenant with Israel. That had happened and was still binding. These people are expressing the vow to keep these things God had ordered with an emphasis on specific things that thus far had slipped. It is very important for all believers, especially leaders, to discern in what areas our spiritual boundaries are under attack and vulnerable. Pray for wisdom to know what sins God is convicting you of by His Holy Spirit.
2. This agreement does not only emphasize negatives, but also positives, such as an offering to God and support for the Levites. Obedience to God is not only forsaking what is sinful, but doing that which is good. Read James 4:17. What "good" have you been neglecting?
3. Note the strong resolution at the close of this chapter, "We will not forsake the house of our God" (v. 39). Christ preeminently had a zeal for the house of the Lord (John 2:17). Can you put your amen to this? Are you zealous for the church of Christ and the worship of God? How are you showing your support and zeal?

DIVISION OF THE PEOPLE, PRIESTS, AND LEVITES (11:1—12:47)

Chapter 11: The leaders of Jerusalem are listed and the cities that lay outside of Jerusalem.

People of Judah (11:1–9)

11:1 Now that the people had consecrated themselves to the Lord, they could take steps to have Jerusalem inhabited and maintained. The narrative picks up where it left off in 7:4–5. holy city. Jerusalem, home of God's holy presence in the temple (Isa. 48:2; 52:1; Dan. 9:24).

11:3–9 Various others from Judah and Benjamin, nonpriests, non-Levites.

11:4–24 There are many similarities between this list and the one found in 1 Chron. 9:2–17. It is likely that both Nehemiah and Chronicles depended on government archives to form their lists, while God's inspiration gave discernment and guaranteed the accuracy of what was used.

Priests (11:10–36)

11:10–14 The priests representing six different houses of the priests.

11:15–24 The Levites and porters.

11:16 outward business. Included the keeping of the building and property and the storing of provisions.

11:20 residue. Literally, "remnant." Not all the Levites lived in Jerusalem.

11:23 king's commandment. The king of Persia. The people of Judah settled south of Jerusalem.

11:31–36 The villages of Benjamin are to the north and west of Jerusalem.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 11

1. Here one-tenth of the people of God lived in Jerusalem. This was a special "tithe," consecrated to the Lord to sustain His holy city. Through Zechariah, God envisioned a time when everywhere, not just one city, would be called holy (Zech. 14:20–21). This is true in Christ. There is no longer one city where God has His presence in a particular way (John 4:21–24). The "city of God" touches believers throughout this world, and is found in its glory in heaven (Heb. 12:22–24). Praise God for the hope we have of His glory to be revealed one day!

2. What a note of joy there is in this verse: "And the residue of Israel, of the priests, and the Levites, were in all the cities of Judah, every one in his inheritance" (v. 20). After a long time of exile, these prodigals were back, each in their own inheritance. Have you returned to the Lord and the heritage of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob? This is a lifelong process, but it begins with turning to God and forsaking the world.

Chapter 12: The priests and Levites are listed along with their functions in the temple.

Levites (12:1–47)

12:10–11 Jeshua was the high priest at the time of the exiles first return and in the time of Haggai and Zechariah. Joiakim was the high priest after this time—perhaps when Ezra returned to Jerusalem. There is uncertainty about the chronology of the other high priests.

12:22 Darius the Persian. A title to distinguish him from Darius the Mede (Dan. 5:31; 9:1).

12:23 chronicles. Not a reference to the biblical book.

12:24 ward over against ward. Watch by watch.

12:30 The purification indicated dedication and holiness to the Lord.

12:31–43 Two groups encircled the city by walking on top of the walls, one group clockwise, another group counterclockwise, meeting in the middle.

12:31 Then I. Nehemiah. The first person narrative continues again (7:5).

12:33 Ezra. Most probably, Ezra the scribe. He was involved in this as well.

12:36 musical instruments of David. The men were keen to show the connection between their day and the days of Israel's glory under David and Solomon, particularly in their obedience to the pattern of worship revealed by God under their reigns (vv. 24,37,45–46). man of God. Prophet, through whom God spoke His Word (2 Chron. 11:2).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 12

1. The priests descended from Levi foreshadowed the greater Priest. Christ did not come from the line of Levi, but the line of Judah. Thus He could be a king. However, He is also a priest, but after a different order, the order of Melchizedek (Ps. 110:4; Heb. 7:14–16). The work of this greater Priest would be to forever rebuild and reestablish the spiritual house of God. Read Heb. 7:23–25 and then spend time worshiping our great Priest!
2. Chapter 12 includes one of the climactic moments in the books of Ezra and Nehemiah. After such a long time the walls and city of Jerusalem were dedicated (v. 27). When God does a work of revival like this, the refrain is: "God had made them rejoice with great joy" (v. 43). Revival brings life to bear on what was otherwise dull and dead. Joy is the only fitting response, so do not be ashamed to rejoice and celebrate over God's works. What inhibits joy in worship?
3. The Bible everywhere is concerned about purity of worship. This same concern appears here: they worshiped "according to the commandment of David" (vv. 24,45). Revival is not a time of innovation in doctrine or worship, but a time of returning to the old paths of God's Word. It is a pressing need today to see the worship of God regulated by the commandment of God. In what ways do you think your worship could follow more closely the purity found in God's Word?

Chapter 13: In the face of threats of compromise and the continuing need for reforms, Nehemiah carries out steps that make the community live up to its agreement.

ABIDING PROBLEMS IN THE RENEWED COMMUNITY (13:1–31)

Tobiah Defiles the Temple (13:1–9)

13:1 therein was found written. This reading was from Deut. 23:3–6.

13:2 hired Balaam. See Num. 22–24.

13:3 mixed multitude. Mixed in national and thus religious backgrounds.

13:5 great chamber. Eliashib prepared a room, probably a storage chamber, for Tobiah, an Ammonite, thus giving him influence. By the law he should have been excluded. aforetime. Beforehand. frankincense. A fragrant incense.

13:6 It was during Nehemiah's time back in Persia that unlawful laxity overcame the people. We do not know how long he was gone and when exactly he returned. king of Babylon. Though Artaxerxes was technically king of the Persians, because the Persians conquered the Babylonians, this title was fitting, just as other kings took titles from the lands they conquered (Ezra 5:13; 6:22).

13:9 Nehemiah has the chambers ceremonially cleansed due to the defilement of Tobiah.

Levites Deprived of Offerings (13:10–14)

13:10 A second challenge to the reformation of the people, the Levites were not receiving their portion (Num. 18:21). This is a contrast to 12:44 where the people gave the Levites their portion with joy.

13:14 Remember me . . . my good deeds. Nehemiah remained faithful and loyal to God's commandments and anticipated the rewards of grace (vv. 22,29,31; see note at 5:19). The word translated good deeds is the same word as God's "mercy" (v. 22), and refers to faithful love, especially covenant loyalty (1:5; 9:32). By grace, Nehemiah had kept the covenant of the Lord, and therefore believed God's promise that He would keep covenant with Nehemiah (Ps. 103:17–18).

Sabbath Profaned (13:15–22)

13:15 A third challenge was that of keeping the Sabbath. lading. Loading. The Sabbath was to be a time of rest from labor and commercial trade (10:31; Ex. 20:8–11).

13:20–21 The people resisted Nehemiah's attempt at reforms.

13:21 lodge ye. Some spent the Sabbath by the wall to assure a good place in the market the following morning.

Intermarriage (13:23–31)

13:23 A fourth challenge was intermarriage with unbelieving nations.

13:24 speech of Ashdod. A different dialect from that of the returned exiles.

13:25 cursed. Not a reference to inappropriate language, but invoking the curses of the covenant on lawbreakers if they did not repent. smote. Struck. As a civil official, Nehemiah had the authority to apply physical punishment to lawbreakers (Deut. 25:2–3; Prov. 10:13; 26:3; Rom. 13:4).

13:28 The religious laxity was even among the priests of Israel.

13:31 Remember me, O my God, for good. See note at v. 14.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 13

1. There will always be forces for evil. The history of Balaam and Balak reminds us that people will try to work against the people of God and the purposes of God. However, God is such that He will turn "the curse into a blessing" (v. 2). How can we be on our guard that we do not fall on the side of the curse, but experience God's work unto blessing through Christ?
2. How is it possible that an arch-enemy of Israel got a great chamber in the house of our God? In many churches and seminaries in our day, enemies of the gospel have a lot of sway. We should pray and labor that this not happen on our watch.
3. Many have felt that Nehemiah's actions were too harsh (v. 25). Let us remember, however, the time when Christ made a whip to drive out the money changers from the temple (John 2:15–16). Certainly, no one can say that Nehemiah was without sin, but Christ was. And Nehemiah was a man who desired fervently and acted decisively for the honor of his God. We may not have the authority to use physical force, but how are we using the authority and influence we do have for the glory of God?

This Evil World

"This evil world" identifies the common commitment of worldly people in their carnal minds, evil desires, and depraved consciences. Evil lifestyles, conduct, and conversation—this is the "course of this world" (Eph. 2:2), that which is common among worldly people. The Christian who wants to practice godliness in all sincerity should be mindful of the existence of this undivided power of darkness. It opposes and besieges anyone who practices true godliness, and it seeks to obstruct and thwart everyone in his holy work (Matt. 12:26; Col. 1:13). The whole world, which lies in wickedness (1 John 5:19), is always seeking to defile the believer (James 1:27) and to lead him down the wrong path.

There are three specific horns by which the evil world mortally wounds many souls and completely overthrows godliness in many hearts when no appropriate action is taken against it. The first horn of the world is its wrong traditions and customs. These customs are entirely opposed to the right practice of true godliness that admonishes the believer, "[B]e not conformed to this world" (Rom. 12:2). On the contrary, such customs engender worldly conformity, calling the believer to the idolatrous, pagan, devilish practices common to the age. When the godly object to these practices the world labels them "legalists." Many sinful, capricious people challenge the church as a collection of extremists or narrow-minded souls. Therefore, the world often succeeds in enticing the careless children of men with the glitter of its outward appeal, though such things run contrary to the God of Jacob (Ps. 81:4).

The second horn of the world is wrong, though celebrated and distinguished, role models. These important and prominent people are lauded for their brazen activity. Their example is impressive enough for others to follow their lead (Ps. 106:35; John 7:48). The world exalts such people to a position of desirability and envy, identifying them as intelligent and respectable people who are to be admired, and uses such celebrity people to wound the soul and hinder godliness. The defense for a man's wickedness becomes the example of some celebrity who is highly regarded and popular and who has done—or neglected to do—the same things to which he himself aspires. Because of such celebrities, a man is able to justify his conduct by reminding himself, "Well, I am not the only one. Everyone else does it." This has resulted in untold harm to true godliness. Therefore, we must be on our guard against being gored by this horn.

The third horn of the world is its erroneous and evil premise of reward and recompense. Thus the world turns on its head the ordained justice of God—blessings for righteousness and cursings for wickedness—by making it difficult, and even punishable, for the godly to live holy lives. Further, the world lends its hand in aiding ungodliness, proclaiming it fashionable (Num. 22:7,16–41). Often the godly who resist such wickedness are branded as uncooperative, intolerant, bigoted, backward, and otherwise disagreeable to the modern age. By contrast, the world promises everything to those who conform and adapt to its ways. They are welcomed and loved by great and small alike.

The person who sincerely wants to practice godliness must arm himself thoroughly for defense against these three horns. The practice of godliness in this evil world is a strenuous undertaking that must undergird the whole of life, like a good yeast that must permeate every part of the loaf. This undertaking is not one that can be accomplished by the believer's own strength. It is necessary to earnestly warn against an antagonistic power—this evil world—that opposes those who walk in true godliness and works. However, it is just as necessary for the encouragement of godly people to point out that there is a divine power, the united kingdom of grace, that is on the side of all who sincerely surrender their hearts and souls to practice true godliness (2 Peter 1:3).

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOK OF

ESTHER

Authorship

There are varied opinions regarding who wrote the book of Esther. Augustine argued that Ezra wrote it. The Talmud states that men of the Great Synagogue penned Esther (Baba Bathra, 15a). Clement of Alexandria and many of the ancient Jewish and Christian sources maintain that Mordecai is the author. Finally, other sources believe that Esther was simply written by a scribe, perhaps one in the courts of the Persian king. Our lack of certainty as to who wrote Esther does not prevent us from seeing this book as canonical.

The historicity of Esther has often been questioned. There are a number of biblical scholars who believe that the whole story is fabricated and not grounded in any real events. Others have been avid defenders of its historicity. A large number of scholars have argued that Esther is perhaps a historical fiction—an embellished story containing true elements.

Usually, scholars who dispute the historicity of Esther, think that Esther does not fit what we know from other sources, such as the Greek historian Herodotus. However, the author's details of Persian affairs are consistent with contemporary research. More importantly, the book presents itself as history, and there is nothing in the book or elsewhere in the canon that suggests it is not what it presents itself to be. The genre of the book and our understanding of the Scriptures do not permit us to believe that it was intended to be anything but a historical narrative. Indeed, there is no history like biblical history, true both to fact and life.

Date

Esther begins by noting, “Now it came to pass in the days of Ahasuerus” (1:1). Ahasuerus is also known as King Xerxes, the king of Persia (486–465 BC). Though canonically Esther comes after Nehemiah, chronologically Esther takes place between the time after the completion of the temple under Zerubbabel, who rebuilt the temple in 516 BC under the reign of Darius I, and the return of more exiles under Ezra in 458 BC, under the reign of Artaxerxes I (Xerxes’s son).

Darius I brought the Persian Empire to its greatest glory. Under Ahasuerus, his son, the empire saw tremendous success like the reconquering and subjection of Egypt and the suppression of a Babylonian rebellion. But he also suffered great loss, particularly in the Battle of Salamis against Greece (480 BC). We do have extrabiblical references to King Ahasuerus as recorded by the ancient historian Herodotus who characterized Ahasuerus as an ill-tempered and impatient king. This accords with the biblical testimony regarding him. Ahasuerus was killed in 465 BC and was succeeded by his son Artaxerxes I.

The date of composition has been largely debated in biblical scholarship. There are some who maintain that Esther was written at a late date during the Grecian or Maccabean period. But it is largely recognized that Esther was written before Alexander the Great Hellenized the world. Thus, it is dubious to think that Esther is a Jewish response to the Hellenizing of the world. The author was clearly familiar with Ahasuerus, Persian forms of execution, and the like. In light of all this, it is likely that Esther was written around 450 BC since the book refers to some things after the death of Xerxes (10:2).

Theme

God sovereignly ensures that those who seek to destroy His people will in turn be destroyed.

Purpose

To motivate God’s people to serve submissively and yet with godly courage under wicked rulers through faith in God’s hidden providence, by which He will bring the King of peace.

Synopsis

The Contribution of Esther to Redemptive Revelation

Esther explains the origin of the Jewish Feast of Purim, where the Jews celebrate their deliverance from the malevolent actions of Haman, an enemy of the Jews. This book serves to show how this feast originated and its importance. The word "Purim" is likely derived from the Akkadian word Pur, which relates to the lots cast by Haman to destroy the Jews. Though these lots initially meant the destruction of the Jews (3:7), it would later become the occasion of the Jews' celebration and joy (9:23–32).

Through the narrative of the beginnings of Purim, this book exalts God as the sovereign over all things from the casting of lots to major world events—though His name is never mentioned. The author of Esther does not recount the events of this narrative in a mundane fashion. Rather, Esther is a carefully crafted masterpiece of literature. The author uses many literary techniques, drawing the reader into the story. God's hand of providence shows itself in surprising turns of historical events.

Banquets and fasts frame the center of this drama. It is at a banquet that Vashti is rejected as a queen. At the banquet of Esther, Haman receives his death sentence. The Jews celebrate their deliverance with a feast called Purim. The details of Esther are just enough to carry us along without bogging us down in unnecessary facts. The author uses foreshadowing and surprise for rhetorical effect. Repetition is used in various spots to connect different elements of the story. The whole of Esther is a drama (not fictitious theater play, but an engaging narrative of real events) in which the reader is drawn and interested. The highly suspenseful story brings us to feel the relief and joy of the Jews as they overturn Haman's wicked decree.

The opening chapter does not include Esther as a character, but recounts the banquet where Ahasuerus called his wife, Vashti, to present herself before the assembly. Vashti refused and in a fit of rage, Ahasuerus banished her from being queen. This set the stage for Esther to come into the narrative.

Esther was one of the many women who were brought before King Ahasuerus, as he attempted to decide who he wanted to be his queen. Esther underwent a long process of preparation before she was escorted into the presence of the king for a night. After winning the favor of Ahasuerus, Esther was made queen, all the while concealing her lineage.

While all this was occurring, an evil leader among the Persians, Haman, was devising a plot to kill the Jews. The Jews and Agagites had a long history of animosity, and Haman used his privileged position to get the king to sign into law a day to kill the Jews. Mordecai, Esther's cousin, had foiled a plot to assassinate King Ahasuerus; however, because Mordecai failed to flatter Haman's ego, Haman targeted him, preparing gallows to see Mordecai hanged.

After making Esther aware of the plot against the Jews, Mordecai challenged her to use her influence. According to Persian law, however, once a law was signed into legislation, not even the king could revoke it. And approaching the king without his bidding could easily result in a death sentence.

Defying the seeming impossibilities, Esther approached the king and disclosed Haman's plot. The king ordered Haman's death, and in divine irony, Haman was hanged on the gallows he built for Mordecai. The king then issued a law that the Jews could defend themselves on the day of the great assault.

When the fateful date for the Jews arrived, they rose up against their persecutors, slaying many of them. To commemorate this day, the Feast of Purim recounts the way in which the Jews were delivered from the hands of their enemies.

But there is also a larger purpose that forms the background of this book. While the book does not explicitly mention God, it is apparent that the hand of God was moving the historical narrative of Esther forward. God is known by His acts as well as His words. Haman's wife issued an insightful commentary on Haman's action: "If Mordecai be of the seed of the Jews, before whom thou hast begun to fall, thou shalt not prevail against him, but shalt surely fall before him" (6:13). The real background to this tension between the Jews and those who wanted to kill them, is the struggle between the seed of the woman and the seed of the serpent (Gen. 3:15). Even while the people were in exile, God remained faithful to His covenant promises. God is the author and sovereign of all of history. Esther contributes to redemptive revelation by showing God's preservation of the nation of Israel, which was crucial for the coming of the Messiah in the fullness of time. Concerning the flesh, Christ came through Israel (Rom. 9:5). In God's redemptive plan there had to be an Israel for the Christ to come.

THE BOOK OF

ESTHER

Esther 1 [†]

1 [†] Now it came to pass in the days of Ahasuerus, (this is Ahasuerus which reigned, from India even unto Ethiopia, over an hundred and seven and twenty provinces:)
2 [†] That in those days, when the king Ahasuerus sat on the throne of his kingdom, which was in Shushan the palace,
3 [†] In the third year of his reign, he made a feast unto all his princes and his servants; the power of Persia and Media, the nobles and princes of the provinces, being before him:
4 [†] When he shewed the riches of his glorious kingdom and the honour of his excellent majesty many days, even an hundred and fourscore days.
5 [†] And when these days were expired, the king made a feast unto all the people that were present in Shushan the palace, both unto great and small, seven days, in the court of the garden of the king's palace;
6 [†] Where were white, green, and blue, hangings, fastened with cords of fine linen and purple to silver rings and pillars of marble: the beds were of gold and silver, upon a pavement of red, and blue, and white, and black, marble.
7 [†] And they gave them drink in vessels of gold, (the vessels being diverse one from another,) and royal wine in abundance, according to the state of the king.
8 And the drinking was according to the law; none did compel: for so the king had appointed to all the officers of his house, that they should do according to every man's pleasure.
9 [†] Also Vashti the queen made a feast for the women in the royal house which belonged to king Ahasuerus.
10 [†] ¶ On the seventh day, when the heart of the king was merry with wine, he commanded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seven chamberlains that served in the presence of Ahasuerus the king,
11 [†] To bring Vashti the queen before the king with the crown royal, to shew the people and the princes her beauty: for she was fair to look on.
12 [†] But the queen Vashti refused to come at the king's commandment by his chamberlains: therefore was the king very wroth, and his anger burned in him.
13 [†] ¶ Then the king said to the wise men, which knew the times, (for so was the king's manner toward all that knew law and judgment:
14 [†] And the next unto him was Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan, the seven princes of Persia and Media, which saw the king's face, and which sat the first in the kingdom;)
15 [†] What shall we do unto the queen Vashti according to law, because she hath not performed the commandment of the king Ahasuerus by the chamberlains?
16 And Memucan answered before the king and the princes, Vashti the queen hath not done wrong to the king only, but also to all the princes, and to all the people that are in all the provinces of the king Ahasuerus.
17 [†] For this deed of the queen shall come abroad unto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands in their eyes, when it shall be reported, The king Ahasuerus commanded Vashti the queen to be brought in before him, but she came not.
18 Likewise shall the ladies of Persia and Media say this day unto all the king's princes, which have heard of the deed of the queen. Thus shall there arise too much contempt and wrath.
19 [†] If it please the king, let there go a royal commandment from him, and let it be written among the laws of the Persians and the Medes, that it be not altered, That Vashti come no more before king

Ahasuerus; and let the king give her royal estate unto another that is better than she.
20 [†] And when the king's decree which he shall make shall be published throughout all his empire, (for it is great,) all the wives shall give to their husbands honour, both to great and small.
21 And the saying pleased the king and the princes; and the king did according to the word of Memucan:
22 [†] For he sent letters into all the king's provinces, into every province according to the writing thereof, and to every people after their language, that every man should bear rule in his own house, and that it should be published according to the language of every people.

Esther 2 [†]

1 [†] After these things, when the wrath of king Ahasuerus was appeased, he remembered Vashti, and what she had done, and what was decreed against her.
2 Then said the king's servants that ministered unto him, Let there be fair young virgins sought for the king:
3 [†] And let the king appoint officers in all the provinces of his kingdom, that they may gather together all the fair young virgins unto Shushan the palace, to the house of the women, unto the custody of Hege the king's chamberlain, keeper of the women; and let their things for purification be given them:
4 [†] And let the maiden which pleaseth the king be queen instead of Vashti. And the thing pleased the king; and he did so.
5 [†] ¶ Now in Shushan the palace there was a certain Jew, whose name was Mordecai, the son of Jair, the son of Shimei, the son of Kish, a Benjamite;
6 [†] Who had been carried away from Jerusalem with the captivity which had been carried away with Jeconiah king of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away.
7 [†] And he brought up Hadassah, that is, Esther, his uncle's daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and the maid was fair and beautiful; whom Mordecai, when her father and mother were dead, took for his own daughter.
8 [†] ¶ So it came to pass, when the king's commandment and his decree was heard, and when many maidens were gathered together unto Shushan the palace, to the custody of Hegai, that Esther was brought also unto the king's house, to the custody of Hegai, keeper of the women.
9 [†] And the maiden pleased him, and she obtained kindness of him; and he speedily gave her her things for purification, with such things as belonged to her, and seven maidens, which were meet to be given her, out of the king's house: and he preferred her and her maids unto the best place of the house of the women.
10 [†] Esther had not shewed her people nor her kindred: for Mordecai had charged her that she should not shew it.
11 And Mordecai walked every day before the court of the women's house, to know how Esther did, and what should become of her.
12 [†] ¶ Now when every maid's turn was come to go in to king Ahasuerus, after that she had been twelve months, according to the manner of the women, (for so were the days of their purifications accomplished, to wit, six months with oil of myrrh, and six months with sweet odours, and with other things for the purifying of the women;)
13 Then thus came every maiden unto the king; whatsoever she desired was given her to go with her out of the house of the women unto the king's house.
14 [†] In the evening she went, and on the morrow she returned into the second house of the women, to the custody of Shaashgaz, the king's chamberlain, which kept the concubines: she came in unto the king no more, except the king delighted in her, and that she were called by name.
15 [†] ¶ Now when the turn of Esther, the daughter of Abihail the uncle of Mordecai, who had taken her for his daughter, was come to go in unto the king, she required nothing but what Hegai the king's chamberlain, the keeper of the women, appointed. And Esther obtained favour in the sight of all them that looked upon her.
16 So Esther was taken unto king Ahasuerus into his house royal in the tenth month, which is the month Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign.
17 And the king loved Esther above all the women, and she obtained grace and favour in his sight more than all the virgins; so that he set the royal crown upon her head, and made her queen instead of Vashti.

18 [†] Then the king made a great feast unto all his princes and his servants, even Esther's feast; and he made a release to the provinces, and gave gifts, according to the state of the king.
19 [†] And when the virgins were gathered together the second time, then Mordecai sat in the king's gate.
20 [†] Esther had not yet shewed her kindred nor her people; as Mordecai had charged her: for Esther did the commandment of Mordecai, like as when she was brought up with him.
21 [†] ¶ In those days, while Mordecai sat in the king's gate, two of the king's chamberlains, Bigthan and Teresh, of those which kept the door, were wroth, and sought to lay hand on the king Ahasuerus.
22 And the thing was known to Mordecai, who told it unto Esther the queen; and Esther certified the king thereof in Mordecai's name.
23 [†] And when inquisition was made of the matter, it was found out; therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the book of the chronicles before the king.

Esther 3 [†]

1 [†] After these things did king Ahasuerus promote Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, and advanced him, and set his seat above all the princes that were with him.
2 [†] And all the king's servants, that were in the king's gate, bowed, and reverenced Haman: for the king had so commanded concerning him. But Mordecai bowed not, nor did him reverence.
3 Then the king's servants, which were in the king's gate, said unto Mordecai, Why transgressest thou the king's commandment?
4 [†] Now it came to pass, when they spake daily unto him, and he hearkened not unto them, that they told Haman, to see whether Mordecai's matters would stand: for he had told them that he was a Jew.
5 And when Haman saw that Mordecai bowed not, nor did him reverence, then was Haman full of wrath.
6 [†] And he thought scorn to lay hands on Mordecai alone; for they had shewed him the people of Mordecai: wherefore Haman sought to destroy all the Jews that were throughout the whole kingdom of Ahasuerus, even the people of Mordecai.
7 [†] ¶ In the first month, that is, the month Nisan, in the twelfth year of king Ahasuerus, they cast Pur, that is, the lot, before Haman from day to day, and from month to month, to the twelfth month, that is, the month Adar.
8 [†] ¶ And Haman said unto king Ahasuerus, There is a certain people scattered abroad and dispersed among the people in all the provinces of thy kingdom; and their laws are diverse from all people; neither keep they the king's laws: therefore it is not for the king's profit to suffer them.
9 [†] If it please the king, let it be written that they may be destroyed: and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver to the hands of those that have the charge of the business, to bring it into the king's treasuries.
10 [†] And the king took his ring from his hand, and gave it unto Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the Jews' enemy.
11 And the king said unto Haman, The silver is given to thee, the people also, to do with them as it seemeth good to thee.
12 [†] Then were the king's scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first month, and there was written according to all that Haman had commanded unto the king's lieutenants, and to the governors that were over every province, and to the rulers of every people of every province according to the writing thereof, and to every people after their language; in the name of king Ahasuerus was it written, and sealed with the king's ring.
13 [†] And the letters were sent by posts into all the king's provinces, to destroy, to kill, and to cause to perish, all Jews, both young and old, little children and women, in one day, even upon the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month Adar, and to take the spoil of them for a prey.
14 [†] The copy of the writing for a commandment to be given in every province was published unto all people, that they should be ready against that day.
15 The posts went out, being hastened by the king's commandment, and the decree was given in Shushan the palace. And the king and Haman sat down to drink; but the city Shushan was perplexed.

Esther 4 [†]

1 [†] When Mordecai perceived all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth with ashes, and went out into the midst of the city, and cried with a loud and a bitter cry;
2 And came even before the king's gate: for none might enter into the king's gate clothed with sackcloth.
3 And in every province, whithersoever the king's commandment and his decree came, there was great mourning among the Jews, and fasting, and weeping, and wailing; and many lay in sackcloth and ashes.
4 [†] ¶ So Esther's maids and her chamberlains came and told it her. Then was the queen exceedingly grieved; and she sent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth from him: but he received it not.
5 [†] Then called Esther for Hatach, one of the king's chamberlains, whom he had appointed to attend upon her, and gave him a commandment to Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.
6 So Hatach went forth to Mordecai unto the street of the city, which was before the king's gate.
7 And Mordecai told him of all that had happened unto him, and of the sum of the money that Haman had promised to pay to the king's treasuries for the Jews, to destroy them.
8 [†] Also he gave him the copy of the writing of the decree that was given at Shushan to destroy them, to shew it unto Esther, and to declare it unto her, and to charge her that she should go in unto the king, to make supplication unto him, and to make request before him for her people.
9 And Hatach came and told Esther the words of Mordecai.
10 ¶ Again Esther spake unto Hatach, and gave him commandment unto Mordecai;
11 [†] All the king's servants, and the people of the king's provinces, do know, that whosoever, whether man or woman, shall come unto the king into the inner court, who is not called, there is one law of his to put him to death, except such to whom the king shall hold out the golden sceptre, that he may live: but I have not been called to come in unto the king these thirty days.
12 And they told to Mordecai Esther's words.
13 Then Mordecai commanded to answer Esther, Think not with thyself that thou shalt escape in the king's house, more than all the Jews.
14 [†] For if thou altogether holdest thy peace at this time, then shall there enlargement and deliverance arise to the Jews from another place; but thou and thy father's house shall be destroyed: and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for such a time as this?
15 [†] ¶ Then Esther bade them return Mordecai this answer,
16 [†] Go, gather together all the Jews that are present in Shushan, and fast ye for me, and neither eat nor drink three days, night or day: I also and my maidens will fast likewise; and so will I go in unto the king, which is not according to the law: and if I perish, I perish.
17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Esther had commanded him.

Esther 5 [†]

1 [†] Now it came to pass on the third day, that Esther put on her royal apparel, and stood in the inner court of the king's house, over against the king's house: and the king sat upon his royal throne in the royal house, over against the gate of the house.
2 And it was so, when the king saw Esther the queen standing in the court, that she obtained favour in his sight: and the king held out to Esther the golden sceptre that was in his hand. So Esther drew near, and touched the top of the sceptre.
3 [†] Then said the king unto her, What wilt thou, queen Esther? and what is thy request? it shall be even given thee to the half of the kingdom.
4 [†] And Esther answered, If it seem good unto the king, let the king and Haman come this day unto the banquet that I have prepared for him.
5 Then the king said, Cause Haman to make haste, that he may do as Esther hath said. So the king and Haman came to the banquet that Esther had prepared.
6 [†] ¶ And the king said unto Esther at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition? and it shall be granted thee: and what is thy request? even to the half of the kingdom it shall be performed.
7 [†] Then answered Esther, and said, My petition and my request is;
8 If I have found favour in the sight of the king, and if it please the king to grant my petition, and to perform my request, let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for them, and I will do to morrow as the king hath said.
9 [†] ¶ Then went Haman forth that day joyful and with a glad heart: but when Haman saw Mordecai in the king's gate, that he stood not up, nor moved for him, he was full of indignation against Mordecai.
10 Nevertheless Haman refrained himself: and when he came home, he sent and called for his friends, and Zeresh his wife.
11 [†] And Haman told them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the king had promoted him, and how he had advanced him above the princes and servants of the king.
12 Haman said moreover, Yea, Esther the queen did let no man come in with the king unto the banquet that she had prepared but myself; and to morrow am I invited unto her also with the king.
13 [†] Yet all this availeth me nothing, so long as I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the king's gate.
14 [†] ¶ Then said Zeresh his wife and all his friends unto him, Let a gallows be made of fifty cubits high, and to morrow speak thou unto the king that Mordecai may be hanged thereon: then go thou in merrily with the king unto the banquet. And the thing pleased Haman; and he caused the gallows to be made.

Esther 6 [†]

1 [†] On that night could not the king sleep, and he commanded to bring the book of records of the chronicles; and they were read before the king.
2 And it was found written, that Mordecai had told of Bigthana and Teresh, two of the king's chamberlains, the keepers of the door, who sought to lay hand on the king Ahasuerus.
3 [†] And the king said, What honour and dignity hath been done to Mordecai for this? Then said the king's servants that ministered unto him, There is nothing done for him.
4 ¶ And the king said, Who is in the court? Now Haman was come into the outward court of the king's house, to speak unto the king to hang Mordecai on the gallows that he had prepared for him.
5 And the king's servants said unto him, Behold, Haman standeth in the court. And the king said, Let him come in.
6 [†] So Haman came in. And the king said unto him, What shall be done unto the man whom the king delighteth to honour? Now Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the king delight to do honour more than to myself ?
7 And Haman answered the king, For the man whom the king delighteth to honour,
8 [†] Let the royal apparel be brought which the king useth to wear, and the horse that the king rideth upon, and the crown royal which is set upon his head:
9 [†] And let this apparel and horse be delivered to the hand of one of the king's most noble princes, that they may array the man withal whom the king delighteth to honour, and bring him on horseback through the street of the city, and proclaim before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delighteth to honour.
10 [†] Then the king said to Haman, Make haste, and take the apparel and the horse, as thou hast said, and do even so to Mordecai the Jew, that sitteth at the king's gate: let nothing fail of all that thou hast spoken.
11 Then took Haman the apparel and the horse, and arrayed Mordecai, and brought him on horseback through the street of the city, and proclaimed before him, Thus shall it be done unto the man whom the king delighteth to honour.
12 [†] ¶ And Mordecai came again to the king's gate. But Haman hasted to his house mourning, and having his head covered.
13 [†] And Haman told Zeresh his wife and all his friends every thing that had befallen him. Then said his wise men and Zeresh his wife unto him, If Mordecai be of the seed of the Jews, before whom thou hast begun to fall, thou shalt not prevail against him, but shalt surely fall before him.
14 [†] And while they were yet talking with him, came the king's chamberlains, and hasted to bring Haman unto the banquet that Esther had prepared.

Esther 7 [†]

1 So the king and Haman came to banquet with Esther the queen.
2 And the king said again unto Esther on the second day at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, queen Esther? and it shall be granted thee: and what is thy request? and it shall be performed, even to the half of the kingdom.
3 [†] Then Esther the queen answered and said, If I have found favour in thy sight, O king, and if it please the king, let my life be given me at my petition, and my people at my request:
4 [†] For we are sold, I and my people, to be destroyed, to be slain, and to perish. But if we had been sold for bondmen and bondwomen, I had held my tongue, although the enemy could not countervail the king's damage.
5 [†] ¶ Then the king Ahasuerus answered and said unto Esther the queen, Who is he, and where is he, that durst presume in his heart to do so?
6 And Esther said, The adversary and enemy is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraid before the king and the queen.
7 [†] ¶ And the king arising from the banquet of wine in his wrath went into the palace garden: and Haman stood up to make request for his life to Esther the queen; for he saw that there was evil determined against him by the king.
8 [†] Then the king returned out of the palace garden into the place of the banquet of wine; and Haman was fallen upon the bed whereon Esther was. Then said the king, Will he force the queen also before me in the house? As the word went out of the king's mouth, they covered Haman's face.
9 [†] And Harbonah, one of the chamberlains, said before the king, Behold also, the gallows fifty cubits high, which Haman had made for Mordecai, who had spoken good for the king, standeth in the house of Haman. Then the king said, Hang him thereon.
10 So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai. Then was the king's wrath pacified.

Esther 8 [†]

1 On that day did the king Ahasuerus give the house of Haman the Jews' enemy unto Esther the queen. And Mordecai came before the king; for Esther had told what he was unto her.
2 [†] And the king took off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it unto Mordecai. And Esther set Mordecai over the house of Haman.
3 [†] ¶ And Esther spake yet again before the king, and fell down at his feet, and besought him with tears to put away the mischief of Haman the Agagite, and his device that he had devised against the Jews.
4 Then the king held out the golden sceptre toward Esther. So Esther arose, and stood before the king,
5 [†] And said, If it please the king, and if I have found favour in his sight, and the thing seem right before the king, and I be pleasing in his eyes, let it be written to reverse the letters devised by Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, which he wrote to destroy the Jews which are in all the king's provinces:
6 For how can I endure to see the evil that shall come unto my people? or how can I endure to see the destruction of my kindred?
7 ¶ Then the king Ahasuerus said unto Esther the queen and to Mordecai the Jew, Behold, I have given Esther the house of Haman, and him they have hanged upon the gallows, because he laid his hand upon the Jews.
8 [†] Write ye also for the Jews, as it liketh you, in the king's name, and seal it with the king's ring: for the writing which is written in the king's name, and sealed with the king's ring, may no man reverse.
9 [†] Then were the king's scribes called at that time in the third month, that is, the month Sivan, on the three and twentieth day thereof; and it was written according to all that Mordecai commanded unto the Jews, and to the lieutenants, and the deputies and rulers of the provinces which are from India unto Ethiopia, an hundred twenty and seven provinces, unto every province according to the writing thereof, and unto every people after their language, and to the Jews according to their writing, and according to their language.
10 [†] And he wrote in the king Ahasuerus' name, and sealed it with the king's ring, and sent letters by posts on horseback, and riders on mules, camels, and young dromedaries:
11 [†] Wherein the king granted the Jews which were in every city to gather themselves together, and to stand for their life, to destroy, to slay, and to cause to perish, all the power of the people and province that would assault them, both little ones and women, and to take the spoil of them for a prey,
12 Upon one day in all the provinces of king Ahasuerus, namely, upon the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month Adar.
13 The copy of the writing for a commandment to be given in every province was published unto all people, and that the Jews should be ready against that day to avenge themselves on their enemies.
14 So the posts that rode upon mules and camels went out, being hastened and pressed on by the king's commandment. And the decree was given at Shushan the palace.
15 [†] ¶ And Mordecai went out from the presence of the king in royal apparel of blue and white, and with a great crown of gold, and with a garment of fine linen and purple: and the city of Shushan rejoiced and was glad.
16 [†] The Jews had light, and gladness, and joy, and honour.
17 [†] And in every province, and in every city, whithersoever the king's commandment and his decree came, the Jews had joy and gladness, a feast and a good day. And many of the people of the land became Jews; for the fear of the Jews fell upon them.

Esther 9 [†]

1 [†] Now in the twelfth month, that is, the month Adar, on the thirteenth day of the same, when the king's commandment and his decree drew near to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Jews hoped to have power over them, (though it was turned to the contrary, that the Jews had rule over them that hated them;)
2 [†] The Jews gathered themselves together in their cities throughout all the provinces of the king Ahasuerus, to lay hand on such as sought their hurt: and no man could withstand them; for the fear of them fell upon all people.
3 [†] And all the rulers of the provinces, and the lieutenants, and the deputies, and officers of the king, helped the Jews; because the fear of Mordecai fell upon them.
4 [†] For Mordecai was great in the king's house, and his fame went out throughout all the provinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater.
5 Thus the Jews smote all their enemies with the stroke of the sword, and slaughter, and destruction, and did what they would unto those that hated them.
6 And in Shushan the palace the Jews slew and destroyed five hundred men.
7 And Parshandatha, and Dalphon, and Aspatha,
8 And Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha,
9 And Parmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Vajezatha,
10 [†] The ten sons of Haman the son of Hammedatha, the enemy of the Jews, slew they; but on the spoil laid they not their hand.
11 On that day the number of those that were slain in Shushan the palace was brought before the king.
12 ¶ And the king said unto Esther the queen, The Jews have slain and destroyed five hundred men in Shushan the palace, and the ten sons of Haman; what have they done in the rest of the king's provinces? now what is thy petition? and it shall be granted thee: or what is thy request further? and it shall be done.
13 [†] Then said Esther, If it please the king, let it be granted to the Jews which are in Shushan to do to morrow also according unto this day's decree, and let Haman's ten sons be hanged upon the gallows.
14 And the king commanded it so to be done: and the decree was given at Shushan; and they hanged Haman's ten sons.
15 [†] For the Jews that were in Shushan gathered themselves together on the fourteenth day also of the month Adar, and slew three hundred men at Shushan; but on the prey they laid not their hand.
16 [†] But the other Jews that were in the king's provinces gathered themselves together, and stood for their lives, and had rest from their enemies, and slew of their foes seventy and five thousand, but they laid not their hands on the prey,
17 On the thirteenth day of the month Adar; and on the fourteenth day of the same rested they, and made it a day of feasting and gladness.
18 But the Jews that were at Shushan assembled together on the thirteenth day thereof, and on the fourteenth thereof; and on the fifteenth day of the same they rested, and made it a day of feasting and gladness.
19 [†] Therefore the Jews of the villages, that dwelt in the unwalled towns, made the fourteenth day of the month Adar a day of gladness and feasting, and a good day, and of sending portions one to another.
20 [†] ¶ And Mordecai wrote these things, and sent letters unto all the Jews that were in all the provinces of the king Ahasuerus, both nigh and far,
21 [†] To stablish this among them, that they should keep the fourteenth day of the month Adar, and the fifteenth day of the same, yearly,

22 As the days wherein the Jews rested from their enemies, and the month which was turned unto them from sorrow to joy, and from mourning into a good day: that they should make them days of feasting and joy, and of sending portions one to another, and gifts to the poor.
23 And the Jews undertook to do as they had begun, and as Mordecai had written unto them;
24 Because Haman the son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, the enemy of all the Jews, had devised against the Jews to destroy them, and had cast Pur, that is, the lot, to consume them, and to destroy them;
25 [†] But when Esther came before the king, he commanded by letters that his wicked device, which he devised against the Jews, should return upon his own head, and that he and his sons should be hanged on the gallows.
26 [†] Wherefore they called these days Purim after the name of Pur. Therefore for all the words of this letter, and of that which they had seen concerning this matter, and which had come unto them,
27 The Jews ordained, and took upon them, and upon their seed, and upon all such as joined themselves unto them, so as it should not fail, that they would keep these two days according to their writing, and according to their appointed time every year;
28 And that these days should be remembered and kept throughout every generation, every family, every province, and every city; and that these days of Purim should not fail from among the Jews, nor the memorial of them perish from their seed.
29 Then Esther the queen, the daughter of Abihail, and Mordecai the Jew, wrote with all authority, to confirm this second letter of Purim.
30 And he sent the letters unto all the Jews, to the hundred twenty and seven provinces of the kingdom of Ahasuerus, with words of peace and truth,
31 To confirm these days of Purim in their times appointed, according as Mordecai the Jew and Esther the queen had enjoined them, and as they had decreed for themselves and for their seed, the matters of the fastings and their cry.
32 [†] And the decree of Esther confirmed these matters of Purim; and it was written in the book.

Esther 10 [†]

1 [†] And the king Ahasuerus laid a tribute upon the land, and upon the isles of the sea.
2 [†] And all the acts of his power and of his might, and the declaration of the greatness of Mordecai, whereunto the king advanced him, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Media and Persia?
3 [†] For Mordecai the Jew was next unto king Ahasuerus, and great among the Jews, and accepted of the multitude of his brethren, seeking the wealth of his people, and speaking peace to all his seed.

NOTES ON THE BOOK OF

ESTHER

KING AHASUERUS TAKES ESTHER AS HIS QUEEN (1:1—2:23)

Chapter 1: Queen Vashti refuses to come to Ahasuerus's banquet, which prompts Ahasuerus to depose her from being queen.

Ahasuerus Sends Queen Vashti Away (1:1–22)

1:1 Ahasuerus. Also known as Xerxes I (reigned 486–465 BC). India. Present day Pakistan. Ethiopia. Territory south of Egypt, modern Sudan.

1:2 Shushan. Location of the winter dwellings of the king of Persia.

1:3 third year. 483 BC. feast. Banquets were times when the king would display his greatness to everyone and seek the faithfulness of his subjects. power. Army.

1:4 hundred and fourscore days. The feast may have been shorter, but the display of the splendor of his kingdom lasted 180 days. Ahasuerus might have intended to soften the military commanders and his subjects for his proposal to invade Greece.

1:5 expired. Finished.

1:6 beds. Couches.

1:7 state. Literally, "hand."

1:9 Vashti. According to the Greek historian Herodotus, Ahasuerus's wife was named Amestris. Perhaps Vashti was another name or a second wife. Transliterating the name from Persian to Hebrew and Greek and then to English accounts for much of the problem.

1:10 chamberlains. Likely eunuchs.

1:11 crown royal. The crown of the kingdom. fair to look on. Good-looking, beautiful.

1:12 wroth. Enraged.

1:13 knew the times. Perhaps a reference to astrologers. manner. Custom or habit.

1:14 sat the first. In the highest or most honored position.

1:15 What shall we do. The powerlessness of this great king to deal with his own wife is a pointed reminder that the greatest of men are mere men.

1:17 come abroad. Become known throughout the land.

1:19 written among the laws. The laws of the Persians and the Medes were noted for their immutable character.

1:20 published. Proclaimed.

1:22 letters. We know from history that the communication system of Persia was remarkably advanced (3:14–15).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 1

1. The world's ideas regarding marriage are warped. Still today, the marriages of famous people rarely speak well of the institution of marriage, but instead they reflect the sinful hearts of men and women by nature. Christ's glorious marriage to the church is the great model for marriage (Eph. 5:22–33). How can we as Christian husbands and wives follow Christ's model and display marriages that are nobler than kings?

2. We often wonder how God is working through our world and its leaders—corrupt, vain, and petty as they often are. Yet God's hand is in control, whether we recognize it or not. As Esther unfolds, we will see that God is working straight through the whims and follies of Ahasuerus and his officials. Pray that God will help you to trust that His hand is at work in our times as well.
3. God's law sets the rules for how men and women, parents and children, and superiors and subjects ought to relate. It is pitiful to see a king, who lacks all fear of God, try to gain by civil law the respect that he did not earn by his actions and personal dignity (v. 20). How can God's values help you to gain respect?

Chapter 2: King Ahasuerus ends up selecting Esther, a Jew, as the new queen, while Mordecai her cousin uncovers a plot to assassinate Ahasuerus.

Esther Wins the Approval of King Ahasuerus (2:1–20)

2:1 After. Esther came before the king in his seventh year (v. 16). That would indicate a span of four years between chs. 1 and 2. It is likely that the Grecian campaign transpired during this time. appeased. Abated.

2:3 king's chamberlain. Official of the royal court. things for purification. There was an extended period of purification preparing the virgins to see the king.

2:4 maiden. Young woman (also translated, "maid").

2:5 Benjamite. Mordecai was from the tribe of Benjamin, the same tribe as Israel's first king, Saul, who slaughtered the Amalekites, the enemies of Israel, but preserved their king, Agag, until Samuel killed him (1 Sam. 15). Haman was an Agagite (3:1).

2:6 captivity. Babylonian exile.

2:7 fair. Lovely in form. took for his own daughter. Adoption within extended families was not unheard of in the Ancient Near East.

2:8 women. The royal harem.

2:9 meet. Suitable. preferred. Esther received much preference by the king's court and eventually by the king himself.

2:10 kindred. Race or lineage. We do not know why Mordecai charged her not to reveal her nationality.

2:12 manner. Custom or habit. to wit. That is.

2:14 the morrow. The next day.

2:15 required. Requested. appointed. Said. Esther showed wisdom and humility in not relying upon her own beauty, but in following the counsel of an official in the king's court (Prov. 12:15).

2:18 made a release. Proclaimed a holiday. state. Generosity.

2:19 the second time. This probably refers to the women being gathered after Esther had been made queen. sat. Held some official position. the king's gate. A place of legal importance in the city.

2:20 Esther did the commandment of Mordecai. Her submission and obedience to authority is a striking contrast to the disobedience of Vashti (1:12,16–17).

Mordecai Uncovers a Plot to Kill Ahasuerus (2:21–23)

2:21–23 This whole account proves to be no small event. Mordecai's discovery of this plot and faithfulness to report it to protect the king would change the course of his and Esther's life, along with the history of the Jewish people. One can see the invisible hand of God behind Mordecai's discovery.

2:21 wroth. Angry.

2:23 inquisition. Investigation.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 2

1. The world prizes the outward appearance of people. The world, sadly, has no regard for the beauty of Christ (Isa. 53:2). The Bible prizes inward beauty, moral and spiritual beauty, particularly the beauty of a submissive spirit toward authority (1 Peter 3:3–6). This was a key character quality of Esther, who sought wise counsel and obeyed Mordecai (vv. 15,20). How can you be exercising and developing such humility? Do you follow the world's standards of beauty or God's?
2. Christ desires the beauty of His bride, as you can read in the messianic song, "So shall the king greatly desire thy beauty: for he is thy Lord; and worship thou him" (Ps. 45:11). Are you part of Christ's bride? Paul identified the bride of Christ by her submission to the Lord as her head (Eph. 5:23–24). Is your heart submitted to Jesus as Lord? How does that show in your actions?

HAMAN'S PLOT TO KILL THE JEWS (3:1—4:17)

Chapter 3: Haman devises a devious plot to kill the Jews, which, once the king Ahasuerus makes it into an official law, cannot be broken.

Haman Is Promoted (3:1–2)

3:1 Haman . . . the Agagite. Agag was the royal house of the Amalekites, a desert nation descending from Esau and one of Israel's ancient enemies and so cursed by God (Ex. 17:14; Num. 24:7; Deut. 25:17–19). advanced him. Promoted him. No reason is given why.

3:2 did him reverence. Honored him with a bow, either as an act of divine worship or mere respect for an authority (1 Sam. 24:8; 1 Kings 1:16,23). The combination of the verbs bowed and reverenced may imply that they honored Haman as a god (2 Chron. 7:3; 29:29; Pss. 22:29; 95:6). Alternatively, Mordecai may have refused to honor a man from a nation that God had cursed (v. 1).

Haman's Hatred for the Jews Grows Because Mordecai Refuses to Bow (3:3–6)

3:4 matters. Refusal to bow.

3:6 scorn. Haman despised the idea of killing only Mordecai. Such was his arrogance and malice that he would only be satisfied if Mordecai's people were destroyed.

King Ahasuerus Issues a Decree to Kill the Jews (3:7–15)

3:7 twelfth year. Five years have passed. This was about 64 years after the first exiles returned under Zerubbabel. Pur. Name for lots, which were cast to decide certain matters. Many in the Ancient Near East superstitiously sought to control events by casting small pebbles or dice in an attempt to evade fate, but the Lord controls the lot (Prov. 16:33). It is thought that the Persians cast lots in the first month of the year to determine when they should carry out important events.

3:8 abroad. Over a wide area. neither keep they the king's laws. Though believing Jews served a greater King than the Persian king, there is no evidence that they did not generally submit to the social order of Persia. Daniel's three friends disobeyed the king's edict (Dan. 3); however, many of the Jews also advised the kings and served them (e.g., Daniel and his friends, Ezra, Nehemiah). This is instead an early example of anti-Semitism. to suffer. Literally, "to rest," or to provide a safe haven for the Jews.

3:9 ten thousand talents of silver. This is a huge sum (Matt. 18:24). Haman probably anticipated paying for this bribe using the plunder of the Jews.

3:10 ring. The signet ring giving unlimited jurisdiction.

3:12 lieutenants. Provincial rulers.

3:13 by posts. By couriers. prey. Plunder.

3:14 published. Proclaimed or made known.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 3

1. We do not know exactly what Mordecai's reason was for not bowing to Haman. However, we do know that the world wants us to submit to its schemes and often demands a public sign of submission (Dan. 3). When we fail to fall into line, we face the consequences, which may include social isolation, insult, and incarceration—or worse. The great question is this: Will you bow to God alone with all your mind, heart, and strength?
2. The way in which Haman schemed and bargained for the destruction of the Jews reminds us that the world hates God's people and delights in their destruction (John 15:18; Rev. 11:7–10; 20:7–9). Certainly the world showed its true colors when it tortured and murdered the Son of God on the cross. When you face persecutors, and rulers like Ahasuerus and Pontius Pilate, who permit such gross injustice, pray that as a Christian you will not respond in hatred but remember that you too were once full of hatred. Labor to be respectful and gentle to all men, hoping and praying that God will regenerate them by the Holy Spirit (Titus 3:1–8).

Chapter 4: Mordecai urges Esther to consider seeing how her influence might be used for the good of her people.

Mordecai Reveals the Plot to Esther (4:1–17)

4:1 rent his clothes. Tore them, a sign of grief, like wearing uncomfortable clothing (sackcloth) and ashes (Gen. 37:34; Jonah 3:5–6).

4:4 her chamberlains. Officials assigned to serve her. raiment. Garments.

4:5 what it was, and why it was. What was his present distress and the reason for it.

4:8 make supplication. Earnestly ask.

4:11 Esther ran the risk of losing her life if she approached in a way the king thought unfitting. Vashti's actions (ch. 1) made this a real possibility and hung as a cloud over this proposed course of action.

4:14 holdest thy peace. Remain silent. enlargement. Relief. If Esther refused to help, the Lord would preserve His people but judge her. for such a time as this. Mordecai encouraged Esther to see her rise to the position of queen as God's providence, positioning her to be His instrument to save His people.

4:15 bade. Asked.

4:16 fast ye for me. Abstaining from food is a means of humbling oneself, concentrating one's mind, and stirring one's heart for serious prayer (Ezra 8:23; Neh. 1:4). not according to the law. The immutable Persian law is a main focus of the book of Esther that drives the plot and anticipation of the whole book. Here Esther chooses to willingly disobey the law in hopes of saving her people. if I perish, I perish. Her spirit of submission to God's will and self-sacrifice is an image of Christ.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 4

1. Though God's name does not appear in the book of Esther, Mordecai's conviction that deliverance will come to the Jews (v. 14) clearly suggests he has confidence in the fact that God would not forsake His people and promise. His confidence in God's providence did not make him passive however, but energized him to call Esther to act decisively for her people. Believing that God is in control never excuses us from using our position and abilities for the good of His people. Instead, it gives us hope that God has put us here for that very purpose, and will therefore give success to our efforts to serve His cause. How do God's promises energize you?
2. Esther listened to the counsel of Mordecai, evidently believed the promises of God about His people, and resolved to take action. And yet she needed discernment about her course of action and called for fasting (v. 16) and presumably prayer as well. Likewise with us, knowing the will of God requires listening to wise people whom God places in our lives (especially parents and pastors), knowing and believing His Word, resolving to obey Him at any cost, and praying for His wisdom while asking other Christians to pray too. What significant decisions are you facing or will you face soon? How can you use these same means to discern God's will?

HAMAN'S DEMISE AND MORDECAI'S EXALTATION (5:1—8:2)

Chapter 5: Ahasuerus agrees to Esther's request for a banquet, while Haman prepares a gallows to execute Mordecai, infuriated by Mordecai's continued slights.

Esther Pleases the King and Has a Banquet (5:1–8)

5:1 apparel. Clothing. stood in the inner court. Uninvited into Ahasuerus's presence, Esther has taken her life into her hands (4:11). Having put away Queen Vashti in his rashness, Ahasuerus may kill her. over against. Opposite of.

5:3 What wilt thou? What do you want? half of the kingdom. A grandiose exaggeration (Mark 6:23).

5:4 banquet that I have prepared. Esther again showed her wisdom by pleasing the king before making her request, using the very means to honor him by which Vashti dishonored and offended him, a feast (ch. 1). Haman. Perhaps invited so that he would not suspect anything.

5:6 petition. Request.

5:7–8 Whether Esther delayed her request because she lost courage, or to further win the king's heart, we do not know, but in God's providence this delay led to major developments in the situation (ch. 6).

Haman Plots Mordecai's Death (5:9–14)

5:9 nor moved. Did not tremble.

5:11 Haman gloated over his apparent good fortune with the king and queen. Pride comes before a fall (Prov. 16:18).

5:13 availeth me nothing. Is not enough. No measure of honor can satisfy the proud man; he always wants more.

5:14 gallows. Literally, "tree," used for a wooden pole or structure of wooden lumber (6:4; 7:9–10; 8:7; 9:13,25). fifty cubits. About 75 feet. Haman wanted to show everyone his triumph over his enemy.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 5

1. What a difference there is between Ahasuerus's throne and the Lord's throne! Because of Christ, heaven's throne is called a throne of grace, which is always open for needy sinners to come to "obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need" (Heb. 4:16). As believers praise God that we can come before the Lord's throne with boldness (Heb. 10:19–22).
2. When Esther fasted and sought God with God's people (4:16), it resulted in remarkable courage and wisdom. She risked her life to speak with the king in order to save Israel. Yet she did not rashly rush to him, demanding help, but thoughtfully and with apparent calmness, invited him to a feast. This is the power of God's grace obtained through fervent prayer. While this was brought about through a crisis, it was also the result of habits of humility developed over years (2:15,20). How can you grow in wisdom and peace like Esther, so that you can respond well to crises?
3. Haman's arrogance, we might say, was 75 feet high. The perceived insult of a single man outweighed all the honor and wealth he had received. As a result, he was provoked to murder a faithful servant in the king's administration. Which weighs most heavily upon your heart: gratitude for the honors and blessings you have undeservedly received or an insult? Beware, lest your pride drive you to hatred and perhaps even the harm of others.

Chapter 6: A sleepless night occasions a dramatic turn of events for Mordecai and Haman and anticipates Haman's ultimate downfall.

Haman Humiliated and Mordecai Exalted (6:1–14)

6:1–2 records of the chronicles. All Persian kings kept records of their acts. Mordecai had told. See 2:21–23. chamberlains. Officials of the king's administration. The inability of the king to sleep and the circumstance of reading about the particular event where Mordecai protected the king are examples of God's secret providence directing human lives (1 Sam. 9:1–16; see note at James 4:15).

6:3 honour and dignity. The Persian kings prided themselves in rewarding handsomely those who helped them. Up until this point Mordecai had not been rewarded.

6:6 To whom would the king delight to do honour more than to myself? Again, Haman's pride is ridiculously puffed up and will prove to be the means of his own downfall (5:9–14).

6:8 apparel . . . which the king useth to wear. Clothing ordinarily worn by the king. The individual would be honored like a king among the people.

6:9 array. Clothe. withal. With it.

6:10 Make haste. Hurry, be quick.

6:12 hasted. Went quickly. head covered. A sign of humiliation or shame, and a foreshadowing of his doom (7:8).

6:13 befallen him. Happened to him. seed of the Jews. An allusion to God's covenant with Abraham (Gen. 17:7) and promise that the seed of the woman would prevail against the seed of the serpent (Gen. 3:15). Though Haman sought to crush the Jews, God would give victory to His people for there had to be an Israel for there to be the Christ (John 4:22; Rom. 9:4–5).

6:14 hasted to bring. Quickly or anxiously brought. Haman's time had come, and the Lord dealt with him quickly.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 6

1. God's providence not only appears in mighty miracles, but in mundane events like a king who cannot sleep and so reads some boring government records. Billions of such events take place every day, and we scarcely notice them, but the Lord directs every one of them according to His decree (Eph. 1:11). His timing is perfect, reminding the king of Mordecai's faithfulness just as Haman comes to have him hung. How can this give Christians hope to know that this God of providence is our Father?
2. Haman was a high official in the mighty Persian Empire, but he could not destroy a conquered and dispersed people, for they were the people of the living God. On the contrary, his empty boasting and foolish pride only led him into shame and defeat. Let us not fear those who persecute the church, but rather pity them and pray for them.

Chapter 7: At the second banquet, Esther reveals the plot of Haman to kill the Jews, and the king orders Haman to be killed on the gallows he built for Mordecai.

The Death of Haman and Exaltation of Mordecai (7:1—8:2)

7:3 my life . . . and my people. Esther's plea was both wise and risky. It was wise because the king might be strongly motivated to save the Jews when he discovered they were the people of his beloved queen. Yet it was personally a great risk, for he could easily kill her with the Jews and find another queen.

7:4 I and my people. Again, Esther closely identified herself with them, tying their destiny together as one. to be destroyed, to be slain, and to perish. The words of the decree against the Jews (3:13; 8:11), implicitly identifying her people, though she did not explicitly name them yet. bondmen and bondwomen. Slaves. countervail the king's damage. Compensate for the loss of revenue to the king resulting from the death of the Jews.

7:5 Who is he. Ahasuerus did not yet grasp that she was a Jew. durst. Dared to.

7:7 wrath. Anger; because Haman sold the Jewish people and the king's wife to death.

7:8 bed. Couch. force. Molest. word went out. A phrase alluding to the king's sentence. covered Haman's face. To cover the head was a sign of mourning (6:12; 2 Sam. 15:30; Jer. 14:3–4); this was a sign of Haman's imminent death.

7:9–10 gallows. Literally, "tree" (see note at 5:14). In the law of Moses, hanging a person's body upon a tree or pole of wood was a sign of dying under God's curse (Deut. 21:22–23). spoken good for the king. In uncovering the plot to assassinate him (2:21–23; 6:2). Hang him. Haman's instrument to destroy Mordecai became the means of his own death. wrath pacified. Anger subsided.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 7

1. Esther here is a picture of Christ. Just as Esther publicly identified herself with the Jewish nation so that the king would not destroy them, so Christ publicly identified with His people of all nations so that His Father would not destroy them. Esther risked her life by identifying with the Jews;

Christ gave His life as the substitute and surety of His people, bearing the punishment for their sins. Esther pled for her nation, and Christ intercedes for each of His children from heaven. How does this picture help you appreciate the work of Christ on your behalf?

2. Haman's devices were all brought to light and punished. Many today walk in pride and seem to have everything going for them. God's Word reminds us that the day is coming when everything that has been done in secret will be brought into full light (1 Cor. 4:5). How does Haman's story motivate you to be humble and live in the fear of the Lord?
3. Haman's death illustrates the work of Christ, yet with great irony. Haman was destroyed by the gallows he constructed for Mordecai. Like Haman, Satan plotted Christ's destruction through the cross, only to have his power shattered by Christ's death (John 12:31–33; 13:2; 14:30; 16:11). However, though Haman was hung upon the gallows (Hebrew, "tree"), it was not Satan but Jesus Christ who was hung upon the cross ("tree," Acts 5:30; 10:39; 13:29) to pacify God's righteous wrath by bearing the curse of God against lawbreakers (Gal. 3:13). Oh, the wonder of His love! Worship Christ in light of this strange victory: death for Him and salvation for sinners!

Chapter 8: Though the former decree cannot be undone, another decree will permit the Jews to defend themselves.

8:2 his ring. A sign of authority (3:10,12). Mordecai was promoted to Haman's old position. over the house. All of Haman's great wealth and possessions (5:11) becomes Mordecai's.

THE KING'S SECOND DECREE (8:3—9:32)

The King Issues a Second Decree to Save the Jews (8:3–17)

8:3 besought him. Asked for grace from him. With Haman himself out of the way, Esther approached the king again asking that he nullify the evil (mischief) of Haman's plan (device).

8:5 Even though Ahasuerus had been at least partially tricked into the previous decree, to reverse a royal order was another issue altogether.

8:8 The king helped Esther and Mordecai, directing them to write the appropriate law.

8:9 the month Sivan, on the three and twentieth day. Two months and ten days after Haman's decree. lieutenants. Provincial rulers.

8:10 posts. Couriers (v. 14).

8:11 stand for their life. Defend themselves.

8:15 apparel. Clothing. Mordecai was glorified with royal garments. The blue (or violet) and purple cloth and gold signified his authority in the kingdom of the Persian Empire (1:6–7); they were also associated with the tabernacle and priesthood (Ex. 25:3–4; 28:5–6,36–37).

8:16 had light, and gladness, and joy, and honour. A happy contrast to their response to the previous edict (4:3).

8:17 became Jews. When God performs great acts of deliverance, He draws people to Himself.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 8

1. Just as Ahasuerus gave Mordecai his signet ring and glorified him as a great prince in the Persian Empire in order to save the Jews from destruction, so God the Father has given Jesus Christ all authority in heaven and earth as our exalted Priest and King in order to save His people from eternal destruction (Matt. 28:18; John 17:2; Heb. 8:1). He is glorified at the Father's right hand with unspeakable beauty, joy, and riches. If we belong to Christ, what things are ours (1 Cor. 3:21–23) and how is God working on our behalf (Rom. 8:28,32)?

2. Note the great joy of the Jews as the king grants Esther's petition to respond in like to their enemies (vv. 15–17). The Jews had essentially been brought back from a sentence of death. If the Jews' redemption from physical death caused such joy and elation, how much more should this be so of us, if we have been redeemed from a far greater death than physical death? Why then do Christians sometimes have so little joy? Look in Phil. 4:4 for the key. Just as the Jews rejoiced in the glory of Mordecai, so believers must focus their minds and engage their hearts to rejoice in the glory of Jesus Christ, our heavenly King.

Chapter 9: On the day the Jews would have been destroyed, they instead defeat their enemies, and the celebration of Purim is instituted.

The Jews Are Saved from Destruction (9:1–19)

9:1 hoped to have power. Despite the king's decree allowing the Jews to defend themselves, many still hoped to destroy them.

9:2 no man could withstand them. Despite the fact that the Jews were assailed, their enemies could not prevail. Like many times in the past, the Lord miraculously delivered His people from the hands of their enemies.

9:3 Mordecai's high position won the Jews the favor of the government officials, such as lieutenants or provincial rulers.

9:4 waxed. Became, grew.

9:10 The ten sons of Haman. The Jews destroyed the seed of Haman, fulfilling God's ancient curse upon the Amalekites (see note at 3:1). on the spoil laid they not their hand. Their property was untouched. Unlike King Saul, they were not motivated by mercenary gain and knew they should not take the plunder (1 Sam. 15:1–23).

9:13 hanged upon the gallows. A request to display the bodies of Haman's dead sons (v. 10), as a public warning to the enemies of the Jews.

9:15 prey. Booty or plunder.

9:16–18 seventy and five thousand. An indication of the powerful forces that would have slaughtered the Jews under Haman's decree. had rest from their enemies . . . rested . . . rested. The language here is similar to that of the defeat of the Canaanites in the Promised Land through Joshua and David (Deut. 12:10; 25:19; Josh. 1:13,15; 21:44; 22:4; 23:1; 1 Chron. 22:9,18; 23:25).

9:19 The Jews in Shushan celebrated the Feast of Purim on the fifteenth day because they had a second day of slaughtering their enemies. The Jews in the provinces celebrated it on the fourteenth day because they were done slaughtering their enemies on the thirteenth day.

Purim Instituted (9:20–32)

9:20 nigh. Near. This closing section of the chapter (vv. 20–32) summarizes the events that led to the celebration of Purim.

9:21 stablish. Literally, "cause to stand"; establish by power or legal authority (Ruth 4:7 [confirm]; 2 Chron. 7:18). The same word is translated "ordained" (v. 27), "confirm" (vv. 29,31–32), "enjoined" (v.

31), and “decreed” (v. 31). Its repetition emphasizes the importance and obligation to remember God’s work of saving the Jews through Esther and Mordecai.

9:25 device. Plot.

9:26 Purim. Plural of the Hebrew word Pur or “lot” (v. 24).

9:32 the decree of Esther confirmed these matters of Purim. The Jews did not have the spiritual authority to invent a new element of public worship (Lev. 10:1–3; Deut. 12:32). The decree of Purim entailed no special ceremonies for the priests or temple service. However, God’s people and civil rulers may set aside special days of thanksgiving for God’s acts of mercy, and so they did.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 9

1. In an amazing reversal, the destruction of the Jews was turned into their victory over their enemies. The seed of Israel went from the bottom to the top. Our God is a God of great reversals (1 Sam. 2:4–8; Luke 1:52–53), the greatest of which is the resurrection from the dead of Christ, who died the accursed death on the cross, and His exaltation to God’s right hand. Christian, even if you are the lowest of the low in this world, take heart. Humble yourself right now before the Lord, and He will lift you up, even into the glory of Jesus Christ.
2. God’s works deserve to be commemorated. Though all the shadows of the Old Testament, including the feasts, are fulfilled in Christ (Col. 2:16–17), Christians are called to lives of sacrifice to God for the redemption He has performed. We are also called weekly to commemorate the final victory of Christ over death in His resurrection (1 Cor. 16:1–2; Heb. 10:25). Christians should ever be characterized by giving thanks to God for His mercies to oneself, one’s family, one’s people, and the church throughout the world.

Chapter 10: Esther concludes with Mordecai’s greatness being recounted.

EPILOGUE (10:1–3)

10:1 laid a tribute. Imposed a tax or requirement of labor. Ahasuerus or Xerxes I, after failing in his military campaigns against Greece, completed massive building projects of roads, monuments, and his palace, the cost of which placed heavy demands on his subjects. isles of the sea. Coasts or islands, representing the farthest reaches of the empire.

10:2 his might . . . the book of the chronicles of the kings. The careers of Ahasuerus and Mordecai are summed up much as the kings of Israel and Judah (1 Kings 15:23; 16:5,27; 22:45; 2 Kings 10:34; 13:8,12; 14:15,28; 20:20). Though he was not of the line of David (2:5), Mordecai was a reminder that even under Persian domination the hope of the coming King remained alive.

10:3 wealth. Good. speaking peace. Mordecai became a symbol of God’s purpose of peace with His people, and made it his habit to remind the Jews of it. to all his seed. Parallel to and explained by his people, that is, not just Mordecai’s offspring but all the Jews (6:13). This language may allude to God’s promises of blessed offspring to Abraham and David (Gen. 17:7,19; 2 Sam. 22:51; Neh. 9:8).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 10

This book concludes with a lovely image of Mordecai reigning as the king’s right-hand man for the peace of the covenant seed. Christ is our peace through His blood, and the gospel is His proclamation of peace to those near and far, Jew and Gentile (Eph. 2:14–17). He reigns forever over heaven and earth and is enjoying the fulfillment of God’s promise that He will see His spiritual seed and be satisfied with the fruit of His sorrows (Isa. 53:10). He is a far better king than any Persian emperor, for rather than using up His subjects’ money and labor, He gives them all good gifts (Eph. 4:7–8). Are you part of Christ’s spiritual family? Has He spoken peace to your soul through the gospel of His death for sinners? Does He reign over you as your Lord? Is He your hope for glory? If so, rejoice. If not, pray for grace to surrender to Christ today.

Introduction to the Poetic and Wisdom Books

Understanding Hebrew poetry helps in interpreting much of the Bible, since approximately one-third of the Old Testament is poetry, with portions in every major section of the Old Testament. Unlike English poetry that depends so much on sound effects of rhyme and meter, Hebrew poetry is based more on components of thought rather than sound. Although Hebrew at times plays on the sound, either by way of alliteration or assonance, it primarily rhymes the meaning rather than the sound. This repetition of thought is called parallelism. Consequently and almost uniquely, Hebrew poetry is translatable into other languages in ways that retain the poetic effect and beauty of the original. Furthermore, by repeating ideas often using vivid imagery, the message is imprinted on the memory through the stirring of the emotions.

There are five standard types of parallelism.

1. Synonymous Parallelism: In this pattern, the second line repeats the idea of the first by using synonymous expressions. Consider Ps. 49:1.

   Hear this all ye people;
   Give ear all ye inhabitants of the world.

   Or Ps. 103:14

   For he knoweth our frame;
   He remembereth that we are dust.

   This example illustrates how the parallelism aids in interpretation. Although the thought is the same, the second line is more specific identifying what God knows about our frame. Hebrew poetry often interprets itself. Psalm 16:10, for instance, is a classic example of the second line interpreting the first, making it clear that "hell" refers to the grave (the place of "corruption") just as the New Testament says (Acts 2:31; 13:35–37).
2. Antithetic Parallelism: In this pattern, the second line states the opposite idea or makes a contrast with the first. This type is especially common in Proverbs. Consider Prov. 15:1.

   A soft answer turneth away wrath;
   But grievous words stir up anger.

3. Emblematic or Comparative Parallelism: In this pattern, one line explains the other by using some analogy. Consider Ps. 42:1.

   As the hart panteth after the water brooks,
   So panteth my soul after thee, O God.

4. Climactic or Stair-like Parallelism: In this pattern, each line advances or builds on the thought of the preceding line creating a stair-like effect. Each line begins with the same word or expression with the following line adding new information. Consider Ps. 29:1–2.

   Give unto the Lord O ye mighty,

Give unto the LORD glory and strength.
Give unto the LORD the glory due unto his name.

5. Synthetic Parallelism: In this pattern, the second line progresses the thought of the first rather than repeating or contrasting it. The two lines together express one complete thought. Consider Ps. 2:6.

   Yet have I set my king
   Upon my holy hill of Zion.

   Or Prov. 15:16

   Better is little with the fear of the LORD
   Than great treasure and trouble therewith.

Another outstanding feature of poetry is the common use of figures of speech. Figures of speech can occur in prose as well, but they are far more prominent in poetry. Basically, by using figures of speech authors refer to their principal topic in terms of another topic because there is some point of analogy between the topic and the image. Figures of speech can compress ideas into a few words that otherwise may require full sentences to convey. Recognizing and interpreting them properly is a key concern when reading poetry. It is not possible here to list, define, and illustrate all of the categories of figures, but these are some of the most common that you are likely to encounter.

1. Simile: A comparison between the topic and the image that uses the word "like" or "as." Jeremiah 23:29 says, "Is not my word like as a fire . . . and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces?"
2. Metaphor: A direct comparison between the topic and the image without using "like" or "as." Psalm 28:7 says, "The LORD is . . . my shield." The Lord is not a round disk, but He is protection for His people.
3. Metonymy: The use of one word for another based on some point of association between the two words or thoughts. Second Kings 4:40 says there was "death in the pot." This means that there was something poisonous in the pot causing death, so death (the effect or consequence) is used to refer to poison (the cause).
4. Synecdoche: This is a specific type of metonymy where the part is used for the whole or the whole for a part. Psalm 63:3 says, "my lips shall praise thee." The psalmist means that he will praise the Lord, not just his lips.
5. Personification: This is when something inanimate is described in personal or living terms. Psalm 114:3 says, "The sea saw it, and fled."
6. Hyperbole: This is a purposeful exaggeration to drive home a truth. Deuteronomy 1:28 mentions cities that were "walled up to heaven," not in actual fact but expressive of the intimidating appearance.

Wisdom is a special category of poetry that can be classified either formally according to literary style or thematically according to content. Many Psalms fall within the wisdom category (1; 8; 19; 29; 49; etc.) and even sections from prose narrative (e.g., Samson's riddles, Judg. 14; parables of Nathan, 2 Sam. 12; and the woman of Tekoa, 2 Sam. 14). But there are four books that are designated as the wisdom books: Job, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, and Song of Solomon. Jeremiah 18:18 identifies three groups of men who proclaimed God's word in the Old Testament era: priests, prophets, and wise men. God used Solomon, the greatest of all the wise men, to write much of Old Testament wisdom.

The Hebrew word for wisdom has the basic meaning of "skill or ability" that is applied in many spheres of life (for instance, a wise or skillful soldier, Isa. 10:13; a wise or skillful craftsman, Ex. 28:3). When applied to the ethical and moral sphere, it is the art or skill of performing the biblical ethic. Job teaches the skill of suffering well, how to face the anomalies of life. Proverbs teaches the skill of behaving well in every circumstance of life, how to relate religion to the routines of life. Ecclesiastes teaches the skill of enjoying and using life as a gift from God. Song of Solomon teaches the skill of maintaining and enjoying the God-given sanctity, beauty, and purity of marriage, particularly as a gospel sermon directing attention to the ideal marriage bond between Christ and His bride, the church.

The Wisdom books fall into two categories: didactic and reflective. Proverbs is didactic as it is concerned with matters of practical morality and ethics. Its many terse, right-to-the-point maxims deal with proper conduct in virtually every context of life. It shows what sanctified living looks like on a daily basis. The other books are reflective as they address the problems and big issues of life and faith. Job and Ecclesiastes particularly deal with the tension between faith and experience—the big "whys" that so often test faith.

Most of the topics addressed in the Wisdom books fall into three broad focal points. First, special attention is directed to the individual. Wisdom allows no room or way to escape its message. Second, attention is directed to common or mundane concerns. Theology is brought to the level of daily conduct. Even matters of formal worship receive little attention since external rituals mean nothing unless a person lives properly outside of church. Third, attention is directed to God's absolute sovereignty and providence. Trusting God and fearing Him when everything in life seems to be contrary is essential. Wisdom teaches us to walk by faith and not by sight.

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOK OF

JOB

Authorship

The author of the book of Job is uncertain. Some believe that either Job or Elihu is the author. Others believe the book was written sometime after the events. Since the setting of the book is outside of Israel and the date is most likely in the patriarchal period, none of the book's characters are likely its authors since they would not have spoken Hebrew, the original language of its composition. From a literary perspective, it is a masterpiece of wisdom writing. In addition, the vast knowledge that is displayed in the book covering an array of wisdom subjects suggests that Solomon, the wisest of all the ancients, could be the author. The fact that the author cannot be positively identified indicates that God did not think it important to reveal the author of the book. That Job is not the actual author does bring into question his historicity. The Bible is clear that Job was a real person (Ezek. 14:14; James 5:11).

Date

The date of the historical setting of the book and the date of composition are very likely different. The book gives evidence of an ancient setting. The non-Israelite characters suggest a time before Abraham since after Abraham God limited special revelation to Israel, and there is no question that each of the characters had knowledge of the true God. That Job functioned as the priest of his own house suggests the patriarchal period. His long life and evaluation of wealth in terms of cattle are also features of this time period. The frequent use of the divine title God Almighty (El Shaddai) occurs more in the book of Job than anywhere else (Ex. 6:3 links this title to the patriarchal period). The internal evidence points to a historical context from approximately 2500 to 2000 BC.

Suggestions regarding the time of composition range from contemporary with the events all the way to the post-exilic period. Since it was during the Solomonic era that the production of wisdom writing reached its zenith, this may be the most credible of composition dates. If indeed Solomon himself was the inspired writer, the date of writing would be 970 to 930 BC, the dates of his reign. But regardless of the date, the truths contained in the book of Job are timeless and find application in every age.

Theme

The sovereignty and grace of God in the suffering of His servants.

Purpose

To encourage believers to humbly submit to God’s hand in painful trials, hoping in His justice and His ultimate vindication of the godly.

Synopsis

The Contribution of Job to Redemptive Revelation

The book of Job is full of wisdom. In particular, it bears witness to the majesty of God, to the ancient faith in the message of the gospel, and to the mystery of the suffering of God's people. First, both the narratives and monologues of this book speak much of the majesty of God. The Lord is the King of heaven who summons all the spirits of the invisible world to give an account (1:6–7). When He protects a man, no one can touch him (v. 10). Even Satan, the great enemy of the righteous, can do nothing apart from His will (v. 12; 2:6). Job rightly attributed to God's providence every good gift and every painful loss, and he declared Him worthy of submission and praise, even in the most horrible tragedy (1:20–22; 2:9–10). The Lord reigns over all people and all events, both good and bad (3:18; 12:9–10,17–25). He created the earth, the seas, and the constellations of the stars (9:8–10; 26:7–13). Man is utterly dependent on the common gifts of God's Spirit for life and understanding (32:8; 33:4). God possesses wisdom and strength, and who can stop His will or successfully fight against Him (9:4–7; 12:13–16)? He is the judge of all men, and who will teach Him anything (21:19–22)? His perfections are infinite, higher than the heavens, deeper than the seas, and wider than the world (11:7–9). We know but the smallest part of His glory and do not begin to understand the thunder of His power (26:14). With God is terrifying majesty, glorious power, and abundant justice, and therefore men fear Him (37:22–24). In the concluding chapters of Job, God dwells long upon His unspeakable majesty as the Creator and King of a world full of mysteries, leaving Job silenced in his questions and profoundly humbled before the sovereign God (40:1–5; 42:1–6).

Therefore, Job teaches us that the essence of wisdom consists in fearing God (1:1,8; 2:3; 6:14). The wisdom of fallen man is foolishness, a trap in which God catches and punishes the wicked by their own foolishness (3:13; cited in 1 Cor. 3:19). Wisdom is only of the Lord. The book brings this message into focus in the literary artistry of its structure, using chiasm, a common technique in Hebrew writing and logic, like a series of concentric circles drawing attention to their center.

A Prose Prologue (chs. 1–2)
- B Job's Initial Statement of Lamentation (ch. 3)
  - C Three Cycles of Dialogue (chs. 4–14, 15–21, and 22–27)
    - D Poem on Wisdom (ch. 28)
  - C' Three Series of Monologues (chs. 29–31, 32–37, and 38–41)
- B' Job's Final Statements: Confession (40:3–5; 42:1–6)

A' Prose Epilogue (42:7–17)

The wisdom revealed in Job reaches its apex in ch. 28, which contrasts man's skill in mining precious materials from the depths of the earth with man's inability to find wisdom. True understanding belongs to God the Creator, and He alone reveals it to man. Thus, Job declares, "Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding" (28:28). This is the only proper response to the infinite majesty of God.

Second, these events, set in history around the time of the patriarchs of Israel, show the reader that believers in ancient times already understood much of the message of the gospel, both in terms of the problem it exposes and the solution it offers. The essence of sin is not just bad behavior but hostility to God deeply entrenched in the heart, even in the children of the godly (1:5). To be sure, sin expresses itself in outward acts such as dishonest commerce, adultery, refusal to care for the poor, social injustice, and the worship of creation (31:1). But its roots are inward uncleanness, such as sexual lust (vv. 1–40) or putting one's hope in material wealth (vv. 24–25). Man's corrupt heart moves him to drink up sin like water (15:16). Job showed greater understanding than the Pharisees who needed Christ to remind them that the law of God measures not just outward actions but the intents of the heart as well (Matt. 5:21–22,27–28). The need for salvation then becomes the problem of how to bring a clean thing out of an unclean thing (Job 14:4; cf. Matt. 15:18–19). This is humanly impossible, but unless the problem is solved mankind remains under a sentence of misery and death by the decree of God (Job 14:1–5). The great question is: How can a man be righteous before God (9:2)? Thus Job bears witness to the fallen condition of mankind as the basis for man's need of the gospel.

The book of Job also testifies of the gospel solution to this problem, albeit in shadows appropriate for the time before the coming of Christ. The fact that Job sacrificed burnt offerings to God for his children (1:5) demonstrates Job's knowledge of the necessity for substitution and satisfaction for sin (Lev. 1:4). Job functioned as a priest for his family, and in the end his priestly intercession with sacrifices saved his three friends from the burning wrath of God (Job 42:7–8). Yet Job was not the Mediator. He needed a mediator and longed for a "daysman" who would plead his case with God (9:33), a "surety" who would fulfill his obligations before God (17:3). He trusted in a mysterious heavenly "witness" who would "plead for a man with God" (16:19–21). He knew there is no such friend among mere men but hoped in the Kinsman-Redeemer who would come visibly to this world and raise His people from the dead (14:14; 19:25–27). Job had faith in Christ. Elihu also spoke of the unique Mediator who would teach righteousness and bring a ransom to God so that repentant sinners might be saved from death and rejuvenated in life (33:23–28). The pattern of Job's own life, like that of Joseph (Gen. 37–45), foreshadowed the coming Savior in that the righteous man was humiliated for a period of time when God seemed hidden but then was exalted to prosperity with an awesome display of God's glory—as in Christ's sufferings and glorification. Thus Job is a gospel book.

Third, the book of Job is best known for the way it addresses the mystery of suffering. Skeptics reason that an all-powerful and all-good God could not allow suffering in His creation. Believers may also doubt God's sovereignty or goodness when life seems cruel and meaningless. Job's experience was a case in point, for he was a man of integrity and righteousness (Job 1:1; 2:3) who nonetheless experienced horrible suffering. Why would God let one who feared Him and shunned evil suffer the way Job did? Job's friends pressed him with the doctrine that suffering comes from sin. In a sense they were right, because all suffering springs from the fall of man into disobedience to God (Gen. 3; Eccl. 7:29; Rom. 5:12). However, Job's specific sorrows fell upon him not because of any sin in his life but precisely because of His obedience to the Lord. Therefore, Job is an example of the suffering of the righteous people of God in a world dominated by Satan (Job 1:7; 2:2) and full of wicked men (1:15,17). This suffering climaxed in redemptive history in the crucifixion of the righteous Son of God, and the suffering of all the righteous must be seen in light of their union with Him in His death and resurrection (2 Cor. 1:3–5; Phil. 3:10).

There is a complexity to the way the book of Job addresses the mystery of suffering. In fact, the book addresses suffering from five perspectives.

1. The Inspired Narrator: Suffering is a spiritual battle for God's glory.
2. The Three Friends: Suffering is the consequence of man's sin.
3. Job: Suffering is an inexplicable and perplexing problem.
4. Elihu: Suffering is a purifying process from God.
5. God: Suffering is a call to trust and submission.

Each one of these perspectives contributes something to understanding the suffering of the righteous, although the three friends misapply a general truth by accusing Job of unrepentant sin.

The forty-two chapters of the book of Job draw the reader into the mystery of suffering, and through the great struggles of these five men to deal with this mystery, the book imparts greater wisdom than can be found in simplistic answers to the problem of evil. It does not analyze evil and suffering so much as call upon suffering believers to endure with hope. Job's pattern of life reflects not just the humiliation and exaltation of Christ (as noted above) but also the sorrows of God's people in a world where God seems hidden as they hope in the appearing of the glory of God for their final vindication and inheritance. Thus the New Testament holds up Job as a model of endurance in the hope of Christ's return: "Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord . . . Behold, we count them happy which endure. Ye have heard of the patience of Job, and have seen the end of the Lord; that the Lord is very pitiful, and of tender mercy" (James 5:7,11).

As Job shows us, enduring hope is possible when we embrace a glorious vision of the majesty of God, the sovereign Lord who initiates, controls, and ends all our trials at His will, and when we trust in the gospel's promise of the Mediator whose sacrifice atones for the deepest blasphemies of the heart, whose intercession lays a hand on both God and redeemed sinners, and whose coming will resurrect to joyful life those who belong to Him so that they may be with Him and see His glory forever.

THE BOOK OF

JOB

Job 1 [†]

1 [†] There was a man in the land of Uz, whose name was Job; and that man was perfect and upright, and one that feared God, and eschewed evil.
2 And there were born unto him seven sons and three daughters.
3 [†] His substance also was seven thousand sheep, and three thousand camels, and five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred she asses, and a very great household; so that this man was the greatest of all the men of the east.
4 And his sons went and feasted in their houses, every one his day; and sent and called for their three sisters to eat and to drink with them.
5 [†] And it was so, when the days of their feasting were gone about, that Job sent and sanctified them, and rose up early in the morning, and offered burnt offerings according to the number of them all: for Job said, It may be that my sons have sinned, and cursed God in their hearts. Thus did Job continually.
6 [†] ¶ Now there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and Satan came also among them.
7 [†] And the Lord said unto Satan, Whence comest thou? Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it.
8 [†] And the Lord said unto Satan, Hast thou considered my servant Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a perfect and an upright man, one that feareth God, and escheweth evil?
9 Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, Doth Job fear God for nought?
10 [†] Hast not thou made an hedge about him, and about his house, and about all that he hath on every side? thou hast blessed the work of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land.
11 But put forth thine hand now, and touch all that he hath, and he will curse thee to thy face.
12 [†] And the Lord said unto Satan, Behold, all that he hath is in thy power; only upon himself put not forth thine hand. So Satan went forth from the presence of the Lord.
13 ¶ And there was a day when his sons and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brother's house:
14 And there came a messenger unto Job, and said, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding beside them:
15 [†] And the Sabeans fell upon them, and took them away; yea, they have slain the servants with the edge of the sword; and I only am escaped alone to tell thee.
16 [†] While he was yet speaking, there came also another, and said, The fire of God is fallen from heaven, and hath burned up the sheep, and the servants, and consumed them; and I only am escaped alone to tell thee.
17 [†] While he was yet speaking, there came also another, and said, The Chaldeans made out three bands, and fell upon the camels, and have carried them away, yea, and slain the servants with the edge of the sword; and I only am escaped alone to tell thee.
18 While he was yet speaking, there came also another, and said, Thy sons and thy daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brother's house:
19 And, behold, there came a great wind from the wilderness, and smote the four corners of the house, and it fell upon the young men, and they are dead; and I only am escaped alone to tell thee.
20 [†] Then Job arose, and rent his mantle, and shaved his head, and fell down upon the ground, and worshipped,
21 [†] And said, Naked came I out of my mother's womb, and naked shall I return thither: the Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord.
22 [†] In all this Job sinned not, nor charged God foolishly.

Job 2 [†]

(see article: Satan)

1 [†] Again there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and Satan came also among them to present himself before the Lord.
2 And the Lord said unto Satan, From whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, and said, From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it.
3 [†] And the Lord said unto Satan, Hast thou considered my servant Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a perfect and an upright man, one that feareth God, and escheweth evil? and still he holdeth fast his integrity, although thou movedst me against him, to destroy him without cause.
4 [†] And Satan answered the Lord, and said, Skin for skin, yea, all that a man hath will he give for his life.
5 But put forth thine hand now, and touch his bone and his flesh, and he will curse thee to thy face.
6 [†] And the Lord said unto Satan, Behold, he is in thine hand; but save his life.
7 [†] ¶ So went Satan forth from the presence of the Lord, and smote Job with sore boils from the sole of his foot unto his crown.
8 [†] And he took him a potsherd to scrape himself withal; and he sat down among the ashes.
9 [†] ¶ Then said his wife unto him, Dost thou still retain thine integrity? curse God, and die.
10 [†] But he said unto her, Thou speakest as one of the foolish women speaketh. What? shall we receive good at the hand of God, and shall we not receive evil? In all this did not Job sin with his lips.
11 [†] ¶ Now when Job's three friends heard of all this evil that was come upon him, they came every one from his own place; Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: for they had made an appointment together to come to mourn with him and to comfort him.
12 [†] And when they lifted up their eyes afar off, and knew him not, they lifted up their voice, and wept; and they rent every one his mantle, and sprinkled dust upon their heads toward heaven.
13 [†] So they sat down with him upon the ground seven days and seven nights, and none spake a word unto him: for they saw that his grief was very great.

Job 3 [†]

1 [†] After this opened Job his mouth, and cursed his day.
2 And Job spake, and said,
3 Let the day perish wherein I was born, and the night in which it was said, There is a man child conceived.
4 [†] Let that day be darkness; let not God regard it from above, neither let the light shine upon it.
5 Let darkness and the shadow of death stain it; let a cloud dwell upon it; let the blackness of the day terrify it.
6 As for that night, let darkness seize upon it; let it not be joined unto the days of the year, let it not come into the number of the months.
7 Lo, let that night be solitary, let no joyful voice come therein.
8 Let them curse it that curse the day, who are ready to raise up their mourning.
9 Let the stars of the twilight thereof be dark; let it look for light, but have none; neither let it see the dawning of the day:
10 Because it shut not up the doors of my mother's womb, nor hid sorrow from mine eyes.
11 [†] Why died I not from the womb? why did I not give up the ghost when I came out of the belly?
12 [†] Why did the knees prevent me? or why the breasts that I should suck?
13 [†] For now should I have lain still and been quiet, I should have slept: then had I been at rest,
14 With kings and counsellors of the earth, which built desolate places for themselves;
15 Or with princes that had gold, who filled their houses with silver:
16 Or as an hidden untimely birth I had not been; as infants which never saw light.
17 There the wicked cease from troubling; and there the weary be at rest.
18 There the prisoners rest together; they hear not the voice of the oppressor.
19 The small and great are there; and the servant is free from his master.
20 Wherefore is light given to him that is in misery, and life unto the bitter in soul;
21 Which long for death, but it cometh not; and dig for it more than for hid treasures;
22 Which rejoice exceedingly, and are glad, when they can find the grave?
23 Why is light given to a man whose way is hid, and whom God hath hedged in?
24 For my sighing cometh before I eat, and my roarings are poured out like the waters.
25 [†] For the thing which I greatly feared is come upon me, and that which I was afraid of is come unto me.
26 I was not in safety, neither had I rest, neither was I quiet; yet trouble came.

Job 4 [†]

1 [†] Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said,
2 [†] If we assay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieved? but who can withhold himself from speaking?
3 [†] Behold, thou hast instructed many, and thou hast strengthened the weak hands.
4 Thy words have upholden him that was falling, and thou hast strengthened the feeble knees.
5 But now it is come upon thee, and thou faintest; it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.
6 Is not this thy fear, thy confidence, thy hope, and the uprightness of thy ways?
7 [†] Remember, I pray thee, who ever perished, being innocent? or where were the righteous cut off?
8 [†] Even as I have seen, they that plow iniquity, and sow wickedness, reap the same.
9 [†] By the blast of God they perish, and by the breath of his nostrils are they consumed.
10 The roaring of the lion, and the voice of the fierce lion, and the teeth of the young lions, are broken.
11 [†] The old lion perisheth for lack of prey, and the stout lion's whelps are scattered abroad.
12 Now a thing was secretly brought to me, and mine ear received a little thereof.
13 [†] In thoughts from the visions of the night, when deep sleep falleth on men,
14 Fear came upon me, and trembling, which made all my bones to shake.
15 [†] Then a spirit passed before my face; the hair of my flesh stood up:
16 It stood still, but I could not discern the form thereof: an image was before mine eyes, there was silence, and I heard a voice, saying,
17 [†] Shall mortal man be more just than God? shall a man be more pure than his maker?
18 Behold, he put no trust in his servants; and his angels he charged with folly:
19 How much less in them that dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which are crushed before the moth?
20 They are destroyed from morning to evening: they perish for ever without any regarding it.
21 Doth not their excellency which is in them go away? they die, even without wisdom.

Job 5 [†]

1 Call now, if there be any that will answer thee; and to which of the saints wilt thou turn?
2 [†] For wrath killeth the foolish man, and envy slayeth the silly one.
3 [†] I have seen the foolish taking root: but suddenly I cursed his habitation.
4 [†] His children are far from safety, and they are crushed in the gate, neither is there any to deliver them.
5 Whose harvest the hungry eateth up, and taketh it even out of the thorns, and the robber swalloweth up their substance.
6 [†] Although affliction cometh not forth of the dust, neither doth trouble spring out of the ground;
7 [†] Yet man is born unto trouble, as the sparks fly upward.
8 [†] I would seek unto God, and unto God would I commit my cause:
9 Which doeth great things and unsearchable; marvellous things without number:
10 Who giveth rain upon the earth, and sendeth waters upon the fields:
11 To set up on high those that be low; that those which mourn may be exalted to safety.
12 [†] He disappointeth the devices of the crafty, so that their hands cannot perform their enterprise.
13 [†] He taketh the wise in their own craftiness: and the counsel of the froward is carried headlong.
14 They meet with darkness in the daytime, and grope in the noonday as in the night.
15 But he saveth the poor from the sword, from their mouth, and from the hand of the mighty.
16 So the poor hath hope, and iniquity stoppeth her mouth.
17 [†] Behold, happy is the man whom God correcteth: therefore despise not thou the chastening of the Almighty:
18 For he maketh sore, and bindeth up: he woundeth, and his hands make whole.
19 [†] He shall deliver thee in six troubles: yea, in seven there shall no evil touch thee.
20 In famine he shall redeem thee from death: and in war from the power of the sword.
21 Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of the tongue: neither shalt thou be afraid of destruction when it cometh.
22 At destruction and famine thou shalt laugh: neither shalt thou be afraid of the beasts of the earth.
23 For thou shalt be in league with the stones of the field: and the beasts of the field shall be at peace with thee.
24 [†] And thou shalt know that thy tabernacle shall be in peace; and thou shalt visit thy habitation, and shalt not sin.
25 Thou shalt know also that thy seed shall be great, and thine offspring as the grass of the earth.
26 [†] Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age, like as a shock of corn cometh in in his season.
27 [†] Lo this, we have searched it, so it is; hear it, and know thou it for thy good.

Job 6 [†]

1 But Job answered and said,
2 Oh that my grief were throughly weighed, and my calamity laid in the balances together!
3 [†] For now it would be heavier than the sand of the sea: therefore my words are swallowed up.
4 [†] For the arrows of the Almighty are within me, the poison whereof drinketh up my spirit: the terrors of God do set themselves in array against me.
5 [†] Doth the wild ass bray when he hath grass? or loweth the ox over his fodder?
6 Can that which is unsavoury be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egg?
7 [†] The things that my soul refused to touch are as my sorrowful meat.
8 [†] Oh that I might have my request; and that God would grant me the thing that I long for!
9 Even that it would please God to destroy me; that he would let loose his hand, and cut me off!
10 [†] Then should I yet have comfort; yea, I would harden myself in sorrow: let him not spare; for I have not concealed the words of the Holy One.
11 [†] What is my strength, that I should hope? and what is mine end, that I should prolong my life?
12 Is my strength the strength of stones? or is my flesh of brass?
13 [†] Is not my help in me? and is wisdom driven quite from me?
14 [†] To him that is afflicted pity should be shewed from his friend; but he forsaketh the fear of the Almighty.
15 My brethren have dealt deceitfully as a brook, and as the stream of brooks they pass away;
16 Which are blackish by reason of the ice, and wherein the snow is hid:
17 What time they wax warm, they vanish: when it is hot, they are consumed out of their place.
18 The paths of their way are turned aside; they go to nothing, and perish.
19 The troops of Tema looked, the companies of Sheba waited for them.
20 They were confounded because they had hoped; they came thither, and were ashamed.
21 For now ye are nothing; ye see my casting down, and are afraid.
22 Did I say, Bring unto me? or, Give a reward for me of your substance?
23 Or, Deliver me from the enemy's hand? or, Redeem me from the hand of the mighty?
24 [†] Teach me, and I will hold my tongue: and cause me to understand wherein I have erred.
25 How forcible are right words! but what doth your arguing reprove?
26 [†] Do ye imagine to reprove words, and the speeches of one that is desperate, which are as wind?
27 [†] Yea, ye overwhelm the fatherless, and ye dig a pit for your friend.
28 Now therefore be content, look upon me; for it is evident unto you if I lie.
29 Return, I pray you, let it not be iniquity; yea, return again, my righteousness is in it.
30 [†] Is there iniquity in my tongue? cannot my taste discern perverse things?

Job 7 [†]

1 [†] Is there not an appointed time to man upon earth? are not his days also like the days of an hireling?
2 [†] As a servant earnestly desireth the shadow, and as an hireling looketh for the reward of his work:
3 [†] So am I made to possess months of vanity, and wearisome nights are appointed to me.
4 When I lie down, I say, When shall I arise, and the night be gone? and I am full of tossings to and fro unto the dawning of the day.
5 My flesh is clothed with worms and clods of dust; my skin is broken, and become loathsome.
6 [†] My days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle, and are spent without hope.
7 O remember that my life is wind: mine eye shall no more see good.
8 The eye of him that hath seen me shall see me no more: thine eyes are upon me, and I am not.
9 As the cloud is consumed and vanisheth away: so he that goeth down to the grave shall come up no more.
10 [†] He shall return no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.
11 [†] Therefore I will not refrain my mouth; I will speak in the anguish of my spirit; I will complain in the bitterness of my soul.
12 [†] Am I a sea, or a whale, that thou settest a watch over me?
13 When I say, My bed shall comfort me, my couch shall ease my complaint;
14 [†] Then thou scarest me with dreams, and terrifiest me through visions:
15 So that my soul chooseth strangling, and death rather than my life.
16 [†] I loathe it; I would not live alway: let me alone; for my days are vanity.
17 [†] What is man, that thou shouldest magnify him? and that thou shouldest set thine heart upon him?
18 And that thou shouldest visit him every morning, and try him every moment?
19 How long wilt thou not depart from me, nor let me alone till I swallow down my spittle?
20 [†] I have sinned; what shall I do unto thee, O thou preserver of men? why hast thou set me as a mark against thee, so that I am a burden to myself?
21 And why dost thou not pardon my transgression, and take away mine iniquity? for now shall I sleep in the dust; and thou shalt seek me in the morning, but I shall not be.

Job 8 [†]

1 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,
2 How long wilt thou speak these things? and how long shall the words of thy mouth be like a strong wind?
3 [†] Doth God pervert judgment? or doth the Almighty pervert justice?
4 [†] If thy children have sinned against him, and he have cast them away for their transgression;
5 [†] If thou wouldest seek unto God betimes, and make thy supplication to the Almighty;
6 [†] If thou wert pure and upright; surely now he would awake for thee, and make the habitation of thy righteousness prosperous.
7 Though thy beginning was small, yet thy latter end should greatly increase.
8 [†] For enquire, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thyself to the search of their fathers:
9 (For we are but of yesterday, and know nothing, because our days upon earth are a shadow:)
10 Shall not they teach thee, and tell thee, and utter words out of their heart?
11 [†] Can the rush grow up without mire? can the flag grow without water?
12 Whilst it is yet in his greenness, and not cut down, it withereth before any other herb.
13 So are the paths of all that forget God; and the hypocrite's hope shall perish:
14 [†] Whose hope shall be cut off, and whose trust shall be a spider's web.
15 He shall lean upon his house, but it shall not stand: he shall hold it fast, but it shall not endure.
16 He is green before the sun, and his branch shooteth forth in his garden.
17 His roots are wrapped about the heap, and seeth the place of stones.
18 If he destroy him from his place, then it shall deny him, saying, I have not seen thee.
19 Behold, this is the joy of his way, and out of the earth shall others grow.
20 [†] Behold, God will not cast away a perfect man, neither will he help the evil doers:
21 Till he fill thy mouth with laughing, and thy lips with rejoicing.
22 They that hate thee shall be clothed with shame; and the dwelling place of the wicked shall come to nought.

Job 9 [†]

1 Then Job answered and said,
2 I know it is so of a truth: but how should man be just with God?
3 [†] If he will contend with him, he cannot answer him one of a thousand.
4 [†] He is wise in heart, and mighty in strength: who hath hardened himself against him, and hath prospered?
5 Which removeth the mountains, and they know not: which overturneth them in his anger.
6 Which shaketh the earth out of her place, and the pillars thereof tremble.
7 Which commandeth the sun, and it riseth not; and sealeth up the stars.
8 Which alone spreadeth out the heavens, and treadeth upon the waves of the sea.
9 [†] Which maketh Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the chambers of the south.
10 Which doeth great things past finding out; yea, and wonders without number.
11 [†] Lo, he goeth by me, and I see him not: he passeth on also, but I perceive him not.
12 Behold, he taketh away, who can hinder him? who will say unto him, What doest thou?
13 [†] If God will not withdraw his anger, the proud helpers do stoop under him.
14 How much less shall I answer him, and choose out my words to reason with him?
15 [†] Whom, though I were righteous, yet would I not answer, but I would make supplication to my judge.
16 If I had called, and he had answered me; yet would I not believe that he had hearkened unto my voice.
17 For he breaketh me with a tempest, and multiplieth my wounds without cause.
18 [†] He will not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitterness.
19 If I speak of strength, lo, he is strong: and if of judgment, who shall set me a time to plead?
20 If I justify myself, mine own mouth shall condemn me: if I say, I am perfect, it shall also prove me perverse.
21 Though I were perfect, yet would I not know my soul: I would despise my life.
22 This is one thing, therefore I said it, He destroyeth the perfect and the wicked.
23 [†] If the scourge slay suddenly, he will laugh at the trial of the innocent.
24 The earth is given into the hand of the wicked: he covereth the faces of the judges thereof; if not, where, and who is he?
25 [†] Now my days are swifter than a post: they flee away, they see no good.
26 They are passed away as the swift ships: as the eagle that hasteth to the prey.
27 If I say, I will forget my complaint, I will leave off my heaviness, and comfort myself:
28 I am afraid of all my sorrows, I know that thou wilt not hold me innocent.
29 If I be wicked, why then labour I in vain?
30 If I wash myself with snow water, and make my hands never so clean;
31 Yet shalt thou plunge me in the ditch, and mine own clothes shall abhor me.
32 For he is not a man, as I am, that I should answer him, and we should come together in judgment.
33 [†] Neither is there any daysman betwixt us, that might lay his hand upon us both.
34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his fear terrify me:
35 Then would I speak, and not fear him; but it is not so with me.

Job 10 [†]

1 [†] My soul is weary of my life; I will leave my complaint upon myself; I will speak in the bitterness of my soul.
2 [†] I will say unto God, Do not condemn me; shew me wherefore thou contendest with me.
3 [†] Is it good unto thee that thou shouldest oppress, that thou shouldest despise the work of thine hands, and shine upon the counsel of the wicked?
4 [†] Hast thou eyes of flesh? or seest thou as man seeth?
5 Are thy days as the days of man? are thy years as man's days,
6 That thou enquirest after mine iniquity, and searchest after my sin?
7 Thou knowest that I am not wicked; and there is none that can deliver out of thine hand.
8 [†] Thine hands have made me and fashioned me together round about; yet thou dost destroy me.
9 [†] Remember, I beseech thee, that thou hast made me as the clay; and wilt thou bring me into dust again?
10 [†] Hast thou not poured me out as milk, and curdled me like cheese?
11 [†] Thou hast clothed me with skin and flesh, and hast fenced me with bones and sinews.
12 [†] Thou hast granted me life and favour, and thy visitation hath preserved my spirit.
13 And these things hast thou hid in thine heart: I know that this is with thee.
14 If I sin, then thou markest me, and thou wilt not acquit me from mine iniquity.
15 [†] If I be wicked, woe unto me; and if I be righteous, yet will I not lift up my head. I am full of confusion; therefore see thou mine affliction;
16 [†] For it increaseth. Thou huntest me as a fierce lion: and again thou shewest thyself marvellous upon me.
17 Thou renewest thy witnesses against me, and increasest thine indignation upon me; changes and war are against me.
18 [†] Wherefore then hast thou brought me forth out of the womb? Oh that I had given up the ghost, and no eye had seen me!
19 I should have been as though I had not been; I should have been carried from the womb to the grave.
20 Are not my days few? cease then, and let me alone, that I may take comfort a little,
21 [†] Before I go whence I shall not return, even to the land of darkness and the shadow of death;
22 A land of darkness, as darkness itself; and of the shadow of death, without any order, and where the light is as darkness.

Job 11 [†]

1 [†] Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,
2 Should not the multitude of words be answered? and should a man full of talk be justified?
3 [†] Should thy lies make men hold their peace? and when thou mockest, shall no man make thee ashamed?
4 For thou hast said, My doctrine is pure, and I am clean in thine eyes.
5 But oh that God would speak, and open his lips against thee;
6 [†] And that he would shew thee the secrets of wisdom, that they are double to that which is! Know therefore that God exacteth of thee less than thine iniquity deserveth.
7 [†] Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou find out the Almighty unto perfection?
8 It is as high as heaven; what canst thou do? deeper than hell; what canst thou know?
9 The measure thereof is longer than the earth, and broader than the sea.
10 If he cut off, and shut up, or gather together, then who can hinder him?
11 [†] For he knoweth vain men: he seeth wickedness also; will he not then consider it?
12 [†] For vain man would be wise, though man be born like a wild ass's colt.
13 If thou prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine hands toward him;
14 [†] If iniquity be in thine hand, put it far away, and let not wickedness dwell in thy tabernacles.
15 For then shalt thou lift up thy face without spot; yea, thou shalt be stedfast, and shalt not fear:
16 Because thou shalt forget thy misery, and remember it as waters that pass away:
17 [†] And thine age shall be clearer than the noonday; thou shalt shine forth, thou shalt be as the morning.
18 And thou shalt be secure, because there is hope; yea, thou shalt dig about thee, and thou shalt take thy rest in safety.
19 [†] Also thou shalt lie down, and none shall make thee afraid; yea, many shall make suit unto thee.
20 [†] But the eyes of the wicked shall fail, and they shall not escape, and their hope shall be as the giving up of the ghost.

Job 12 [†]

(see article: God's Wisdom)

1 And Job answered and said,
2 [†] No doubt but ye are the people, and wisdom shall die with you.
3 [†] But I have understanding as well as you; I am not inferior to you: yea, who knoweth not such things as these?
4 [†] I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth upon God, and he answereth him: the just upright man is laughed to scorn.
5 [†] He that is ready to slip with his feet is as a lamp despised in the thought of him that is at ease.
6 [†] The tabernacles of robbers prosper, and they that provoke God are secure; into whose hand God bringeth abundantly.
7 But ask now the beasts, and they shall teach thee; and the fowls of the air, and they shall tell thee:
8 Or speak to the earth, and it shall teach thee: and the fishes of the sea shall declare unto thee.
9 [†] Who knoweth not in all these that the hand of the Lord hath wrought this?
10 [†] In whose hand is the soul of every living thing, and the breath of all mankind.
11 [†] Doth not the ear try words? and the mouth taste his meat?
12 [†] With the ancient is wisdom; and in length of days understanding.
13 [†] With him is wisdom and strength, he hath counsel and understanding.
14 Behold, he breaketh down, and it cannot be built again: he shutteth up a man, and there can be no opening.
15 Behold, he withholdeth the waters, and they dry up: also he sendeth them out, and they overturn the earth.
16 [†] With him is strength and wisdom: the deceived and the deceiver are his.
17 [†] He leadeth counsellors away spoiled, and maketh the judges fools.
18 [†] He looseth the bond of kings, and girdeth their loins with a girdle.
19 [†] He leadeth princes away spoiled, and overthroweth the mighty.
20 [†] He removeth away the speech of the trusty, and taketh away the understanding of the aged.
21 He poureth contempt upon princes, and weakeneth the strength of the mighty.
22 He discovereth deep things out of darkness, and bringeth out to light the shadow of death.
23 [†] He increaseth the nations, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and straiteneth them again.
24 He taketh away the heart of the chief of the people of the earth, and causeth them to wander in a wilderness where there is no way.
25 They grope in the dark without light, and he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

Job 13 [†]

1 Lo, mine eye hath seen all this, mine ear hath heard and understood it.
2 What ye know, the same do I know also: I am not inferior unto you.
3 [†] Surely I would speak to the Almighty, and I desire to reason with God.
4 [†] But ye are forgers of lies, ye are all physicians of no value.
5 [†] O that ye would altogether hold your peace! and it should be your wisdom.
6 [†] Hear now my reasoning, and hearken to the pleadings of my lips.
7 [†] Will ye speak wickedly for God? and talk deceitfully for him?
8 Will ye accept his person? will ye contend for God?
9 Is it good that he should search you out? or as one man mocketh another, do ye so mock him?
10 [†] He will surely reprove you, if ye do secretly accept persons.
11 Shall not his excellency make you afraid? and his dread fall upon you?
12 [†] Your remembrances are like unto ashes, your bodies to bodies of clay.
13 [†] Hold your peace, let me alone, that I may speak, and let come on me what will.
14 Wherefore do I take my flesh in my teeth, and put my life in mine hand?
15 [†] Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him: but I will maintain mine own ways before him.
16 [†] He also shall be my salvation: for an hypocrite shall not come before him.
17 Hear diligently my speech, and my declaration with your ears.
18 [†] Behold now, I have ordered my cause; I know that I shall be justified.
19 [†] Who is he that will plead with me? for now, if I hold my tongue, I shall give up the ghost.
20 Only do not two things unto me: then will I not hide myself from thee.
21 Withdraw thine hand far from me: and let not thy dread make me afraid.
22 Then call thou, and I will answer: or let me speak, and answer thou me.
23 How many are mine iniquities and sins? make me to know my transgression and my sin.
24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and holdest me for thine enemy?
25 Wilt thou break a leaf driven to and fro? and wilt thou pursue the dry stubble?
26 For thou writest bitter things against me, and makest me to possess the iniquities of my youth.
27 [†] Thou puttest my feet also in the stocks, and lookest narrowly unto all my paths; thou settest a print upon the heels of my feet.
28 And he, as a rotten thing, consumeth, as a garment that is moth eaten.

Job 14 [†]

1 MAN that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble.
2 He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down: he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not.
3 And dost thou open thine eyes upon such an one, and bringest me into judgment with thee?
4 [†] Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? not one.
5 Seeing his days are determined, the number of his months are with thee, thou hast appointed his bounds that he cannot pass;
6 Turn from him, that he may rest, till he shall accomplish, as an hireling, his day.
7 [†] For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut down, that it will sprout again, and that the tender branch thereof will not cease.
8 [†] Though the root thereof wax old in the earth, and the stock thereof die in the ground;
9 [†] Yet through the scent of water it will bud, and bring forth boughs like a plant.
10 [†] But man dieth, and wasteth away: yea, man giveth up the ghost, and where is he?
11 As the waters fail from the sea, and the flood decayeth and drieth up:
12 [†] So man lieth down, and riseth not: till the heavens be no more, they shall not awake, nor be raised out of their sleep.
13 [†] O that thou wouldest hide me in the grave, that thou wouldest keep me secret, until thy wrath be past, that thou wouldest appoint me a set time, and remember me!
14 [†] If a man die, shall he live again? all the days of my appointed time will I wait, till my change come.
15 Thou shalt call, and I will answer thee: thou wilt have a desire to the work of thine hands.
16 [†] For now thou numberest my steps: dost thou not watch over my sin?
17 My transgression is sealed up in a bag, and thou sewest up mine iniquity.
18 And surely the mountain falling cometh to nought, and the rock is removed out of his place.
19 The waters wear the stones: thou washest away the things which grow out of the dust of the earth; and thou destroyest the hope of man.
20 Thou prevailest for ever against him, and he passeth: thou changest his countenance, and sendest him away.
21 His sons come to honour, and he knoweth it not; and they are brought low, but he perceiveth it not of them.
22 But his flesh upon him shall have pain, and his soul within him shall mourn.

Job 15 [†]

1 Then answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and said,
2 [†] Should a wise man utter vain knowledge, and fill his belly with the east wind?
3 Should he reason with unprofitable talk? or with speeches wherewith he can do no good?
4 [†] Yea, thou castest off fear, and restrainest prayer before God.
5 For thy mouth uttereth thine iniquity, and thou choosest the tongue of the crafty.
6 Thine own mouth condemneth thee, and not I: yea, thine own lips testify against thee.
7 Art thou the first man that was born? or wast thou made before the hills?
8 Hast thou heard the secret of God? and dost thou restrain wisdom to thyself?
9 What knowest thou, that we know not? what understandest thou, which is not in us?
10 [†] With us are both the grayheaded and very aged men, much elder than thy father.
11 Are the consolations of God small with thee? is there any secret thing with thee?
12 Why doth thine heart carry thee away? and what do thy eyes wink at,
13 That thou turnest thy spirit against God, and lettest such words go out of thy mouth?
14 [†] What is man, that he should be clean? and he which is born of a woman, that he should be righteous?
15 [†] Behold, he putteth no trust in his saints; yea, the heavens are not clean in his sight.
16 [†] How much more abominable and filthy is man, which drinketh iniquity like water?
17 I will shew thee, hear me; and that which I have seen I will declare;
18 Which wise men have told from their fathers, and have not hid it:
19 [†] Unto whom alone the earth was given, and no stranger passed among them.
20 [†] The wicked man travaileth with pain all his days, and the number of years is hidden to the oppressor.
21 A dreadful sound is in his ears: in prosperity the destroyer shall come upon him.
22 [†] He believeth not that he shall return out of darkness, and he is waited for of the sword.
23 He wandereth abroad for bread, saying, Where is it? he knoweth that the day of darkness is ready at his hand.
24 Trouble and anguish shall make him afraid; they shall prevail against him, as a king ready to the battle.
25 For he stretcheth out his hand against God, and strengtheneth himself against the Almighty.
26 [†] He runneth upon him, even on his neck, upon the thick bosses of his bucklers:
27 [†] Because he covereth his face with his fatness, and maketh collops of fat on his flanks.
28 And he dwelleth in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, which are ready to become heaps.
29 He shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall he prolong the perfection thereof upon the earth.
30 He shall not depart out of darkness; the flame shall dry up his branches, and by the breath of his mouth shall he go away.
31 [†] Let not him that is deceived trust in vanity: for vanity shall be his recompence.
32 It shall be accomplished before his time, and his branch shall not be green.
33 He shall shake off his unripe grape as the vine, and shall cast off his flower as the olive.
34 [†] For the congregation of hypocrites shall be desolate, and fire shall consume the tabernacles of bribery.
35 [†] They conceive mischief, and bring forth vanity, and their belly prepareth deceit.

Job 16 [†]

1 Then Job answered and said,
2 [†] I have heard many such things: miserable comforters are ye all.
3 [†] Shall vain words have an end? or what emboldeneth thee that thou answerest?
4 I also could speak as ye do: if your soul were in my soul's stead, I could heap up words against you, and shake mine head at you.
5 [†] But I would strengthen you with my mouth, and the moving of my lips should asswage your grief.
6 Though I speak, my grief is not asswaged: and though I forbear, what am I eased?
7 [†] But now he hath made me weary: thou hast made desolate all my company.
8 And thou hast filled me with wrinkles, which is a witness against me: and my leanness rising up in me beareth witness to my face.
9 He teareth me in his wrath, who hateth me: he gnasheth upon me with his teeth; mine enemy sharpeneth his eyes upon me.
10 [†] They have gaped upon me with their mouth; they have smitten me upon the cheek reproachfully; they have gathered themselves together against me.
11 God hath delivered me to the ungodly, and turned me over into the hands of the wicked.
12 [†] I was at ease, but he hath broken me asunder: he hath also taken me by my neck, and shaken me to pieces, and set me up for his mark.
13 [†] His archers compass me round about, he cleaveth my reins asunder, and doth not spare; he poureth out my gall upon the ground.
14 [†] He breaketh me with breach upon breach, he runneth upon me like a giant.
15 [†] I have sewed sackcloth upon my skin, and defiled my horn in the dust.
16 My face is foul with weeping, and on my eyelids is the shadow of death;
17 Not for any injustice in mine hands: also my prayer is pure.
18 [†] O earth, cover not thou my blood, and let my cry have no place.
19 [†] Also now, behold, my witness is in heaven, and my record is on high.
20 My friends scorn me: but mine eye poureth out tears unto God.
21 [†] O that one might plead for a man with God, as a man pleadeth for his neighbour!
22 When a few years are come, then I shall go the way whence I shall not return.

Job 17 [†]

1 [†] My breath is corrupt, my days are extinct, the graves are ready for me.
2 Are there not mockers with me? and doth not mine eye continue in their provocation?
3 [†] Lay down now, put me in a surety with thee; who is he that will strike hands with me?
4 For thou hast hid their heart from understanding: therefore shalt thou not exalt them.
5 [†] He that speaketh flattery to his friends, even the eyes of his children shall fail.
6 [†] He hath made me also a byword of the people; and aforetime I was as a tabret.
7 Mine eye also is dim by reason of sorrow, and all my members are as a shadow.
8 [†] Upright men shall be astonied at this, and the innocent shall stir up himself against the hypocrite.
9 The righteous also shall hold on his way, and he that hath clean hands shall be stronger and stronger.
10 But as for you all, do ye return, and come now: for I cannot find one wise man among you.
11 My days are past, my purposes are broken off, even the thoughts of my heart.
12 They change the night into day: the light is short because of darkness.
13 If I wait, the grave is mine house: I have made my bed in the darkness.
14 I have said to corruption, Thou art my father: to the worm, Thou art my mother, and my sister.
15 And where is now my hope? as for my hope, who shall see it?
16 [†] They shall go down to the bars of the pit, when our rest together is in the dust.

Job 18 [†]

1 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,
2 [†] How long will it be ere ye make an end of words? mark, and afterwards we will speak.
3 [†] Wherefore are we counted as beasts, and reputed vile in your sight?
4 He teareth himself in his anger: shall the earth be forsaken for thee? and shall the rock be removed out of his place?
5 Yea, the light of the wicked shall be put out, and the spark of his fire shall not shine.
6 [†] The light shall be dark in his tabernacle, and his candle shall be put out with him.
7 [†] The steps of his strength shall be straitened, and his own counsel shall cast him down.
8 For he is cast into a net by his own feet, and he walketh upon a snare.
9 [†] The gin shall take him by the heel, and the robber shall prevail against him.
10 [†] The snare is laid for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way.
11 Terrors shall make him afraid on every side, and shall drive him to his feet.
12 [†] His strength shall be hungerbitten, and destruction shall be ready at his side.
13 It shall devour the strength of his skin: even the firstborn of death shall devour his strength.
14 His confidence shall be rooted out of his tabernacle, and it shall bring him to the king of terrors.
15 [†] It shall dwell in his tabernacle, because it is none of his: brimstone shall be scattered upon his habitation.
16 His roots shall be dried up beneath, and above shall his branch be cut off.
17 His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall have no name in the street.
18 He shall be driven from light into darkness, and chased out of the world.
19 [†] He shall neither have son nor nephew among his people, nor any remaining in his dwellings.
20 [†] They that come after him shall be astonied at his day, as they that went before were affrighted.
21 Surely such are the dwellings of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

Job 19 [†]

1 Then Job answered and said,
2 [†] How long will ye vex my soul, and break me in pieces with words?
3 [†] These ten times have ye reproached me: ye are not ashamed that ye make yourselves strange to me.
4 And be it indeed that I have erred, mine error remaineth with myself.
5 If indeed ye will magnify yourselves against me, and plead against me my reproach:
6 [†] Know now that God hath overthrown me, and hath compassed me with his net.
7 [†] Behold, I cry out of wrong, but I am not heard: I cry aloud, but there is no judgment.
8 He hath fenced up my way that I cannot pass, and he hath set darkness in my paths.
9 He hath stripped me of my glory, and taken the crown from my head.
10 He hath destroyed me on every side, and I am gone: and mine hope hath he removed like a tree.
11 He hath also kindled his wrath against me, and he counteth me unto him as one of his enemies.
12 [†] His troops come together, and raise up their way against me, and encamp round about my tabernacle.
13 [†] He hath put my brethren far from me, and mine acquaintance are verily estranged from me.
14 My kinsfolk have failed, and my familiar friends have forgotten me.
15 They that dwell in mine house, and my maids, count me for a stranger: I am an alien in their sight.
16 I called my servant, and he gave me no answer; I intreated him with my mouth.
17 [†] My breath is strange to my wife, though I intreated for the children's sake of mine own body.
18 Yea, young children despised me; I arose, and they spake against me.
19 All my inward friends abhorred me: and they whom I loved are turned against me.
20 My bone cleaveth to my skin and to my flesh, and I am escaped with the skin of my teeth.
21 [†] Have pity upon me, have pity upon me, O ye my friends; for the hand of God hath touched me.
22 Why do ye persecute me as God, and are not satisfied with my flesh?
23 [†] Oh that my words were now written! oh that they were printed in a book!
24 That they were graven with an iron pen and lead in the rock for ever!
25 [†] For I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth:
26 [†] And though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God:
27 [†] Whom I shall see for myself, and mine eyes shall behold, and not another; though my reins be consumed within me.
28 But ye should say, Why persecute we him, seeing the root of the matter is found in me?
29 Be ye afraid of the sword: for wrath bringeth the punishments of the sword, that ye may know there is a judgment.

Job 20 [†]

1 Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,
2 Therefore do my thoughts cause me to answer, and for this I make haste.
3 [†] I have heard the check of my reproach, and the spirit of my understanding causeth me to answer.
4 Knowest thou not this of old, since man was placed upon earth,
5 [†] That the triumphing of the wicked is short, and the joy of the hypocrite but for a moment?
6 [†] Though his excellency mount up to the heavens, and his head reach unto the clouds;
7 Yet he shall perish for ever like his own dung: they which have seen him shall say, Where is he?
8 He shall fly away as a dream, and shall not be found: yea, he shall be chased away as a vision of the night.
9 The eye also which saw him shall see him no more; neither shall his place any more behold him.
10 [†] His children shall seek to please the poor, and his hands shall restore their goods.
11 His bones are full of the sin of his youth, which shall lie down with him in the dust.
12 Though wickedness be sweet in his mouth, though he hide it under his tongue;
13 Though he spare it, and forsake it not; but keep it still within his mouth:
14 [†] Yet his meat in his bowels is turned, it is the gall of asps within him.
15 He hath swallowed down riches, and he shall vomit them up again: God shall cast them out of his belly.
16 He shall suck the poison of asps: the viper's tongue shall slay him.
17 He shall not see the rivers, the floods, the brooks of honey and butter.
18 That which he laboured for shall he restore, and shall not swallow it down: according to his substance shall the restitution be, and he shall not rejoice therein.
19 Because he hath oppressed and hath forsaken the poor; because he hath violently taken away an house which he builded not;
20 Surely he shall not feel quietness in his belly, he shall not save of that which he desired.
21 There shall none of his meat be left; therefore shall no man look for his goods.
22 [†] In the fulness of his sufficiency he shall be in straits: every hand of the wicked shall come upon him.
23 When he is about to fill his belly, God shall cast the fury of his wrath upon him, and shall rain it upon him while he is eating.
24 [†] He shall flee from the iron weapon, and the bow of steel shall strike him through.
25 [†] It is drawn, and cometh out of the body; yea, the glittering sword cometh out of his gall: terrors are upon him.
26 [†] All darkness shall be hid in his secret places: a fire not blown shall consume him; it shall go ill with him that is left in his tabernacle.
27 The heaven shall reveal his iniquity; and the earth shall rise up against him.
28 The increase of his house shall depart, and his goods shall flow away in the day of his wrath.
29 This is the portion of a wicked man from God, and the heritage appointed unto him by God.

Job 21 [†]

1 But Job answered and said,
2 Hear diligently my speech, and let this be your consolations.
3 [†] Suffer me that I may speak; and after that I have spoken, mock on.
4 As for me, is my complaint to man? and if it were so, why should not my spirit be troubled?
5 [†] Mark me, and be astonished, and lay your hand upon your mouth.
6 Even when I remember I am afraid, and trembling taketh hold on my flesh.
7 [†] Wherefore do the wicked live, become old, yea, are mighty in power?
8 Their seed is established in their sight with them, and their offspring before their eyes.
9 Their houses are safe from fear, neither is the rod of God upon them.
10 [†] Their bull gendereth, and faileth not; their cow calveth, and casteth not her calf.
11 They send forth their little ones like a flock, and their children dance.
12 [†] They take the timbrel and harp, and rejoice at the sound of the organ.
13 [†] They spend their days in wealth, and in a moment go down to the grave.
14 Therefore they say unto God, Depart from us; for we desire not the knowledge of thy ways.
15 [†] What is the Almighty, that we should serve him? and what profit should we have, if we pray unto him?
16 Lo, their good is not in their hand: the counsel of the wicked is far from me.
17 [†] How oft is the candle of the wicked put out! and how oft cometh their destruction upon them! God distributeth sorrows in his anger.
18 They are as stubble before the wind, and as chaff that the storm carrieth away.
19 [†] God layeth up his iniquity for his children: he rewardeth him, and he shall know it.
20 His eyes shall see his destruction, and he shall drink of the wrath of the Almighty.
21 For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, when the number of his months is cut off in the midst?
22 Shall any teach God knowledge? seeing he judgeth those that are high.
23 One dieth in his full strength, being wholly at ease and quiet.
24 [†] His breasts are full of milk, and his bones are moistened with marrow.
25 And another dieth in the bitterness of his soul, and never eateth with pleasure.
26 [†] They shall lie down alike in the dust, and the worms shall cover them.
27 [†] Behold, I know your thoughts, and the devices which ye wrongfully imagine against me.
28 For ye say, Where is the house of the prince? and where are the dwelling places of the wicked?
29 [†] Have ye not asked them that go by the way? and do ye not know their tokens,
30 [†] That the wicked is reserved to the day of destruction? they shall be brought forth to the day of wrath.
31 Who shall declare his way to his face? and who shall repay him what he hath done?
32 Yet shall he be brought to the grave, and shall remain in the tomb.
33 The clods of the valley shall be sweet unto him, and every man shall draw after him, as there are innumerable before him.
34 [†] How then comfort ye me in vain, seeing in your answers there remaineth falsehood?

Job 22 [†]

1 Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said,
2 [†] Can a man be profitable unto God, as he that is wise may be profitable unto himself?
3 Is it any pleasure to the Almighty, that thou art righteous? or is it gain to him, that thou makest thy ways perfect?
4 Will he reprove thee for fear of thee? will he enter with thee into judgment?
5 [†] Is not thy wickedness great? and thine iniquities infinite?
6 [†] For thou hast taken a pledge from thy brother for nought, and stripped the naked of their clothing.
7 Thou hast not given water to the weary to drink, and thou hast withholden bread from the hungry.
8 But as for the mighty man, he had the earth; and the honourable man dwelt in it.
9 Thou hast sent widows away empty, and the arms of the fatherless have been broken.
10 [†] Therefore snares are round about thee, and sudden fear troubleth thee;
11 Or darkness, that thou canst not see; and abundance of waters cover thee.
12 [†] Is not God in the height of heaven? and behold the height of the stars, how high they are!
13 And thou sayest, How doth God know? can he judge through the dark cloud?
14 Thick clouds are a covering to him, that he seeth not; and he walketh in the circuit of heaven.
15 [†] Hast thou marked the old way which wicked men have trodden?
16 Which were cut down out of time, whose foundation was overflown with a flood:
17 Which said unto God, Depart from us: and what can the Almighty do for them?
18 Yet he filled their houses with good things: but the counsel of the wicked is far from me.
19 The righteous see it, and are glad: and the innocent laugh them to scorn.
20 Whereas our substance is not cut down, but the remnant of them the fire consumeth.
21 [†] Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace: thereby good shall come unto thee.
22 [†] Receive, I pray thee, the law from his mouth, and lay up his words in thine heart.
23 [†] If thou return to the Almighty, thou shalt be built up, thou shalt put away iniquity far from thy tabernacles.
24 Then shalt thou lay up gold as dust, and the gold of Ophir as the stones of the brooks.
25 [†] Yea, the Almighty shall be thy defence, and thou shalt have plenty of silver.
26 For then shalt thou have thy delight in the Almighty, and shalt lift up thy face unto God.
27 Thou shalt make thy prayer unto him, and he shall hear thee, and thou shalt pay thy vows.
28 [†] Thou shalt also decree a thing, and it shall be established unto thee: and the light shall shine upon thy ways.
29 When men are cast down, then thou shalt say, There is lifting up; and he shall save the humble person.
30 [†] He shall deliver the island of the innocent: and it is delivered by the pureness of thine hands.

Job 23 [†]

1 Then Job answered and said,
2 [†] Even to day is my complaint bitter: my stroke is heavier than my groaning.
3 [†] Oh that I knew where I might find him! that I might come even to his seat!
4 I would order my cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.
5 I would know the words which he would answer me, and understand what he would say unto me.
6 [†] Will he plead against me with his great power? No; but he would put strength in me.
7 There the righteous might dispute with him; so should I be delivered for ever from my judge.
8 Behold, I go forward, but he is not there; and backward, but I cannot perceive him:
9 On the left hand, where he doth work, but I cannot behold him: he hideth himself on the right hand, that I cannot see him:
10 [†] But he knoweth the way that I take: when he hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold.
11 [†] My foot hath held his steps, his way have I kept, and not declined.
12 Neither have I gone back from the commandment of his lips; I have esteemed the words of his mouth more than my necessary food.
13 But he is in one mind, and who can turn him? and what his soul desireth, even that he doeth.
14 For he performeth the thing that is appointed for me: and many such things are with him.
15 Therefore am I troubled at his presence: when I consider, I am afraid of him.
16 [†] For God maketh my heart soft, and the Almighty troubleth me:
17 Because I was not cut off before the darkness, neither hath he covered the darkness from my face.

Job 24 [†]

1 [†] WHY, seeing times are not hidden from the Almighty, do they that know him not see his days?
2 [†] Some remove the landmarks; they violently take away flocks, and feed thereof.
3 They drive away the ass of the fatherless, they take the widow's ox for a pledge.
4 They turn the needy out of the way: the poor of the earth hide themselves together.
5 [†] Behold, as wild asses in the desert, go they forth to their work; rising betimes for a prey: the wilderness yieldeth food for them and for their children.
6 They reap every one his corn in the field: and they gather the vintage of the wicked.
7 They cause the naked to lodge without clothing, that they have no covering in the cold.
8 They are wet with the showers of the mountains, and embrace the rock for want of a shelter.
9 They pluck the fatherless from the breast, and take a pledge of the poor.
10 They cause him to go naked without clothing, and they take away the sheaf from the hungry;
11 Which make oil within their walls, and tread their winepresses, and suffer thirst.
12 [†] Men groan from out of the city, and the soul of the wounded crieth out: yet God layeth not folly to them.
13 [†] They are of those that rebel against the light; they know not the ways thereof, nor abide in the paths thereof.
14 [†] The murderer rising with the light killeth the poor and needy, and in the night is as a thief.
15 The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, saying, No eye shall see me: and disguiseth his face.
16 In the dark they dig through houses, which they had marked for themselves in the daytime: they know not the light.
17 For the morning is to them even as the shadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrors of the shadow of death.
18 He is swift as the waters; their portion is cursed in the earth: he beholdeth not the way of the vineyards.
19 Drought and heat consume the snow waters: so doth the grave those which have sinned.
20 The womb shall forget him; the worm shall feed sweetly on him; he shall be no more remembered; and wickedness shall be broken as a tree.
21 [†] He evil entreateth the barren that beareth not: and doeth not good to the widow.
22 He draweth also the mighty with his power: he riseth up, and no man is sure of life.
23 Though it be given him to be in safety, whereon he resteth; yet his eyes are upon their ways.
24 They are exalted for a little while, but are gone and brought low; they are taken out of the way as all other, and cut off as the tops of the ears of corn.
25 And if it be not so now, who will make me a liar, and make my speech nothing worth?

Job 25 [†]

1 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,
2 Dominion and fear are with him, he maketh peace in his high places.
3 Is there any number of his armies? and upon whom doth not his light arise?
4 [†] How then can man be justified with God? or how can he be clean that is born of a woman?
5 [†] Behold even to the moon, and it shineth not; yea, the stars are not pure in his sight.
6 [†] How much less man, that is a worm? and the son of man, which is a worm?

Job 26 [†]

1 But Job answered and said,
2 [†] How hast thou helped him that is without power? how savest thou the arm that hath no strength?
3 How hast thou counselled him that hath no wisdom? and how hast thou plentifully declared the thing as it is?
4 To whom hast thou uttered words? and whose spirit came from thee?
5 [†] Dead things are formed from under the waters, and the inhabitants thereof.
6 [†] Hell is naked before him, and destruction hath no covering.
7 He stretcheth out the north over the empty place, and hangeth the earth upon nothing.
8 [†] He bindeth up the waters in his thick clouds; and the cloud is not rent under them.
9 [†] He holdeth back the face of his throne, and spreadeth his cloud upon it.
10 [†] He hath compassed the waters with bounds, until the day and night come to an end.
11 The pillars of heaven tremble and are astonished at his reproof.
12 He divideth the sea with his power, and by his understanding he smiteth through the proud.
13 [†] By his spirit he hath garnished the heavens; his hand hath formed the crooked serpent.
14 [†] Lo, these are parts of his ways: but how little a portion is heard of him? but the thunder of his power who can understand?

Job 27 [†]

1 [†] Moreover Job continued his parable, and said,
2 [†] As God liveth, who hath taken away my judgment; and the Almighty, who hath vexed my soul;
3 [†] All the while my breath is in me, and the spirit of God is in my nostrils;
4 My lips shall not speak wickedness, nor my tongue utter deceit.
5 God forbid that I should justify you: till I die I will not remove mine integrity from me.
6 [†] My righteousness I hold fast, and will not let it go: my heart shall not reproach me so long as I live.
7 Let mine enemy be as the wicked, and he that riseth up against me as the unrighteous.
8 [†] For what is the hope of the hypocrite, though he hath gained, when God taketh away his soul?
9 Will God hear his cry when trouble cometh upon him?
10 Will he delight himself in the Almighty? will he always call upon God?
11 I will teach you by the hand of God: that which is with the Almighty will I not conceal.
12 [†] Behold, all ye yourselves have seen it; why then are ye thus altogether vain?
13 [†] This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of oppressors, which they shall receive of the Almighty.
14 If his children be multiplied, it is for the sword: and his offspring shall not be satisfied with bread.
15 Those that remain of him shall be buried in death: and his widows shall not weep.
16 Though he heap up silver as the dust, and prepare raiment as the clay;
17 He may prepare it, but the just shall put it on, and the innocent shall divide the silver.
18 He buildeth his house as a moth, and as a booth that the keeper maketh.
19 The rich man shall lie down, but he shall not be gathered: he openeth his eyes, and he is not.
20 Terrors take hold on him as waters, a tempest stealeth him away in the night.
21 The east wind carrieth him away, and he departeth: and as a storm hurleth him out of his place.
22 [†] For God shall cast upon him, and not spare: he would fain flee out of his hand.
23 [†] Men shall clap their hands at him, and shall hiss him out of his place.

Job 28 [†]

1 [†] Surely there is a vein for the silver, and a place for gold where they fine it.
2 [†] Iron is taken out of the earth, and brass is molten out of the stone.
3 [†] He setteth an end to darkness, and searcheth out all perfection: the stones of darkness, and the shadow of death.
4 The flood breaketh out from the inhabitant; even the waters forgotten of the foot: they are dried up, they are gone away from men.
5 As for the earth, out of it cometh bread: and under it is turned up as it were fire.
6 The stones of it are the place of sapphires: and it hath dust of gold.
7 [†] There is a path which no fowl knoweth, and which the vulture's eye hath not seen:
8 The lion's whelps have not trodden it, nor the fierce lion passed by it.
9 He putteth forth his hand upon the rock; he overturneth the mountains by the roots.
10 He cutteth out rivers among the rocks; and his eye seeth every precious thing.
11 He bindeth the floods from overflowing; and the thing that is hid bringeth he forth to light.
12 [†] But where shall wisdom be found? and where is the place of understanding?
13 [†] Man knoweth not the price thereof; neither is it found in the land of the living.
14 The depth saith, It is not in me: and the sea saith, It is not with me.
15 [†] It cannot be gotten for gold, neither shall silver be weighed for the price thereof.
16 It cannot be valued with the gold of Ophir, with the precious onyx, or the sapphire.
17 The gold and the crystal cannot equal it: and the exchange of it shall not be for jewels of fine gold.
18 No mention shall be made of coral, or of pearls: for the price of wisdom is above rubies.
19 The topaz of Ethiopia shall not equal it, neither shall it be valued with pure gold.
20 Whence then cometh wisdom? and where is the place of understanding?
21 [†] Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all living, and kept close from the fowls of the air.
22 [†] Destruction and death say, We have heard the fame thereof with our ears.
23 God understandeth the way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.
24 For he looketh to the ends of the earth, and seeth under the whole heaven;
25 To make the weight for the winds; and he weigheth the waters by measure.
26 When he made a decree for the rain, and a way for the lightning of the thunder:
27 Then did he see it, and declare it; he prepared it, yea, and searched it out.
28 [†] And unto man he said, Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding.

Job 29 [†]

1 [†] Moreover Job continued his parable, and said,
2 [†] Oh that I were as in months past, as in the days when God preserved me;
3 [†] When his candle shined upon my head, and when by his light I walked through darkness;
4 [†] As I was in the days of my youth, when the secret of God was upon my tabernacle;
5 When the Almighty was yet with me, when my children were about me;
6 [†] When I washed my steps with butter, and the rock poured me out rivers of oil;
7 [†] When I went out to the gate through the city, when I prepared my seat in the street!
8 [†] The young men saw me, and hid themselves: and the aged arose, and stood up.
9 The princes refrained talking, and laid their hand on their mouth.
10 The nobles held their peace, and their tongue cleaved to the roof of their mouth.
11 [†] When the ear heard me, then it blessed me; and when the eye saw me, it gave witness to me:
12 [†] Because I delivered the poor that cried, and the fatherless, and him that had none to help him.
13 The blessing of him that was ready to perish came upon me: and I caused the widow's heart to sing for joy.
14 [†] I put on righteousness, and it clothed me: my judgment was as a robe and a diadem.
15 I was eyes to the blind, and feet was I to the lame.
16 I was a father to the poor: and the cause which I knew not I searched out.
17 And I brake the jaws of the wicked, and plucked the spoil out of his teeth.
18 [†] Then I said, I shall die in my nest, and I shall multiply my days as the sand.
19 [†] My root was spread out by the waters, and the dew lay all night upon my branch.
20 My glory was fresh in me, and my bow was renewed in my hand.
21 Unto me men gave ear, and waited, and kept silence at my counsel.
22 After my words they spake not again; and my speech dropped upon them.
23 [†] And they waited for me as for the rain; and they opened their mouth wide as for the latter rain.
24 [†] If I laughed on them, they believed it not; and the light of my countenance they cast not down.
25 I chose out their way, and sat chief, and dwelt as a king in the army, as one that comforteth the mourners.

Job 30 [†]

1 But now they that are younger than I have me in derision, whose fathers I would have disdained to have set with the dogs of my flock.
2 Yea, whereto might the strength of their hands profit me, in whom old age was perished?
3 For want and famine they were solitary; fleeing into the wilderness in former time desolate and waste.
4 [†] Who cut up mallows by the bushes, and juniper roots for their meat.
5 They were driven forth from among men, (they cried after them as after a thief;)
6 To dwell in the clifts of the valleys, in caves of the earth, and in the rocks.
7 [†] Among the bushes they brayed; under the nettles they were gathered together.
8 [†] They were children of fools, yea, children of base men: they were viler than the earth.
9 [†] And now am I their song, yea, I am their byword.
10 They abhor me, they flee far from me, and spare not to spit in my face.
11 [†] Because he hath loosed my cord, and afflicted me, they have also let loose the bridle before me.
12 Upon my right hand rise the youth; they push away my feet, and they raise up against me the ways of their destruction.
13 [†] They mar my path, they set forward my calamity, they have no helper.
14 They came upon me as a wide breaking in of waters: in the desolation they rolled themselves upon me.
15 [†] Terrors are turned upon me: they pursue my soul as the wind: and my welfare passeth away as a cloud.
16 And now my soul is poured out upon me; the days of affliction have taken hold upon me.
17 My bones are pierced in me in the night season: and my sinews take no rest.
18 By the great force of my disease is my garment changed: it bindeth me about as the collar of my coat.
19 He hath cast me into the mire, and I am become like dust and ashes.
20 I cry unto thee, and thou dost not hear me: I stand up, and thou regardest me not.
21 Thou art become cruel to me: with thy strong hand thou opposest thyself against me.
22 [†] Thou liftest me up to the wind; thou causest me to ride upon it, and dissolvest my substance.
23 [†] For I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the house appointed for all living.
24 [†] Howbeit he will not stretch out his hand to the grave, though they cry in his destruction.
25 Did not I weep for him that was in trouble? was not my soul grieved for the poor?
26 When I looked for good, then evil came unto me: and when I waited for light, there came darkness.
27 [†] My bowels boiled, and rested not: the days of affliction prevented me.
28 I went mourning without the sun: I stood up, and I cried in the congregation.
29 [†] I am a brother to dragons, and a companion to owls.
30 My skin is black upon me, and my bones are burned with heat.
31 [†] My harp also is turned to mourning, and my organ into the voice of them that weep.

Job 31 [†]

1 [†] I MADE a covenant with mine eyes; why then should I think upon a maid?
2 For what portion of God is there from above? and what inheritance of the Almighty from on high?
3 [†] Is not destruction to the wicked? and a strange punishment to the workers of iniquity?
4 [†] Doth not he see my ways, and count all my steps?
5 [†] If I have walked with vanity, or if my foot hath hasted to deceit;
6 Let me be weighed in an even balance, that God may know mine integrity.
7 [†] If my step hath turned out of the way, and mine heart walked after mine eyes, and if any blot hath cleaved to mine hands;
8 [†] Then let me sow, and let another eat; yea, let my offspring be rooted out.
9 [†] If mine heart have been deceived by a woman, or if I have laid wait at my neighbour's door;
10 [†] Then let my wife grind unto another, and let others bow down upon her.
11 [†] For this is an heinous crime; yea, it is an iniquity to be punished by the judges.
12 For it is a fire that consumeth to destruction, and would root out all mine increase.
13 If I did despise the cause of my manservant or of my maidservant, when they contended with me;
14 [†] What then shall I do when God riseth up? and when he visiteth, what shall I answer him?
15 [†] Did not he that made me in the womb make him? and did not one fashion us in the womb?
16 [†] If I have withheld the poor from their desire, or have caused the eyes of the widow to fail;
17 Or have eaten my morsel myself alone, and the fatherless hath not eaten thereof;
18 [†] (For from my youth he was brought up with me, as with a father, and I have guided her from my mother's womb;)
19 If I have seen any perish for want of clothing, or any poor without covering;
20 [†] If his loins have not blessed me, and if he were not warmed with the fleece of my sheep;
21 If I have lifted up my hand against the fatherless, when I saw my help in the gate:
22 Then let mine arm fall from my shoulder blade, and mine arm be broken from the bone.
23 For destruction from God was a terror to me, and by reason of his highness I could not endure.
24 [†] If I have made gold my hope, or have said to the fine gold, Thou art my confidence;
25 [†] If I rejoiced because my wealth was great, and because mine hand had gotten much;
26 [†] If I beheld the sun when it shined, or the moon walking in brightness;
27 And my heart hath been secretly enticed, or my mouth hath kissed my hand:
28 This also were an iniquity to be punished by the judge: for I should have denied the God that is above.
29 [†] If I rejoiced at the destruction of him that hated me, or lifted up myself when evil found him:
30 Neither have I suffered my mouth to sin by wishing a curse to his soul.
31 [†] If the men of my tabernacle said not, Oh that we had of his flesh! we cannot be satisfied.
32 [†] The stranger did not lodge in the street: but I opened my doors to the traveller.
33 [†] If I covered my transgressions as Adam, by hiding mine iniquity in my bosom:
34 Did I fear a great multitude, or did the contempt of families terrify me, that I kept silence, and went not out of the door?
35 Oh that one would hear me! behold, my desire is, that the Almighty would answer me, and that mine adversary had written a book.
36 Surely I would take it upon my shoulder, and bind it as a crown to me.
37 I would declare unto him the number of my steps; as a prince would I go near unto him.
38 If my land cry against me, or that the furrows likewise thereof complain;
39 If I have eaten the fruits thereof without money, or have caused the owners thereof to lose their life:

40 [†] Let thistles grow instead of wheat, and cockle instead of barley. The words of Job are ended.

Job 32 [†]

1 So these three men ceased to answer Job, because he was righteous in his own eyes.
2 [†] Then was kindled the wrath of Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite, of the kindred of Ram: against Job was his wrath kindled, because he justified himself rather than God.
3 Also against his three friends was his wrath kindled, because they had found no answer, and yet had condemned Job.
4 Now Elihu had waited till Job had spoken, because they were elder than he.
5 When Elihu saw that there was no answer in the mouth of these three men, then his wrath was kindled.
6 [†] And Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite answered and said, I am young, and ye are very old; wherefore I was afraid, and durst not shew you mine opinion.
7 I said, Days should speak, and multitude of years should teach wisdom.
8 [†] But there is a spirit in man: and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding.
9 Great men are not always wise: neither do the aged understand judgment.
10 Therefore I said, Hearken to me; I also will shew mine opinion.
11 Behold, I waited for your words; I gave ear to your reasons, whilst ye searched out what to say.
12 Yea, I attended unto you, and, behold, there was none of you that convinced Job, or that answered his words:
13 Lest ye should say, We have found out wisdom: God thrusteth him down, not man.
14 Now he hath not directed his words against me: neither will I answer him with your speeches.
15 [†] They were amazed, they answered no more: they left off speaking.
16 When I had waited, (for they spake not, but stood still, and answered no more;)
17 [†] I said, I will answer also my part, I also will shew mine opinion.
18 [†] For I am full of matter, the spirit within me constraineth me.
19 [†] Behold, my belly is as wine which hath no vent; it is ready to burst like new bottles.
20 I will speak, that I may be refreshed: I will open my lips and answer.
21 [†] Let me not, I pray you, accept any man’s person, neither let me give flattering titles unto man.
22 For I know not to give flattering titles; in so doing my maker would soon take me away.

Job 33 [†]

1 WHEREFORE, Job, I pray thee, hear my speeches, and hearken to all my words.
2 Behold, now I have opened my mouth, my tongue hath spoken in my mouth.
3 My words shall be of the uprightness of my heart: and my lips shall utter knowledge clearly.
4 The Spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almighty hath given me life.
5 If thou canst answer me, set thy words in order before me, stand up.
6 [†] Behold, I am according to thy wish in God's stead: I also am formed out of the clay.
7 Behold, my terror shall not make thee afraid, neither shall my hand be heavy upon thee.
8 Surely thou hast spoken in mine hearing, and I have heard the voice of thy words, saying,
9 [†] I am clean without transgression, I am innocent; neither is there iniquity in me.
10 Behold, he findeth occasions against me, he counteth me for his enemy,
11 He putteth my feet in the stocks, he marketh all my paths.
12 Behold, in this thou art not just: I will answer thee, that God is greater than man.
13 [†] Why dost thou strive against him? for he giveth not account of any of his matters.
14 For God speaketh once, yea twice, yet man perceiveth it not.
15 [†] In a dream, in a vision of the night, when deep sleep falleth upon men, in slumberings upon the bed;
16 Then he openeth the ears of men, and sealeth their instruction,
17 That he may withdraw man from his purpose, and hide pride from man.
18 He keepeth back his soul from the pit, and his life from perishing by the sword.
19 [†] He is chastened also with pain upon his bed, and the multitude of his bones with strong pain:
20 [†] So that his life abhorreth bread, and his soul dainty meat.
21 His flesh is consumed away, that it cannot be seen; and his bones that were not seen stick out.
22 Yea, his soul draweth near unto the grave, and his life to the destroyers.
23 [†] If there be a messenger with him, an interpreter, one among a thousand, to shew unto man his uprightness:
24 [†] Then he is gracious unto him, and saith, Deliver him from going down to the pit: I have found a ransom.
25 [†] His flesh shall be fresher than a child's: he shall return to the days of his youth:
26 [†] He shall pray unto God, and he will be favourable unto him: and he shall see his face with joy: for he will render unto man his righteousness.
27 He looketh upon men, and if any say, I have sinned, and perverted that which was right, and it profited me not;
28 He will deliver his soul from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.
29 Lo, all these things worketh God oftentimes with man,
30 To bring back his soul from the pit, to be enlightened with the light of the living.
31 [†] Mark well, O Job, hearken unto me: hold thy peace, and I will speak.
32 If thou hast any thing to say, answer me: speak, for I desire to justify thee.
33 If not, hearken unto me: hold thy peace, and I shall teach thee wisdom.

Job 34 [†]

1 Furthermore Elihu answered and said,
2 Hear my words, O ye wise men; and give ear unto me, ye that have knowledge.
3 [†] For the ear trieth words, as the mouth tasteth meat.
4 Let us choose to us judgment: let us know among ourselves what is good.
5 [†] For Job hath said, I am righteous: and God hath taken away my judgment.
6 Should I lie against my right? my wound is incurable without transgression.
7 What man is like Job, who drinketh up scorning like water?
8 Which goeth in company with the workers of iniquity, and walketh with wicked men.
9 For he hath said, It profiteth a man nothing that he should delight himself with God.
10 [†] Therefore hearken unto me, ye men of understanding: far be it from God, that he should do wickedness; and from the Almighty, that he should commit iniquity.
11 For the work of a man shall he render unto him, and cause every man to find according to his ways.
12 Yea, surely God will not do wickedly, neither will the Almighty pervert judgment.
13 Who hath given him a charge over the earth? or who hath disposed the whole world?
14 [†] If he set his heart upon man, if he gather unto himself his spirit and his breath;
15 All flesh shall perish together, and man shall turn again unto dust.
16 If now thou hast understanding, hear this: hearken to the voice of my words.
17 Shall even he that hateth right govern? and wilt thou condemn him that is most just?
18 Is it fit to say to a king, Thou art wicked? and to princes, Ye are ungodly?
19 How much less to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, nor regardeth the rich more than the poor? for they all are the work of his hands.
20 In a moment shall they die, and the people shall be troubled at midnight, and pass away: and the mighty shall be taken away without hand.
21 For his eyes are upon the ways of man, and he seeth all his goings.
22 There is no darkness, nor shadow of death, where the workers of iniquity may hide themselves.
23 [†] For he will not lay upon man more than right; that he should enter into judgment with God.
24 [†] He shall break in pieces mighty men without number, and set others in their stead.
25 Therefore he knoweth their works, and he overturneth them in the night, so that they are destroyed.
26 He striketh them as wicked men in the open sight of others;
27 Because they turned back from him, and would not consider any of his ways:
28 So that they cause the cry of the poor to come unto him, and he heareth the cry of the afflicted.
29 When he giveth quietness, who then can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who then can behold him? whether it be done against a nation, or against a man only:
30 [†] That the hypocrite reign not, lest the people be ensnared.
31 [†] Surely it is meet to be said unto God, I have borne chastisement, I will not offend any more:
32 That which I see not teach thou me: if I have done iniquity, I will do no more.
33 Should it be according to thy mind? he will recompense it, whether thou refuse, or whether thou choose; and not I: therefore speak what thou knowest.
34 Let men of understanding tell me, and let a wise man hearken unto me.
35 Job hath spoken without knowledge, and his words were without wisdom.
36 [†] My desire is that Job may be tried unto the end because of his answers for wicked men.
37 [†] For he addeth rebellion unto his sin, he clappeth his hands among us, and multiplieth his words against God.

Job 35 [†]

1 Elihu spake moreover, and said,
2 [†] Thinkest thou this to be right, that thou saidst, My righteousness is more than God's?
3 For thou saidst, What advantage will it be unto thee? and, What profit shall I have, if I be cleansed from my sin?
4 I will answer thee, and thy companions with thee.
5 [†] Look unto the heavens, and see; and behold the clouds which are higher than thou.
6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou against him? or if thy transgressions be multiplied, what doest thou unto him?
7 If thou be righteous, what givest thou him? or what receiveth he of thine hand?
8 Thy wickedness may hurt a man as thou art; and thy righteousness may profit the son of man.
9 By reason of the multitude of oppressions they make the oppressed to cry: they cry out by reason of the arm of the mighty.
10 [†] But none saith, Where is God my maker, who giveth songs in the night;
11 [†] Who teacheth us more than the beasts of the earth, and maketh us wiser than the fowls of heaven?
12 There they cry, but none giveth answer, because of the pride of evil men.
13 [†] Surely God will not hear vanity, neither will the Almighty regard it.
14 [†] Although thou sayest thou shalt not see him, yet judgment is before him; therefore trust thou in him.
15 [†] But now, because it is not so, he hath visited in his anger; yet he knoweth it not in great extremity:
16 [†] Therefore doth Job open his mouth in vain; he multiplieth words without knowledge.

Job 36 [†]

1 Elihu also proceeded, and said,
2 [†] Suffer me a little, and I will shew thee that I have yet to speak on God’s behalf.
3 [†] I will fetch my knowledge from afar, and will ascribe righteousness to my Maker.
4 [†] For truly my words shall not be false: he that is perfect in knowledge is with thee.
5 Behold, God is mighty, and despiseth not any: he is mighty in strength and wisdom.
6 [†] He preserveth not the life of the wicked: but giveth right to the poor.
7 He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous: but with kings are they on the throne; yea, he doth establish them for ever, and they are exalted.
8 [†] And if they be bound in fetters, and be holden in cords of affliction;
9 Then he sheweth them their work, and their transgressions that they have exceeded.
10 He openeth also their ear to discipline, and commandeth that they return from iniquity.
11 [†] If they obey and serve him, they shall spend their days in prosperity, and their years in pleasures.
12 But if they obey not, they shall perish by the sword, and they shall die without knowledge.
13 [†] But the hypocrites in heart heap up wrath: they cry not when he bindeth them.
14 [†] They die in youth, and their life is among the unclean.
15 He delivereth the poor in his affliction, and openeth their ears in oppression.
16 [†] Even so would he have removed thee out of the strait into a broad place, where there is no straitness; and that which should be set on thy table should be full of fatness.
17 [†] But thou hast fulfilled the judgment of the wicked: judgment and justice take hold on thee.
18 [†] Because there is wrath, beware lest he take thee away with his stroke: then a great ransom cannot deliver thee.
19 Will he esteem thy riches? no, not gold, nor all the forces of strength.
20 Desire not the night, when people are cut off in their place.
21 Take heed, regard not iniquity: for this hast thou chosen rather than affliction.
22 Behold, God exalteth by his power: who teacheth like him?
23 [†] Who hath enjoined him his way? or who can say, Thou hast wrought iniquity?
24 Remember that thou magnify his work, which men behold.
25 Every man may see it; man may behold it afar off.
26 [†] Behold, God is great, and we know him not, neither can the number of his years be searched out.
27 [†] For he maketh small the drops of water: they pour down rain according to the vapour thereof:
28 [†] Which the clouds do drop and distil upon man abundantly.
29 [†] Also can any understand the spreadings of the clouds, or the noise of his tabernacle?
30 Behold, he spreadeth his light upon it, and covereth the bottom of the sea.
31 [†] For by them judgeth he the people; he giveth meat in abundance.
32 With clouds he covereth the light; and commandeth it not to shine by the cloud that cometh betwixt.
33 [†] The noise thereof sheweth concerning it, the cattle also concerning the vapour.

Job 37 [†]

1 [†] At this also my heart trembleth, and is moved out of his place.
2 [†] Hear attentively the noise of his voice, and the sound that goeth out of his mouth.
3 He directeth it under the whole heaven, and his lightning unto the ends of the earth.
4 [†] After it a voice roareth: he thundereth with the voice of his excellency; and he will not stay them when his voice is heard.
5 [†] God thundereth marvellously with his voice; great things doeth he, which we cannot comprehend.
6 For he saith to the snow, Be thou on the earth; likewise to the small rain, and to the great rain of his strength.
7 He sealeth up the hand of every man; that all men may know his work.
8 Then the beasts go into dens, and remain in their places.
9 Out of the south cometh the whirlwind: and cold out of the north.
10 [†] By the breath of God frost is given: and the breadth of the waters is straitened.
11 [†] Also by watering he wearieth the thick cloud: he scattereth his bright cloud:
12 [†] And it is turned round about by his counsels: that they may do whatsoever he commandeth them upon the face of the world in the earth.
13 He causeth it to come, whether for correction, or for his land, or for mercy.
14 Hearken unto this, O Job: stand still, and consider the wondrous works of God.
15 Dost thou know when God disposed them, and caused the light of his cloud to shine?
16 Dost thou know the balancings of the clouds, the wondrous works of him which is perfect in knowledge?
17 How thy garments are warm, when he quieteth the earth by the south wind?
18 [†] Hast thou with him spread out the sky, which is strong, and as a molten looking glass?
19 Teach us what we shall say unto him; for we cannot order our speech by reason of darkness.
20 Shall it be told him that I speak? if a man speak, surely he shall be swallowed up.
21 And now men see not the bright light which is in the clouds: but the wind passeth, and cleanseth them.
22 [†] Fair weather cometh out of the north: with God is terrible majesty.
23 [†] Touching the Almighty, we cannot find him out: he is excellent in power, and in judgment, and in plenty of justice: he will not afflict.
24 Men do therefore fear him: he respecteth not any that are wise of heart.

Job 38 [†]

1 [†] Then the Lord answered Job out of the whirlwind, and said,
2 Who is this that darkeneth counsel by words without knowledge?
3 [†] Gird up now thy loins like a man; for I will demand of thee, and answer thou me.
4 [†] Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? declare, if thou hast understanding.
5 Who hath laid the measures thereof, if thou knowest? or who hath stretched the line upon it?
6 Whereupon are the foundations thereof fastened? or who laid the corner stone thereof;
7 [†] When the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy?
8 [†] Or who shut up the sea with doors, when it brake forth, as if it had issued out of the womb?
9 When I made the cloud the garment thereof, and thick darkness a swaddlingband for it,
10 And brake up for it my decreed place, and set bars and doors,
11 [†] And said, Hitherto shalt thou come, but no further: and here shall thy proud waves be stayed?
12 [†] Hast thou commanded the morning since thy days; and caused the dayspring to know his place;
13 That it might take hold of the ends of the earth, that the wicked might be shaken out of it?
14 It is turned as clay to the seal; and they stand as a garment.
15 And from the wicked their light is withholden, and the high arm shall be broken.
16 Hast thou entered into the springs of the sea? or hast thou walked in the search of the depth?
17 Have the gates of death been opened unto thee? or hast thou seen the doors of the shadow of death?
18 Hast thou perceived the breadth of the earth? declare if thou knowest it all.
19 Where is the way where light dwelleth? and as for darkness, where is the place thereof,
20 [†] That thou shouldest take it to the bound thereof, and that thou shouldest know the paths to the house thereof?
21 Knowest thou it, because thou wast then born? or because the number of thy days is great?
22 [†] Hast thou entered into the treasures of the snow? or hast thou seen the treasures of the hail,
23 Which I have reserved against the time of trouble, against the day of battle and war?
24 [†] By what way is the light parted, which scattereth the east wind upon the earth?
25 Who hath divided a watercourse for the overflowing of waters, or a way for the lightning of thunder;
26 To cause it to rain on the earth, where no man is; on the wilderness, wherein there is no man;
27 To satisfy the desolate and waste ground; and to cause the bud of the tender herb to spring forth?
28 Hath the rain a father? or who hath begotten the drops of dew?
29 Out of whose womb came the ice? and the hoary frost of heaven, who hath gendered it?
30 The waters are hid as with a stone, and the face of the deep is frozen.
31 [†] Canst thou bind the sweet influences of Pleiades, or loose the bands of Orion?
32 [†] Canst thou bring forth Mazzaroth in his season? or canst thou guide Arcturus with his sons?
33 Knowest thou the ordinances of heaven? canst thou set the dominion thereof in the earth?
34 Canst thou lift up thy voice to the clouds, that abundance of waters may cover thee?
35 Canst thou send lightnings, that they may go, and say unto thee, Here we are?
36 Who hath put wisdom in the inward parts? or who hath given understanding to the heart?
37 [†] Who can number the clouds in wisdom? or who can stay the bottles of heaven,
38 When the dust groweth into hardness, and the clods cleave fast together?
39 Wilt thou hunt the prey for the lion? or fill the appetite of the young lions,
40 [†] When they couch in their dens, and abide in the covert to lie in wait?
41 [†] Who provideth for the raven his food? when his young ones cry unto God, they wander for lack of meat.

Job 39 [†]

1 [†] KNOWEST thou the time when the wild goats of the rock bring forth? or canst thou mark when the hinds do calve?
2 [†] Canst thou number the months that they fulfil? or knowest thou the time when they bring forth?
3 [†] They bow themselves, they bring forth their young ones, they cast out their sorrows.
4 [†] Their young ones are in good liking, they grow up with corn; they go forth, and return not unto them.
5 Who hath sent out the wild ass free? or who hath loosed the bands of the wild ass?
6 Whose house I have made the wilderness, and the barren land his dwellings.
7 He scorneth the multitude of the city, neither regardeth he the crying of the driver.
8 The range of the mountains is his pasture, and he searcheth after every green thing.
9 [†] Will the unicorn be willing to serve thee, or abide by thy crib?
10 [†] Canst thou bind the unicorn with his band in the furrow? or will he harrow the valleys after thee?
11 [†] Wilt thou trust him, because his strength is great? or wilt thou leave thy labour to him?
12 Wilt thou believe him, that he will bring home thy seed, and gather it into thy barn?
13 [†] Gavest thou the goodly wings unto the peacocks? or wings and feathers unto the ostrich?
14 Which leaveth her eggs in the earth, and warmeth them in dust,
15 And forgetteth that the foot may crush them, or that the wild beast may break them.
16 She is hardened against her young ones, as though they were not hers: her labour is in vain without fear;
17 [†] Because God hath deprived her of wisdom, neither hath he imparted to her understanding.
18 What time she lifteth up herself on high, she scorneth the horse and his rider.
19 Hast thou given the horse strength? hast thou clothed his neck with thunder?
20 [†] Canst thou make him afraid as a grasshopper? the glory of his nostrils is terrible.
21 He paweth in the valley, and rejoiceth in his strength: he goeth on to meet the armed men.
22 [†] He mocketh at fear, and is not affrighted; neither turneth he back from the sword.
23 The quiver rattleth against him, the glittering spear and the shield.
24 He swalloweth the ground with fierceness and rage: neither believeth he that it is the sound of the trumpet.
25 He saith among the trumpets, Ha, ha; and he smelleth the battle afar off, the thunder of the captains, and the shouting.
26 Doth the hawk fly by thy wisdom, and stretch her wings toward the south?
27 Doth the eagle mount up at thy command, and make her nest on high?
28 She dwelleth and abideth on the rock, upon the crag of the rock, and the strong place.
29 From thence she seeketh the prey, and her eyes behold afar off.
30 [†] Her young ones also suck up blood: and where the slain are, there is she.

Job 40 [†]

1 [†] Moreover the Lord answered Job, and said,
2 [†] Shall he that contendeth with the Almighty instruct him? he that reproveth God, let him answer it.
3 ¶ Then Job answered the Lord, and said,
4 [†] Behold, I am vile; what shall I answer thee? I will lay mine hand upon my mouth.
5 Once have I spoken; but I will not answer: yea, twice; but I will proceed no further.
6 ¶ Then answered the Lord unto Job out of the whirlwind, and said,
7 [†] Gird up thy loins now like a man: I will demand of thee, and declare thou unto me.
8 [†] Wilt thou also disannul my judgment? wilt thou condemn me, that thou mayest be righteous?
9 Hast thou an arm like God? or canst thou thunder with a voice like him?
10 [†] Deck thyself now with majesty and excellency; and array thyself with glory and beauty.
11 [†] Cast abroad the rage of thy wrath: and behold every one that is proud, and abase him.
12 Look on every one that is proud, and bring him low; and tread down the wicked in their place.
13 Hide them in the dust together; and bind their faces in secret.
14 [†] Then will I also confess unto thee that thine own right hand can save thee.
15 [†] ¶ Behold now behemoth, which I made with thee; he eateth grass as an ox.
16 [†] Lo now, his strength is in his loins, and his force is in the navel of his belly.
17 [†] He moveth his tail like a cedar: the sinews of his stones are wrapped together.
18 His bones are as strong pieces of brass; his bones are like bars of iron.
19 [†] He is the chief of the ways of God: he that made him can make his sword to approach unto him.
20 Surely the mountains bring him forth food, where all the beasts of the field play.
21 [†] He lieth under the shady trees, in the covert of the reed, and fens.
22 [†] The shady trees cover him with their shadow; the willows of the brook compass him about.
23 Behold, he drinketh up a river, and hasteth not: he trusteth that he can draw up Jordan into his mouth.
24 He taketh it with his eyes: his nose pierceth through snares.

Job 41 [†]

1 [†] Canst thou draw out leviathan with an hook? or his tongue with a cord which thou lettest down?
2 Canst thou put an hook into his nose? or bore his jaw through with a thorn?
3 Will he make many supplications unto thee? will he speak soft words unto thee?
4 [†] Will he make a covenant with thee? wilt thou take him for a servant for ever?
5 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou bind him for thy maidens?
6 [†] Shall the companions make a banquet of him? shall they part him among the merchants?
7 Canst thou fill his skin with barbed irons? or his head with fish spears?
8 Lay thine hand upon him, remember the battle, do no more.
9 Behold, the hope of him is in vain: shall not one be cast down even at the sight of him?
10 [†] None is so fierce that dare stir him up: who then is able to stand before me?
11 Who hath prevented me, that I should repay him? whatsoever is under the whole heaven is mine.
12 I will not conceal his parts, nor his power, nor his comely proportion.
13 Who can discover the face of his garment? or who can come to him with his double bridle?
14 Who can open the doors of his face? his teeth are terrible round about.
15 His scales are his pride, shut up together as with a close seal.
16 One is so near to another, that no air can come between them.
17 [†] They are joined one to another, they stick together, that they cannot be sundered.
18 [†] By his neesings a light doth shine, and his eyes are like the eyelids of the morning.
19 [†] Out of his mouth go burning lamps, and sparks of fire leap out.
20 [†] Out of his nostrils goeth smoke, as out of a seething pot or caldron.
21 His breath kindleth coals, and a flame goeth out of his mouth.
22 In his neck remaineth strength, and sorrow is turned into joy before him.
23 [†] The flakes of his flesh are joined together: they are firm in themselves; they cannot be moved.
24 [†] His heart is as firm as a stone; yea, as hard as a piece of the nether millstone.
25 [†] When he raiseth up himself, the mighty are afraid: by reason of breakings they purify themselves.
26 [†] The sword of him that layeth at him cannot hold: the spear, the dart, nor the habergeon.
27 He esteemeth iron as straw, and brass as rotten wood.
28 The arrow cannot make him flee: slingstones are turned with him into stubble.
29 Darts are counted as stubble: he laugheth at the shaking of a spear.
30 Sharp stones are under him: he spreadeth sharp pointed things upon the mire.
31 He maketh the deep to boil like a pot: he maketh the sea like a pot of ointment.
32 [†] He maketh a path to shine after him; one would think the deep to be hoary.
33 Upon earth there is not his like, who is made without fear.
34 [†] He beholdeth all high things: he is a king over all the children of pride.

Job 42 [†]

1 Then Job answered the Lord, and said,
2 [†] I know that thou canst do every thing, and that no thought can be withholden from thee.
3 [†] Who is he that hideth counsel without knowledge? therefore have I uttered that I understood not; things too wonderful for me, which I knew not.
4 [†] Hear, I beseech thee, and I will speak: I will demand of thee, and declare thou unto me.
5 I have heard of thee by the hearing of the ear: but now mine eye seeth thee.
6 [†] Wherefore I abhor myself, and repent in dust and ashes.
7 [†] ¶ And it was so, that after the Lord had spoken these words unto Job, the Lord said to Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for ye have not spoken of me the thing that is right, as my servant Job hath.
8 [†] Therefore take unto you now seven bullocks and seven rams, and go to my servant Job, and offer up for yourselves a burnt offering; and my servant Job shall pray for you: for him will I accept: lest I deal with you after your folly, in that ye have not spoken of me the thing which is right, like my servant Job.
9 So Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord commanded them: the Lord also accepted Job.
10 [†] And the Lord turned the captivity of Job, when he prayed for his friends: also the Lord gave Job twice as much as he had before.
11 [†] Then came there unto him all his brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had been of his acquaintance before, and did eat bread with him in his house: and they bemoaned him, and comforted him over all the evil that the Lord had brought upon him: every man also gave him a piece of money, and every one an earring of gold.
12 [†] So the Lord blessed the latter end of Job more than his beginning: for he had fourteen thousand sheep, and six thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand she asses.
13 He had also seven sons and three daughters.
14 And he called the name of the first, Jemima; and the name of the second, Kezia; and the name of the third, Keren-happuch.
15 And in all the land were no women found so fair as the daughters of Job: and their father gave them inheritance among their brethren.
16 [†] After this lived Job an hundred and forty years, and saw his sons, and his sons' sons, even four generations.
17 So Job died, being old and full of days.

NOTES ON THE BOOK OF

JOB

GOD'S CONTROVERSY WITH SATAN OVER RIGHTEOUS JOB (1:1—2:13)

Chapter 1: God brings Job to the attention of Satan and allows him to strike Job's household.

1:1 the land of Uz. Located to the east of Palestine, Uz is mentioned in only two other places in the Bible (Jer. 25:20; Lam. 4:21). a man . . . whose name was Job. Job was a real, historical person. perfect. Genuine or sincere in integrity (v. 8). eschewed evil. Turned away from evil.

1:3 the east. East of Palestine.

1:5 sanctified them. Dedicated them to the Lord. The fact that Job, who was not of the tribe of Levi, offered burnt offerings indicates that this was before the time of the Levitical priesthood (Lev. 17:1–5).

1:6 the sons of God. A phrase sometimes used of angels (38:7). present themselves. Perhaps like servants called to hear their Lord's will (Zech. 6:5). Satan. Literally, "accuser" or "adversary" (Zech. 3:1). The Devil was brought to account before God and is here clearly under the Lord's sovereignty.

1:7 From going to and fro in the earth. Satan is not omnipresent but is constantly active, ruling over fallen mankind (Rev. 12:9) and seeking to devour the godly (1 Peter 5:8).

1:8 the LORD said unto SATAN. The Lord first mentioned Job to Satan; his trial was of divine origin and design, arising from God's challenge to the Devil. This testifies to Job's character in that God singled him out as an example of godliness.

1:10–11 substance. Property, livestock. touch. Strike. he will curse thee. Satan's accusation of Job is that Job does not worship God for who God is but only for the blessings God gives.

1:12 Satan can afflict only by God's will and within God's limits (2:6). Yet he is able to exercise surprising power (vv. 16,19) and to move wicked men to execute his evil plans (vv. 15,17).

1:15 Sabeans. People of Sheba, probably Ethiopia. fell upon. Attacked.

1:16 fire of God. Perhaps lightning, igniting a wildfire.

1:17 Chaldeans. People from Mesopotamia. fell upon. Plundered.

1:20 rent his mantle. Tore his robe; that and shaving the head were signs of grief. fell down . . . and worshipped. Acts of reverent submission. Submitting to God's sovereignty does not diminish personal sorrow over loss. Indeed, not to weep in tragedy ignores God's sovereignly ordained times (Eccl. 3:1,4,11).

1:21 Naked came I. A statement of humility and dependence upon God for all things (1 Cor. 4:7). naked shall I return. Death separates us from all our possessions (Ps. 49:17; Eccl. 5:15; 1 Tim. 6:7). the LORD gave, and the LORD hath taken away. God controls both every blessing and every loss (1 Sam. 2:6–7; Isa. 45:7; James 1:17). blessed be the name of the LORD. Contrary to Satan's prediction, Job did not curse God but continued to worship Him even in grief, proving the genuineness of his fear of the Lord (vv. 9–11).

1:22 Job sinned not. It was right for Job to ascribe to God total sovereignty over all things and to worship Him even in the midst of shattering loss.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 1

1. Job loved his family and understood his responsibility to pray for his children (v. 5). His offering finds its application today in parents pleading the substitutionary atonement of Christ for the salvation and sanctification of their children. Perhaps the most impressive aspect of Job's devotion is that it was demonstrated before his trial began. How often times of prosperity become times of spiritual carelessness. How can you imitate Job's example of family devotion?
2. The first chapter in Job lays the foundation for the rest of the book by taking the reader behind the scenes, enabling him to see that Job had the blessing of God's commendation. The test to the Christian's faith comes when circumstances around him are shouting at him that God must have condemned him. When friends and even loved ones lend their voices to such a chorus, it becomes a daunting challenge for faith to continue to affirm the favor of God. The key is for the Christian to see that the burnt offering points to Christ and that so long as God is pleased with Christ, God will be pleased with the Christian that is joined to Christ, circumstances notwithstanding.

Chapter 2: God allows Job's trial to continue after Satan, unimpressed with the integrity of Job, challenges God again.

2:1–2 sons of God . . . Satan. See notes at 1:6 and 7.

2:3 perfect . . . escheweth evil. See note at 1:1. Even in his mourning Job received the commendation of God (1:22). destroy. Hebrew, "swallow up." without cause. Undeservedly.

2:4 Skin for skin. A proverbial expression meaning that a man will be willing to sacrifice anything in order to live.

2:6 but save his life. Another example that demonstrates the limits God places upon Satan's activities.

2:7 sore boils. Possibly a form of leprosy or elephantiasis.

2:8 potsherd. A piece of a broken vessel used for scratching and scraping the ooze of his sores. The fact that Job was sitting among the ashes may indicate that he had separated himself from his home and taken his place in the community ash heap, a shameful place.

2:9 curse God, and die. Job's wife told him to do exactly what Satan desired (v. 5); yet we must also remember how much she too had lost.

2:10 shall we receive good . . . not receive evil. Again, Job rightly honored God as sovereign over happiness and sorrow and submitted himself to God's will in both (1:21; Heb. 12:5–11).

2:11 Job's three friends displayed compassion initially by taking the time to sit with Job to comfort him. Temanite. Possibly a descendant of Teman, and so of Esau (Gen. 36:10–11). Shuhite. Perhaps a descendant of Shuah, one of Abraham's sons by Keturah (Gen. 25:1–2).

2:12 knew him not. His case was worse than they thought. lifted up their voice. It was the ancient custom in the East to give full expression to grief and sorrow. rent . . . his mantle. See note at 1:20.

2:13 seven days and seven nights. This is the most definite time reference found in the book of Job. Job's trial undoubtedly began several weeks, and perhaps months, earlier.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 2

1. Job's submission to God's will was remarkable. He lost his wealth, his children, the favor of his wife, and his own health, and yet he honored God humbly. He was no superman, and we will see his struggle with doubt and questions. However, he fundamentally honored God (42:7). Why does bitterness so quickly rise up in our hearts when suffering comes? How can we become more like Job?

2. Because of the ineffective way Job's friends would minister to him it becomes easy to overlook the fact that they were acting as true friends by setting out to comfort him. We too must bear each other's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ (Gal. 6:2). Real love means laying down our lives for others and grieving with them (Rom. 12:15; 1 John 3:16). Job's friends were at their best through their ministry of silent empathy (Prov. 10:19). Often the best comfort that can be given to those who suffer is just to be present with them.

Chapter 3: Job breaks the silence with curses and "why" questions.

JOB'S LAMENTATION (3:1–26)

3:1–10 The Devil had pledged that he could get Job to curse God to his face. While not cursing God directly, Job questioned the purpose of his own existence.

3:1 his day. A reference to his life.

3:4–8 Let that day be darkness . . . Let them curse it that curse the day. Expressions of the depth of his despair as the physical suffering and mental anguish cloud Job's thinking. But the darkness Job felt paled in comparison to a day of darkness that would come upon Christ (Matt. 27:45) as He became a curse (Gal. 3:13).

3:11 give up the ghost. Literally, "pass away" or "expire."

3:12 prevent. Literally, "meet" or "receive," referring to the birthing process.

3:13–19 Death is the great equalizer; in the grave all are the same, free from the problems of this life.

3:25 the thing which I greatly feared is come. Possibly a reference to Job's relationship to God, though not the same word used of Job's fear of God (1:1,8; 2:3); possibly Job's natural concerns that harm might come to his person and household, which had come true.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 3

1. The contrast between Job in ch. 3, as over against chs. 1 and 2, is great. The only difference in the settings is time ("after this," v. 1). Suffering and sorrow become overwhelming when they persist without an end in sight. Even a righteous man who fears God and turns from evil (2:3) still possesses sin. He is capable of misunderstanding and of questioning what God is doing. The tension between faith and experience is real. One of the purposes that trials serve is to make the believer face the reality of his inherent weakness and the truth that he must walk by faith, regardless of the perceptions of his sight. Without painful trials the believer is vulnerable to pride. Trials help the believer bridge the gap between belief and experience by a deeper trust in God.
2. We find Job in this chapter sinking to the depths of despair, and the question that naturally arises is, "Why?" The answer is not so mysterious as a believer might think when he remembers Christ. Christians tend to think of conformity to Christ in terms of the radiant splendor that was displayed by Christ on the Mount of Transfiguration (Matt. 17:1–2). However, as Paul makes plain to the Philippians, conformity to Christ also means conformity to his death (Phil. 3:10). The suffering Christian is not only learning through his trials to die more and more to sin and live more and more to righteousness, but he is learning to identify more closely with the One who loved him and gave Himself for him.

JOB'S DEBATE WITH HIS FRIENDS (4:1—27:23)

First Cycle of Dialogue (4:1—14:22)

Eliphaz: You Strengthened Others but Now Are Fainting (4:1—5:27)

Chapter 4: Job's friends are appalled at the way Job would question God's dealings with him; therefore Eliphaz feels compelled to defend God's honor.

4:1–11 Eliphaz accused Job of not applying the counsel to himself that he had given to others. His words bring the purpose of suffering into focus (2 Cor. 1:4).

4:2 assay to commune. Literally, "venture a word."

4:3–4 strengthened the weak hands . . . the feeble knees. Figures of speech for how Job's wise counsel had encouraged people to persevere in hope and righteousness (Isa. 35:3; Heb. 12:12).

4:7 Remember, I pray thee, who ever perished, being innocent? Eliphaz considered Job's troubles to be the result of serious personal sin in his life.

4:8 sow . . . reap. See Gal. 6:7–8 for the same principle.

4:9 blast. Breath.

4:11 lion's whelps are scattered. Literally, "the sons of a lioness become separated from one another."

4:13 In thoughts from the visions. Eliphaz claimed divine revelation (7:14; see note at 33:15–16).

4:15 spirit. An angel or demon (v. 18; 1:6).

4:17 shall a man be more pure than his maker? Or possibly, "be pure before his Maker"; a key question in the debate between Job and his friends (9:2; 15:14; 25:4).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 4

1. We should not be impatient with believers when great suffering throws them into doubts and confusion. Just because someone like Job possesses much wisdom (v. 3) does not mean that he is above questioning God when tragedy strikes. This is not necessarily a sign of hypocrisy, but of the weakness of our humanity. How might Eliphaz have responded better to Job's lamentation?
2. The most important question in all the world for a man to consider is, How can a man be right with God (v. 17)? This is a question with eternal ramifications because the answer to it impacts the destiny of a man's soul in heaven or hell forever. The book of Job, as well as the entire Bible, is devoted to answering the question of a man's standing before God. Time spent in God's Word, therefore, becomes an investment in eternity.

Chapter 5: Eliphaz continues his speech and insists that Job should repent of his sin that he may know the Lord's blessing again.

5:2 envy slayeth the silly one. Literally, "anger kills one who is gullible or simpleminded."

5:3 cursed his habitation. Witnessed his habitation being cursed.

5:4 His children are far from safety . . . crushed. Shows insensitivity to the loss of Job's children.

5:6 Affliction and trouble are not random circumstances but are ordained by God (1 Peter 1:6).

5:7 man is born unto trouble. A picturesque illustration of the inevitability of trouble.

5:8–27 Eliphaz advised Job as to what he would do if he were in Job's place.

5:8 I would seek unto God. The implication is not only that Job had not been seeking God but that anybody suffering such afflictions must have stopped seeking God.

5:12 perform their enterprise. Accomplish a good result or have abiding success.

5:13 taketh the wise in their own craftiness. Quoted by Paul (1 Cor. 3:19), evidence that in some respects the three friends of Job spoke truth. the counsel of the froward is carried headlong. The counsel of the twisted or subtle one acts rashly or is hurried to destruction.

5:17 happy is the man whom God correcteth. Divine discipline is a mark of God's fatherly love for His children (Prov. 3:11–12; Heb. 12:5–7), particularly when it bears the fruit of repentance and obedience to God's law (Ps. 94:12; Rev. 3:19). the Almighty. Frequent title for God in Job (see note at 37:23).

5:19 six . . . seven. An idiom expressing completeness; thus, regardless of the trouble, God will deliver him. evil. Harm or hurt.

5:24 tabernacle. Tent or dwelling place.

5:26 a shock of corn. A heap of cut stalks of harvested grain.

5:27 we have searched it. Eliphaz believed that he completely understood Job's case; if he just followed Eliphaz's advice to repent, all would be good.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 5

> "Happy is the man whom God correcteth" (v. 17). No experience of correction or discipline is pleasant, but it brings great benefits. It purifies believers from sin and strengthens them in faith. Rather than a sign of God's anger against His children, chastening is evidence of His love. We should be sensitive to God's Word that exposes our sin and dependent upon the Holy Spirit to lead us by that Word to behavior that is pleasing to our heavenly Father. We should not rebel under God's chastening hand but quickly submit to it. The believer desires correction because he has been given a new heart that loves the law of God (Ps. 119:97). He who hates correction is a fool. How can we learn to love correction and even discipline from God?

Job: You Do Not Know the Weight of My Grief (6:1—7:21)

Chapter 6: Job rejects Eliphaz's counsel as counterproductive and only making matters worse.

6:3 my words are swallowed up. Literally, "my words speak incoherently or wildly." His torment is so great that he cannot speak in a comprehensible way, which may account for Eliphaz's failure to grasp the real issue.

6:4 arrows of the Almighty. Job attributed his sufferings to God, as to a warrior (Pss. 7:11–13; 38:2). set themselves in array against me. Military imagery: God's terrors line up for battle against him.

6:5–6 All these questions expect a negative answer, implying that Job has just cause for his complaints.

6:7 sorrowful meat. Loathsome food.

6:8–9 Job's desire was that God would end his suffering by taking his life (3:1–26).

6:10 would harden myself in sorrow. Literally, "will jump in pain," as an indication of his joyous relief if God would take his life.

6:11–12 Job believed that his trial was more than he could bear. God, however, does not see as man sees (1 Cor. 10:13).

6:13 Is not my help in me? There is no hope in me, and deliverance is driven away from me.

6:14 Job advised his comforters as to how they should be consoling him, namely with pity; literally,

“faithful love.”

6:24 Teach me. Job pledged to submit himself to the teaching of his friends if they could present a case that would win his conscience.

6:26 speeches of one that is desperate. Job insisted that his words were but expressions of a man in despair, not those of a man who had given up on God.

6:27 ye dig a pit for your friend. Eliphaz’s arguments made Job’s suffering worse.

6:30 cannot my taste discern. Spiritual maturity gives discernment (34:3; Heb. 5:14). Job confessed that he knew what sin is and would admit it if sin were the cause of his suffering.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 6

1. We should show faithful love to suffering friends (v. 14). As well intentioned as Job’s friends were, they actually made his situation worse (v. 27). Parents can fail in the same way if they fail to take into account the weight with which matters may be pressing their children. It is easy to dismiss the burdens of our children as being insignificant or due entirely to their sin. Beware of the danger of digging pits for your children. How can you respond more compassionately to the burdens of other people, whether children or adults?
2. There comes a time in every Christian’s life when he will be called upon to encourage a friend whose trial may run deeper and be more prolonged than anything he himself has ever experienced. In such circumstances that Christian does well not to pretend he understands something he does not but instead to point his friend to someone who does. Christ was “in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb. 4:15). In all of Job’s sufferings he would never suffer more than his Savior would eventually suffer. The Christian’s ability to minister encouragement, therefore, does not depend on similar experiences so much as it does on his ability to point a tried and afflicted friend to Christ.

Chapter 7: Job turns from Eliphaz and addresses his complaint directly to God.

7:1 appointed time. The Hebrew word is “army,” referring to the warfare of life. like the days of an hireling. The day-laborer looks forward to rest at the end of the day.

7:2 earnestly desireth the shadow. Pants after shade from the sun, looking for some temporary relief. hireling looketh. The day-laborer looks forward eagerly to his wage, the reason he toils.

7:3 In contrast, Job has nothing (vanity) but trouble without the prospect of relief or reason.

7:6 weaver’s shuttle. Wooden tool used to pass thread back and forth in a loom for weaving; an image of Job’s life quickly passing away.

7:10 Death is final (Pss. 37:10; 103:16).

7:11 Therefore. Job built an argument from the extremity of his circumstances (v. 5) and the brevity of life (vv. 6–8) to justify his complaint to God.

7:12 whale. Huge sea creature of some sort (Gen. 1:21); sometimes translated “serpent” or “dragon” (Ps. 148:7; Isa. 27:1). In comparison, Job is so small, raising his question as to why God has set a guard (watch) over him.

7:14 visions. See 4:12–21.

7:16 vanity. A breath, something insubstantial (Pss. 62:9; 144:4).

7:17–18 What is man. David asked the question out of awe that God would care so much about man, who is such a small part of the vast creation (Ps. 8:4). Job asked in bewilderment, desiring God to pay attention to or scrutinize (visit) bigger things and leave him alone.

7:20 I have sinned. Job does not claim sinlessness but only that his conscience is clear concerning any sin that warrants his calamity. mark. Target.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 7

1. Life is short (vv. 6,16). The Bible is filled with symbols that emphasize that truth: "a tale that is told" (Ps. 90:9) and "a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away" (James 4:14). Job's afflictions taught him the brevity of life not just in theory but experientially. During times of prosperity, the brevity of life becomes easy to forget. Like the foolish rich man (Luke 12:18), it is easy to grow comfortable, thinking that life will go on indefinitely. Afflictions preach to us that we should use our time wisely in light of death and eternity (Ps. 90:12).
2. Job demonstrates the believer's freedom to go to God even with his complaints (Pss. 73; 77; 88). The Christian should ever keep in mind that God invites him to come boldly before the throne of grace (Heb. 4:16). Job laid his heart bare before the Lord and expressed his concerns forthrightly. Too often even though God knows the thoughts of our heart, we are reluctant to speak to Him candidly and honestly. This does not mean that the Christian approaches God irreverently, but it does mean that he is free to bring to God the burdens of his heart even when those burdens pertain to how we perceive God's dealings with us. What burdens do you need to honestly take to Him today?

Chapter 8: Astonished that Job would think that God perverts justice, Bildad proceeds to set forth some basic truths about the righteousness of God.

Bildad: All Agree that God Is Just (8:1–22)

8:3 pervert. To bend or twist. judgment. Justice. justice. Righteousness. God is righteous in all his ways (34:10–12).

8:4 If thy children have sinned. Again, the assumption is that sorrow and death imply personal sin.

8:5 betimes. Early and earnestly.

8:6 the habitation of thy righteousness prosperous. Your righteous home to be safe.

8:8–10 fathers. Whereas Eliphaz appealed to revelation (4:13), Bildad appealed to history and tradition, arguing that all the sources of antiquity vindicate his opinion.

8:11–13 rush . . . flag. Two papyrus-like plants that grew in wet ground. Bildad drew an illustration from nature to say that Job could not flourish because he had forgotten God. hypocrite. Godless or profane one.

8:14 spider's web. Literally, "the house of a spider," parallel with "his house" (v. 15). The trust or confidence of the wicked is flimsy and cannot support him, like a house without a foundation.

8:20 God will not cast away. Bildad was judging Job's character based on Job's circumstances. He reasoned that had Job been godly God would never have allowed such calamities to afflict him. perfect. Having integrity, or sincere godliness.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 8

1. Though Bildad's argument was misapplied, he did nevertheless recognize that God will do justice

(v. 3); His relationship with the Christian stands upon His righteousness. Moses said, “He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he” (Deut. 32:4). Justice is not compromised in salvation but rather is satisfied in Christ’s atoning death. To enjoy God’s peace we must understand not only God’s mercy and grace in salvation but God’s righteousness also (Rom. 3:21–26). Only when we realize that God does not set aside justice but fulfills it in Christ can we trust Him. Why is it dangerous when we focus so much on God’s love that we neglect His justice and righteousness?

2. Bildad’s appeal to the teachings of the “fathers” (v. 8) reminds us to be careful when citing tradition to support our point of view. To be sure, much biblical truth is contained in the traditions of the church, but the teachings of the fathers lack no divine authority in themselves and often err and contradict each other. They may also fail to reflect biblical balance by so emphasizing one truth that they virtually contradict another.

Job: But How Can Man Be Just before God? (9:1—10:22)

Chapter 9: After conceding that there is truth in Bildad’s speech, Job describes the transcendence of God and laments that there is no daysman who could function as a mediator.

9:3 contend. Make a legal argument against one’s opponent in a lawsuit.

9:4 wise in heart, and mighty in strength. God is infinitely greater than anyone else in wisdom and power (12:13,16; 36:5; Jer. 10:12; Dan. 2:20). hath hardened . . . prospered. Literally, “has shown stubbornness to him and stayed uninjured or at peace.”

9:9 Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades. Constellations (chambers) of stars recognized since days of antiquity (38:31–32; Isa. 13:10; Amos 5:8). People have often worshiped the stars or believed they held power over our lives, but God created them and rules them (Gen. 1:16; Deut. 4:19; Ps. 147:4).

9:11–16 Job was frustrated by the invisibility and transcendence of God: He cannot be seen or stopped.

9:13 proud helpers do stoop. Possibly, “helpers of Rahab bow down.” The mythical Rahab was seen as a great serpent of the sea, a symbol of the power of evil (Ps. 89:9–10).

9:15 make supplication to my judge. Pray to God, the Judge, for grace.

9:18 suffer. Allow.

9:23 scourge. Whip.

9:25 post. Runner or courier.

9:33 daysman. Arbiter, umpire, or mediator; same word as “plead” (16:21). betwixt. Between. Job recognized the need for a mediator between himself and God and thus anticipated the Messiah, realizing that no mere man can take up his own cause.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 9

1. God is “wise in heart, and mighty in strength” (v. 4). He is beyond man’s comprehension (vv. 5–11). The world in its wisdom cannot know God (1 Cor. 1:21). Despite all our technological achievements, man cannot discover God. If we arrogantly insist that we cannot believe in what we cannot understand, then we logically exclude believing in a God who is so much greater than ourselves. The only way to know Him is to humble ourselves and quietly listen to His Word. The greatest wonders of the Bible, such as God’s having created the world in six days, are completely believable if we start from the premise, expressed as a rhetorical question, “Is anything too hard for the Lord?" The Christian must ever keep this in mind in a world of arrogant skepticism and foolish unbelief. He must especially remember that he cannot comprehend God when God's ways with us are hard. Let us remember that it was precisely when Christ's disciples could not trace God's purpose that He was accomplishing our salvation by the crucifixion of His Son. Much of life is beyond our understanding, but nothing is without purpose.

2. Job saw himself in the court of the almighty Judge (vv. 3,15–16; cf. 10:2,14,17), unable to speak for himself yet in need of vindication before the Lord. No one on earth could be the mediator to lay a hand on both God and man and to plead for men (v. 33). However, his longing was perfectly fulfilled by the One who would come to earth, Jesus Christ. Do you see yourself as one who stands in the courtroom of God, the glorious Judge? How will you be counted righteous before Him? There is no other way than by the heavenly Mediator, the righteous Son of God (1 John 2:1).

Chapter 10: Job complains that God does not understand him because God is not a man.

10:1 In bitterness of soul even a man like Job may speak in an ill-advised manner.

10:2 contendest. See note at 9:3.

10:3 shine upon the counsel of the wicked. Give success to the plans of sinners.

10:4–7 Job asked a series of rhetorical questions to press home the point that God is not a man limited by human senses and investigation, and therefore he concluded, Thou knowest that I am not wicked. God's omniscience (perfect knowledge of all things) made the suffering of the righteous all the more perplexing to Job.

10:8 It seems absurd that the God who made man would destroy him for no apparent reason.

10:9 bring me into dust again. Literally, "to dust return me," using the same words that God spoke to the fallen Adam (Gen. 3:19; cf. Job 34:15; Eccl. 3:20).

10:10 milk . . . cheese. Figures of speech for God's formation of a child in the womb (Ps. 139:13–16).

10:11 fenced me. Hebrew, "to intertwine or weave," suggesting the intricacy of his created body.

10:12 thy visitation. The Hebrew word has the idea of giving special attention.

10:15 confusion. Shame.

10:16 shewest thyself marvellous. The root of this verb means to do something amazing; in this form it means that God proves Himself to be beyond man's comprehension.

10:18 given up the ghost. Literally, "expired or passed away."

10:21 land of darkness. The grave, where his body, though not his spirit, will lie senseless.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 10

God's sovereignty implies that He is intimately involved in our lives. He forms us in the womb (vv. 10–11), knows us completely and perfectly (vv. 4–7), and sustains our lives (v. 12). When one is convinced of God's love and grace, these truths are a great comfort (Ps. 139). However, the sovereignty of God can become an offense when someone feels trapped in a living hell of bitterness and weariness under a sense of God's condemnation (Job 10:1–2). When we meet a godly Christian in such a sad condition, it may not help him simply to tell him that God is in control. This book reminds such a sufferer that he is not alone or unique but stands in solidarity with people like Job, and especially with the Lord Jesus Christ, who cried out on the cross, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" (Mark 15:34). Christ alone could say to God, "Thou knowest that I am not wicked" (Job 10:7). He suffered for sinners. On the basis of His agony, whatever taste of hell the believer may endure on earth will never become the eternal hell. What a Savior!

Chapter 11: Zophar presses the argument with even greater fervor that Job is a sinner who needs to repent.

Zophar: Does Your Talk Justify You? (11:1–20)

11:1 Zophar, the least sympathetic of the three friends, claims that Job is suffering less than he deserves (v. 6).

11:3 Should thy lies make men hold their peace? Literally, "should your loose talk reduce men to silence?"

11:6 God exacteth of thee less . . . deserveth. Literally, "God has allowed to be forgotten for you part of your iniquity."

11:7–9 high as heaven . . . deeper than hell. The extremes of height and depth, expressing the idea that God is infinite (without limitation, Ps. 145:3; Eph. 3:8,18) and incomprehensible (beyond our full understanding, Job 5:9; 9:10; Isa. 55:9). Zophar's theology is sound but his application skewed.

11:11 vain. False, lying, or worthless. Zophar's harshness toward Job is evident here.

11:12 vain. Hollow-minded; a different word from that used in v. 11.

11:14 tabernacles. Tents or dwelling places.

11:17 thine age shall be clearer than the noonday. Literally, "[your] lifespan shall arise higher than noon," an image expressing an appearance of vigor and vitality.

11:19 shall make suit unto thee. Literally, "will ask for your favor."

11:20 giving up of the ghost. Literally, "expiring of soul."

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 11

1. Zophar exemplifies something every Christian should want, as well as something he should avoid. He demonstrates a jealousy for the honor of God. This jealousy is something that is too rare in times when ungodliness permeates the world. Blasphemy and the profaning of God's name become so commonplace that the Christian too often accepts them and becomes desensitized to them. To the degree that Zophar was jealous for God's honor, he is commendable. Unfortunately, Zophar lacked proper humility. It never crossed his mind that he could be wrong, and so with unrelenting dogmatism he condemned Job as though speaking for God. His theology was sound, but his spirit and applications were wrong. May the Lord grant a proper jealousy for his honor, accompanied by the proper humility. There is hardly a worse manifestation of pride than the assurance of always being right.
2. This chapter presents one of the most sublime statements about the transcendence of God (vv. 7–9). The Christian need never fear overestimating the greatness of God. There is a constant danger, on the other hand, of underestimating His greatness. Beware of limiting the Holy One of Israel (Ps. 78:41). Meditate frequently on how small you are compared to Him, both in mind and in strength. What are some ways you have recently been reminded that God is far beyond your understanding?

Job: I Know that I Shall Be Justified (12:1—14:22)

Chapter 12: Job senses that his friends feel superior to him and resists their efforts to treat him as inferior.

12:2 No doubt but ye are the people. By his sarcasm Job scorned the arrogance of his comforters.

12:3 who knoweth not such things as these? Their assessment of Job reflected common knowledge but failed to address the real issue. Job did not deny the content of what they said, only its relevance to him.

12:4 neighbour. His fellow man in general, not the resident next door.

12:5 Those who are at ease are prone to judge with contempt those whose feet slip.

12:6 The tabernacles of robbers prosper. The dwelling places of those who destroy are at ease. Some wicked men seem to have every temporal advantage (21:7–15). This is a common problem for faith (Pss. 37; 49; 73).

12:9 the hand of the LORD hath wrought this. God has done it by His power.

12:10 soul. Life. mankind. Literally, "all flesh of man." All living things, including people, depend upon God for life and breath (34:14–15; Ps. 104:29–30; Isa. 42:5; Acts 17:25).

12:11 meat. Any kind of food.

12:12 the ancient. Old men.

12:13–25 Job declared that the God rules over all events and all kinds of people, being the source of all wisdom and strength (vv. 13,16; cf. 9:4), and therefore controlling every gain or loss of either.

12:16 deceived and the deceiver. Though God cannot lie (Num. 23:19), He rules over liars and determines the degree of their success (2 Thess. 2:11).

12:17 spoiled. As captives, stripped of everything.

12:18 girdeth their loins with a girdle. Literally, "secures a waistcloth around their hips with a belt."

12:19 spoiled. The Hebrew has the idea of being barefoot, a sign of humiliation.

12:20 trusty. Those trusted for their wisdom.

12:23 enlargeth . . . straiteneth. Scatters abroad and leads in.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 12

1. Job said, "I am not inferior to you" (v. 3, cf. 13:2). One of the Devil's tactics for keeping a Christian in despair is to make him feel inferior to his critics. Job's antidote to inferiority, however, was not self-esteem but the knowledge of his God (Jer. 9:23–24). Understanding God's sovereignty both shielded him from their false arguments and made all men look very small and insignificant. When you are despised because of your suffering or weakness by those at ease, do not respond with hatred and vengeance but by looking to the greatness of your God. He will be your wisdom and your strength. If the Christian can lay hold of the most basic of all truths, that God rules over all, he will not be crushed to despair by what he perceives to be his shortcomings, sins, or failures. He does not need to be a god, for he has God.
2. "Who knoweth not in all these that the hand of the LORD hath wrought this?" (v. 9). Nothing escapes the sovereign rule of God. Not even a sparrow can fall to the ground apart from God's rule. The Christian may not understand why God is dealing the way He does. Job did not understand. Yet all the Christian's seasons of adversity are known to God and in a mysterious way directed by God. The affirmation of the simple and sublime truth of God's sovereign dominion over every realm of life will instill in the Christian hope that his trial will not only pass but will have a sanctifying effect on his life, preparing him for service here and for future service in the glories to come. How has God's sovereignty comforted you in your trials?

Chapter 13: Job pleads with his friends to keep silence and expresses his confidence that he will be vindicated and that his friends will be reproved.

13:3 reason. Go to court; Job desires to argue his case before the Lord.

13:4 forgers of lies. Those who smear or plaster with falsehoods.

13:5 hold your peace. Literally, "keep silent," just as they had at the beginning (2:13).

13:6 reasoning . . . pleadings. Legal arguments.

13:7 speak wickedly for God. As typical in theological controversy, all involved claim that God is on their side, even if they speak wrongly about Him (42:7).

13:10 accept persons. Literally, "lift up faces," an idiom expressing favoritism.

13:12 Your remembrances are like unto ashes. Literally, "your memorial words are proverbs of dust or ashes."

13:13 Hold your peace. Be quiet.

13:15 Though. The Hebrew word is used as an interjection and is best expressed with an exclamation mark: "He may kill me; I will hope in Him!"—an expression of great faith. I will maintain mine own ways before him. I will argue my case in His presence, an attitude for which the Lord would rebuke Job (40:2).

13:16 He also shall be my salvation. An expression of Job's confidence in the Lord (Ex. 15:2; Ps. 18:46). hypocrite. A godless or profane person.

13:18 I shall be justified. God, the Judge, would declare him righteous.

13:19 hold my tongue. Literally, "am silent." shall give up the ghost. Literally, "will expire."

13:27 Thou . . . lookest narrowly unto all my paths. As a guard who keeps watch over a prisoner.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 13

1. "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him" (v. 15). At times Job's faith seemed to waiver, but he never gave up trusting God. Trials test the quality of the Christian's faith. There is such a thing as temporary faith (Matt. 13:20–21) or vain faith (1 Cor. 15:2), but saving faith perseveres when life seems dark and God's dealings do not seem right. God is pleased to subject Christians to trials so that they may perceive the quality of their own faith (1 Peter 1:6–7). For Job to affirm that he would continue to trust God even if God were to slay him means that Job saw beyond this present life (1 Cor. 15:19). Does your faith see beyond this world?
2. "But I will maintain mine own ways before him" (v. 15). It's amazing that such a statement could follow Job's strong affirmation of faith. The first part of the verse brings Job's faith into view. But the second part brings the corruption of Job's flesh into view. Trials work to strengthen faith by highlighting and exposing the weakness of our faith and the reality of our sin. Apart from such fiery trials, it becomes easy to become self-righteous or self-sufficient.

Chapter 14: Job recognizes the brevity and troubles of life and anticipates the change that is coming.

14:4 Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? Fallen human nature cannot produce a life that will please the holy God (Rom. 8:7–8). This is why the new birth is necessary (John 3:3–7).

14:7 it will sprout again. There is hope of life after death (see note at v. 14).

14:8 wax. To grow. stock. Stump.

14:9 The tree appeared to be dead but gave evidence of new life.

14:10 wasteth. Dwindles, describing the decay of the body in the grave. giveth up the ghost. Expires, and that appears to be the end.

14:12 riseth not: till the heavens be no more. Death will not be overcome until God creates a new heavens and a new earth (Rev. 21:1–4).

14:13 Job still longed for physical death as his only hope of physical relief.

14:14 my appointed time. The warfare or hard service of his earthly life (7:1). Job was placing his hope in life after death. my change. His bodily resurrection; same root word as "sprout," used of the stump of a tree in v. 7. As a tree stump may sprout again, so believers cut off by death will be called out of the grave by the Lord (v. 15; 1 Thess. 4:13–16).

14:16 For now. Hope for the future gives way to despair in the present.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 14

1. "Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? Not one" (v. 4). Man must be born again (John 3:3), as he is helpless to wash away his defilement (Jer. 2:22). However, what is impossible for man is possible for God (Matt. 19:26). God cleansed sinners by sending His Son to shed His blood for their sins (1 John 1:7). Today it can be said of the Christian that he is completely clean in his position before God (John 13:10). The Christian also needs practical cleansing each day by confessing his sins and calling upon Christ (1 John 1:9).
2. "All the days of my appointed time will I wait, till my change come" (v. 14). Job demonstrates in this saying the kind of groaning that characterizes every true child of God (Rom. 8:23). As long as the Christian lives in a world that is marked by sin, he will experience dissatisfaction. But like Job he can anticipate a coming change: we "look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness" (2 Peter 3:13). What a change will be marked by the second coming of Christ! That change will also come to the Christian himself: "when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is" (1 John 3:2). How can this hope give a Christian patience in suffering?

Second Cycle of Dialogue (15:1—21:34)

Chapter 15: Eliphaz intensifies his reproof of Job.

Eliphaz: How Can He Who Is Born of a Woman Be Righteous? (15:1–35)

15:2 vain knowledge. Literally, "knowledge of wind."

15:4 thou castest off fear. You destroy the fear of God.

15:10 very aged men. Another appeal to the tradition of the fathers (8:8).

15:14 clean . . . righteous. Eliphaz here expressed a true view of man's sinfulness (14:4) but applied it wrongly to Job's situation. It is tragically possible to deduce error from truth.

15:15 no trust in his saints . . . heavens are not clean. Eliphaz returned to the message he had received from the vision of the spirit (4:15–18).

15:16 drinketh iniquity like water. Fallen man desires and delights in sin as if it were his very life, even while it kills him (Prov. 4:16–17; 9:17; 15:14; 19:28; Isa. 44:20).

15:19 stranger. Foreigner.

15:20 the number of years is hidden. Most likely that his years were numbered by God but unknown to him, a cause for fear.

15:22 is waited for of. Literally, "is destined to."

15:26 thick bosses of his bucklers. The thick knobs of his shields, referring to the strength of the shields.

15:27 maketh collops of fat on his flanks. Makes his waist area bulge with a superabundance of fat.

15:31 vanity. Nothingness.

15:34 hypocrites. Godless or profane people; not the same idea as hypocrites who play parts like actors in religion (Matt. 6:1–2; 23:25). tabernacles. Tents or dwelling places.

15:35 mischief. The Hebrew, "trouble." vanity. Misery, a different word from that in v. 31.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 15

1. Eliphaz was under the mistaken impression that Job was treating God lightly so that He would not be feared (v. 4). If this were true, as a result sin would not be hated, for "the fear of the LORD is to hate evil" (Prov. 8:13). Though falsely applied to Job, this was a very serious charge. We should be careful, whether in suffering or in prosperity, never to say or do anything that would diminish the awe and respect people have toward God or to encourage a light view of sin.
2. Sin is not only engaging in bad behavior or making poor choices but is an inward love for what is bad that deeply motivates mankind to pursue evil (v. 16). The heart itself is corrupt, and this corrupts everything in human life (Gen. 6:5; Prov. 4:23; Mark 7:21–23; Rom. 3:9–18). Our problem is who we are and what we love (1 John 2:15–16). How should this truth affect how we view ourselves? How should it affect our sense of need for Christ?

Job: You Are All Miserable Comforters (16:1—17:16)

Chapter 16: Job rebukes his friends, describes his misery, and appeals to God.

16:2 miserable comforters. Literally, "comforters of trouble."

16:3 vain. Literally, "of air or wind," expressing that these words are without substance. emboldeneth thee. Provokes you.

16:5 asswage. Relieve (v. 6).

16:7–17 What Job felt, Christ experienced to the full. The language itself draws a line to Christ.

16:10 gaped. Opened against me.

16:12 broken me asunder. Shattered me into pieces.

16:13 compass. Surround. cleaveth. Slices open or pierces. reins. Kidneys, referring generally to the innards. gall. Bile, representative of bodily fluids.

16:14 breach. Break. giant. A mighty man, a warrior.

16:15 horn. Symbol for power or strength.

16:18 earth, cover not thou my blood. An appeal for divine justice against those who mistreat him (Gen. 4:10–11; Isa. 26:21).

16:19 my witness . . . record. The words are synonyms, both referring to a person who testifies in a legal case. The mediator whom Job could not find on earth (9:33) he now affirms that he has in heaven. Christ, the only Mediator, already interceded for His people in heaven before His incarnation (Zech. 3:1–5).

16:21 plead. Same word as that translated "daysman" (9:33). neighbour. Or friend (same word as in v. 20). Job's friends had failed to comfort him, but he sought comfort from a heavenly Advocate.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 16

1. "Miserable comforters are ye all" (v. 2). Counsel that is void of Christ is also void of comfort. There is a place for the Christian to come under a sense of sin, but if all a counselor manages to do is to keep his focus on sin, real or imagined, then his counsel will accomplish no more than that of Job's friends. Job recognized that true encouragement will strengthen the weak and relieve the grieving (v. 5). Whether it is a pastor speaking to a church member, a parent dealing with a child, or a person coming alongside a suffering friend, let us seek by God's grace not to degenerate into "miserable comforters" who only dwell on sin and fail to make much of Christ.
2. Job desired a sympathetic high priest (v. 21). The function of the priest was to plead for the people he represented. And in order to plead effectively, that priest had to have some idea of the struggles that were being experienced by the people he represented. Christ is such a High Priest for his people (Heb. 2:17–18; 4:14–16). As He is a man, Christ can sympathize with men. As One without sin He can offer a perfect plea for the men He represents. When your friends fail you, Jesus Christ is a friend who can both comfort you and obtain grace and mercy for you from God.

Chapter 17: Job seems to give up, believing his only hope is death.

17:1 breath is corrupt. Literally, "spirit is broken," expressing that Job could not take any more.

17:3 put me in a surety. Pledge to fulfill my obligations. strike hands. An idiom for confirming a contract, similar to our shaking hands. The picture here is of a person who puts himself under binding obligation to pay another's debt (Prov. 6:1; 17:18; 22:26).

17:5 Job is evidently quoting a proverb from his day. His friends were flattering him with vain hopes of restored prosperity, contingent on his repentance.

17:6 byword. Object of scorn or derision. aforetime. Before or previously. tabret. The English word means "a small drum," but the Hebrew term refers to spittle.

17:8 astonied. Astonished. hypocrite. A godless or profane person.

17:16 bars of the pit. Entrance to sheol or the grave.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 17

The striking of hands was the customary form for entering into a contract (v. 3). Just as Job had expressed his hope in a mediator, he now expressed his desire for an advocate or guarantor (surety). We are at once reminded that Christ serves both functions as the Priest of His people. He is their advocate (Heb. 7:25; 1 John 2:1) and their surety by the oath of the Lord (Heb. 7:21–22). Outward circumstances may seem to convey a different message, but when the Christian sees Christ as his advocate and surety, he can affirm like Paul that nothing can separate him from the love of God (Rom. 8:38–39). Yet he may also feel like a sheep destined for slaughter and have little expectation of deliverance in this life (Rom. 8:36). How can a believer simultaneously have such a strong hope and yet experience such darkness?

Chapter 18: Bildad elaborates on the judgment that awaits those who do not know God.

Bildad: God Judges the Wicked (18:1–21)

18:2 mark. Understand.

18:3 reputed vile. Regarded as unclean.

18:6 tabernacle. Tent or dwelling place (vv. 14–15). candle. Lamp.

18:7 straitened. Restricted or hampered.

18:9 gin. Trap or snare. robber. Or a trapping device.

18:10 laid. Concealed or fixed secretly.

18:12 hungerbitten. Hungry or starved.

18:15 brimstone. Sulfur.

18:19 nephew. Refers to any descendent or posterity.

18:20 astonied. Astonished. affrighted. Frightened or afraid.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 18

1. Bildad's description of death as the "king of terrors" (v. 14) is a reminder of the power of the gospel that can "deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage" (Heb. 2:15). The fear of death can be alleviated for the Christian because Christ has removed its sting (1 Cor. 15:55) by His victorious resurrection, and God delivers all His people from the power of death and the grave (Ps. 49:15). Life after death is certain, and even entering into the valley of death's shadow God's people have no reason for fear because the Lord, our Shepherd, has promised His presence (Ps. 23:4).
2. The wicked do not know God (v. 21)—the most profound ignorance possible. God's purpose in creating man was that he might know God. It was man's highest privilege before the fall to enjoy the presence of God, to walk with Him and talk with Him (Gen. 2:15–25; 3:8). When Adam plunged the human race into sin, this privilege was lost. But through the gospel, knowledge lost is knowledge restored so that the Christian can know God anew (Col. 3:10). The Christian should ever keep in mind the difference between knowing God and knowing about God, striving to know Him better whom to know is life eternal (John 17:3).

Chapter 19: In the midst of suffering, Job nevertheless affirms his faith in Christ as his Redeemer.

Job: But I Know that My Redeemer Lives (19:1–29)

19:2 vex my soul. Torment or grieve me.

19:3 ten times. Symbolic of many times (Gen. 31:7; Rev. 2:10). make yourselves strange to me. Attack me vigorously.

19:6 compassed. Surrounded.

19:7 wrong. Violence. judgment. Justice.

19:12 tabernacle. Tent or dwelling place.

19:13 verily. Truly.

19:17 strange. Loathsome or disgusting.

19:21 Have pity . . . have pity. Literally, “give me grace,” the need of the suffering from their friends.

19:23 printed. Inscribed or recorded.

19:25 redeemer. A near kinsman who was obligated to defend his family and rescue its members and their inheritance at his own expense (Lev. 25:25,47–49; Ruth 4:1–12). liveth. Already in Job’s day the Redeemer, the living God, was alive (v. 26; Deut. 5:26; Ps. 42:2). shall stand. Will stand up to vindicate. at the latter day. Simply means, “later”; no specific day or end-times chronology is in view. earth. Literally, “dust,” most likely the grave (7:21; 10:9; 17:16).

19:26 The words though, worms, and body (italicized in the KJV) are not in the Hebrew text, but can be simply rendered, “After my skin has then been destroyed, yet in my flesh I will see God.” In my flesh after death implies the raising of the body to life again. The word skin may also be translated, “I awake,” implying resurrection after the sleep of death (14:12). God will raise believers physically from the dead (Isa. 26:19; Dan. 12:2), and they will see His glory in Christ (Ps. 17:15; John 17:24; Rev. 22:4).

19:27 reins. Inward organs that will be consumed in the grave. The dissolution of the body cannot prevent believers from seeing the Lord, either at death or at the resurrection.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 19

1. Job exclaimed, “Oh that my words were now written! Oh that they were printed in a book!” (v. 23). God answered Job’s desire in the very book we now read. God had a purpose in Job’s sufferings that would benefit future generations of Christians throughout the history of redemption. Who of us has not found comfort for his own sufferings by seeing a purpose of grace behind Job’s sufferings? Christians should consider during their seasons of suffering that the purpose in their affliction is not just for their good and God’s glory but also for the good of others (2 Cor. 1:6), including generations to come. How might that help those who are suffering?
2. “I know that my redeemer liveth” (v. 25). This statement shows the indestructible nature of true, saving faith. In the midst of circumstances that Job did not understand, he nevertheless fell back on the most basic truth of the gospel—his Redeemer lives! When the storms of life are intense and there does not seem to be any end in sight, the Christian must affirm that Christ is his Redeemer. Redemption brings to mind the glorious truth that the Christian is owned by God, purchased with His own blood (Acts 20:28; 1 Cor. 6:20; Eph. 1:14). And he must make such an affirmation on a personal level. Can you say, “I know that my Redeemer lives”? Is He yours?

Chapter 20: Zophar vents his anger against Job and reminds him that the triumph of the wicked is short but that their judgment is great.

Zophar: The Triumph of the Wicked Is Short (20:1–29)

20:3 check of my reproach. Literally, “exhortation of my insult,” meaning the exhortation that has insulted him. Feeling insulted, he became defensive.

20:5 hypocrite. A godless or profane person.

20:6 excellency. Pride.

20:10 please. Entreat or seek favor.

20:14 meat. Food of any kind (v. 21). gall of asps. Poison of venomous serpents (v. 16, though using a different word for poison).

20:22 straights. Trouble.

20:24 steel. Bronze.

20:25 gall. Gallbladder.

20:26 tabernacle. Tent or dwelling place.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 20

1. "The triumphing of the wicked is short" (vv. 4–5). Although his assessment of Job was wrong, Zophar's theology was right on this point. The Christian is tempted at times to believe that the triumphing of the wicked is long-lasting. It seems that wicked men rule in high places and that men who make dishonest gain are the ones who get ahead, while the Lord's people are plagued and chastened. So bothered was the psalmist by this phenomenon that he concluded it was vain to serve the Lord (Ps. 73:13–14). When the Christian's heart becomes so overwhelmed by the inequalities of the world, he needs to put things in proper perspective (Ps. 73:16–17). Eternity is the best interpreter of time.
2. Zophar described the portion of the wicked man that awaits him in eternity: "he shall perish for ever" (v. 7); "God shall cast the fury of his wrath upon him" (v. 23); "the heaven shall reveal his iniquity" (v. 27). This life is the best it will ever be for the wicked, unless they repent. Here is cause for Christians to thank God, for apart from Christ the portion of the wicked would also be their portion.

Chapter 21: Job notes that the wicked often prosper for long periods of time and feel no need or desire for God, though in the end all die alike.

Job: But the Wicked Live Long and Prosper (21:1–34)

21:3 Suffer me. The Hebrew, "lift me up"; the idea being to bear with him or endure him as he speaks. mock on. Job anticipated that his discourse would not alter his friend's opinions.

21:5 Mark me. "Face to me," meaning to pay attention. lay your hand upon your mouth. A gesture of astonishment or speechlessness.

21:7–13 The prosperity of the wicked may be short in terms of eternity, but from the perspective of time it seems to endure. Therefore, one cannot judge character by prosperity.

21:10 gendereth. Breeds. casteth not. Does not miscarry.

21:12 timbrel. Hand-drum or tambourine. harp. Stringed instrument, such as a lyre. organ. Musical instrument, perhaps a long flute.

21:13 in wealth. Literally, "in the good of their days."

21:15 What is the Almighty? Those who prosper often see no need of God.

21:17 candle. Lamp or light.

21:19 iniquity. Trouble or looming disaster.

21:24 His breasts. The Hebrew occurs only here, and the meaning is uncertain, perhaps "his pails are full of milk" or "his thighs are full of fat." Either translation pictures one who dies in opulence.

21:26 alike in the dust. Death is the great equalizer; there are no distinctions in the grave.

21:27 devices. Plots or schemes.

21:29 them that go by the way. Travelers. Tokens. Signs, referring to their testimony or witness.

21:30 wrath. Plural in Hebrew, adding intensity.

21:34 in vain. Without purpose. falsehood. Fraud or faithlessness.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 21

1. Job's friends had come to him to comfort and console him in his sufferings. They proved, however, that good intentions do not always lead to good results. Far from meeting Job in the depth of his need, their counsel became a mockery (v. 3). In order to enter into the ministry of encouragement, we must be able to meet a person in his need or be honest enough to confess that our friend's distress is beyond our comprehension. Either way, we must point the sufferer to the Lord's compassion. How much more is this our duty after the Lord has taken on our own flesh and suffered with us? There is no depth to our distress that Christ does not know.
2. We must face the reality that sometimes the wicked enjoy long and prosperous lives. They may boast in their self-sufficiency and mock at God without immediate consequences. At the same time believers may be suffering horribly, even at the hands of these boasters. However, Christians can endure by embracing three principles. First, we are to reject "the counsel of the wicked"; to refuse to see life through their twisted perspective (v. 16). Second, we are to rest in the judgment to come on the sinner, for "he shall drink of the wrath of the Almighty" (v. 20). Third, we are to remember that our mind cannot fully comprehend God's ways, much less correct Him: "Shall any teach God knowledge?" (v. 22).

Third Cycle of Dialogue (22:1—27:23)

Chapter 22: Eliphaz continues to accuse Job of sin, and this time he names specific sins.

Eliphaz: Is It Gain to God that You Make Your Way Perfect? (22:1–30)

22:2–3 be profitable. Benefit God. Humanity adds nothing to God, for He is all-sufficient in Himself (35:7; 1 Chron. 29:11–14; Acts 17:25; Rom. 11:33–36). perfect. Blameless.

22:5 infinite. Literally, "nonexistence of an end."

22:6–9 In exasperation with Job's insistence on maintaining his integrity, Eliphaz seemingly made up a list of sins of which he assumed Job must be guilty.

22:10 snares. Net or traps.

22:12–14 can he judge . . . he seeth not. This expresses the attitude of the wicked (Pss. 73:11; 94:7).

22:15–16 overflown with a flood. Possibly an allusion to the flood of Noah's day (Gen. 6–9).

22:21 Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace. Be reconciled with God.

22:22 law. Hebrew, torah, referring to the whole of God's instruction.

22:23 tabernacles. Tents or dwelling places.

22:25 defence. Gold. plenty of silver. Literally, "silver of massive heaps." The Lord Himself is the treasure of those who repent, as well as their joy (v. 26; Ps. 73:25–26).

22:28 decree a thing. Literally, "decide something or plan."

22:30 the island of the innocent: and it is delivered. Could also be translated "the one not innocent: and he is delivered."

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 22

1. God owes men nothing (v. 3). God is not indebted to men, but men are indebted to God. The Christian's understanding of this truth will enable him to magnify God's grace all the more, for in the covenant of grace God obligated Himself to accomplish and apply salvation to the elect. He did so not because He needed them or they deserved it, but because He is love. Be sure to magnify God's grace today!
2. Eliphaz gave good advice to those who have strayed from God: "Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace . . . Receive, I pray thee, the law from his mouth, and lay up his words in thine heart . . . Return to the Almighty (vv. 21–23). The Christian life may be described as a life of constantly returning to God. So long as sin remains in his heart, the Christian will always have a propensity to drift from God, but on account of Christ's atoning death the way is always open for him to return to the God who loves him. Have you drifted from God? How? Your peace can be restored to you by returning to Him through Christ.

Job: I Shall Come Forth as Gold (23:1—24:25)

Chapter 23: Job expresses his longing to dispute his case with God and his confidence that he will come forth as gold.

23:2 bitter. Or obstinate. stroke. Literally, "hand."

23:3 seat. Fixed place.

23:6–7 God does not bully people with his great power but is truly concerned with justice for the righteous (Gen. 18:25).

23:10 when he hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold. Through they are suffering, God tests the faith of believers to prove its genuineness and great value (Ps. 66:10; Zech. 13:9; 1 Peter 1:7).

23:11 not declined. Did not turn aside. Job had his fears, troubles, and misunderstandings, but he never abandoned the Lord. That is the mark of a true and persevering faith.

23:16 soft. Tender.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 23

1. There are times in the Christian's life when God seems far from him and his prayers (v. 3). The psalmists complained of feeling forsaken by God (Pss. 13:1; 77:7–9; 89:46). This was Job's worst affliction, more terrible than losing his possessions, worse even than losing his health and his family. This was also the crowning affliction of Christ as he died under the punishment for man's sins (Matt. 27:46). God designs times of divine withdrawal to increase the Christian's sense of dependence upon God, to whet his appetite for closer fellowship, and to focus his hope on the vindication of judgment day. Do you groan in the hope of the glory of God?
2. "He knoweth the way that I take: when he hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold" (v. 10). When Christians experience painful seasons or when God seems far away, God knows precisely where we are and the way that we take (v. 10). He has not abandoned us. Even though the trial may be long and hard, there is a gracious purpose behind it that will lead to our coming forth as gold. Thank God today that the trial of your faith will lead to praise and honor and glory at the appearing of Christ.

Chapter 24: Job again argues that the wicked often go unpunished in life.

24:1 The godly, like Job, often wonder why they do not see the days of judgment from the Almighty against sin and injustice.

24:2–4 Job described the dishonesty, cruelty, and violence of the wicked.

24:5 rising betimes for a prey. Seeking eagerly for food.

26:6 corn. Fodder. they gather the vintage of the wicked. Literally, "the wicked grab [the] vineyard."

24:12 layeth not folly. God does not charge them with wrong (1:22) and punish them.

24:13 rebel against the light. Sinners hate the light of God's truth (John 3:19–20).

24:14–16 Men use the darkness of night as a cover for sin, as though God cannot see them. Night becomes a metaphor for the spiritual blindness of sinners to the coming judgment (Rom. 13:11–14; 1 Thess. 5:1–7).

24:21 entreateth the barren. Feeds on the infertile, taking advantage of them.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 24

1. Those who know God do not always see His judgment upon the wicked (v. 1). Yet justice will be executed. Regardless of how long the wicked seem to get a away with their wickedness, death comes (v. 24) and after that the judgment (21:20; Heb. 9:27). The Christian should not judge before that time but look ahead to the time when Christ will return to set things right. Does the wickedness of the day cause you to groan for Christ's return? Be encouraged. His cause will prevail in the end.
2. The heinousness of sin is magnified all the more when those engaged in sin know better (v. 13). Sinning in the light increases responsibility and accountability. To those who receive much, from them much will be required. When a nation has received much truth from God, its sins are all the more offensive to God, whether that nation is Israel or a modern land that has received the gospel of Jesus Christ. What does this imply about your nation? How should you respond?

Chapter 25: Bildad raises the question of how man in his sin can be justified before a holy God.

Bildad: But How Can Man Be Justified with God? (25:1–6)

25:4 How then can man be justified with God? This question is at the heart of the debate (4:17; 9:2; 15:14). Given his description of God's transcendence and power (vv. 2–3), it is clear that Bildad held out no prospect for man's justification.

25:5 the stars are not pure. Bildad picked up Eliphaz's theme, derived from his vision (4:15–18; 15:15).

25:6 worm . . . worm. Maggot and grub, both pictures of man's lowliness and total helplessness (Ps. 22:6; Isa. 41:14).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 25

"How then can man be justified with God?" (v. 4) The placement of this question in Bildad's argument sets in bold the tension that can only be resolved in the gospel. He begins with a lofty description of God's sovereignty, power, and authority and ends with a vivid, if disgusting, image of the depths of man's condition (maggots and grubs). The distance between the two is infinite, and there is nothing a worm can do to elevate itself from the dirt. So the question is raised, and the answer, though not given here, is man's only hope. The infinite God in the second person of the holy Trinity became man, indeed a worm (Ps. 22:6). The God-man did everything necessary in His living to earn life for His people and everything necessary in His dying to pay the penalty for His people's sins. Because of Christ God remains just but can also be the justifier of those who believe (Rom. 3:26). The gospel answers Bildad's question. Have you experienced that answer by finding peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ?

Job: How Have You Helped Him Who Has No Power? (26:1—27:23)

Chapter 26: Job recognizes God's greatness and power.

26:2 Job agreed with Bildad's theology but first reproved his failure to apply the truth in a helpful way.

26:5 Dead things are formed. Literally, "the spirits of the dead are made to tremble," evidence of existence after death even for the wicked.

26:6 Hell. The Hebrew, sheol, can refer to death, the grave, or the place of punishment for departed wicked spirits, the last most likely in this context (v. 5). God sees even into the depths of hell, and so He certainly sees our inward thoughts and motives (Prov. 15:11).

26:8 is not rent. Does not burst open.

26:9 holdeth back. Covers or encloses. What we see of God's glory is "the hiding of his power" (Hab. 3:4; see Ex. 33:20; Ps. 97:2; 1 Tim. 6:16). The totality of His power and glory is incomprehensible.

26:10 He hath compassed the waters with bounds. Literally, "a boundary He has drawn as circle over the face of [the] water." until the day and night come to an end. Literally, "unto the boundary of light with darkness," where day transitions into night.

26:13 By his spirit he had garnished the heavens. Literally, "with His wind He stirs up heavens," referring to the storms moving through the sky. crooked serpent. Or fleeing serpent (Ps. 74:13–14; Isa. 27:1), often a symbolic title of Satan.

26:14 Lo, these are parts of his ways. Even the most eloquent and lofty description of the majesty and power of God does not come close to comprehending His fullness (v. 9).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 26

1. Orthodox theology is important, and it must be guarded, but orthodoxy in the head without its proper application to the heart does little good (v. 1). Job in no way disputed Bildad's theology, and he indeed even expanded on it. God is infinitely great. Yet Bildad failed to apply the truth to Job in a way that helped him. We must learn to receive and apply biblical truth with faithful love and grace so that we might find and share true spiritual comfort (6:14; 19:21).
2. True knowledge of God must also be held with a profound awareness that we know only a small portion of God's greatness: "but the thunder of his power who can understand?" (v. 14). While we should trust all that Scripture tells us about God, we are at best stammering children in the things of God. Why is this so important to remember when we stand up for the truths of the Bible?

Chapter 27: Job reiterates his innocence with the knowledge that the godless have no hope.

27:1 parable. Wisdom discourse.

27:2 hath taken away my judgment. Refuses to vindicate me from the accusations of my friends. vexed my soul. Caused me grief.

27:3 the spirit of God . . . in my nostrils. The breath that God gives him (12:10; 32:8; Gen. 2:7).

27:6 My righteousness. His innocence regarding any sin that has caused his calamity. my heart shall not reproach. He makes the claim with a clear conscience that does not taunt or annoy him.

27:8 hypocrite. A godless or profane person. soul. Life.

27:12 why then are ye thus altogether vain? Job asked why they talked about total nothingness in view of what they themselves had seen.

27:13 the portion of a wicked man. Job agreed with his friends that God will certainly punish the wicked with death, loss, and disgrace (vv. 14–23).

27:22 fain flee. Hebrew, "certainly flee"; "fain" means gladly.

27:23 clap . . . hiss. Gestures of mockery, shock, or disdain.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 27

1. Job's integrity (v. 5) was the focal point of his spiritual warfare (2:3). A Christian's integrity consists of a loving life, heartfelt pursuit of purity, good conscience, and sincere faith (Ps. 26:1–5; 1 Tim. 1:5; 2 Tim. 2:22). Had Job yielded to the arguments of his friends, he would have denied his integrity. If the Devil cannot lead us into unrepentant sin, he will attempt to destroy our assurance, unjustly inflame our conscience, and cripple our faith with hard thoughts of God. How can the Christian resist the Devil and hold on to his integrity?
2. The mystery surrounding the suffering of the righteous should never hinder us from clearly seeing that God will punish the wicked (vv. 13–23). Job believed this even in the midst of his questions about God's justice (v. 2). Do not be deceived by temporary circumstances or the lies of Satan. Sinners will face the wrath of God (Eph. 5:6). Therefore, do not envy them, but repent.

Chapter 28: Wisdom is found only in God.

WISDOM IS THE FEAR OF THE LORD (28:1–28)

28:1–28 Interpreters differ as to whether this poem continues Job's discourse or presents a separate unit by the inspired narrator. The openings of chs. 27 and 29 are the same, which may suggest that ch. 28 should be taken as a separate unit. See Introduction: Synopsis for a proposed chiastic pattern in the book, centering on this chapter.

28:1 vein. Mine. fine. Refine or purify. The poem opens with a celebration of man's ancient skill in mining precious metals and stones (vv. 1–11; cf. Gen. 4:22).

28:2 molten. Melted.

28:3 shadow of death. Used figuratively to refer to deep and total darkness.

28:7 vultures. Falcon or hawk, a bird with remarkable eyesight.

28:12 where shall wisdom be found? This question is the focal point of the chapter. Despite man's technological skill to mine the earth, mankind cannot penetrate into true wisdom but can only receive it reverently from God (vv. 23,28; Prov. 2:1–6).

28:13–19 Job compares wisdom with the precious metals of the earth and states that the value of wisdom is greater than the riches of the earth (Prov. 2:3–4; 3:13–14; 8:10,19; 16:16; 20:15; 25:11–12).

28:15 It cannot be gotten for gold. Literally, "fine gold cannot be given instead of it."

28:21 kept close from the fowls. Concealed from the birds.

28:22 Destruction. Hebrew, Abaddon, referring to the underworld. fame. News or report.

28:28 fear of the Lord. A comprehensive expression that sums up true religion (Eccl. 12:13; Rev. 14:7). The fear of God is a mindset of wisdom, an awareness of the reality and holiness of God (Gen. 28:16–17; Prov. 9:10) that produces awe, love, worship, and obedience (Deut. 10:12; Rev. 15:4). to depart from evil. Practical results of the fear of God are repentance and hatred of sin (1:1,8; 2:3; Prov. 3:7; 14:16; 16:6).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 28

1. The Hebrew word for "wisdom" has the basic idea of skill or ability (Ex. 31:3–6). With respect to God, it refers to His infinite skill to accomplish all His purposes in the best possible ways. With respect to believers, it refers to the skill to live well in God's world. This is why the starting place and the essence of wisdom is the fear of God (v. 28). Only as the reality of God in all His perfection governs the conscience and consciousness will we be rightly motivated to worship God as He is and to avoid doing things that displease Him. Likewise, fearing God means trusting His wisdom that all the circumstances He brings into our lives are according to a perfect plan He is executing in the best possible way. That is the lesson Job had to learn in the throes of his troubles, and indeed the lesson he would learn.
2. Christ is our wisdom (1 Cor. 1:30). Wisdom is the ability to please God—something we can never achieve by ourselves. It cannot be found by man's technological skill (vv. 1–14) or procured with gold because its value exceeds that of all gold (vv. 15–17). Christ is for His people what they cannot be for themselves. The pursuit of wisdom, therefore, is nothing short of the pursuit of Christ (Col. 2:2–3; 3:16). How can we pursue wisdom in Jesus Christ?

THREE MONOLOGUES (29:1—41:34)

Job's Remembrance of His Prosperity and Righteousness (29:1—31:40)

Chapter 29: Job reflects on the days of prosperity before his trial.

29:1 parable. Wisdom discourse.

29:2 Oh that I were as in months past. These chapters (29–31) contain more biographical information about Job than any others, contrasting Job's past blessings (ch. 29) and righteousness (ch. 31) with his present afflictions (ch. 30).

29:3 candle. Lamp. God's light shining upon a person consists of His blessing and favor (Num. 6:24–26). by his light I walked through darkness. Job had known trials in the past but had also known the light of God's presence in those trials (Ps. 27:1).

29:4 secret. Intimate and confidential communication between friends (Ps. 25:14). Job remembered God dwelling in his tent or home (tabernacle) and their communing together in close fellowship.

29:6 washed my steps with butter. An image of bounty and prosperity.

29:7 gate. The place of business, judgment, and social activity. seat in the street. The plaza or broad place in the gate area where Job sat, exercising some degree of authority.

29:8–11 Gestures of respect from all ages and ranks.

29:11 blessed me. Recognized all the benefits and blessings he enjoyed.

29:12–16 Job had a testimony of compassion. He had done what Eliphaz accused him of not doing (22:6–9).

29:14 put on righteousness. Embraced obedience to God's commands like one's daily clothing by faith in the Lord (Rom. 13:12–14; Eph. 4:22–25; Col. 3:8–12). judgment. Justice, particularly in caring for and protecting the poor (vv. 12–13,15–17). diadem. A turban-like headdress.

29:18 I shall die in my nest. An image of prosperity and comfort continuing to the end of his days, which would be many (as the sand).

29:19 waters . . . dew. Images of bountiful supply for every need.

29:23 waited for me. Job alluded to how much better his counsel was to others than the counsel he had been receiving from his friends.

29:24 If I laughed on them, they believed it not. Because of Job's sincerity, those around him did not know how to understand his playful joking.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 29

1. We learn much about Job in this chapter through his personal testimony. He walked in the light of God (v. 3), fellowshipped with God as with a friend (v. 4), and knew the presence of God (v. 5). Job's self-assessment agreed with God's testimony about him (1:1; 2:3). This is the mark of a true Christian. He had been born again and through the new birth had tasted the goodness of God (Ps. 34:8), not just God's blessings but God Himself. How does your own testimony compare with Job's? Have you experienced God's spiritual grace?
2. Job had a reputation for compassion (vv. 12–17). We cannot know the love of Christ without being moved to demonstrate that love to others. Christ says that everything hangs on two great commandments: to love God completely and to love one's neighbor as oneself (Matt. 22:37–39). James describes pure and undefiled religion as visiting the fatherless and widows in their affliction and keeping one's self unspotted by the world (James 1:27). By God's definition, Job's religion was pure religion. Can it be said of you that you are generous, compassionate, and separated from the contamination of the world? Why or why not?

Chapter 30: Job laments how drastically his situation has changed from prosperity to distress, from being respected to being disdained.

30:4 mallows . . . juniper roots. Herbs of some sort and roots from the broom tree that were used for food (meat) by those who were poor.

30:7 brayed. Cried out.

30:8 fools. People who are good for nothing. base men. Literally, those "without a name" having no reputation. viler than the earth. Literally, "they were cast out of the earth," expressing their lowliness.

30:9 song. Specifically, a mocking song. byword. An object of scorn.

30:11 he hath loosed my cord. God had made Job like a warrior with an unstrung bow, unable to defend himself. let loose the bridle. Threw off any restraint.

30:13 set forward my calamity. Promote my destruction.

30:15 soul. Literally, "dignity or honor." welfare. Prosperity.

30:22 substance. Or wisdom.

30:23 house. The place of the dead (17:13; Eccl. 12:5).

30:24 Cries for help from the grave will be of no avail (Luke 16:22–26).

30:27 bowels boiled. An image of inner turmoil of heart. prevented. Confronted.

30:29 dragons. Most likely jackals. owls. Or ostriches.

30:31 harp. A zither or some other sort of stringed instrument. organ. A flute-like instrument.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 30

1. Job laments that he had become a reproach to his neighbors (vv. 9–10). Suffering contempt or insults from our neighbors is not unusual for Christians. To this we are called, for Christ suffered as an example that we should follow in His steps (1 Peter 2:21–23). The challenge Christians face when it comes to bearing reproach is to make sure the reproach is not on account of their sins but on account of Christ (1 Peter 2:20).
2. Comparing ch. 29 with ch. 30, the reader can perceive how Job had gone from the mountaintops of spiritual bliss to the deepest valleys of humiliation. The providence of God leads Christians through both the mountaintop of blessing and the valley of humiliation as parts of His work of making them holy. When Paul wrote that "all things work together for good to them that love God" (Rom. 8:28), he was not limiting "all things" to the mountaintop experiences of God. How have you seen God's wisdom and goodness in both the peaks and valleys of your life or that of others? How can that give you patience today?

Chapter 31: Job professes both his innocence and his willingness to suffer the consequences if he is not innocent.

31:1 maid. Virgin, young woman.

31:3 strange punishment. A feeling of strangeness or calamity.

31:4 see my ways. God is omniscient, knowing all things (Pss. 33:13–15; 139:1–4; Prov. 15:3; John 21:17; Heb. 4:13).

31:5 If. Throughout this chapter Job called on God to scrutinize his integrity and judge him accordingly. vanity. Deceitfulness.

31:7 blot. Blemish or defect.

31:8 offspring. What emerges from sowing. The reference is not to Job's children, as they had already died (1:18–19), but to whatever Job had sown.

31:9 Job understood that adultery begins in the heart (Prov. 6:25; 7:25; Matt. 5:28).

31:10 grind. At a millstone, here representing slavery.

31:11 heinous crime. Specifically, the sin of adultery (v. 9), good evidence that the moral law was known before the revelation of the Ten Commandments at Mt. Sinai (Ex. 20:14).

31:14 when he visiteth. When God investigates and brings into account.

31:15 make him. The recognition that all people have one Maker, the Lord God, gives us a foundation for opposing all social oppression and racism (34:19; Prov. 14:31; 22:2; Mal. 2:10; Acts 17:26).

31:16–23 Job declared the importance of loving one's neighbor and saw a lack of compassion as being a serious sin.

31:18 her. The widow (v. 16).

31:20 blessed me. By expressing thanks.

31:24 made gold my hope. See 1 Tim. 6:10,17. All confidence except that placed in the Lord will prove unable to support us (8:14).

31:25 gotten. Obtained; Hebrew, “found.”

31:26–27 beheld the sun . . . kissed my hand. Evidently the worship of the heavenly bodies (Deut. 4:19; 17:3; 2 Kings 17:16; Jer. 8:2).

31:29 rejoiced at the destruction. Job understood that he should love his enemies (Ex. 23:4–5; Prov. 17:5; 24:17; Matt. 5:44–45).

31:31 tabernacle. Tent or dwelling place.

31:32 stranger. A temporary dweller or newcomer.

31:33 Adam. The first man, a real, historical person (Gen. 1–3; Hos. 6:7). Alludes to Adam’s trying to hide from God after the first sin (Gen. 3:8–9).

31:40 cockle. Bramble or briar. words of Job are ended. This speech (29:1—31:40) completed Job’s case for his righteousness, and his three friends ceased debating with him (32:1).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 31

1. In this climactic finish to his speech, Job forcefully declared his righteousness. Since God commended Job as a model of righteousness, we should carefully observe and follow his example. Job made a covenant with his eyes (v. 1). He was careful about his conduct (v. 5). He resisted sins within his heart (v. 9). He showed consideration toward those who were under his authority (v. 13). He had compassion for the poor (v. 16). He was careful not to put his hope in the riches of this world (v. 24). While not a complete picture of righteousness, this chapter is a beautiful example of the obedience produced by a living faith in the Lord. When you reach the end of your life, will you be able to say such things? How can you prepare now?
2. Job recognized the essential equality of men as God’s creations, as well as the implications of this reality for how to treat one another (v. 15). People under his authority and below his social rank still shared with him a common humanity. In this statement Job set forth the foundation for compassion and justice that ought to characterize every Christian. In what ways do people in your circles commonly treat others as less important or less valuable than themselves? How should you be different?

Elihu’s Speech for God (32:1—37:24)

Elihu’s Rebuke of Job (32:1—35:16)

Chapter 32: Elihu expresses his anger regarding the friends’ counsel and Job’s self-defense, claiming to have the answer.

32:2 Of all the characters in the book, Elihu is the most enigmatic. Some regard Elihu as God’s representative, as Elihu claimed himself to be (33:6). Others see him as a proud young man. Some Jewish traditions say that he was Balaam (Jerusalem Talmud) or that he had the spirit of Satan (Testament of Job). It is best to see Elihu in much the same way as we view Job’s other three friends—as speaking some truths but not always assessing Job accurately.

32:6 durst not shew. Feared to make known.

32:8 inspiration. Breath (27:3).

32:15 amazed. Hebrew, “to be terrified or dismayed.”

32:17 I will answer. Notwithstanding his somewhat arrogant claim, Elihu does not add much insight to the issue. He still associates Job's situation with his sin, perhaps focusing more on his present than his past sins.

32:18 matter. Words.

32:19 no vent. Has not been opened. burst like new bottles. See Luke 5:37.

32:21 accept any man's person. Hebrew, "to lift up the face of man," an idiom expressing favoritism.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 32

1. On the one hand, Elihu showed some humility, so he is a good example to all, and particularly to youth. Despite his desire to enter the conversation, he respected his elders and allowed them to speak until they were finished. This conforms to the principle of the fifth commandment to honor one's parents, including all others of higher rank. Failure to honor others contributes to the breakdown of society and introduces all manner of sin and misery. So young people should learn to respect their elders, even those who are not their parents.
2. On the other hand, Elihu demonstrated that youthful zeal can be quick to recognize problems without offering any real solutions. His claim to have the answer was idealistic and expressed with a degree of pride. Christ said, "Wisdom is justified of her children" (Matt. 11:19). In other words, wisdom is vindicated by what it produces. Before we start talking about our wisdom, we should invest time in practicing wisdom so that it bears good fruit in our lives (James 3:13–18).

Chapter 33: Elihu claims to speak in God's place, desiring to vindicate Job.

33:6 thy wish in God's stead. Literally, "your mouth for God." Elihu professed to be the mediator Job desired (9:32–35). Many false prophets have made the same claim (see 1 Kings 13:17; Jer. 28:1–2). On assessing Elihu, see note at 32:2.

33:9 I am clean without transgression. A misrepresentation, for Job never claimed to be without sin (13:23,26; 14:4,16). He claimed only that sin was not the cause of his calamity, for he had walked in integrity, and in this he was right (1:1—2:13).

33:13 he giveth not account. God's ways are indeed inexplicable, and no one has the right to judge Him (9:12; Isa. 45:9; Dan. 4:35; Rom. 9:20). God confirmed that these words are true (38:1—42:6).

33:15–16 A dream and vision were ways by which God revealed truth (4:13; Gen. 15:1; 20:3; 28:12; 31:10–11,24; 37:5,9; 40:5; 41:1; 46:2) before the coming of His Son completed divine revelation (Heb. 1:1–2).

33:19 God's discipline purifies and protects (so Eliphaz, 5:17, and Job, 23:10).

33:20 dainty meat. Tasty and pleasant food.

33:23–28 In this remarkable section, Elihu recognized the need for a gracious mediator to represent God to men and men to God, a role fulfilled only by Jesus Christ.

33:23 messenger. Word alternatively translated as "angel" (4:18); here one sent by God as a teacher of uprightness (Mal. 2:7; 3:1). interpreter. One who speaks for another, like a translator or ambassador (Gen. 42:23; 2 Chron. 32:31; Isa. 43:27). one among a thousand. A figure of speech similar to "one in a million"—one who is extraordinary, preeminent, or without equal.

33:24 ransom. Atonement, or price to satisfy justice so that the lawbreaker goes free (Ex. 21:30; 30:12; Prov. 6:35). This Mediator not only teaches the way of righteousness (v. 23) but also presents to God a ransom necessary to save the sinner from the pit or death (vv. 18,22 ["grave"],28,30).

33:25 flesh . . . a child's. This promise goes beyond healing Job's sores (2:7) to a miraculous restoration from the effects of aging (2 Kings 5:14). The forgiveness of sins, deliverance from death, and restoration to youth correspond to the complete salvation of body and soul (Ps. 103:3–5).

33:26 he will render unto man his righteousness. The Lord will reward each person according to his faithfulness (34:10–11; 1 Sam. 26:23; Prov. 12:14), not because his works merit blessing but because God will receive His Mediator's ransom (v. 24) and have mercy upon every person who will pray for grace and repent of sin (v. 27) in response to the Mediator's teaching (v. 23).

33:31 Mark well. Pay close attention. hold thy peace. Be silent (v. 33).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 33

1. God is absolutely independent and not accountable to any creature (v. 13). What He does, He does according to His pleasure (Ps. 115:3). We are not to presume to know why God acts as He does. The lesson is plain, therefore, that when the Christian does not understand God's dealings he must realize that God's thoughts and ways are beyond him, but also that God is righteous and always does the right thing (Gen. 18:25). It is the Christian's duty, therefore, to submit to God rather than expect God to submit to him. The cross of Christ is sufficient to demonstrate that every dealing of God with His people has a purpose of grace behind it (Rom. 8:32).
2. Elihu's statement points directly to the Lord Jesus Christ (vv. 23–28). Christ is the messenger of the covenant, the divine ambassador who spoke the final Word from God (Heb. 1:1–2). He is truly one of a kind, the only Mediator between God and man (1 Tim. 2:5). When He humbly laid down His life, He presented Himself to God as the ransom, as the substitute for many sinners (Mark 10:45). His death redeems His people from the hellish curse of God's law and wrath (Rom. 3:19–26; Gal. 3:13), and His resurrection will restore them to immortality (1 Cor. 15:20–23,53). Whenever the Holy Spirit works prayerful faith and sorrowful repentance for sin, the saving power of Christ has taken hold of a lost soul. Has He taken hold of you? How do you know?

Chapter 34: Elihu defends God's justice and blames Job for his unwise remarks.

34:3 as the mouth tasteth meat. Spiritual discernment is like the physical sense of taste by which one distinguishes good from bad (6:30; Pss. 34:8; 119:103).

34:5 Job hath said. Throughout this discourse Elihu singled out some of Job's extreme statements that were wrong and rebuked him accordingly. He failed to recognize that extreme suffering can lead righteous men to make imbalanced statements, and that Job also confessed faith in the Lord.

34:10 far be it from God, that he should do wickedness; and from the Almighty, that he should commit iniquity. God cannot sin or commit injustice (8:3; 23:6; 36:23; Gen. 18:25; Deut. 32:4; 1 John 1:5).

34:14–15 Mankind's very life is evidence of God's common grace; otherwise none could survive (12:10; 27:3).

34:23 he will not lay upon man more. God never gives a greater trial than man can endure, if man will depend upon the power of God's grace (1 Cor. 10:13; 2 Cor. 12:9).

34:24 in their stead. In their place, instead of them.

34:30 hypocrite. A godless or profane person.

34:31 meet. Fitting. Literally the first part of this verse reads, "Indeed to God it is said."

34:36 My desire. In Hebrew, this word is either an interjection ("O that") or the word for "my father." The KJV takes it as the interjection; literally, "O that Job were tested until the end." Alternatively, some take it as a prayer: “My Father, let Job be tested until the end.” Either way, Elihu believed that Job had not yet learned his lesson and that the trial should continue.

34:37 clappeth his hands among us. A gesture of disgust, expressing frustration with all of the counsel given.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 34

God will never do wrong (v. 10). Elihu, as every character in the book, knew some good theology. It is an absolute truth that “the righteous LORD loveth righteousness” (Ps. 11:7). This statement provides a basic and necessary principle for the Christian when it comes to interpreting the difficulties of life. Whatever the Christian understands or does not understand about God’s dealings with him, and whether he agrees or disagrees with those dealings, he can mark this as being absolutely certain: God is righteous in all his dealings and does not commit iniquity. God is so pure and unchanging that He cannot even be tempted to sin (James 1:13,17). How might a person be tempted to accuse God of doing wrong? How might you counsel him?

Chapter 35: Elihu rebukes Job for thinking himself to be righteous and then calls on him to continue to trust God.

35:2 My righteousness is more than God’s. An exaggeration and misrepresentation, for though Job often wondered why he was suffering without apparent cause, he never elevated himself above God. Job’s dilemma was similar to that of Jeremiah (Jer. 12:1).

35:5–9 God is so far above man that he cannot be benefitted by man’s righteousness or harmed by man’s sin (22:2–3; 41:11). Indeed, God is absolutely independent of anything outside Himself.

35:10 who giveth songs in the night. Communion with God and hope in His salvation lead believers to rejoice and sing His praise (Pss. 42:8; 77:6; 149:5).

35:11 teacheth us more than the beasts. The Creator (“maker,” v. 10) gave mankind a unique place among all of His creations (Gen. 1:26–31; Ps. 8:4–8).

35:13 vanity. Emptiness of speech, that which is uttered without purpose. regard. The Hebrew has the idea of looking at something from a bent position. God will not bend or stoop down to listen to meaningless prayers.

35:14 judgment. Justice.

35:15 it is not so. He accused Job of not trusting. he hath visited in his anger. God has paid attention and brought the matter to bear upon Job. he knoweth it not. Referring to Job. extremity. Arrogance or stupidity. Like those before him, Elihu claimed that Job was suffering because of his sin.

35:16 Therefore doth Job open his mouth in vain. Literally, “to no purpose Job moves his mouth with lips.” Elihu accused Job of speaking in a way God would not hear (v. 13).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 35

The independence of God is an important truth with practical implications. God is not reactionary, constantly plotting His next move on the basis of the creature’s actions. The sinful behavior of men does not diminish or detract from His righteousness, nor does the righteous behavior of men add anything to Him (vv. 6–7). On the other hand, God is our strength and song for He has created mankind, exalting us above the animals (vv. 10–11). All men are accountable to God, but God is accountable to no one. God owes no man anything. That He is righteous means that He is always in conformity with who He is. For Job or Jeremiah (Jer. 12), Asaph (Ps. 73), or us to think we deserve better because we seek to serve the Lord betrays an improper motive. We serve Him for who He is. Therefore, Elihu's admonition to trust Him regardless of what we see is good counsel (v. 14). How does a view of God's glory and independence help us to trust Him?

Elihu's Proclamation of God (36:1—37:24)

Chapter 36: Elihu continues to show that God's ways should not be despised even if they are not understood.

36:2 Suffer me a little. Literally, "be patient with me a short time." shew thee. Inform you or make you to know. have yet to speak on God's behalf. Literally, there are "still words for or of God."

36:3 fetch my knowledge from afar. Literally, "Lift up my knowledge from a great distance," presumably claiming God to be the source.

36:4 he that is perfect in knowledge is with thee. Elihu refers to himself and his complete (perfect) knowledge that he will reveal to Job. His claims are bold and a bit arrogant.

36:6 the poor. Those who are in a needy or desperate condition, not necessarily referring to those in poverty.

36:8 fetters. Bonds or shackles. holden in cords of affliction. Captured with ropes of affliction.

36:11–12 if they obey . . . prosperity . . . if they obey not . . . perish. Elihu believed the same simplistic, cause-effect prosperity theology as Job's friends.

36:13 hypocrites. Godless and profane persons.

36:14 unclean. The term elsewhere refers to cultic male prostitutes, homosexual "sodomites" (Deut. 23:17; 1 Kings 14:24; 15:12; 22:46; 2 Kings 23:7).

36:16 strait. Narrow place. straitness. Place without constraints. full of fatness. Refers to luxurious or succulent fare.

36:17 hast fulfilled the judgment of the wicked. Literally, "are full of the condemnation of the wicked."

36:18 Because . . . stroke. Or "Indeed, lest wrath entice you with mockery."

36:23 enjoined. Commissioned or appointed. hast wrought. Has done.

36:26 God is great, and we know him not. God is incomprehensible, beyond man's limited understanding (11:7–9; 26:14). his years be searched out. God is eternal, having no beginning or end (Pss. 90:2; 93:2).

36:27–33 he maketh small the drops of water . . . commandeth it. The Lord controls the weather by His ordinary providence (37:1–24; Ps. 147:8,15–18).

36:28 distil. To drip or trickle.

36:29 tabernacle. Tent or dwelling place.

36:31 meat. Any kind of food.

36:33 the vapour. Literally, "that which goes up," perhaps referring to the approaching storm (38:1).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 36

1. Verse 26 declares an essential truth about God that magnifies both His infinite being and His amazing grace. God is incomprehensible because He is infinite in all His perfections, whereas we are finite. There is no limit to God's greatness, but there is serious limitation to our ability to understand. Our knowledge of anything can go only so far. Although we can never understand all that is true about God, He has chosen to reveal Himself to us in ways that allow us to understand some things. The very fact that God reveals Himself magnifies His grace. To know God as He has revealed Himself is to fear Him.

2. The most significant way in which God has revealed Himself is in the incarnation of the second person of the Trinity (John 1:1,14,18). Jesus Christ is the express image or manifestation of God, and the glory of God is found in the face of Jesus. Hence, Christ says that seeing Him is seeing the Father. Wesley's hymn of the incarnation, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," has a line that says it well: "Veiled in flesh the Godhead see—Hail the incarnate Deity." So as we contemplate how infinitely great God is, let us stand in wonder and awe at His marvelous grace by which He makes Himself known to us.

Chapter 37: Elihu focuses on God's control over nature to demonstrate His power and man's weakness.

37:1 is moved out of his place. His heart "leaps from its place."

37:2 noise of his voice. Thunder (Ps. 29).

37:4 excellency. Majesty. stay. Hamper, hinder, or hold back.

37:5 marvellously. Wondrously, in extraordinary ways.

37:10 straitened. Narrow, restrained. God sets the borders of the seas.

37:11 by watering he wearieth the thick cloud. Literally, "with a water supply he loads a cloud."

37:12 by his counsels . . . do whatsoever he commandeth. The winds of storms and spinning tornadoes obey the wise decree of God (Pss. 107:25; 148:8; Jonah 1:4; Matt. 8:27).

37:18 molten looking glass. A mirror formed out of melted bronze.

37:22 Fair weather. Hebrew, "gold," like sunshine on the clouds. with God is terrible majesty. God's glory inspires fear and awe (v. 24), as does a great king (Pss. 47:2; 99:1–4).

37:23 the Almighty. Hebrew, Shaddai, a title of God used thirty-one times in Job out of forty-eight occurrences in the Old Testament. It is associated with God's revelations to the patriarchs (Gen. 17:1 [see note there]; 28:3; 35:11; 43:14; 48:3; 49:25; Ex. 6:3). The word is of uncertain derivation, being interpreted in the Greek Septuagint translation as "all-powerful" and in the Talmud as "sufficient." Here it is linked to God's infinitely great power and righteousness. we cannot find him out. His greatness is beyond our understanding (36:26). in judgment, and in plenty of justice: he will not afflict. Could be translated, "He will not humiliate justice and abundant righteousness"; that is, not compromise them in the least, but exalt them.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 37

Elihu's focus on God's sovereignty over the affairs of nature, and especially the weather, links directly to what we should acknowledge regarding His sovereignty over the affairs of our lives. Few things are less predictable than the weather, and certainly nothing is less controllable, even when forecasts prove to be accurate. Nothing can stop the wind from blowing or the rain and snow from falling. But this all happens according to the will of God. We should learn from looking at the weather that God is in control of all His creation, including all of the circumstances of our lives. It should encourage and comfort us to know that God has a purpose for everything (v. 13) and that nothing happens apart from His providence. What can we learn about God by looking at the weather?

The Lord's Interrogation of Job (38:1—41:34)

The Lord's Questions about Creation (38:1—39:30)

Chapter 38: God draws Job's attention away from himself by pointing to His greatness over the natural world.

38:1 out of the whirlwind. The Lord appeared to Job in the glory of a thunderstorm (ch. 37).

38:3 Gird up now thy loins. An idiom meaning "get ready."

38:4 In His first speech God taught Job that He is the Lord over nature: He is the Creator (vv. 4–15); the Ruler over inanimate nature (vv. 16–38); and the Ruler over animate nature (38:39—39:30). God was teaching Job that man is not the center of things and that all creation is for God's enjoyment and glory.

38:7 morning stars . . . sons of God. Angels (1:6; 2:1), whom God created to be joyful, worshiping witnesses to the work of creation (Ps. 148:1–6)—and redemption (Ps. 103:20; Luke 2:13; Eph. 3:9–10; 1 Peter 1:12; Rev. 5:11–12).

38:8 sea . . . when it brake forth. Either an allusion to the great flood (Gen. 7:11; 8:2) or to boundaries of the seas, as dictated by creation and providence (Gen. 1:9; Jer. 5:22).

38:11 stayed. Stopped or held back.

38:12 dayspring. Dawn.

38:20 the bound. Its borders or boundary.

38:22 treasures. Storehouses.

38:24 By what way is light parted? How is the light diffused when it displaces the darkness? which scattereth the east wind. Who scatters the east wind (the word "which" is not in the Hebrew).

38:31 sweet influences. Delicacies, pleasures. The constellation Pleiades (9:9) appeared in the springtime, a season of delights, but Orion in the winter as a precursor to the storms of that season.

38:32 Mazzaroth. The word occurs only here and seems to refer to a constellation of stars.

38:37 who can stay the bottles of heaven. Who can tip the jars of heaven, a picturesque way of asking who can make it rain.

38:40 covert. Shelter or hiding place, the den.

38:41 meat. Food of any kind.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 38

1. The fact that the Lord answered Job "out of the whirlwind" (v. 1) indicates that this manifestation of God was a fearful event not altogether different from the Lord's appearance on Mt. Sinai, where there were thunder and lighting, an exceedingly loud trumpet, and a quaking mountain (Ex. 19:16–19). And yet this appearance of God to Job was also a gracious event, as it was when God revealed Himself to Ezekiel, assuring him of the divine presence (Ezek. 1:4). We should not be surprised that when God visits His people in grace He still inspires fear (Gen. 28:15–17; Luke 5:8). Even in mercy, He remains God.
2. The Lord "answered" Job (v. 1). In speaking to Job, God never addressed the problem of suffering, though He gave him the answer he needed. Job and the other men had been trying to answer the question Why? But this was the wrong question, which accounts for all their wrong answers. The right question was not Why? but Who? Once Job understood who he was (v. 2; 42:3) and who God is (vv. 5–6; etc.), all was well. The ultimate answer to all our questions about evil and suffering is not information but a person: the Lord Himself. The heart cry of believers is always to see the glory of their God and Savior; one day that cry will be answered forever (John 17:24; Titus 2:13).

Chapter 39: God continues to redirect Job from his suffering to the reality of God's control over lesser creatures.

39:1 wild goats. Perhaps the ibex. the hinds do calve. The does of a fallow deer give birth.

39:2 the months that they fulfil. The gestation period.

39:3 their sorrows. The Hebrew refers to the animal fetus.

39:4 in good liking. Healthy.

39:9 unicorn. Wild ox, not the mythological one-horned horse.

39:10 harrow. Plough.

39:11 trust. Put confidence in.

39:13 peacocks. Most likely the ostrich, per the behavior described in the following verses.

39:17 God hath deprived her . . . neither hath he imparted. All strength and skill (wisdom), or the lack thereof, in the animal world are determined by God.

39:20 glory of his nostrils. Power of his snorting.

39:22 affrighted. Frightened.

39:30 where the slain are, there is she. Used as a proverb to express something that is just as certain as finding birds of prey near carrion (Matt. 24:28; Luke 17:37).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 39

Since ancient times people have studied the animal world and been fascinated by its biology and behaviors. From the wild donkey to the ostrich to the thundering horse to the soaring eagle, the beauty and mystery of these creatures captures man's imagination. By challenging Job with this series of questions, God drove into his mind the recognition that mankind does not fully understand and cannot completely control the birds and beasts. This remains true even thousands of years after Job. God, however, created them all, and He determines the strengths and weaknesses of each. Our awe and wonder at the natural world should remind us that if we cannot master God's creatures, how much less can we judge God? What are some of your favorite animals? How do they remind you of the glory of God?

The Lord's Challenge regarding the Great Beasts (40:1—41:34)

Chapter 40: Job becomes silent before God, who directs Job's attention to His control over the moral realm.

40:1 Moreover, the LORD ANSWERED JOB. In His second speech God, after challenging Job (41:1–7), shows that He is also the Lord over history and the moral order (40:8–14). The Lord illustrates this by referring to behemoth (vv. 15–24) and leviathan (41:1–34), real creatures that symbolically refer to the forces of evil, even Satan himself, that are subject to God. In this way the end of God's discourse echoes the opening narratives, where it is clear that Satan was allowed to do nothing apart from God's control.

40:2 contendeth with the Almighty. Takes the all-powerful God to court to dispute with Him. This, the final use of this divine title in Job (see note at 37:23), highlights the utter foolishness of trying to judge Him who has infinite strength and righteousness.

40:4 vile. Small and insignificant. hand upon my mouth. A gesture expressing humiliation and speechlessness (21:5; 29:9; Judg. 18:19).

40:7 Gird up thy loins. See note at 38:3.

40:8 disannul. Cast off or make void. Though Job feared the Lord, in his suffering he sinned insofar as he questioned God's righteousness in order to establish his own against his friends' accusations.

40:10 Deck thyself . . . array thyself. Put on beautiful clothing, here with the image of a king putting on royal robes. God invited Job to sit in His seat of judgment to deal with the wicked and proud (vv. 11–12).

40:11 Cast abroad the rage of thy wrath. Disperse the outbursts of your anger. abase. Humiliate or bring low.

40:14 Job did not have the ability to judge the world or even to save himself. God is in an entirely different category from man. Therefore, what right did Job have to judge God or question His righteousness?

40:15 behemoth. Large beast (12:7; 18:3; 35:11); interpretations include everything from a dinosaur to an elephant to a hippopotamus. which I made. Whatever massive animal is in view, the Lord created it and is its master.

40:16 navel. Muscles.

40:17 like a cedar. The point of similarity may not be its size but its swaying movement. stones. Thighs.

40:19 ways of God. His works. he that made him can make his sword to approach. A challenge to anyone who claims to have made this animal to attack and kill it.

40:21 covert. Cover or shelter. fens. Swamps or marshes.

40:22 compass. Surround.

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 40

> At the conclusion of God's first speech, Job had learned his lesson. Throughout the book Job had desired to be in God's presence to have the opportunity to question Him regarding his troubles. Now that he is in God's presence and given the opportunity to speak, he has nothing to say. Being overwhelmed with the greatness of God has caused him to stop thinking about himself. He has learned that God controls everything in the universe, including himself. That is the key lesson. The more we can be overwhelmed with God, the less we will be consumed with ourselves. Seeing God's greatness fosters faith in Him, regardless of circumstances. When we are tempted to judge God, we should consider how unqualified we are to sit upon His throne and rule the world for Him.

Chapter 41: God continues to show His control with a description of leviathan.

41:1 leviathan. Large sea creature (Ps. 104:26); interpretations include a whale, some kind of sea monster, a very large crocodile, and a symbol of the power of evil (Isa. 27:1; cf. Ps. 74:13–14; Isa.

51:9–10); that is, the ancient serpent, Satan (1:1—2:13; Gen. 3; Rev. 12:3,9).

41:4–5 This creature cannot be domesticated to serve a purpose for man.

41:6 Shall the companions make a banquet of him? Referring to traders making deals or bartering for him. part. Divide.

41:10–11 stand before me. If leviathan terrifies men, can they expect to conquer the God who created the beast, indeed the Creator of all things under the whole heaven (Pss. 24:1; 50:12)? prevented. Went before (Pss. 68:25; 89:14). The Hebrew is difficult, but the idea is that no one gives anything to God or puts Him under obligation, for all things are from Him and belong to Him (Rom. 11:35–36).

41:17 sundered. Separated.

41:18 neesings. Sneezing.

41:19 burning lamps. Flames or flashes of light.

41:20 seething. Boiling.

41:23 flakes. Folds or hanging parts of his flesh.

41:24 nether. Lower.

41:25 purify themselves. Or withdraw.

41:26 layeth at. Reaches at. habergeon. Javelin.

41:32 path. The creature's wake as it moves through the water. hoary. Gray-haired.

41:34 king. Supreme among others. children. Literally, "sons." The same Hebrew phrase is used of powerful animals earlier in Job (translated "lion's whelps," 28:8). Though using a different word, the concept of pride appears just before the sections on behemoth and leviathan, namely in God's challenge to Job to prove his greatness by subduing the "proud" (40:11–13).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 41

1. After God had taught lessons to Job through various animals (38:1—39:30), He focused on two enormous creatures, behemoth and leviathan (40:1—41:34). These beasts terrify men, but God made them and controls them. In this way they illustrate the point God had made just before speaking of them, namely, that we do not have the right to judge God because man completely lacks the qualifications to rule the universe (40:8–14). If Job could not master the king of the proud beasts (v. 34), how much less could he sit on God's throne to judge proud and wicked men (40:12)? Therefore, what right did he have to judge Him who does sit on that throne?
2. Through these real (though difficult to identify) creatures, God also illustrated a great spiritual reality. Leviathan is used in Scripture as a symbol of the powers of evil, specifically the Devil. Like leviathan, this monstrous evil spirit terrifies men but is under God's control. This takes us back to the first two chapters of the book, where Satan attacked Job with terrific power but acted only at the sovereign initiative and will of God. Just as Job's inability to master leviathan called him to humbly submit to the Creator, so also Job's inability to master evil and suffering called him to humbly entrust himself to the Lord, who reigns over Satan.

Chapter 42: God vindicates Job, rebukes his friends, and restores his fortunes.

JOB'S CONFESSION (42:1–6)

42:2 thou canst do every thing. God is omnipotent, doing all that He wills (Gen. 18:14). no thought can be withholden from thee. No purpose or plan is beyond God's reach (Ps. 33:10–11).

42:3 wonderful. Difficult or extraordinary; beyond comprehension.

42:4 demand of thee. Literally, "ask you."

42:6 abhor myself, and repent. When we, by grace, see God by faith, we cannot but know self-abhorrence and repentance experientially.

GOD'S RESTORATION OF JOB (42:7–17)

42:7 not spoken of me . . . right. Misapplication of God's Word is as wrong as misinterpretation. The friends' discourses often expressed sound doctrine, but they used it wrongly against Job and thus misrepresented the Lord. my servant Job. A title both of submission and of honor, also given to Abraham, Moses, and David (Gen. 26:24; Josh. 1:2; 2 Sam. 7:5). With these words God reaffirmed that Job was a righteous, God-fearing man (1:8; 2:3).

42:8 folly. Spiritual stupidity. burnt offering . . . Job shall pray for you. Job acted somewhat like a priest for these men, pleading grace from God for them through sacrifice and intercession, as he had done for his family (1:5). Amazingly, Job performed this ministry for the very people who had falsely accused him of sin. In these respects, Job was a type of Christ.

42:10 turned the captivity. An idiom meaning to restore fortunes (Ps. 126:1).

42:11 bemoaned. Showed sympathy or consoled. evil. Trouble or calamity.

42:12–13 The numbers of livestock are double those recorded in ch. 1, but the number of Job's children is the same. From an eternal perspective Job indeed received double the number of children, his previous children having entered eternity.

42:16 an hundred and forty years. An age typical of the patriarchal era, the likely historical context for Job's life (Gen. 11:1–32; 25:7,17; 35:28; 47:28; see Introduction: Date).

Thoughts for Personal/Family Worship: Chapter 42

1. Having heard the Lord, Job had nothing to say except to confess and submit (vv. 1–6). He made this confession while still in the throes of suffering and loss; the Lord had not even hinted that restoration and vindication were coming. What had bothered him for so long was no longer a concern once he saw the Lord. As far as the Bible informs us, Job never learned the reason for his sufferings, and that was fine once he became overwhelmed with God and His greatness. He affirmed God's sovereignty throughout the book, but at the end he gained an experiential knowledge of the glory of God. Like Job, God's people are called to humbly confess God's sovereignty in the midst of the furnace of suffering, while they wait for Christ to appear in glory and restore them to honor and happiness. In light of the book of Job, consider these questions: Do you have a big enough view of God's glory to accept the mystery of suffering without an explanation? Has your knowledge of God entered into the experience of your heart to make you humble and submissive to His ways? What does the way you presently respond to suffering say about your relationship with God?
2. When God vindicates His people, He often restores to them more than they lost when in the thick of their trials. He does "exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think" (Eph. 3:20). This will be exponentially true on Judgment Day. Does this thought make you long for Christ's second coming?

Satan

Satan's existence is attested in nine Old Testament books and by every New Testament writer. In the Old Testament the word Satan, meaning "adversary or accuser," occurs nineteen times. The word appears to be employed both as a title (the Accuser; Zech. 3:1–2) and as a personal name (Satan; 1 Chron. 21:1; Ps. 109:6). Many of the usages occur in Job 1 and 2.

In the New Testament Satan is denominated most often as the devil (diabolos; occurring sixty times, forty times in the Gospels alone). This is a term that means "traducer or slanderer." The word Satan itself occurs thirty-four times, half in the Gospels and Acts and half in the epistles and Revelation. Additionally, there are other New Testament names and titles for Satan: the accuser (Rev. 12:10), the adversary (1 Peter 5:8), Apollyon (Rev. 9:11), Beelzebub (Matt. 12:24), Belial (2 Cor. 6:15), the dragon (Rev. 12:7), the god of this world (2 Cor. 4:4), the prince of the air (Eph. 2:2), the prince of this world (John 12:31), the serpent (Rev. 20:2), the tempter (Matt. 4:3), and a roaring lion (1 Peter 5:8).

Satan is not an impersonal force but the chief fallen angel who rebelled against God (Isa. 14:12–15). He has all the traits of personality, such as intellect (2 Cor. 11:3), emotion (Rev. 12:17), and will (2 Tim. 2:26). Furthermore, personal pronouns are ascribed to him (Matt. 4:1–12).

From his very first success in tempting Adam and Eve to sin, Satan is seen as warring against mankind in general and believers in particular. In opposition to all the world, Satan blinds, deceives, and rules over men in wickedness (2 Cor. 4:3–4; Eph. 2:2; Col. 1:13; Rev. 20:7–8). In hostility to all believers, Satan roams "as a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour" (1 Peter 5:8). Satan incited David to sin (1 Chron. 21:1), accused Job and Joshua the high priest (Job 1–2; Zech. 3:1), corrupted Peter's thinking (Matt. 16:23), and inflicted a thorn in Paul's side (2 Cor. 12:7). Satan seeks to accuse all believers before God and opposes them with all his might (Rev. 12:10). He is aptly described as wily (Eph. 6:11), necessitating that the believer don armor for both offense and defense against him (Eph. 6).

Satan can be seen as executing four strategies against the believer. First, Satan leads the believer off the path, enticing him with sinful fruit tailored to his taste. Satan knows the individual believer's weaknesses and quickly capitalizes on them. Each believer must be wary of his areas of weakness and make fortifications against Satan in those places.

Second, Satan places mountainous obstacles along the way of spiritual discipline, making headway tedious and demanding. He confronts the believer with apparent impasses, many of which are common, such as busyness, loneliness, and weariness. With these and numerous others strategies, Satan attempts to discourage and overcome the believer. The believer must flee to the Lord as his strength and rock (Pss. 18:2; 28:7), employ the means of grace, and fellowship regularly with other Christians.

Third, Satan lays pitfalls for the believer by deceiving him about God and His truth. From the beginning (Gen. 3:4–5) Satan has corrupted the truth in immeasurable ways. The believer must bathe in the truth of the Word. He must ensure that scriptural truth is being set before his eyes, is ringing in his ears, and is dwelling within his heart and mind (Deut. 6:7–9; Josh. 1:8; Ps. 119:11).

Fourth, Satan continually opposes each step of sanctification. Because the believer's progress is the Devil's regress, Satan relentlessly impedes obedience. Christ is the remedy. When Satan throws snares to topple him, the believer must beseech Christ, who is his first love (Rev. 2:4–5). When Satan builds walls to bar him, the believer must look to Christ, who breaks blockades (Mic. 2:13). When Satan forges chains to bind him, the believer must implore Christ, who liberates captives (Luke 4:18).

Comfort is to be had, however, for Satan has already been defeated by the death and resurrection of Christ (Gen. 3:15; Rev. 20). His destruction is sure in the end. Until then the believer must recognize that his "sufficiency is of God" to triumph against Satan (2 Cor. 3:5).

God's Wisdom

The wisdom of God is one of His infinite, eternal, and unchangeable attributes (Westminster Shorter Catechism, Q. 4). God's wisdom is not only one of His divine perfections, but it designates the very Person of God, specifically the Second Person of the Trinity.

Essential to understanding the significance of wisdom, both as a divine perfection and as a Person, is understanding the meaning of the word wisdom, which simply refers to skill or ability. The sphere of application of that skill or ability is defined by the context in which the word occurs. In Old Testament times whatever someone was good at was considered his wisdom.

Wisdom, as a divine perfection, highlights God's infinite ability to do whatever is appropriate for God to do. It is related to His infinite knowledge, His omniscience, in that He knows all things. It is also related to His infinite power, His omnipotence, in that He can do all things. In His infinite wisdom God uses the best possible means to achieve the best possible ends. His comprehensive knowledge of everything is coupled with His ability to execute His purposes. He is all-wise; therefore, God is infinitely good in everything He does.

The operations of God's wisdom occur principally in His works of creation and providence. Creation is a uniquely divine activity, giving evidence of God's infinite power to bring His purpose and plan into fruition: "The Lord by wisdom hath founded the earth" (Prov. 3:19). With infinite skill and ability He spoke the world into existence. Providence is the ongoing work of God's infinite wisdom whereby He preserves and governs His creation to the end that He has purposed for His own glory. This wise providence extends to the natural order, as He sets the course for the oceans, wind, weather, and animal migrations (Job 28:26; 37:1–24; 38:10–11; 39:26; Eccl. 1:6–7). It also includes the moral order, extending to every way and motive of man (Prov. 15:11; 16:2). The Lord's challenge to Job to sit upon the throne and govern testifies to His absolute control (Job 40:8–14). The workings of providence are often mysterious: "Whence then cometh wisdom . . . it is hid from the eyes of all living" (Job 28:20–21). But even when the circumstances of life seem to be out of control, we can rest assured that God, according to His wisdom, is working all things together for good (Rom. 8:28). He knows what He is doing, and He is doing it in the best possible way to accomplish the best possible end. Trust His wisdom.

Wisdom, as a divine Person, is a title of Christ. Chapters 1, 8, and 9 of Proverbs employ the word Wisdom to refer to the person of the Messiah, not just to personify a divine perfection. That Proverbs calls the Messiah "Wisdom" is not much different from Isaiah's calling God "the Holy One of Israel." Both titles use one of the Lord's perfections to designate Him. The New Testament sanctions the messianic interpretation. Consider these New Testament texts that identify Christ as Wisdom: Matthew 11:19,25–30; 23:34; Luke 11:49; 1 Corinthians 1:24,30; and Colossians 2:3.

Proverbs 8 is perhaps the most detailed description of Wisdom; it sets forth three strands of evidence that point to the messianic identification. First, Wisdom is God. Wisdom is distinct from God, speaking of God in the third person (vv. 27–30), yet He makes statements demanding deity. This reflects the trinitarian relationship between Father and Son. For instance, there are at least ten statements suggesting that Wisdom was present prior to creation (vv. 22–30) and involved in the creative work (v. 30, see explanation in Proverbs notes). Compare this with John 1:1,3; the only difference is that John calls Christ "the Word" and Solomon calls Him "Wisdom." Second, Wisdom is the Messiah. He does what elsewhere in Scripture the Messiah does. This is particularly true in Proverbs 8:1–21. As Prophet He speaks God's Word (vv. 6–8). As King He exercises absolute rule over lesser sovereigns (v. 16). What Isaiah says about the Messiah in his prophecy (Isa. 11:2) parallels what Solomon says in Proverbs 8:12– 14. Third, Wisdom is the object of saving faith (v. 17; cf. John 6:37). Saving faith always and only has Christ as its object.

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOK OF

THE PSALMS

Authorship

Hebrew sacred song really began with Israel's birth as a nation, and it then continued for more than one thousand years. The earliest recorded composer of psalms was Moses. His first was a solemn choral song, with musical accompaniment, sung after the crossing of the Red Sea (Ex. 15:1,20–21). He followed this up with other songs, most of which were made for particular occasions (Num. 21:17; Deut. 31:22,30; 32; Ps. 90 [see title]). In the time of the Judges, Deborah and Hannah received the prophetic gift for composing such sacred songs (Judg. 5; 1 Sam. 2). Later, it seems, the art of sacred song was cultivated among the sons of the prophets in those prophetic societies apparently founded by Samuel (1 Sam. 10:5). A society was established at Ramah, where David may have received his first impulse to compose psalms (1 Sam. 19:18,20).

David, whom the Spirit of God eminently qualified for the purpose, brought Israel's psalmody to its highest degree of perfection. He was "the sweet psalmist of Israel," who said, "the Spirit of the LORD spake by me, and his word was in my tongue" (2 Sam. 23:1–2). After arranging psalms for bringing up the ark (1 Chron. 15:16), he appointed psalm singing, with its typical musical accompaniment, for solemn worship (1 Chron. 6:31; 16:4–8). This was evidently under divine direction (2 Chron. 29:25).

Altogether seventy-three of the psalms are ascribed to David (Pss. 3–41; 10; 33; 51–65; 68–70; 86; 101; 103; 108–110; 122; 124; 131; 133; 138–145), but it is clear that he was the author of others (e.g., Ps. 2, cf. Acts 4:25; Ps. 95, cf. Heb. 4:7). Moses composed at least one psalm (Ps. 90); Asaph, the director and seer, composed twelve (Pss. 50; 73–83; cf. 1 Chron. 6:39; 2 Chron. 29:30); Heman, one (Ps. 88; cf. 1 Chron. 15:16–17); Ethan, one (Ps. 89; cf. 1 Chron. 15:17); the sons of Korah, ten, perhaps eleven (Pss. 42; [43]; 44–49; 84–85; 87–88[?]; cf. 1 Chron. 9:19); and Solomon, two (Pss. 72; 127; [128]). It is evident that some of the later prophets also composed lyrical pieces (e.g., Isa. 12; Jonah 2; Hab. 3) and some of their productions may have been included in the book of Psalms, albeit anonymously.

Date

Since the book contains psalms by a number of inspired authors, a single date cannot be given for the whole collection. In its chronological range, the book commences with the time of Moses, when the children of Israel experienced judicial calamity in the wilderness (Ps. 90; cf. the title with Num. 21:7); and it possibly concludes with the time of Nehemiah, when the outcasts gathered, Jerusalem was rebuilt, and the bars of its gates strengthened (Ps. 147:2,13; cf. Neh. 3:4 where the same word "strengthened" is translated "repaired"). If this is indeed so, the period in which the book of Psalms was written must have been approximately from 1445 BC (the probable date of the exodus) to 444 BC (when the work on Jerusalem's walls was completed), a period of one thousand years.

Theme

The engagement of the whole soul of man in the worship of God.

Purpose

To direct God’s people in their praises and prayers to the Lord.

Synopsis

The Contribution of the Psalms to Redemptive Revelation

The Scriptures call this book "the book of Psalms" (Luke 20:42; Acts 1:20). Its Hebrew name is both simple and significant: "Praises" (tehillim), or more fully, "Book of Praises" (sepher tehillim), which expresses its great and leading characteristic—the praising of Jehovah, the one, living, and true God. "Praise" in the Bible relates to the adoring of the divine excellence (Ps. 63:3). Other words generally relate, not to what God is, but to what He does and to what He gives.

There are, in fact, three names for the various praises in this book: first of all, "psalms," a general term for "praise with musical instruments," from the Greek word, "to strike the lyre" (psallein); and "hymns," praises devoted to Almighty God (e.g., Pss. 18; 145); and "spiritual songs," inspired poems containing doctrine, history, or prophecy (e.g., Pss. 45; 78; 102; see Eph. 5:19; Col. 3:16).

The Psalms are divinely inspired patterns for both personal and corporate worship. The book of Psalms itself was intended to be Israel's hymnbook, as is clear from its name, "The Book of Praises," the various titles (e.g., "To the Chief Musician" [the Precentor or Master of Song] which occurs fifty-five times), and from various hints within the Psalms themselves (e.g., Ps. 105:2, "Sing unto him, sing psalms unto him"; Ps. 116:19, "In the courts of the LORD's house, in the midst of thee, O Jerusalem. Praise ye the LORD"). There is also historical evidence to show that the Psalms were used for public worship (1 Chron. 16:7; 2 Chron. 29:30; cf. Neh. 12:24).

The Psalms were also intended for teaching. "Maschil" occurs thirteen times and is derived from the verb "to instruct." The title of Ps. 60 reads, "Michtam of David, to teach." By psalms, the divine Word was a means of instructing children (Ps. 78:3–6). They are also a means of meditation: "Higgaion" or "meditation" (Ps. 9:16; cf. 19:14).

The use of the Psalms in worship continued in New Testament times (1 Cor. 14:15,26; Eph. 5:19; Col. 3:16). The "hymn" sung by Christ and His apostles (Matt. 26:30) would have been, as always at the close of the Passover, the second part of the Hallel (Pss. 115–118). The Psalms were sometimes called "hymns" (Matt. 26:30) and sometimes "songs" (titles of Pss. 45–46; 67–68; 75; etc.; James 5:13).

The Psalms are of great value to the church, for they teach:

1. A sum and summary of the whole Bible. The book of Psalms is a Bible within a Bible. Athanasius called it an "epitome of the Bible," while Luther called it "a little Bible, wherein everything contained in the entire Bible is beautifully and briefly comprehended and compacted." It holds the middle place of Scripture, as the very heart of God's written revelation.
2. Praises of divine perfections. This book unveils God, in all His perfect and most excellent glories, and it provides an inspired response of praise: "The LORD is great and greatly to be praised" (96:4). It shows us God, as only God can reveal Himself, and it teaches us how to fear and adore His glorious Being.
3. Insights into our human condition. This book shows us ourselves, as we really are. John Calvin called it "an anatomy of all parts of the soul, for no one will discover in himself a single feeling, whereof the image is not reflected in this mirror." The Psalms express our inmost feelings: loneliness (102:7); oppression (129:1); abandonment (68:5); uncertainty (77:7); and depression (42:5).
4. An approach to God. The Psalms teach penitence and prayer. They provide us with a most excellent pattern showing precisely how these things are experienced and expressed; and they inflame our hearts to greater sorrow for sin and desire for God. They sympathize with the souls of believers in all their feelings, agonies and ecstasies. Sometimes prayers pour forth (86:1–6; cf.

119:94) and sometimes praises (Ps. 148). The great value of the book is that it conducts us into the presence of the King and brings us before the throne of His glory (26:6; 43:3–5).

5. The nature of spiritual communion. The Psalms describe the almost indescribable experience of communion with God (63:3–4). It has been said: "The Psalter is the music of the soul's friendship with God," but more excellent still, perhaps, is the language of another when he describes the Psalter as "the whole music of the human heart, swept by the hand of its Maker."
6. A means to stir vital godliness. The Psalter stirs in believers a strong affection for God's holy law and a profound recognition of its higher and more deeply spiritual requirements (19:7–9; 119). The law is of great use to believers to show us what Christ has done (Gal. 4:4–5), what service and gratitude we owe (2 Cor. 7:1), our many deficiencies (Rom. 7:24), the rule of sanctification (1 Cor. 9:21), and the excellence of what one day we are to enjoy (Rev. 21).
7. The voice of the universal church. The Psalms introduce us to the communion of saints. The Jews were able to recite the Psalms in a national way, so that the "I" became the voice of the worshiping community; but even if we do not take that into account, the Psalter is still the book of the church's song (51:18; 79:8; 85:6).
8. A book of hope, in life and death. Arising from great stress and sorrow, there are chants of holy expectation: "As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness" (17:15; cf. 16:9–10; 49:15; 73:24).
9. A heaven-drawn picture of Christ. Finally, the book of Psalms brings our Savior into view. Jerome said, "David on the harp and ten-stringed lute, sings throughout of Christ."

Special Problems of Interpretation: Titles of the Psalms

Dating individual psalms depends partly, but not entirely, on the authority of the prefixed titles. Altogether, there are 116 psalms with titles or inscriptions: the other thirty-four are sometimes called orphan psalms.

Scholars agree that the titles are ancient, existing when the Septuagint (the Greek version of the Hebrew Old Testament) was written, somewhere around 200 BC. Account should also be taken of the following facts: (1) the information in the titles can hardly have been produced by process of deduction; (2) many of the psalms do not have any superscription, and a later scribe, if at work on these, would surely have been tempted to supply the deficiency; and (3) pious Jews, though conscientious readers and students of the written Word, would never have added to what God had written. It is therefore to be believed that these titles are vital parts of God's inspired Word.

The following considerations argue for counting the titles as parts of Holy Scripture. An inscription of some kind would certainly be expected on lyrical compositions, and they can be found in other Scripture passages (Ex. 15:1; Deut. 33:1; 2 Sam. 1:17; Isa. 38:9). A title appears as part of the inspired prophecy of Habakkuk: "To the chief singer, on my stringed instruments" (Hab. 3:19). The title of Ps. 18 is incorporated into the inspired text of the book of Samuel: "David spake unto the LORD the words of this song in the day that the LORD had delivered him out of the hand of all his enemies, and out of the hand of Saul" (2 Sam. 22:1). We also find a title prefixed to words of "the sweet psalmist of Israel" recorded later in Samuel: "Now these be the last words of David" (2 Sam. 23:1).

References in the historical books confirm the details in the titles. First Samuel 21:13 reads, "And he (David) changed his behaviour before them, and feigned himself mad" and the heading of Ps. 34 is as follows: "A Psalm of David, when he changed his behaviour before Abimelech." The information in the titles often corresponds with the contents of the psalms to which they relate. Psalm 90, for example, has for a title, "A Prayer of Moses the man of God," and he is so described in Deut. 33:1. Moreover, in that psalm there are allusions to, if not actual citations of, Moses' words elsewhere—"refuge" (Deut. 33:27), "all generations" (Ps. 90:1), "repent thee" (Ps. 90:13), "thy work" (Ps. 90:16), and "His glory" (Deut. 33:17).

Our Lord and His apostles treated the titles of psalms as Scripture. Our Lord quotes from Psalm 110, entitled "A Psalm of David," and says, "How then doth David in spirit call him Lord, saying, The LORD said unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool?" (Matt. 22:43–44); and the apostles, when quoting Pss. 16 and 110, also make reference to the name given in those psalm titles (Acts 2:29–36; 13:34–37).

The meaning of these titles deal with various matters:

1. Authorship: e.g., "A psalm of David" or "of Asaph." Nature: "Maschil"—meaning "teaching," that is, "a teaching psalm" (cf. 32:8)—is a cognate or kindred verb ("to instruct" as in Pss. 32; 78; 142); "Michtam"—possibly from "to cover"—therefore refers to a psalm with a hidden meaning, or a psalm revealing some great mystery (Pss. 16; 56–60).
2. Setting: "A Psalm of David, when he fled from Absalom his son" (Ps. 3); "Upon Mahalath," meaning "sickness" or "disease" (Ps. 53; cf. Ex. 15:26), possibly a spiritual condition (Isa. 1:5). Compare "Upon Mahalath Leannoth," meaning "sickness, or disease, in order to humble" (Ps. 88).
3. Classification: "A Song of degrees" or "ascents" (Pss. 120–134), probably sung as pilgrims "went up" to Jerusalem at the time of the annual festivals (1 Sam. 1:3; Ps. 122:4).
4. Music: "On Neginoth," meaning, "With music of stringed instruments" (Pss. 4; 6; 54; 55; 67; 76); "Upon Neginah," meaning, "With music of a stringed instrument"; and "Upon Nehiloth," meaning,

"with music of wind instruments" (Ps. 5). "Upon Gittith," a feminine adjective of the Philistine town "Gath," and so possibly an instrument or tune which came from there (Pss. 8; 81; 84); "Upon Mahalath," perhaps the name of a musical instrument (although some trace it to a word for "sickness" and "disease" [Ex. 15:26], suggesting that it may refer to sin as the universal "illness") (Pss. 53; 88).

5. Voice: "Upon Alamoth," literally, "virgins" and therefore "sung by sopranos" (Ps. 46); "upon Sheminith," meaning, "the eighth," perhaps an octave lower—tenor or, more probably, bass (Pss. 6; 12).
6. Tune: "Shiggaion," derived from a verb "to wander," possibly a tune with changing rhythm (Ps. 7); "upon Muth-labben," meaning, "the dying of the son," the name of a mournful tune or the opening words of a song associated with a particular tune, although some think it just may refer to its evangelical theme, the death of Christ (Ps. 9).
7. Subject: "Upon Jonath-elem-rechokim" could be the name of a tune called "The silent dove afar off" (Ps. 56), or it could describe the contents, the expression of how David felt when in Gath, far from the sanctuary and silent as to public praise. "Upon Aijeleth Shahar" again could be a tune, "The hind of the morning" (Ps. 22), but it could also be (as Martin Luther thought) a reference to Christ, the innocent and lovely hind, who was hunted and driven to the ground, but who, before daybreak, rose up and leapt to the very heights. "Upon Shoshannim" means "the lilies," and since lilies were the emblem of sacred love (Song 2:1–2; cf. 1 Kings 7:19,22,26), this suggests a psalm concerning the excellence of our Lord's person, beauty, and love (Pss. 45; 69). Thus also "Shoshannim-Eduth" means "Lilies, a testimony" (Ps. 80), and "Shushan-eduth" means "Lily of testimony" (Ps. 60).
8. Purpose: "To bring to remembrance" (Pss. 38; 70).
9. Occasion: "At the dedication of the house of David" (Ps. 30); "For the sabbath day" (Ps. 92). Jewish authorities tell us there was a psalm for each day in the worship of the temple: Psalm 24 for the first day, 48 for the second, 82 for the third, 94 for the fourth, 81 for the fifth, 93 for the sixth, and 92 for the seventh.

Although "Selah" is not in any actual title, it is a word found 71 times in 39 psalms. "Selah" appears to be derived from a root word which means "to elevate" or "to raise," and it may therefore indicate a lifting up of hearts in a silent pause for meditation.

Collection and Arrangement

The number of psalms increased over the years by degrees; and the need for an authorized collection first arose when David, under divine direction, made psalm singing an essential element of public worship (1 Chron. 16:4). There is indeed evidence of some kind of editorial work (Ps. 72:20); and besides David, there may have been other, later editors.

All inspired psalms were not included in the Book of Psalms, but some were placed in other books (e.g., 2 Sam. 1:19–27; 23:1–7). What then were the principles of selection when it came to inclusion in the book of Psalms? First, of course, they had to be inspired by the Holy Spirit (2 Sam. 23:2; 1 Chron. 25:5; 2 Chron. 29:30; Matt. 22:43). Second, they had to be sacred and charged with spiritual truth; and third, they had to be suited to public worship (Isa. 38:20). It is quite true that many of the psalms are written in the first person, but the "I" of the psalmist often represents the typical pious Israelite and even, in process of development, the entire nation of Israel. In any case, these psalms contain material which the nation or church could easily appropriate to its spiritual need.

The Hebrew Psalter is actually one volume in five parts. Its divisions can be easily identified, for each division ends with a doxology which, in the last, is a whole psalm:

1. Book 1 (Pss. 1–41): "Blessed be the LORD God of Israel from everlasting, and to everlasting. Amen, and Amen" (41:13). This section is almost completely Davidic; and, in content, it is doctrinal, teaching about God, His glorious name and wonderful works, and about man, his sin and salvation.
2. Book 2 (Pss. 42–72): "Blessed be the LORD God, the God of Israel, who only doeth wondrous things. And blessed be his glorious name for ever: and let the whole earth be filled with his glory; Amen, and Amen. The prayers of David the son of Jesse are ended" (72:18–20). This one is mainly Davidic, but eight psalms are ascribed to the sons of Korah; and it is experimental, twenty-five psalms dealing with failure and sixteen with victory.
3. Book 3 (Pss. 73–89): "Blessed be the LORD for evermore. Amen, and Amen" (89:52). This is Asaphic on the whole, opening with eleven "psalms of Asaph," followed by four Korahite psalms; and these are historical, with references to dividing the sea (74:13), the way through the sea (77:19), the cleaving of the rock in the wilderness (78:15), the vine taken from Egypt (80:8), the people given up to sin (81:12), the coalition against Israel (83:5), and David's glorious kingdom (Ps. 89).
4. Book 4 (Pss. 90–106): "Blessed be the LORD God of Israel from everlasting to everlasting: and let all the people say, Amen. Praise ye the LORD" (106:48). The psalms in this section are chiefly anonymous, with the following exceptions: Psalm 90 is ascribed to Moses, and Pss. 101 and 103 to David; and the emphasis is prophetical concentrating upon the Lord's reign (as in Pss. 96–98).
5. Book 5 (Pss. 107–150): The last five are Hallelujah psalms, each beginning with a "Hallelujah," or "Praise ye the LORD." The doxology at the close of this section is "Praise ye the LORD. Praise God in his sanctuary: praise him in the firmament of his power . . . Let every thing that hath breath praise the LORD. Praise ye the LORD" (150:1–6). This section's psalms are generally anonymous, but fifteen are identified as from David; and these psalms being full of praise, they are throughout evidently jubilant.

The Jews saw in these five books (or divisions) some likeness to the Pentateuch, with its five books (Genesis to Deuteronomy). The Hebrew Midrash on Psalm 1 says, "Moses gave the five books of the Law to the Israelites and, as a counterpart to them, David gave the psalms consisting of five books."

Classifications of Psalms

It is helpful to identify different kinds of psalms in the Psalter.

1. Alphabetical Psalms. There are nine (Pss. 9; 10; 25; 34; 37; 111; 112; 119; 145). The finest example is Ps. 119, formed of twenty-two stanzas, arranged acrostically according to the twenty-two letters of the Hebrew alphabet. These psalms are mainly didactic and were probably composed in this form to aid the memory.
2. Penitential Psalms. There are seven (Pss. 6; 32; 38; 51; 102; 130; 143). They have been so called since Origen's time. Each expresses contrition and contains confession of sin. There are others, however, which have something of this character.
3. Imprecatory Psalms. There are four (Pss. 7; 35; 69; 109). Other psalms contain imprecations (e.g., Pss. 5:10; 55:9; 83:9–17; 137:8–9), but these are characterized throughout by curses on enemies. They are useful when referring to judgment. Luther tells of a man driven by these denunciations to seek pardon and safety in Christ.
4. Thanksgiving Psalms. There are six (Pss. 113–118), known as the Hallel. These were used on festive occasions, especially the Passover when two were sung before partaking of the lamb and four afterward (Matt. 26:30). They describe God's mercy (Ps. 113), a greater redemption (Ps. 114), the necessity of faith (Ps. 115: "Trust thou in the Lord," v. 9), eternal life in possession (Ps. 116), the universality of the gospel call (Ps. 117), and the kingdom of heaven open to all believers (Ps. 118: "Open to me the gates of righteousness," v. 19).
5. Psalms (or Songs) of Ascent. There are fifteen (Pss. 120–134). They were probably sung when making pilgrimage ("ascent" or "going up") to Zion (1 Sam. 1:3; Ps. 122:4; Zech. 14:19). They are also sometimes called "Pilgrim Psalms."
6. Nature Psalms. There are four (Pss. 19; 29; 104; 147). Psalm 104 is based on the six days' work of creation, beginning with the breaking forth of light on the first day, and concluding with a Sabbath day's meditation on God's works.
7. Historical Psalms. There are six (Pss. 68; 78; 105–106; 135–136). They rest on the principle of the unity of the church in all times and the fact that we should identify ourselves with our forefathers. They are also acted "parables," typical representations of spiritual truth (Ps. 78:1–3).
8. Judgment Psalms. There are six (Pss. 9–14). These are psalms of judgment, finding consummation in Ps. 15, a vision of the eternal dwelling place of God and His righteous people.
9. Sovereignty Psalms. There are three (Pss. 93; 97; 99). They begin with "The Lord reigneth," and they anticipate the day when all shall be placed under His feet (Rev. 11:17; 19:6).
10. Hallelujah Psalms. There are ten (Pss. 106; 111–113; 135; 146–150). All commence with "Praise ye the Lord," and they are ideal for teaching on worship. For example, in Ps. 150: "Praise God," or equivalents, occurs twelve times, representing perhaps all God's people (twelve tribes, twelve apostles).

Christ in the Psalms

The Psalms may be studied as a manual for the devotional life and also as prophecies of our Lord Jesus Christ. Many only regard as "messianic" those which are so in the most obvious sense (Pss. 2; 16; 22; 45; 72; 110). It is therefore important to establish some basic principles for a more biblically consistent interpretation, with a view to seeing Christ in all the Psalms.

David was a prophet (Acts 2:29–30) and, as such, the Spirit of Christ was in him, testifying to "the sufferings of Christ, and the glory that should follow" (1 Peter 1:11; cf. Rev. 19:10). The Psalms, with great propriety, are called "the word of Christ" (Col. 3:16). Christ Himself declared that the Psalms applied to Him: "All things must be fulfilled, which were written . . . in the psalms, concerning me" (Luke 24:44); and the apostles assumed that Christ was speaking in them (Acts 2:25,27,31). The entire collection is known as "the psalms of David," and so, according to the principle of typology, the entire collection belongs to Christ because David is His prophetic name (Jer. 30.9; Ezek. 34:23–24; 37:24; Hos. 3:5).

Though the eternal Son of God, Christ also became fully human in body and soul (John 1:14; 19:5; Heb. 2:16). Indeed, He is "the man" par excellence (Ps. 1:1). He was able to sing the Psalms while here upon the earth. A union exists between Christ and His people, and they are so united as to be regarded as one (1 Cor. 12:12; Heb. 2:11). As a result of this union, the Psalms express His thoughts as well as ours.

Our Lord lived in the Psalms and constantly quoted them (Matt. 16:27; 21:16; 25:41; Luke 20:42; John 13:18; 15:25; 17:12). In fact, four out of the seven words from the cross either quote or fulfill verses in the Psalms: "My God . . ." (22:1); "I thirst . . ." (69:21); "It is finished . . ." (22:31); "Into thy hands . . ." (31:5).

Confessions of sin (e.g., 40:12) present difficulties to the messianic interpretation of the Psalms, yet this example of a confession is found in a psalm evidently messianic (40:6–8; Heb. 10:5–7; see also Ps. 69:5,9; John 2:17). With all such confessions, it is important to recall that, although our Lord was not a sinner and was totally without sin in heart and life, yet as our Head and Representative, the sins of His people were imputed or reckoned to Him (Isa. 53:6; 2 Cor. 5:21; 1 Peter 2:24), so that there was a sense in which He felt the burden of them upon His soul (Matt. 26:37; John 1:29) and, of course, He suffered throughout His life and particularly in His death the punishment due to them (Isa. 53:5; 1 Peter 3:18). It is further to be remembered that, as our great High Priest, a vital part of His ministry was to confess His people's sins in order to secure pardon for them (Lev. 16:21; Isa. 53:12).

The messianic view is most helpful in interpreting difficult statements and passages, such as:

1. Assertions of innocence (Pss. 7:8; 18:20). While such words can be applied to God's people who have righteousness imputed to them, who are given a new heart and a new spirit, and who genuinely seek to live obedient lives (unlike "the wicked"), they are uniquely true of Christ, the righteous One (Acts 3:14; 1 John 2:1).
2. Terrible imprecations (Pss. 40:14–15; 69:22–24). This language is not altogether inappropriate for the believer, since they are really the outpourings of a heart provoked by evil, righteously indignant, and zealous for God and righteousness (Rom. 12:19; Eph. 4:26); but it is entirely appropriate upon the lips of Christ who, as Judge, is able to pronounce doom upon the wicked (Matt. 11:20–24; 23:13–33; Mark 3:5).

Outline

1. Book 1 (Pss. 1:1—41:13)
2. Book 2 (Pss. 42:1—72:20)
3. Book 3 (Pss. 73:1—89:52)
4. Book 4 (Pss. 90:1—106:48)
5. Book 5 (Pss. 107:1—150:6)

THE BOOK OF PSALMS

Psalm 1 [†]

1 [†] Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful.
2 [†] But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night.
3 [†] And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper.
4 [†] The ungodly are not so: but are like the chaff which the wind driveth away.
5 [†] Therefore the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous.
6 [†] For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous: but the way of the ungodly shall perish.

Psalm 2 [†]

1 [†] WHY do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing?
2 [†] The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the LORD, and against his anointed, saying,
3 [†] Let us break their bands asunder, and cast away their cords from us.
4 [†] He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh: the Lord shall have them in derision.
5 [†] Then shall he speak unto them in his wrath, and vex them in his sore displeasure.
6 [†] Yet have I set my king upon my holy hill of Zion.
7 [†] I will declare the decree: the LORD hath said unto me, Thou art my Son; this day have I begotten thee.
8 [†] Ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession.
9 [†] Thou shalt break them with a rod of iron; thou shalt dash them in pieces like a potter's vessel.
10 [†] Be wise now therefore, O ye kings: be instructed, ye judges of the earth.
11 Serve the LORD with fear, and rejoice with trembling.
12 [†] Kiss the Son, lest he be angry, and ye perish from the way, when his wrath is kindled but a little. Blessed are all they that put their trust in him.

Psalm 3 [†]

A Psalm of David, when he fled from Absalom his son.

1 [†] LORD, how are they increased that trouble me! many are they that rise up against me.
2 [†] Many there be which say of my soul, There is no help for him in God. Selah.
3 But thou, O LORD, art a shield for me; my glory, and the lifter up of mine head.
4 I cried unto the LORD with my voice, and he heard me out of his holy hill. Selah.
5 I laid me down and slept; I awaked; for the LORD sustained me.
6 [†] I will not be afraid of ten thousands of people, that have set themselves against me round about.
7 [†] Arise, O LORD; save me, O my God: for thou hast smitten all mine enemies upon the cheek bone; thou hast broken the teeth of the ungodly.
8 [†] Salvation belongeth unto the LORD: thy blessing is upon thy people. Selah.

Psalm 4 [†]

To the chief Musician on Neginoth, A Psalm of David.

1 [†] Hear me when I call, O God of my righteousness: thou hast enlarged me when I was in distress; have mercy upon me, and hear my prayer.
2 [†] O ye sons of men, how long will ye turn my glory into shame? how long will ye love vanity, and seek after leasing? Selah.
3 [†] But know that the Lord hath set apart him that is godly for himself: the Lord will hear when I call unto him.
4 [†] Stand in awe, and sin not: commune with your own heart upon your bed, and be still. Selah.
5 Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and put your trust in the Lord.
6 [†] There be many that say, Who will shew us any good? Lord, lift thou up the light of thy countenance upon us.
7 Thou hast put gladness in my heart, more than in the time that their corn and their wine increased.
8 I will both lay me down in peace, and sleep: for thou, Lord, only makest me dwell in safety.

Psalm 5 [†]

To the chief Musician upon Nehiloth,
A Psalm of David.

1 [†] Give ear to my words, O Lord, consider my meditation.
2 [†] Hearken unto the voice of my cry, my King, and my God: for unto thee will I pray.
3 [†] My voice shalt thou hear in the morning, O Lord; in the morning will I direct my prayer unto thee, and will look up.
4 For thou art not a God that hath pleasure in wickedness: neither shall evil dwell with thee.
5 [†] The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: thou hatest all workers of iniquity.
6 [†] Thou shalt destroy them that speak leasing: the Lord will abhor the bloody and deceitful man.
7 [†] But as for me, I will come into thy house in the multitude of thy mercy: and in thy fear will I worship toward thy holy temple.
8 [†] Lead me, O Lord, in thy righteousness because of mine enemies; make thy way straight before my face.
9 [†] For there is no faithfulness in their mouth; their inward part is very wickedness; their throat is an open sepulchre; they flatter with their tongue.
10 Destroy thou them, O God; let them fall by their own counsels; cast them out in the multitude of their transgressions; for they have rebelled against thee.
11 [†] But let all those that put their trust in thee rejoice: let them ever shout for joy, because thou defendest them: let them also that love thy name be joyful in thee.
12 [†] For thou, Lord, wilt bless the righteous; with favour wilt thou compass him as with a shield.

Psalm 6 [†]

To the chief Musician on Neginoth upon Sheminith, A Psalm of David.

1 [†] O Lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chasten me in thy hot displeasure.
2 [†] Have mercy upon me, O Lord; for I am weak: O Lord, heal me; for my bones are vexed.
3 [†] My soul is also sore vexed: but thou, O Lord, how long?
4 [†] Return, O Lord, deliver my soul: oh save me for thy mercies' sake.
5 [†] For in death there is no remembrance of thee: in the grave who shall give thee thanks?
6 [†] I am weary with my groaning; all the night make I my bed to swim; I water my couch with my tears.
7 [†] Mine eye is consumed because of grief; it waxeth old because of all mine enemies.
8 Depart from me, all ye workers of iniquity; for the Lord hath heard the voice of my weeping.
9 The Lord hath heard my supplication; the Lord will receive my prayer.
10 Let all mine enemies be ashamed and sore vexed: let them return and be ashamed suddenly.

Psalm 7 [†]

Shiggaion of David, which he sang unto the Lord, concerning the words of Cush the Benjamite.

1 [†] O Lord my God, in thee do I put my trust: save me from all them that persecute me, and deliver me:
2 [†] Lest he tear my soul like a lion, rending it in pieces, while there is none to deliver.
3 [†] O Lord my God, if I have done this; if there be iniquity in my hands;
4 [†] If I have rewarded evil unto him that was at peace with me; (yea, I have delivered him that without cause is mine enemy:)
5 [†] Let the enemy persecute my soul, and take it; yea, let him tread down my life upon the earth, and lay mine honour in the dust. Selah.
6 [†] Arise, O Lord, in thine anger, lift up thyself because of the rage of mine enemies: and awake for me to the judgment that thou hast commanded.
7 [†] So shall the congregation of the people compass thee about: for their sakes therefore return thou on high.
8 [†] The Lord shall judge the people: judge me, O Lord, according to my righteousness, and according to mine integrity that is in me.
9 [†] Oh let the wickedness of the wicked come to an end; but establish the just: for the righteous God trieth the hearts and reins.
10 [†] My defence is of God, which saveth the upright in heart.
11 [†] God judgeth the righteous, and God is angry with the wicked every day.
12 [†] If he turn not, he will whet his sword; he hath bent his bow, and made it ready.
13 He hath also prepared for him the instruments of death; he ordaineth his arrows against the persecutors.
14 [†] Behold, he travaileth with iniquity, and hath conceived mischief, and brought forth falsehood.
15 He made a pit, and digged it, and is fallen into the ditch which he made.
16 [†] His mischief shall return upon his own head, and his violent dealing shall come down upon his own pate.
17 I will praise the Lord according to his righteousness: and will sing praise to the name of the Lord most high.

Psalm 8 [†]

To the chief Musician upon Gittith,
A Psalm of David.

1 [†] O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! who hast set thy glory above the heavens.
2 [†] Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings hast thou ordained strength because of thine enemies, that thou mightest still the enemy and the avenger.
3 [†] When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained;
4 [†] What is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him?
5 [†] For thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, and hast crowned him with glory and honour.
6 [†] Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet:
7 [†] All sheep and oxen, yea, and the beasts of the field;
8 The fowl of the air, and the fish of the sea, and whatsoever passeth through the paths of the seas.
9 [†] O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth!

Psalm 9 [†]

To the chief Musician upon
Muth-labben, A Psalm of David.

1 [†] I will praise thee, O Lord, with my whole heart; I will shew forth all thy marvellous works.
2 I will be glad and rejoice in thee: I will sing praise to thy name, O thou most High.
3 [†] When mine enemies are turned back, they shall fall and perish at thy presence.
4 [†] For thou hast maintained my right and my cause; thou satest in the throne judging right.
5 [†] Thou hast rebuked the heathen, thou hast destroyed the wicked, thou hast put out their name for ever and ever.
6 [†] O thou enemy, destructions are come to a perpetual end: and thou hast destroyed cities; their memorial is perished with them.
7 But the Lord shall endure for ever: he hath prepared his throne for judgment.
8 And he shall judge the world in righteousness, he shall minister judgment to the people in uprightness.
9 The Lord also will be a refuge for the oppressed, a refuge in times of trouble.
10 [†] And they that know thy name will put their trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not forsaken them that seek thee.
11 [†] Sing praises to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: declare among the people his doings.
12 [†] When he maketh inquisition for blood, he remembereth them: he forgetteth not the cry of the humble.
13 [†] Have mercy upon me, O Lord; consider my trouble which I suffer of them that hate me, thou that liftest me up from the gates of death:
14 That I may shew forth all thy praise in the gates of the daughter of Zion: I will rejoice in thy salvation.
15 The heathen are sunk down in the pit that they made: in the net which they hid is their own foot taken.
16 [†] The Lord is known by the judgment which he executeth: the wicked is snared in the work of his own hands. Higgaion. Selah.
17 [†] The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God.
18 [†] For the needy shall not alway be forgotten: the expectation of the poor shall not perish for ever.
19 Arise, O Lord; let not man prevail: let the heathen be judged in thy sight.
20 Put them in fear, O Lord: that the nations may know themselves to be but men. Selah.

Psalm 10 [†]

1 [†] WHY standest thou afar off, O LORD? why hidest thou thyself in times of trouble?
2 [†] The wicked in his pride doth persecute the poor: let them be taken in the devices that they have imagined.
3 [†] For the wicked boasteth of his heart's desire, and blesseth the covetous, whom the LORD abhorreth.
4 [†] The wicked, through the pride of his countenance, will not seek after God: God is not in all his thoughts.
5 [†] His ways are always grievous; thy judgments are far above out of his sight: as for all his enemies, he puffeth at them.
6 He hath said in his heart, I shall not be moved: for I shall never be in adversity.
7 [†] His mouth is full of cursing and deceit and fraud: under his tongue is mischief and vanity.
8 [†] He sitteth in the lurking places of the villages: in the secret places doth he murder the innocent: his eyes are privily set against the poor.
9 [†] He lieth in wait secretly as a lion in his den: he lieth in wait to catch the poor: he doth catch the poor, when he draweth him into his net.
10 [†] He croucheth, and humbleth himself, that the poor may fall by his strong ones.
11 [†] He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten: he hideth his face; he will never see it.
12 [†] Arise, O LORD; O God, lift up thine hand: forget not the humble.
13 [†] Wherefore doth the wicked contemn God? he hath said in his heart, Thou wilt not require it.
14 [†] Thou hast seen it; for thou beholdest mischief and spite, to requite it with thy hand: the poor committeth himself unto thee; thou art the helper of the fatherless.
15 Break thou the arm of the wicked and the evil man: seek out his wickedness till thou find none.
16 The LORD is King for ever and ever: the heathen are perished out of his land.
17 [†] LORD, thou hast heard the desire of the humble: thou wilt prepare their heart, thou wilt cause thine ear to hear:
18 [†] To judge the fatherless and the oppressed, that the man of the earth may no more oppress.

Psalm 11 [†]

To the chief Musician,
A Psalm of David.

1 [†] In the Lord put I my trust: how say ye to my soul, Flee as a bird to your mountain?
2 [†] For, lo, the wicked bend their bow, they make ready their arrow upon the string, that they may privily shoot at the upright in heart.
3 [†] If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do?
4 [†] The Lord is in his holy temple, the Lord's throne is in heaven: his eyes behold, his eyelids try, the children of men.
5 [†] The Lord trieth the righteous: but the wicked and him that loveth violence his soul hateth.
6 [†] Upon the wicked he shall rain snares, fire and brimstone, and an horrible tempest: this shall be the portion of their cup.
7 [†] For the righteous Lord loveth righteousness; his countenance doth behold the upright.

Psalm 12 [†]

To the chief Musician upon Sheminith,
A Psalm of David.

1 [†] HELP, LORD; for the godly man ceaseth; for the faithful fail from among the children of men.
2 [†] They speak vanity every one with his neighbour: with flattering lips and with a double heart do they speak.
3 [†] The LORD shall cut off all flattering lips, and the tongue that speaketh proud things:
4 [†] Who have said, With our tongue will we prevail; our lips are our own: who is lord over us?
5 [†] For the oppression of the poor, for the sighing of the needy, now will I arise, saith the LORD; I will set him in safety from him that puffeth at him.
6 [†] The words of the LORD are pure words: as silver tried in a furnace of earth, purified seven times.
7 [†] Thou shalt keep them, O LORD, thou shalt preserve them from this generation for ever.
8 [†] The wicked walk on every side, when the vilest men are exalted.

Psalm 13 [†]

To the chief Musician,
A Psalm of David.

1 [†] How long wilt thou forget me, O Lord? for ever? how long wilt thou hide thy face from me?
2 How long shall I take counsel in my soul, having sorrow in my heart daily? how long shall mine enemy be exalted over me?
3 [†] Consider and hear me, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes, lest I sleep the sleep of death;
4 [†] Lest mine enemy say, I have prevailed against him; and those that trouble me rejoice when I am moved.
5 [†] But I have trusted in thy mercy; my heart shall rejoice in thy salvation.
6 I will sing unto the Lord, because he hath dealt bountifully with me.

Psalm 14 [†]

To the chief Musician,
A Psalm of David.

1 [†] The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God. They are corrupt, they have done abominable works, there is none that doeth good.
2 The Lord looked down from heaven upon the children of men, to see if there were any that did understand, and seek God.
3 [†] They are all gone aside, they are all together become filthy: there is none that doeth good, no, not one.
4 Have all the workers of iniquity no knowledge? who eat up my people as they eat bread, and call not upon the Lord.
5 There were they in great fear: for God is in the generation of the righteous.
6 [†] Ye have shamed the counsel of the poor, because the Lord is his refuge.
7 [†] Oh that the salvation of Israel were come out of Zion! when the Lord bringeth back the captivity of his people, Jacob shall rejoice, and Israel shall be glad.

Psalm 15 [†]

A Psalm of David.

1 [†] LORD, who shall abide in thy tabernacle? who shall dwell in thy holy hill?
2 [†] He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart.
3 [†] He that backbiteth not with his tongue, nor doeth evil to his neighbour, nor taketh up a reproach against his neighbour.
4 [†] In whose eyes a vile person is contemned; but he honoureth them that fear the LORD. He that sweareth to his own hurt, and changeth not.
5 [†] He that putteth not out his money to usury, nor taketh reward against the innocent. He that doeth these things shall never be moved.

Psalm 16 [†]

Michtam of David.

1 [†] Preserve me, O God: for in thee do I put my trust.
2 [†] O my soul, thou hast said unto the Lord, Thou art my Lord: my goodness extendeth not to thee;
3 [†] But to the saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent, in whom is all my delight.
4 [†] Their sorrows shall be multiplied that hasten after another god: their drink offerings of blood will I not offer, nor take up their names into my lips.
5 [†] The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou maintainest my lot.
6 [†] The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage.
7 [†] I will bless the Lord, who hath given me counsel: my reins also instruct me in the night seasons.
8 [†] I have set the Lord always before me: because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved.
9 [†] Therefore my heart is glad, and my glory rejoiceth: my flesh also shall rest in hope.
10 [†] For thou wilt not leave my soul in hell; neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption.
11 [†] Thou wilt shew me the path of life: in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore.

Psalm 17 [†]

A Prayer of David.

1 [†] Hear the right, O Lord, attend unto my cry, give ear unto my prayer, that goeth not out of feigned lips.
2 [†] Let my sentence come forth from thy presence; let thine eyes behold the things that are equal.
3 [†] Thou hast proved mine heart; thou hast visited me in the night; thou hast tried me, and shalt find nothing; I am purposed that my mouth shall not transgress.
4 [†] Concerning the works of men, by the word of thy lips I have kept me from the paths of the destroyer.
5 Hold up my goings in thy paths, that my footsteps slip not.
6 I have called upon thee, for thou wilt hear me, O God: incline thine ear unto me, and hear my speech.
7 [†] Shew thy marvellous lovingkindness, O thou that savest by thy right hand them which put their trust in thee from those that rise up against them.
8 [†] Keep me as the apple of the eye, hide me under the shadow of thy wings,
9 [†] From the wicked that oppress me, from my deadly enemies, who compass me about.
10 [†] They are inclosed in their own fat: with their mouth they speak proudly.
11 They have now compassed us in our steps: they have set their eyes bowing down to the earth;
12 Like as a lion that is greedy of his prey, and as it were a young lion lurking in secret places.
13 [†] Arise, O Lord, disappoint him, cast him down: deliver my soul from the wicked, which is thy sword:
14 [†] From men which are thy hand, O Lord, from men of the world, which have their portion in this life, and whose belly thou fillest with thy hid treasure: they are full of children, and leave the rest of their substance to their babes.
15 [†] As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness.

Psalm 18 [†]

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David, the servant of the Lord, who spake unto the Lord the words of this song in the day that the Lord delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul: And he said,

1 I will love thee, O Lord, my strength.
2 [†] The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength, in whom I will trust; my buckler, and the horn of my salvation, and my high tower.
3 I will call upon the Lord, who is worthy to be praised: so shall I be saved from mine enemies.
4 [†] The sorrows of death compassed me, and the floods of ungodly men made me afraid.
5 [†] The sorrows of hell compassed me about: the snares of death prevented me.
6 [†] In my distress I called upon the Lord, and cried unto my God: he heard my voice out of his temple, and my cry came before him, even into his ears.
7 [†] Then the earth shook and trembled; the foundations also of the hills moved and were shaken, because he was wroth.
8 There went up a smoke out of his nostrils, and fire out of his mouth devoured: coals were kindled by it.
9 [†] He bowed the heavens also, and came down: and darkness was under his feet.
10 [†] And he rode upon a cherub, and did fly: yea, he did fly upon the wings of the wind.
11 [†] He made darkness his secret place; his pavilion round about him were dark waters and thick clouds of the skies.
12 At the brightness that was before him his thick clouds passed, hail stones and coals of fire.
13 The Lord also thundered in the heavens, and the Highest gave his voice; hail stones and coals of fire.
14 [†] Yea, he sent out his arrows, and scattered them; and he shot out lightnings, and discomfited them.
15 [†] Then the channels of waters were seen, and the foundations of the world were discovered at thy rebuke, O Lord, at the blast of the breath of thy nostrils.
16 He sent from above, he took me, he drew me out of many waters.
17 He delivered me from my strong enemy, and from them which hated me: for they were too strong for me.
18 [†] They prevented me in the day of my calamity: but the Lord was my stay.
19 [†] He brought me forth also into a large place; he delivered me, because he delighted in me.
20 [†] The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness; according to the cleanness of my hands hath he recompensed me.
21 For I have kept the ways of the Lord, and have not wickedly departed from my God.
22 For all his judgments were before me, and I did not put away his statutes from me.
23 I was also upright before him, and I kept myself from mine iniquity.
24 Therefore hath the Lord recompensed me according to my righteousness, according to the cleanness of my hands in his eyesight.
25 With the merciful thou wilt shew thyself merciful; with an upright man thou wilt shew thyself upright;
26 [†] With the pure thou wilt shew thyself pure; and with the froward thou wilt shew thyself froward.
27 For thou wilt save the afflicted people; but wilt bring down high looks.
28 [†] For thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God will enlighten my darkness.
29 [†] For by thee I have run through a troop; and by my God have I leaped over a wall.
30 [†] As for God, his way is perfect: the word of the Lord is tried: he is a buckler to all those that trust in him.

31 [†] For who is God save the LORD? or who is a rock save our God?
32 [†] It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect.
33 He maketh my feet like hinds' feet, and setteth me upon my high places.
34 He teacheth my hands to war, so that a bow of steel is broken by mine arms.
35 [†] Thou hast also given me the shield of thy salvation: and thy right hand hath holden me up, and thy gentleness hath made me great.
36 Thou hast enlarged my steps under me, that my feet did not slip.
37 I have pursued mine enemies, and overtaken them: neither did I turn again till they were consumed.
38 I have wounded them that they were not able to rise: they are fallen under my feet.
39 For thou hast girded me with strength unto the battle: thou hast subdued under me those that rose up against me.
40 Thou hast also given me the necks of mine enemies; that I might destroy them that hate me.
41 They cried, but there was none to save them: even unto the LORD, but he answered them not.
42 Then did I beat them small as the dust before the wind: I did cast them out as the dirt in the streets.
43 [†] Thou hast delivered me from the strivings of the people; and thou hast made me the head of the heathen: a people whom I have not known shall serve me.
44 [†] As soon as they hear of me, they shall obey me: the strangers shall submit themselves unto me.
45 The strangers shall fade away, and be afraid out of their close places.
46 The LORD liveth; and blessed be my rock; and let the God of my salvation be exalted.
47 It is God that avengeth me, and subdueth the people under me.
48 He delivereth me from mine enemies: yea, thou liftest me up above those that rise up against me: thou hast delivered me from the violent man.
49 [†] Therefore will I give thanks unto thee, O LORD, among the heathen, and sing praises unto thy name.
50 [†] Great deliverance giveth he to his king; and sheweth mercy to his anointed, to David, and to his seed for evermore.

Psalm 19 [†]

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

(see article: The Means of Grace)

1 [†] The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handywork.
2 [†] Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night sheweth knowledge.
3 [†] There is no speech nor language, where their voice is not heard.
4 [†] Their line is gone out through all the earth, and their words to the end of the world. In them hath he set a tabernacle for the sun,
5 Which is as a bridegroom coming out of his chamber, and rejoiceth as a strong man to run a race.
6 His going forth is from the end of the heaven, and his circuit unto the ends of it: and there is nothing hid from the heat thereof.
7 [†] The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple.
8 [†] The statutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes.
9 [†] The fear of the Lord is clean, enduring for ever: the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether.
10 More to be desired are they than gold, yea, than much fine gold: sweeter also than honey and the honeycomb.
11 Moreover by them is thy servant warned: and in keeping of them there is great reward.
12 [†] Who can understand his errors? cleanse thou me from secret faults.
13 [†] Keep back thy servant also from presumptuous sins; let them not have dominion over me: then shall I be upright, and I shall be innocent from the great transgression.
14 [†] Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer.

Psalm 20 [†]

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

1 [†] The Lord hear thee in the day of trouble; the name of the God of Jacob defend thee;
2 [†] Send thee help from the sanctuary, and strengthen thee out of Zion;
3 Remember all thy offerings, and accept thy burnt sacrifice; Selah.
4 Grant thee according to thine own heart, and fulfil all thy counsel.
5 [†] We will rejoice in thy salvation, and in the name of our God we will set up our banners: the Lord fulfil all thy petitions.
6 [†] Now know I that the Lord saveth his anointed; he will hear him from his holy heaven with the saving strength of his right hand.
7 [†] Some trust in chariots, and some in horses: but we will remember the name of the Lord our God.
8 They are brought down and fallen: but we are risen, and stand upright.
9 [†] Save, Lord: let the king hear us when we call.

Psalm 21 [†]

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

1 [†] The king shall joy in thy strength, O Lord; and in thy salvation how greatly shall he rejoice!
2 [†] Thou hast given him his heart's desire, and hast not withholden the request of his lips. Selah.
3 [†] For thou preventest him with the blessings of goodness: thou settest a crown of pure gold on his head.
4 [†] He asked life of thee, and thou gavest it him, even length of days for ever and ever.
5 His glory is great in thy salvation: honour and majesty hast thou laid upon him.
6 [†] For thou hast made him most blessed for ever: thou hast made him exceeding glad with thy countenance.
7 [†] For the king trusteth in the Lord, and through the mercy of the most High he shall not be moved.
8 Thine hand shall find out all thine enemies: thy right hand shall find out those that hate thee.
9 [†] Thou shalt make them as a fiery oven in the time of thine anger: the Lord shall swallow them up in his wrath, and the fire shall devour them.
10 Their fruit shalt thou destroy from the earth, and their seed from among the children of men.
11 [†] For they intended evil against thee: they imagined a mischievous device, which they are not able to perform.
12 Therefore shalt thou make them turn their back, when thou shalt make ready thine arrows upon thy strings against the face of them.
13 Be thou exalted, Lord, in thine own strength: so will we sing and praise thy power.

Psalm 22 [†]

To the chief Musician upon Aijeleth Shahar, A Psalm of David.

1 [†] My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? why art thou so far from helping me, and from the words of my roaring?
2 O my God, I cry in the daytime, but thou hearest not; and in the night season, and am not silent.
3 But thou art holy, O thou that inhabitest the praises of Israel.
4 Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didst deliver them.
5 [†] They cried unto thee, and were delivered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded.
6 [†] But I am a worm, and no man; a reproach of men, and despised of the people.
7 [†] All they that see me laugh me to scorn: they shoot out the lip, they shake the head, saying,
8 [†] He trusted on the Lord that he would deliver him: let him deliver him, seeing he delighted in him.
9 [†] But thou art he that took me out of the womb: thou didst make me hope when I was upon my mother's breasts.
10 I was cast upon thee from the womb: thou art my God from my mother's belly.
11 Be not far from me; for trouble is near; for there is none to help.
12 [†] Many bulls have compassed me: strong bulls of Bashan have beset me round.
13 [†] They gaped upon me with their mouths, as a ravening and a roaring lion.
14 [†] I am poured out like water, and all my bones are out of joint: my heart is like wax; it is melted in the midst of my bowels.
15 [†] My strength is dried up like a potsherd; and my tongue cleaveth to my jaws; and thou hast brought me into the dust of death.
16 [†] For dogs have compassed me: the assembly of the wicked have inclosed me: they pierced my hands and my feet.
17 [†] I may tell all my bones: they look and stare upon me.
18 [†] They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture.
19 But be not thou far from me, O Lord: O my strength, haste thee to help me.
20 [†] Deliver my soul from the sword; my darling from the power of the dog.
21 [†] Save me from the lion's mouth: for thou hast heard me from the horns of the unicorns.
22 [†] I will declare thy name unto my brethren: in the midst of the congregation will I praise thee.
23 Ye that fear the Lord, praise him; all ye the seed of Jacob, glorify him; and fear him, all ye the seed of Israel.
24 For he hath not despised nor abhorred the affliction of the afflicted; neither hath he hid his face from him; but when he cried unto him, he heard.
25 [†] My praise shall be of thee in the great congregation: I will pay my vows before them that fear him.
26 [†] The meek shall eat and be satisfied: they shall praise the Lord that seek him: your heart shall live for ever.
27 [†] All the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the Lord: and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before thee.
28 [†] For the kingdom is the Lord's: and he is the governor among the nations.
29 [†] All they that be fat upon earth shall eat and worship: all they that go down to the dust shall bow before him: and none can keep alive his own soul.
30 [†] A seed shall serve him; it shall be accounted to the Lord for a generation.
31 [†] They shall come, and shall declare his righteousness unto a people that shall be born, that he hath done this.

Psalm 23 [†]

A Psalm of David.

1 [†] The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
2 [†] He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.
3 [†] He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.
4 [†] Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
5 [†] Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.
6 [†] Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

Psalm 24 [†]

A Psalm of David.

1 [†] The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.
2 [†] For he hath founded it upon the seas, and established it upon the floods.
3 [†] Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in his holy place?
4 [†] He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully.
5 [†] He shall receive the blessing from the Lord, and righteousness from the God of his salvation.
6 [†] This is the generation of them that seek him, that seek thy face, O Jacob. Selah.
7 [†] Lift up your heads, O ye gates; and be ye lift up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.
8 Who is this King of glory? The Lord strong and mighty, the Lord mighty in battle.
9 Lift up your heads, O ye gates; even lift them up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.
10 Who is this King of glory? The Lord of hosts, he is the King of glory. Selah.

Psalm 25 [†]

A Psalm of David.

1 [†] Unto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soul.
2 [†] O my God, I trust in thee: let me not be ashamed, let not mine enemies triumph over me.
3 [†] Yea, let none that wait on thee be ashamed: let them be ashamed which transgress without cause.
4 [†] Shew me thy ways, O Lord; teach me thy paths.
5 [†] Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day.
6 [†] Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies and thy lovingkindnesses; for they have been ever of old.
7 [†] Remember not the sins of my youth, nor my transgressions: according to thy mercy remember thou me for thy goodness' sake, O Lord.
8 Good and upright is the Lord: therefore will he teach sinners in the way.
9 The meek will he guide in judgment: and the meek will he teach his way.
10 [†] All the paths of the Lord are mercy and truth unto such as keep his covenant and his testimonies.
11 [†] For thy name's sake, O Lord, pardon mine iniquity; for it is great.
12 [†] What man is he that feareth the Lord? him shall he teach in the way that he shall choose.
13 [†] His soul shall dwell at ease; and his seed shall inherit the earth.
14 [†] The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him; and he will shew them his covenant.
15 Mine eyes are ever toward the Lord; for he shall pluck my feet out of the net.
16 [†] Turn thee unto me, and have mercy upon me; for I am desolate and afflicted.
17 [†] The troubles of my heart are enlarged: O bring thou me out of my distresses.
18 Look upon mine affliction and my pain; and forgive all my sins.
19 Consider mine enemies; for they are many; and they hate me with cruel hatred.
20 [†] O keep my soul, and deliver me: let me not be ashamed; for I put my trust in thee.
21 Let integrity and uprightness preserve me; for I wait on thee.
22 Redeem Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

Psalm 26 [†]

A Psalm of David.

1 [†] JUDGE me, O LORD; for I have walked in mine integrity: I have trusted also in the LORD; therefore I shall not slide.
2 [†] Examine me, O LORD, and prove me; try my reins and my heart.
3 [†] For thy lovingkindness is before mine eyes: and I have walked in thy truth.
4 [†] I have not sat with vain persons, neither will I go in with dissemblers.
5 [†] I have hated the congregation of evil doers; and will not sit with the wicked.
6 [†] I will wash mine hands in innocency: so will I compass thine altar, O LORD:
7 [†] That I may publish with the voice of thanksgiving, and tell of all thy wondrous works.
8 [†] LORD, I have loved the habitation of thy house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.
9 [†] Gather not my soul with sinners, nor my life with bloody men:
10 [†] In whose hands is mischief, and their right hand is full of bribes.
11 [†] But as for me, I will walk in mine integrity: redeem me, and be merciful unto me.
12 [†] My foot standeth in an even place: in the congregations will I bless the LORD.

Psalm 27 [†]

A Psalm of David.

1 [†] The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? the Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?
2 When the wicked, even mine enemies and my foes, came upon me to eat up my flesh, they stumbled and fell.
3 [†] Though an host should encamp against me, my heart shall not fear: though war should rise against me, in this will I be confident.
4 [†] One thing have I desired of the Lord, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to enquire in his temple.
5 [†] For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his pavilion: in the secret of his tabernacle shall he hide me; he shall set me up upon a rock.
6 And now shall mine head be lifted up above mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his tabernacle sacrifices of joy; I will sing, yea, I will sing praises unto the Lord.
7 [†] Hear, O Lord, when I cry with my voice: have mercy also upon me, and answer me.
8 When thou saidst, Seek ye my face; my heart said unto thee, Thy face, Lord, will I seek.
9 [†] Hide not thy face far from me; put not thy servant away in anger: thou hast been my help; leave me not, neither forsake me, O God of my salvation.
10 [†] When my father and my mother forsake me, then the Lord will take me up.
11 [†] Teach me thy way, O Lord, and lead me in a plain path, because of mine enemies.
12 Deliver me not over unto the will of mine enemies: for false witnesses are risen up against me, and such as breathe out cruelty.
13 I had fainted, unless I had believed to see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living.
14 [†] Wait on the Lord: be of good courage, and he shall strengthen thine heart: wait, I say, on the Lord.

Psalm 28 [†]

A Psalm of David.

1 [†] Unto thee will I cry, O Lord my rock; be not silent to me: lest, if thou be silent to me, I become like them that go down into the pit.
2 [†] Hear the voice of my supplications, when I cry unto thee, when I lift up my hands toward thy holy oracle.
3 [†] Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquity, which speak peace to their neighbours, but mischief is in their hearts.
4 [†] Give them according to their deeds, and according to the wickedness of their endeavours: give them after the work of their hands; render to them their desert.
5 [†] Because they regard not the works of the Lord, nor the operation of his hands, he shall destroy them, and not build them up.
6 Blessed be the Lord, because he hath heard the voice of my supplications.
7 [†] The Lord is my strength and my shield; my heart trusted in him, and I am helped: therefore my heart greatly rejoiceth; and with my song will I praise him.
8 [†] The Lord is their strength, and he is the saving strength of his anointed.
9 [†] Save thy people, and bless thine inheritance: feed them also, and lift them up for ever.

Psalm 29 [†]

A Psalm of David.

1 [†] Give unto the Lord, O ye mighty, give unto the Lord glory and strength.
2 Give unto the Lord the glory due unto his name; worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness.
3 [†] The voice of the Lord is upon the waters: the God of glory thundereth: the Lord is upon many waters.
4 The voice of the Lord is powerful; the voice of the Lord is full of majesty.
5 The voice of the Lord breaketh the cedars; yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.
6 [†] He maketh them also to skip like a calf; Lebanon and Sirion like a young unicorn.
7 The voice of the Lord divideth the flames of fire.
8 The voice of the Lord shaketh the wilderness; the Lord shaketh the wilderness of Kadesh.
9 [†] The voice of the Lord maketh the hinds to calve, and discovereth the forests: and in his temple doth every one speak of his glory.
10 [†] The Lord sitteth upon the flood; yea, the Lord sitteth King for ever.
11 The Lord will give strength unto his people; the Lord will bless his people with peace.

Psalm 30 [†]

A Psalm and Song at the dedication of the house of David.

1 [†] I will extol thee, O Lord; for thou hast lifted me up, and hast not made my foes to rejoice over me.
2 [†] O Lord my God, I cried unto thee, and thou hast healed me.
3 [†] O Lord, thou hast brought up my soul from the grave: thou hast kept me alive, that I should not go down to the pit.
4 [†] Sing unto the Lord, O ye saints of his, and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness.
5 [†] For his anger endureth but a moment; in his favour is life: weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.
6 [†] And in my prosperity I said, I shall never be moved.
7 [†] Lord, by thy favour thou hast made my mountain to stand strong: thou didst hide thy face, and I was troubled.
8 [†] I cried to thee, O Lord; and unto the Lord I made supplication.
9 What profit is there in my blood, when I go down to the pit? Shall the dust praise thee? shall it declare thy truth?
10 [†] Hear, O Lord, and have mercy upon me: Lord, be thou my helper.
11 [†] Thou hast turned for me my mourning into dancing: thou hast put off my sackcloth, and girded me with gladness;
12 To the end that my glory may sing praise to thee, and not be silent. O Lord my God, I will give thanks unto thee for ever.

Psalm 31 [†]

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

1 [†] In thee, O Lord, do I put my trust; let me never be ashamed: deliver me in thy righteousness.
2 [†] Bow down thine ear to me; deliver me speedily: be thou my strong rock, for an house of defence to save me.
3 [†] For thou art my rock and my fortress; therefore for thy name's sake lead me, and guide me.
4 [†] Pull me out of the net that they have laid privily for me: for thou art my strength.
5 [†] Into thine hand I commit my spirit: thou hast redeemed me, O Lord God of truth.
6 [†] I have hated them that regard lying vanities: but I trust in the Lord.
7 [†] I will be glad and rejoice in thy mercy: for thou hast considered my trouble; thou hast known my soul in adversities;
8 [†] And hast not shut me up into the hand of the enemy: thou hast set my feet in a large room.
9 [†] Have mercy upon me, O Lord, for I am in trouble: mine eye is consumed with grief, yea, my soul and my belly.
10 For my life is spent with grief, and my years with sighing: my strength faileth because of mine iniquity, and my bones are consumed.
11 I was a reproach among all mine enemies, but especially among my neighbours, and a fear to mine acquaintance: they that did see me without fled from me.
12 I am forgotten as a dead man out of mind: I am like a broken vessel.
13 [†] For I have heard the slander of many: fear was on every side: while they took counsel together against me, they devised to take away my life.
14 But I trusted in thee, O Lord: I said, Thou art my God.
15 [†] My times are in thy hand: deliver me from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me.
16 [†] Make thy face to shine upon thy servant: save me for thy mercies' sake.
17 Let me not be ashamed, O Lord; for I have called upon thee: let the wicked be ashamed, and let them be silent in the grave.
18 Let the lying lips be put to silence; which speak grievous things proudly and contemptuously against the righteous.
19 Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee; which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men!
20 [†] Thou shalt hide them in the secret of thy presence from the pride of man: thou shalt keep them secretly in a pavilion from the strife of tongues.
21 [†] Blessed be the Lord: for he hath shewed me his marvellous kindness in a strong city.
22 For I said in my haste, I am cut off from before thine eyes: nevertheless thou heardest the voice of my supplications when I cried unto thee.
23 [†] O love the Lord, all ye his saints: for the Lord preserveth the faithful, and plentifully rewardeth the proud doer.
24 [†] Be of good courage, and he shall strengthen your heart, all ye that hope in the Lord.

Psalm 32 [†]

A Psalm of David, Maschil.

1 [†] Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered.
2 [†] Blessed is the man unto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no guile.
3 [†] When I kept silence, my bones waxed old through my roaring all the day long.
4 For day and night thy hand was heavy upon me: my moisture is turned into the drought of summer. Selah.
5 [†] I acknowledged my sin unto thee, and mine iniquity have I not hid. I said, I will confess my transgressions unto the Lord; and thou forgavest the iniquity of my sin. Selah.
6 [†] For this shall every one that is godly pray unto thee in a time when thou mayest be found: surely in the floods of great waters they shall not come nigh unto him.
7 [†] Thou art my hiding place; thou shalt preserve me from trouble; thou shalt compass me about with songs of deliverance. Selah.
8 [†] I will instruct thee and teach thee in the way which thou shalt go: I will guide thee with mine eye.
9 Be ye not as the horse, or as the mule, which have no understanding: whose mouth must be held in with bit and bridle, lest they come near unto thee.
10 [†] Many sorrows shall be to the wicked: but he that trusteth in the Lord, mercy shall compass him about.
11 Be glad in the Lord, and rejoice, ye righteous: and shout for joy, all ye that are upright in heart.

Psalm 33 [†]

1 [†] Rejoice in the Lord, O ye righteous: for praise is comely for the upright.
2 [†] Praise the Lord with harp: sing unto him with the psaltery and an instrument of ten strings.
3 [†] Sing unto him a new song; play skilfully with a loud noise.
4 For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth.
5 [†] He loveth righteousness and judgment: the earth is full of the goodness of the Lord.
6 [†] By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth.
7 [†] He gathereth the waters of the sea together as an heap: he layeth up the depth in storehouses.
8 [†] Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him.
9 For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast.
10 [†] The Lord bringeth the counsel of the heathen to nought: he maketh the devices of the people of none effect.
11 [†] The counsel of the Lord standeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations.
12 [†] Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom he hath chosen for his own inheritance.
13 [†] The Lord looketh from heaven; he beholdeth all the sons of men.
14 From the place of his habitation he looketh upon all the inhabitants of the earth.
15 [†] He fashioneth their hearts alike; he considereth all their works.
16 There is no king saved by the multitude of an host: a mighty man is not delivered by much strength.
17 [†] An horse is a vain thing for safety: neither shall he deliver any by his great strength.
18 [†] Behold, the eye of the Lord is upon them that fear him, upon them that hope in his mercy;
19 [†] To deliver their soul from death, and to keep them alive in famine.
20 [†] Our soul waiteth for the Lord: he is our help and our shield.
21 [†] For our heart shall rejoice in him, because we have trusted in his holy name.
22 [†] Let thy mercy, O Lord, be upon us, according as we hope in thee.

Psalm 34 [†]

A Psalm of David, when he changed his behaviour before Abimelech; who drove him away, and he departed.

1 [†] I will bless the Lord at all times: his praise shall continually be in my mouth.
2 [†] My soul shall make her boast in the Lord: the humble shall hear thereof, and be glad.
3 [†] O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt his name together.
4 [†] I sought the Lord, and he heard me, and delivered me from all my fears.
5 [†] They looked unto him, and were lightened: and their faces were not ashamed.
6 [†] This poor man cried, and the Lord heard him, and saved him out of all his troubles.
7 [†] The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them.
8 [†] O taste and see that the Lord is good: blessed is the man that trusteth in him.
9 O fear the Lord, ye his saints: for there is no want to them that fear him.
10 The young lions do lack, and suffer hunger: but they that seek the Lord shall not want any good thing.
11 Come, ye children, hearken unto me: I will teach you the fear of the Lord.
12 [†] What man is he that desireth life, and loveth many days, that he may see good?
13 [†] Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile.
14 Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it.
15 The eyes of the Lord are upon the righteous, and his ears are open unto their cry.
16 The face of the Lord is against them that do evil, to cut off the remembrance of them from the earth.
17 The righteous cry, and the Lord heareth, and delivereth them out of all their troubles.
18 [†] The Lord is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart; and saveth such as be of a contrite spirit.
19 Many are the afflictions of the righteous: but the Lord delivereth him out of them all.
20 He keepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.
21 [†] Evil shall slay the wicked: and they that hate the righteous shall be desolate.
22 The Lord redeemeth the soul of his servants: and none of them that trust in him shall be desolate.

Psalm 35 [†]

A Psalm of David.

1 [†] PLEAD my cause, O LORD, with them that strive with me: fight against them that fight against me.
2 [†] Take hold of shield and buckler, and stand up for mine help.
3 [†] Draw out also the spear, and stop the way against them that persecute me: say unto my soul, I am thy salvation.
4 [†] Let them be confounded and put to shame that seek after my soul: let them be turned back and brought to confusion that devise my hurt.
5 [†] Let them be as chaff before the wind: and let the angel of the LORD chase them.
6 Let their way be dark and slippery: and let the angel of the LORD persecute them.
7 For without cause have they hid for me their net in a pit, which without cause they have digged for my soul.
8 [†] Let destruction come upon him at unawares; and let his net that he hath hid catch himself: into that very destruction let him fall.
9 [†] And my soul shall be joyful in the LORD: it shall rejoice in his salvation.
10 [†] All my bones shall say, LORD, who is like unto thee, which deliverest the poor from him that is too strong for him, yea, the poor and the needy from him that spoileth him?
11 [†] False witnesses did rise up; they laid to my charge things that I knew not.
12 [†] They rewarded me evil for good to the spoiling of my soul.
13 [†] But as for me, when they were sick, my clothing was sackcloth: I humbled my soul with fasting; and my prayer returned into mine own bosom.
14 I behaved myself as though he had been my friend or brother: I bowed down heavily, as one that mourneth for his mother.
15 [†] But in mine adversity they rejoiced, and gathered themselves together: yea, the abjects gathered themselves together against me, and I knew it not; they did tear me, and ceased not:
16 [†] With hypocritical mockers in feasts, they gnashed upon me with their teeth.
17 [†] Lord, how long wilt thou look on? rescue my soul from their destructions, my darling from the lions.
18 I will give thee thanks in the great congregation: I will praise thee among much people.
19 [†] Let not them that are mine enemies wrongfully rejoice over me: neither let them wink with the eye that hate me without a cause.
20 [†] For they speak not peace: but they devise deceitful matters against them that are quiet in the land.
21 [†] Yea, they opened their mouth wide against me, and said, Aha, aha, our eye hath seen it.
22 This thou hast seen, O LORD: keep not silence: O Lord, be not far from me.
23 Stir up thyself, and awake to my judgment, even unto my cause, my God and my Lord.
24 Judge me, O LORD my God, according to thy righteousness; and let them not rejoice over me.
25 [†] Let them not say in their hearts, Ah, so would we have it: let them not say, We have swallowed him up.
26 Let them be ashamed and brought to confusion together that rejoice at mine hurt: let them be clothed with shame and dishonour that magnify themselves against me.
27 Let them shout for joy, and be glad, that favour my righteous cause: yea, let them say continually, Let the LORD be magnified, which hath pleasure in the prosperity of his servant.
28 And my tongue shall speak of thy righteousness and of thy praise all the day long.

Psalm 36 [†]

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David the servant of the LORD.

1 [†] THE transgression of the wicked saith within my heart, that there is no fear of God before his eyes.
2 For he flattereth himself in his own eyes, until his iniquity be found to be hateful.
3 [†] The words of his mouth are iniquity and deceit: he hath left off to be wise, and to do good.
4 [†] He deviseth mischief upon his bed; he setteth himself in a way that is not good; he abhorreth not evil.
5 [†] Thy mercy, O LORD, is in the heavens; and thy faithfulness reacheth unto the clouds.
6 Thy righteousness is like the great mountains; thy judgments are a great deep: O LORD, thou preservest man and beast.
7 [†] How excellent is thy lovingkindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings.
8 [†] They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house; and thou shalt make them drink of the river of thy pleasures.
9 For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light shall we see light.
10 [†] O continue thy lovingkindness unto them that know thee; and thy righteousness to the upright in heart.
11 Let not the foot of pride come against me, and let not the hand of the wicked remove me.
12 There are the workers of iniquity fallen: they are cast down, and shall not be able to rise.

Psalm 37 [†]

A Psalm of David.

1 [†] Fret not thyself because of evildoers, neither be thou envious against the workers of iniquity.
2 For they shall soon be cut down like the grass, and wither as the green herb.
3 [†] Trust in the Lord, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed.
4 [†] Delight thyself also in the Lord; and he shall give thee the desires of thine heart.
5 [†] Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass.
6 And he shall bring forth thy righteousness as the light, and thy judgment as the noonday.
7 [†] Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for him: fret not thyself because of him who prospereth in his way, because of the man who bringeth wicked devices to pass.
8 Cease from anger, and forsake wrath: fret not thyself in any wise to do evil.
9 [†] For evildoers shall be cut off: but those that wait upon the Lord, they shall inherit the earth.
10 For yet a little while, and the wicked shall not be: yea, thou shalt diligently consider his place, and it shall not be.
11 [†] But the meek shall inherit the earth; and shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace.
12 The wicked plotteth against the just, and gnasheth upon him with his teeth.
13 [†] The Lord shall laugh at him: for he seeth that his day is coming.
14 [†] The wicked have drawn out the sword, and have bent their bow, to cast down the poor and needy, and to slay such as be of upright conversation.
15 Their sword shall enter into their own heart, and their bows shall be broken.
16 [†] A little that a righteous man hath is better than the riches of many wicked.
17 For the arms of the wicked shall be broken: but the Lord upholdeth the righteous.
18 [†] The Lord knoweth the days of the upright: and their inheritance shall be for ever.
19 [†] They shall not be ashamed in the evil time: and in the days of famine they shall be satisfied.
20 [†] But the wicked shall perish, and the enemies of the Lord shall be as the fat of lambs: they shall consume; into smoke shall they consume away.
21 [†] The wicked borroweth, and payeth not again: but the righteous sheweth mercy, and giveth.
22 For such as be blessed of him shall inherit the earth; and they that be cursed of him shall be cut off.
23 [†] The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord: and he delighteth in his way.
24 [†] Though he fall, he shall not be utterly cast down: for the Lord upholdeth him with his hand.
25 I have been young, and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread.
26 [†] He is ever merciful, and lendeth; and his seed is blessed.
27 Depart from evil, and do good; and dwell for evermore.
28 [†] For the Lord loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints; they are preserved for ever: but the seed of the wicked shall be cut off.
29 [†] The righteous shall inherit the land, and dwell therein for ever.
30 The mouth of the righteous speaketh wisdom, and his tongue talketh of judgment.
31 [†] The law of his God is in his heart; none of his steps shall slide.
32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.
33 The Lord will not leave him in his hand, nor condemn him when he is judged.
34 Wait on the Lord, and keep his way, and he shall exalt thee to inherit the land: when the wicked are cut off, thou shalt see it.
35 [†] I have seen the wicked in great power, and spreading himself like a green bay tree.

36 Yet he passed away, and, lo, he was not: yea, I sought him, but he could not be found.
37 Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace.
38 But the transgressors shall be destroyed together: the end of the wicked shall be cut off.
39 But the salvation of the righteous is of the LORD: he is their strength in the time of trouble.
40 And the LORD shall help them, and deliver them: he shall deliver them from the wicked, and save them, because they trust in him.

Psalm 38 [†]

A Psalm of David, to bring to remembrance.

1 [†] O LORD, rebuke me not in thy wrath: neither chasten me in thy hot displeasure.
2 [†] For thine arrows stick fast in me, and thy hand presseth me sore.
3 [†] There is no soundness in my flesh because of thine anger; neither is there any rest in my bones because of my sin.
4 For mine iniquities are gone over mine head: as an heavy burden they are too heavy for me.
5 [†] My wounds stink and are corrupt because of my foolishness.
6 [†] I am troubled; I am bowed down greatly; I go mourning all the day long.
7 [†] For my loins are filled with a loathsome disease: and there is no soundness in my flesh.
8 [†] I am feeble and sore broken: I have roared by reason of the disquietness of my heart.
9 Lord, all my desire is before thee; and my groaning is not hid from thee.
10 [†] My heart panteth, my strength faileth me: as for the light of mine eyes, it also is gone from me.
11 [†] My lovers and my friends stand aloof from my sore; and my kinsmen stand afar off.
12 [†] They also that seek after my life lay snares for me: and they that seek my hurt speak mischievous things, and imagine deceits all the day long.
13 But I, as a deaf man, heard not; and I was as a dumb man that openeth not his mouth.
14 [†] Thus I was as a man that heareth not, and in whose mouth are no reproofs.
15 [†] For in thee, O LORD, do I hope: thou wilt hear, O Lord my God.
16 [†] For I said, Hear me, lest otherwise they should rejoice over me: when my foot slippeth, they magnify themselves against me.
17 [†] For I am ready to halt, and my sorrow is continually before me.
18 [†] For I will declare mine iniquity; I will be sorry for my sin.
19 [†] But mine enemies are lively, and they are strong: and they that hate me wrongfully are multiplied.
20 They also that render evil for good are mine adversaries; because I follow the thing that good is.
21 Forsake me not, O LORD: O my God, be not far from me.
22 Make haste to help me, O Lord my salvation.

Psalm 39 [†]

To the chief Musician, even to Jeduthun,
A Psalm of David.

1 [†] I said, I will take heed to my ways, that I sin not with my tongue: I will keep my mouth with a bridle, while the wicked is before me.
2 [†] I was dumb with silence, I held my peace, even from good; and my sorrow was stirred.
3 My heart was hot within me, while I was musing the fire burned: then spake I with my tongue,
4 [†] Lord, make me to know mine end, and the measure of my days, what it is; that I may know how frail I am.
5 [†] Behold, thou hast made my days as an handbreadth; and mine age is as nothing before thee: verily every man at his best state is altogether vanity. Selah.
6 [†] Surely every man walketh in a vain shew: surely they are disquieted in vain: he heapeth up riches, and knoweth not who shall gather them.
7 [†] And now, Lord, what wait I for? my hope is in thee.
8 Deliver me from all my transgressions: make me not the reproach of the foolish.
9 I was dumb, I opened not my mouth; because thou didst it.
10 Remove thy stroke away from me: I am consumed by the blow of thine hand.
11 When thou with rebukes dost correct man for iniquity, thou makest his beauty to consume away like a moth: surely every man is vanity. Selah.
12 [†] Hear my prayer, O Lord, and give ear unto my cry; hold not thy peace at my tears: for I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner, as all my fathers were.
13 [†] O spare me, that I may recover strength, before I go hence, and be no more.

Psalm 40 [†]

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

1 [†] I WAITED patiently for the LORD; and he inclined unto me, and heard my cry.
2 [†] He brought me up also out of an horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and set my feet upon a rock, and established my goings.
3 And he hath put a new song in my mouth, even praise unto our God: many shall see it, and fear, and shall trust in the LORD.
4 [†] Blessed is that man that maketh the LORD his trust, and respecteth not the proud, nor such as turn aside to lies.
5 [†] Many, O LORD my God, are thy wonderful works which thou hast done, and thy thoughts which are to us-ward: they cannot be reckoned up in order unto thee: if I would declare and speak of them, they are more than can be numbered.
6 [†] Sacrifice and offering thou didst not desire; mine ears hast thou opened: burnt offering and sin offering hast thou not required.
7 [†] Then said I, Lo, I come: in the volume of the book it is written of me,
8 [†] I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart.
9 [†] I have preached righteousness in the great congregation: lo, I have not refrained my lips, O LORD, thou knowest.
10 [†] I have not hid thy righteousness within my heart; I have declared thy faithfulness and thy salvation: I have not concealed thy lovingkindness and thy truth from the great congregation.
11 Withhold not thou thy tender mercies from me, O LORD: let thy lovingkindness and thy truth continually preserve me.
12 [†] For innumerable evils have compassed me about: mine iniquities have taken hold upon me, so that I am not able to look up; they are more than the hairs of mine head: therefore my heart faileth me.
13 [†] Be pleased, O LORD, to deliver me: O LORD, make haste to help me.
14 [†] Let them be ashamed and confounded together that seek after my soul to destroy it; let them be driven backward and put to shame that wish me evil.
15 [†] Let them be desolate for a reward of their shame that say unto me, Aha, aha.
16 [†] Let all those that seek thee rejoice and be glad in thee: let such as love thy salvation say continually, The LORD be magnified.
17 [†] But I am poor and needy; yet the Lord thinketh upon me: thou art my help and my deliverer; make no tarrying, O my God.

Psalm 41 [†]

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

1 [†] Blessed is he that considereth the poor: the Lord will deliver him in time of trouble.
2 [†] The Lord will preserve him, and keep him alive; and he shall be blessed upon the earth: and thou wilt not deliver him unto the will of his enemies.
3 [†] The Lord will strengthen him upon the bed of languishing: thou wilt make all his bed in his sickness.
4 [†] I said, Lord, be merciful unto me: heal my soul; for I have sinned against thee.
5 Mine enemies speak evil of me, When shall he die, and his name perish?
6 [†] And if he come to see me, he speaketh vanity: his heart gathereth iniquity to itself; when he goeth abroad, he telleth it.
7 All that hate me whisper together against me: against me do they devise my hurt.
8 [†] An evil disease, say they, cleaveth fast unto him: and now that he lieth he shall rise up no more.
9 [†] Yea, mine own familiar friend, in whom I trusted, which did eat of my bread, hath lifted up his heel against me.
10 [†] But thou, O Lord, be merciful unto me, and raise me up, that I may requite them.
11 [†] By this I know that thou favourest me, because mine enemy doth not triumph over me.
12 And as for me, thou upholdest me in mine integrity, and settest me before thy face for ever.
13 [†] Blessed be the Lord God of Israel from everlasting, and to everlasting. Amen, and Amen.

Psalm 42 [†]

To the chief Musician, Maschil, for the sons of Korah.

1 [†] As the hart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God.
2 [†] My soul thirsteth for God, for the living God: when shall I come and appear before God?
3 [†] My tears have been my meat day and night, while they continually say unto me, Where is thy God?
4 [†] When I remember these things, I pour out my soul in me: for I had gone with the multitude, I went with them to the house of God, with the voice of joy and praise, with a multitude that kept holyday.
5 [†] Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted in me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him for the help of his countenance.
6 O my God, my soul is cast down within me: therefore will I remember thee from the land of Jordan, and of the Hermonites, from the hill Mizar.
7 [†] Deep calleth unto deep at the noise of thy waterspouts: all thy waves and thy billows are gone over me.
8 [†] Yet the LORD will command his lovingkindness in the daytime, and in the night his song shall be with me, and my prayer unto the God of my life.
